In heavy boats their victory, looking at their style of rowing, was sufficiently astonishing, but when they afterwards beat the pick, perhaps, of the London Rowing Club and Oxford University, in an equally easy manner in outrigger the scullers, it was no longer a matter of surprise."

Elijah Ross Tells the Story to the Times—Out of Four Boats into One.

How the Paris crew came into being is an interesting story. The members of the crew came from four boats and had at each quite a record as successful oarsmen when the Paris crew was formed.

WESTERN TOWN ALMOST WIPED OUT BY TORNADO MANY LIVES LOST, MUCH PROPERTY DESTROYED

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Mar. 3.—A staff special to the Commercial Appeal, from Meridian, Miss., says: A tornado, in the wake of which followed death, fire and property loss in a sum not to be estimated at this hour, descended shortly after six o'clock last night and plowed a path-way from the southern to the eastern suburbs of the city.

At two o'clock this morning, the city was in darkness, and the local guards, by the light of camp fires, were patrolling the area of debris and wreckage that extends in a slender path from the Meridian Fertilizer Company, on the south, to the Meridian Cotton Mills, in what is known as Georgetown, an eastern suburb of the city. The known dead are: Patrick McGinnis, local freight conductor, Mobile and Ohio, killed in Elmira's restaurant.

Meridian had always considered itself tornado proof. Mount Barton and the Sand Mountain Hills, were accorded as a bulwark against such a disaster.

It is safe to estimate the property loss at a round million. The largest single loss will probably fall on the Meyer-Neville Hardware Co. Its building is a brick heap.

are so demolished that it may be ten days before it is possible to re-establish the lighting facilities. North of the power house the storm overtook a few box cars and crossed the tracks of the Alabama and Vicksburg Railroad.

Will Etridge, a young man, was cast one hundred yards through the air and set down on his feet unhurt. At this hour details are meagre, and the city is in total darkness.

CHANGES IN SUN OFFICE

Of changes in the Sun and Star office, Outlooker in the New Freeman says: "Col. Markham, it is understood, will be the new manager of the Exhibition Association."

THE TIMES NEW REPORTER

It is all right for newspaper men to go on Arctic expeditions and smash records with the prow of a tugboat at Public Landing, but when they engage in a cutting match they are going too far.

Mr. Cornfield O'Hoo is spending a few days with his cousin, Miss Birdie McWhat. They were at the opera house together last evening and went home at the conclusion of the performance.

There is reason to believe that the legislature will proceed with its business as soon as the members have finished talking. This may be a weak hope or a bluff, but there is no time limit, and the temptation is almost as great as Frederick's as at City Hall.

My Friend the Chauffeur.

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON, Authors of THE Lightning Conductor THE Princess Passes, ETC.

Leaning from the seat so that the Prince had to walk with his foot on the step, I exclaimed, "Oh, Mr. Barrymore, won't you let me give you a lift? Prince Dalmar-Kahn has his own car, and I'm alone in this."

"Thanks very much, I shall be delighted," said the Chauffeur. Even the Prince's anxiety wasn't equal to the situation created by these tactics. He retired, hat in hand, looking so furious that I could hardly help laughing. Mr. Barrymore got in between me and the Prince, leaving the Prince with nobody but his own valet to vent his rage on.

I rather hoped, for a minute, that Barrymore would say something which would give me the chance of a vague word or two of explanation; but he didn't. He simply talked of indifferent things, telling me how the work on the car was finished, and how he had had time after all to wander among his favorite bits of Venice. And then, in a flash of understanding, I saw how much more tactful and manly it was in him not to mention the Prince.

When a pity doesn't don't realize the interesting work they do in the making of history, as they go on looking out and musing over before before have been and never will be again. It would be such a reward for their patient and hard work like my wish to know how often I've thanked it lately for the splendid moments it has given me.

These of those I had in Verona (no thanks to the Prince) have really helped me to get on my feet, and it is to me a good and do one's duty. But now I begin to see that my own life, as I have thought much about the development of souls, except that one being in hand, is not so good as I thought it was. I have thought much about the development of souls, except that one being in hand, is not so good as I thought it was.

It would be such a reward for their patient and hard work like my wish to know how often I've thanked it lately for the splendid moments it has given me.

Why lots of us all run to one place like Venice, or any show city—instead of going to another nest of ashills; or why we all crowded into one ashill (like a church or theatre) at a particular time. So a theatre would be when they touched the ashill with one of their fingers, to make the ash run out. Or a volcano would have an eruption because they'd touched the mountain with one of their fingers. You might imagine fairies playing tag under these ashills."

"Oh, don't, Beedie! You make my blood run cold!" cried Aunt Kathryn. "You let's talk of something else, quickly. How gracefully the vines are trained here, draped along those rows of trees in the meadow. It's much prettier than anything I've seen elsewhere."

"Or fumes 'chasing nymphs,'" said Sir Ralph. "No doubt they did it a few years ago, and caught them too."

"I'm glad they don't," said Aunt Kathryn. "I'm glad they don't do it so far from ladies to motor."

But I wasn't glad, for the whole country was one wide background for a pro-Bay habitué, and the mountains to which Aunt Kathryn had applied so indulging a simile were even grander in size and nobler in shape than before. We had seen many old chateaux (though never a castle), but the best of all had been reserved for today. Far away on our right, as we drove towards Padua, it rose above the little town that crawled to the foot of the castle's hill to be protected, and it was exactly like a city painted by Mantegna or Carpaccio, Mr. Barrymore said. Up the hill ran the noblest and biggest of the old chateaux. Many men might walk on it about, and at every few yards it looked with sturdy watchtowers, not ruined, but looking as ready to defy the enemy today as they were six hundred years ago. The administration in hand, it is hard to see how it could be so well preserved upon a new world it did not even wish to understand.

The name of the castle was Scavo; but when I heard that nothing starting enough to please me had happened there, I wouldn't know its history, for my fancy was equal to investing one more thrilling. There was plentiful sensation, though, in the stories the Chauffeur could tell of Napoleon's battles and adventures in this neighborhood. I listened to them eagerly, especially to that which covered his falling into a snare while fighting the Austrians, and standing there, unable to get out, while the battle of Arcole raged about him. We were at the point of a route and the victory of the French, when we arrived at another gateway, another oval, another city, to enter which we had to drive straight into an old, old picture.

In a long street of palaces, all with a certain family resemblance to another, we passed for consultation. This was Verona, the birthplace and beloved town of Palladio; these palaces in houses erected with his aid; these Corinthian pillars, these Archaean balconies, these porticoes that might have been designed by Palladio the Great. And the beautiful buildings seemed to say peacefully, like lovely court ladies whose day is past, "We are not what we were. Time has changed and broken us, it is true; but even so we are worth seeing."

It was that view which our Chauffeur urged, but Aunt Kathryn was for going on without a stop, until Sir Ralph said, "It's not patriotic of you to pass by Palladio built your Capital at Washington, and all the fine old colonial houses you admire so much in the East."

"Dear me, did I?" exclaimed Aunt Kathryn. "Why, I never heard of him. 'Money doesn't mean his words to be taken unthinkingly,'" said Mr. Barrymore. "If it hadn't been for Palladio, there would have been no Inigo Jones and no Christopher Wren, therefore if you'd had a capital at all, it wouldn't be what it is now. And to understand the colonial architecture of America, you have to go back to Palladio."

Ottawa, March 2.—(Special.)—Hon. R. Emmerson introduced a delegation from St. John today to the minister of marine and fisheries asking for $30,000 towards the establishment of a bait freezer to supply the fishermen of the Bay of Fundy. 4. No dose, no cocaine, no harmful drug—nothing but soothing balsam that remains in the nose and throat, and helps the system. To build up my system I also used before these medicines, and got the best. I wish to add my recommendation as I found these remedies just as advertised.

LOST NEARLY $500 IN KING STREET

Lady at Royal Hotel, World-wide Traveler and Slayer of Tigers.

Four hundred and ninety dollars is not a sum of money that is dropped on St. John streets every day but that amount was lost yesterday by a visitor, a lady who is at the Royal.

She is going to England on the steamer Lake Champlain this afternoon and was on her way from Macaulay Street, to the Royal Hotel, when she lost the money. She had been exchanging for English currency. Her check can be imagined when on arriving at the bank she found the bill had disappeared. She has offered a reward for the amount that is left at the Royal Hotel.

The lady has been considerable of the world. She has been touring parts of India in a motor car, herself running the machine. Then she spent considerable time in Siam, going from there to Japan. She arrived at Vancouver from the Flower Kingdom in June last and has spent some time in the west. She is a great lover of the hunt and while at the Rocky Mountains shot a deer and a number of mountain sheep. In India three tigers fell before her rifle for she is one of the best shots in England.

NEURALGIA

Is Due to Impoverished Blood

When the blood becomes thin and watery, as a matter of course you become nervous, irritable, get dizzy, and there is but little power in the system to ward off disease and pain.

Neuralgia hints out a weak spot, and makes a home there, so secure that it is hard to drive it out. But by using the proper remedies it can be driven from the system, never to return. To obtain immediate relief, first apply to the painful parts, a good quality of Peppin's Nervine, and then bind on a hot flannel cloth.

This local treatment will be found very efficacious, but it should be followed by a course of Ferruccio's treatment. Ferruccio is a blood food, and a blood purifier, and quickly strengthens the system so that further attacks may never be feared. It makes the rich red kind of blood, that gives strength and vigor to weak constitutions, and puts them in good shape to resist neuralgia attacks.

This combined treatment of Nervine and Ferruccio in Neuralgia, Sciatica, and Rheumatism, is unparagonably effective, and cures after all has failed. Because of the unique success of these remedies we have no hesitancy in endorsing their use to our readers. All druggists sell them.

To a reporter last evening she requested that her name should not be printed.

OUR SPECIAL FEATURE

There is that in the past history of aquatic sport in St. John which should encourage the men of the present day along the water front to revive the spirit of thirty-odd years ago, and endeavor to win new laurels for the city. The story told in today's Times recalls to old men and men in middle life the thrill of victory, and the despondency of defeat—but chiefly the thrill of victory—in the days when the Paris crew were in their prime. The crew were recruited from four crews of almost equal prowess among the local crews with whom they contended in many a race that tested their muscles, developed their strength and endurance, and brought about that skill and machine-like unity of stroke and action which carried them to the victory after victory, and finally to the world's championship. In those days leading citizens were patrons of clean and healthful sport, and the whole people were so deeply interested that a victory or a defeat was a personal matter, affecting the feelings of all. The waters on whose surface former contests were won are as open to the eyes of today, and there are men of steady nerve and hardened muscle along the water front. All that is needed is a revival of the old-time sporting spirit, and the shores of the Kennebec would be lined with eager crowds, witnessing contests for supremacy that would attract visitors in thousands. Older citizens will derive much pleasure from the story in today's Times, because of the memories it recalls, and younger men will be interested in reading of events some of which at the time were of world-wide interest. It is surprising how much difficulty is encountered in seeking authentic records of events of even thirty or forty years ago, but the Times, through the efforts of some who treasure not only the memory but the records of the past is enabled to present a very interesting story.

ST. JOHN'S CASE

Hon. Mr. Emmerson has lost no time in arranging for an interview between a St. John delegation and the minister of public works. The conference will take place next Tuesday. It is important that a strong delegation go to the capital, prepared to go very fully into the whole question of harbor dredging and wharf building at this port. This delegation will be able to point out to the ministers that the exports by winter steamers this season, up to the date of their visit to Ottawa, will have surpassed the total for the season of 1904-1905, with two months of active business yet to reckon on. This will illustrate the growth of the business at this port, and the importance of providing for steadily enlarging facilities, which can only be provided as the dredging is done at the site of the required new wharves. There is reason to believe that the ministers are favorably disposed toward this work, despite the fact that large expenditures are called for on the lakes. It is recognized that St. John in winter, like Montreal in summer, must be equipped for handling the growing volume of ocean-borne traffic. A delay of even one year would greatly handicap this Canadian port, and the case the delegation will have to present is therefore urgent.

THE REAL ISSUE

The Globe appears to have lined up with the officials who approve of the departures which have been made from the specifications for the new wharf, and darkly hints that all the trouble may be due to the inspector's relationship to an unsuccessful tenderer for the contract. It would certainly be interesting if the Globe could show how the relationship of two men could make lapped timbers butt each other, or a 12 or 15-foot timber measure 22 feet. This appears to be the vital question at issue. The contract stated that no change from the specifications was to be made without the authority of the board of works. There have been departures from the specifications without such authority. The inspector cannot be made a scape-goat. Neither malice nor conspiracy nor any evil device can at a word cause a 22-foot stick to shrink a single inch of its length, nor cause a square piece of timber to become wavy. Whatever the faults or omissions of the inspector, they do not loom large in the public eye in comparison with the question whether the city's officials are guarding the city's interests in regard to public contracts. There is another point in the case which the Globe has overlooked. If other tenderers for the contract had known that it would be as satisfactory to butt timbers as to lap them, and to use short timbers instead of long, might they not have reduced their tenders and got the contract? What is the use of making specifications and asking for tenders if there is no intention of adhering to the specifications? As the Globe observes, the "bottom facts" are worth looking into somewhat carefully. It is said that the bottom facts of one crib are buried where they should have been lapped.

SOCIAL PROBLEMS

A study of the police court records from day to day reveals social conditions which are a source of deep regret to all who are really concerned about the welfare of their neighbors. For that which reaches the publicity of the police court is indicative of much more, which is demoralizing in the tendency, though not brought into sharp focus, and some of them almost completely obscured by the glare of the public most comfortably circumvented, which, if it were replaced by really earnest thought for the welfare of others, resulting in enquiry and effort, individual and concerted, for the betterment of conditions and removal of temptations, would completely change the outlook upon life that now results in the downward trend of so many human souls. There is, perhaps, a disposition to ask: What difference does it make to me? Or it may be an easily arrived at and accepted conviction that these things must be. It cannot be denied that human nature presents many phases, and some of them almost the despair of the reformer; yet the race has advanced and conditions are better than they were. A year or 100 years is not a long time in human history, and a comprehensive review of the centuries past affords hope of the future. As the spirit of selfishness gives way to thought for others the aspect of life changes, and conditions improve. But it all comes back to the individual, and the answer each gives to the age-long query: Am I my brother's keeper? Older citizens will derive much pleasure from the story in today's Times, because of the memories it recalls, and younger men will be interested in reading of events some of which at the time were of world-wide interest. It is surprising how much difficulty is encountered in seeking authentic records of events of even thirty or forty years ago, but the Times, through the efforts of some who treasure not only the memory but the records of the past is enabled to present a very interesting story.

A DISCORDANT NOTE

Referring to a recent searching arrangement of social conditions and business morals by President Schurman of Cornell, a writer who signs himself "Firmus" writes in the New Freeman: "And, all that is due to indifferent papers and mamma, neutral schools, godless universities, silly dramatists, dirty novels, and bound-and-bare chaste sermons in Protestant churches." This remarkable paragraph must have escaped the eyes of the editors of the New Freeman, who are believed to be actuated by the spirit of tolerance, and to have no desire to quarrel with their Protestant friends. Moreover, the records of the courts do not show that all wrong-doers come from secular schools or Protestant homes. Let us have peace.

Twenty-one years is a long time in a single pastorate, and Rev. Dr. Raymond during that period as pastor of St. Mary's, has accomplished much. He is beloved by his people, esteemed by all, and though yet a comparatively young man has had the profound satisfaction of seeing his own son engaged also in ministerial work. The citizens extend to Dr. Raymond all good wishes, for they appreciate his worth.

It is possible that the provincial government may be able to formulate a policy that will make river driving on the upper St. John a less uncertain work. Mr. Alexander Gibson years ago improved the Nashwaak so that it must be a very exceptional season when there is any serious difficulty on that stream. At all events, the government does well to look into the matter. It is making quite a reputation this session for a vigorous initiative.

The chairman of the treasury board states that the tax rate will be further increased. The news does not come with the shock of surprise to those who have followed the trend of civic affairs.

Universal sympathy will be felt for the venerable Dr. Bayard, and the hope entertained that he may speedily recover from the injury sustained yesterday.

The market butchers threaten to carve up the city council. That body is certainly being well "roasted."

On Monday the city council will have an interesting session. There may be wigs on the green.

ONLOOKER AND HON. DR. PUGLEY

(Onlooker, in New Freeman.) The writer, although somewhat of a Liberal, is opposed to the provincial government and is unable to see why an administration as feeble as that of the present should be judged by the record of the party at Ottawa any more today than when Premier Blair, McNeill and Emmerson laid down the law that it was most illogical to even seriously suggest that provincial politics should be run on donation lines. He is unable to see, however, what wisdom there is in the attacks upon the integrity of Attorney-General Pugsley. Considering that nearly every lawyer in the province who has business in an official way with the attorney-general sends his telegrams to Mr. Pugsley "collect," it is not to be wondered at that the attorney-general's official telegraphic bill would be very large. Neither is it surprising that the telegraph companies might sometimes charge to Mr. Pugsley's private account as attorney-general and vice versa. The great thing after all is that there has been any writing of accounts, and so long as the matter properly adjusted, and nothing is to be gained by an attempt to create the impression that there was any dishonest attempt on the part of the attorney-general to make a few hundred dollars out of the province in connection with the telegraphic bills. A more profitable work would be in the direction of devising ways and means to prevent many lawyers from sending lengthy "collect" telegrams to the attorney-general and making the province pay for the same. The writer was among those who believed that it was little short of dishonesty on the part of the attorney-general to be paid five per cent. on all succession duties paid through him. He does not think so any longer. He had dealings with the attorney-general with respect to the succession duties on a somewhat larger estate. Their different meetings and discussions with respect to the matter occupied a considerable part of each day for nearly two weeks. The five per cent. commission only gave Attorney-General Pugsley some forty dollars in connection with that case and it is only fair to say that his private practice he could easily have made ten times the amount of his official commission. The writer is as much opposed to Attorney-General Pugsley and his government as ever and if this were the place could point out the methods by which in his opinion they might be successfully attacked, but the New Freeman being a thoroughly independent paper such methods will not be here suggested and the present writing is more with the hope of calling attention to what looks like the unfair attack upon a prominent public man.

SUPREME COURT CHAMBERS

In the Supreme Court chambers yesterday afternoon in the case of John and Sarah Bradley vs. the St. John Shipbuilding and Repairing Co., the hearing was adjourned until Monday at 12 o'clock.

The witnesses yesterday were Michael Mooney, Sterling H. Barker, Dr. G. O. Baxter, Gilbert Murdoch, T. H. Wilson, Douglas, Fairbairn, and Joseph Macdonald. The first witness stated that he would not give $500 for all the lands around the lake and I. H. Wilson said that he bought the lands 30 years ago next to the Bradley property and had paid $2,000 for them. He gave as his opinion that if the water were allowed to remain on the land for any considerable time after the regular freshet the land would be three-quarters of its value. Mr. Barker testified that the land was in the hands of the late Mr. J. H. A. L. Fairweather for the defendant.

Yesterday afternoon argument was concluded in the case of Benjamin Hatfield vs. the ship Wadswain, and judgment was reserved. P. F. Inches followed H. H. McLean yesterday afternoon and presented a new point in the case for the consideration of the court. He contended that the governing power was with the tug Flushing and not with her tow, the Wadswain, and that the sudden manoeuvre of the tug when she saw the E. M. Roberts was altogether unexpected by the Wadswain. He claimed that later cases have done away with any general rule that might have been formerly in the mind of courts to the effect that the tug is the servant of her tow, and submitted that the burden of proof of such a relation is on the plaintiff. This he said they had not done.

C. J. Coster replied briefly and before rising Mr. Justice McLeod complimented highly both C. F. Inches and P. F. Inches for the skillful part they took in their first case.

TWO IN ONE

That's what it is, at the Opera House, when Edward Ellis assumes the dual role of Alfred and Arthur Partridge, leaving the stage as one, and almost immediately returning as the other. The comedy is pleasing. This afternoon and tonight will be the last performances of it. Monday night the company begins their farewell week, presenting on Monday night and Tuesday, Wednesday matinee and night, the big laugh maker, "The Duke of Chesham" and on Thursday, for the balance of the week and of their engagement, the great detective play "Sherlock Holmes." Mr. Ellis in the title role, a part in which he has won great praise. Seats can now be obtained at the box office for any performance.

INTERESTING COMMENTS ON RELIGIOUS CONTROVERSY

(Boston Transcript.)
A communication has come to me from a reputable and learned gentleman, signed at certain abstract champions of orthodoxy who are joining in the effort to convince those of the Boston public who attend their weekly lectures that many of the conclusions of modern scholarship with reference to the origin and authority of the Bible are altogether erroneous; that the process itself chills the faith of those who engage in it, and must be resisted if religion is to continue to have any positive effect upon personal and social welfare. The writer of this document claims the shelter of those columns in which to challenge the truth of the above assertions and on his part, through public debate on any forum to prove that "Modern Christianity is not true Christianity, but the Koran of Mohammedanism; that Paul was influenced by precisely the same train of experience as those which befell Mohammed; that what is known as Apostolic Christianity is not true Christianity, but Paul's substitute for it, being a system of superstition, ignorance and error of no more authority than Mohammedanism; that supernaturalism of every kind is essentially heathen and that genuine Christianity demands work for man, disregard of all expectation of immortality. My correspondent declares that he stands ready to put a brand of wretched mistakes and erroneous error upon the statements of the other party.
Personally I am disposed to make this department restative of all phases of religious thought and action that are sincere and contain within them elements of good. But I was aghast from giving any more of this glibly letter to the public. There happens to be about twenty times as much as I have space to discuss in this matter, I consulted a Christian layman of ripe experience and good character who at once replied to my presentation of the matter, "Don't use it. Controversy never saved a soul." And from the point of view of a newspaper man I am well aware that only a certain few at both extremes thrive on the controversy and the facts of Christian truth. They are ready to tilt a lance whenever they can see an exposed head; but the general temper of the times, both within the churches and outside of them, favors the persuasive, constructive method of stating one's beliefs rather than the pugilistic, destructive method. There will always be those in the community who will be drawn to every public exhibition of controversy, skill. But they usually go with their minds already made up and their hands ready for applause, while most of the other side stay away.
With regard to the precise question at issue, orthodox and liberalists have equal rights to public notoriety, provided each is willing to pay the bills, and those who believe that religious thought is widening with the process of evolution ought not to be irritated if those who are honestly fearful that criticism has gone too far lift up their voices in attempted rebuttal. Platform talk or no platform talk, the quiet work of Christian scholars is going on in the universities and in the great, broad principles that must govern the religious life under any conception of the inspiration of Scripture

He speaks well of his treatment at Westville, especially mentioning Hugh Suberland and Simon Murray, the manager of the rink. He says the ice was in bad shape when he skated last winter, but he is glad to see the rink in such good shape for the Springhill Monday meeting and on Tuesday evening will skate Davidson. The winner of the Belyea-Davidson race will go against Bouche the same night.

A proper attention to business will do the trick. The feet-footed outfielder has set out in the right way.—Boston Globe, Friday.

FAMOUS OARSMEN OF ST. JOHN

mened on Sunday over a splendid sheet of water two hundred yards wide. The course had two turns, and extended over some two miles and a half.

ingling the Canadians, there is some reason to fear purposely, especially as they started in their heavy boat, and had no chance, giving in it at 200 yards.

Table with 2 columns: Name, Stones, Pounds. Includes G. Price, E. Ross, S. Fulton, and E. Fulton.

The Canadians were supposed not to have a chance and betting was strongly against them. They took the lead at a great pace, rowing some 46 or 47 strokes per minute.

THE GREAT RACE WITH THE WARDS

America's Champion Crew Beaten by the Sturdy Wearers of the Pink.

The following account of the great four-oared race between the Paris crew and the Ward Brothers which took place at Springfield, Mass., Oct. 21st, 1898 is taken from "The Spirit of the Times"

The Canadians led by four or five lengths at the finish buoy, being two lengths in front of Mon Etola.

THE FATAL RACE ON THE KENNEBECASIS

When Renforth Died and the Paris Crew Defeated the English Oarsmen.

The race on the Kennebecasis on August 23, 1871, between the Paris crew and the Tyne crew was one of the most notable aquatic events in the world's history. It was in this race that Renforth, the stroke of the Tyne crew, lost his life.

THE BRAWNY MEN FROM THE TYNE

Description of the Renforth Crew Which Beat St. John Over the Line at Lachine.

James Renforth, the stroke, and champion sculler of England, is a fine broad-shouldered man of blonde complexion, of enormous muscular development and uncommon strength indicated in every feature.

PARIS CREW'S RACE WITH THE TYNE MEN

Graphic Story of the Day at Lachine when England Beat St. John.

Of the memorable race at Lachine on September 15, 1870, when the Paris crew defeated their English rival at the hands of the Tyne crew, the Spirit of the Times in an excellent special article says:
"At the time the St. Lawrence had been quite smooth, but there was still quite a breeze. In the interim the judges and referee had reconsidered their postponement and agreed that the great race should be pulled off at 3 p. m., but at a quarter to five a dark cloud appeared in the western horizon, threatening an equal.

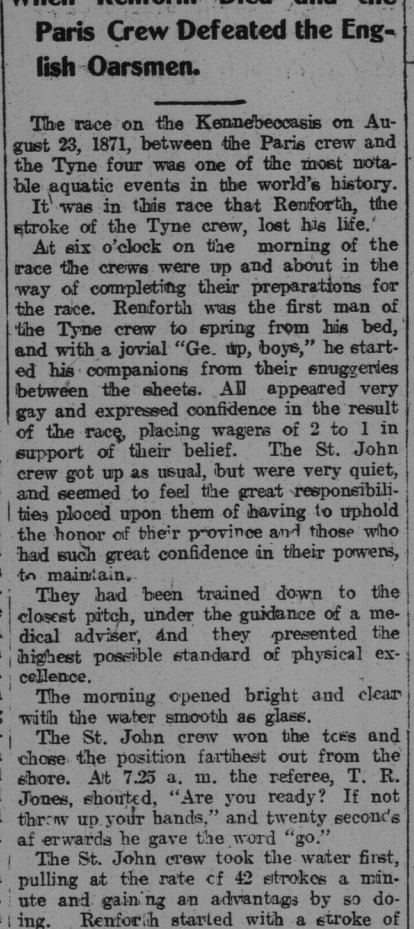

"Aye Aye, sir!" answered Renforth in confident ringing tones.
"All ready," said Fulton, glancing over his shoulder at his crew. The referee looked around a moment and then shouted, "Go."

Like two arrows from the bow the shells darted away. The St. John crew held for a few seconds a slight lead, perhaps a little less than a half boat's length; but within fifty yards the Tyne crew, with their magnificent stroke, placed the bow of the Dunston-on-Tyne in advance of the Harding, and in one hundred yards more they were upon the lead.

THE BETTING

The betting was probably the heaviest ever known upon any rowing event in our land. In Montreal, the Tyne crew had the call for a fortnight after their arrival at about $100 to $200, but after that the local pride of British North America, and the good rowing record of their pet crew soon made the wagers even and so it remained until the start, neither party taking odds. But as the day wore on toward the meridian, many of the spectators of British North America, and some from local pride, by offering money on them, created a little odds in their favor; but this was taken so freely that it was soon "even" again.

ance between the two boats. There was great jubilation on shore, and cheer after cheer went up from the partisans of the St. John crew as they saw the success of their favorite.

The policy of the English crew seemed to be to lead at the end of the first mile, and this they felt assured would give them the race. To effect this, then, Renforth bent all his energies with a doggedness and determination that was almost painful to witness. The steady, level, yet rapid stroke of the St. John boat was putting her through the water as a wonderful feat, as it was clearly established at the moment that death had resulted from over-exertion. No one felt the death of Renforth any more keenly than did the four men who won the victory.

With grateful acknowledgment to its 8,596,705 Policy-holders for their confidence, the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company presents the following summary of its condition and affairs for the year ended December 31, 1905, showing it to have been THE BEST YEAR IN THE COMPANY'S HISTORY

Table with 3 columns: RESOURCES, ASSETS, $151,663,477.29, and OBLIGATIONS. Includes rows for United States, City and R. Bonds and Stocks, Bonds and Mortgages, Real Estate, Cash, Demand Loans on Collateral, Loans to Policy-Holders, Premiums deferred and in course of collection (Net), and Accrued Interest, Rents, etc.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. (INCORPORATED BY THE STATE OF NEW YORK)

JOHN R. HEGEMAN, President The Company OF the People, BY the People, FOR the People

A REASONABLE INDICATION OF THE DESERVED POPULARITY of its plans and of faith in its management may be fairly claimed in the number of Metropolitan policies in force. It is not only greater than that of any other company in America, but greater than that of all the other regular companies combined, less one. It exceeds by two millions the entire population of the Dominion of Canada.

SIGNIFICANT FACTS The Company's policy claims paid in 1905 averaged in number one for each minute and a quarter of each business day of 24 hours, and in amount $105.43 a minute the year through. The value and timeliness of these payments may be gleaned from the fact that of the claims paid during the year, 4,226 were under policies less than 3 months old, 8,391 were on policies which had run under 6 months and 15,148 were within the first year of insurance.

Paid Policy-holders in 1905 for Death Claims, Endowments, Paid-up Policies, Dividends, etc., with amount set aside on their behalf as increased reserve— $37,755,428.59

COMPARISONS, ETC. Income in 1905 $61,531,588.40 Gain over 1904 4,548,431.58 Surplus in 1905 16,181,578.50 Gain over 1904 1,346,558.97 Increase in Assets during 1905 21,528,152.65 Gain in Insurance in force 122,084,438.00 The total number of Policies in force Dec. 31, 1905, was 8,596,705. The total amt. of outstanding insurance Dec. 31, 1905 $1,596,502,759.00 Number of persons in the service of the Company over 19,000

The Metropolitan gained in insurance in force on which premiums are still being paid MORE THAN ANY OTHER COMPANY IN THE WORLD.

Paid Policy-holders since the organization of the Company, plus the amount invested and now on hand for their security— $318,264,084.12

THE TWO DEPARTMENTS In the Ordinary Department policies are issued for from $1,000 to $100,000 on individual lives, premiums payable annually, semi-annually, or quarterly. In the Industrial Department (which is family insurance) policies are issued on all the insurable members of the household with premiums payable weekly.

This Company issues no FORTUNE or other forms of deferred dividend policies, in which the amount to be paid to the insured must largely be a matter of ESTIMATE at the inception of the contract, and of DISAPPOINTMENT at its maturity. Its policies are plain business contracts which tell their whole story on their face; leave nothing to the imagination; borrow nothing from hope; require definite conditions and make definite promises in dollars and cents.

THE RATIO OF EXPENSE TO PREMIUM INCOME IN 1905 WAS THE LOWEST IN THE COMPANY'S HISTORY. OVER FIVE AND A HALF MILLIONS OF DOLLARS IN CASH

FAMOUS OARSMEN OF ST. JOHN

(Continued from page 8.) Leading slightly. The Tyne crew then made a spur, but the steady stroke of the St. John crew told and gradually they drew ahead, keeping the lead, although the distance was every now and then shortened by the mighty spurs of the Tyne. After referring to the great amount of money that changed hands, it goes on to say: "It is admitted now that the race was fairly lost to the Tyne crew before Hoppforth was attacked. The Tyne crew were too much ahead to be overtaken, and the condition of the men was excellent. They reached the turning stake in 18 minutes, and made the entire race in 30 minutes. On coming in they showed hardly a sign of fatigue."

A POET'S TRIBUTE TO THE MEN OF BRAUN Verses Written by a Rural Bard After Renforth's Tragic Death. Fulton The gathering round a living, rolling deep, Surge to and fro, and wild commotion keep,

While trumpets and whistles, a horrid discord make. Till earth and Erebos seem at once to shake. But dead to that danger, Fulton dashes on At forty-two, unmoved, determined, strong And at Renforth's and twenty wins the day That bears the palm of victory away. Fulton, no more upon thy laurels won,

Repose and say thy contests now are done. Lift up thine eyes, behold the fabled crown, At forty-two, unmoved, determined, strong, Thou hast won the race for glory and renown. Renforth Away o'er ocean's broad expanse Where'er might winds howl and created billows dance, The loving wife pours out her grief unceasing.

For him she ne'er shall see on earth again. With streaming eyes the child of summer light, Reads the despatch that tells poor Renforth's fate. Oh mother, is it true That Father is dead, so far from me and you?

The above verses were given to the Times by John McKeivie, custom house officer who had committed them to memory after the race on the Kennebecasis between the Paris and Tyne crews. They were written by a young man who belonged to Greenwich, Kings County, N. B. It might be stated that there was more of each poem but Mr. McKeivie could not remember it. If this should meet the eye of the composer Mr. McKeivie would like to correspond with him.

The Inglenook Philosopher of Kennebecasis Bay. I hear that Pollard was seen a few days ago dressed in one of the late Mrs. Pollard's skirts and an old sun bonnet, hanging out the back of his coat. I hear that Pollard is not half good enough for the angel he has got for a wife. I hear that Pollard eats in the kitchen and sleeps in the wood shed. I hear that Pollard and his wife are just like two "turtledoves". Yesterday Pollard's hired boy handed me a note of which the following is a copy: "If the Philosopher should not be other-wise engaged, Mr. and Mrs. Pollard will be very happy to receive a call from him this evening. Mrs. Pollard is especially anxious to become acquainted with her husband's old and most valued friend. Sincerely, Kate K. Pollard." So I shaved the stubble off a week from my chin, put on a starched collar said called at the Pollards' in the evening. I met Mrs. Pollard at the door. "We need no introduction," she exclaimed, grasping my hand. "You are Mr. Philosopher, Pollard's most esteemed friend, and you are going to be mine unless you are full of perversity and uncharitableness, which I know you are not." Then she led me into the parlor where we confronted Pollard. "Down on your knees," she exclaimed, "and apologize to Mr. Philosopher for your ill-manners the other day." Pollard grinned. When we were seated, Mrs. Pollard said: "Mr. Philosopher, I am deeply grieved that I should be constrained by side gossip to think ill for a moment of so great and good a man as yourself (wonderful fine woman, I said under my breath), but I was young when I first heard it and I have been unable to get rid of the impression which it created. Forgive me." "You are freely forgiven," said I. "When I was a young woman, like yourself—I mean, when I was a young man like yourself (Pollard chuckled) I placed some credence in the title of the vulgar, and might have been misled as far as you have been. But the incident is closed; we will forget that there has been any gossip; we will forget that we ever heard of each other until we meet by chance this evening." "How noble he is!" exclaimed Mrs. Pollard, turning to Pollard. "He is a woman of extraordinary perception," said I to myself. Our conversation became impersonal, but the theme was unchanged. Pollard said that he had read somewhere that essentially humanity will learn that who he defends another libels himself; that the epithet we apply to another is ourselves best; that he who steals, steals from himself; and that to injure another is to injure himself; and that safety, security and freedom all lie in minding one's own business. Then Mrs. Pollard said, "He who draws an evil picture of his neighbor unconsciously draws his own picture; good men do not libel good men; good women do not libel good women; the bad cannot be libeled; and I have an abiding faith in the saying that the wrong doer is a great sufferer in the end than the wronged." Said I: "Language is often used to conceal thoughts, under a smiling face one often suffers the tortures of the damned. If the conscience is at rest the soul is at rest, and that is everything that is worth while, for physical discomfort is only the incident of a moment. As Omar says:—

"Tomorrow! Why tomorrow I may be myself with Yesterday's Seven Thousand Years." After some further talk I filled my pipe with Pollard's tobacco and went home musing to myself, "A very superior woman—one who knows brains from mush and milk." White Head, Kings Co., March 1. THE STAKE (Toronto Globe) What are the chief features in the diplomatic game now going on at Algiers, almost under the guns of Gibraltar? The land of the Moors is of course the real stake, although no one openly admits this. Ostensibly all the powers are claiming to make the lives and the property of foreign residents of Morocco reasonably safe, and so improve the Sultan's position that the pirates along the coast and the freebooters on land shall be exterminated. There is also need for the organization of a proper banking and currency system. France some time ago secured from Spain and Great Britain, the two countries most deeply interested in Morocco because of its presence near their territory, a free hand to reform the land of the Moors, and to gobble it if necessary. France, it must be remembered, owns practically all Northwestern Africa. The addition of Morocco to Algeria, Tunis and the Sahara would give France the entire coast line of Africa from Tripoli to Senegambia, including a big slice on the Atlantic coast. A glance at the map shows what this means. Emperor William is founding a German colonial empire and a great navy. He has had his eye for a long while on Mogador or a promise that France will stand in his way if he can get it from the Sultan of Morocco. That is about all there is in the row, except that Great Britain is absolutely opposed to the planting of the German flag within a hundred miles of Gibraltar, and is likely to smash any arrangement to that end, no matter how paltry it is. The body of Mrs. John Fitzgerald was taken to Clifton, Kings Co. for interment this morning.

MONCTON NEWS

Rushing Work on Temporary Shops—L. C. R. Chief Detective is Busy. MONCTON, Mar. 2.—The work of erecting temporary buildings on the site of the burned L. C. R. shops is progressing, as rapidly as reasonably could be expected. The laying of the sills for a paint shop, 800x35 feet in size, was completed today and work on a balloon frame commenced. A new roof is being put on the power house, and the task of installing the hundred horse power engine, borrowed from the city, is expected to be completed by Monday next. Quite a number of the five or six hundred men who have been idle this week are expected to be given employment next week.

W. Allan Stoddard, of Boston, has been engaged to assist the Rev. George E. Whitehouse, pastor of the First Baptist church in this city. Mr. Stoddard is a personal friend of Mr. Whitehouse and has been here for some time in connection with the organization of the Christian Brotherhood, which has proved such a great success. Rev. Mr. Whitehouse finds the pastoral duties too onerous for one man to attend and therefore Mr. Stoddard has been engaged to assist him, more particularly in connection with the Christian Brotherhood. Some seventeen candidates have been received for baptism in the First Baptist church on Sunday next.

E. A. Williams, the newly appointed chief detective of the Intercolonial, who went on duty yesterday has gone to Nova Scotia to take a trip over the eastern division of the I. C. R. and get acquainted with the men under him. The new I. C. R. detective is instructing his officers that an end must be put to the thieving on the I. C. R. He is said to be charging his officers to be vigilant in capturing the thieves irrespective of who they may be. As there has been considerable stealing reported to the management from different sections of the road of late, the new chief of I. C. R. police has plenty to engage his attention at the commencement of his career in his new capacity. Miss Bolmer, daughter of Rufus Bolmer, I. C. R. driver, returned last night to Montreal, after spending some time at her home here. Miss Bolmer is employed in the law offices of Greenhalgh, Montreal. Hans S. Deubellus, who recently resigned from the I. C. R. engineering staff to take a position with the G. T. F. in Montreal left last night for his new field. Previous to his departure he was presented by the local Knights of Pythias of which he was a member, with a silver pocket, accompanied by an address. The presentation was made by J. W. H. Roberts on behalf of the local lodge. A. B. Braz, former merchant at

THEY TALKED WATER

Engineer Barbour and Others Had Informal Conference in City Hall This Morning. Engineer F. A. Barbour arrived in the city this morning and will leave again for Boston this afternoon. There was an informal conference held in the common clerk's office about 10 o'clock at which Engineers Barbour and Hunter were present. The aldermen when asked what had been done said they had talked water matters but there was nothing to give out. Engineer Barbour was asked what he had to say regarding Superintendent Murdoch's statement to the board a few days ago, characterizing part of his (Barbour's) recommendations as "ridiculous, extravagant and unscientific," but he refused to talk on the subject, saying the matter had not been brought to his attention.

CONDENSED DESPATCHES

Two anarchists, armed with bombs, were arrested at a St. Petersburg railway station today. They were bound for Tsarskoe-Selo, where the czar is at present. Seventy-five persons were poisoned at a free lunch served at a public sale on a farm near Marysville, Ky., yesterday. No deaths have yet occurred. Eleven hundred and fifty converts of revival services recently held at Anderson, Indiana, have started on an evangelizing tour of the state. Fred Landers of San Francisco and Clarence English, of Omaha, fought a twenty rounds draw at Hot Springs last night.

C. P. R. PLEASED BULLS

The wonderful exhibit of Canadian Pacific's Railway in the net earnings for the month of January, an increase of over $844,000, was very gratifying to the bulls. The net profits for the seven months of the fiscal year show a gain over last year of $3,867,217. If the net profits for the year continue on the present large scale, the company should show earnings on the stock of over 12 per cent. for the year. F. E. Williams returned today from Ottawa where he waited on the Hon. Mr. Brodeur, minister of marine and fisheries in reference to asking for a grant of $30,000 towards the establishment of a bait freezer to supply the fishermen of the Bay of Fundy. Mr. Williams did not wish to discuss the matter any more than to say that he had been well received and hoped for a favorable reply. The Thistle curlers left on the noon train for Hampton where they will play today.

SIR H. M. ALLAN IN TOWN TODAY

He is Enroute to Halifax—Says Additional Harbor Facilities Are Needed Here. Sir H. Montagu Allan, one of the owners of the Allan line of steamers, was a passenger on the Montreal express today, en route to Halifax. To the Times he said his visit to Halifax was in connection with the Acadia Collieries Co., of which he is the president. He expects to be in Nova Scotia for a couple of days. Regarding the Acadia Collieries at St. Lawrence, he said, a fifty foot seam of coal had recently been uncovered, and it was expected that the output of the mines would be greatly increased, ultimately reaching 700,000 tons a year. The new seam was thought to be the old Ford seam, one of the oldest in America. Two pits, 1,300 feet deep, have been sunk, and when the workings have been developed it is expected that they will prove very profitable. Regarding the Allan line steamers and the present here should urge that dredging be done and more wharves built if the city wished to hold the steamship business. He said the present facilities were greatly inadequate for their big turbotiners, and the press here should urge that dredging be done and more wharves built if the city wished to hold the steamship business. Regarding the possibility of the turbotiners coming here later on, he said it all depended on what was done to improve the accommodation for them.

A SOBERING TIME

(Boston Transcript.) It has been a sobering time, as February and March are likely to be in most years. It does not follow that the market will become narrow and dull; it does that after each of these outbursts of liquidation, only to renew actively as prices rally. The impetus still is with the bulls, though that party has no disposition to force prices against the wholesome influence of the time. The settling process is desirable; men are getting a clearer perspective, so to speak, on the market, are separating stocks into classes.

Regarding a statement that appeared in the Times not long ago, in which Director Wisely was quoted as saying that the Historical Society sublet their rooms in the market building and derived a revenue therefrom, the director writes that he stated that he was misinformed in the matter and regrets that the statement was made. A record in cattle shipments was made yesterday by the C. P. R. when six trains, in which there were 90 cars of cattle arrived at Sand Point for shipment on the winterport steamers.

WOMEN FROM ALL PARTS OF CANADA GAIN NEW LIFE AND STRENGTH THROUGH THE USE OF PSYCHINE.

Every day, in fact every mall, tells of the splendid help Psychine is giving to suffering women everywhere. By strengthening the blood making organs, helping the stomach and clearing out any tendency to throat, chest and lung troubles, it is giving a new lease of life to thousands of Canadian women who have not known for years what it means to be really well.

MRS. ANDREW CAMPBELL, Coltonwood, N. W. T. "I caught a heavy cold which settled on my lungs and gradually led to consumption. I could not sleep, was subject to night sweats, my lungs were so diseased my doctor considered me incurable. My mother, of Port Egin, Ont., Presbyterian Church, recommended Psychine, and I started to use it, with the result that the night sweats and cough ceased. I am now perfectly restored to health. Psychine has been a godsend to me."

MISS ETHEL M. WOOD, Brownsville, Ont. "Two years ago I was going into a decline. I could hardly drag myself across the floor. My father got me to use Psychine, and people soon began to remark my improvement. I am now full of life, while a few months ago I could not struggle to church, 40 rods from my home. Psychine did it."

MRS. GEO. VOGART, Gananoque, Ont. "I cannot speak too highly of Psychine. I was feeling nervous, trembling and run down, and had a bad cough. Psychine helped me more than anything I ever tried, and I give it all praise."

MRS. D. McKINNON, Ingonish, C. B. "La Grippe left my lungs and whole system weak. After dragging along and proving steadily worse on other treatments, I tried Psychine, and found a complete cure."

MRS. E. V. BLAISDELL, Amprior, Ont. "I had felt miserable for a long time, had no appetite, couldn't get any sleep, and was unable to work or enjoy life. People said I was going to die, but by using Psychine I have proved this false. I am now well, and have been for the past five or six years."

These are only a few of the many, only a small part of the great volume of proof that Psychine is the greatest builder-up, tonic and germ killer of the age. It is doing a great work for the women of Canada. It cures consumption and all those conditions that lead to consumption.

Psychine is 50c. Per Bottle. Large Size $1.00 and $2.00 Per Bottle, at all Druggists.

OBITUARY William Cosman. A telegram received in this city yesterday from Vancouver conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of William Cosman, formerly of this city. Mr. Cosman died March 2. He will be remembered by the older generation of citizens as a business man of sterling qualities, who for years was in the store and tinmith line at Golden Ball corner. He was the son of the late James and Betsy Ann Cosman, was of loyal descent and was one of the freemen of the city. During his stay here he was a member of Waterloo street church. Mr. Cosman was eighty-one years of age and is survived by his wife, five sons and two daughters. The children are: Whitfield, in Vancouver; Melbourne, in Amherst; Corey, in Boston; Vera, Cosman and Mrs. C. Freese, in Montreal; Stillman Cosman and Mrs. G. H. Cotwell, of this city.

King Edward Off to the Continent. London, March 2.—The Duke of Lancaster, as King Edward will be known for some months, left this evening for a holiday in Paris and Biarritz, and a subsequent cruise in the Mediterranean. The King, who is attended only by General Sir Stanley Clarke and the Hon. Sidney Greville, will spend the night on board the royal yacht at Portsmouth, leaving early tomorrow morning for Cherbourg and will arrive in Paris in the evening.

Rheumatism Any lameness from exposure to cold is readily relieved by the use of Kendrick's Liniment. When properly applied it acts promptly, and relief is certain. KENDRICK'S is a valuable household remedy.

Many Women Think that it is impossible to make good pastry from flour made of Manitoba Hard Wheat, and, consequently, buy one kind of flour for bread and another for pastry. Since the appearance of "FIVE ROSES" Flour on the market, there is no need for any housekeeper to do this, as this brand is made by a process which renders it not only the ideal flour for bread, but which guarantees equally good results for pastry when used as the "Five Roses" way. "Five Roses" flour will make lighter and flakier pastry than any ordinary brands on the market, whether made from Manitoba or Ontario Wheat. All we ask is that you give "Five Roses" a fair and unprejudiced trial for pastry on your next baking day. The results will, we know, more than satisfy you. Ask your grocer for it. SAYS WOMEN IN ST. JOHN SOCIETY DRINK TO EXCESS

Rev. Mr. Pritchard on Platform Repeats What Was Told Him—Club Life Attacked, Too.

Rev. H. D. May, of Carlton Methodist church, and Rev. W. S. Pritchard, of the Congregational church, delivered strong addresses in Exmouth street Methodist church last evening on the need of temperance and social reform. Rev. C. W. Hamilton presided. Both speakers claimed by intimation that desires in liquor having nothing to fear from the present local government, and Mr. Pritchard in elaborating upon the necessity of letting in light upon the questionable practices of so-called society, said that he had been told by one who knows that women of St. John become intoxicated through the wilful consumption of strong drink.

Mr. Marr, exalted upon the evils created by the liquor trade, and said it would be quite useless to expect voluntary reform from the government, for the government was not the enemy of the liquor trade.

Mr. Pritchard described the liquor trade as a slippery foe, fighting in the dark. In part he said: "There are politicians who are shaking in their shoes for fear that their connection with the liquor business will become known." He referred to what he had been told and which he believed concerning the use of liquor in fashionable St. John homes. There were too many parents willing to run grave risks for the sake of entering society. He alluded to club life. Clubs without liquor could not be entered but clubs such as exist here, and which could be known as the rich man's saloon, were worse than the lowest dives in Mill or Brunswick streets.

It was the policy of the government, he said, to get all possible money out of the liquor business before doing anything which might limit the liquor men's activity. Concluding, he alluded to the reading of the act governing the violation of the liquor law and said it was worse so that an astute lawyer could find for his client numerous loopholes of escape. What the temperance party wanted was expert legal support.

THE BEGINNING OF THE TROUBLE

IS THE TIME TO STOP IT—AND THE MEANS OF STOPPING IT ARE PROVIDED BY DODD'S DYSPEPSIA TABLETS.

Have your meals become of interest to you simply because of the trouble they bring? Is your appetite gone? Do you get up in the morning with a dark brown stain in your mouth? Is your head muddled and sort of "fuzzy" feeling? Is your day's work a burden? Do trifles worry you?

If you have any of these symptoms it is time to pay attention to your stomach. It has been overworked and needs help. Attend to it at once or you will drift into indigestion and from that to Dyspepsia. Help your stomach with Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets. They never fail to tone up the stomach and bring it back to a healthy condition.

Maria Ann Bajard, of Marie Clay, Bonaventure Co., Que., says: "For two years my life was a burden. I could not take the simplest food without having a pain across my stomach. One box of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets cured me and I have had no return of the trouble."

ST. JOHN RIFLE CLUB

N. J. Morrison to Give Challenge Cup—Plans for the Summer.

The St. John City Rifle Club annual meeting last evening in the market building was largely attended and those present were greatly pleased to hear the reports of the officers showing the club to be in a healthy condition. After the reports, the captain, N. J. Morrison, addressed the meeting. He said it was his intention to present a challenge cup this year. There was expressed a desire to have matches with the Sussex and Moncton clubs this summer. N. J. Morrison was the unanimous choice for captain. Joe Sullivan was re-elected secretary and N. E. Shaw re-elected treasurer. The club decided to enter two teams in the league. A lengthy discussion was then entered

THEY FOUND HIM HIDING UNDER A BED IN HIS HOME

William Chiddick Who Broke Smallpox Quarantine in Kennedy's Camp Re-captured in St. John by Board of Health Officials—His Home Quarantined.

A sensational feature in the smallpox situation in the case of William Chiddick, of 82 Kennedy street, who escaped from Kennedy's camp, and was found this morning in hiding under his bed. Hardly had Chiddick taken his departure before the local board of health was informed and a search was kept for him, with the result already mentioned. A Times reporter called this morning at the office of the local board and was told by S. Secord, of the board, that the information to the effect that the official had searched Chiddick's house and found him secreted under the bed, in the papers following the discovery the house was placed under lock and key and given in charge of a guard. The board authorities are determined to put a stop to all violations of the rules of quarantine, and will probably make an example of Chiddick. It is understood that a warrant will be procured and that he will be driven back to camp today, as he is regarded, as a dangerous subject.

HE WANTS THE LIGHT LET IN THAT BAR ROOM FIGHT

Rev. Mr. Pritchard, Denounces Drinking Habits of St. John Society Women.

The Sun this morning contained the following report of an address by Rev. W. S. Pritchard, of the Congregational church, at a temperance meeting in the month street Methodist church last evening.

"We are fighting a tricky foe, a foe who fights as far as he can in the dark. They keep what they can secret. We know what the liquor men are doing in order that we may be better able to contend against them successfully. This may be done most effectively by letting in the light."

"I believe that many of our politicians are afraid that many of their transactions with liquor dealers may be made known. I am informed by a gentleman of this city that in many of the homes of the so-called society women, drink until they get drunk."

"I believe that the light should be let in on these things, that we all might know. I would not advocate that their names should be published, but if they are so placed about the streets of the city, they should know."

"There are many young men who long for society and we should know about such homes, in order to keep our young men from them."

"Do not know a more dangerous place in the city for a young man to go than to the home of the man who drinks so densely. Yet that is the temptation to which many a good young man is subjected in a so-called good home. Would rather let a boy of mine go into a house infected with small-pox than into one of these so-called good homes. Yet people who know for social advancement are willing to go to such homes and allow their children to visit them also. We know that the man who is going on around up in just such homes."

"A Times reporter, this morning interviewed Rev. Mr. Pritchard relative to his statements made during that recent address. He was prepared to stand by the thing that was not justified by the facts he would be glad to have it pointed out to him."

EGGS ARE DOWN

Ruling Price Today is 15 Cents and They May Be Lower Before Easter.

Eggs are much cheaper than they were this time last year. On the 4th of March 1905, eggs were selling at 15c to 20c, wholesale, and 18c to 20c, retail. Today they are down in price to 15c, although some of the choicest hennessy eggs are bringing 18c. More eggs have been brought to market this winter than last and of course this is partly accountable for the lower prices. In November and December, 1905, eggs were very high, they being 25c and 30c a dozen.

Last winter eggs were dearer in January than in any other month, but 1906 started in with a great reduction as the price of eggs dropped a few days after New Year from 25c to 22c and 20c. The open winter this year is probably one of the chief reasons why eggs are cheap.

The outlook for the Easter trade is bright indeed and it is thought that eggs will be selling for 12c and 15c. It will be remembered that last year at Easter time eggs were at a premium and were bringing anything from 20c to 30c a dozen.

About a week after Easter the price went down to 22 1/2 wholesale and from then on into the summer eggs were selling at moderate prices.

It was feared in January that a scarcity of eggs would prevail throughout the winter but those fears have been realized.

NEW YORK, March 3.—London led the way to a sharp rebound in prices at the opening of the stock market today. The Canadian market generally opened up from a fraction to 1/2 per cent in excess of values shown days largely in excess of these figures. Futures for 2 1/2 Lead, Amalgamated Copper and Colorado Fuel 1/4, and Reading and San Francisco second preferred, 1/4. The position of the secretary of the treasury to deposit $10,000,000 of government bonds with the National Bank was the principal factor and the strength of the market.
