WINE CELLARS OF A METHODIST CHAPEL.

"I do not," writes an English corres-pondent, "know anything about the cellarage of Exeter Hall, but the allusion cellarage of Exeter Hall, but the anasta-to it recalls the historic fact as to the letting of the cellars of the Wesleyan Mission House in Bishopsgate Street to a wine and spirit merchant a long time ago. Numbers of Wesleyan Methodists were shocked at the idea of obtaining rent from the spirit trade, and the prevalent feeling was expressed by the Rev. James Everett of York (who was afterwards expelled as the suspected author of certain 'Flysheets' and, with two other expelled ministers, started a 'Reform' Church) in the lines

There's a spirit above and a spirit below, A spirit of love and a spirit of woe; The spirit above is the Spirit divine, The spirit below is the spirit of wine,'

The wine and spirit merchant was soon afterward evicted.

CHRIST'S INDIVIDUAL CUP.

A Clergyman Thinks That the Saviour Probably Used One at Communion.

Rochester Democratic and Chronicle The much-talked-of communion service in which the individual cup would play a conspicuous part in Central Presbyterian Church, was held yesterday morning. The communion table stood upon the rostrum, the pulpit for the time being was displaced, and upon the table stood the unique trays, each holding sixty chalices. In front of the rostrum were two additional tables. These held more trays.

Rev. Dr. Stebbins, amid the profound-est silence, took one of the trays and began speaking. He said:

"We have not the cup that our blessed Lord Jesus Christ had v hen he first instituted this sacred service. That cup has sen lost, and no one knoweth where it is. Though we have not the sacred ves Though we have not the sacriet costs which touched the holy lips, yet we have the memorial that he left us, and we use the elements that he use. If we have not the cup from which Christ drank, neither had the disciples who sat around the first table. Our master Christ, probably drank from an individual cup, and so did each of the apostles.
"It was the custom of the Orient to use individual cups, and as far as I know we are only reviving the practice established by Christ himself.

"I know many of you come to-day knowing that there is to be a change. Yes, we are altering the method of distributing the From this time on we shall use the individual cup. We are warranted in mak ing the change; even Christ, onr Lord, set the historic precedent, and therefore we are following in His footsteps. The primi-tive church, if I am to correctly understand the custom of those times, also used the in dividual cup, so that we have abundant proof that the change now about to be initiated has the sanction of Christ and of those who immediately succeeded Him.

"Then from a medical and sanitary point of view this innovation is justly warr We are bound to walk in the light, whether it be in medicine, science, philosophy, or the arts. Both medical and scientific dictum bave sanctioned the change as one calculated to minimize the possibility of dangerous consequences that were prevalent

"There will be no irreverence. The same dignity and solemnity which has previously marked the symbolic service will continue in the future

The reverend speaker then thanked one of the church members for having given the money to buy the communion outfit, and the elder who had designed and con-

After the wine had been taken the cup was placed in a little brass ring which was fastened inside to the seat.

It took just eleven minutes for the elders to leave the platform, distribute the wine and return again. This is about five minutes shorter time than when the goblet Altogether there were 2,000 cups filled with wine, and there were about this number of people present.

coat of pure and hard pitch. The pitch used on the modern keg is much superior to that formerly used. It is clear, taste-less, and tough. An empty beer keg will stand a great many hard knocks be-fore the pitch scales off. The kegs were out, when they do wear, externally. They are wet and dry alternately and this pro-motes decay. Then they get a great deal of unnecessary banging around between the time they leave the brewery and are brought back again. Everybody, from the driver and railroad and steamboat hands down to the barkeepers, seems to think the kegs are indestructible. A whole carload of empty kegs is frequently thrown from the car down to the ground thrown from the car down to the ground. A single empty keg is often thrown fifteen feet. It really isn't necessary to make the kegs as heavy, so far as the keeping of the beer is concerned. They began by being made heavy in the old days. brewers then deemed it absolutely requisite to make them that way to with quisite to make them that way to with stand the pressure of the beer. The very fact that they were made heavy and clumsy subjected them to rough handfact that Now they have to be made heavy and extra material has to be put into the heads and staves simply because of this handling and not from any danger on account of the internal pressure of the beer. It is not the breakage or decay of the kegs that bothers the brewers. It is the frequent and entirely unnecessary loss of the kegs. You would be surprised to hear the number of kegs and half-barrels a big brewery will lose in a year. It runs into the thousands at times. No ordinary lively competition in the business for any one to dare such an experiment. "I don't think that there are many brewers in this country who would stoop low enough to erase brands and use another brewer's kegs," said a brewer. but it has been done, even to the extent of putting new heads in the ste A quarter-barrel is worth $2.50 and it doesn't look to me that it would pay a man to steal such a petty thing as that. What becomes of the beer kegs then? Just try to think and tell me if you have been at a boating or yachting resort in this country where you did not see one or two or perhaps a score of beer kegs bobbing on the waves as buoys to mark a course, or as moorings for boats That means thousands of beer kegs, only a few of which have been bought from the brewer. They bob upon the waves for a year or two and then become waterlogged and sink, to be replaced by fresh kegs. I've got a suspicion that the Italians are to blame for the disappearance of many of our kegs. Then occasionally in the summer we hear of lager beer kegs and the ener who had designed and con-structed the cups and trays. This short explanation over, theelders were given the root beer extracts. This is an illegiti-trays, and they passed them from pew to | mate use for the kegs, and I'm puzzled to pew, each communicant taking a small understand how anybody that would make or drink root beer could ever get hold of a beer keg except by swiping it from a saloon alley at night

Toronto and Montreal, Thursday, May 31, 1894.

The Prohibition motion in the House of Commons has gone to the foot of the list, and will not likely be heard of again this session.

Mr. MACLEAN did a wise thing in dropping his motion to abolish the House of Cemmons bar. The matter was not big enough to trouble a legislature body with.

RESERVIV a Scott Act election was held in Charlottcown, P.E.I. On the Sunday preeding the election Rev. W. W. Brewer, the leading Methodist clergyman, preached in the First and Second Methodist Churchies, et al. (1997) and the state of the Makers of native wines are rejoicing in the prospects. Mr. Alex. McNeill, of walkerville, told a Window Record man the other day that the grape crop would be all right, and that the vineyards are in a better condition this year as regards enlivation. The spring was very favorable and in consequence the grape growers have been able to work to good advantage. Notwithstanding the French trusty there will be a great deal of wine made this year. Some growers will make all their crop into wine. The prospects are that grapes will bring a fair price.

A case is being heard in the Baltimore ourts which involves the constitutionality of the act of the last Legislature roviding that indigent habitual drunknis may be cured at the expense of the ity or county in which they reside. The aw provides for the payment of $100 for he treatment of each patient, and that next of kin may apply to the Circuit art for leave to send the drunkard to an institution for treatment. The first plication under the law was made in altimore last week by Frederick W. ory, counsel for the Keelev Institute. n behalf of a Baltimorean who wishes to to the institution. The judge has ermined to have all sides of the queson heard before acting on the applica-

For more than thirty years Potter county, Pa., has had a prohibitory liquor law, but it has always been honored more in the breach than in the observance. Scores of arrests for violation of the law have been made every year, but the diffi culty in procuring evidence has made convictions comparatively few. The county has expended thousands of dollars in the costs of these prosecutions. At the last term of court, though, the county secured the conviction of fifteen illicit liquor sellers, and, with the probable purpose of making good some of its losses by others, the court sentenced each one of the fifteen to pay a fine of $500 and the costs, making each man's outlay over $700. This is probably the highest fine ever imposed in Pennsylvania for violation of the liquor law. But the fun of it all is that the whole proceedings are farcical, in so far that no term of imprisonment is attached as an alternative, and the State cannot prove properly in any one case. Thus the $10,500 which the fines with costs aggregate is all in the court's eye.

WHAT STATISTICS SAY.

The Vanguard, "a journal of moral reform," edited by F.S. Spence, is a publication that appears semi-occasionally in advocacy of prohibiting everything that does not suit the editors' somewhat peculiar views as to what constitutes morality. In the latest issue, the prison population of the different States of the union are set out, and the deduction is drawn :-'It will at once be seen that the highest ratio of crime in Prohibition states is far below the highest ratio in license states. This is a favorite Prohibition argument. It is ingenious and ingenuous. It is arrived at by taking for instance, the proportion of crime in South Dakota, a blizzard swept prairie, sparsely populated with mortgage burdened farmers, with the State of New York, dotted over with big cities, large populations crowded into small areas and the entrepot for all the scum of Europe that have flocked to this western land.

Now let us make a fair comparison. We will take Kansas. Prohibition came into effect in that state in 1880 and its criminal population at that time was 893 per one million as population. In 1890 after ten years of prohibition its criminal population was 946 per million of population. In the same term, Nebraska, lying contiguous but under license decreased from 783 to 576 per million of population, Moreover in all the twelve states known as the "Northern Central" group, so classed in the United States census returns, Kansas had in 1890 absolutely the highest ratio of prisoners to population. Missouri the much berated, and Illinois with all the wickedness of Chicago make a better showing than "saintly Kansas." That there may be no mistake about it, we append the figures :-

We may return to this subject again. In the meantime the above is sufficient to show the true value of the average Prohibition statistical statement when dissected.

SIR OLIVER IS DEFINITE.

Following the example set by Mr. Meredith, Sir Oliver Mowat in his speech at London took occasion to reiterate his stand on the Prohibition question, and did it in distinct words that leave no possible shadow of doubt as to his intentions. Here is what he said;—

"You all know that I have amounced my conviction that the time had come when the great experiment of Prohibition should be tried in this country. There may be difficulties in familia the law, but my view is that a should encounter those difficulties and not also always a superior of many and the conjunction of the many in this matter follow me, whom I may introduced that so have the purisdiction to pass a manufacture of the many in this matter follow me, whom I may introduced we have the jurisdiction to pass a prohibitory law—we purposed and I knows much a law—(loud applanes) and I knows much a law—we purpose in sea well as a large proportion of the mom of this country."

Taking that statement together with the declaration made a week previously from the same platform by the leader of the Opposition leaves, as we have before said, the trade but one option. They must drop all party connection and fight must drop all party connection and fight for their own business.

Sir Oliver proposes but the legislature disnoses.

THE CAMPAIGN.

The Ontario election campaign is in full swing this week, Sir Oliver Mowat opening his tour of the Province at London on Monday evening, and Mr. Merodith following suit at Toronto on Wednesday. Neither leader has swerved from their respective positions on the Prohibition question, and the trade must look to the individual candidates in defiance of the party platforms.

Each candidate must have the question put straight to him at to his position and the stand he will take on this matter if elected, and by his answer he can be judged. Where the candidates view are already a matter of public notoriety this may not be necessary, but in most cases it will. The position we take is that in every case, the whole strength of the trade should be thrown against the Prohibitionist no matter by whom he is nominated or under what auspices he runs. Perhaps a reference to the Toronto constituencies will illustrate sufficiently the stand taken by Turk Arvocare.

In North Toronto, both candidates are undoubted fanatical Prohibitionists. There is no choice between Mr. Marter and Mr. Tait. The only trouble is that both cannot be defeated. Under the circumstances our friends are left with a free hand, choosing between what they may consider the lesser of two evils or not voting at all. Their support should be view absorbers. In West Torouto Ald. Crawford, who was nominated by the Conservative convention, but has refused to state his polities on his election cards, is an avowed Prohibitionist. His opponent, ex-Ald. Lindsey, the Reform nominee, is an equally open anti-Prohibitionist. The whole strength, power and influence of the trade should be thrown against Crawford and in favor of Lindsey.

In South Toronto the situation is not yet clear. Both candidates are said to be anti-Prohibitionists. If they maintain that position there would be no choice, but they have yet to declare themselves.

In East Toronto Dr. Ryerson is a strong anti-Prohibitionist. His only opponent at this writing is Mr. Armstrong, the lator candidate, also an anti-Prohibtionist. There is talk of bringing out a straight Prohibition candidate, but this is not likely.

As matters now stand, therefore, supposing both candidates in the Son. in maintain a satisfactory position, the interest of the trade will be in crushing Crawford in the West. Every other constituency in the Province should be sized up in like manner.

SKILL IN MANAGING CIDER.

ONE hundred pounds of average apples contain 3 2-10 pounds of fiber or cell structure, 2-10 of a pound of gluten, fat and wax, 16-100 of a pound of casein, 1 4-19 pounds of albumen, 3 7-10 pounds of dextrine or soluble starch, 8 3-10 pounds of sugar, 3-10 of a pound of malic acid and 82 66-100 pounds of water, with small quantities of tannic and gallic acids. All of these materials are held and bound together in minute cells, invisible naked eye, constructed of the fiber or cellular tissue, and all enveloped with the outer covering or skin, The writer does not propose to enter into any controver or discuss the mechanical principles which are, or ought to be, employed in cider making, but to take the cider as it come from the press, and speak of the chemical changes which take place and how they may be managed to the best advantage.

The juice as it exists in the cellular structure described, holds in solution the other substances, and is perfectly colorless and transparent, and when expressed contains in addition considerable of the fiber or cell structure of the fruit which has been broken or destroyed in the pro ess of grinding, and is only mechanically suspended or floats in the fluid. Upon its exposure to the air the juice almost instantly begins to assume a reddish color, which seems to depend somewhat entirely upon the action of the air in co nection with the pomace, for if any apple is smashed or ground, and the pomace and juice are instantly excluded fr air, the cider will remain colorless for any length of time, and if the juice is separated from the pulp as fast as expressed, it will also remain clear, proving that the pomace and air both have a part in coloring the fluid. There has been no lack of investigation and information in regard to the manufacture of wine from grape, but there has been a great lack of interest and skill in the preparation of wine or cider from apples, and the control and manipulation of the changes which take place in it, on of the changes which take place in it, on through the first stages of formentation through the first stages of formentation and decay. It has been treated as a waste product. All that cannot be sold and are too small and knotly or too wormy for family use, or too rotten for hog feed, are good enough for cider. Everybody knows that cider is made from apples, but comparatively few know that when properly treated the product is truly a wrine, peaties of the best product of the grape. It is, in fact, the most common fruit or the country, and the cheapes for production of wine, furnishing a wholesome bearterative properties of the best and higher quality, and free from the destructive effect of distilled spirits, because it is, and contains bore of the fruit activative chemical spirits, because it is, and contains bore of the fruit activative effect of the spirits, because it is, and contains bore of the fruit activation chemical spirits, because it is and contains bore of the fruit activation of the flavoring ingredients and nutritions a less objectionable form, and which a less objectionable form, and which human system for good instead of ceil.

The changes which take place in the juice are mostly chemical, converting existing substances in new compounds, which process is called fermentation, and the successful management or direction of those changes, as to when they shall legin and how they shall proceed and when they case, so as to make new compounds either more valuable or permanent, constitutes the will of the operator.

pounds other more valuable or permanent, continues the will of the operator.

This process will go on whether it is understood or not, and this is the reason why so little attention and skifful investigation has been given to it; but it can be better managed by one who has an intelligent comprehension of it, and such a one is not only more competent, but more apt to make new discoveries and improvements in economizing time and labor, than one who is ignorant of the laws which govern the changes he desires.— American Catchaudtar.

Since that the plaintiff alleges that Gompf has maliciously pursued him, and by his influence has had him discharged from places where he was employed as bartender—notably the Maple Leaf hotel, which is now kept by Wim. Or course there is nothing in the nystic number even W there were thiren at the Last Supper and Judas did absequently earn for his name a simile for the most vile treachery. We say of ourse there so thing in it. Any number reckonsol with in the same way would sobably prove equally symbolical of illick. Whether, however, superstition is othing, or nothing is superstition, it is rtain that the thirteenth meeting of the Ontario Jockey Club which after a postonement of two days, commenced on Thursday, has suffered a great deal from in. On the first day it alternately howered and poured, making the track a sea of mire and converting the lawns almost into marshes. Friday, the second lay, things were hardly any better, exept that the water was a trifle later in griving. When it did come, however, made up for lost time and the track at he end of the second day was worse than t was on the first. On the third day, he fickle and too-retiring Sol condeended to exhibit his genial old countence and consequently everybody felt a ttle more comfortable and the horses had a trifle more speed. On the fourth ay the atmosphere was chilly and the sky cloudy and threatening. The fifth was no better in fact as rain fell it was newhat worse, although not so coldad thus the meeting concluded.

If the weather had been fine, and there are those, we regret to say, who augur ill offer her Majesty because for a singular thing it was not on the Queen's Birthday, the crowds could not have found accommodation at the Woodbine. As it was the stands were filled to repletion and the laws and fields were conceptrated masses of humanity. The attendance considering the workers of the day, was simply sight workers of the day, was simply miraculous. There were ten thousand people present, including a thousand ladies, and the receipts at the gate and for badges were but a trifle behind those of last year. Twenty-five bookmakers plied their trade under the shed to the east of the stands and merrily raked in the dust, which the mob did not seem to be able to pile on quick enough. Canadians being pretty shrewd bettors the pencillers did not find it all gain, but, on the contrary, on several occasions they had to call upon their reserve funds. Mr. C. W. Primrose, of New York, had the management of the bookies and in two or three instances he was asked to furnish funds to pay out and did so. On the whole, however, the bookies came out fairly well; but not one of them made a fortune, the Canadian division of the fraternity being as a matter of fact the most fortunate, having a better knowledge than their brethren from abroad both of their customers and of the competing horses.

Mud marred their radiant colors and plentifully bespattered the jockeys from head to foot, and covered the horses as with coats of plaster, but did not prevent lots of first-class sport and some very keen racing. On the contrary for the man who admires strength and stamina rather than speed, the disabilities rather added zest to the admiration with which he watched the noble steeds as they gamely struggled and fought against exceptional difficulties. Naturally the time was generally slow, very slow; the Queen's Plate, for instance, taking 141 seconds longer to run than it did last year, although Joe Miller, the winner, had shown in practice that he was as fast as Martello at his age ever was, and proved by his later performances that his trial was true. In every other race the same story has to be told-the mud was on and the time was off. Saturday the situation looked as if it was going to improve, but on Sunday night the sluice gates of heaven opened wide again and the torrents resumed play.

THE RACING.

An excellent programme had been prepared for the opening day and was run off on the Queen's Birthday, the card for the holiday being postponed until Saturday, the third day, and the card for Saturday until Tuesday, the fifth and last day. Under favorable circumstances the Queen's Plate would have been run for on the 22nd inst., instead of as usual on the 24th, but the postponement brought the race for decision on the anniversary, thus preventing a break in the time-honored custom of running for Her Majesty's fifty golden guineas on Her Majesty's birth. day. It would almost have been a pity had things shaped otherwise, seeing that the 24th this year marked the completion by our most gracious sovereign of three quarters of a century of life.

But to the sport! The opening event was the Trial Purse, a three-quarter-mile dash, for which a field of seven filed an appearance. Mr. Seagram's Stonemason was made the favorite and immediately on the flag falling to a strageling he had to the front, Mike Daly's Kazzan making play after him, and Mr. J. D.

Davies' Laurel getting a long way the worst of it. In fact when the others were moving always standing almost still. Once under way she overhauled a quartette of them in gallant style; but the effort took everything out of the Lachine brewer's game mare and she could not reach the headers. Kazan outlasted Stonemason and placed the first event of the meeting to the credit of a foreigner in a hard drive by a length and a half.

Following the curtain raiser came the Juvenile Scury, as its name indicates, a race for two-year-olds. Seven took the Ilag. This time there was no doubt from start to finish about Mr. Seagram's success. Halling, an imported coil, and Rossmar, by imp. Rossington, carried his colors. The former jumped away on the lead and was never headed. Rossmar laid back at first, but after a bit he joined his stable companion, and the pair finished but three parts of a length apart. Flamboro and Rosina Vokes represented Mr. Headrie, the first named being very nuch fancied by the stable, but finding he hadn't the speed of the Englishman his jockey easied on him toward the end. The others were never dangerous after the first quarter and did little better than straggle in.

Seven also comprised the field for the The going was so wretched that the race was entirely one of judgment on the part of the rider and of ability to stand up and last on the part of the horse. Mr. John Dyment's mare Flip Flap, a tried ampaigner over various courses United States as well as in Canada, was made favorite, but she ran out at the stone wall when leading and did not go the course. Old Mackenzie, with charac teristic honesty and grit, and capitally ridden by Cahill stuck to his task and finished in a walk all besmattered with mud and somewhat weary, twenty lengths thead of Laughing Stock, who, being new at the business, surprised everybody by the excellent showing he made Daly's Max came third after a long inter val, not a bit blown but not having exhibited any marked delight in the flounde method of procedure. Ancient Burr Oak once a good cross-country performer, and the champion fizzler Aide-de-Camp, went the journey, but that's all, for they were all to pieces long before reaching the terminus. Fred Doane, feeling that Baronet had no title to win, ceased to persist after the first round. Mackenzie's time, it is worth noting as proving the time, it is worth noting as proving the excellence of that horse, was only 18½ seconds less than Flip Flap's in the same race last year, Mr. Dyment's representative winning on that occasion. After the contest Mr. Dyment demanded an investigation, not being satisfied with the way Hamilton rode his mare. The executive being convinced there was good ground for suspicion, suspended him and pursued enquiries further, rumor says with an effect that has not yet been made public.

Now came the piece de resistance, the vent that has been the talk of event that has country side and town side ever since the entries closed on the 1st of March, and even before that date—the Queen's Plate. Twenty-four were originally entered, of which three were struck and three more entered on May 1st, leaving two dozen yet in and eligible to compete for a piece of the thirteen hun-dred dollars which the race was worth including Her Majesty's $262.50, the O. J.C.'s $800 added money, and the stakes Thirteen declined for various reasons to go to the post, and thus eleven, just the average number of starters, accepted the gage of battle. A splendid start was folowed by Mr. Seagram's second string, the Vicar of Wakefield going out to make the winning with his stable companion and favorite, Joe Miller, hard after him. With such vim did the Vicar cut out the pace that at the end of the first quarter he was showing the way with two clear open lengths to the good. After that ae let up a bit and by the half mile he and Joe were welling comfortably abreast with the recommendation with the recommendating our mobile such as the such as t eatch the flying Seogram pair she could not. Even Vision and the way out. In fact, considerable and have been could use the second state of the second state of the second state of the second string the made the pace at the outset, he ranmagnificently, giving ample indication that the day will come when he will be the second string to somebody's how. The battle was between the trio, Mr. Seagram's pair and Lou Daly. Lochinvar ran with the field for half the distance, but then he clucked it up, letting Mr. Davies Thorneliffe, a grand cot evidently not yet up to his form and that wants more time yet to reach the height of his powers, chase the first three in. Ben flur ran in the ruck until the run in was reached and then he closed upon Thorne content and then the closed upon Thorne content and the second se

Mr. Seagram, whose success was hailed rith deafening cheers, thus won the Queen's Plate for the fourth year in succession and for the second time ran first and second. He won with Victorious in 1891, and with O'Donohue in 1892 and ran first and second with Martello and Athalo in 1893, repeating this trick this year as described with Joe Miller and Vicar of Wakefield. It was a proposed It was a pronounced victory for the black and yellow, and was well c alculated to make us wonder how on earth we could have ever expected anything different. A great deal of credit must be given to J. R. Walker. Mr. Seagram's trainer, for few men have better judgment than he and none exer cise more watchful care. It was not, however, only in the case of the Queen's Platers that his marked ability was shown, as the performances of Stonemason, Sara gossa, imp. Morpheus, Halfling, Rossmar and others in the stable amp Mr. Seagram being a thorough sportsman believes in giving the public the best of it all the time and always trying to win, and, therefore, his victories are invariably hailed with salvos of delight. He has already declared his ability to run first and second next year, so that intending competitors for the Queen's Guineas in 1895 have ample warning to watch their charges well and make the most out of Mr. Davies' victory would doubtedly have been received with an acclaim that would almost be reverberating yet, but it was not to be. As I been said, Thorncliffe is a good colt, I he is short of work consequent upon the bad weather we have been having lately, his trainer not thinking it Judicious to push him along earlier in the season. However, there is not a man Jack who has ever been on a race course that does not wish the Davies stable better luck another year.

Now we come to the famous Walker Cup, representing a good $1,400 most munificently donated for this race by the celebrated makers of the president will be remembered that, having beginning the will be remembered that, having beginning the control of a cup value of a Scot given by Messan, Walker & Son, with his grand province-hied Victorious, son of Terror and Bonnie Vic, and consequently half brother to the Vicar of Wakefield. The firm not preposing that the name of the race should vanish from the O.J.C.'s card, offered to give a cup to be raced for of twice the value of the previous one, namely, $1,000, if the Club would add a like amount in money. The executive of the O.J.C. is not see their way to do this, but said they would add $600. With splendid gener-osity Messrs. Walker & Son said, "then we will make up the deficiency. We will give the cup and place inside of it for the winning horse twenty twenty-dollar gold Thus their brother distiller has mother beautiful cup, thanks to the vic tory of his horse Saragossa, to grace sideboard at least for a year, the trophy having to be won by the same stable twice in succession before becoming its property—as well as $850 in cash to swell his bank account.

But we have in some particulars rather been putting the cart before the horse. Half a dozen started for the race, of whom Mr. Denny Higgins' (Prescott) Bel Demonio was the favorite, his owner standing himself to win $2,000 in bets. When the flag fell Mr. Seagram's sec representative imp. Morpheus—the Waterloo gentleman evidently has an abiding faith in double-barrels, for in the maje ity of instances he ran two horses in the one race, at least on the first three days—dashed off in front and led the field at a merry clip considering the going. He maintained the pace for a mile and then Saragossa, having come through the field he let him take up the work in hand and he successfully completed it, although first Major-General and then Bel Demonio. both owned by Mr. Higgins, went at him. But he stalled them both off, ultimately winning one of the hardest and be fought-out races of the meeting by a neck, the fellow with the military title being third a length off and Mr. Dawes' Royal George, who ran gamely, fourth, Morpheus tifth and Bowstring last.

A welter selling event completed the first day's sport. Nine started on fairly even terms. Mr. Davies' Bell of Orange was the first to show, the first quarter Mr. Michael Daly's Come Home manifested a disposition to take the advice contained in his name. At least he forged to the front and, never again being headed, managed to beat out Messrs. Smith and Martin's Cottonade by half a length, Blizzard coming third, two lengths off, followed by Bell of Orange, Gonzales, Wanderer, Spring-Jugurtha, buck and Mr. Seagram's Eppleworth as SECOND DAY. FRIDAY, MAY 25TH.

THE second was what is called an off day, that is, no event of importance was down to be decided. It was very much an off-day, the scratches being numerous and the fields generally light. Moreover it rained and rained heavily, making the track almost knee-deep in mud. Of 64 entries for the half dozen events on the card only 29 started, no less than 35 having the pen put through their names.

Four came out for the Grand & Purse of $400 over three-quarters of mile. No trouble was experienced getting the quartette off, and it was ply a case of Mr. Seagram's imp. pheus first from the drop of the fla Mirage was the last to move and the to finish, being two lengths bel Morpheus. St. Michael, Polydora and Chamunka came out for the Flash Stakes over three-quarters of a mile. Polydora, being by imp. St. Blaise, the hundred-thousand dollar Derby winner, was a warm favorite, but she was outfooled by St. Michael, who, going to the front after the first furlong, maintained his advantage to the end, winning by two lengths from Mr. Higgins' mare. Mr. Dawes' clever filly Chamunka was running strongly and looking very dangerous, when all of a sudden her saddle girth gave way and her jockey slipped to the ground with the saddle still under him. The filly kept on the even tenor of her way, racing on to the finish and beating St. Michael in by half a length. The funniest feature was that as soon as the post was passed Chamunka stopped and turned as if going in to the weighing paddock.

THIRD DAY.

SATURDAY, MAY 26TH.

On Saturday the race officials were nxious, but as the day progressed the sky cleared and the sun made its appearance, greatly to the joy of everybody and with the result that six or seven thousand people witnessed some excellent sport. It was a Seagram day with a vengeance, four out of the six races going to the credit of the black and yellow and rolling the popular distiller's winnings in purses and stakes for the three days up to $6,800 or thereabouts.

For the Don Purse, which set the be lling, there were eight starters. flag fell to an indifferent start with Stonemason having slightly the best of it. Cottonade, Balbriggan and Penniless did not propose that the Seagram horse should have it all his own way, so they ranged up alongside and rounding the course there was quite a battle royal for position on the stretch. Stonemason kept on and swinging on to the best ground outpaced the others. Cottonade once owned by Mr. Hendrie, being on to his heels and just below the betting stand, less than a furlong from home, made a determined challenge for the lead. Penni-less was along side of the mare and they both made an expiring effort. Stone-mason stalled off the attempt of each and finished full of running a length ahead tinished full of running a length ahead of Cottonade, who only beat Penniless on the post by a nose for second place. Balbriggan, thoroughly pumped, came a poor fourth with Laurel, who's evidently not up to her old-time form, fifth. Wist sixth, imp. Osprey seventh and Spring-buck hast. Race No. One for Mr. Sea-conservant Stromyson's record with of the gram and Stonemason's second win of the meeting.

Five youngsters ran for the Woodbine Nursery Stakes and imp. Halfling and Rossmar, owned by Mr. Seagram, finished first an 1 second exactly as they did in the Juvenile Scurry on the first day in spite of the fact that each had to concede weight to the others, the imported fellow giving Mr. Hendrie's Flamboro and the Brookdale Stable's Superior no less than 14 lbs. each, while Mr. Dawe's filly Zana, Brookials Stable's Superior no less than a little in front, the lot got into their 14 lbs. each, while Mr. Dawe's filly Zana, strides and what proved to be a magnificent including her sex allowance, received no race was begun. Saragossa raced by the less than 22 lbs. A good start saw Ross-mar the first to show, with Superior at his shoulders and Halfling close by, followed by Flamboro and Zana. At the end of the first quarter Superior took up the running and led into the stretch, where Rossmar was fourth and Halfling with his load of 125 lbs., was pursuing Superior. Fairly straightened out Regan gave the English colt his head and spring-ing to the front he speedily had the race ing to the front he specify had not rand at his mercy. Rossmar came up in good style and the pair raced in two lengths apart, Flamboro' being third, the same distance away and Superior, badly fatigued, fourth. Poor little Zana was last all the way. The much-vaunted Red Coat race, No there are two of the species—brought out a septette of gentlemen in full hunting, costume, red coats and all, Mr. Latham on Mr. S. S. Howland's Lucknow looking neat and trim in a glossy silk hat, It was a case of clambering over the banks. ditches and rails in any way possible Before the horses had gone any distance two or three looked like giving up, so heavy was the going. Ploughed fields are nothing to the steeplechase at the Woodbine after several days' heavy rain. Every now and then the horses would pitch forward as they splashed into a hole and nearly throw their riders over hole and hearly throw their riders over their heads. As for jumping it was a marvel that they were able to rise to the obstacles at all. Between walking, jog-ging and galloping, Capt. Jack Crean cleverly managed to steer his mount, Prince Charlie, over the two miles and a and landing the thousand dollars including the stakes for first. It looked at one time as if there was going to be no second. Mr. Hayes, who rode the Broadhollow stable's Fireworks, and is accounted one of the best gentleman jocks in America, led over the first jump, but at the wall on the first round gave away to Prince Charlie, the pair forging well ahead of their field. At the rails in the east field on the second Hayes came a cropper, but, remounting, he pluckily continued in the race. Prince Charlie had by this time got a lead of at least three hundred yards. Although he did not press his horse he could not help increasing the distance and ultimately he meressing the distance and ultimately he won by a full quarter of a mile. Fire-works fell again at the hurdle in the stretch, the last in the race, and gave his battered, bruised and torn rider another bad tumble. Allan Wilson, the colored trainer and whipper-in, caught the horse but Mr. Hayes was too much blown to mount again. Wilson seeing Mamood, mount again. Wilson seeing Mamood, who had been loitering by the way, com-ing hot foot got up on Fireworks himself and with elevated elbows stretched out to their utmost limit, looking for all the world like the most approved scarecrow, he rode the race out, beating Mamood by the shortest of heads, amid the greatest anusement and round after round of applause. Waterloo threw his rider, Dr. applause. Waterloo threw his rider, Dr. Campbell, but that gentleman got up again and finished fourth. Athol, Laugh-ing Stock and Lucknow refused their jumps and didn't finish.

Next came the Toronto cup, the richest race of the meeting, being worth at least $1,700 to the winner, $350 to the second and $160 to the third. Mr. M. J. Daly's Copyright won this race last year and being considered of a class equal to being a formidable candidate for the Brooklyn Handicap was thought to have kind of a cinch this year. He was ac-cordingly installed favorite, but that did cordingly installed favorite, but that did not make him wir. Had the track been hard and dry he might have been able to carry his crushing weight of 133 pounds to victory, but as it was he was almost anchored in the mud. Two steeplechases were run on this day and for all the sport there was in watching them it would have been better if none had been run at all. was cold and bleak and the attendance rather light, there probably not being three thousand people at the track all The racing was fairly good, but owing to heavy rains on Sunday night the track was as heavy as ever, while the steeplechase course was a series of bogs with an occasional plateau of fair but always soft going. Mr. Seagram, strange to say, although he had a starter in each of two races, carried off nothing.

Nine competed for the $400 called the Purse over three-quarters of a mile, with which the aftern ings commenced. In the betting Blizzard and Mirage had the call, but the money poured in so liberally on Chamunka wing to the good showing she was mak ing when her saddle slipped on Friday, that she became a hot first choice ere start was effected. Blizzard was moving when the flag fell and the others vainly chased him throughout, he winning easily by two lengths from Mirage, who preceded the Kapanga colt by half a ngth, Cheddar coming next, Foam fifth, Chamunka, who was never dangerous, sixth, Cortland seventh, Evangeline eighth and Blue Wing last, the half dozen behind the placed horses being very badly strung out.

The Maple Leaf Stakes for three-year old fillies had but four contestants, nan May ly, Nancy Lee, Merrythought, May Blossom and Lou D. Merrythought led at first and then Lou D., who was ridden with a chain bit, dashed into the van and ran herself out in three-quarters of a mile, when Nancy Lee, who had been biding her time, took a hand in the game and, leaving the remainder of the field with the greatest ease, won as she plased by a dozen good length. It was really a fright-ful scatteration. Merrythought came ful scatteration. Merrythought came next, heading in May Blossom and Lou

D. Mr. Davies expects that his filly will do better on the Hamilton track the latter part of the week, the going being firmer there. Lou D. evidently has a splendid turn of speed and every-hody would be delighted were she to fulfil her owner's expectations and to place The master Thorncliffe also expects better things of the horse of that name at Hamilton than he has yet shown. Once more we will all say: "So mote it be." The Street Railway Steeplechase had a quartette of starters. Flip Flap was the hoice of the cognoscenti and for five parts of the distance she galloped straight and well and jumped in good style in spite of a very dickey fore leg. Then at the fatal rails in the east field on the last round she sulked and, refusing three times to take the obstacle she not only lost the three hundred yards advantage she previously possessed but fell behind Baronet, who was leading the other two by a furlong or so. Mackenzie ran well for a distance, but stepping into a hole at the trees in the west field he threw his rider. On being caught he sulked and could not be got to take the jump opposite the club house. At last he was got going, but was a long way in the rear. Lord Motley acted equally as badly and refused to be either cudgelled or coaxed into good behavior. Macken zie accordingly caught up to his lordship and then the pair exhibited more stubbornness at the stone wall. Lord Motley at last was persuaded to get over, but Flip Flap had also been got to take the rails and was chasing in Baronet, capitaly ridden by Mr. Fred Doane, who had a lamentable fa lead of ten lengths, by which distance he won, notwithstanding that the mare and and founderin very gamely in the stretch. Mackenzie life and limb.

caught and passed Lord Motley, but it was claimed he did not take the stone wall on the second round and he was accordingly disqualified, Mr. Daly's horse getting the $25 for running the third. What was expected to be the race the day came fourth on the programme This was the Jockey Club Handicap, for which Belle of Orange, Copyright, Mor-pheus, Come Home and Lonely did battle. Copyright, being on better terms with the others as regards weight than he was in the Toronto Cup, was heavily backed both by his owner and the public, but he could not give Belle of Orange eight pounds and her sex allowance. ran gamely, but it was no use. again Regan on Mr. Seagram's imp. Morheus was the first to show on McLaugh lin dipping the rag. It was only for a short distance that he held the lead, for Come Home starting out undertook to give his stable companion. Copyright the They ran first and for half a mile and then Copyright fall-ing back Come Home did the same, surrendering the pride of position to Belle of Orange, who under some persuasion stalled off Copyright when he came to her in the stretch on a fierce drive and won by a bare length, Morpheus finishing third, twice that distance behind Mr. Daly's crack, Come Home being fourth and Lonely last after having a bit of a look in when half the distance had been covered. Mr. Daly was harder hit by Copyright's second defeat than he was by the first, each being very costly to the uncomplaining and enterprising Mike, who brought a stable of eight horses and several jockeys, including one of the best in America Marty Bergen, to the meeting from w York. Belle of Orange and her New York. Belle of Orange and her jockey were warmly applauded on returning to weigh for their pluck and ability. Flint had the mount and he fairly out rode Bergen on Copyright, showing better judgment in coming at the right time.

The Woodstock Plate, of which the late John Forbes of Woodstock was the founder, attracted seven-three-year-olds to the post. Mr. Higgins started a pair in Blue Garter and Major-General and Kazan ran first and second with them. set the pace and Bowstring took it up when he retired on the first quarter being completed, Major General coming second and Blue Garter third, Kazan droppins to fourth with Royal George fifth, niless sixth and Eppleworth last. change in this order took place until the eastern turn in the track was reached then Blue Garter ran into the lead and opened a big gap, followed by his stable companion Major General. Bowstring went to fourth and, coming again on the stretch, finished third, a length and a half behind Major General, who was two lengths in the rear of Blue Garter when Judge Post was passed. Kazan came fourth, Royal George fifth, Eppelworth sixth and Penniless last. The Helter Skelter chase over the short steeplechase course terminated the i' j's sport. Dr. Sewell's Rosebud, who was erroneously reported to have broken down, showed the way over the whole course and won by a furlong from Dr. Camp-bell's George C., who was the same dis-tance ahead of Burr Oak, Aide de Camp was a kind of a fourth, Landseer cavorted around and threw his rider shortly after starting, and narrowly missed kicking his rider's brains out. Lucknow, who with Landseer shared the honor of being the most highly thought of by the betting public, flopped over the first jump, and thus backers saw with grief their money lost by a couple of obstinate brutes Steeplechasing sometimes furnishes great sport, but at this meeting, so far, the events of that character have been a lamentable failure, being nothing more than a series of processional scrambles and flounderings, with occasional risks to DETAILS OF THE RACING

FIFTH AND LAST DAY.

Tuesday, May 29th.

Possibly the fifth and last day of this dairably managed meeting produced the best sport. An excellent programme had been provided and each event was exceptionally keenly contested, while the wagering was remarkably heavy. In all it is estimated that not less than $200,000 was bet during the entire meeting, including the speculation in the winter book on the Queen's Plate. On the last two days the bookers certainly got the most of it, few favorites winning and they at very short

The weather on Tuesday was little better than on any other day. A smart hail torm shortly before the time for the first ace doubtless prevented many from atending, while during the afternoon there were one or two sprinklings. There were about 3,000 enthusiasts present, making total attendance for the five days of 3,000. Although the weather through at was generally of a disastrous descrip-ion, it is gratifying to know that the position as it ever was, the receipts havig been no less than last year, when they ere the biggest on record

In fact it was Joe Miller from the first at a clipping pace and at the last in a canter by three open lengths. The others were not in it at any time!

The Red Coat race, No. 2 followed and as the best steeplechase of the meeting Five took the flag. Dr. Smith's Surprise ridden by Mr. Penniston of Montreal, les from the start to the stonewall, where Mr. Winter (or rather Mr. Wadsworth) sent Mayourneen ahead and speedily opened a gap. Jumping like a bird and going as true as steel, Mayourneen con-tinued to show the way, followed by Surprise at a respectful distance, until after leaving the first bank in the east field on the last round, where she plunged into a hole and fell, pinning her rider to the marshy ground. Surprise havin come up and passed, Mayourneen rose t her legs and Mr. Wadsworth remounted Surprise was thirty yards in front, but Mayourneen at once made play, caught Dr. Smith's horse before entering the stretch, and won hands down by half stretch, and won mains down by man dozen lengths, Surprise being second, a long way ahead of the favorite, Dr. Campbell a Waterlou, who with his owner up bell a Waterlou, who with his owner downer bell a Waterlou, who will be with the work of the and the same gentleman's Lucknow stubbornly refused to take the rails opposite the club house. was of a brilliant description.

The race of the day, the Violet Handicap, for a purse of $1,000, to which Mr.
George Gooderham and Sir Frank Smith contributed $250 each, followed with a field of seven. Mr. Seagram's Saragossa was asked to pick up 128 lbs. and give Mr. M. J. Daly's St. Michael, each being four years old, 14 lbs. It was a big under-taking, and although Saragossa ran with game determination, the undertaking was too much for him and he was beaten by a couple of lengths, Mr. Hendrie's Coquette coming third, three lengths in the rear of Saragossa, Mirage fourth, Tom Flynt fifth, Balbriggan sixth, and Blue Garter who was well backed, last. The lot ran bunched, with St. Michael on the lead until nearing the finish, when they spread out a bit, but were always pretty well together.

A consolation selling race brought the eat and remarkable meeting to a close There was once more the favorite field of seven, of which Cheddar was thought to be the cheese, but Wist proved a fairly easy victor, Cottonade coming second and Cheddar third, Mr. Seagram's Eppleworth bolted into the fence and threw his boy, Brooker. Jugurtha was fourth Wanderer II. fifth, and Maid of Ellershi

HORSES THAT HOLD RECORDS.

A Chapter Showing the Growth of the Trotting Horse Business in Forty Years.

It has been with a steady and healthy growth that the trotting horse industry has grown in public favor with the American people, and unless one views it carefully from an interested standpoint he is not apt to recognize the immensity of the enterprise; and as to its popularity, we need but book back a few years, when we could count the men engaged in breeding trotters on the fingers of the hands, and as well can we remember when the first many control of the control

A great change has been wrought in the past score of years. From a beginning that was regarded as of little importance, back at the close of the war of the Union, we have seen it progress with steady and earnest strides till now the breeders have increased into the thousands, and millions of dollars have gone into the business to breed horses for the track and road, and we see it to-day in a healthful condition, and there never was a time when speed and quality could find a more ready market than now.

The horse business has suffered a bit from the ravages of financial depression, but intelligent breeders recognize the one apparent fact that all exchangeable commedities have taken a tumble, and all that money could buy was depressed in prices; because the ever essential could not be had, it because series from seeningly imaginary causes. Prices for horses went down with the general tide of depression that, in 1895, swept breadcast over the whole continent; but with the advent of the 1894 springtime, the bloom of encouragement mantles the check of all enterprises, prosperity smiles upon the land, and soon the distressing fatality of hard times and low prices will have been driven from our midst, to be replaced by the beauting ray's of substantial solf whe been driven from our midst, to be replaced by the beauting ray's of substantial solf.

One of the first breeders to obtain a prominent distinction in the trotting horse world was James Miller, of Paris, Ky, who bought Abdallah 15 in Orange county, New York, in 1859, and carried him to Kentucky. Robert Alexander, of Woodburn farm, Midway, Ky. was another of the pioneers, and so was Dr. L. Herr, of Forest Park, Lexington, and likewise Gen. William T. Withers, of Fairlawn farm, and Col. Richard West, who bred Director. Mr. L. L. Dorsey, of Louisville, became prominent in horse of Louisville, became prominent in horse affairs as the owner of Golddust, 150. foaled in 1855. Mr. Alden Goldsmith, of Orange county, New York, was known as the owner of the stallion Volunteer 55, who founded a great family; and the master of Stony Ford, Mr. Charles Back man, who bred the leader of all sires in the 2:30 list, Electioneer, who has 145 trotters to his credit. Mr. Eldridge, of Duchess county, New York, bred the founder of a great family when Mambrine Chief 11, was foaled in 1844; he spent many years of his life in Kentucky as the property of James B. Clay, in Woodford unty, Ky., where he died March 28, 62, and has left behind him a great 1862 family to perpetuate his name through generations to come upon the harness racing turf. But the greatest of all speed and racing progenitors was foaled Ma 1849, in his early career known as Rysdyk's Hambletonian, but the modern appellation of Hambletonian 10, is now application of Hambietonian 10, is now more appropriately applied. He was bred by Joseph Seeley, of New York State, and later passed to the ownership of William Rysdyk, of Chester, N. Y.

Hambletonian first became prominent as intrough the cross of the American Star, 147 mares, but his greatest power to perpetuate the name so great as he now has was given his sons, grandsons and great-grandsons. If we exclude from the records of 2:30 performers the descendants of Hambletonian 10, and Mambrino Chief 11, the list would be small and the volume to embrace them would be a book of convenient size to carry in the vest

Mr. Elijah Stone of Switzland county,

Ind., was never recognized in the horse world as a breeder of prominence, yet he bred a great horse in Blue Bull 75; he was foaled in 1854, and 11 years thereafter, in 1865, he was purchased by James Wilson of Rushville, Ind., who owned him till he died, in 1880. He was the first sire to have 50 of his get in the 2:30 In 1892 I compiled a table that I called the stamina test of all 2:30 per formers (under their sires), who had 20 or more heats to their credit in 2:30 and better. Many horsemen who had been inclined to question the racing qualities of Blue Hill's get were surprised to see that he led the list, having 13 to his credit, while Geo. Wilkes (2:22) came credit, while Geo. Wilkes (2:22) came second with 12, and Volunteer 55 had 11. The blood of the imported stallion Messenger has been an important factor in perpetuating the trotting horse and swelling the 2:30 list to its present great numbers. As to the exact date that Lady Suffolk entered the 2:30 list there seems to be a difference in the records. In one book I find she made her record of 2:29\(\) at Albany, N.Y., on Sept. 6th, 1884, and in another I find her first mile in 2:30 or better was made in Hoboken, N.J., Oct. 13th, 1845. Some claim she reduced this mark to 2:28, while I find her saddle record in one place 2:26 and in another 2:261.

Lody Suffolk was a race mare of rare quality, and won many hartfought but thes. It is claimed that her racing career extended over a period of 35 years, being 12 years old when she made her entriance into the charmed circle. Mr. L. W. Lawrence of Smithton, N.Y., had the distinguished honor of breeding her. She was sired by Engineer 2d No. 3, a grey stallion foaded 1829 by Engineer; her dan was by Don Quixote, son of Imp. Messenger, and we find from the records that both Hambletonian 10 and Mambrino Chief 11 trace directly to this imported grey stallion. The first pacer to enter the list was James K. Polk, a side-wheeler of unknown ancestry and doubtful age, who covered a mile in 2.27.

at Union Course, N.Y., Aug. 21st, 1845.
The trotting horse from his earliest known performances has been regarded as the American gentleman's horse, and harness racing has likewise been known as his ideal sport. There is no near healthful exercise than driving a goodmannered tretter, one that will set will his part and is not given to vices and unbecome the tricks in harness.

The number of heats trotted in 23a and better previous to 1856 was 29.

The list embraced 679 sires, with 1744 of their get who had we distinction by making a record of 2.30 a better, and embraced both trotters and better, and pacers. The daughter of Harold and Miss Russell, Maud S, was then the queen, having performed the remarkable feat of going a mile over the Cleveland track, July 30, 1885, in 2.08%, and she reigned supreme with her queenly grace for six years, when, on Oct. 20, 1891, Sunol, daughter of Electioneer 125 and Waxana, made a mile over the Kite track at Stockton, Cal., in 2.08\(\frac{1}{2}\). The first three-year-old to enter the list was Lady Stout, by Mambrino Patchen. on Oct. 1, 1874, driven by Dr. L. Herr. The first four-year-old to enter the list was Bruno, by Hambletonian, 10, on July 19, 1865, driven by J. Lovett There never was a time in the history of the trotter when a first-class one was worth more money than now, and the question is easily answered, because base values on trotters as to their proba ble carning capacities, but he mu blended with racing qualities, as that is the all-essential quantity nowadays. The "hop-skipping get into the 2.30 list any way you can day of usefulness, and his quality is supplanted by real desires for the one th is level-headed, wears few boots, little weight, and that can get the money. When you have one of that kind you are proud to own it, and you will always find ready market if you want to sell.

I once asked the well-known driver John Splan, what he regarded as the most essential quality in a race horse. He said promptly: "Speed," "What next, Splan?" essential quanty in a race norse. He said promptly: "Speed." "What next, Splan?" "More speed." "And what next?" I queried, and with a yell he cried out: "More speed!" And that will ever be the cry.

All trotters are oot race horses, nor are all trotters road horses. The coming har-ness-racing season gives fair promise of being the brightest year known to the

I imagine, my reader, that I can hear ou say: "Friend Dick, what do you you say: consider the greatest performances in harness?" That might be a question for wide difference of opinion, and I will simply name a few that are the greatest, and you may form your own opinions as to classifying them: The 2-year-old mile in 2.10; by Arion; the triplicate team record of 2.14 by Belle Hamlin, Justina and Globe; Nancy Hanks' mile in 2.04, Directum's 4-year-old race record of 2.051, and Fantasy's 3-year-old race record of RICHARD Y. HARDIN.

OLD GREY MESSENGER.

All America's Best Trotters Trace to This English Thoroughbred Horse.

NEARLY all the great trotting hors America have come of one blood—that of Messenger, an English horse, imported into New York in 1788.

The lineage of this horse can be traced irectly back to the Darley Arabian, who was the sire of Flying Childers, and to the Cade mare, who was a granddaughter of Godolphin Arabian. He was, therefore, of the best English thoroughbred racing

The Atlantic Monthlyof May, 1868, con tains a twenty-one page article upon 'The Turf and the Trotting Horse in America,' which in a historical way contains a great deal of valuable information regarding the breeding and performances of American horses during the early part of the present

All accounts concur in representing Messenger as a horse of superb form and extraordinary power and spirit. Agroom brought him to this country was accusomed to relate that the three other horses that accompanied him a long voyage had become so reduced and weak that they had to be helped and supported down the gangplank; but when it came Messenger's turn to land he, with a loud neigh, charged lown, with a negro on each side holding him back, and dashed off up the street on stiff trot, carrying the negroes along in spite of all their efforts to bring him to a

APPEARANCE OF MESSENGER.

He was a handsome gray, fifteen and three-quarter hands high, with a "large, beny head, rather short, straight neck, with windpipe and nostrils nearly twice as large as ordinary; low withers, shoulders somewhat upright, but deep and strong; powerful loins and quarters; hocks and knees unusually large, and below them limbs of medium size, but flat and clean, and whether at rest or in motion always in a perfect position."

These records indicate that he had more of the form of a trotter than of the thoroughbred horse in general. This form along with the extraordinary vitality and endurance of his race he gave to his pro geny, which, being persistently used and trained to trot, because will more marked in these characteristic particulars. first generation of his descendants were fine road horses, many of them fast, and all endowed with extraordinary courage and endurance. The second and third genera-tions possessed in still greater perfection the form and action of the trotting horse, of which the fourth and later generations have furnished the most perfect specimens. Messenger lived to be 28 years old. For fteen years he was owned in the neighborhood of New York and was held in such estimation that he probably left a more numerous family than any horse that has ever lived. So great has been the impress of his wonderful stamina and splendid form upon the horses of America that those best acquainted with the subject did not hesitate twenty-five years ago to estimate his value to the country at $100,000,000.

FOUNDER OF THE MORGAN FAMILY. Of the other horses that have founded lines of trotters Justin Morgan deserves to be mentioned first. He was foaled in 1793 at Springfield, Mass., and when two years old was taken to Vermont. was True Briton, a fine horse ridden by General Delancy in the revolutionary war Justin Morgan is decribed as a "low, compact, powerful horse, with proud step and good lively action." These qualities he These qualities he communicated to his descendants, who are smooth, easy travellers, and possessed of indomitable perseverance. Fox, one of his indomitable perseverance. Fox, one of his colts, was driven 175 miles on the road within twenty-four hours. The excellence of the stock of New England is to this horse and to Hambletonian, a son of Mes-

The Bashaws are descended from two Arabian horses. The first known as Bashaw, was bred by the Emperor of Morocco, by whom he was presented to the Dey of Algiers, and finally, through the Swedish Consul, found his way to this country about the year 1768.

Grand Bashaw was imported from Tripoli in 1820. Andrew Jackson, Kemble Jackson, Long Island Black Hawk, Henry Clay, Lantern, and George M. Patchen are his or less derived from Messenger. Bashaw are characterized by fine size, handsome head and neck, full mane and tail, and a certain pride and magnificence of style.

THE ENGLISH TROTTER BELLFOUNDER

The trotting horse Bellfounder was im-ported from England in 1823. He was a orse of great substance, of remarkable pirit, and his career in England was spirit, and his career in rangames marked by splendidachievements. At three marked by splendidachievements in six min tes, and when four years old ten miles in thirty minutes. Afterward he trotted over the Norfolk course, seventem and one-half 500 guineas. He gave muscle and sinew to his progeny, and a Bellfounder cross ap-

There remain to be mentioned imported Trustee and Sir Henry; Duroc, by thoroughbred Diomed; Glencoe, by Sultan; and the French horses Pilot and Royal George. These last horses were only a part of the original Norman stock, but they had enough of the blood to show it in their orm, in the toughness of their constitu tion, and in their bold trotting action.

From the horses that have been here enumerated all the trotting horses and most of the road horses in the United States have come. In the case of many trotting horses a pedigree cannot be made out, but whenever one is fully ascer tained it invariably establishes a connection with one or the other of them. An excellent authority claims that no great trotter has been produced whose pedigree, when traced, does not show a ection with imported Messenger.

This record proves the immense influ ence of a few good horses upon the stock of a nation, and attests also the superior quality of the English racer. All the orses mentioned are of Arabian and Eng. lish thoroughbred stock, except the French horses, and even they are known to have a strong infusion of the blood. From the vast hordes of wild horses which roamed over the plains of Texas, Mexico, and South America, not a single equal in size, speed, and enduring power to these Eng-lish horses and their direct descendants has ever been bred.

PROHIBITION NOT A FAILURE,

Tommy—" Uncle, what's prohibition?" Uncle (who comes from Maine)—" A law that prevents men from getting good liquor, Tommy."
