Proclamation

AT A MEETING OF THE LONDON Old Boys' Association Executive Committee, held on the 30th day of July, it was decided to request His Worship the Mayor to ask citizens to decorate their places of business and residences with flags and bunting on the occasion of the visit of the London Old Boys' Associations from other cities on Monday, Aug. 5. This, therefore, is to make known that in obedience to the above request, I, Frederick G. Rumball, Mayor of the City of London, do hereby request that, as far as the same may be possible and convenient, citizens shall display upon their premises and otherwise, emblems of welcome in token of the return to the city of so many former citizens. In the House of Commons yesterday, Lord Stanley, the financial secretary of the war office, replying to a question, said the cost of the war in was £35,750,000, partly chargeable against the deficit of last year. The actual cost in July was $6,250,000 The statement was greeted with ironical Irish cheers. The chancellor of the exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, said if the war continued at the same cost for

Roberts, recommended by King Edward, as a token of the nation's 'appreciation of the field marshal's services in South Africa. SITUATION IMPROVING London, Aug. 1.-The military situation is slowly but surely improving in South Africa for British clearance operations. Various columns are employing one district after another and the Boer bands are now decimated by the slaughter and capture of straglers. FEEDING 63,000 BOERS. It is estimated that the British are feeding 33,000 prisoners and nearly 30,000 refugees. "CANADIAN" SCOUTS. Ottawa, Aug. 2 .- Trooper D. J. Hobson, of Medicine Hat, N. W. T., who served through the South African war with Strathcona's Horse, and was one of those who subsequently joined the scouts, is here on his return from the war. Mr. Hobson says that the socalled Canadian scouts do not now contain a dozen Canadians, but are made up of all sorts and conditions of mengood, bad and indifferent. With all of Capt. Ross' ability as a scout, Mr. Hobson does not look for his command to reflect any great credit on this coun-

Toronto, Aug. 2. - Regarding the startling story of Sergt. Carter of unnecessary hardship and privation and the violent denunciation of the war office for its "inhuman treatment of Canadian soldiers," Lieut. Callighan, who commanded the troop of which Carter was a member, in an interview, said that the statements made by Cartier are utterly incorrect, and that Canadians were treated with all possible consideration by the in:perial authorities during the trip to and from England, and as far as he knows, Carter was the only man who complained. In concluding, Callighan said: "Carter joined the scouts at Johannesburg, where he had lived for some years, and was a chronic grumbler all through the campaign. He was not with us while the fight was going on."

STRIKERS ENJOINED.

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2 .- A temporary injunction restraining the strikers at Northport, Washington, from attempting to interfere with the employment of non-union men in the Northport smelter, has been signed by Judge Hanford, of the United States district court. The order is sweeping in its terms. The injunction is made returnable in Spokane Sept.

THE OUTCOME IS DOUBTFUL

Nothing Definitely Settled by the Steel Men's Conference.

The Corporation Declines Further Discussion of the Questions at Issue-Negro Labor Secured by Cleveland Manufacturers.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 2.-The situation in the Amalgamated steel strike this morning is anything but favorable to an amicable adjustment of the dispute between the association and the United States Steel Corporation. As far as can be learned, President Shaffer, of the Amalgamated, has not received any reply from the New York officials of the company regarding a further conference, except the telegram, which, it is said, arrived last night, and which declined a further discussion of the questions at issue between the labor leaders and the company. This tele-gram gave the substance of a letter which had been mailed and which was expected to arrive in the first mail this morning. The refusal of the Steel Company's officials to enter into another conference, if adhered to, leaves only two ways open to the Amalgamated Association. One is to order the striking workmen back to work under the best terms obtainable, and the other is to proceed with the strike in the hope up and shot them in cold blood. They of involving all the union men employed in the constituent concerns of the United States Steel Corporation. Today's meeting of the executive board is expected to tell the story, and it is acknowledged that this is the most critical period of the strike. The board went into session at 10 o'clock. No information was given out, but a state-ment is anticipated later in the day. It is reported that the final effort of the Amalgamated Assosciation before proceeding with the strike, will be to bring every influence to bear towards arranging for another conference with the company's officials. Nothing can be learned from President Shaffer or the leaders of the organization on the matter, however, as they say whatever they have for the public will be given out in the form of a statement. This statement may be given out at noon, and perhaps not before the adjournment this evening.

NEGRO LABOR UTILIZED. Cleveland, Aug. 2.—The big steel combine is utilizing negro labor to supplant its white workmen in the Newburg mills here. Already a couple of hundred of colored men have come to the city from Pittsburg, Homestead and adjacent iron centers in Pennsylvania. Many more negroes, it is said, will be brought here, and a general emigration of colored workmen familiar with the manufacture of iron and steel from the south, is prophesied by a colored agent of the steel corporation. The negroes from Alabama and Tennessee, according to the same authority, see in this strike a glorious opportunity to improve their condition, and they are flocking north in large num-

It is also asserted that the steel corporation has given authority to its agents to gather all the colored iron workers possible, and to center them at the various points of the strike.

Pittsburg, Aug. 2-12 p.m.-The conference adjourned at noon, and gave out the following: "There is nothing to give out. We will reopen at 2 o'clock.' It is absolutely impossible to get any of the conferences to give any ex-

Prospects for a Magnificent Harvest in Manitoba and the Territories—Some Danger by Rust and Heat.

THE WEST BOOMING

Toronto, Aug. 1.—The Globe says: Mr. T. C. Irving, manager of Bradstreet's, returned to Toronto yester-day after a month's trip through Manitoba, the Territories, and British Columbia. Mr. Irving, in an interview with a Globe reporter, expressed his firm belief in the performance and the marvelous fertility of the west.
The reports published here of the of a prominent contractor, and the name brought up memories of earlier abundance of the Manitoba wheat crop he found, upon inquiry among the most practical and hard-headed wheat buyers, to be well founded. The crop is estimated at from 40,000,000 to 65,-000,000 bushels for sale, netting the farmer 50 cents a bushel, so that, at the lowest estimate, if all goes well, the comparatively small number of farmers in the west will divide among themselves $20,000,000. In Manitoba he met a prominent director of one of the largest eastern loan companies, who explained that he was looking over the west, as his company would probably have more this year.

In British Columbia Mr. Irving found tractor and boy left, as she thought, than half its money loaned out there the people to be hopeful and enthusi- for England. Nothing had been heard astic in their love for the province. Things were quiet, but in Victoria the business men felt that the place was really in better shape than a year ago, as a number of concerns of a specula-tive character had been wiped out, more healthy conditions had been established. At Rossland business was exceedingly dull owing to the miners' strike, which involves 1,200 men, and the result of which is uncertain. The strike appeared to Mr. Irving to be partly one of sympathy with strikers at Northport, but its immediate effect on Rossland has been disastrous, as these men have been getting from $2 50 to $3 50 a day, and that money was freely distributed among the merchants. The miners had little saved, so that now they had nothing to spend.

The canners, Mr. Irving found, expect an immense catch this season, as this is a "fourth year," and the catch has been found to be uniformly good every fourth year. It will probably to $2,500,000 this year, notwithstanding the strike, which was settled the night before Mr. Irving left the Altogether, he was very strongly impressed with the prospects for a good year, for many good years, in the west. ANOTHER VIEW.

Toronto, Aug. 1.-D. O. Ellis, Toronto agent of the Northern Elevator Company, up to last night at eight o'clock had advices from the company which estimated that the Manitoba wheat crop would reach 60,000,000 bushels, but this morning he received the following dispatch: "Crop damaged by rust and heat. Estimate now 42,000,000 bushels. There will be lots of shrunken grain."

MORGAN'S DECISIVE ANSWER!

Says He Will Not Further Treat With Steel Workers.

Settlement Must Be on Terms Already Offered.

Strikers Declare These Are Unfair-San Francisco Teamsters Trouble May Soon Be Settled.

Pittsburg, Aug. 2.-The Commercial-Gazette will say: The Amalgamated executive board last evening received by telegram a flat refusal from J. Pierpont Morgan to reopen the wage conference where it was broken off at the Hotel Lincoln nearly three weeks ago. The powers of the steel combine insist in this communication that the only basis of settlement will be on the terms laid down at the meeting with the Amalgamated executive in New York last Saturday.

A member of the executive board of the association said: "These terms are denominated by those who have the best interests of the organization of steel workers at heart as the most unfair ever proposed to any body of workingmen by a set of employers or a corporation. The terms are such that the executive board of the association cannot accept, and has already gone on recore to that effect." The answer of Mr. Morgan is expected by mail. There is scarcely a fragment of a hope that the Amalgamated Association will back down from its well-known position. The leaders of the workers will, in reply, outline their plans to the steel corporation for a continuation of the great struggle. They will include the stopping of every wheel possible in the works of the combine and the extension of the strike in all possible directions by the Amalgamated As-

After the board had heard from President Shaffer concerning his trip to New York, last week, it was decided to request a change in the propositions sent to Mr. Morgan in New York on Tuesday night announcing their decision on this matter. A member of the Metal Trades Association here made a statement before witnesses that the association has influence with the administration, and that influence has brought about a change in plans.' The fact that the contract for the repair of the Seward has been awarded to the Morans, while the force of men at the Bremerton navai station has been reduced, led to the report quoted and the machinists accordingly forwarded the telegram.

Those Benevolent Protectorates!

Russia has been, during the last few years, figuring very prominently in the east. Her foreign policy, compared with conditions at home, has become top-heavy. It has proceeded more rapidly than the country itself was able to follow; for while the Russian peasantry at home are in very straitened circumstances, the Government seems to be able to spare nothing for them, on account of their large expenditure in foreign intrigues. Russia has been busy extending her territory eastward through Asia, and it seems that among her most recent aquisitions is to be Thibet. It is alleged that the Grand Lama has sent a message to the Czar at St. Petersburg, asking him for protection against "British aggression." "British aggression" may serve as a lame excuse, but it is more likely that the Russian authorities desire to exercise a form of protectorate over the Thibetan district. The idea of Russia protecting any people from "British aggression" is a proposition too ludicrous upon which to expend a serious thought. The Thibetans should beware of the bear in sheep's clothing.

About two millenaries ago, the inhabitants of Britain were being harassed by the barbarous Picts and Scots of the North. They invited the protection of tribes beyond the North Sea. The Angles and Saxons came over, succeeded in driving back the northern devastators, and appropriated the island to themselves.

Only three years ago, the inhabitants of an island in the Gulf of Mexico were suffering from Spanish aggression. The United States looked The great national heart was moved in sympathy for the oppressed Cubans. The Spaniards were ordered to withdraw, which they did when they were compelled so to do. The Cubans were protected. Today Cuba is a protege of the United States. It is a queer thing, this custom of exercising protectorate powers over the weak and oppressed.

Pavements.

There has been considerable discussion in the press lately with reference to the pavements on Talbot street and King street, and other streets, the bylaws providing that the city should pay one-third and the ratepayers twothirds of the cost.

Objection has been taken to this on the part of some of the ratepayers, and there is reason in the objection. For instance, the ratepayers of King street have been paying taxes for over ten years, to pay for a pavement that is and has been during all that time a positive nuisance. Ought there not to be some consideration in the future for the wrong of the past? The city inflicted the cedar block pavement on them, taxed them for years, and all that after block pavements had been tried in other cities and found to be a fatlure.

Another point, conditions have changed. Dundas street was the thoroughfare for teams, and only had horse cars; but now Dundas street is the thoroughfare for electric cars, and on that account King street gets a large part of the teaming which formerly selected Dundas street, and if it had a good pavement would get much more.

Is it fair to tax the people of King street for any part of the pavement required under the circumstances? Is not each point mentioned a complete answer? 1. They have already paid for what they never got, a good pavement; and, 2, the traffic that will be diverted to the street is not any advantage to the street, and belongs to the whole city, not to the ratepayers of the street only. Mr. McMechan is entitled to credit for having directed attention to this.

The position of city engineer is a hard one to fill. The present engineer is not to blame for the mistake referred to. We give the engineer credit for desiring to do his best: to do the right thing. He doubtless inherited a disposition to do so from his father, the late Mayor S. H. Graydon, who was one of London's best mayors, and a thoroughly honorable man. What is best to be done under the circumstances? Payements on both streets are badly wanted. The citizens will not weigh in too nice scales what is fair to both. They recognize the need. They have endured the nuisance. Let the city engineer and the committee consider and determine what is right and doubtless the ratepayers will support it. It has been suggested that in pavements as well as in everything else, the best is the cheapest. It has also been suggested that in the long run it would pay the city to get a plant of its own, and attend to the laying of the pavements through the city's own officials.

The past was a mistake; nothing is to be gained by hugging the mistake. Get rid of the old pavements, and put down the best known for the location in its place. We think public-spirited citizens like Mr. Ward, who at much personal sacrifice, take the trouble to get the necessary petitions signed, are to be commended. They are doing the whole city a good service, and we hope soon to see both streets well paved and the proportion of payment to be borne by the city and the ratepayers equitably adjusted. No reason has been advanced for perpetuating the nuisance now endured. Another point regarding pavements: The Talbot and King street pavements are important, but not more so than the sidewalk on the west side of Richmond street, between Dundas and King streets. That is dangerous, and the city may any day be involved in a lawsuit. There is no justification for allowing the sidewalk to be in a condition dangerous to the public.

Freedom of Opinion.

The Ottawa Citizen attempts to rcply to a recent article in The Advertiser, dealing with the rights and duties of teachers in regard to giving expression to individual opinion in the schoolroom, and of applying the principles they are endeavoring to inculcate. The Citizen quotes from The Advertiser as

"All teachers should be students of current events, and with the aid of the academic foundation they possess, should be capable of expressing opin-ions characterized by soundness of judgment. The inculcation of 'principles' is not enough; pupils should also be taught how to apply them; Imagine a teacher instructing his classes in the principles of arithmetic or of grammar without applying them to actual cases. In fact, teaching cannot be too practical, and children should be taught how to apply the knowledge they acquire at school. But the curtailing of individual opinion, although there may be instances where it might be better withheld must of necessity be productive of more ill than good."

The Citizen adds the following com-

"Surely the curriculum of our public schools is sufficiently overcrowded A Variety of Passengers-Immi-without including the 'science of govschools ernment.' The introduction into our school system of instruction in the 'science of government' illustrated by concrete illustrations of the principles from current politics would turn the schools into political kindergarten primaries. Fancy a third class certificated youth of either sex, with political opinions based on an 'academic foundation,' deciding offhand for the benefit of the immature minds of the nation questions on which all the government' of the country * The influence which teaching has in politics, as well as religion, is shown by hereditary tendency in political views. If it must be so, most parents would prefer to formulate the political creed of their children rather than have some irresponsible young person do so whose views of life, politics and public questions are even at the best purely academic."

The Advertiser endeavored to take a moderate view. While advocating ample scope for individual opinion, we also maintained that such freedom should not be abused. We stated that in "matters pertaining to religion, where religion meant sectarianism, or to politics, where that term stands for party bigotry, the wise teacher will hold himself aloof." Although there may be instances where such privilege is abused by the opinionated teacher. we believe that those instances form the rare exception, and that the wise and careful instructor should not be punished for the faults of an infinitesimal minority. Besides, the demands of the Education Department for thorough academic training are becoming yearly more pressing, so as to provide the Province with a class of teachers capable of dealing satisfactorily with references that come up in the schoolroom in connection with the teaching of history. We are not advocating the addition of "science of government" to the public or high school curriculum, for our remarks were probably more applicable to freedom of teaching in high schools, where there is room for greater influence, than in the public schools. History, especially Canadian history, is really the politics of our country, from the remote past to the present it is especially in connection with the teaching of this subject that the judicious teacher might be of immense value to his class.

We rather disparage the idea of hereditary tendencies in either religion or politics. Both are apt to be so closely allied to hereditary indifference or hereditary partisanship. Teach the child to think, to apply his knowledge. The time will eventually come when he must choose for himself, and it is better far that he should be taught how to do so during youth.

Regarding the teachers' duties in seeping touch with current events, the Brockville Recorder makes the following declaration which we regard as sound common sense:

"However, it is the reading of newspapers that the Recorder wishes to The editor of this paper discuss. said at a teachers' convention cently that the teacher who did not current events was keep not the best fitted for the position he It is true. or she occupied. teacher who neglects to read at least one daily paper does not know what is going on every day, and whatever his knowledge of ancient or modern history, he is comparatively ignorant of the daily progress of his own land, and the movements of its peo-Teachers ought to know more, and do know more, than the most people, but if that knowledge does not extend to current history, their storehouse of information is scantily supplied." * * The newspaper, so far from being tabooed by modesty we add, their greatest source of information as well. It is well to our people, but it is of greater importance that the rising generation should be well versed in the history of today. Recently the entrance examination papers, as well as others, contained questions, the answers to which can be found in no text-book, but only in the newspaper, and the step is a proper

The Recorder has struck the keynote of the situation. The teacher, if he wishes to avoid the stereotyping tendency alleged to be characteristic of his profession, will not only keep himself up-to-date, and thoroughly practical, but he will also let his light shine.

Death of Patrick Boyle.

We regret to hear of the death, by heart failure, of Mr. Patrick Boyle, of the Irish Canadian, Toronto. He published the paper named for many years and made it much quoted; it was then discontinued: and was revived a couple of years ago. He was a good-hearted. kindly man; earnest, even pugnacious, in demanding what he regarded as the rights of his fellow-countrymen and co-religionists. His was a strenuous newspaper life, yet ever he met opposition or misfortune with the composure and the cheery front of a witty, courageous Irishman. The young may die, but the old must, says Longfellow; and our old confrere was in his 70th year. Peace to your ashes, sturdy, weather-beaten, kindly Patrick Boyle!

Towns' Refuse.

A book entitled "The Economic Disposal of Towns' Refuse," by W. F. Goodrich, of the Engineering Times' Library, London England, advocates the destruction of garbage and street sweepings by fire, and in no other way. The writer gives a summary dismissal to the idea of dumping street refuse into the sea or river. Cremating furnaces are now in operation in 106 towns in England. The volume contains a large amount of information on this subject.

cussed in connection with this trip to the old land, but the present seems an appropriate point for writing a few words on the return voyage. We have passed Heath Point, and are running at a good speed up the Gulf on a fine, cool, breezy day, hoping to reach Montreal on Saturday night. We left Liverpool about 5 p.m. on Tuesday, July 16. When I left Canada at the beginning of May I expected to return by the Lake Simcoe, and to have under favorable circumstances a quick passage out. The Lake Simcoe is not a new hoat but when she comes on the Canadian route she will be as good as new. She was the Emms of the North German Lloyd, running to New York. At present she is in the hands of the shipbuilders, who are evidently pressed for work and not able to turn her out at the time promised. However, the Lake Ontario, though smaller and slower, is a staunch boat, and has done good service for the Elder-Dempster Line. Capt. Evans who is in charge this voyage, was until this month on the Lake Superior. He is a Welshman of the right type, combining energy with caution, and equal to the varied emergencies

of this responsible position. AN UNSATISFACTORY VOYAGE. We did not make very good runs the first few days. The evening we left, it was foggy, and that is not pleasant so near to land, and in a region where ships are numerous. The next three days we had a rough sea, not a heavy gale, but sufficient to make our vessel dance about, and to send several passengers to their rooms to meditate on the pleasures of sea-traveling, and to declare that "never again" will they be tempted on to the broad Atlantic. Things look blue for a while for those who are not seasoned sailors, but it is astonishing how soon this is forgotten, and how calmly the formerly despondent ones can discuss the probability of another sea voyage. After seeing real Atlantic rollers we have the pleasure of seeing the ocean almost as smooth as a millpond. We can get round comfortably and survey the ship. We are not by any means crowded this voyage; probably on a pinch this vessel could carry twice as many. Saloon and second cabin number together about sixty, and there are over four hundred steer. age, being mostly immigrants. If the crowd is not immense, we have the same variety of nationalities, and circumstances that is usually found.

VARIOUS PEOPLE. We can talk with people who are crossing for the first time, and with others to whom it is a common experience; some who are returning to Canada, their home, and others to whom it is a new and foreign land; some who have for the first time torn themselves from old associations, and others who have voyaged round the world. Mr. Ellis, the purser, and Mr. Barrington, steward, give information freely and courteously concerning the ship and the methods of dealing with the crowds of passengers. The latter was on the Lusitania when she was wrecked on that occasion, but everything was done ran into on the 23rd of July. The fogin a creditable manner with as much quietness as could be expected under as the water showed a temperature not the circumstances. There was, of course, crying of children, and of women, that their children might be saved, but every attention was given to the passengers, and every one of them saved and provided for with as much comfort as could be arranged for. There was something pathetic in the position of the captain. It was his last voyage previous to retiring, so that the withdrawal of his certificate would not have affected him, but he appeared before the court and was exonerated, for, as he said, he wanted | As was said in a different connection, to take his ticket clean with him to

However, to return to our own voyage. We have not many animals on board, but what we lack in quantity is made up in quality. There are a and valuable sheep on board. These are brought over to enrich the live stock of Canada and the United States. One passenger has a pair of dogs that have traveled with him from Australia, and a puppy that was born off Cape Town. If these were not valuable, they would at least be costly by reason of much traveling. THE IMMIGRANTS are. I fancy, most of them, bound for the United States. They are a fairly decent lot; among them are many Jews from different parts of Europe. A number of these band together, elect a reader, and hold a short service each morning. We have in the saloon a sky was so clear, the sun so brilliant, young Jewish minister who is going to take charge of a congregation in Vancouver. These foreigners, poor as they are look down upon him as an Englishman. He at any rate belongs to the Broad Church. He tells me that today is a fast, which these Jews keep on account of the destruction of the | Straits. At night we came to a stand-Temple. He does not observe it, because he is not a Zionist. More of this in another connection. Sufficient now to say that when the days are fine, Jews and Gentiles enjoy themselves in their own way, and present a varied rest, and tackled the problem afresh scene. At night there is occasionally the next day. Fortunately, the ice did dancing on the steerage deck to the accompaniment of a concertina, and, a little earlier in the evening, a group of Hebrew women may be seen sitting round a mother in Israel, who is reading out of a big book. horn was blowing in the morning, and far from freezing point, it was necessary to slow down, as it was evident that ice was not far away. Soon the fog lifted, the sky grew gradually clearer, and we got our first view of icebergs, a good distance off, but clearly visible, looming out like great white rocks. These immense masses of ice are indeed more dangerous than rocks, Our captain remarked afterwards that he would sooner go on Belle Isle than strike one of them, as it would not be comfortable sitting on one of them. if you strike on Belle Isle, there you are: but if you strike on an iceberg. where are you? This was a fine sight. and we expected and desired nothing more. We were going straight for a big berg, when the sky cleared, and we expected now to push along, keeping them at a respectable distance. But when we came up from lunch we were in a field of ice, pieces of all sorts and sizes and shapes floating past and coming quite near to us, and several big icebergs in the distance. Another vessel was not far from us, trying to solve the same problem, namely, to find the easiest way into the Straits. In the course of the afternoon a steamer came out, and we inpuired as to the condition of the Straits of Belie Isle, but could not get a reply. There was no great danger so long as it was light, and everybody admitted that this was a marvelous sight that they would not have willingly missed. The and the ice of such varied shapes and hues, that it presented a striking and unusual panorama. Photographs were taken, which, if they turn out well, will be cherished as souvenirs of the scene. The afternoon was spent in trying to get round this ice field into the still, navigation being considered dangerous in such circumstances. In all, we lost about twenty hours, but it was surely better to lose time than to take great risks. We had a good night's not extend far, and once well into the Straits we began to lose it, and soon we are steaming quietly up the Gulf. I am glad to have seen such a sight. It is as near to "a polar expedition" as write we are opposite the Isle of Anticosti, of Chocolate-Menier fame, and

A menace to public health, the extent of which is hardly realized, is to be found in the circulation of bank notes. At Nashua, N. H., a cashier in a bank has been taken down with smallpox, contracted from handling notes which had come into the bank in the ordinary course of business. Nobody knows through what filthy hands notes which we carry about us may have been.Frequent destroying of soiled notes by the banks and the Government, and the issue of new clean money, is suggested as a possible means of lessening the danger of contagion. Could not the banks contrive to disinfect bills in their possession every day?

ELOQUENT APPEAL BY THE PREMIER

Hon. George W. Ross Voices Canada's Claims in England.

Gloomy View of Affairs in the East Taken by the London Times-A New Cunarder.

London, Aug. 2 .- Premier Ross, of Ontario, in addressing a meeting of the British Empire League at Manchester, made an eloquent appeal on behalf of the claims of Canada upon the interest of the British people, and he declared that British muscle, brain and money were needed to adequately develop Canadian resources.

SEEING THINGS AGAIN. The Times, in an editorial taking a gloomy view of affairs in the near east, says:

"Even official optimism is unable to avert its eyes from the dark thunderclouds which seem to overlook the Balkans." It refers to Russia as "steadily building up in the Slavonic states" and to Bulgaria as "being gradually transformed into a Russian dependency." Commenting on the unrest in Albania and Macedonia, it says: "It is commonly supposed that no serious outbreak will take place in Macedonia till Russia gives the signal, but events are maturing and Russia may be taken unawares.

NEW CUNARDER. The London telegraph says that the Cunard Steamship Company has decided to build a new steamer, and with her make an attempt to capture the Atlantic record. The contract has not yet been placed, but the designs have been prepared and estimates invited for a vessel capable of making 25 knots an hour. She will be built so that she can be used as an armed cruiser, and it is possible that she will have a protective deck. CURE FOR ST. VITUS DANCE. Prof. Blanchard, in a paper read before the Academy of Medicine at Paris, said the Anophele species of mosquito propagates disease, even leprosy. The Parisian Culex mosquito is less terrible. He advised the destruction of the larvae by placing petroleum in stagnant water and sweet oil in drinking water. Dr. Robin announced that experiments had been made by Dr. Huyghe, of Lille, in curing St. Vitus dance by inclosing limbs for days in rigid bandages.

RAILROADING IN ENGLAND. Mr. Lander, a shareholder of some magnitude in the Southeastern Railroad, announced at the half-yearly meeting that an American syndicate desired a 30 years' lease of the line and was ready to deposit £1,000,000 as a guarantee of a 3 per cent dividend during the first year, and ultimately a 5 per cent dividend. This statement was made after the chairman of the company, H. C. O. Ponsor, had re-ported that no dividend could be paid this year, that the accounts showed a deficiency, and that it was necessary to issue additional stock to the amount of £1,666,000. This issue was authorized, Mr. Lander caustically commenting upon the state of affairs, showing no dividend after 65 years of working.

"DEMOLISH THE CHAPELS." Canton, Aug. 2.-Violent anti-foreign placards, emanating from the Boxers, have been posted in the vicinity of the Christian chapels.

The placards protest against the imposition of the public tax, saying it is only exacted in order to meet the indemnity to be paid to the powers, and proceeds:

"If money can be obtained, why not make war on the foreigners? China is not yet defeated. It is only the government's eyes which are blinded by disloyal ministers. If we refuse to fight, then it is a case of being greedy to live, yet fearing death. How can the carefully studied military arts be used, except against foreigners? How can we otherwise employ our regi-ments? During 1900 much money was collected through lotteries, gambling and general taxes. But, they were never satisfied. Therefore, should the house tax be collected we will demolish the chapels and drive out the Christians. If the emperor is unable to pay, we, Boxers, have an excellent plan to gain a victory over foreigners. Unless this policy is adopted a great rebellion is certain."

THE FINAL PROTOCOL.

London, Aug. 1.—A dispatch to the Times from Pekin, dated July 31, says: The preparation of the final protocol progressing rapidly. It is expected that it will be signed before the anniversary of the relief of the legations,

Pekin is being placarded with a vigorous proclamation recounting that a national crime was committed by China last year, and that the punishment inflicted is a warning against its recurrence. The admiralty officials here say the departure of the three warships from Hong Kong has no significance. They sailed in the ordinary course of duty. The battleship Glory is not ashere.

CRICKETERS AT TILSONBURG

Wolseley Barracks Club Was Beaten Yesterday.

Splendid Playing of Dr. Dean Largely Responsible for the Defeat-Tilsonburg Hospitality.

The Wolseley Barracks cricket club left for Tilsonburg on the 5:50 a.m. train yesterday for their first visit to that beautiful town. They were met at the depot by several of the members of the home team and were at once made free citizens of Tilsonburg. Rooms at the Arlington had been se-Springfield for an amateur game our city, guaranteed to us by the law there; but despite these attractions a of the province. considerable number remained to see the game of cricket.

The home team, winning the toss, elected to bat, and Rev. Mr. Hughes and Dr. Dean were the first representatives of the home club. Dr. Dean played a magnificent inning of 68 not out, carrying his bat throughout the entire inning and only giving one chance during the same. He was the only one to reach double figures in the inning, which closed for 94.

HEART-SICK.

There are a great many people who have heart sickness, who have no chronic derangement of the heart. When the stomach is diseased it may affect many other organs, and produce all the evidences of diseased heart, diseased liver or kidneys, or disease in some other organ.

The inexperienced practitioner treats the wrong disease, and hence the constant statement of Dr Pierce's correspondents: "Doctors could not help me." Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the gans of digestion and nutrition. It increases the assimilative powers, and purifies and enriches the blood. When diseases of organs remote from the stomach are caused by the stomach, the cure of the stomach results in the cure of the other diseases, in heart, lungs, liver, kidneys, etc.

"Six years ago my stomach and heart troubled me so much I had to do something, as the doctors could not help me," writes Mrs. S. A. Knapp, of San Jose, California, Box 392. "I went to San Francisco and had treatment for catarrh of the stomach, and was better for some time, then it came back. I then used Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets.' These medicines cured my stomach. I do not have the pain and indigestion as I did. It is very hard for me to tell you what I suffered before I commenced taking your valuable medicine. I recommend it to all the sufferers whom I recei." neys, etc.

To cure constipation use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

Toronto Corporation Defeats the City Railway Co.-Decision of the Privy Council. Toronto, Ont., Aug. 2.-The city has won a big victory over the street railway company, involving $90,000, and a principle. Ten years ago the company agreed to pay $800 per mile of single t.ack yearly to the city as a mileage payment. The city, after the agreement, contended that curves, switches and turnouts, must be counted as track. The company said no, and the difference meant $3,000 a year in the rental. The case was nut in the courts, and now ,ten years after, the British privy council has finally decided that the city is right, and that the company must pay some $90,000 more during the time of its franchise than it expected. The news came in a cablegram this morning.

TWO-POUND TWINS

To Be Put Off at Buffalo Where the Virtues of the Incubator Will Be Tested.

New York, Aug. 2.-The twin boys of Joseph and Theresa Cunea, now two weeks old, and whose combined weight is less than four pounds, have been taken to Buffalo to be placed in the incubator room at the Pan-American Exposition, where it is hoped they will have a chance for life.

On their journey to Buffalo they were wrapped in a nest of cotton wadding, hot water bags and blankets. A few days after their birth their parents became alarmed because the babes steadily lost what little flesh and weight they had. Before the infants started for Buffalo one of them weighed but one pound twelve ounces; the larger weighed two pounds one ounce. The smaller twin had refused nourishment for two days. His face was not much larger than a silver dollar. Each babe is less than twelve inches in length.

the flowing drapery of her pale blue brocaded dress with its touches of crimson in the breastknot and on the sleeves, were exquisitely finished, and it was no wonder that Russell Fenwick looked at wonder that Russell renwick looked at it with a yearning affection in his eyes, and turned away from it with a sigh. "I wish she could have done so," said he, sorrowfully. "I can imagine no other face now, and I had dwelt upon it. I shall leave it alone for a time, and then, perhaps, some other inspiration may come."

"I think she might have pleased you," sa'l Miss Fenwick, with as much asperity as she ever betrayed in her voice. "We don't know the reasons she had for her refusal, Pearl," he said, gently. "She knows the picture is for exhibition, she may not wish anyone likely to recognize her teacher." she may not wish anyone likely to recognize her to know her whereabouts. You must not speak to her about it, Peg," he added, reading the intention on her expressive face. "I feel sure that some strong reason prevented her; she would have done so otherwise. Poor little girl," he went on, with a half smile; "those wonderful eyes of hers are sad tell-tales, she cannot hide much with that expressive face."

Andree, meanwhile, had been turning Andree, meanwhile, had been turning over Mr. Fen wick's proposal in her mind. It had given her acute pain to refuse the trifting request he had made. What had seemed so trifting to him had appeared very formidable to her. Who could tell who would see the picture if it were exhibited? And then came the thought, who, even among those who would recognize the likeness, would know that it was her?—who, even if they did know it, would care to know anything about her now? her?—who, even it they did know it, would care to know anything about her now? Her father, had he not disowned her long ago? It was hardly likely he would be willing to acknowledge her now that she had publicly denounced him; her brother, the same reason would influence him; her husband, could he care to do aught but forget her whose love had brought him such suffering? whose preserved. aught but forget her whose love had brought him such suffering? whose presence had cast a shadow over his home?—

'd he ever wish again to look upon the ...'fe who had kept such a secret from him? No, no; he would never willingly look upon her even if she could bring herself to meet his contempt, his reproaches. Besides, the picture might never meet his eye; he might still remain abroad; he might, unwilling to pain her by showing the aversion he could not but by showing the aversion he could not but by showing the aversion he could not but feel, remain away from home thinking she would be there.

A hundred improbable and impossible reasons flitted through Andree's mind, and then the regret at having refused such a simple request from the true and noble-minded friend she had won grew so strong within her that, with a sudden resolve, she rose from her seat and went quickly to the artist's studio, lifting, with eager, trembling little hands, the heavy curtain which veiled the entrance, and pausing for a minute on the threshold.

The artist and his sister stood before the painting; his arm was round her; her shapely head, with its shining wavy hair, rested on his shoulder; both faces were a little sad, but the one glance Andree took showed her how they were illuminated—the one with the light of genius, the her with the light of love. For one ment she felt really "out in the cold," and with difficulty repressed a rising sob. Noiseless as her movements were as Noiseless as her movements were as she stood silently there in her heavy, nun-like serge dress, releved at the throat and wrists with a tay linen band, the one jewel she wore being the gleaming d hond ring which had never left her ger, they heard her, and both looked up.

For a moment neither spoke, unwilling to disturb the picture she made; as fair a one as artist ever painted or poet dreamed; then Margaret, the momentary anger at her refusal melting at the first glance at the mournful face, gave her a little smile of welcome and put out her

But Andree did not heed; she came slowly forward and stood before Mr. Fenwick, the color rising faintly in her cheek as, with a touch of her old imperial grace mingling with the sweet humility which characterized her manner now, she said, half-pleadingly: "I was very ungrateful and ungracious just now, Mr. Fenwick. It will give me very great pleasure to sit for you."

CHAPTER XX. It was a cold, miserable January daya day unpleasant under every circumstance, and certainly not the least so on board the mail steamer crossing from Calais to Dover. Unfavorable though the weather was, the boat was laden with passengers, an unusual thing under ordi nary circumstances at this season of the year. But these were not ordinary cir-cumstances, for the year was 1871, and the capitulation of Paris had taken place a few days before, and many persons imprisoned in Paris during those terrible months of suffering and privation were returning to England, rejoicing in their freedom again. Among the passengers who appeared least affected by the roughness of the Channel, or the blowing of the cold, winchannel, or the blowing of the cold, win-try wind, were a gentleman and lady who paced and and down the deck arm-in-arm, so absorbed in conversation that they appeared indifferent to all that was passing around them, and had given rise to many a smile and sly glance both from their fellow-travelers and the crew, and the gemark, "a handsome couple," had the remark, "a handsome couple." had been made more than once. In build they were so; he was tall and distinguished-looking, his face was worn and haggard, perhaps, but eminently handsome; hers was even more beautiful for a woman's than his was handsome for a man's. She was dressed in deep mourning made in a style and fashion which denoted a French style and fashion which denoted a French couturiere and a long purse, and wore a long, fur-lined cloak, which ever and anon when a gust of wind came he drew round her tenderly. They were Douglas and Kathleen Lancaster, and the former was only now returning to England after a lengthened detention in a French prison, where he had been thrown as a Prussian spy, while Kathleen had been shut up in Faris by the slege operations, had nursed her aunit, Mistress Avis, through her last illness brought on by her excessive sorrow for the defeat of the French arms, and was now returning to French arms, and was now returning England with Douglas a beauty and an heiress.

Douglas Lancaster's eagerness to ar-Douglas Lancaster's eagerness to arrive home was excessive. During all these long months of captivity he had not a word of news from his wife. He was entirely ignorant of all that had passed during his absence; of the trial and acquittal of Jem Burns, of Andree's important testimony, of Sir Edward Marchmont's death, of his daughter's flight. He had received no tidings of any kind, and had been able to send none, except that, when he arrived at Dover, he was able to telegraph to Andree that they had arrived, and entreat a reply addressed to the "Great Western Hotel," Paddington.

Paddington.

It was late in the evening when they arrived in London, and his sister seemed so worn out and tired by her journey that, intense though Douglas Lancaster's eagerness was, he could not even attempt to oppose her evident wish to remain and rest that one night rest that one night.

There was no telegram for him at the hotel, and his curiosity rose to fever-heat at this silence.

What could it mean? Andree might be ill; she might be absent, she might—

He paced up and down the room, now and then stopping at the window to look out upon the lighted streets. It was blowing and raining, and the elements seemed to sympathize with Douglas in his restlessness.

At last Kathle, whose tender little heart was aching for him, and heaving with an undefined sense of evil hanging over her, rose and came to his side, putting her hand through his arm. The action, so mutely caressing, recalled Andree to him so foreibly in the old, happy courtship days, that when he conquered the emotion which mastered him enough to speak, his voice was husky and uncertain.

"I tire you, little one," he said, tenderly. "I have a restless fit tonight; the result of long confinement, I suppose." "Do you think there is a train to Ilchemster tonight, Douglas?" she asked. "Run down by yourself if there is." "Are you sure you would not mind being left alone here?" he said, catching at ing left alone here?" he said, catching at the suggestion.

"Of course not. Parker is a host in herself. Do go, Douglas, if there is any possibility of your getting a train."
"There's a mail train at 11:30," he answered. "Are you quite certain you don't mind, Kathie? I hardly like leaving you; but I own it would be an immense relief." [To be Continued.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2.—The National Socialist convention adjourned last night, after electing Leon Greenbaum, of night, after electing Leon Greenbauh, of St. Louis, national secretary, and desig-nating St. Louis as the national head-quarters of the Socialist party. As the delegates filed from the hall they sang

Much of the wrangle during the night session hinged on the effort to embody in the articles of resolution a clause prohibiting Socialists from accepting office under either of the "capitalist" parties, and from entering the ranks of the state militia. Both clauses were finally adoptmilitia. Both clauses were finally adopted. The judiciary of the country was branded as a "servile tool in the hands of the capitalistic class, and hostile to the interests of labor."

ARRANGING THE FINAL DETAILS

Everything Ready for the Uld Boys' Coming.

Let Everybody Decorate Stores, Houses and Other Buildings to Welcome the Visitors.

The meeting of the executive committee of the Old Boys' Association was held last night, at which the final details of the approaching celebration were arranged for. Those present were: Messrs. B. C. McCann (in the chair), Frank Cooper, N. Wilson, A. Wilkins, Walter Bartlett, Ald. Stevely, 8. H. Craig, Dr. Jeff Wood, James McCormick, E. J. MacRobert, James Herrick, D. W. Blackwell, Harry Merritt, D. H. Cowan, R. A. Carrothers, 'Ald. Jolly, John R. Minhinnick, jun.; Oliver Elwood, Hugh McLean, J. L. Fitzgerald, R. W. Bennett, E. W. M. Flock, Dr. Fred Wood, Dr. H. R. Abbott, Dr. Hanson, of Sandusky, Ohio, and Secretary Bell.

Vice-President McCann reported that the Cleveland Association would reach Port Stanley on Sunday morning at 6 o'clock, and that permission had been granted himself and Mr. McLean to meet the boat on its arrival and assist in passing the band instruments and other goods in order to cause as little delay as possible. The L. E. and D. R. would run a special to Port at 4:30 o'clock on Sunday morning and return to London on arrival of the steamer. Messrs. Bartlett, McLean, McCann and McCormick were appointed to meet the Clevelanders at the pier, and welcome them in the name of London's citizens.

The special attractions will be put on at Springbank Monday and Wednesday afternoons, reported ex-Ald. Bennet, which, with the Old Boys' programme, will furnish ample amusement for everybody. Arrangements had been made for necessary lights at the park on Monday evening, when a tattoo will be held.

All members of the association are particularly asked to secure a regulation hat and appear in the big parade on Monday. They have been received by Spittal, Sabine & Co., who are busy fitting the correct sizes to the heads of those not wise enough to order in ad-

The committee are confident that the business men generally will rise to the occasion and decorate their premises in a manner befitting the occasion, several merchants having ex-pressed their intention of making a good display, and many private residences also will be clad in holiday attire in honor of the big reunion.

Meteorological.

Toronto, Aug. 1—8 p.m.—The weather has been fine today in all portions of Canada. The highest temperatures recorded were in Manitoba and Cape Breton, being 82 and 84 respectively. Minimum and maximum tempera-tures: Kamloops, 54-82; Qu'Appelle, 42-56; Winnipeg, 68-80; Port Arthur, 46-80; Parry Sound, 54-72; Toronto, 58-78; Ottawa, 54-70; Montreal, 57-66; Quebec, 58-66; Halifax, 64-74. Local temperatures, Thursday: Highest 74, lowest 53.5. Today (Friday) the sun rose at 5:07 a.m. and sets at 7:40 p.m. The moon rises at 8:37 p.m. and sets at 7:42 p.m. AUGUST WEATHER PROBS. It is evident from the predictions of the Rev. Ira Hicks, a well-known meteorologist, that we are to have a of weather in August. Venus and Vulcan are the operating deities, who are to control certain periods, the blacksmith having the best of the argument. Perturbation on the part of Venus, a disgracefully full moon, and disturbances at the equator all occurring today, promise us threatening stormy weather, as August comes A very warm wave is due about the 6th to the 9th, with thunderstorm finish, hail and high winds. Then a decided fall in temperatures should come. Vulcan retiring for a few days. The cool wave will not be prolonged, however, for it is anticipated that about the time of the new moon, or the 14th, there will again be very high temperature, with electrical disturb-ances, and blustering storms. The moon is due to move south of the equator on the 16th, and another Vulcan period ensues, though there is promised a very brief respite. From Sunday, the 18th, to Tuesday, the 20th, increased temperature is looked for, with falling barometer and storms. On the whole Mr. Hicks looks for a very dry August, excepting for these storms, which will affect some localities with startling down-pours of rain and hail. A great deal of lightning is promised, with a gradual cooling off as the September equi-nox begins to form for the fray. Severe summer storms are looked for on the 17th, 18th, 19th and 20th, affecting various parts of the interior and the lake and coast regions, followed by cooler weather, with occasional brief changes to warmer. September is not to be as warm as in other years, and the equinoctial storms will come much earlier.

NEW SHOES A TORTURE

Mr. Stanley Goldsmith and Miss Ma- But All Suffering May Be Avoided by Using Foot Elm.

> Mrs. M. Norish, Nanton, Alta., N. W. T., has this to say of "Foot Elm." "I have for years suffered with tender feet, and it has been perfect torture to wear a pair of new shoes, no matter how soft and easy. I am very glad to say that "Foot Elm" has given me relief, and is a very valuable remedy for tired feet.'

Don't suffer torture every time you get a pair of new shoes. "Foot Elm" will prevent the drawing and pinching, and make the new shoes as easy as an old pair; besides, it preserves the leather. Price 25 cents a box at all druggists, or Stott & Jury, Bowmanville, Ont.,
