EAST LONDON LICENSES.
Mr. Charles Lilley is very indignant because he did not get a license for his tavern this year. Being a man who always favors the above party influences himself, he declines to give the commissioners credit for getting in a non-partisan manner in dealing with the licenses, and he writes to a contemporary to say that he pines for a return to municipal control of the liquor traffic—then, he argues, he would be sure of a license. Perhaps so, and that is just the reason why the people do not want to return to municipal control, as proposed by Mr. Lilley's particular friend Meredith. That no injustice has been done in this matter, it is not necessary to publish the following letter written by Rev. A. C. Journe in reply to Mr. Lilley's criticisms:
It is not a difficult matter to tell the public why Mr. Lilley did not get his license. There are two licensed places already in the same block in which Mr. Lilley wants to put a third. Saloons thicker than bakeries or butcher shops. We hope not. Mr. Lilley's petition presented to the commissioners. A large number of the people of London have signed it. These reasons are sufficient. As for the implied statement that the commissioners showed partiality, I need only to mention that of five applicants refused three were Conservatives and two were Liberals. A fair proportion.
Yes, a very fair proportion, when it is known that the greater proportion of the liquor dealers in London, as elsewhere, are Conservatives.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

Bismarck has already two secretaries helping him to prepare his "Reminiscences." One of them is the assistant doctor of Schweinfurt.

Hamilton Times: Constituencies which cannot find local Tory candidates can be supplied with Toronto independent editors on receipt of a stamped envelope. Address Empire office.

The sentiment regarding the young Duke of Orleans as a martyr will lose some of its force after the publication of a letter to him from the French physician, Dr. Mare: "If you have the honest desire to wear the uniform of the French soldier and share his meagre pay, you can easily have that distinction. You need only follow the example of Archduke John of Austria. Renounce your privileges and claim to the throne. You will then have the right to be proud of that motto which serves as the inscription upon your public monuments."

The interests of society at Boma, the capital of the Congo State, have at length required that a prison be added to the public buildings. An edifice, largely of galvanneum, has just been built for this purpose in Belgium, and it will probably be the first prison ever shipped to the Dark Continent. The structure will doubtless be quite distinct in the daytime, for the Congo State believes in making lawbreakers pay their own way, and so trains them to wield a hoe on the plantations, make roads, or load steamboats, all of which tends to make imprisonment very unpopular among indolent slaves.

Herbert Gladstone, who is coming over to the United States, and may visit Canada this year, is a man rather below the medium height, with thin hair, a dome-like forehead, and an air of gentle melancholy. He is a great favorite at all of the women's meetings and the general conventions for promoting woman suffrage in England. He has been called "the 5 o'clock tea statesman." He affects extreme simplicity of attire, wearing rumpled collars, the smallest sort of a black smoking cravat, and clothes that are not conspicuous for their good fit or fine texture. It is said he is in a managing to his distinguished father in assisting the Grand Old Man's correspondence.

Light, we now learn, not only has sound, but can be heard. A beam of sunlight is made to pass through a prism, so as to produce the solar spectrum. This is turned upon a disk containing colored silk or wool, and as the colored lights of the spectrum fall upon it, sounds are given by different parts of the spectrum, and there is silence in other parts. For instance, if the green light shines upon red worsted, loud sounds will be given. Only feeble sounds are heard when the red and blue parts of the colors fall upon the worsted, and other colors make no sound at all. Every kind of material gives more or less sound in different colors and no sound in others.

Newfoundland's Grievance.
HARLOW, N. S., May 9.—The Prince Edward Island Legislature has unanimously adopted resolutions reciting the grievances of Newfoundland in regard to French anglophone residents, and resolving: "That the action of the citizens of Newfoundland in protesting against any further extension of fishing rights to the citizens of France, and that the contention of Newfoundland in denying the right of the Imperial Government to enter into any treaty arrangement with the French Government, without consulting the Newfoundland Legislature, meets with the approval of this House."

United Action Against Anarchists.

London Board of Trade.
LONDON, May 9.—The returns issued by the Board of Trade show that during the month of April the imports decreased £1,570,000 and the exports increased £700,000 as compared with the corresponding month last year.

The American Hog in Germany.
LONDON, May 9.—The Chronicle's Berlin correspondent says that Germany is not disposed to relax the prohibition of American pork on the condition that the United States agree to a concession in regard to German imports.

A New Departure.
LONDON, May 9.—For the first time in the history of London the Lord Mayor will make an official visit across the border into Scotland on Thursday, June 19. He will proceed in state, accompanied by his town clerk, Sir John Monckton, and Mr. Sheriff Harris and Mr. Sheriff Knill. This official visit is made on the invitation of the Lord Provost of Edinburgh to attend the exhibit in that city.

The Land Bill.
LONDON, May 9.—Mr. Chamberlain's proposal that Mr. Gladstone and Lord Salisbury have a conference on the Irish land question was much discussed in the lobbies of Parliament last night. The Gladstonians were strongly against the proposal, while the Conservatives seemed convinced it would have no good results. The Irish landlord party is urging the Government to pass the clauses of the Land Purchase Bill which relate to congested districts, and postpone further consideration of the remainder of the bill till next session of Parliament.

Varying Views.
LONDON, May 9.—Emperor William's speech has produced a bad impression at St. Petersburg. It is regarded as having a warlike significance, and the pacific protests, condemned Emperor William's Socialistic policy as inspired by mere political designs. He blames the Pope for making advances to Socialism. He admitted the necessity of a new offensive, and said that State interference would fail to cure them.

The Pope, in receiving German pilgrims, praised the Catholic spirit of Germany and said that the Emperor William's policy would ameliorate the condition of the working classes.

Reinforcing the German Army.
BERLIN, May 9.—In announcing the preparation of the bill to increase the field artillery by 70 batteries and the army corps by special troops, the Reichsanzeiger says that the state of things among the neighbors of Germany does not admit of Germany's continuing the present military system, under which the artillery is strengthened at the expense of the infantry. It is therefore necessary to fix a new effective strength for the army. An increase of the cavalry and infantry near the western and eastern frontiers is also intended. It will be the duty of the troops in those sections to advance to the frontier in the event of war, without awaiting the reserves, to repel attacks. It is expected that the increased expenditures will not exceed 18,000,000 marks annually.

The Germans in East Africa.
LONDON, May 9.—The Germans are to take the initiative in building forts in East Africa. It is obvious that wherever the boundary is doubtful, the first comer will have greatly the advantage, and the most practicable road to the great lakes will be in German hands. The scheme of occupation, as outlined, is more elaborate than has hitherto been imagined. Friendly natives and liberated slaves will be encouraged to settle around the forts, where they will be taught the use of firearms, assisted to cultivate the ground and otherwise converted into useful allies. These forts, which will thus be made practically into settlements, will be within supporting distance of each other and will be gradually made impenetrable barriers to the old slave trade, not perhaps so much so on philanthropic as on business grounds.

William and Bismarck.
LONDON, May 9.—The assertion of the Hamburger correspondent that imperial couriers have been kept busy during the last few days carrying letters between Prince Bismarck and the Kaiser is generally received with incredulity. If, however, the statement be true, it is surmised that the Kaiser has demanded an explanation of the allegations that he employed certain persons to intrigue against Bismarck with a view of getting rid of him, together with many other statements uncomplimentary to the Emperor which have found their way into the newspapers as utterances of the ex-Chancellor. The frequent interchange of communications induces the suspicion that the ex-Chancellor is having a hard time to convince the Kaiser of his innocence in the matter of circulating the statements; otherwise he is endeavoring to show justification for making them.

Thirteen Killed and Eaten by Cannibals.
BRUSSELS, May 9.—News is confirmed of the killing of Mr. Musy, commander of the French post at Bangui, on the Moborgi branch of the Congo. He is the second white man who has been killed by natives in the Congo Basin. The first was commander of Capt. Trivier in his trip last year across the continent. Musy was killed with twelve men on Jan. 2. He had his post with many allies for the Jacobi tribe to chastise the village of Salangi for harboring cannibals. The natives were on friendly relations with the French. During the fight which followed his arrival at Salangi all his allies deserted him and he and the twelve men of his station were left surrounded by an enemy in overpowering numbers. Musy kept the natives at bay until his ammunition was exhausted, when all his men and himself perished, and their bodies were eaten by cannibals. The station at Bangui was re-established by the French 24 days after the death of its commander.

THE BURNED POORHOUSE

Scenes of Horror—Names of the Victims.

UTICA, May 8.—This afternoon it is learned two women who were not idiots were burned. It is not at all probable that the two women were burned, though between 20 or 30 are missing. The names and residences of the victims are as follows: Sarah Mills, Albany; Sarah Bessley, Columbus; Arvilla Atwell, Norwich; Deborah Dibble, Bainbridge; Amelia Austin, a county charge; Adelia Babcock, a county charge; Lucy Warren, a county charge; Laura Gray, Greene; Sarah Gallagher, Norwich; Mary Ann O'Daniel, Preston. The bodies were entirely consumed except the trunks.

HORRIFYING SCENES.
The idiots were locked in and roasted like beasts. The uncertainty he threw out all a pauper named Edward Francis, who slept near them. Francis says he arose and called Keeper Mainwaring, who came down stairs from his room in a hurry. By that time the building was on fire, and the idiots inside were screaming and calling for help, but no one could live a minute in there. Keeper Mainwaring says that when he was aroused he did not wait to dress himself, but he and a department of his bare feet. On opening the door leading from the hall to the idiot department he saw the interior was one mass of flames, and the smoke overpowering. He attempted to rescue the inmates, but he was driven back by the heat and smoke. He then ran out and gave the alarm, returned to his room and dressed himself, and then, through the corridor and around the paupers, he saw the idiots, who were dazed, and it was necessary to carry them bodily down from the house. Mainwaring says that when he took possession of the insane farm, he found the people were dazed, and it was necessary to carry them bodily down from the house. Mainwaring says that when he took possession of the insane farm, he found the people were dazed, and it was necessary to carry them bodily down from the house. MET IN A STAGE COACH.

Eloped and Were Married Four Days Later.

CINCINNATI, May 9.—Shortly after midnight Wednesday night, William E. Bundy, a nephew of ex-Gov. Ferkeler and late clerk of the Board of Education, was married in Covington, Ky., to Miss Leedom, daughter of Hon. John P. Leedom, late sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives. The wedding took place in a stage coach in Adams county. Miss Leedom's father was in the city the same night in utter ignorance that his daughter and her husband were two squares away in another hotel.

ST. LOUIS, May 9.—Henry Knudt, a supposed devout member of the Y. M. C. A., and a prominent leader of St. Michael's Evangelical church, was killed yesterday morning while attempting to rob the house of Geo. Stolkman, a carpenter. Knudt had a double life. He was a harness-maker and had only recently been married.

The Y. M. C. A. Secretaries.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., May 9.—At yesterday's session of the general secretaries of the Y. M. C. A. the Nominating Committee for the Executive Committee for next year reported George T. Coxhead, of St. Louis, secretary and treasurer; George E. Williams, of Kingston, Ont.; W. R. Bosard, of Atlanta, Ga.; J. R. Mott, of New York, and J. L. Jordan, of Boston.

Dolly Beeby Captured.
BRANTFORD, Ont., May 9.—Miss Dolly Beeby, alias Miss Blah, and numerous other aliases, the confidence woman, was arrested here yesterday. It will be remembered she victimized Rev. Dr. Cochran last December, representing herself as bringing two nieces from Brantford to attend the college here. The reverend gentleman advanced her $10 to go to New York for them. Since then she has been swindling the citizens of Port Dalrymple, St. Catharines, Hamilton, Milton and other places. At the hospital here she represented herself as Mrs. Wright, wife of a Dundas lawyer, and engaged a nurse to go to Dundas. A telegram advised the police here that the woman was supposed to be in Brantford, and after some search she was discovered in a passenger car at the station just about leaving for Paris.

The Red River Coast Line steamer New Haven, with a relief commission, reached that section just in time to save 280 people and hundreds of mules, horses and cattle. FUGITIVES OR ACTS DELICED.

There is not a foot of dry land in that whole section, embracing thousands of the most productive acres in the world.

THE LONGUE POINTE FIRE

A Partial List of the Asylum Victims.

MONTREAL, May 9.—The following is a corrected list of those known to have perished in the Longue Pointe Asylum fire: Delphine Archambault, patient; Victor Brandy, patient; Sister Bouthillier, nun; Christine Demers, patient; Louise Gravel, nun; Marie Gravel, nun; Sister Gilbert, nun; Mrs. Huot, patient; Amille Lachance, patient; Augustine Lacroix, patient; Miss Letourneau, patient; Miss Lahe, patient; Victoria MacNichols, nun; Eusebie Marchant, patient; Bridget Malone, patient; Eliza Richard, patient; Mr. Soulier, patient; Marie St. Denis, patient; Elie St. Louis, patient; Mrs. Therault, patient; Mrs. Williams, patient.

An inquest will be held directly a body can be discovered in the ruins. The Premier of the Province has had an interview with Sister Therese, the superioress of the asylum, with the view of considering a renewal of the contract. There is a strongly felt opinion that the contract should not be renewed, nor the insane farmed out. On the contrary, a close inquiry is suggested as to the past management of the asylum and the reason why proper precautions were not taken against fire. In the meantime the patients are billeted about on various establishments.

CAPITAL NOTES.

It is decided to issue free ammunition required for the proposed matches of the Canadian Military Rifle League.

Sir John Macdonald informed the House that the Government had no official intimation of the reported disavowal in England of the Copyright Act of 1889.

The book appropriation for the library of Parliament for the twelve months ending March, 1890, was $13,920. The sum of $8,362 was expended on English books, $2,554 on French, and there is a balance of $3,195 not expended.

Sir Adolph Caron in speaking of the day that there was nothing in the supplementary estimates to provide for the drilling of the whole rifle force this year, said he hoped that at a future date provision might be made for calling all out for drill every year. The department is considering the matter of providing helmets, but there is no money forthcoming this year for that purpose. It will take $10,000 a year for three years.

The Proposed Detroit Tunnel.
WASHINGTON, May 9.—The Secretary of War has sent to Congress the report of the Board of Army Engineers with regard to the Detroit tunnel. The conclusions of the Board are that the construction of a tunnel is practicable at an estimated cost of $13,500,000, exclusive of land damages, for a single track railway, and that there is no objection to authorizing its construction under the bed of the river.

The Color Line and the Church.
CHARLESTON, S. C., May 9.—The Episcopal Diocesan Convention adopted an amendment yesterday excluding colored members from seats on the floor with a provision that the only present colored member shall only retain his seat until his privileges are lost by resignation or death. The settlement of the negro question is not final, as the convention retains the power to admit colored members at any time. The St. Michael's and St. Paul's churches of Charleston are not represented in the convention.

Tobacco Not a Necessity.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., May 9.—According to a decision rendered by Judge Creighton in the Circuit Court of Sangamon county, tobacco is not one of the necessities of life, and a tobacco bill cannot be collected by process of law from a minor. Some time ago J. J. Scanlon got judgment in a justice court against Charles Smith on an account, the items being thereof mainly whisky and tobacco. Smith appealed the case on the ground that he was a minor and whisky and tobacco were not necessities. Scanlon's attorneys conceded that whisky was not a necessity, but the necessities of life, but maintained that tobacco was, and contested the case on this ground. Judge Creighton, in rendering his decision, said that a boy could get along without tobacco, and he would therefore hold that it was not a necessity. An injunction was issued restraining Scanlon from collecting the debt.

Salvation Army Funeral.
TORONTO, May 9.—Yesterday there was a Salvation Army funeral procession on Yonge street. It is a rule of the army that funerals shall not be grim or dismal, but shall symbolize the belief in a happy resurrection, and so ordinary "trappings and the suits of woe" were absent. The coffin lay upon an open wagon, drawn by four horses. The pall spread over the wagon, the coverings of the horses, and the nashes worn by the choir mourners—perhaps it would be more correct to say the guard of honor—were crimson. On the coffin were a single wreath of white and green and a straw hat, such as is worn by the women of the army. The carriage was preceded by a band of music and by the women and followed by the men. The mark of mourning was a white fillet on the arm. A similar fillet was worn by the choir, partially furling it, and giving it the appearance of a flag at half-mast. The music was solemn, but not lugubrious, and the band was aided by the voices of the men and women.

SUNDAY SCHOOLS.

The Work of the Provincial Association—Brantford the Next Place of Meeting.

TORONTO, May 9.—A largely-attended meeting of the Executive Committee of the Provincial Sabbath School Association was held yesterday in the Board room of the Bible and Tract Societies. The chair was occupied by Mr. L. C. Peake. The Secretary presented an excellent report of his work during the half year. He had attended 165 meetings and engagements of various kinds. It was reported that 34 responses had been received in reply to the circular issued to the school organizations, and more complete statistics were at hand than ever before. The Treasurer's report showed that many counties had already responded to the call of the convention for funds for the year's work, and premises are in from nearly every county. It was resolved that upon the application of any Sabbath school workers from the unorganized counties and townships, or from weak associations, for help in organization, help shall be given them by some officer or member of the Executive, application to be made to Mr. J. J. Woodhouse, corresponding secretary, Toronto.

Delegates to the forthcoming International Sunday School Convention, to be held at Pittsburgh, Pa., on June 24, 25, 26, 27, were appointed. They are prominent workers, and represent the various parts of the Province and the different branches of the church. The Provincial Association having contributed to the International Association $150 yearly for the past three years, it was resolved to send delegates at Pittsburgh, the decision as to the amount to be paid in the future.

An invitation was received from Brantford for the next convention to be held there, and the unanimous resolution that the invitation be accepted. A largely-attended public meeting was held in the evening in the Parkdale Presbyterian Church, Mr. J. K. Macdonald in the chair. Mr. Day, and Rev. H. Abrahamson and Rev. Dr. Potts addressed the meeting. The latter gentleman's subject was: "Is the Sabbath school worth what it costs?" He said it was worth what it cost because it rested itself in our children and because it had produced the best literature of the present age. It had given the church its best workers. It did as much good or more to the teacher himself as it did for his class—and then it gave a large host to the glorified throng in Heaven.

THE RAILWAYS.

Increase in the Grand Trunk Earnings—Testing the Coteau Bridge.

The traffic earnings of the G. T. R. for the past week ending May 3 were $381,200. For the corresponding week of 1889 they were $357,808, showing an increase for this year of $23,392.

The Canada Atlantic bridge across the St. Lawrence River has been successfully tested. Though the main span was subjected to a pressure of 505,000 pounds it yielded only three-quarters of an inch.

Mr. Purdom at Draney's Corners.
DRANEY'S CORNERS, May 9.—A very enthusiastic audience gathered last night to hear the speeches on behalf of the Liberal candidate. They were not disappointed. The chair was taken by Mr. C. A. Kinney, who introduced Mr. James Magee, Q.C., who made an eloquent speech and satisfied all inquiries regarding separate schools. His remarks on the financial policy of the Government and the separate schools were clear and forcible.

Mr. T. H. Purdom afterwards addressed the meeting and received a good hearing. He took up various issues and was very strong in his appeal to Protestant electors not to be misled by prejudice, but to act with reason, and he had no fear of the result. The meeting, which was well attended, was of an orderly and enthusiastic throughout, and closed with the usual cheers.

Bloodless Duel at Montreal.
MONTREAL, May 9.—A duel came off at 5 o'clock yesterday morning on the top of the Mount Royal between two Belgians and their seconds, accompanied by a few fast friends, drove to the head of McTavish street, and from there to the top of the Mountain to a spot a little past the Pines. All hands were now very nervous over the affair, but very little time was lost in taking positions. Pistols were used, and at the order to fire both the principals promptly faced and in their excitement both fired three shots at random at each other. All the shots went wide of their mark, and at this point one of the seconds stepped up and called out "enough, enough, gentlemen; your honor has been satisfied. Neither participants was slow to acquiesce in this, and the duel came to an end. The duellists shook hands and departed for the city with their several friends.

London Friday, May, 9.

MR. WELLINGTON, of Toronto, who was offered the Tory nomination for Monck, has refused to accept it, even if placed on a silver silver. In South Huron, outside the coterie who engineered the Tory Convention, there is great indignation at the resolution to foist upon the party a Mr. Holmes, a Toronto lawyer, as a candidate. The Tory candidates do not seem to run worth a cent.

The Dominion Government has increased the sum to be spent in bringing immigrants to Canada from $100,000 to $250,000. Mr. Marshall, M.P., who is now trying to secure the defeat of Mr. Purdon in East Middlesex, and who has left his duties at Ottawa, though Parliament is yet in session, supports Sir John Macdonald in this huge expenditure, a large portion of which, past experience proves, will be worse than wasted so long as the Tupper, the Fabres and the host of hangers-on are nurtured by the Department of Agriculture.

THE St. Thomas Times (Tory) dub the Principal Caven, president of the Equal Rights Association, "a pronounced Grit," because he refuses to make the movement subservient to the Tory bosses who wish to oust Mr. Mowat and put Sir John Macdonald's Man Friday in his place. We believe the Doctor will vote for the Premier on June 5, and there will be thousands like him. It is, as Dr. Caven has well put it, "Neither party can charge the other with developing separate schools, while the recent modifications of the Separate School Law are in substance what our (the Equal Rights) platform demands."

At Owen Sound, the other night, Hon. G. W. Ross met Mr. Creighton on the platform, and twitted him for not telling the fearful tale of the tricky bookseller who compelled him to take 4 cents change, which he was anxious to avoid accepting, as he desired to make out that the price of the book was 10 cents, whereas it was only 6 cents. To the huge amusement of the audience, Mr. Ross told the story. When the merchant had subsided, the Minister scolded the member of Parliament who, with the price of a book plainly marked on it, yet tried to mislead the House by misstating its price. The little Empire manager will not soon care to again tackle Mr. Ross on the platform.

EAST MIDDLESEX.
Mr. Thos. H. Purdon, who is the unanimous nominee of the East Middlesex Liberals, is meeting with the warmest reception from his hosts of friends in the riding. There is every reason to believe that he will be the next M.P. for the district, and that he will give the Government of Oliver Mowat an able though independent support. Mr. Purdon is a Middlesex man, born and bred. He has done good service for his native county at the General Hospital Board and in other ways, and there can be no doubt that in an extended sphere he will be able to forward the interests of this important constituency in an impartial manner. Mr. Purdon will prove a representative for whose behavior no one will have to apologize. He will be able to confer with his constituents, whatever their walk in life, at all times, and he will make himself heard in the House on every measure directly affecting the welfare of the people of East Middlesex. Mr. Tooley has certainly survived his usefulness as a member of the Legislature, and many electors who have hitherto supported him so confess. A change will be beneficial to the riding and in the interests of Mr. Tooley himself.

OUT WITH IT, RYKERT!
Mr. Rykert, late M. P. for Lincoln, who resigned his seat in the House of Commons to avoid being kicked out for most scandalous hoodluming in timber limits, and who, by the evidence of his own friends, was guilty of telling the most shameful untruths in pursuance of his tactics, has again presented himself as a candidate for the constituency. He continues to deny that he has been guilty of wrong-doing, and evidently trusts to an appeal to political prejudice to secure his return for the seat, which, it may be stated in passing, was specially gerrymandered for his benefit. A dispatch to the chief Tory organ, referring to the address, says:

It is voluminous and exhaustive and satisfactory. Mr. Rykert's chances for election are believed to be good.

Voluminous it is; satisfactory it cannot be called, unless those to whom it is addressed are prepared to concede that Parliament and the public have nothing to do with the facts or lies contained in the remarkable tell-tale correspondence which arose at the time Rykert was using his place in Parliament as a member of the Tory party to earn the $74,000 which was paid over to his wife as the result of the timber limit "deal." We cannot believe that Rykert's chances for re-election are good, unless, indeed, the electors of Lincoln are lost to all sense of propriety.

Mr. Rykert's determination to brazen out his hoodluming may have one good effect. It has been said that when thieves fall out, honest men are apt to come by their own. So when M. P.s who use their position as representatives of the people to feather their own nests quarrel among themselves, the truth may be brought out, to the enlightenment of the public, and, let us hope, to the purification of Parliament. Rykert is now at loggerheads with his own party, and to the Liberal leader, who would consent to no whitewashing, or even partial exoneration of the late Tory nominee for the Speakership. Perhaps he thinks he owes his leaders nothing, therefore he breaks out in his address in this fashion:

Why should I be singled out for a public censure when there are dozens of members in the same House who not only have applied for and obtained limits for themselves, but sit there daily voting money into their own pockets? I cannot understand.

Now, John Charles Rykert, you are talking! Here is your opportunity to turn Queen's evidence, and earn a pardon. Who are the dozens of members who are sitting in the House, and "daily voting money into their own pockets?" Out with it! It must be members on your side of the House, for we know you too well to believe that these wholesale transgressors of the Independence of Parliament Act were on the Liberal side, you would have long since arraigned them before the bar of public opinion. Out with it, Rykert, and let the cleansing of the Augean stable be commenced at once.

MR. MEREDITH'S TORONTO SPEECH

The leader of the Opposition has opened his campaign with a speech of two hours and a half in Toronto. There was naturally some curiosity to hear him, for besides being the speaker in which he was to state the reasons for seeking the confidence of the people in himself and his followers, there was a suspicion that Mr. Meredith would be obliged, under pressure from Ottawa, to change his recently-assumed attitude on one or two matters of a semi-political character. The meeting was consequently a large one. The hall was well filled, according to all the reports, and many ladies were present as well as gentlemen. There were many Liberals in attendance, besides the usual retinue of Conservatives, and no doubt there was also a good sprinkling of Third party men and of men who have espoused the cause of the Equal Rights Association. But the best sources of information do not give us any reason to believe that the meeting was hearty for Mr. Meredith. On the contrary, it appears that the speech fell unusually flat upon a gathering of people supposed to be strongly Conservative, and, judged by its reception in the presence of the speaker, it is not likely to produce much effect upon the country in spite of the laudations of such journals as the Toronto Empire.

The first portion of Mr. Meredith's speech, in which he stated his objections to the Government of Mr. Mowat, was surprisingly weak, in view of the accusations we are made familiar with daily in the journals friendly to the cause of the Opposition. No serious charge was made, no strong ground of objection was taken, no terrible arraignment was presented. When a man in Mr. Meredith's position can find no graver objection to make to the expenditure of public moneys than that it is large as compared with expenditure under the Administration of John Sandfield Macdonald—20 years ago—it is an admission that upon its financial record the Government is unassailable. Of course there is more money spent for public services now than was expended in Sandfield Macdonald's time, because there are essential differences between the policies of the two Governments. The great object of Mr. Macdonald was to hoist up a large sum in the Provincial Treasury, and it was not until the last year of his term of office that any proposal was made to use the moneys loaned by his Government to the banks at a low rate of interest for objects designed to make the country more prosperous. The railway aid scheme was proposed in the last session of the first Parliament, but no money was expended under it in Sandfield Macdonald's time, and so a financial statement for any year of his term is wanting in one very important item when comparison is sought to be made with the financial statement of any subsequent year. Besides, his railway policy was so immature—having been projected hurriedly in the last days of the session with the design of affecting the elections—that it had to be wholly recast when the Liberals took office, and enlarged to meet in an adequate way the requirements of the country. And in addition to railway expenditure, there have been increases for various other services, which make comparison of the two Governments a subject upon which Mr. Mowat and his friends will always gladly welcome a challenge. The following six services, showing the amounts expended in 1871 and 1889, may be taken for illustration:

	1871.	1889.	Increase.
Education.....	$351,306	$908,238	$556,932
Agriculture and arts.....	76,381	138,787	62,406
Highways.....	40,290	120,462	80,172
Public asylums.....	171,423	238,909	67,486
Administration of Justice.....	104,019	144,770	40,751
Colonization roads.....	55,409	103,669	48,260
Totals.....	$798,828	$1,834,722	$1,035,894

In each one of these items the money granted by the Government goes in aid of local objects, and if not provided for in this way the local municipalities would be obliged to raise it by taxing the people, or the objects would be forced to suffer for the lack of funds. In 1871, as will be noticed, the Government of Sandfield Macdonald spent on the six services named $798,828, while in 1889 the Government of Mr. Mowat spent on them $1,834,722, being an increased contribution of $1,035,894. Had the Sandfield Macdonald rate been continued the total expenditure for the eighteen years 1872-89 would have been only $14,379,084, whereas the actual expenditure has been $27,429,370, or an excess of $13,050,286. Mr. Meredith does not pretend to say that any portion of this money has been unwisely expended. He does not charge that it has been put to a wrong use. He does not allege that the public interests would be better served by leaving the municipalities to raise by local taxation the moneys required for education, agriculture, hospitals, asylums, etc., while the Government deposited its surplus millions in the banks. He knows that a policy so absurd as this would be ridiculed by every sane man in the country. Yet he has the temerity in making an appeal to the people to ensure the Government of Mr. Mowat because it has not seen fit to pursue the hoarding policy of a miser in dealing with the public funds.

Again, in speaking of the administration of the Crown Lands Department, Mr. Meredith censures the Government because, forsooth, it has not asked for the assent of Parliament before offering timber limits for sale at public auction. Surely he must know that this is a simple matter of administration, for which the department is responsible to Parliament. He might as well insist that no lot of Crown land be sold by the department without first obtaining the assent of the House. We have had many years experience of the system in Ontario, and for the eighteen years of Reform rule neither Mr. Meredith nor any of his followers can place a finger upon one transaction and say that it was unwise, or impolitic, or not in the public interest. Will he or any of his friends pretend to say as much for the administration of timber lands by their own party at Ottawa? Charles Rykert, charitably, are simply impossible under Reform Administration in Toronto.

But we do not propose to review the whole of Mr. Meredith's speech. It is not worth the space or the time, and we only refer to it to show how unworthy he is to receive the confidence of the electors of Ontario at the present juncture in its affairs. It is enough to quote the opinion of the speech expressed by the Toronto Mail, a journal personally friendly to Mr. Meredith himself, although very suspicious of his parliamentary followers. The Mail says:

In the arraignment of the acts of the Mowat Government, which he opened his speech, it cannot be said that Mr. Meredith made any very striking points. It is not easy for a man of his large sense of fair play to do so, for on the whole Mr. Mowat's management of affairs has been singularly free from scandal.

The portion of Mr. Meredith's speech, which appears to have evoked the most vigorous applause, was his attack upon the Roman Catholic Church and the hierarchy of that church, and it does not in any degree affect the relations of Mr. Mowat's Government to the people of Ontario. Mr. Meredith may raise his voice in favor of a "No Popery" cry as loud as he pleases; but it is not a matter of practical politics, and it only goes to show that Mr. Meredith would suppress the Roman Catholic church and its priesthood if he had the power. We do not regard this as statesmanship in a Province where 300,000 of its citizens are Roman Catholics, and we greatly fear that Mr. Meredith is pursuing a very dangerous course in seeking as he does to foment strife of race and creed in Ontario. And more particularly is this the case when, as the Toronto Mail puts it, his programme does not propose any remedy for the abuses of which he complains. The one remedy he suggests is the giving of the ballot to the supporters of separate schools. But suppose they get the protection of the ballot: in what better state are the members of separate school boards, if, as Mr. Meredith avers, the hierarchy dominate the lay members of the church and regulate the schools as they see fit?

The General Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada will be held in Montreal in the St. James' Church, opening Wednesday, Sept. 10 next. This Conference meets annually, and has for its object the legislative body of the church, being composed of an equal number of representative ministers and laymen. Some important matters will come up at this Conference, the question of college federation will be threshed out again, and the proposition to lengthen the minister's stay on a circuit will be discussed and legislated upon. This will be the first General Conference held since the recent union and the second held in Montreal, it having been held twelve years ago in the Dominion Square Church.

feel. It is feminine vanity, you know, nothing else. I am sure you will not press me to say more."

"No," he answered, "no. I think that I understand the position. But, Ida, there is one thing that I must ask you will forgive me if I am wrong in doing so, but all this is very sad for me. If in the end circumstances should alter, as I pray heaven they may, or if Mr. Cossey's previous entanglements should prove too much for him, will you marry me, Ida?"

She thought for a moment, and then rising from the seat, gave him her hand and said simply:

"Yes, I will marry you."

"He made no answer, but lifting her hand, touched it gently with his lips.

"Meanwhile," she went on, "I have your promise, and I am sure you will not betray it, come what may."

"No," he said, "I will not betray it."

And they went in.

In the drawing room they found the Squire puzzling over a sheet of paper, on which were scrawled some of George's accounts in figures, which at first sight looked so much like Egyptian hieroglyphics as they did to those in use "Halloo," he said, "there you are. Where on earth have you been?"

"We have been looking at the castle in the moonlight," answered Ida, coolly, "it is beautiful."

"Um—ah," said the Squire, dryly, "I have no doubt that it is beautiful, but isn't the grass rather damp? Well, look here," and he held up the sheet of hieroglyphics,

"perhaps you can add this up, Ida, for it is more than I can. George has bought stock and all sort of things at the sale to-day, and here is his account, $272 he makes it, but I make it $420, and hang me if I can find out which is right. It is important that these accounts should be kept straight.

Most important and I cannot get this stupid fellow to do it."

Ida took the sheet of paper and added it up, with the result that she discovered that the sheet was wrong. Harold, watching her, could not help wondering at the nerve of the woman who, after going through such a scene as that which had just occurred, could deliberately add up long rows of badly written figures.

And this money which her father was expanding so cheerfully was part of the price for which she had bought herself.

With a sigh she rose and said good-night, and went home with feelings almost too mixed to admit accurate description. He certain extent that step had succeeded. He had not altogether built his hopes upon sand, far from what Ida had said, and still more from what she had tacitly admitted, it was necessary for him that she should more or less regard him as a man whom she wished to be regarded by a woman whom he dearly loved. This was a great deal more, indeed, than he had dared to believe, but then, as is usually the case in this imperfect world, where things too often seem to be carefully arranged at sixes and sevens, came the other side of the shield. Of what use was it to him to have won this sweet woman's love; of what use to have put this pure water of lawful happiness to his lips in the desert land of his lonely life, in order to see the cup that held it shattered at a blow.

To him the story of the money loan —in consideration of which, as it were, Ida had put herself in pawn, as the Egyptians used to put the mummies of their fathers in paw—was almost incredible. To a person of his simple and honorable nature it seemed preposterous and unheard of that any man calling himself a gentleman should find it possible to sink so low as to take such advantage of a woman's dire necessity and honorable desire to save her father from misery and her race from ruin. This extract from her promise of marriage in consideration of value received. Putting aside the overwhelming personal interest in the matter, it made his blood boil to think that such a thing could be. And yet it was, and what was more, he believed he knew Ida well enough to be convinced that she would not shrink the bargain. If Edward Cossey came forward to claim his loan it would be paid to the last farthing. It was a question of $30,000; the happiness of his life and Ida's depended upon a sum of money. If the money was forthcoming Cossey would not claim his flesh and blood.
But where was it to come from? He himself was worth perhaps $10,000, or with the commutation value of his pension, possibly $12,000, and he had not the means of raising a farthing more. He thought of the order over till he was tired of thinking, and then with a heavy heart and yet with a strange glow of happiness shining through his grief, he sought through a gray sky, and he went to sleep and dreamed that Ida had gone from him, and that he was once more utterly alone in the world.

FUN, FACTS AND FICTION.

A Judicious Compound of Wit and Wisdom.

Brought to bay—The bound.

A man's first rival after he is married is his bride's new clothes.

Carter's Little Liver Pills must not be confounded with common Cathartic or Purgative Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

The course of true love never did run smooth, and it would not be half the fun if it did.

A man's wife should always be the same especially to her husband, but if she is weak and nervous and uses Carter's Little Liver Pills, as they are entirely unlike them in every respect. One trial will prove their superiority.

The most graceful of the domestic animals is the cat, while the most awkward bird is the duck, but it won't do to use these facts for a basis if you want to call a woman pet names.

High Time to Begin.

After a long winter the system needs a thorough cleansing, toning and regulating to remove impurities and prepare for summer.

Thousands of testimonials show that Burdock Blood Bitters is the best spring medicine ever discovered, producing a feeling of buoyancy and strength. It removes that tired, worn-out feeling, and restores lost appetite.

"Wanted—By a young lady, office work or clerk," was the wording of an advertisement, printed in the want column of a Buffalo paper lately. She must be very young, or she would have nominated the clerk for first choice.

The Public Warned.

Many people are deceived into neglecting bad blood, dyspepsia, constipation, etc., and thus allow these and other diseases to become established. Act promptly by using Burdock's Blood Purifying Tonic, Burdock Blood Bitters, which regulates the entire system, curing all diseases of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

Tommy—Ma, I want some lunch.
Ma—You must wait awhile, Tommy.
Hunger is the best sauce, you know.
Tommy—Then a boy that's starving as I am, ought to be the saddest chap in the country.

A Seasonable Hint.

During the breaking up of winter, damp, chilly weather prevails, and rheumatism, neuritis, lumbago, sore throat, croup, quinsy and other painful effects of sudden cold are common. Hagyard's Yellow Oil is a truly valuable household remedy for all such complaints.

A dinner given in New York recently to a detachment of the four hundred, marrow bones were served as one of the courses, each bone being tied with a ribbon held in place by an emerald pin with a diamond in the moonlight. In consequence of the costly present everyone is willing to go down on their marrow bones to get invited to these gift entertainments.

"Hair Magic."

Is a good name of Dr. Dowd's German preparation for the hair. It really works like magic. All who have used it pronounce it to be unequalled for remedying the loss of vitality to the hair roots, restoring gray hair, removing dandruff, itching scalp, etc. It is a hair restorer and hair builder.

The scholar, without good breeding, is a pedant; the philosopher, a cynic; the soldier, a brute, and every man disagreeable.— [Chesterfield.]

Mrs. Jones had a gray hair in her head and it was over 30. She was a mother of daughters. The secret of it is, that she uses only Hall's Hair Renewer.

It seems strange that the sharper a man is the harder it is to make a fool of him.

NEW NOSES MADE TO ORDER.

A Novelty in Modern Surgery—What Will Come Next?

Mrs. Manger had suffered from nasal catarrh until the bones as well as the tissues of her nose were all gone. In this condition she applied to Dr. K. to see if he could build a nose for her.

The doctor, by means of skillful surgical operations and the introduction of the breast-bone of a chicken (for the bridge of the nose), gave Mrs. Manger an organ of smell that she is proud of.

The advance in modern surgery is really astounding, nor is the progress of modern medicine a whit less wonderful. There was a time when a doctor had but little hope of curing a patient who complained of headache, nervousness, feverish feelings, periodontal headaches, dizziness, dimness of sight, ringing in the ears, difficulty in thinking and trouble in remembering the names of friends. There was not one chance in a hundred that this patient could be restored to permanent good health.

Now, however, a doctor, when his patient complains of these symptoms, recommends Paine's Celery Compound, knowing full well that the use of this scientific discovery will strengthen the weakened nerves and build up the failing forces of the brain. It will give good digestion, sound sleep and freedom from aches and pains. Soon the user will not only feel but look like a new man.

With the perfect health given by this invigorator come elastic step, a clear brain, bright eyes, rosy cheeks and steady nerves.
This great cure has done more to check the great evil of brain and nerve weakness than all other remedies known to the medical or scientific professions, and it is every day restoring men, women and children who were virtually dead to the world to life and health.

encouraging prospects.

Rev. Dr. Thomas C. Gardner, one of the ing, aged 70 years. Deceased leaves a wife son, of Ypsilanti; Mrs. H. E. Syger, of Detroit; and Mrs. Dr. O. Millard, of Flint.

A correspondent writing to the Advertiser from Holland says: "In school district No. 4, Greenleaf, on Tuesday last a son of John Burdick met with an accident by picking with a pencil a cartridge, which proved to be dynamite. While tapping it on the school stove to expel its contents it exploded, shattering the first two fingers of the left hand. They were amputated by Dr. Denning of Cass City."

May 1 was a red letter day for Oddfel-its elegant new hall at Ithaca, and had with them about 500 of their brothers from lodges in the surrounding towns of St.

Johns, Ovid, Mt. Pleasant, Alma, St. Louis and other places. Seventeen lodges in all were represented.

Frank Cross, employed at W. B. Mershon & Co.'s planing mill and factory, Saginaw, was instantly killed Thursday evening. He was on his way home from the mill, and was riding on a Flint and Pere Marquette switch engine. When near his home he jumped off on another track in front of an incoming express train, was run over and horribly mangled. The deceased was 16 years of age and a son of John Cross, also an employee at Mershon's mill.

At Grand Rapids the other day, Ruel W.
Boynton, the Muskegon attorney, convicted in the United States Court of demanding and accepting an illegal pension from a disabled veteran, was brought before Judge Severens for sentence. The court intimated that but for the age and infirmities of the attorney he should inflict a penalty embracing imprisonment. He only inflicted a fine, however, of $875, Boynton having paid to the court the $125 taken from his client in Want Equal Rights at Ottawa.

The Recording Steward of the Port Lambton Quarterly Board meeting of the Methodist Church, held recently, it was resolved, on motion of F. W. Merritt, seconded by Stephen Lane, that we ask the Chatham district meeting to urge upon the conference to demand a just share of the [Dominion] Government grant to Indian schools, or to refuse to accept the miserable allowance to the Methodist Indian schools, viz., $253 per school, when the Roman Catholic Indian schools are granted $2,652 each on an aver-

The Late Mrs. S. Cobblecliek.

The death is announced, at the age of 65 years, of Mrs. Samuel Cobblecliek, of Exeter, which occurred at an early hour on Wednesday last, the anniversary of the death of her daughter, Mrs. W. T. Galloway, of Adelaide, who died just one year previously. The indirect cause of her death was la grippe. Deceased was born in the western part of Ireland on Nov. 12, 1824.
With her father's family she came to this country in early life and settled in the county of Durham. Forty-seven years ago she was married to her deeply bereaved husband. In 1855 they moved west to the last concession of McGillivray, where they resided until they retired from active life twelve years ago, when they then went to live in Exeter. Of their family, besides the daughter already mentioned, five died in early childhood, while the following four remain:
—David Cobblecliek, of McGillivray; Joseph Cobblecliek, of Biddulph; Mrs. A. Hicks, of Exeter, and Rev. G. H. Cobblecliek, of Guelph.

Male Teachers' Weekly Meeting.

The male teachers of the city, held their second meeting in Mr. A. C. Stewart's room, Central school, Wednesday, 4:15 p.m. Mr. Carson was unable to attend on account of illness and was received to that effect. Composition was taken up, introduced by Mr. A. C. Stewart and discussed by the teachers representing the different grades. The difficulty of testing the results of the pupils' knowledge of the subject by examination questions was illustrated. Numerous exercises should be set and an easy grade of work set for each class.

Questions should be so given that the mind might be fully devoted to construction and neatness. Composition could only be acquired by practice under proper direction of teachers and should be taught concu-rently with literature and grammar—the two latter being the means to an end—the habits of expressing thoughts clearly, concisely and correctly. Theoretical discussions were thrown away on junior pupils. It was the opinion that a carefully graded set of examples might prove beneficial as a suggestive method of introducing the subject.
Literature will be discussed at next meeting. Adjourned till Wednesday next.

The Talbot Street School Additions.

A short session of No. 2 Committee of the Board of Education was held in the assessors' room in the City Hall last evening.
Trustees Turner (chairman), Purdin, Jessery, Cook, Childs, Brady and Craig, Engineer Tracy, Inspector Boyle, Principal Goods and Secretary Abbott were present.
The time was principally occupied in discussing the advisability of engaging a man to supervise the work of the proposed school additions, but no action was taken.
Principal Woods complained about the bad state of plastering in the Collegiate Institute was referred to the Engineer, and repairs suggested by Inspector Boyle to the Central school were ordered to be made.
The application from Mr. David Chambers, of King street school, asking for an increase of salary was filed. The janitor's report was also considered and filed for reference.
Engineer Tracy submitted the plans for the Talbot street school addition, together with the specifications. They were approved of and the Engineer instructed to advertise for tenders for construction of the same.

LOUIS JAMES.

A Performance of "Othello" for Manager Kirchmer's Benefit—A Presentation.

The audience at the Grand Opera House last evening attended for two reasons—that it was Manager Kirchmer's benefit night, and that Louis James, the eminent actor, appeared in Shakespeare's "Othello" supported by a strong company of 22 people.

Of the performance of Mr. James much praise has been given by journals and people of the United States and much was expected of him. He proved himself worthy of all the plaudits which were bestowed on him, his representation in which he figures as Othello, the Moor showing careful study and pleasing talent. He is possessed of a rich, deep voice, which he uses well—in fact, his eloquent power is splendid. In some of the lighter passages his words were not altogether intelligible, and in one or two places there might be detected a little tendency to straining his voice, but throughout the play he was of an almost perfect rendition. His acting is superb. The portrayal of the rugged Moor's love, his suspicious doubts, his jealousy, his jealousy and madness and then to remorse was equal to anything given on London's stage in years.
Miss Victoria Bateman, as Desdemona, gave a nice portrayal of that simple, loving girl, although her elation was apparently slightly impeded by a cold or other affection of the voice. In the emotional chamber-scene she did very well.
Miss F. G. Gillette as Imma made her favorite of the audience. She took that changeable part well, in her impersonation of Othello in the last act rising to a height of dramatic intensity which could scarcely be exceeded. F. C. Mosley was good, but compared with Othello and Imma his work seemed somewhat light.
The part is a difficult one, and most of the scenes in which he figures are passages which require an actor first-class in every regard. Of Harry Leighton, as Cassio, and Edwin Ferry, as the Duke of Venice, some merits, although her elation was apparently slightly impeded by a cold or other affection of the voice. In the emotional chamber-scene she did very well.
