From Charles Willner's American News Letter, Dec. 4.

COMMERCIAL SUMMARY.

The United States and general produce markets are steady, and are likely to be so for some time. The comparative ease of the money market, considering the time of the year, the business doing has however, been extensive, though a fair amount of business has been transacted, at present prices, for the most part all for non-consumption, and by public sale. Our exports have been light, and chiefly from the States; exports very slender. The stocks of produce in first hands is generally very large, and there is not much business advertised on board.

Never perhaps, in the history of this country, can we point to a period when the general trade of the country was in a more flourishing condition. In the Cotton branch, most of our spinners and manufacturers are full of orders for months to come, and at the season, when trade has heretofore, been exceedingly flat. The employment for the working classes, arising out of this happy state of things, dispels all fears of suffering for the approaching winter.

The quantity of available capital in the market remains much the same, and so do the rates of discount, being 2 1/4 to 6 and 8 on Liverpool Timber Market, Dec. 4. The month's arrivals from British America have been again considerable, amounting to 78 vessels, 42,443 tons, making the balance 1st Feb. to date, 315 vessels, 163,000 tons or more by 9445 tons than the same month last year. At the end of January, the market however, remains firm, and now that the number of vessels destined to this place is known, the timber merchants are disposed to take all into stock. The competition throughout has been very considerable, and prices are likely to be maintained. Pine Timber—of St. John, a cargo of 19 inch average was sold at 194 one of 20 1/2 at 20 1/4 one of 20 inches at a shade over 19 1/2, one of 21 inches at 20 1/2, per foot, and two others held at higher than market rates have been yielded.—Birch—St. John with cargo has been sold at 184, and 194 per foot; it is very much inquired after, and sport would command higher rates.

Masts and Spars—A cargo of St. Andrews of good quality, was sold at 184 per foot. & New Brunswick and Nova Scotia Pine Spars and Boards—St. John, with cargo have been sold at 21 1/2 per foot, a parcel of masting St. Andrews at 2 1/4, two cargoes at 2 1/4, and one choice cargo at 2 1/4. A cargo of St. John, from the yard has been sold at 17 1/2; and yesterday a cargo of St. John Davis, of long lengths and good quality, at 2 5/8, and 10,000 at 2 1/2. 12 1/2 per foot. A cargo of Miramichi yellow spars was sold at 10 1/4 per standard.—New Brunswick Ash Hurd Staves sell, with cargo, at 45 per M. above they are worth 27 to 28. Lathwood, with cargo, both Quebec and St. John, have been sold at 24 per fathom, but sport it is worth from 25 to 26.

During the past four months such has been the increased activity of the commerce and shipping of Liverpool, that the amount of dock rates has exceeded, by twenty thousand pounds, their amount in the corresponding period of last year.

The Iron Trade of Stourbridge is now flourishing, and all who are inclined to work have full employment.

There are now in the course of erection, at Manchester, no fewer than 13 iron houses, a dozen of which may be called first class buildings, worth on the average £30 per annum each to let.

The import of guano continues increasing. During the last week we have had a large increase in the stock on hand. One of the Captains reports that 260 vessels waiting at Iceland for cargoes, and he does not anticipate any difficulty in the way of all of them getting supplied.

Great Robbery at a Banking House.—£10,000 STOLEN.—A robbery to an awful extent was committed between Saturday night and Monday morning, in the Banking House of Messrs. Rogers, Togoood & Co., bankers, of Clement-lane, London. Bank notes to the amount of from £35,000 to £40,000, or £41,000 were stolen out of the iron safe, which is deposited in the hall of the inner office, and securities to a very large amount were taken by the thieves.—When business was resumed on Monday morning, and the iron safe opened with the ordinary key, it was found entirely empty; and yet no force had been used in the employment of the means adopted to rid the chest of its valuable contents. Of course, all is conjecture on the subject. Her Majesty has ordered a free pardon to any accomplice connected in the robbery.

Wm. Office, Nov. 22. 331 Foot—T. Stark, M. D. to be Assistant Surgeon, vice Murphy, appointed to the 56th Foot. 34th—Colonel Sergeant T. Williamson to be Quarter-master, vice O'Brien, deceased.

A Captain stabbed by a Sailor.—On Thursday, Israel Brown, aged 26, a sailor who had been shipped at Saint John, New Brunswick, was brought up at the Liverpool Police-court, charged with having stabbed Captain L. Urielet Reed, of the ship Sir Charles Napier, while on her voyage from St. Andrews to this port, about 700 miles to the westward of Cape-Cear. It appeared from the evidence of the cook, steward, and a gentleman of the name of Porter, a passenger and part owner, that between 4 and 5 o'clock on the morning of the 18th, the captain requested Brown to haul in the mainmast during a squall. The prisoner refused to do it, an altercation ensued, whereupon the Captain pushed him and was struck in return. The captain then caught hold of Brown several times, receiving no very serious injury, but when they got as far as the mainmast, he felt a sharp instrument pierce him and called out, "I am stabbed, I am killed." The crew being immediately aroused, he was conveyed into the cabin, when it was found that a deep wound had been in fact on the lower part of the stomach, through which his bowels protruded, and 2 other wounds though not dangerous, on the left side. On Wednesday last the vessel arrived in this port, and a warrant was issued for the apprehension of the prisoner. The life of the captain appears to be in extreme danger. On examining the clothes worn by the captain at the time the affray took place which were produced in court, eight distinct cuts were visible in the jacket, and one in the trousers.

A London contemporary announces that ministers meditate a complete change in the government of India, by introducing a measure next session tantamount to the extinction of the political power of the Council of Directors. This is doubtless a very important measure for 33 years.

At a court-martial in Devonport Harbour, on Wednesday, Admiral Sir David Milne presiding, Lieutenant Stokes, of the Queen's ship Temeraire, was declared guilty of attempting a crime charged against him, by a boy, and sentenced to be dismissed from his ship.

The import of guano continues increasing. During the past week we have had a large increase to the stock on hand. One of the captains reports at least 260 vessels waiting at Iceland for cargoes, and he does not anticipate any difficulty in the way of all of them getting supplied.

Loss for Public Works in Canada.—The project of the Treasury have given notice of their intention to dispose of Canada debentures or bonds to the amount of £200,000, by tenders of not less than £300 each, stating the sums proposed to be paid for each £100, to be received prior to Friday next.

A gentleman from the Bill-office, Somerset House, is ordered to proceed to the Cape of Good Hope, to inquire into the circumstances of the late seizure of the government moneys, and to ascertain the actual loss sustained by the conduct of the store-keeper who has decamped to Australia. At present it is estimated to be above £27,000.

Accounts from St. Petersburg speak of a commercial treaty for which negotiations are on foot between Russia and England. These negotiations are said to be in a very advanced state, so that the conclusion of the treaty may be shortly expected. There are only some differences on a few points, which it is thought, will be soon adjusted.

Messrs. Wilson, the eminent ship-builders of Liverpool, have been compelled to refuse contracts for the building of vessels to the enormous amount of £300,000, in consequence of the inconvenience to which they have been and are likely to be put, arising from their removal from their former building-yards, to make room for the new docks.—Other ship-builders have been compelled to refuse very large orders for the same reason.

The British Parliament is to meet "for the despatch of business" on "divers urgent and important affairs" on the 4th of February next, and various speculations are afloat as to the course likely to be pursued by ministers; seeing that they will have an available surplus—a thing unknown of late years—in the hands of the Chancellor of the Exchequer. It is to be hoped that last year's circumstances favour despatch. The real urgency of practicable measures is not the question; but the comparative quietude of the country, the improved condition of the people, so far as that improvement goes, the better state of the revenue, the somewhat diminished "difficulty" in Ireland, attested by much unanimity in the present agitation, all tend to remove that excessive pressure on the Legislature which impedes rather than speeds, where the way for action is not clearly seen, and choked up by doubt and conflicting interests. The course of emprovement will probably be lessened, and next session ought to be a busy working session.

An agitation is in progress for the repeal of the duties, but it is considered not at all likely to be successful. The advocates of a reduction of the duty on tea and sugar, the abolition of the duty on cotton wool, and the partial repeal of the income tax, are more sanguine in their expectations. At a meeting of the Liverpool Cotton Brokers, held last Thursday, it was determined that a memorial should be presented to the Lords of the Treasury, praying for the abolition of the duty on cotton wool.

The Monitor publishes the returns of the importations into France in October, 1844, and of the amount of customs duties paid upon them in that month, namely, 13,175,356 francs. They had been only 12,344,607 francs in October, 1842, but amounted in 1842 to 13,644,640 francs.

Spain. General Prim has been found guilty, and sentenced to six years imprisonment in a fortress, and other prisoners to four years of the same punishment. An appeal, it is said, will be made against the sentence to the supreme tribunal.

The latest news from Spain is the rumoured capture, on the 20th, of the eldest son of Zurbano and his brother-in-law, by the troops sent in pursuit of them. They are said to have been made prisoners, as they were about to land the Ebro, and to have been conveyed to Logrono, there to await the commands of General Pags, Captain General of Navarre. Zurbano himself is supposed to be in concealment at Riego.

A rumour is current that Ruiz, the leading man in the last revolution at Carthagena, and Uriarte, the political chief of Aragon, had received the promise of Hauser, for the purpose of executing a revolt against the government.

Commandant Echarrri, who was with Zurbano, has given himself up, and is to be immediately tried by a court-martial. The sentence on General Prim has been confirmed by the Supreme Court. He was to leave Madrid immediately for Cadix for his place of confinement, which, however, is not ascertained.

General Narvaez, has been created a grandee of Spain, by the title of Duke D'Arnoz.

GIBRALTAR. A daring act of piracy was committed in the very midst of the shipping in the port of Gibraltar, on the night of the 5th ult. The crew of the San Michel, a Sardinian polacca schooner, had all returned to rest, except the mate. A party of Spaniards, masked, and armed with long knives, came alongside in a boat, and boarded the schooner. The mate, although surprised, made no alarm; not suspecting the character of the intruders. They seized him, went into the master's cabin, and under threat of death demanded to know where he had put 3,000 dollars that he had received on board. They had mistaken the vessel, for there was no money on board; but they took away all the loose cash, some jewellery, some watches, and clothes. Binding the crew, they ransacked the vessel, ate a hearty meal, with wine and decamped. The identical sum mentioned had been shipped on board an English vessel from Leghorn, which much resembled the Sardinian. It is surmised that the robbers belonged to some ship in the harbour; as no vessel could have approached or left the anchorage-ground without having been seen by the watch and examined.

HOLLAND. One hundred and fifty of the principal mercantile houses of Amsterdam have presented to the Second Chamber an address concerning the tariff of custom to recommend the adoption of a very liberal system, and that everything arbitrary in a charge on duties, or as preventive measures, on the part of the administration shall be carefully excluded. The petitioners ask the chamber to reject the tariff of duties, not answering their condition.

TURKEY. The Levant mail brings letters from Constantinople to the 7th. On the 21 instant, Rifat Pasha the Minister for Foreign Affairs, was displaced from office, and Shekib Effendi, who was formerly ambassador in London, has been promoted to the vacant post. Mukhtar Bey, now Ottoman ambassador at Vienna, has been recalled to take the place lately occupied by Shekib Effendi, at the military board and it is by no means improbable that Rifat Pasha will ultimately be sent again to Vienna as minister plenipotentiary.

On the 21 instant, the birth of another prince to the Sultan, who has been named Monammed Reshad, was announced. The accounts from Alexandria of the 6th merely state that the Pasha was in perfect health, and that Mr. Todd, acting consul of the United States, has been confirmed by his government in the post of consul.

NEW SOUTH WALES. Sydney papers to the 30th of July have arrived. The business of the colony was improving, and the manufacture of tallow continued to increase. Several of the cargoes intended for immediate despatch to England had been made up with this staple. According to general accounts the clip of wool was favourable, and the result of late sales in the mother country induced the flock masters to hold out for higher prices. The meetings of the three principal banks had been held, and the reports made by two of the directors were satisfactory to the wishes of the proprietors. The Bank of New South Wales had declared a dividend of 2 per cent, for the half year; the Commercial Bank was stated to be in a condition to pay off its late losses; but the bank of Australia laboured under the disadvantage of a heavy debt to the Bank of Australasia, which it seemed to be considered there would be a difficulty in paying, especially as the directors of the latter company were not inclined to admit of any compromise.

Accounts in these papers from New Zealand to the 14th of July allude to the shock of an earthquake felt at Wellington.

POETRY. THE GRAY YARD. [ORIGINAL.] The Sun was diffusing his last beams of day All nature was sunk in gloom; The wind, in soft murmurs, was sighing away An emblem of man at the close.

'Twas thus I stood amidst in death's battle-ground, Where all things are silent and still; The Moon, in her splendour, refulgent around, Was looking o'er her valley and hill.

Here, death o'er his sceptre remorseless of tears, O'er weak sinful man, since the fall; Nor is set weary for six thousand years, To pierce with his dart one and all.

No place, for ambition, to erect her high throne, Is found in the home of the dead! Their vices and follies, to which they were prone, Like the soil, in her passage have led.

How futile, is Matamor, in his golden ear! How vain is the title of King! The once, haughty and proud, the valiant in war, No trophies of victory brings, The peasant, who toil'd all the day for his bread, The Loxer, afflicted with pain; Together, with "Dives," have laid down head.

Till the trumpet awakes them again! Farewell, silent conscious! thy inmates repose, Whilst here, I must tarry awhile— But soon will return, when thy short life shall close.

To rest in that land without guide, St. George, Decr. 1844.

A SUMMERS DAY AFTER A STORM. The post and the Landscape looks lovely again, All nature seems raised from the Tomb, The large pearly drops new spangled the plain, And Summer's sweet flowers festoon.

The Bee has returned to his blossom once more, And quivers his sunny wings, New laden with honey, increases his store, And retreats from Poison he brings.

The birds fill the groves with their melody clear, Repeating o'er still that is past, But nought do they think that their happy year Is fleeting so swiftly, so fast.

Thus, the dark storm of death is hastening along, Though summer should usher it in, Nor all its beauties, nor pleasures, nor joys Can save from the wages of sin.

But when the deep Jordan of death, once past, Its gloom and its sorrows are o'er, Safe, save arrived at our haven at last, We'll know sin and sorrow no more.

St. Andrews. OMICRON.

THE DUCHESS OF ORLEANS.

This princess is from Mecklenburg Schwerin, a small principality in the western part of Germany, which resides beneath the shield of Prussia. The reigning families of both the Mecklenburgs (Mecklenburg Schwerin and Mecklenburg Stralitz) are intimately related by marriage to the royal family of Prussia. The Duchess of Orleans is a half-sister of the late Duke of Mecklenburg Schwerin, a vain and haughty legitimist, who opposed her marriage to the Duke of Orleans, because Louis Philippe was not in his opinion the legitimate sovereign of France.

The Duchess of Orleans was carefully brought up to the Protestant faith by her pious mother, who took much pains to have her well instructed in the Sacred Scriptures. I am acquainted with a Christian minister at Ludwigslust, the capital of Mecklenburg Schwerin, who gave her lessons in her childhood and youth in the Bible, and explained them to her and two other members of the ducal family. I am also acquainted with an excellent minister in Germany, who was often invited to announce the blessed gospel in the palace to her, her mother, and several attendants. Both of these individuals have told me many things respecting the early good dispositions which she manifested. It is a matter which calls for thanksgiving to God, that these good dispositions have ripened into sincere piety; it is believed, since she came to France. Her life, since she became Duchess of Orleans, has ever been most exemplary and beyond all censure. I have never heard a word said against her.

She was told, upon her marriage, that she might have a chaplain of her own, and a service for her own benefit in the palace. She replied with great good sense and firmness, that she preferred to worship God publicly with those, who professed the same faith that she professed. Accordingly, when her health would permit, she attended the Lutheran churches in Paris, and dressed in a plain manner, sitting by her dress from any other lady, and paying with devout attention to the gospel, which is faithfully delivered by three out of four of the pastors who preach in rotation in that church, and one when she is unwell, she never sits of her pastors to come and conduct a service for her and her attendants in her apartment in the palace.

Though she can never become the Queen of France, owing to the lamented death of her husband, two years ago, yet she has the reputation of being trained up her two sons, the eldest of whom, if it pleases God, will succeed his grandfather on the throne.—As she is a woman of much mind and sincere piety, there can be no doubt that she will impress her own character upon the minds of her children.—The Roman Catholic priests have demanded that these children be withdrawn from her care, in order to be more effectually to guard them against the Protestant influence. But the King, great to his honour, has refused to accede to this demand. A priest, however, has some superintendence of their religious education. But this is of little moment.—The influence of no priest is likely to outweigh that of a talented, devoted, affectionate mother. I may add that the eldest son the Count of Paris, now in his seventh year, is a boy of much promise, and is beginning to attract the regards and the hopes of the best disposed portion of the French people.

There are those who are disposed to expect much more from the Duchess of Orleans, as a Protestant than she can do. It is true that her position is elevated and honourable. But it is one of great difficulty.—Standing alone as a Protestant, in a royal family out of the heads of which, if not a bigoted Roman Catholic, is at least a very zealous one, and watched by a hierarchy whose vigilance never slumbers, and having no political influence, it is not in her power to do much more for Protestantism than to adorn it by her example. This I am assured by her pastors and others who know her well, she does in a very happy manner. I have seen her several times and have been much pleased with her sensible and unaffected conversation. She is by far the finest woman at the court of the Tuilleries.

An Incontinent.—We learn from an Irish paper, that Molly Carter, an extraordinary character, lately died in Ireland, at the age of 29, well known in the north and west of Ireland, as an oyster carrier. She was six feet eight inches high and possessing extraordinary strength. When faction fights were common in Ulster, whatever side Molly joined was sure to conquer, as some could stand before her. She has been known to strike pieces from a large party of ruffian police, knocking down every man that opposed her.

A CURE! FOR ALL!!

HOLLOWAY'S OINTMENT!

AN EXTRAORDINARY CURE. 26 Holes on one Leg, and 14 on the Other, On Crotches! 2 1/2 Years Afflicted? The Lord Mayor of London affixed his Signature as Witness to the following Solemn Declaration:

I JAMES STANLEY, Gentleman's Servant, residing at Long Ditton, Kingston-upon-Thames do hereby solemnly declare that for the last Two Years and a half I was (in consequence of being badly afflicted with Ulcers in both Legs) quite incapable of getting my Living. I then declare that I sought relief of several Eminent Medical Men, both in Town and Country, but my case only got worse instead of better, under their Treatment. I then declare that in or about the beginning of June last I was admitted as a patient at the North London Hospital, and there I remained for about six Weeks. In this Institution cold lotions and cloths dipped in cold water were applied to the Ulcers; by these repelling means and the use of tight bandages, the Ulcers were made a skin tight cover, and I left the Hospital although at the time there was great pain and soreness in my Legs, which almost immediately broke out in a far more dangerous state than before so that on my leaving I had twenty-six holes on my right Leg, and sixteen on my left Leg, and indeed my Legs appeared a frightful mass of corruption.

I lastly declare, that I was in this state the middle of seven months at which time I first commenced the use of HOLLOWAY'S PILLS AND OINTMENT, which in a very short time restored to health and soundness every one of the Wounds, and in consequence of getting my Living. I then declare that I was cured by the use of the Ointment, and in consequence of getting my Living. I then declare that I was cured by the use of the Ointment, and in consequence of getting my Living.
