INTERESTING LETTER FROM A MONITOR SUBSCRIBER IN NEW JERSEY

Dear Editor—

The weekly visits of the Monitor are greatly appreciated. Thanks to editorial enterprise and a staff of faithful correspondents scattered over the County, it brings to us all news of any importance, that is transpiring in the home land. Regret to hear such gloomy reports of the apple crop. An important source of revenue to the farmers will be cut off to an important degree and will, no doubt, be severely felt. It is a satisfaction, however, to be informed that other crops are good, and will, in a measure at least, offset the shortage in apples.

The New York papers this morning inform us that the Underwood Tariff Bill has passed the Senate in Washington, and as it proposes important reductions in import duties on agricultural products the effect should be very beneficial to the farmers in Nova Scotia. Prices of everything in that line have reached a very high point here, and whilst it is hoped by the concerning class that this tariff reduction will reduce the cost of these articles, no doubt the figures will still remain pretty well up.

Quite an amount of interest has been excited in this country over the escape of Harry Thaw from the Matteawan Asylum in New York State, his subsequent arrest in Quebec and the long drawn out legal proceedings for his deportation to the United States. The arrest of Wm. Travers Jerome, former District Attorney of New York City, and present Deputy Attorney-General of New York State, at Coaticook, Que., for alleged gambling created considerable amusement, as Mr. Jerome when in charge of criminal prosecutions in New York, was particularly severe upon this offence. Thaw's wife, Evelyn Nesbit, is now filling an engagement at Hammerstein's Theatre, 42nd St. and Broadway. She has been a drawing card for this theatre since she arrived and this escapade of her unfortunate husband seemed to bring her more vividly before the public mind. Your correspondent, moved by curiosity to see the lady who figured so conspicuously in connection with the slaying of Stanford White several years ago at Madison Square Roof Garden, went to the theatre last week and saw Evelyn and Jack Clifford give what they said was an exhibition of modern ball room dancing. She is a very pretty woman, very graceful in her movements and her soft melodious voice filled the large building as she thanked the audience for their cheers. It is said she receives five hundred dollars per day during this contract and even at that big figure, she is a profitable investment, as the great play house is packed at every performance, standing room being at premium.

Lord Haldane, the High Chancellor of England, landed in New York from the "Lusitania" on Friday the 29th August and received a most cordial reception, was motored over the city and on Saturday Morgan conveyed him to West Point in his palatial yacht "The Corsair." After inspecting the Military Academy there he was conveyed by special train to Montreal, where he addressed the Bar Society, and returned to New York on Wednesday in time to catch the Lusitania on her return trip to England. Certainly rapid transit, but made possible by the great advance in modern systems of transportation. I notice by the papers that the great steamship concerns have decided that the gigantic ships recently added, to the transatlantic trade are too expensive and cumbersome and that the "Imperator" of the Hamburg-American line is to be rebuilt and her immense proportions materially reduced.

New York just now is in the throes of a Civic Election. The best elements of both parties have formed what is known as the Fusionist party, the chief object of which is to destroy the power of Tammany. They have nominated J. P. Mitchell, at present Collector of Customs of the Port of New York, an exceedingly clever young lawyer and a pronounced enemy of the Tammany party. They also nominated the present District Attorney, C. S. Whitman, for the office he now holds. Murphy, who controls Tammany, has secured the nomination of Elw. E. McCall for mayor and as a master stroke of political cunning, has endorsed the nomination of Whitman for District Attorney. Whitman has brought to bear upon Tammany methods all the power of his high office ever since his appointment, but he is a very popular man with the better classes, hence his endorsement by the man against whom he has directed his heartiest assaults. Meantime Mayor Gaynor has been nominated by the Independent Democrats and to his nomination has been attached an endorsement of two gentlemen who were nominated by the Fusionists for important places in the city government. This to an outside observer is a very ridiculous mixup, and no one can predict with any certainty the outcome. The battle is hardly on yet, but soon there will be exciting times in the great metropolis.

With the advent of September the holiday season is over; people are rushing home from holiday resorts, schools and churches are re-opening, the beaches and other summer resorts are closing, and everything points to Fall again. This week has been the mardi-gras at Coney Island. It ends on Saturday night when this great watering place closes for the year. I was down there Monday night when the King and Queen were crowned, and a great parade took place. It was certainly a magnificent spectacle. It is estimated that over 200,000 people were at Coney Island that night. Everything passed off without any disturbance. It was certainly an interesting occasion. The different trolley and elevated railway systems handled the immense crowd without a mishap.

Bloomfield where I make my home, is progressing,—new buildings being erected,—a fifty thousand dollar theatre well advanced,—important street improvements, and in many other ways things are moving in the right direction. The postmaster is a Republican and the Democratic party being in power, his official head is demanded. But when the Congressmen for the district undertake to do this he is confronted by demands from a half dozen or more who want the job, each claiming that he is best entitled to it. Meantime the present occupant is holding the fort. Possibly you may have some such experiences as that in Nova Scotia. If so it only goes to show the troubles that beset politicians no matter where they are located.

But I must not trespass upon your space further.

Very sincerely,
P.
Bloomfield, N. J., Sept. 10, 1913.

Celebrate Founding of Louisburg

(Sydney Record.)

A celebration to commemorate the foundation of Louisburg in 1713 was decided upon by the meeting of citizens in Mayor Gunn's office this morning. The celebration will take place on the afternoon of Saturday, Sept. 20.

Those present were J. S. McLennan, chairman; Warden H. C. LeVatte, Mayor A. D. Gunn, Sydney; Mayor W. A. MacKay, North Sydney; E. C. Hamrahon, Dr. J. K. McLeod, Rev. J. W. Godfrey, H. C. Butchell, Ven. D. Smith, Walter Crowe, A. N. McS. McLennan, H. C. Burchell and Egan, Sydney, and Dr. Morrison, Louisburg.

The site of the old town, the ruins of the fortresses, was decided upon as the scene of the celebration and a financial committee consisting of J. S. McLennan, H. C. Burchell and Warden LeVatte was appointed to arrange for the necessary funds, which it is estimated will require in the neighborhood of $300.

It was suggested that the amount be raised by public subscription; but the representatives of the different towns present and the warden expressed the opinion that there would be no trouble in raising the necessary funds in an official way.

Warden LeVatte stated that he thought though Louisburg would hardly be willing to shoulder the whole burden, "he was confident that the city of Louisburg would extend their hospitality to the visitors. "We have a good deal of pride in Louisburg, and I am sure our citizens can be depended on to look after the entertainment of the visitors."

A general executive committee of J. S. McLennan, H. C. LeVatte, H. C. Burchell, Dr. Morrison, F. McDonald, E. C. Hamrahon and Rev. Mr. Draper, were appointed to make all the necessary arrangements for the carrying out of a suitable programme and it was decided to extend invitations to Premier R. L. Borden, Premier C. H. Murray, Sir Charles Townsend, Dr. Armitage of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, Sir George Garneau, of the Canadian Battlefields Committee and Senator Poirer.

The committee met immediately after the adjournment of the general meeting and forwarded the invitations by wire.

Tomorrow evening Messrs. J. S. McLennan, H. C. Burchell and Warden LeVatte will appear before the Louisburg council and discuss the celebration with that body.

An exhibition of relics of the old occupancy to be made in Sydney, will also be undertaken by the committee, the details of which will be announced later.

The practical movement which may result from the celebration is the establishment of a Cape Breton branch of the Nova Scotia Historical Society. Warden LeVatte suggested that a movement should be instigated to have the Louisburg battlefields taken over by the Canadian Battlefields Commission. There was considerable discussion in favor of this and a resolution will in all probability be introduced into the corporate bodies of the county favoring the same.

The advisability of establishing a local society to arrange for such events as the present, was also broached by Mayor Gunn. Mr. Crowe concurred with His Worship, stating that the outcome would probably mean the establishment of a branch of the Canadian society, or a Cape Breton branch of the Nova Scotia Historical Society. The matter was left over to be an outcome of the celebration.

THE INDIAN PROHIBITED FROM PATRONIZING POOL ROOMS IN ALBERTA.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 12.—With a view to encouraging the red man to work and save his earnings, the lieutenant-governor-in-council, sitting in Edmonton, has passed an order that hereafter "No Indian is to be permitted to enter any pool or billiard room or bowling alley in the province of Alberta." It is also provided that any proprietor failing to observe the order shall be subject to the cancellation of his license. William Alexander Wilson of Edmonton, who has been appointed pool room inspector, is charged with the enforcement of the law, which was enacted at the last session of the provincial legislature. With pool playing, intoxicating liquor and gambling under the ban, about the only things left for Indians is farming, trapping and horse racing, said a member of the Cree tribe in Edmonton today. "Probably it is for the best," he added, "but it is spoiling a lot of fun for the younger men."

Minister of Justice Ordered Thaw's Deportment

Ottawa, Sept. 10.—The Minister of acting Minister of the Interior, issued the order directing the deportation of Harry Thaw, explained the reasons for his action in a statement to the Canadian Press today. Mr. Doherty pointed out that as acting Minister of the Interior, it was his duty to enforce the provisions of the Immigration Act. He had done that simply and nothing more. Thaw, he said, had entered Canada illegally and a board of enquiry had ordered his deportation. From that order an appeal had been taken to himself. It had been considered, and rejected and under the law the fugitive had been deported forthwith. Asked as to how this action of his could be reconciled with the court order for Thaw's production in Montreal on Monday, Mr. Doherty said:

"There has been no order or anything purporting to be an order restraining the Minister from the exercise of his functions. The order was to the officers of the Immigration Department, then in custody of Thaw. By my orders he has been taken in charge of other officers and taken across the border. I saw absolutely no reason for refraining to do my duty, and carry out the law merely because counsel for Mr. Thaw questioned the constitutionality I have no doubt. We will be able to justify before the courts the action which we have taken."

William Travers Jerome, rushing hither in a special train, will assume charge of the case for New York State tomorrow morning. Thaw, as a ward of the State, returned to Manhattan. Meantime Thaw is being detained, charged with no crime, held on no warrant. Fearing kidnapping, at the hands of officers from New York, he asked for a special guard, and Chief of Police Keiley rose in twelve special deputies, all armed. They were patrolling the streets about Thaw's hotel to-night.

At 9.30 o'clock tomorrow morning Judge R. N. Chamberlain, of the Superior Court, will hear the application of Thaw's lawyers for a writ of habeas corpus. Application for the writ was first made this afternoon, but the judge, being occupied with another case, said he could not then consider it.

The camp at Aldershot opened on September 9th. It is estimated that 6,000 men are under canvas. There are seven military bands, and every regiment is carrying full strength.

ITS just like going down to a store in your town and buying a suite of furniture "on time." You pay a certain amount down and the rest in instalments. Meantime you own the furniture.

So with purchasing bonds or stocks on our Partial Payment Plan but with this exception—we lend you at six per cent the money to buy the securities—that is, we lend you the difference between the amount you pay down and the total cost. All the while you own the securities and are entitled to the interest or dividends as either becomes due.

In most cases this credit is considerably more than sufficient to cover the interest we charge. And, of course, immediately upon payment in full you receive the full income return from your securities.

Could anything be simpler? Better ask for the explanatory booklet RIGHT NOW.

Cape Cod Has Big Cranberry Crop

Yield of Fruit From Bogs This Autumn Estimated at 1,500 Car-loads.

The indications are that a million dollars' worth of cranberries, the largest crop in many years, will be taken from the Cape Cod bogs this year. Picking will begin in September. It is estimated that 1,500 freight cars will be required to move the crop.

The loaded cars on the various lines will be picked up once a day and collected at Middleboro. At Middleboro the "Cranberry Special" will be made up. This will run every day between Middleboro and Taunton, leaving Middleboro at two o'clock in the afternoon. At Taunton the cranberry cars will be attached to the regular fast freight trains for the west via the Harlem River and Maybrook gateways and for Canada via Concord Junction. New York city will get its cranberries by way of the Fall River line and Boston's cranberries will come chiefly from points along the South Shore between Duxbury and Marshfield.

Cranberries represent an agricultural specialty in which New England has secured pre-eminence. Only New Jersey and Wisconsin really attempt to compete with the Cape Cod cranberries, but the latter are generally recognized as surpassing all others in quality.

The bogs where the Cape Cod cranberries are grown now cover six thousand acres. Across this low, sandy stretch of country one can see hundreds of these bogs, level patches of green in the early summer, turning to red as the berries ripen toward the fall, and crossed by many dikes through which the owners let in the water to flood the bog if a heavy frost is threatened. Thus they save the vines from being killed.

It costs from $300 to $1,000 to make an acre bog in the Cape Cod district, depending on the character of the ground. Land suitable for bog purposes brings $100 an acre. However, a yield of one hundred barrels an acre is ordinarily expected and this means a net income of from $300 to $500.

CANADA WILL BE THERE AT THE PANAMA SHOW.

It is Promised Dominion Will Make an Exceptionally Good Exhibit.

Ottawa, Sept. 8.—Plans and preparations are now under way for the Canadian building at the Panama exposition. The building will cost about half a million dollars, and it is proposed to have a most elaborate and comprehensive exhibit. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, who returned from the Old Country this morning, stated that he had talked the whole question over with W. Hutchinson, Dominion Exhibition Commissioner at Ghent, where he was in charge of the Canadian display, and they had decided to make arrangements for the finest exhibit the Dominion has ever made. There will be no such thing as boycotting the big exhibition by Canada. Mr. Hutchinson will return to Canada in the autumn to consult with the Government and to start making arrangements for the Dominion's display.

Mr. Burrell spent some time in Belgium and Holland studying the methods of intensive farming. He has returned with many ideas, which he hopes to put into effect in Canada, though the conditions are entirely different. The Minister also took up with Hon. Mr. Runciman, the British Minister of Agriculture, the question of the embargo on cattle.

"It is useless to expect any change at the present time," said Mr. Burrell.

"The embargo amounts practically to the same as a protective duty on British cattle."

Mr. Burrell would not talk on the navy question.

The Shelburne Home for the Poor, one mile from Shelburne town, was burned on the 12th; loss $7,000, insurance $4,500. The fire came from a defective flue. The thirty-four inmates escaped and are now housed in adjoining buildings and tents.

THE GREAT INTERNATIONAL HIGHWAY

Running Through Ten States and Twenty-one Cities Will End in Montreal

By the first of January, 1915, it is already marked. This will enable tourists to locate exactly and without trouble the hundreds of places of interest along this great highway. Mrs. Donald McLean, of New York City, is specially interested in this feature of the project.

HOW THE SCHEME WAS FIRST PLANNED.

Two years ago when plans were being talked of for a celebration of one hundred years of peace among English-speaking nations, the suggestion was made that the building of an international highway between Canada and the United States would be an important and most appropriate feature of such a celebration. At the outset it was planned to build a road from the metropolis of Canada to the metropolis of the United States, so the "New York-Montreal International Highway" was started. The idea appealed very strongly to the people on both sides of the Canadian line. Ex-President Roosevelt, Wm. H. Taft, at that time President of the United States, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Lomer Gouin, Governor Dix, Mayor Gaynor, of New York City, and Mayor Guerin, of Montreal, and many others expressed their deep interest in the project.

Letters from the United States and Canada pointed out that the construction of this highway would stimulate communication, contribute to the business and social relations, and be a great boon in many other ways to both countries.

Sooner or later there was bound to be a fine modern highway from Canada down through the Atlantic Coast States to the southernmost city of Florida; connecting all these large and important centres of population. Leading as it does through regions of great scenic beauty and historic interest, like the St. Lawrence River, past many battlefields of the Revolution, the War of 1812, and the Civil War; through the cotton fields and tobacco plantations and orange groves of the South—it is obvious that this road meets the requirements of the growing number of motorists. The peace celebrations and the enterprise and enthusiasm of the people along the route have hurried along the work.

A century of peace has wiped out the hard feeling between Great Britain and the United States. The construction of the International Highways connecting the United States and Canada, rendering communication easy and pleasant between the two countries will wipe out the last vestige of chance for any serious misunderstanding to arise in the future—Montreal Witness, Sept. 9.

The Quebec-Miami Intercolonial Highway crosses the Canadian boundary line near Rouses Point, N. Y., on Lake Champlain, near Fort Montgomery, an old fortification erected by the United States about seventy years ago, and now slowly falling to ruin. It has been suggested that a part of the granite in the old fort be torn down and used in the erection of a Peace Arch to span the International Highway at the point where it crosses the Canadian frontier.

A movement has been started to put up markers at all points of historic interest along the Quebec-Miami International Highway which are not Frederick Nickerson of Hansport, was instantly killed on Wednesday morning last by falling thirty-five feet to a concrete floor while repairing an elevator on the third floor of the Loose, Wilkes Biscuit Company's stable in Park street, Charlestown, Mass. The hook which holds the elevator slipped from the eye of the cable, causing Nickerson to pitch headlong. His skull was crushed. Nickerson was to have sailed for Nova Scotia that night to join his wife and children. He was thirty-two years old.

Lawrencetown School Exhibition

Please take note of this,—one of the first events of the year in this County is the Lawrencetown School Exhibition. This exhibition is entirely unique, being the work of school children. Since its inception it has continued to increase in interest, and this year will see the most successful show of the series. The entries are larger in number, and more varied in character than ever before. Those people who take the trouble to come to Lawrencetown on Friday next, Sept. 19th, will be well repaid by seeing the splendid show of flowers, plants, vegetables, grains, woodwork, sewing, cooking, drawing and many other interesting exhibits. The exhibition is in the school building at Lawrencetown, and is open to the public at two o'clock in the afternoon, and will remain open until late in the evening. An admission fee of ten cents each is to be charged, and ice cream will be on sale in the building. In the evening, among the special attractions, will be a lecture by Mr. Blair, of Kentville, and selections of music by the Lawrencetown Brass Band.

Patronize this local exhibition! Encourage the children. Don't forget the date, Friday next, Sept. 19th.

Ask for Minard's and take no other.

PRESIDENT WILSON RESCUED BY A POLICEMAN

Washington, Sept. 9.—Had it not been for the presence of mind of a policeman, President Wilson might have been run over by a street car here tonight.

The President, with his doctor, Dr. Cary Grayson, had been out for a walk and was returning to the White House. Unmindful of the traffic regulation which forbids pedestrians from crossing the street except at a crossing, they had started diagonally across.

Just as they were crossing the tracks a trolley car came along at a lively rate. A policeman seeing the possibility of an accident, Wilson might have been run over by a street car here tonight.

GIPSY SIMON SMITH

(Truro News.)

Gipsy Simon Smith was reared in an English forest, among the gipsy tribes. His father died when he was quite a lad. Anxious to help his mother he came to Canada and worked on a farm in Ontario, afterward he became a horse trader in Texas and Mexico, but eventually owned a livery stable in London. He then commenced to study for the ministry, was accepted by that well-known society the London City Mission, for which he labored six years. He soon became widely known as a speaker and was very successful in repeat tours through Great Britain. He resigned this position to become a free evangelist, and is now conducting mission in churches of all denominations, not being seen or paid by any society.

Last winter, Gipsy Simon Smith was in the Maritime Provinces holding very successful evangelistic services, returning to his home in England in the spring. He was not idle in the Old Country, after going back, you may depend.

Mr. Smith having decided to take up his work permanently in Canada, embarked on the S. S. Royal George at Liverpool, and landed in Halifax a few weeks ago, direct to Truro, which he will make his headquarters. After arriving in our town and getting comfortably settled he started an evangelistic campaign in the Emmanuel church.

Mr. Smith's services are strictly undenominational and doubtless his labors in our fair land will bring large results for good.

Following is the substance of an address given at Queen Hall, London, England, before five thousand people, Sir Ernest Tritton Brt presiding at the meeting.

The subject of his remarks was—
MISSIONARY TOLL IN THE WORLD'S METROPOLIS
Scenes and incidents in Somers Town, London.

Its a big jump to Queen's Hall platform from the gipsy camp whence I came.

This Society has played a wonderful part in the history of my people. Many years ago one of its agents carried on a good work among the gipsies of Notting Hill, and my father was one of the many who heard him tell the story of Jesus, the Saviour of the world. Some years later a gipsy's boy was surprised to see a band of men at Barnet Fair, and he never forgot their visit. He met them again at Epsom races, and when he slept that night in the stable, the words "Come unto Me, and I will give you rest," kept ringing in his ears. By divine mercy that young man is before you this morning.

When I first became a missionary five years ago, the Secretary's last words to me were these, "Do not forget to let the people know what you were." I never forget it, indeed, I can hardly recognize myself behind the respectable Mr. when I get into a field I think of the time when I was a bare-foot boy, and stand for a few moments to enjoy myself. I was born in a field—anybody can be born in a house. I commenced on wheels and I have been going ever since.

I was first appointed to Somers Town, with its cellars and attics, fried fish and stewed-ree shops, stalls and old clothes, and smells which abound. All missionaries know the hard reception you get at first. You are taken for the tallyman, the insurance agent, the sewing machine man, and you hear the boys say, "Billo! here's a 'tec' (detective). Graduated in Somers Town where Monday is ladies' day, where pawnshops are filled on Mondays, where the back yards are in the front—they hang the washing on the front railings—that is the place where I left the dicky of a hansom cab to become a missionary. I assure you that missionary work is far more difficult than driving a hansom cab.

A MODERN DEMONIC.

I will tell you of one or two cases. We have heard of the man who was possessed with demons. I saw that story repeated at Somers Town. Walking along the street I saw a poor fellow the worse for drink. He told me they had taken his wife to the hospital, so I led him back to the one room where he lived. When I tell you there are 400,000 persons living in single rooms in this city, the effect upon health and morals needs no comment of mine. This man was an old soldier. When he was possessed with drink he was possessed with demons. "Where's the tea?" said I. "I'll stoke up and make you some, then you'll feel better. While I was making the tea, the poor fellow threw himself against the wall, and cut his head against the stove. Soon his clothing was torn into shreds, and grasping a chair, he commenced fighting Zulus and other imaginary foes. I did not want to be struck in four places at once, so I took the chair away; he quieted down a bit, and I thought he was all right, but judge of my horror when he seized a knife and tried to cut his throat. I put him on the floor again. Now, I thought, I had been doing this business in my own strength, and while I had the fellow on the floor and was kneeling upon him, I asked the Almighty to cast the demons out of him. An hour after I heard this man say, "Oh, Lord, cast the devil of drink out of me." He came to himself and said, "I have to go to work at the Midlands Station." "Do you think you are all right? I will go with you." He said he was, and proved it, for he walked as straight as I could, and from that day to this he is a new creature in Christ Jesus.

THE LIGHT AND SHADE OF LONDON LIFE.

I was speaking to a crowd at an open-air meeting at Somers Town. I have heard of vocalists having bouquets thrown at them, but these people threw the pots as well! They did not believe in doing things by halves—they even forgot to take the roots out and the dirt! On the occasion I was feeling very tired and discouraged, and a great big fellow came to the door when I knocked and talked about pushing my head. I told him it would not be the first time it had received such attention. I was just thinking that after all mission work was very interesting, and I had been going from one room to another until I reached the top floor. Knocking at that door, a woman who was cleanly in appearance, who hailed from the country, came out, and I discovered that she and her children were starving—no fire, no food, husband out of work. I knelt down and prayed with her, and in a moment or two a neighbor came in with some coals. That was the first answer to my prayer. I then tried my abilities at begging, and very soon groceries and coal found their way to that top floor. This woman confessed she had tried to cast herself into the canal she was in such despair. She subsequently gave herself to the Lord Jesus, and today she is a bright star in that dark slum.

Not long ago I was transferred to Kingsland, where I decided to hold a midnight meeting. I painted a board with the words—

WANTED!

200 of the worst men in Kingsland. People assured me that none of them would come, but I went to the lodging houses and drink shops, and gave the men a personal invitation. Result—the place was packed. We gave them refreshments first, and then preached Christ to them as a mighty Saviour. There were two good samples there of the "Wearily Willy" type. One poor fellow was too far gone even to eat—literally starving and near the brink of the river. Next day they picked him up in the street exhausted, and before they reached the infirmary he died. His chum continued to come to the Mission; he was a bundle of rags, a victim of drink, a human wreck through his own sin. A while before his father had died and left him £600, but he spent it all, and when I first saw him he was one of the worst samples I have ever seen. He could always have a seat to himself; there was no fear of overcrowding him. That was two years ago. Now he comes to our meetings, is clean, sober, and a Christian at work.

One of our best workers is a woman who recites at our temperance meetings. She visits the public houses and invites her neighbors to the mission. Her home was a sample of the drunkard's home. I will read from one of her letters. "Although my husband is not a Christian, he can tell you my swearing habits have gone, and that I do not stand in the public house now; I am a different creature." Her home is completely altered. I received this letter two years ago. It was quite a surprise to me. She came in at a midnight meeting and not only signed the pledge, but laid hold on Eternal life. A short time back she gave me 26s. that I might provide the poorest children with a free tea. That is what I call doing "works meet for repentance."

It is in this way that the Mission has been feeling the spiritual pulse of the masses for the last seventy-five years. That humanity is weary and heavy laden goes without saying. The crushed hearts and ruined lives that we meet with daily might well make the heart ache and the eyes swim with tears; but we go forth with the proved and precious remedy: "The blood of Jesus Christ cleanseth us from all sin."

AMENDMENT TO HOMESTEAD REGULATIONS.

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 12.—Hon. William J. Roche, minister of the interior, who is making a tour of western Canada, announced in Edmonton that the homestead regulations will be amended so that settlers in the timber districts may raise livestock instead of cultivating their lands to prove up their claims, also that the federal government will abolish the stipulation that at least $300 be expended upon a dwelling on the homestead. Less time, too, will be allowed for proving up pre-empted lands. Dr. Roche said also that the Hudson Bay railroad, constructed by the federal government, will be completed and in operation within eighteen months, and that good roads will be built in the farming districts. Ten million dollars has been set aside this year for agricultural purposes, the minister added, and the department will do everything in its power to improve farming and ranching conditions in the west.

THE COST OF WAR.

Sir Felix Schuster, of London, whose word in such matters is respected by financiers the world over, estimates that the recent losses of the Balkan war amount to $1,200,000,000. The figure means nothing other than it represents an amount beyond human conception. And the end is not yet. What if the great European Powers were to be drawn into the whirlpool? What if such mighty nations as England, Russia, France, Austria, Germany and Italy were to try the arbitration of the sword? What would the figures be then? To think of it stupefies the mind. It would be such a calamity as would cause the world to stagger under the awful burden for long years to come. Nor is the pressure confined to the Balkan States. The money market the world over has reflected the crimson glow of conflict.—Messenger, St. Alban's, Vt.

THE FIRST POLITICAL CABINET.

George I is said to have been responsible for the word "cabinet" as it has long applied to politics in English speaking lands. When he was King he could not take part in the deliberations of his own privy council because he knew no English. British statesmen did not speak German. So the ministers who served this first of the Hanoverian sovereigns of the United Kingdom used to meet in the King's private room or cabinet—derived from the French cabinet or little room—while he was absent. Afterward they informed him of the result of their discussions. It followed naturally, that the part of the privy council which was supposed to be in particular favor with the King and especially close to him, came to be spoken of as his cabinet council.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale by all dealers.

AMBULANCE BRIGADE ADOPTS IT

Zam-Buk has now been selected as the balm to be carried by the members of the St. John Ambulance Brigade of its superiority. This is further proof of its superiority.

Mr. G. W. Pratt, of 15 Broadway Avenue, Toronto, Superintendent of the Riverdale Division of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, writes: "Both in personal use and in first-aid work I have proved Zam-Buk to be of great value. I have used it for the past five years, and do not believe there is any other balm to come up to it." Mr. Geo. H. Westmore, of 127 Yonge Street, Toronto, Divisional Superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, also writes: "I am pleased to report that the members of this Brigade use Zam-Buk in their public city, and it is very useful. It is a wonderful healer. Personally, I constantly use Zam-Buk in my calling as a chiropodist, and find it very helpful in healing sore feet, and as a dressing for corns and bunions after treatment and extraction." Mr. G. H. Westmore, of 127 Yonge Street, Toronto, Divisional Superintendent of the St. John Ambulance Brigade, also writes: "I am pleased to report that the members of this Brigade use Zam-Buk in their public city, and it is very useful. It is a wonderful healer. BERWICK WANTS WATER SYSTEM.

Berwick, Sept. 14.—A meeting of the ratepayers of Berwick was held Friday evening in Foresters Hall to discuss installing a water system in the town. After much discussion the Commissioners were empowered to secure a surveyor to find out where the best supply of water could be obtained from and also the cost of having it installed. It was decided that the committee who had drawn up the Act be authorized to make amendments to it so that it can be altered at the next session of the Legislature.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 17, 1913.

The Fourth Annual Report of the Canadian Commission of Conservation, a neat pamphlet of 238 pages has been received at this office. It contains in full the proceedings of the meeting held in Ottawa on the 21st and 22nd days of January of the present year. The Hon. O. T. Daniels is ex-officio a member of the Commission for Nova Scotia. The other members for this Province are Dr. Howard Murray of Halifax and Mr. Frank Davison of Bridgewater.

An examination of the Report shows the wide outlook of the Commission and the unquestionable importance of the work it is endeavoring to accomplish.

It is perhaps unavoidable that in a new country there should be much waste of its natural resources. Certainly there has been and still is a great deal of waste in Canada, waste of valuable lumber, waste of products of the mines and the fisheries. It is not many years ago since valuable trees were burned to make a farm, or since the fisherman, when he caught a halibut, cut out the fatty portions and threw the rest away, or since other valuable fish were at times spread over the land as a fertilizer, or since lobsters were fed to the pigs. Now, however, the young nation is beginning to feel it has a mission, and as the population is becoming more congested and must find occupation and be fed, it is becoming more and more needful to encourage economy of resources, to gather up the fragments and ascertain what uses can best be served by them, and to endeavor to make two ears of corn to grow where only one has grown before. In many of the great industries of the present day, it is the by-products which bring the greatest profit.

Besides the interests to which we have referred, and not by any means the least important is the conservation of human life and health. One part of the Report deals with this subject. Under the head of Public Health it refers to the Pollution of Waters, a burning question at present in some parts of the Dominion, also on Housing and Town Planning, Housing, Ventilation, and Health Officers.

It is not always the fault of employers of labor that their employees are sometimes badly housed and badly fed, and become the prey of diseases which prematurely carry off both old and young. Frequently it is the fault of men, who, with utter disregard of human life and health, and with a view to the filling of their already congested coffers, maintain and rent buildings in which they would not keep their horses or their dogs. The slums of the cities are centres of demoralization and vice, and breeders of disease. It has been reported by persons who have good authority to speak on these matters, that the condition of some of our Canadian towns and cities is unequalled for filth and squalor by anything permitted in the home land. And our Canadian cities have less excuse for permitting such a condition. It will be seen that this Commission is not a sinecure. It has upon its hands a work the performance of which is essential to the physical and moral as well as the material well-being of the people—the work of the careful investigation of conditions, the work of educating the public mind and of advocating laws and regulations for the enforcement of its conclusions.

A friend writing on the 15th ult., from Sapporo, a village in the most northern island of Japan, says—
"As I lift my eyes I see from my window an apple orchard. Were you here you would wonder what is the matter with so many of the trees. The fact is that each individual apple is done up neatly in a little paper bag to keep off the bugs.

"You had better suggest to the Annapolis farmers this plan. Imagine them putting each apple on every tree in a bag. But time and labor are cheap here, and also paper."

This orchard was under the charge of a native to whom it belonged. But, modern methods are becoming prevalent, as our friend goes on to describe.

"We all went one day to visit the Agricultural College. It is situated in a most beautiful compound, with orchards and gardens and many buildings. One of the Professors who was educated in America took us around and was very kind. There are eight hundred students and seventy Professors in the College. There is a Y. M. C. A. dormitory just outside of the Compound for students who are Christians. When the College was opened about twenty-five years ago, the Government sent to America for a man who came and put things in order."

This well equipped College is one evidence of the attention Japan is paying to the training of the young in useful employments. Among the Agricultural Colleges of Canada it is not probable that one could be found so well provided with students and teachers.

Alberta is this fall opening three of these Colleges in connection with the three demonstrative farms situated in different parts of the Province, and each will pay special attention to the needs of efficient agriculture in its own section. The Provincial Government has erected the buildings and the Federal Government will furnish grants to aid in their maintenance.

This Week Forty Years Ago

Items Gleaned From the Issue of the Monitor of Sept. 18, 1873.

A bazaar and tea meeting at Bentville in aid of repairs to the church realized $192.00.

Last Sabbath, the Rev. Willard Parker commenced his labors as pastor with the Lawrencetown and Valley West Baptist church, coming from Milton, Queens County. A new church is in course of erection in the village.

Mr. J. E. Sancton recently purchased in St. John a keyless gold watch to be presented to the Rev. W. H. Hartz, late pastor of the Wesleyan church, Bridgetown. The presentation is made by the congregation as a token of deep regard and appreciation of his religious efforts while among them.

The new ship "Almira Goudey" of Yarmouth which was launched in this County a few weeks ago, has been singularly unfortunate. She sailed early last week for Liverpool, England, with a load of lumber from St. John, N. B., and after being out a couple of days was obliged to return to port, on account of leaking at the rate of five inches of water per hour. The vessel was listed and the top sides caulked, but the leak could not be found. The deck load was then discharged and the vessel run on the "flats" at Lower Cove. There the cause of the trouble was discovered to be an auger hole that had been left open. This being filled the ship was again brought in the stream for the post warden's inspection. The captain reported having found two closed hatches the vessel was tight, other small holes and with these Tests, were made and in one and half hours the water increased in the well eleven inches. The post warden then ordered the cargo re-shipped and the ship to be re-caulked.

Meeting of the Rural Deanery of Annapolis

A "Chapter" meeting of the Clergy of this Deanery was held at Round Hill on Monday and Tuesday of this week. There were present the Rev. H. How, (Rural Dean), Annapolis Royal; Rev. W. S. H. Morris, Middleton; Rev. J. Reeks, Round Hill; Rev. C. W. Neish, Granville Perry; Rev. J. Lockwood, Clementsport; Rev. W. Driffield, Digby; Rev. E. Underwood, Bridgetown; (Secretary); Rev. Canon Vroom, D. D., Windsor; and Mr. Douglas Wiswell, Halifax, and King's College, Windsor.

The first session was held on Monday afternoon. After routine business, the study of the allotted portion of Greek Testament was taken up and continued through the afternoon. In the evening a well attended service was held in St. Paul's church, the sermon being preached by the Rev. Canon Vroom, D.D.

On Tuesday morning the usual Deanery service proper was held at eight o'clock, consisting of Holy Communion with sermon "ad clerum" by the Rev. W. S. H. Morris. At ten o'clock the Rev. J. Reeks read an excellent paper on "The Resurrection Body." This paper showed deep thought and labour and gave rise to a very full discussion.

In the afternoon the third session of the gathering was held at which a discussion was opened by the Rural Dean on "The Spiritual Condition of our Parishes." The next meeting will be held at Annapolis Royal on the first Monday and Tuesday in December.

EPWORTH LEAGUE TENNIS CLUB vs. ROUND HILL TENNIS CLUB

A keenly contested tournament between the above named Clubs was played upon the court of the Round Hill Tennis Club last Saturday afternoon. In this their second match the Epworth League Club came off victorious, but this fact became possible only after the best and most careful efforts upon the part of the Leaguers. Round Hill possesses a combination of excellent tennis players who will always be able to give a good account of themselves when their rackets meet contestants upon the courts.

After the tournament the home team most generously entertained the League Club at a tennis tea served in the public hall of the community. The Leaguers moved and passed hearty votes of thanks, and in various exuberant manner showed their hearty appreciation of the kindness of their Round Hill friends. An invitation was extended the Round Hill Club to visit Bridgetown for a return tournament next Saturday.

The score was as follows—
Gents' Singles.
Harry Connell defeated J. H. McLaughlin. 6-4.
Clarence Kinney defeated R. Bailey. 6-2.

Rev. B. J. Porter defeated G. Mason. 6-1.
Ladies' Singles.
Miss M. Mason defeated Josephine Kinney. 6-2.
Miss F. Rice defeated Ruth Fowler. 6-4.

Mixed Doubles.
L. FitzRandolph and Miss M. Mason defeated Mark Starratt and Vol. Fulmer. 6-0.

Ladies' Doubles
Josephine Kinney and Dorris Neily defeated Misses M. and S. Mason. 6-4.

Gents' Doubles.
Laurie Palfrey and Raymond Bent defeated G. Mason and J. H. McLaughlin. 6-2.

Mark Starratt and Clarence Kinney defeated L. FitzRandolph and R. Bailey. 6-5.

Mark Starratt and Max Piggott defeated J. H. McLaughlin and R. Bailey. 6-3.

Epworth League Club won 7 events and 21 games; Round Hill Club won 3 events and 12 games.

Arlington Sunday School Picnic

The Arlington Sunday School held their annual picnic on the lawn of Ritson Bent. The weather being favorable, the gathering was very large. The tables were bountifully spread and at one o'clock all sat down to a bill of fare of lamb and green peas, potato salad, baked beans, pie and cake. When the feast was over, the tables cleared, games were the features of the afternoon. Base ball games between the married men and the single, was won by a score of 12 to 3 in favor of the married men. They also distinguished themselves in potato and hobbie skirt races. The ladies in needle and thread race and jug race afforded lots of amusement. Prizes were offered by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall of South Boston. Mr. Edwin Risteen and P. Smith won the gentleman prizes, and Mrs. William Bent and little Susie Bent won the ladies'. After the day was spent and darkness came on, they retired to the house, where a very enjoyable evening was spent. After all was over they retired to their homes, all having enjoyed a good time.—COM.

HYMENEAL

CHARLTON—LOCKE.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Beals, Auburn, was the scene of a very pretty wedding, Wednesday evening, Sept. 3, when their daughter, Angeline Locke was united in marriage to Daniel M. Charlton of North Kingston, in the presence of immediate relatives and friends. Promptly at seven o'clock while the wedding march was being played by Miss Wheelock, niece of the groom, the bride entered the parlor leaning on the arm of her father and took her place beside the groom, who was supported by his brother-in-law, Mr. Prior Sanford, beneath a pretty floral arch. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Foshay of Aylesford, the ring service being used. The bride was charming in a dress of white marquisette with heavy insertion and lace over pale blue silk. Her going away suit was a tailored suit of Alice blue with a large white picture hat. After a sumptuous repast the happy couple were royally serenaded by the boys, after which they took their departure for their future home, amid a shower of rice and good wishes. The bride received many valuable and useful presents.

DURLING—TORY.

The marriage took place yesterday at one o'clock, at the residence of Mr. W. H. Tory, High Street, of his daughter Carita B., to Mr. C. J. Durling, manager of the Royal Bank at Matanzas, Cuba. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. C. Wilson, pastor of the First Baptist Church, assisted by Rev. J. McCartney Wilson, of United Presbyterian Church in the presence of about ten guests. The bride was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. Her travelling dress was grey with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Durling left on the afternoon express for Lawrencetown, where they will spend a few days at the home of the groom's parents. From there they will go to Boston and New York, thence to their future home in Cuba.

The bride is a very popular young lady with a large circle of friends, and will wish her long life and happiness in her married life. Mr. Durling is not a stranger here, having been on the staff of the Royal Bank here a few years ago.—From the New Glasgow Evening News.

Church Notes—Parish of St. James

ST. JAMES, BRIDGETOWN. The work in connection with the repairs beneath the church is progressing very favorably. A further meeting will be held immediately after the usual service next Friday evening to take final action. This meeting will begin at eight o'clock and a full attendance of parishioners is requested.

ST. MARY'S, BELLEISLE. It has been decided to hold the annual harvest festival service on the third Sunday afternoon in October, "Children's Day."

ST. PETER'S-BY-THE-SEA. A congregational picnic will be held tomorrow (Thursday) at Milbury's Lake, Young's Mountain. The services next Sunday will be at 11 a.m. (with Holy Communion) and 7.30 p.m.

A telegram received here yesterday conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Joseph, the year and a half old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Keith which occurred on Monday at Campbellton, N. B. The bright little fellow had been an intense sufferer from brain fever for nine days. The child, with Mrs. Keith (nee Stella Foster) visited Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Foster for several weeks in the early summer. Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved parents.

The sudden death of Amos C. VanBuskirk occurred at Kentville on Monday morning, the 15th inst. While passing from his shop to the yard adjoining, he was seen to fall. Aid was at once given and a doctor summoned but life was extinct; death occurred suddenly from heart disease. The deceased was a native of Kingstons and at one time was a merchant there and for many years postmaster. He is survived by several children of whom Miss Gladys and Mr. Cameron are well known here, having made their home with their aunt, Mrs. H. MacLean, for a number of years, since the death of their mother, who was a sister of Mrs. MacLean, and daughter of the late Hon. W. C. Whitman of Lawrencetown. The deceased was sixty-two years of age, and leaves one brother, Geo. VanBuskirk of Melvern Square.

Death of Mrs. Fred A. Chipman

It is with the deepest regret that we chronicle today the death of Mrs. Fred A. Chipman, which occurred very suddenly at her home in Nictaux on Sunday morning last, from convulsions. Mrs. Chipman, before her marriage was Miss Maud Parer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Almond D. Parker of Belleisle. She taught school for a number of years and was a few years ago on the teaching staff of the Bridgetown school. She was very efficient in her professional work, and by her genial and happy disposition she made a host of friends who will regret to hear of her early demise. The funeral took place yesterday, services being conducted by the Rev. E. B. Moore. The Monitor extends sympathy to the bereaved husband and family.

CANADIAN WINS CHAMPIONSHIP OF WORLD ON U. S. RIFLE RANGE.

Cape Perry, O., Sept. 4.—By winning the individual Palma match, with an army rifle, Major W. Hart McHarg, of Canada, becomes the individual champion of the world by having a total of 220 out of a possible 225 on the 300, 900 and 1000 yards ranges. Captain Neal Smith, of Canada, was second, with a score of 220, and Lieut. George Mortimer, of Canada, third, also with 220.

Places were awarded according to merit. The best scores on the long distance counted for first place, the next best United States, etc.

Wolfe, Second State Infantry, made 219; Osborn, United States Navy, 218; J. S. Stewart, Massachusetts, 218; Duff, Texas, 218; McInnis, Canada, 218; W. A. Smith, Canada, 218; Morris, Canada, 217.

By winning the first place McHarg won a prize of fifty dollars in gold. Smith won forty dollars and Mortimer $31.25.

Forty cash prizes were awarded and there were 159 entries.

The Palma Trophy will be shot for on Monday, Sept. 8th.

The Argentine shooters are holding six high places out of the first ten, the United States has three, and Peru one.

The weather conditions were bad for the shooting, rain interfering with the early shooting, and during the afternoon a strong wind blew from the northeast.

G. T. P. RAILWAY TO BE COMPLETED NEXT YEAR

A. W. Smithers of the Grand Trunk Pacific, said yesterday to the Montreal Star:—

"It can now be announced with certainty that the Grand Trunk Pacific will be completed next year, and there will be no let up on building operations while there is a mile of steel to lay between the eastern and western terminals."

Mr. Chamberlain is going over some of the branches and the main line to the end of the track, and until he returns from his western trip, Mr. Smithers will not proceed to London.

"When I return," he said, "it will be as one fully sharing the confidence of Canadian and British friends of the enterprise, as to its bright future. As to the west, Prince Rupert will, of course, continue to be our line down to Vancouver, although it will not be built by the company. Friendly interests are looking after the road, and after its construction we will lease and operate it as a much-needed branch."

MINARD'S LINIMENT cures Diphtheria.

DEAF, DUMB AND BLIND: NOW A LECTURER

Helen Keller addressed three thousand people in Tremont Temple, Boston, some time ago, all sitting spell-bound and realizing that they were witnessing one of the modern miracles and a demonstration of what one of the greatest surgical specialists has termed the most wonderful individual achievement in education, the education of the deaf, dumb and blind girl.

Mrs. Macy's account of how she happened to be chosen to take charge of Helen Keller, of their first meeting, of the early and later trials of teaching a girl so handicapped by Nature, and her final declaration that the pupil had gone ahead of the teacher, stirred the audience deeply, and occupied their attention for an hour before Helen Keller came on the platform.

HOW LANGUAGE CAME TO GIRL. Starting without method and with hardly any idea of how best to approach her task, Mrs. Macy said she had finally decided that it was best to let the child do what she seemed inclined to do. The teacher entered into the spirit of the child's life and aided her in all efforts to find out things. She told of how a doll she brought in her trunk for Helen Keller was the first thread in the bond of sympathy, and how she taught the child by the manual method to say "doll," and from this first word by slow and tedious steps she taught her word after word meaning some physical object, until one day the child's consciousness seemed to be awakened to the real meaning and significance of words. They were at a pump getting a drink of water, and the pupil felt the water coming from the pump, and the process of drawing the water from the ground became impressed on her mind. With the impression came the realization of the use of words.

Helen Keller learned thirty-two new words that day, and from then on the world in darkness became a living reality through words that she was constantly learning.

Her work with Miss Keller and the results obtained, said Mrs. Macy, proved that "a mentally sound child is compelled by some inward force to express itself."

Mrs. Macy explained the difficulties Helen had to master to comprehend speech. The pupil placed her thumb on the speaker's throat, two fingers on the lips and one on the nose. In this way she got the guttural, the labial and the nasal sounds. Then the real task came in imitating by her own unused vocal organs these movements of the throat, lips and nose. Her voice lacks vibration, but even here she is continually gaining. She has been helped much in this respect by Charles White of the New England Conservatory of Music.

HER FIRST ADDRESS.

Miss Keller's appearance on the platform was the signal for an enthusiastic outburst of applause. She was dressed in white and carried a bouquet of pink carnations.

"I am glad to stand before you in love and fellowship. I cannot tell how you look, but I feel a loving kindness in you and it makes me happy," she said. "We are all bound together in a love for each other and the success of our movement and our lives depends on this love for each other. Every one of us has the right to make the most of our lives—of the lives which God has given us."

"A ray of light has touched the darkness of my mind. I was blind, now I see; I was deaf, now I hear; I was dumb, now I speak. The hands of others have wrought this miracle in me, and it has also come through the love of God."

LIFE SHOULD BE FILLED WITH MELODY.

Most of us do not use or appreciate the senses or the mind God has given us. Life should be filled with melody. We are blind to all the pretty ways of children. But the senses alone are not enough. It is only when united with imagination, and thought and feeling, that the senses acquire full value. Can you see the splendor of the sunset? Can you look up at the stars without emotion? I have never been able to see these wonderful fires in the sky, except through my imagination; but the starless night of blindness has its wonders. The wind on my cheek touches my imagination. There is a divinity that can only be felt through the imagination and through courage. Love can read asunder the iron gates of darkness. Devotion breaks through the high walls of pride and ignorance. The world is full of love."

ANSWERS QUESTIONS

Placing her hand on Mrs. Macy's face, Helen Keller then answered questions from the audience. Mrs. Macy repeated the question orally. Helen repeated it orally after Mrs. Macy, then answered the question. Mrs. Macy asked:

"Doesn't it make you feel very old to stand on this platform?"

Miss Keller—"No, it makes me glad because it brings back memories of friends who have been so good to me."

Mrs. Macy—"It makes me feel old as Methuselah, because from this platform I spoke my valedictory twenty-six years ago."

Helen—"I spelled my first words on this platform. The years flow by so quickly."

Mrs. Macy—"Are you a real Socialist or only a parlor Socialist?"

Helen—"A real Socialist."

Mrs. Macy—"What kind of a Socialist did you say you were?"

Helen—"A sure enough one."

Mrs. Macy—"I know there is something wrong about Socialism, if I could only find out what it is."

Helen—"Please let me know what you find out what it is. The lazy ones won't get all the cake under Socialism as they do now."

A voice in the audience—"Can you feel the applause?"

Helen—"Yes."

A voice—"What is the first thing you can remember?"

Helen—"My mother."

A voice—"Do you believe God is love?"

Helen—"Yes, indeed."

BRITAIN HAS DOUBTS.

The cream of British marksmanship is represented annually at the Busby meeting where volunteer-soldiers from all parts of the country, and from the Colonies, shoot off for pride of place in the various competitions, the greatest of which is, of course, the King's Prize, says London Ideas.

This is a time in which the question naturally arises: Is Britain doing as much as it should do to foster and encourage the art of rifle shooting. The answer is in the negative.

"Teaching the young idea how to shoot" is a phrase which has lost much of its practical significance, and it is astonishing (writes an Ideas investigator) that so many parents, who would be extremely annoyed if you called them unpatriotic, object to their boys handling a rifle on the ground that it produces a desire to kill. As a matter of expediency and precaution every boy ought to be made acquainted with firearms, for the chances are that he will, in his ignorance, one day kill himself. Rifle shooting is a sport just as football, cricket and tennis are sports, and thousands of youngsters could be trained annually through their own desire to excel as marksmen if they had greater facilities and more official encouragement. Other nations realize the value of marksmanship—why?

In 1893 France provided instruction in rifle shooting for boys of ten years and upward in the primary schools. During 1908 she spent $20,000 for ammunition alone for schoolboy rifle clubs. The National Union of Shooting Societies of France has something like 2,300 associated societies, with a total membership of 300,000.

Canada insists upon a course of marksmanship as part of her public school curriculum.

Australia annually appropriates $100,000 for her reserve force of 50,000 civilian riflemen, and railways carry free of charge rifle club members to and from rifle ranges. All the public schools are the proud possessors of corps, the total membership being 40,000, which is supplied with arms, ammunition and instruction by instruction by the Government free of cost.

All the universities and public schools in Hungary have a course of rifle practice and maintain camps of instruction for them.

In Sweden even the smallest villages have their rifle ranges, and although the population of the whole country is only about five and a half millions, there were over 148,000 active riflemen in 1911. Every year the Government allows over $40,000 for civilian rifle practice, and three years ago there were over two thousand rifle clubs, with a total membership of 130,000.

Little Switzerland, with a population of only three and a half millions boasts of no less than 2,300 rifle ranges, and 3,500 shooting societies, containing 214,000 members, and Italy, Greece, and Austria have not been slow to realize the importance of rifle practice and are keeping pace with their neighbors in car-marking annual grants for this purpose.

HE NOW BELIEVES IN "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Because He No Longer Suffers With Headaches

TAYLORVILLE, ONT. "I was a sufferer from Fearful Headaches for over two years. Sometimes, they were so bad that I was unable to work for days at a time. I took all kinds of medicine, was treated by physicians, but yet the Headaches persisted. A short time ago, I was advised to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I did so, with almost instant relief. After I had taken them for three days, my Headaches were easier and in a week they left me. After I had taken a box of these tablets, my Headaches were quite cured. My appetite was now poor and my stomach bad—and now my appetite is splendid and my digestion excellent. I had become thin and weak from the constant Headaches but now not only have I been cured of all these awful Headaches, but my strength is growing up once more and I feel like a new man!"

RAILWAY TO BE BUILT FROM EDMONTON TO FORT McMURRAY

Edmonton, Alta., Sept. 12.—Most important of the legislation to be taken up at the session of the Alberta legislature, called to meet at the parliament buildings here on September 16, probably will be the building by the provincial government of the Alberta and Great Waterways railroad from Edmonton to Fort McMurray, 230 miles, from which point the Athabasca, the Great Slave and the Mackenzie rivers are navigable to Fort McPherson, 2,100 miles. The primary purpose of the railway is to afford adequate transportation facilities to settlers, prospectors and trappers in the north country and provide an easy outlet for their products, including grain, minerals and fur. The estimated value of the raw fur trade of the north alone is a matter of between $6,000,000 and $6,500,000, of which about fifty per cent has come out by way of Edmonton this year, the rest going to the United States through traders from Seattle and San Francisco, who send skins into the Behring sea and to all islands.

The railway should be built to Fort McMurray at once," said a prominent supporter of the government today. "From what I can gather I should say that work may be started this fall and rushed to completion. The chief survey has been made and it is only a matter of assembling men and materials. Every man who has ever been in the north country must be in favor of the plan, as it will ultimately mean a railroad from Edmonton to Dawson, connecting the Yukon country with the outside world."

Few, if any, medicines, have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation. For sale by all dealers.

FORTUNES MADE IN PRISON.

Convicts Who Made Good Use of Their Time.

Although most criminals find the time of their imprisonment hang very heavily, it sometimes happens that convicts have made such good use of the hours spent in jail that they have earned large sums of money to help them when their sentences have expired. Recently a convict while an inmate of Ohio Penitentiary, studied electricity to such good purpose that he invented an electrical street sweeping machine and other useful appliances that it will probably bring him in a large sum of money.

Another American convict made a big fortune some years ago by inventing a new collar-button while he was serving his sentence. The idea was taken up by a big firm in Pittsburgh and was very successful.

A man serving a sentence in an Arizona prison invented a new device for absorbing electricity from the air, and the prison authorities were so struck with the possibilities of his invention that they liberated him long enough to go to Washington to file an application for a patent. It is not only by inventing, however, that prisoners make money. A criminal who was sentenced to prison for complicity in a murder in Italy recently had four of his plays accepted by a firm of publishers in Rome. All the plays were written within the four walls of a gloomy cell. Another Italian convict, a brigand, who was sentenced to thirty years' imprisonment for this evil, wrote many clever stories while he was in jail, which were accepted and well paid for by the editors of several newspapers.

A Hungarian woman prisoner, who was sent to jail for having egged on her lover to commit a murder, wrote a charming waltz while she was in prison. The piece was published and became so popular that its composer made a small fortune out of the sales.

Probably the largest sum ever made by anyone whilst serving a sentence for crime was the amount earned by a convict who was confined in the State prison at Waltham, Mass. Finding the time hang very heavily on his hands, he determined to set to work to invent something that would not only prove useful to his fellow inmates but that would earn him enough to keep him when he had regained his liberty. After much thought he was lucky enough to hit upon a device which abolished the necessity of a bobbin in a sewing machine. This was a simple invention to the uninitiated but it was thought so well of by experts that its imprisoned inventor was offered the huge sum of $20,000 for it by a company in New York. Needless to say he accepted the offer.

NO PLACE FOR WOMEN

British Commons Looks on Fair Sex With Suspicion.

Collectively the British House of Commons does not approve of woman and she is only allowed within the precincts on sufferance. Even the wives and daughters of Cabinet Ministers walk along the corridors in a furtive manner, and no woman on any pretext may move from one part of the building to another unescorted by a man.

Should a woman wish to speak with a member she must present herself at the lobby entrance and humbly give his name to the policeman on duty. After scrutinizing her bag and parcels the policeman will pass her on till she finally arrives at the outer lobby where she can inscribe her name and that of the member she wishes to see upon a card. It may be sent in at once, or the gold-chained official may decide that he will have a nap first.

The woman waits patiently, or impatiently, according to temperament, seated upon a narrow green leather bench between cold and suspicious statues of politicians of a bygone day. If the member wishes to see his visitor he may appear in half an hour or an hour, or he may merely tear up the card, when his name will presently be called as "not in the House." The unwritten law that no woman must move about the House unescorted existed long before the suffragettes spread panic among politicians.

Only the other day Mrs. Asquith and Mrs. Winston Churchill were chatting with a party of members when the division bell rang as a signal that a vote was to be taken. The ladies were hastily deposited on the nearest bench, and told not to move till they were fetched. Not long ago the daughter of a titled lady was thus left by her hosts, a father and son, both members of the House. After the vote each man thought the other had returned and escorted their guest to a place of safety. Only at dinner time, some hours later, was the absence of the girl noticed. She had remained obediently on the spot where she had been left, under the impression that dire consequences would follow any attempt on her part to find her way outside alone.

The ladies' gallery is ridiculously inadequate as regards size and the possibility of seeing and hearing. It holds only forty, and of these not more than a dozen can see and hear. Outside in the corridor there is a long uncomfortable bench on which women who have secured supplementary tickets (that is, a ticket to admit if there is an empty space) sit sometimes for hours. The speaker's gallery is rather smaller, and is entirely at the disposal of Mr. Lowther. If a Cabinet Minister or other member is going to make a special speech his wife will write to Mrs. Lowther begging as a favor to be permitted to occupy a seat in this gallery.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

CUCUMBER ESSENCE.

To get the extract cut the vegetable into small bits and put them into a saucepan with a tablespoon of water to each good-sized cucumber. Place it on a stove with a moderate fire so that it will come slowly to boil. When at this point remove from the heat immediately and strain through muslin. To the strained juice add one-quarter as much alcohol. It is then ready for use and may be applied night and morning, but is not suitable for excessively dry skin, but that which has a tendency to shine and is naturally oily.

MILD AND SOOTHING.

Spirits of camphor and also tincture of benzoin are excellent for bleaching. While applying a tan or freckle cure, however, do not use spirits of camphor often than once a day, and it should be put on, if convenient in the morning or afternoon, but never at night, for if allowed to remain on the skin over six or eight hours it is injurious, as it is a powerful astringent.

As to the use of benzoin, put about a dozen drops of the tincture into a basin of water which is to be used when rinsing the face. This may be applied every time the face is cleaned.

Cucumber preparations are very desirable in connection with these bleaches, as they are refining, bleaching and astringent, and for that reason are better than creams for some skins, especially those of oily texture. When there is a natural dryness, though, applications containing some grease are best. The preparation of cucumber juice is so simple that small quantities can be made frequently if desired. No matter what the method of compounding, the peel is always used.

THE FEEDING OF CHILDREN.

The future of the child is dependent upon its environment and feeding during the first few years of life, so we see that the question of feeding becomes a very vital one both to the individual concerned and to the nation.

Reform schools and prisons are said to be filled with boys and girls whose twisted brains and irritable nerves are the results of starved muscles.

The food of the child must furnish more than the food of an adult. The child must have material for growth; he must have energy to exercise either in work or play, and the body of the child must also be storing up resistance for the future. The child has little resistance or reserve force and this explains why the child is more susceptible to disease than the adult. To provide for growth, exercise and resistance, then, the child needs to have simple, nourishing foods, which will be easily digested. After the child is six years old, he needs more food in proportion to his size than a man.

Until the child is seven years of age he should have a quart of milk a day. If the drinking of milk becomes monotonous, it may be disguised in custards, milk soups, milk toast, cooked in with the cereals or served in a variety of ways. Milk supplies a large amount of calcium which is needed in the framework of the child. Rickets is due to a lack of calcium.

By the time the child is eighteen months of age, he should have an egg a day to supply phosphorus which is necessary for tissue formation—hence for growth. Doctors say that malnutrition is probably due to a lack of phosphorus more than anything else. No amount of food which the child may eat will be of any value in building the tissues if phosphorus be not present.

Cereals are a valuable part of the child's diet, but they should be well-cooked and strained at first until the child is two and a half years old. Fruit and vegetables are an absolute necessity for the proper development of the child. They add mineral salts and are valuable also for their laxative quality. These are added during the second year and only the juice of an orange or a little prune pulp should be given at first. Baked potatoes, spinach or pea puree may be added by the time the child is two years of age. Butter may also be given at this time.

Meat should not be given to a child before the age of four because it is too stimulating, and because it putrefies too readily. The absorption of the poison formed in the putrefaction of meat may cause auto-intoxication, but in any case, it will injure proper cell growth. The meals of the child should be at regular hours. It has been found that regular habits in childhood lead to more law-abiding citizens. Disease and death are often due to irregular meals.

The good results from the careful attention to the diet of the child are very much worth the effort—but to put it more strongly, good citizens are dependent upon proper feeding during childhood.

Joker's Corner

Lord Curzon, when a young man at college, once found his bad handwriting stand him in good stead. Writing two letters, one to a relative, the other to a chum, he enclosed them in wrong envelopes. It chanced that in the second letter he had made some uncomplimentary reference to his relative, and on discovering the mistake he had made he awaited developments with anxiety. There presently came a letter from his uncle. "I have tried to decipher your epistle," it ran, "but your writing is so atrocious that I cannot make head nor tail of it. However, I guess the drift of it to be that you need some money, you rogue, so I enclose a cheque."

DIDN'T HEAR THEM THE SAME WAY.

A college professor was walking across the campus with the dean of one of the colleges when the chiming in the library tower began to ring. "Dean," said he, "the music of those chiming is so beautiful that it always sets me dreaming of the past. My boyhood days—"

"What do you say?" interrupted the venerable Dean. "I say the chiming is very, very beautiful. They make me think—"

"What?" yelled the dignified old Dean again. "The chiming—the chiming—how beautiful they—"

"Speak louder!" cried the Dean once more. "I can't hear you for those infernal bells."

A BROTHER IN TROUBLE.

Dwight L. Moody was one day riding in a car when it was hailed by a man much the worse for liquor, who presently staggered along the car between two rows of well-dressed people, regardless of tender feet. Murmurs and complaints arose on all sides and demands were heard that the offender should be ejected at once.

But amid the storm of abuse one friendly voice was raised: Mr. Moody rose from his seat, saying: "No, no, friends! Let the man sit down and be quiet."

The drunken one turned, and, seizing the famous evangelist by the hand, exclaimed: "Thank ye, sir—thank ye! I see you know what it is to be drunk."

A LAPSE OF CONSCIOUSNESS.

One may relate the story of the West Highlander who had dwelt long in Glasgow, but was finally summoned from it to the bedside of his dying father. When he arrived the old man was fast nearing his end. For a while he remained unconscious of his son's presence. Then at last the old man's eyes opened and he began to murmur. The son bent eagerly to listen.

"Dugald," whispered the parent, "Luckie Simpson owes me five shillins."

"Ay, man, ay," said the son eagerly. "An' Dougal More owes me seven shillins."

"Ay," assented the son. "An' Hamish McCraw owes me ten shillins."

"Sensible tae the last," muttered the delighted heir. "Sensible tae the last."

Once more the voice from the bed took up the tale. "An' Dugald, I owe Calum Beg two pounds."

Dugald shook his head sadly. "Wanderin' again, wanderin' again!" he sighed. "It's a peety!"

He was a hard-working and intelligent Frenchman, but the verbs still troubled him. "Ah, yes, m'sieur, I saw Mrs. Brown the other day," he said to an English friend, "and she told—I mean told me that her school was soon to break down."

"Break up, surely?" "Ah, yes, break up! Your verbs do trouble me so yet! Break up—that was it."

"Why was she going to let her school break up so early?" "Because influenza had broken down in it."

"Broken out. It is a bit puzzling, isn't it?" "Broken out—ah, yes! And she is going to leave the house in charge of a caretaker, as she fears it might be broken—How do I say that, please?"

"Broken into, I expect." "That is it. Broken into—by the burglars." "Is her son married yet?" "No, the engagement is broken in."

"Broken off. Oh, I hadn't heard of that! Is she worried about it?" "He only broke up the news to her last week. Is that right?" "No; you should say just 'broke' there."

"Ah, vell, I think I am nearly broke myself by those verbs of yours. And he went sadly on his way.

GROWING UP.

I am going to school, and so I am too old for dolls, you know. So, mother, please, when I've gone away, And the charwoman comes on Saturday, Give her this parcel to take along To the little girl whose back went wrong; She's younger than me and very small, Just the right age to play with a doll. And, mother, tell the little girl That the one with the curly hair is Pearl; The hat is Pearl's with the feathery spikes (And of course she can tell her whatever she likes. But I wish you would tell her all the same I think Pearl is a beautiful name! I hate the big doll dressed in white, And I'm glad she's going out of sight And the long-clothes for baby trimmed with fur. I'm far too old to care for her— And the little boy and the Japanese doll, I don't care how soon she breaks them all— But tell the charwoman's little girl I used to be dreadfully fond of Pearl!"

Our Sunday School held its annual picnic at Port Lorne on the grounds of Mr. Phineas Banks, on the 5th inst. Hay wagons and family teams, and one sail boat, all gaily decorated with a generous display of Canadian flags, conveyed the merry party to the place. A bountiful table was spread in the shelter of a beautiful grove of birches. During the afternoon there were sailing and motor boat parties and various amusements for the young folks, while some of the older folks called on old friends in the place, and last but not least came a good old-fashioned sing. As the party returned home in the evening the general opinion was that Port Lorne and the picnic were all right.
A number of our boys took a holiday trip to Outram on the 1st inst. Dinner was enjoyed in rustic picnic style at the sand beach. Then followed a bon fire on the beach, a swim in the bay, and target practice—throwing stones at tin cans floating in the waves. After this the boys enjoyed a shower bath where the Healy Brooks falls over the cliffs. The spray was adorned with a very pretty rainbow and the boys decided the fall should be called Rainbow Falls. The "Ovens" were then visited. These curiosities are natural caves in the cliffs and can be entered directly from the beach. The largest oven extends fifty feet into the cliff and is large enough to hold a yoke of oxen and a large load of hay. One small oven has been named "Johnny Oven," because there is an opening at the top, similar to a chimney. The boys then scrambled around Shag Rock which an old resident told them could not be passed. The day closed with a visit to the curious little canyon on the Healy Brook.

JAPAN IS READY.

Tokio, Sept. 15.—The Japanese government today despatched two cruisers and several torpedo boat destroyers to the Chinese coast. Captain's demands in connection with the killing of several Japanese subjects during the recent fighting at Nanking have been agreed to in principle by China, but pending their actual settlement and the re-establishment of order the Japanese Government feels that the presence of increased naval forces in Chinese waters is justified.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., Ltd.
Gentlemen,—I was badly kicked by my horse last May and after using several preparations on my leg nothing would do. My leg was black as jet. I was laid up in bed for a fortnight and could not walk. After using three bottles of your MINARD'S LINIMENT I was perfectly cured, so that I could start on the road.

LADIES MUST HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR TO BE ATTRACTIVE

SALVIA

The Daintily Perfumed Hair Tonic

Creates a Magnificent Head of Fluffy, Luxuriant Hair—Men and Women of Culture use Salvia, the Latest Paris Hair Dressing and Tonic—It will Make Your Hair Grow or Your Money Back.

SALVIA—the Prized Paris Hairdressing and Tonic—at once goes to the roots of the Hair and turns harsh characterless hair into beautiful wavy hair, full of character and life—hair that changes the whole appearance.

SALVIA destroys the dandruff and will positively make hair grow. SALVIA is not a sticky sulphur preparation, but a pleasant nonsticky and daintily perfumed Ladies'—taste and refinement wouldn't think of using any other. All actresses in every country now use SALVIA continually.

We claim and absolutely guarantee that SALVIA will create new growth of hair. If your hair is getting thin, commence using SALVIA at once. It will soon stop your hair from falling out and make the hair grow. SALVIA is compounded by expert chemists, who have made the hair and its diseases a life-long study.

If your druggist doesn't happen to have SALVIA in stock, insist on his getting it for you; don't allow him to sell you "something just as good," because there isn't anything "just as good" as SALVIA. All wholesale druggists in Canada sell SALVIA; and your druggist, if he is up to date keeps it. Refuse substitutes.

A large generous bottle sells for 50 cents.
