COMMUNITY ASPECT OF SOLDIERS' AID WORK ITS GREAT SECRET OF SUCCESS

Mrs. A. T. Edwards, Member of S. A. C. Executive, Declares Value of Assistance Given Cannot Be Estimated—Great Load Lifted From Shoulders of Returned Men—Encouragement of Greater Value Than Charity.

"Possibly there has been no greater factor in the success of our work for the returned men of London and district than our welfare department," stated Mrs. A. T. Edwards, a member of the executive of the local branch of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, when asked today for her views regarding the curtailment of the work of the commission in London, "and, as I have been more closely connected with this branch of our activities, I can best speak from that standpoint.

"Our staff has really done a great deal towards reinstating the returned men by the sympathetic handling of family problems, for after all I know of no more potent influence on the life of the average man, than that of his family, and if they are forced to suffer for any reason of the re-establishment, the ex-soldier is usually retarded.

Very Little Trouble.

"We have had very little trouble with the returned men of this city, and especially so during last winter, when the situation was so critical. There was practically no suffering or ill-feeling on the part of the returned man or his family, and the successful way in which the situation was handled was due in a large measure, I feel, to the active and practical way in which it was handled by the commission.

"Perhaps some people feel that all the ex-soldiers should be re-established by this time, but unfortunately, the years spent in the service of their King and country at the front has so shaken the lives of the men who participated that, in a large number of cases, it will be years, if ever, before the men get back to normal conditions of body and mind, and, I firmly believe to continue our administrations to the returned men, as in the past, will be the best policy in the long run.

Has Community Aspect.

"From the local standpoint," continued Mrs. Edwards, "our work has assumed a community aspect. We have a well organized social service force, and the fact that during these serious times the unfortunate have been able to obtain assistance and advice of a constructive nature, has meant more to our district than perhaps we ever can tell, except those who have found the commission a friend in need.

"And remember," Mrs. Edwards emphatically added, "our work does not leave any stigma of charity. The upbuilding of the community is our one and only motto. It is surprising to notice what can be done by a little encouragement, and if the men and their families know that there is a department to give their individual case some sympathetic encouragement and consideration when needed, it lifts a great load from their shoulders."

IRISHMEN OWN CITY AND PORT FOR WHOLE DAY

Wearing of Green Is Popular Amongst All Nationalities and Creeds.

ALL TRAINS ARE PACKED

Motorists by the Thousand Thronged All Southward Roads to Port.

Sure, it's Irishman's day, from the top of the morning to the wee little toe of the night. It's a glad day, a mad day of merriment—not in London but down in old Port Stanley.

But, down in old Port Stanley, where the hills are green and all the neckties and socks and shirts and shirtwaists are green, under the green foliage of the tall trees that grow on Invercrie Heights, today, the one grand green letter day of the year, even the waves of Lake Erie are green-tinged instead of blue, and emeralds lend their colors to the drifting sands on the beach. This morning the sky was quite as much green, or any other color, as it was blue, but nothing daunted, the Celts and Hibernians, rain or shine, stormed the station platform and filled every lake-going train to the car steps.

City Is Deserted.

Looking down through a few billion miles of space through their powerful telescopes, and hearing through their high-power wireless telephone apparatus the bands playing "The Wearing of the Green," the Martians must have wondered. Nobody was hanging anybody for wearing of the green in London this morning, but it must have looked to the Martians as they saw the outgoing trains loaded to the limit, that London was deporting about half her population somewhere southward.

The time-honored parades commenced at 9 o'clock and continued until the 10:20 train left. In line with the officers for this year were many old faces of former years, and among them no less well-known enthusiast than J. Harry Fowler of Philadelphia.

Each outgoing train carried nearly 400 picnickers, and it was quite early in the day when the waiting crowds grew so large that two or more trains to the hour had to be operated.

Music Galore.

There was plenty of music before the hands left London this morning, and there will be plenty more at the lakeside, where the Royal Canadian Regimental Band and the 1st Hussars Band will play all day.

Thousands of people motored to Fort Stanley, and sales of flags by young ladies stationed at the bridge over Kettle Creek in Port Stanley village up to noon had netted a very large amount for the charity fund of the Irish Benevolent Society, under the auspices of which the 45th big annual Irish picnic is being held today. Six young ladies sold flags under the direction of Miss Kathleen Webb of Horton street.

A long list of sports was scheduled to commence sharp at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Dancing was to commence in the Casino at the same hour, and the baby show, with nearly 50 special prizes to be competed for, was programed for 2:30 p.m.

Real Hard Workers.

The officers and committees of the Irish Benevolent Society for 1921 are as follows:

Hon. presidents—Philip Pocock, Denis Mason, Stephen rant.

President—E. . Killingsworth.

First vice-president—E. S. Little, mayor of London.

Second vice-president—Richard Forristal.

Third vice-president—Jack Greer.

GUNS ROAR, CROWDS CHEER, AS LORD BYNG IS SWORN IN OFFICE AT QUEBEC CITY

BRITISH GOVT. RECEIVES REPLY OF DE VALERA

The Contents Will Not Be Divulged Until After Conferences by Cabinet.

London, Aug. 11. — The reply of Eamonn De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, to the British Government's Irish peace proposals, was handed to Austen Chamberlain, Government leader in the House of Commons, at noon today.

The tenor of the reply was withheld. The official statement was that it would be subject first to conferences by the cabinet, and that it was unlikely to be divulged for some days.

Robert C. Barton, member of the Dail Eireann, gave the reply to Mr. Chamberlain in the absence of Premier Lloyd George in France.

Mr. Barton was accompanied by Art O'Brien, president of the Gaelic League in London. Both of these men had been De Valera's companions during his recent talks with Lloyd George.

Asked as to whether he could inform the House what De Valera's reply was, the Government leader said it was addressed to the prime minister and obviously must be considered by the latter before any statement regarding it could be made.

The prime minister was planning to return to London on Sunday, he added, and he hoped that a statement with regard to Ireland might be made by Lloyd George in the House Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

Premier Meighen and Government Ministers Welcome New Governor-General.

UNEQUALLED FOR SPLENDOR

In Reply to Address, Byng Declares He Will Give His Best To Canada.

Quebec, Aug. 11.—By Canadian Press. —With the air vibrating with the roar of guns from Quebec's ancient citadel, the sound of whistles from river craft, the ringing of bells and the applause of a large crowd, Lord Byng of Vimy, Canada's new governor-general, landed this morning at King's Wharf, proceeded through the beflagged streets to the provincial legislative buildings, and was there sworn into office with a pomp and impressiveness which probably have never been equaled in the history of the Dominion.

After having spent the night on the Empress of France, the liner which conveyed him from Liverpool, his excellency this morning received Premier Arthur Meighen, who went on board to pay his respects.

Cabinet Ministers Present.

Later the government steamer Lady Grey took off his excellency and Lady Byng and conveyed them to King's Wharf, where a distinguished coterie, consisting of Mr. Justice Iddington, the acting administrator of the Government of Canada, Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, the lieutenant-governor of the Province of Quebec, Premier Meighen and members of the federal cabinet, and Premier Taschereau and members of the provincial government awaited him in a specially constructed chateau. The Dominion ministers present were: Right Hon. C. J. Dougherty, minister of justice; Hon. P. E. Blondin, postmaster-general; Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, minister of marine and fisheries; Hon. Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance and acting secretary of state; Hon. R. F. McCurdy, minister of public works, and Hon. E. K. Spinney, minister without portfolio.

Cheered by Crowds.

A band played the National Anthem as his excellency came ashore. The governor-general, who wore a general's uniform, stood smartly at the salute while it was being played, and afterward inspected the guard of honor on the wharf. Behind an escort of cavalry the governor-general and Lady Byng and their staff proceeded in carriages by a roundabout route to the parliament buildings. Lord and Lady Byng

ONE SENTENCED, FOUR DISMISSED WITH A WARNING

Judge Judd Finds Chester Roe Guilty of Auto Theft.

Of the five young men who were tried before Judge J. C. Judd at the courthouse a week ago on a charge of auto theft, one, Chester Roe, was convicted and sentenced to one year in jail. The other four—Orville Restrick, George Grant, Clarence Greason and George Langridge, were acquitted on the charge of the theft at Springbank on the night of July 20 of an auto owned by George Geogehan. The car was afterwards found by Detectives Harry Down and Thomas Bolton, stripper of coils and other parts. Restrick and Langridge, however, were sentenced recently in police court to one year in jail for an auto theft, to which they pleaded guilty.

After announcing his decision, Judge Judd warned the boys to try and lead better lives in the future, and explained to them the seriousness of the crime for which they had been tried.

Langridge and Restrick were defended by E. W. Scatcherd; Grant and Greason by J. M. Donohue, and Roe by R. G. Fisher. Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop, K.C., prosecuted.

MIDWAY WILL BE SPECIAL FEATURE OF WESTERN FAIR

The Directors Have Secured Shows of Especially High Quality, Says Secretary.

A REAL LIVE GIANT

Animal Shows a Feature of the Midway This Year.

Among the many notable changes and improvements at the Western Fair this year, will be the exceptionally high standard of the midway where the C. A. Wortham Shows will exhibit. This show company has secured the rights for this year to the whole Canadian route, starting at Calgary and showing many points east of there until they reach the Toronto Exhibition, following which they come to the Western Fair. After leaving here the shows go to the United States and show at the large exhibitions over there.

Secretary Hunt, of the Western Fair, stated to-day that the Wortham Shows come to London very highly recommended as a fine, clean and interesting lot of exhibits. The midway comprises thirty shows and rides, which travel in their own special trains of ten sleepers and twenty-five flat cars, sixty feet in length, a fact which gives some idea of their magnitude.

One of the features of the exhibition is a Hollander, 19 years of age, who, according to the advertising manager of the shows, stands 9 feet 5 inches in his stocking feet, and it is claimed is the tallest man in the world.

Mr. Worthman features animal shows in his exhibition, which includes performing elephants, trained lions and hippodrome of ponies, donkeys, dogs and monkeys. Another feature is a "Circus in Water," in which twenty people take an active part.

"Bill" Lorette, the "regler" circus clown, acknowledged to be the best in the business, is right there when it comes to mirth producing.

Other thrilling attractions include the wild west, the motordrome, etc., too numerous to go into details about, in fact everything that goes to entertain will be there on the big opening day, September 10.

TYPHOID OUTBREAK GIVES NO CAUSE FOR ALARM, SAYS DOCTOR

One Death On Wednesday — Twenty Patients, Twenty Suspected Cases.

EVERY SAFEGUARD USED

Cases Less Than Two Per Cent of Hospital's Population.

While it is true that an outbreak of typhoid fever has taken place at the Ontario Hospital and that one death suspected from the disease on Wednesday, the authorities declare that there is no cause for alarm, as every step necessary to the segregation and elimination of the disease is being taken. The source from which the disease entered the hospital is also being carefully sought.

There are at the present time 20 cases of the disease and 20 suspected cases of typhoid, inclusive of one nurse and one attendant, but emphasis is laid on the fact that the cases of illness from typhoid are less than two per cent of the total population of the hospital, which at the present time is more than 1,100.

While the drinking water supply of the hospital shows a high colon bacilli count, and evidence apparently points to it as the source of the epidemic, medical authorities stated to The Advertiser today that, pending an investigation, the water cannot be directly blamed.

"We have a lot of sickness here, the majority of which is probably typhoid," a medical officer of the hospital stated today. "There are 15 or 20 cases definitely diagnosed as typhoid fever, and as many more suspects of which we are not sure. The latter include one nurse and one attendant.

"The water shows a high colon bacilli count, which, while not proving it to be the source of the disease, fits in well with the epidemic. We are trying to find out the exact cause, and it may have been the arrival of a patient from an outside point which carried the disease here. Our wells are drilled ones.

"We had one death yesterday, and suspect typhoid fever as the cause. An autopsy is being held to confirm our suspicions. We are coping with the situation in the best manner, and have isolated one large ward for the treatment of cases."

"Would you say the epidemic has reached its peak?" he was asked.

"No, I would not say that, but we hope it has," was the reply. "There were five new cases reported Wednesday. The death Wednesday was the first of suspected typhoid, although our first case here was detected on July 26.

He pointed out that there are more than 1,100 patients at the Ontario Hospital here, and that the number suffering from typhoid is less than two per cent, or a very small number. For this reason, and the fact that the medical authorities in charge are exerting every effort to detect and eliminate the source of the disease, in the meantime providing the best treatment for present victims of the fever, there is no cause for alarm over the epidemic.

LONDON RESIDENT COMPLAINS OF HIGH-HANDED METHODS OF U. S. BORDER OFFICIALS

Prof. Pasquale Venuta Tells of Unpleasant Experience of Himself and Sick Wife at Detroit—Not Allowed To Go To Doctor They Desired To Consult—Held at American Immigration Offices for Many Hours.

High-handed methods and calloused indifference to the suffering of women and children is charged against the American immigration officials at Detroit, by Prof. Pasquale Venuta, prominent London musician, and organizer and director of the widely-known Marconi Band.

Mrs. Venuta has been in ill-health for some time, and her husband believed that it would be wise to take her to an Italian physician in Detroit, who could interrogate her in her own language.

Unpleasant Reception.

Leaving London at 3:50 a.m. a few days ago, accompanied by an Italian resident of Fullarton street, who was thoughtful enough himself to take with him his Canadian citizenship papers, Prof. and Mrs. Venuta arrived in Detroit about 7 o'clock. They had tax receipts and various other letters and documents, which should have reasonably indicated that they were bona fide ratepayers and citizens of London, but these, Prof. Venuta declares, were disdained by the immigration officials, who, after collecting $16 head tax, held their baggage, while allowing them to go to a near-by restaurant for breakfast. With little appetite for breakfast, after the unpleasant and rough greeting received from the American officials, they soon returned to the Grand Trunk station, and were obliged to wait until 10 o'clock before being taken to the immigration offices, several blocks away.

At the offices they were obliged to wait until 1 o'clock, before some other officials, who arrived about 11 o'clock, condescended to listen to them. Prof. Venuta explained why they had come to Detroit, and was told a doctor would be called to the immigration office. A doctor, who, Prof. Venuta says, "looked like a shoemaker," finally arrived, but Mrs. Venuta was too nervous to answer his questions, and Prof. Venuta pleaded that the doctor they had gone to Detroit to interview be called. He was told that this particular doctor was no good, and they would do better to call a better Italian doctor.

Objected to Doctor.

Meanwhile the other Italian resident of London, who, armed with his Canadian citizenship papers, was free to come and go, went to find the doctor they sought, with the assistance of the Italian consul.

Another London man and his wife, in business on Richmond street, but detained by the officials, presumably because of Austrian or German birth, waited in another room. From this room, it is claimed, one of the American officials finally decided to telephone Prof. Venuta's doctor.

"I paid your doctor $10," said the London Italian, returning to Prof. Venuta. "You do not need to pay him anything more."

But when the doctor arrived, it is alleged, he demanded $25 additional, and had to consult with the American doctor before he finally accepted $15. He could not help it, he declared in Italian to Prof. Venuta.

Prof. Venuta was then told that he

HELP RUSSIA, BUT NO LOVE FOR SOVIET

Premier Lloyd George Talks Plainly at Supreme Council.

CO-OPERATION IS NECESSARY

Only Way Is To Assist Millions Who Are Now Starving.

Pairs, Aug. 10.—The United States ambassador took part twice in today's sessions of the supreme council, once in replying to Premier Lloyd George that he agreed that the traditional policy of the United States gives traders the right to sell arms to either belligerent in the Near East, and again in replying to inquiries by the prime ministers respecting Secretary Hoover's Russian relief plans.

M. Briand, the French premier, began the discussion of the Russian famine by saying that the Russian people who had fought with the Allies in the beginning of the war might justly look to them for help.

Urges Co-operation.

"I propose that all the Allies join with the United States and the other nations who are interesting themselves in relief through Red Cross societies and private sources," said M. Briand.

"I heartily agree to this," said Lloyd George; "but I wish to point out that such efforts could not reach many of the sufferers. The Red Cross cannot perform the miracle of the five loaves and the two fishes. Relief must be organized immediately on a great scale, not only for the sake of Russia, but for the sake of the world, because typhus, cholera and other plagues incident to famine would cause more losses than the last war.

No Use for Soviet.

"I have no admiration for the soviet government," Mr. Lloyd George continued, "but relief is impossible without its co-operation, inasmuch as it controls transport and all the official machinery. No one could move about Russia without its permission. I think for this purpose, and for this purpose only, the Allies should make some arrangement with the soviet government."

Are Holding Grain.

Mr. Lloyd George said he had been informed that some of the Russian provinces had surplus grain, but the peasants would not release it except in exchange for goods which they required. He suggested that the supreme council consider at once whether steps could not be taken to obtain grain in this manner for the famine areas. The question was not a political, but a humanitarian one.

"When your neighbor's house is burning," he concluded, "you don't ask questions of him, but try to save it."

ADVISES INCLOSING FIRE WARNINGS, NOT PICTURES OF 'DAMES'

Three Rivers, Que., Aug. 11. — The Canadian fire chiefs assembled here in annual convention last night adopted a resolution declaring that inasmuch as the hazard of fire was inseparable from the use of smoking tobacco, manufacturers or peckers of tobacco, cigars and cigarettes were under a moral obligation to provide and inclose with their products suitable warnings against the risk of fire, in lieu of the "pictures of dames in scanty attire," sometimes found in cigarette packages. The resolution was moved by Chief France of Woodstock, Ont., and was adopted unanimously.

LOCAL DETECTIVES AID IN DISCOVERY OF WINDSOR AUTO

London's detective department has been busily clearing up numerous auto thefts and locating many missing cars within the past few months. During the past two days two autos have been recovered. The large touring car found near a bridge east of the city early Wednesday morning was discovered to be owned by the St. Thomas Motor Company of St. Thomas, and will be returned there. The car was abandoned by two men early on the morning of Wednesday, a tourist told the police.

Yesterday morning a car was reported missing from Windsor, and border detectives arrived here in search of it. Detectives Harry Down and Thos. Bolton worked with them yetserday, and at 8 o'clock last night found the car, which had been left on a road a few miles south of Hyde Park. It also had been deserted by two men who drove it here from Windsor.

Several convictions for auto thefts have been secured by the detectives within the past month. Members of two gangs, one of youths in their early 'teens, and one of older boys, have been sent to schools and jails for terms varying from one to two years for their crimes.

DESOLATION AND GRIEF MARK SCENE OF $1,250,000 FIRE IN LITTLE TOWN OF AYLMER, QUE.

Flames Fanned by Strong Wind Across Lake Destroyed Everything in Path—Aged Man Dies in Effort To Save Home—Town Brigade Powerless to Check Blaze—Hull and Ottawa Departments Respond to Appeals For Aid.

Ottawa, Aug. 11.—Canadian Press.—Aylmer, Que., yesterday a picturesque little town of 7,000 inhabitants, on the edge of Lake Deschenes, is today a scene of grief and desolation. Upwards of 700 persons are homeless, with all their belongings destroyed; one man is dead, and property damage, now estimated at $1,250,000, was caused by a disastrous fire which broke out in some sheds on the main street, and, fanned by a strong wind which swept across the lake, destroyed all before it. In some cases the citizens were barely able to escape with their lives; very few saved any of their belongings, and the efforts of the firefighters were unavailing.

Most of the principal buildings in the town were razed by the flames, which raged here and there throughout the afternoon and evening. This morning fires are still burning among heaps of coal and debris throughout the fire-swept area, while the homeless men, women and children are being housed in every available building, and are being fed by volunteer workers from Ottawa and Hull, and those citizens of Aylmer who escaped loss in the conflagration.

Town Brigade Powerless.

The fire was first noticed in a number of sheds at the rear of Holt's hotel, and with the wind behind them the flames destroyed everything in their path, being swept miles out beyond the limits of the town, and destroying the buildings of two farms, respectively two and three miles from the scene of the original outbreak. Almost before the fire alarm had been turned in the block of buildings which first caught were a mass of flames, and the Aylmer volunteer fire brigade were powerless to check the fire's spread. Appeals to Hull and Ottawa brought apparatus from each of the cities, the crews of which remained on duty, together with a large volunteer force, throughout the night. Practically nothing was removed from any of the burned houses or other buildings. The sweep of the flames was

FORESEES GREAT FUTURE FOR THE CITY OF LONDON

H. B. Muir of The Advertiser Addressed "Lions" At Noon Luncheon.

A great future for London as the centre of Western Ontario, the finest section of country in all Canada, was foreseen by H. B. Muir, managing director of the London Advertiser, in a address before the Lions' Club at luncheon in the Tecumseh House today at noon.

London, said Mr. Muir, would grow just as rapidly as its citizens grew, the progress of any community necessarily being the summing up of the plus and minus qualities of its individual inhabitants. He inclined to the opinion that Londoners do not fully recognize the great asset this city possesses in the Western Fair, which annually draws to London a total of at least 150,000 visitors. Each on an everage must spend at least $3, making a total of nearly half a million of additional money in one week to the business of the community.

Pessimism Pure Bunk.

It was pure bunk, he declared for pessimistic people to predict a falling off in business this coming autumn and general hard times next winter. He quoted Thomas A. Edison who recently told his salesmen and representatives in convention that he had been through five business depressions.

All of them were practically alike, and if business fell off naturally 66 per cent., the man who increased his selling power 75 per cent. came out not realizing that there had been any depression.

Friendship, said the speaker, discussing the value of organizations like the Lions' Club, was the finest thing in the world. There were lots of good fellows in London, and all they needed was to get together. Intelligent organization was just the thing necessary to get them all boosting on the inside, instead of knocking on the outside.

Dr. Roy Routledge presided.

After some discussion plans for entertaining the children in local orphanages at the Western Fair, were left with the executive committee for development. Arrangements for motorists to take patients in the military hospitals to ball games, and for short motor trips, were also tentatively discussed.

King's Income Is Slashed; George Cuts Out Splendor To Make Both Ends Meet

London, Aug. 11.—King George has been hard hit by the increased cost of living during and since the war. This statement was made in the House of Commons by J. Austen Chamberlain, lord privy seal, who said that the King's civil list (the sum provided from public funds for the expenses of the royal household) had shown a progressive deficit for several years.

The deficit in 1919 was £24,500, and in 1920 £45,000, and it probably would be greater in 1921, despite a reduction in the state functions and the strictest economy which the King had initiated.

King George, Mr. Chamberlain, said, had been meeting the shortages from a fund he had accumulated for such an emergency and had refused to give his assent to a suggestion that the Government temporarily increase the civil list, being unwilling to involve the public with an additional charge in view of the serious state of the national finances. The King believed further economies were possible and was appointing a committee to examine into the question of salaries, maintenance of palaces and other expenses, hoping that an appreciable reduction would enable him to avoid asking for an increase in the civil list. His Majesty favored a material reduction in the ceremonial splendor usually associated with the Throne.

Mr. Chamberlain, recalling that the King in 1916 voluntarily contributed £100,000 to the national treasury, said King George wished to make further contributions but that the Government had advised that he contribubte to public charities instead of to the exchequer.

WOOD GIVES REASONS FOR DECLINING OFFER ALBERTA PREMIERSHIP

Winnipeg, Aug. 11.—H. W. Wood, president of the United Farmers of Alberta, and Col. John Z. Fraser, director of the Farmers' Sun of Toronto, arrived in Winnipeg last night to attend what is expected to be the winding-up meeting of the Canadian wheat board.

Mr. Wood stated that there is no mystery as to his inability to accept the premiership of Alberta. He said he had declined the honor because he believed he could give greater service by confining his energies to the Sun, of which he is the executive head. He wished it thoroughly understood, he added, that he would lend no direction whatever politically to the new government of the province, and would not be associated in any way with the Greenfield administration.

Mr. Wood expressed the opinion that the people of Alberta need have no fear for the outcome of the new administration.

SASKATOON WANTS 15,000 HARVESTERS

McGrath, superintendent of the government employment bureau, here today. "We can find work for ten to fifteen thousand harvest hands in this district. This week almost one thousand have already found jobs, bringing the total for the season up to practically two thousand."

ASKS MAYOR LITTLE TO FIND MISSING SON

Mayor E. S. Little is in receipt of a letter from a Pennsylvania man, asking information regarding the whereabouts of his son, who enlisted in London and served in the Canadian expeditionary force. The name of his boy is John M. Munning. His father has not heard of him since the day of his enlistment. City Hall authorities have investigated and found that they have not any means of locating him. Information regarding the missing soldier will be appreciated.

MAY DECIDE TO ASK FOR STRENGTHENING OF COMPANIES ACT

Members of London Chamber of Commerce To Vote On Suggestion.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce are being asked to express their opinion for or against a resolution indorsed at a meeting of the directors of that body recently, that the Ontario Legislature be pressed to enact legislation regulating the public sale of speculative stock. In event of this recommendation being received favorably, the boards of trade and chambers of commerce affiliated in the Western Ontario Boards of Trade will be invited to take similar action, with a view toward discussion and possible indorsement as a united body at their next general meeting.

In order to secure evidence the members are being asked to furnish the amount of their losses during the past ten years through the purchase of worthless stock of Canadian concerns, giving the name of company or companies selling it.

Act Not Effective.

Among other things the local Chamber of Commerce asserts that the Ontario companies act does not, "except in a general way, concern itself with the nature of the business that a proposed corporation intends to carry on. So far as the statutory declaration goes, a charter might be granted to extract gold from ether or discover the philosopher's stone, or to do any fool-thing, if not prohibited by criminal law."

A further claim is strenuously advanced that "no scrutiny is required by the act of the moral or business character of applicants for articles of incorporation. They are not called upon to submit any evidence or even to make any profession of business ability or moral integrity, and even if it were common knowledge that applicants were extremely unlikely to make a success of the undertaking contemplated by the new corporation, a charter is cheerfully granted permitting them to start with other people's money an undertaking doomed to ultimate failure."

PRISONERS DECLARED TO BE A MENACE TO HEALTH OF THE CITY

Pair Arrested; Woman Refuses To Go To Hospital.

Mary Stover and George Stover, charged with keeping a disorderly house at 4 Dundas street west, were found to be in such a condition that they were claimed by public health authorities to be a menace to the health of the city if they were not confined in some institution. Both of them are suffering with tuberculosis, Crown Attorney J. B. McKillop stated.

Mrs. Stover refused to go to the hospital, saying that she was going to leave London. She was told by the court that she must either go to the hospital or to jail. She went to jail. Her husband decided to go to the hospital.

Eva Hicks and Hugh Waldo were summoned to appear in court to answer a charge similar to the one laid against the other prisoners, but they failed to appear. Warrants for their arrest have been issued.

An occupant of another part of the house in which the four accused lived stated that men were going to their quarters at various hours of the night, and some of them remained all night. It was as a result of her complaint and the action of the public health authorities that the case was brought to court.

CANADIANS STILL POPULAR IN ENGLAND

Major Chester Butler Delighted With Showing of Rifle Team.

Major Chester Butler, adjutant of the Canadian Bisley team, arrived home this morning on the 11:40 G. T. R. train. He was met by members of his family and of the 1st W. O. R.

"This year's team did much better than any team of recent years in the number of individual prizes won and their aggregate total," stated Major Butler to an interviewer.

"The Canadians have not lost their popularity in England, and it was shown in many little ways during our sojourn in the country. The team members were more than pleased with the trip, the arrangements made for us in England and the courtesies continually shown them."

LONDON DISTRICT HAS MANY NOTABLE GHOSTS ON RECORD

Residents of Thames Park Locality Differ On Ghost Question.

FAMOUS GHOST STORIES

Horse and Rider Said To Visit House On Ridout Street.

Can Psycho-Analysis explain the mystery of the Thames street ghost, whose nightly appearances have divided the neighborhood into sharply clashing factions, and drawn hundreds of people from all parts of the city to the riverbank on Horton street, from seven o'clock in the evening until three o'clock in the morning

Psycho-Analysis might easily explain the widely divergent attitude of the residents of the Thames and Horton street district towards the alleged visitations of some supernatural form, but psycho-analysis would have a real problem before it to explain to the satisfaction of a score of people, most of them of adult age, that the ghosts they thought they saw were only tricks of their subconscious mind conjuring up realistic-looking imaginations out of complexes derived from seeing "Earthbound," or some other psychic movie, or from ghost stories they had read.

All of those people declared that hitherto they never believed in ghosts. Their friends all declare that they were not regarded as nervous or extremely imaginative people. No doubt seems to exist but that they honestly believe they saw the ghosts, whether or not there are such things as ghosts.

On the other hand, property-owners have become considerably alarmed over the weird publicity the district has received. They are afraid that nervous people will hesitate before becoming future tenants of the houses near which the ghosts are alleged to have appeared. One would have supposed there would have been some recompense involved in the uncanny reputation the district is securing, but to date rumors that a local psychic research organization is negotiating for a site for a Spiritualistic church and that the inventor of the Ouija board is planning to erect a Canadian factory on Thames street, have not been confirmed.

Atendance Reduced.

Wednesday night the attendance at the outdoor sessions of the Ghost Cult was slightly reduced. There was perhaps not more than one hundred people congregated on the riverbank at any one time, but they came and went. Tuesday night two or three hundred people might be observed at one time, and there must have been at least one thousand on Monday night.

Up to a late hour Wednesday night, the ghost had not appeared, and either the police had put a stop to the ghost-fakirs or else those practical jokers had voluntarily tired of furnishings free amusement and occasional false thrills for the spectators. But the real ghosts have not been laid. Some people are quite sure of that. There have been drownings in the Thames when the bodies of the victims were not recovered. Some people think the river ought to be carefully dragged. They profess to believe that there is an earthbound spirit haunting the river bank trying to convey some message to the living.

According to the stories told by charter members of the Ghost Cult, along the river bank Wednesday night, there is scarcely a street in London which has not had at some time or other its ghosts or haunted houses. There are houses alleged to be haunted on Ridout street, Kent street, Sackville street, Piccadilly street, and many other streets.

Horse and Rider.

There is a house on Ridout street where the vision of a horse and rider is reputed to come at times. Both horse and rider perished in the Thames en route to a grand ball, which was being held in the house. The story goes that although the rider was drowned with his horse, there were some people at the ball who were certain they had seen and spoken to the horseman at the ball. Others were equally certain he had not been there, and the next day the fact of the drowning was ascertained.

Somewhere up around the C. P. R. tracks, one man related, there used to be a house where a bloodstain was preserved on the parlor floor. There had been a murder in the room. His mother had visited people who lived in the house, and had made inquiries as to why a certain room was always kept locked, and why weird noises were heard nightly throughout the house.

Out east of the city, near Crumlin, was an old frame house, where, it is said, a rich old bachelor was murdered. Anyone who looked into the window at night could see him still sitting there in the dark—so the story ran.

Even at Dorchester.

Another man told of a haunted house in South Dorchester. An Indian had been refused food by a settler's wife. He became very angry, and the woman, who was making soap, threw a pot of boiling lye over his head. He died from the burns and was buried near the house. At a certain mystic hour every night lids fly off the stove, doors creak on their hinges, rafters crack and floors creak.

There were a lot of people who doubted the guilt of Marion Brown, a one-legged man who was hanged in the jailyard for shooting Police Constable Michael Toohey. Legend has since persisted that nightly the apparition of a one-legged man frames itself on the high, ugly walls of the jailyard, facing Thames street. Rain dripping down the walls has marked a weird outline on the bricks and mortar. Some people declare that it looks like a rough crayon sketch of a man with one leg.

John Raison, who saw the black apparition last Saturday night, says he has often stopped to look at it, and his father, who died some weeks ago, had also observed it.

The Kent street ghost is only a memory, and people who point to an old frame house do not remember the story which originally connected it with spirit hauntings.

DESOLATION

so rapid, and accompanied by such terrific heat, that it was impossible for the workers to salvage anything.

D. G. Lortie, aged 68, was at his home when the flames reached it. While members of the family made frantic endeavors to save some of their belongings, he climbed on the roof of a shed, and with a garden hose directed a stream of water on the roof of his house to try and save it. In a few minutes the house and shed were afire. It was impossible to reach Lortie, whose body was later found among the debris of the shed.

Many Narrow Escapes.

Lortie, who is the only casualty thus far known, leaves a widow, six sons and five daughters.

Many narrow escapes were recorded as persons attempted to reach their homes after the flames got to them, in an endeavor to save valued personal belongings.

Bedridden and blind persons were carried out of their homes by willing volunteers only seconds before the flames reached these dwellings, and taken to places of safety in houses removed from the path of the flames.

Fifty tents, 1,000 mattresses, with blankets and first aid supplies, were rushed out from Ottawa in motor lorries, and when the tents had been erected the fire sufferers were allotted space according to their needs.

Persons whose homes had escaped the flames threw open their doors to the less fortunate, and by nightfall last night some semblance of order had been brought about, though there were many small knots of people who stood about the ruins of what had been their homes, discussing their plans for starting all over again.

Throughout the night squads of villagers worked extinguishing smouldering fires wherever possible. From dusk until dawn this morning some 30 streams of water were played on the ruins at various spoints, but there were many fires sstill sending sparks and cinders skyward.

LONDON RESIDENT

must leave Detroit within 24 hours or he would be arrested. Taken back to the station Prof. Venuta and family were provided with return tickets, the $16 refunded, and they were practically forced to take the next train over the Canadian border. The American officials did, however, he says, condescend to make the tickets read so that one day's stop-over in Windsor was possible.

Redeeming Feature.

One redeeming feature of the whole situation, according to the professor, was that he did not have to use his own return tickets, and secured a refund of $7 or $8 on them from the railway company when he returned to London.

The American Government, through its unreasonable officials or red-tape, was mulcted to the extent of paying the return fare of the Londoners, and whether the alleged split of the doctor's fee was made or not cannot be proved. It was subsequently learned that he was not the one who had been recommended to Prof. Venuta, but his brother. The physician recommended, it is said, would not have charged more than $5, or at most $10, for his advice.

Prior to leaving the immigration offices, Prof. Venuta states that he asked to be allowed to call a lawyer to register a formal protest against the treatment he was accorded, but this was refused in very rough language.

GUNS ROAR

received a series of ovations as they passed through the streets, which His lordship acknowledged by waving his hand, while his wife bowed repeatedly. A dense throng had gathered at the parliament buildings, and here again he received an ovation.

The legislative council chamber, where the ceremony of swearing in was to take place, was a scene of considerable brilliance. Against a background of vivid red, the color scheme of the chamber, there stood out the golds, red and blacks of the uniforms of the military officers present, the sombre tones of the uniforms of Premier Meighen and his cabinet ministers, who are privy councillors, the scarlet robes of Cardinal Begin, and the variegated tints of the ladies' dresses.

Receives Great Seal.

The administration of the government of Canada and others to officiate in the installation, having taken their allotted places, there was a short pause, broken by the announcement that the governor-general had arrived, His Excellency and Lady Byng entered the chamber preceded by representatives of the militia, air forces, and navy, the lieutenant-governor, the Province, and aides-de- camp to the governor-general. After the governor-general had taken his stand on a dais Mrs. Meighen presented Lady Byng with a bouquet of white roses. Lord Byng's commission as governor-general was then read by his military secretary, Capt. O. P. C. Balfour, his excellency immediately afterwards taking the oath of allegiance to the King and swearing to "well and truly" exercise his office as governor-general and subscribing his name in the oath book. He was next handed the Great Seal of Canada by Sir Henry Drayton, under secretary of state, which, according to custom, he handed back to Mr. Drayton, "for safe keeping." The proclamation of the governor-general's swearing in ordering the government of the Dominion to continue was ready and after his excellency had signed it, was sealed with his privy seal. The ceremony ended with playing of the National Anthem by the band in attendance.

The installation ceremonies completed, a salute of nineteen guns from the citadel shook the building. There was for a moment or two after they had been fired a solemn and tense silence, testifying to the effect upon the gathering of the dramatic episode in the country's history which had just been enacted.

After Madame Taschereau had presented a bouquet of flowers to Lady Byng, an address of welcome was made to the governor-general and Lady Byng by Premier Taschereau on behalf of the Province of Quebec and by Mayor Samson on behalf of the City of Quebec, to which Lord Byng replied, referring to his connection with the Canadian arms during the war and expressing the intention of following in the footsteps of his distinguished predecessors.

Taschereau's Address.

The address of Premier Taschereau to Lord Byng here said that Canada had ever been favored in the sovereign's choice of those to whom his authority in this country has been delegated.

"We have known you long," said the premier. "Not only were you one of those brilliant generals to whom the Allies owe the decisive victories obtained on the western front, but you commanded the Canadian army at one of the critical periods of the war, at the hour when our soldiers achieved immortal fame. On the Vimy Ridge, when for the first time the Canadian troops fought as a corps unit, you led them to the assault. It was again under your command that they triumphed on the Somme, above all at Courcelette, the memory of which Quebec proudly cherishes.

"Loyal and contented subjects of Canada, desiring no change in our government, working in a spirit of emulation with our neighbors instead of arming against them, free from all international quarrels, dividing and paralyzing the vital powers of a nation, rarely halted by the disastrous conflicts between capital and labor, we possess in our province the qualities which will make for the greatness of the Canadian people, faith, love of soil, the inclination to work in peace, the calm and steady will, the vitality and force of expansion."

Lord Byng's Reply.

Replying to Premier Taschereau, first in French, Lord Byng said, after referring to the welcome of Quebec Province and Quebec City:

"I am very happy to say that I do not come to you as a stranger, for I had the honor to command the Canadian Corps in France, where I got to know and love so many Canadians from every part of the Dominion.

"Canada showed early in the great struggle the value she sets on the ties that bind the Empire. The heroic sacrifices made by the first Canadian division at St. Julien in 1915, notwithstanding the German attack which opened the second battle of Ypres, was a fitting prelude to the long series of actions in which they distinguished themselves. That first enthusiasm was well maintained, and in the second year of the war Canada was able to place an army corps in the field. I have held it a high honor to have commanded and to have got to know and love so many men of that distinguished unit. I look forward most eagerly to renewing old acquaintanceships and old ties throughout the Dominion, and I have been happy today to meet many old comrades of the war in my first few hours in Canada.

"I come into your midst with the conviction that the descendants of Jacques Cartier and of Champlain, as exemplified only quite recently in the person of Laurier, constitute in the Empire a unit which is just as valuable as the other subjects who speak the English language."

Continuing in English, Lord Byng added: "Gentlemen, I am of thorough British stock, British in all points of view. But underneath that British exterior runs a vein of affection for your Dominion which impels me to strive with all the endowments of head and heart which I possess to foster and cherish the aspirations of your great country."

At the luncheon, Premier Meighen, in proposing his excellency's health, said in part:

"He (Lord Byng) follows in the high office which he now assumes a long line of distinguished servants of the crown and state, but I will venture the assertion that none of them enjoyed at the commencement of his term of office that intimate knowledge and sympathetic appreciation of Canadian characteristics and temper which he has secured by association with the men of this land in dark and bitter conflict, in sacrifices and in success."

The premier then detailed the governor-general's ancestry and their various offices.

"Service to the state, political and military, is his family's tradition," said Mr. Meighen. "We are fortunate that the talents of the inheritor of the tradition has been placed at Canada's service in both war and peace."

His lordship and entourage were then taken to the citadel for a short rest before returning to the Parliament Buildings to attend the luncheon given in his honor by the Federal Government. After the luncheon Premier Meighen proposed the toast of the governor-general's health in a speech, in which he welcomed him to Canada, and Hon. P. E. Blondin seconded him, speaking in French. The governor-general responded, a part of his reply being in the French language.

Their excellencies returned to the Citadel and during the afternoon made a motor tour of points of interest in Quebec. In the evening they will be the guests at a dinner given by Sir Charles Fitzpatrick in his official home, "Spencerwood."

U. S. OFFICIAL SPENT 100,000,000 RUSSIAN RUBLES ON JOURNEY

Charles R. Crane and Party Complete Journey of 7,000 Miles.

Riga, Aug. 11.—Charles R. Crane, a former United States minister to China, arrived here last night from Reval, after completing a 7,000-mile journey from Peking, which took him across Siberia and Soviet Russia. Mr. Crane was accompanied by four United States citizens.

Mr. Crane's party left the Chinese capital on June 16, and from that time until August 6, when it left Petrograd for Reval, it traveled under a special permit from Nikolai Lenine, Russian Bolshevik premier.

Mr. Crane filled a car with packages of pins, needles, tooth brushes, soap and other merchandise, which he planned to use in paying his way in lieu of money. His stock, however, dwindled to a few cases at Chita, the capital of the Far Eastern Republic. Mr. Crane, believing he would not be allowed to proceed through Siberia, gave most of his supplies away, and had turned back toward Peking. He was overtaken, however, by a message giving him permission to cross Siberia and Russia.

The party then left for Moscow, arriving at their destination on July 27. During the journey Mr. Crane spent about 100,00,000 soviet rubles, or about $3,000, besides giving away the remainder of his stock of small merchandise. During the eight days the party stayed at Moscow it had no trouble in getting good food.

ALD. WILSON OBJECTS TO RUMORS RE GAS INSPECTION

While Dame Rumor busily engaged at the city hall says that George F. Henderson, provincial gas referee, will come to London Friday for the purpose of investigating the Saul wells, near Crumlin, and putting a fair price on natural gas delivered to the city limits, Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of the special gas committee, refutes her story.

"Whoever told you Referee Henderson is coming from Ottawa Friday is a liar," declared Ald. Wilson to The Advertiser today. "They don't know anything about it. I have not arranged for any meeting at all.

"I told the reporter that I had heard from the referee and that he was not in Ottawa, and he had made up the rest of it. I told him I would let him know when the gas referee was coming, but now I won't do it, for publishing such lies. Mr. Henderson is not working at Hamilton as the reporter says. He is a liar.

"He says the referee has arranged to meet the gas committee officials. That is a lie, too. We are going to meet him when he comes, but I do not know when that will be."

BOYS FIND BODY OF MAN IN LAKE ERIE

Kingsville, Aug. 11. — Boy Scouts camping at Linden Beach, near here, yesterday discovered the body of a man in the water among the wild rice plants, about half a mile from the shore.

Brought to land, a search of the dead man's pockets revealed papers indicating that his name was A. E. Loomis and that he resided at Jackson, Mich. Letters dated August 2 point to his having been in the water about eight days. A wife and daughter were mentioned.

The general opinion is that the man committed suicide. There was a gash across his forehead and another in his side when found, but this might have been inflicted on the body while in the water. An inquest will be held.

There would be proportionate reductions for apprentices.

An immediate balloting on this propsition by all the unions affected has been recommended.

DOMINIONS AT CONFERENCE TO U. S. ADVANTAGE

New York Times Makes Plea For Representation of Smaller Nations.

AGREE ON PACIFIC ISSUES

Formal Invitations Will Be Sent Today To Five Great Powers.

New York, Aug. 11.—By the Canadian Press.—Discussing what it terms the renewal of the "six British votes myth" at Washington, the New York Times this morning makes a strong plea for representation of the British dominions at the coming disarmament conference. The paper says: "On problems of the Pacific the interest of the British dominions is virtually identical with our own. If we keep them out of the conference we keep out five nations who are almost certain to support us on every point. To be sure, the decisions of the conference must be unanimous; but if by any possibility a situation arose where the vote stood five to one, or four to two, unanimity would be much more probable if the dominions were there to make it ten to one or nine to two. The president and Mr. Hughes can hardly share the view that the numbers of the conference ought to kept down by excluding everybody who is likely to support the American position.

FORMAL INVITATIONS READY.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Formal invitations will be sent today to Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and China to attend the conference on disarmament and far eastern questions at Washington on November 11.

The text of the invitations will not be available here before later in the day, it was announced at the state department. The invitations are understood to be identical and brief. They wil lbe sent directly to the foreign offices and copies handed to the diplomatic representatives of the powers here.

POINTS OUT THAT CITY WATER HOLDS NO DANGER TO HEALTH

Manager Buchanan Resents Insinuation That Future Supply May Be Polluted.

General Manager E. V. Buchanan, of the Public Utilities Commission, denies the statement published here yesterday to the effect that his department contemplates obtaining water fro public drinking purposes from the same supply, which is utilized att he Ontario Hospital here, and which is under suspicion of causing the present typhoid fever epidemic at that institution.

"There had never been a trace of colon bacilli found in wells supplying the city with drinking water," he declared emphatically to The Advertiser to-day. "The person writing that item forgot altogether to point out that the wells at the Ontario Hospital are a different type to those which we would drill out there.

"Those wells are different to the city wells. They are dug wells, while ours if drilled out there would provide different water entirely. I protest at the idea put before the public that the commission contemplated turning contaminated water into city mains as that article would lead the public to believe."

BIG CAR SKIDDED INTO THE DITCH

Party From Ostrander Escaped With a Severe Shaking Up.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 10.—Rounding the curve of the road at the second overhead bridge, Talbot street east, today, the car of Hiram Allan of Ostrander, near Tillsonburg, skidded and somersaulted into the ditch and badly damaged the car. The occupants of the auto who escaped with a bad shaking up, were Mr. Allan and his brother George and his wife and Mr. Allan's wife and child. The damaged auto was brought to a local garage for repairs.

Held For Theft.

Brought back from Woodstock, L. Davis, an employee of the World's Fair Carnival, now showing at Woodstock, was brought back from that town last night by Detective McCully and charged with being mixed up in the theft of $300 worth of carpenter tolls from a fellow employee of the carnival. The robbery is alleged to have taken place during the stay of the shows in the city. A Toronto resident and a couple of youths are also held for the same offence.

Stole a Bicycle.

Pleading guilty of stealing a bicycle valued at $60 from Earl Busby on Saturday night last, a fifteen-year-old youth from Ingersoll was remanded for a few days to inquire into his former habits.

The lad was arrested by Sergt. Ketchabaw on a farm where he is employed near St. Thomas.

CITY OFFICIALS ARE FAVORABLE TO IDEA OF TAX EXEMPTION

Matter To Be Investigated as to Its Legality and Practicability.

City officials take kindly to the idea suggested by Ald. G. A. Wenige, that taxes upon all new dwellings erected in the city bt remitted, thereby providing a building boom, employment and reducing rents. However, whether the council has power to enact such a bylaw is a point in question which will be debated by members of the city council before a final decision is reached.

If carried into effect this scheme will mean the remission of approximately $80,000 in city taxes, or exemption of $1,500,000 worth of new dwellings, and land valued at $500,000, at a 40-mill rate. These estimates are based on figures obtained at the city assessor's office for 1920, where it is estimated dwellings to this value were erected.

"There are several good points about this thing, and it is an idea worth considering," Mayor E. S. Little informed The Advertiser this afternoon. "Whether or not we have power to proceed will decide the question."

Something In It.

"There may be something in it, but I will not say anything until I have studied it out," said Ald. W. A. Wilson, chairman of No. 2 committee of the city council.

"It can be done, but not the way that Ald. Wenige wants" City Clerk S. Baker informed The Advertiser this morning. "An act was passed by the Drury Government at its last session stating that municipalities may on a vote of the ratepayers exempt improvements, gradually with not less than 10 per cent. and not more than 25 per cent. of the assessment exempted, per annum.

Means Single Tax.

"Residences could be taken as improvements. They may, on a vote of the ratepayers, have a single tax on the land only, and residences the same way. This includes school tax, and a vote of the ratepayers would be necessary to rescind such a bylaw. On petition of at least 10 per cent of the electors qualified to vote on money bylaws, this proposition would have to be submitted to the people.

"This is the only power that the council has, and such exemption includes buildings, structures, machinery and fixtures erected or placed thereon.

"I am satisfied that such exemption can be put through," declared Ald. Wenige today. "I am going to look up the law on it. I have an idea that there are ways and means of doing it. If it can be done it will be a boon to the city."

NON-SUPPORT CASE HEARD IN CAMERA

General Public Excluded from City Police Court Thursday Morning.

Police court was cleared of spectators this morning prior to the commencement of the case of Blanche Hughes against Wilfred Hughes, her husband, for non-support. This was done at the request of her lawyer. Mrs. Hughes, on the stand, admitted to J. M. McEvoy, K.C., counsel for the defence, that she had received letters from "Mitt" Drew of St. Marys and Lorne Nicholls of Detroit, but stated that she had burned them immediately after receiving them. At that time she was living with her father-in-law, and she charged that her husband's relatives intercepted her mail. Mr. McEvoy, who possessed copies of the letters, was entering them for exhibits when W. R. Henderson, counsel for the complainant, objected on the grounds that he understood that only the crown was allowed to intercept mail.

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon ruled that he did not think that it made much difference, as the copies had been admitted by the complainant as being true ones, with a few exceptions.

Mrs. Hughes charged that her husband had stayed with her on several occasions after returning from the war, and on one occasion had met her by chance at the dance hall at Springbank, and taken her, his brother and a girl friend, out in his car. She claimed that he had forced her to get out of the car during the drive.

He would not agree to make a home for her after his return, she said, but told her that he was going to the United States to get a divorce.

Deported From Detroit.

Shortly before he returned from overseas, she left the home of her father-in-law. About that time she went to Detroit with a friend named Myrtle McFadden, whose right name, she said, was Mrs. Marsden. She said that she went there to visit her aunt, but intended to stay at a hotel the first night. She denied that there was anything wrong about the trip, but admitted that she had been sent back to Canada by the immigration authorities, after she had spent one night with her aunt. On the night that she arrived in Detroit, she testified, she had been stopped by the authorities. She then called her aunt and uncle. She was allowed to stay with them that night, but was required to report to the authorities the following morning, and then was sent home.

Asked as to how she obtained their ten-year-old child, who was attending a public school here, she said that she had met him after school and brought him to her mother's home.

When questioned as to knowing Detective William Reid, of Windsor, and a Mr. Galbraith, another borden official, who was in court, she stated that they might have known her but that she did not know them. Other witnesses in the case are Hughes' parents, Sergt. William Middaugh and Constable James Oakley, of the London Police Department, and Mrs. Hughes' aunt, of Detroit.

At 12:30 o'clock to-day the court adjourned until 2 o'clock when the case was resumed.

MANY MARYLAND ILLITERATES.

Washington, Aug. 11.—More than 64,000 persons of ten years of age and over in Maryland are unable to write, the census bureau announced to-day, but the percentage of illiteracy in that state decreased from 7.2 in 1910 to 5.6 in 1920. A total of 13,575 native born whites were included among those unable to write.

$25,000,000 GOLD SENT TO UNITED STATES

Total For Fiscal Year Ending With June 30.

TORONTO, Aug. 9.—The announcement by the Federal Reserve Board, New York, that Canada's gold shipments to the United States in the fiscal year ended June 30, 1921, amounted to $25,087,000 is significant, because it shows immediately that if the total of this amount had been directly applied to the liquidation of Canada's unfavorable trade balance in the United States, it would have been a mere flash in the pan. Since ceasing to be the channel for Britain's gold flood into the United States, Canada has become an unimportant contributor to the further building up of America's gold pile.

A Huge Total.

However, with the total of $25,087,000 in gold in the past year, Canada has shipped to the United States in the seven years that cover the war period and since, a grand total exceeding $1,5000,000,000.

The figures of our gold shipments to the United States are as follows:

1915	$ 218,900,000
1916	579,300,000
1917	515,000,000
1918	102,900,000
1919	36,500,000
1920	39,700,000
1921	25,000,000
Total	$1,517,300,000

Trade Figures.

The Canadian-American trade figures for the twelve months ended June 30, last, show exports of $501,933,000 as against imports of $766,393,000, leaving an adverse balance of $264,460,000 against Canada. Our gold shipments in that period—actually our "cash attempt to liquidte our debt"—wss but ten per cent of our trde indebtedness to the United Sttes.

Canada has made no attempt in recent months to liquidate her American debt with bullion. In December 1919 it will be recalled that Sir Henry Drayton, minister of finance, released $20,000,000 of the country's gold in an effort to correct the position of the Canadian dollar in New York, but the apparent futility of continuing to "uphold" the Canadian exchange by gold shipments was quickly recognized, and this has remained the only shipment of the yellow metal upon this specific account.

Sent $10,000,000.

On April 1 last, Canada partially liquidated a $25,000,000 war loan in New York with gold, Ottawa shipping direct $10,000,000 in gold. This shipment partially to cover the Dominion's obligations was not sent forward in any effort to tinker with the Canadian dollar abroad, or in an effort to correct our adverse balance of trade in the United States. The gold shipment was made as the most economical method of wiping out a foreign obligation. It is a vastly cheaper operation to ship gold than to buy New York funds at the rates, which have ruled so far this season. Between the items of December, 1919, and April, 1921, the Dominion however sent no gold abroad. There has been no intimation of gold going forward from Ottawa to retire the Canadian war loan that came due in New York this week, and there is no reason to look for a resumption of gold shipments on a heavy scale. Accumulating bank balances in New York have been sufficient to cover the Dominion's immediate needs.

Are Not Expected.

Further gold shipments by the Government are unlikely. It is inconceivable that Canada should release her entire gold holdings and it would require more than the total gold held in Canada today fully to meet immediate American trade obligations. It must, therefore, be left to time and the general trade evolution to adjust the Canadian dollar's New York position.

In addition to Ottawa's $100,000,000 gold pile, the chartered banks hold $81,900,000 in gold. Immediately prior to the war $92,000,000 was held by the receiver-general and $50,000,000 by the Canadian banks.

In the months of the war period, the gold flow from Canada was actually of British origin. The final British shipment channelling through Canada was n June, 1920, when $50,000,000 went forward from Ottawa to New York.

EXCESS PROFIT TAXES WILL BE DONE AWAY WITH

Petty, Annoying Consumption Levies Will Be Repealed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 9.—A tentative draft of the new tax bill, which probably has been drawn by members of the house ways and means committee after consultation with the treasury department and leaders of both houses of Congress.

Republicans of the committee and the treasury experts are said to be in virtual agreement as to the general plan of the new tax bill. From authoritative sources it was learned that the following will be the outstanding features in revenue revision, as provided in the house bill:

The sales tax proposal has been abandoned.

The excess profits and several of the petty, annoying consumption taxes will be repealed.

The higher surtaxes will be reduced so that the highest rate on big incomes will be about 40 per cent instead of 65, as at present.

The corporation income tax will be changed to a flat rate of 15 per cent as a substitute for the excess profits levy.

A ten per cent levy on the undistributed earnings of corporations probably be imposed as a means of preventing any large issuance of stock dividends.

Transportation taxes probably will be eliminated or at least cut in half.

Taxes on estates, insurance, tobacco, some beverages, admissions to theatres, etc., club dues, some luxuries and the majority of the stamp taxes will be continued as at present.

The tax on liquors for medicinal and industrial purposes probably will be increased from $2.20 to $6.40 a gallon.

The suggestions that a tax be placed on bank checks and that the postage rates be increased to three cents are not favored.

Urge Reduction.

Some members favor reducing the normal income tax rate from four to three per cent but the general opinion of the ways and means committee seems to be that in view of the great need for revenue this reduction cannot be made.

Under the taxes as outlined the committee has received preliminary estimates that more than $3,000,000,000 can be raised. This added to the $450,000,000 to be obtained from the new tariff law and the $500,000,000 received annually from postal receipts, would bring the total revenues up to the $4,000,000,000 marks—the goal set for the next year or two.

Probable Levies.

From authoritative sources the returns under the probable levies were ascertained.

From the normal income tax at four about $1,000,000,000 a year can be obtained. A flat corporation income of 15 per cent will return at least $750,000,000, while about $300,000,000 could be obtained from the ten per cent levy on the undistributed earnings of corporations. This latter return would come either directly from the tax or through increased returns from the forced distribution of cash dividends.

From inheritance taxes about $100,000,000 will be received while $67,500,000 will come from insurance levies. Should the transportation taxes be repealed the loss would be about $300,000,000. Although the plan is to repeal the taxes on fountain drinks and ice cream, the levies on other beverages would return about $157,000,000. The present taxes on tobacco, which probably will be continued, are yielding $295,650,000. Another $95,000,00 will come from continuing present taxes on admissions and club dues.

WILL CLOSE PLANTS RATHER THAN DIVIDE PROFITS WITH MEN

Cuban Manufacturers Claim New Law Makes It Impossible to Continue.

Vera Cruz, Aug. 11.—Commercial and industrial interests of the state of Vera Cruz have informed Governor Tejada that they are absolutely opposed to the operation of the state law providing for the distribution of the profits of industries among workmen and employers. They have declared that it will be impossible for them to operate under this law, which was signed by the governor on July 3, and that rather than submit to its provisions they will shut down all industrial plants. Farmers assert that they too will strike, and refuse to plant crops if the law is enforced.

Among the companies affected are the petroleum firms operating in the northern part of the state of Vera Cruz, particularly in the region of Tuxpam, where rich oil deposits await development.

The law provides that the share of workmen in the profits of a concern where they are employed shall not be less than 10 per cent, while in some instances their share may be as high as 50 per cent.

KENT U. F. O. MAY RUN CANDIDATE AGAINST M'COIG

Three Names Are Mentioned As Possible Choice of Farmers.

CHATHAM, Aug. 10.—The Kent political pot, which has been laid away for some time, is commencing to simmer. Reports were current today that during the past few weeks the U. F. O. have been discussing quietly the advisability of placing a candidate in the field at the next Dominion election to oppose A. B. McCoig, the present member for Kent.

The names of three well-known farmers mentioned in this connection are A. S. Maynard, "Goldie" Russell and John McGuigan. When seen today Mr. Maynard was rather reticent about the matter. "There is nothing to confirm and nothing to deny," was the only statement he would make. Attempts to get in touch with the other two for their explanation of the rumors were unsuccessful.

Expect 1,200 Entries.

For the second annual show of the local branch of the Canadian Rabbit Breeders' Association, which will be held in the city during the Peninsular Fair, big preparations are in progress, and the entries are now beginning to come in. In fairness to all exhibitors the local branch has secured for the judges M. N. Meek of Chicago, one of the foremost rabbit judges of the United States, and L. Parker of Toronto, one of the best authorities on rabbit-breeding in Canada.

More than 1,200 real live bunnies will form the main part of the exhibit. Other sections will be exhibits of commercial-dressed rabbits and a big rabbit fur exhibit is also planned.

Made Tennis Court.

The entertainment committee of the Catholic Women's League of this city has erected a lawn tennis court on the grounds of the separate school at the corner of Queen and Cross streets. Plans are being formulated to lay down additional courts next year, and also a bowling green and two lawn croquet courts.

HIGH FREIGHT RATES BAD FOR BUSINESS

High Labor Costs Also Help To Make Conditions Abnormal.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Freight rates between the United States and Canada and labor costs must come down before there will be any "great revival of business and a return to normal conditions," J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration of Canada, said today at a luncheon of the Chicago Association of Commerce and the Chicago World Trade Club.

Mr. Walker also spoke for greater reciprocity in tariff arrangements between the two countries. He declared that if Congress puts a 30 per cent tariff on Canadian wheat, and Canada is made to bear it, the 42,000,000 bushels of wheat for which the United States paid $65,000,000 last year, would seek other markets.

GLUT OF TOMATOES IN ESSEX COUNTY

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—With Windsor market glutted with tomatoes grown by Essex farmers, prices of this much-sought-after summer food slumped this morning from $3 to $1 per bushel. So great is the crop that farmers are refusing to ship tomatoes to the cities, preferring instead to plow them under for fertilizer.

Drury and Biggs Defend Policies At Elgin Picnic

Premier Scores Ottawa Govt. and Also Attacks Hon G. Howard Ferguson.

[By Staff Reporter.]

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 10.—Both the federal administration at Ottawa and a part of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, chiefly Hon. Howard Ferguson, were mercilessly and fearlessly scored by Hon. E. C. Drury, premier of Ontario, addressing a substantial gathering at Pinafore Park late this afternoon. The occasion was the annual joint picnic of the U. F. O. and the I. L. P.

Hon. F. C. Biggs minister of public works, who accompanied his leader from Toronto, spoke briefly in defence of his "good roads" policy.

Preceding the cabinet members, J. H. Lethbridge, Government M. P. P. for West Middlesex, delivered a short address, also upholding the building policy of his party. Dr. Hugh Stevenson, Labor M. P. P. for London, presided, and briefly reviewed the record of the Drury administration. On behalf of the city, Mayor Brinkman welcomed the visitors.

Saw the Highways.

"As we have just motored from Toronto," declared Premier Drury, "we endeavored to kill two birds with one stone. We had an opportunity to observe and note the progress of work upon our highways. I take it that you are gathered here to learn in a general way how we have fulfilled our trust.

"During the past two years we have faced many difficult problems, and we are not through yet. There were, of course, many questions to be settled that evolved from the great war, but then again there were those issues that were left us as legacies by the retiring administration. I am of the opinion that they were indeed fortunate in going out when they did. They had been letting certain problems drift along haphazard, and we have had to meet the sooner or later."

Financial Problem.

"One of these was the financial one. We were faced with certain obligations entered into by them that had to be gone on with. There was the hydro question. Millions have been spent, and more will be. It must be pursued to a successful termination. There were other enterprises as well. Now I am not criticizing, but I do think that there was not always sufficient care exercised in commitments. We had to borrow heavily to complete these enterprises, and we have not been aided by our critics who had just gone out. One would have thought that they might have said 'we will help you maintain credit' of the province.

"Our friend and chief critic, however, the Hon. Mr. Ferguson seems to possess a simple form of arithmetic in reckoning up his claims. But he has been challenged on the floor of the House to name one item where there has been money misspent, and there has been no reply.

Want Two Things.

"I take it that the people in reference to finances desire two things; first that the money comes from proper sources, and secondly, that it is wisely spent. I challenged them as I have said on the very floor of the House over the question of expenditure, and none of my critics have as yet come forward. As a matter of fact they have on the other hand asked that certain items be increased. In preparing the estimates they spoke for example with reference to the civil servants of our 'beggarly pittance' and our 'niggardly' way. Not one voice of remonstrance was heard or one note of disapproval as the estimates passed the House. Such criticisms are worth little.

Giving Good Service.

"One of the important questions is 'Where did the province get its money?' There is the administration of our natural resources — the forests and mines. It does not burden you if we get more out of these resources, and when you understand that this revenue has been more than doubled you will see that we are administrating the resources to get the best service for the province.

"There is also a large amount secured from automobile licenses and we spend this on the roads and I venture to say that during the past two years the development of roads has been better than in the preceding ten years. In another two years we will not have what are called extravagant roads, but adequate roads for everyone. You need not fear on that score and we'll do it with money from the proper sources."

"There is another problem of tremendous import left us as a legacy by the late government, to clean up the timber mess. It is not finished yet. We have had a commission of investigation, but the former minister of mines has said that this body was prejudiced; that they were two old 'Grits.' Well we couldn't get two U. F. O. or I. L. P. judges and naturally they could not expect us to get two representatives of the very party under investigation, so we got what we could. However, these two in particular—the two old Grits—are above reproach. It is an improper thing for the former minister to try and discredit them. These two judges were in good standing in the country.

May Enter Suit.

"However, we are not depending upon this commission to settle this question. They have been investigating. We are not going to base his reputation on their finding alone, but before the courts of the land when the province enters suit for money unjustly taken from the people (applause). As regards his reputation he need not be in any hurry. He'll be having one very rapidly one of these days."

"But this investigation has shown us one thing. We must have a complete reorganization of his department to insure honesty and integrity in order that the people will get their just dues from their lands and forests. We haven't realized fully yet that timber is a crop. But we must go further and continue with the reforestation policy as inaugurated by our government. That is, if the county will get the land we'll reforest it and turn it back again."

The Radial Problem.

"We have another question; the radial rail system. A report of this will be handed to the press in a few days. Why did we oppose this? Why did we not let things go full steam ahead? Because experience has shown that Canada has suffered tremendously by this policy of going rapidly ahead with railroad building without full consideration. Look at the Dominion National Railroads with their deficit somewhere around seventy millions of dollars that will take us fifty years to catch up by increase in population, etc. It was a foolish piece of national policy. It is all right for a government to shout, 'Full speed ahead.' It gets one popular for a time until the worst is realized. There are three reasons why we were against the radial policy. In event of loss we had the experience of the past, which shows you can't collect from a municipality. There is no government that is strong enough to go in and seize a community's public utilities and say 'Pay up.' Lastly you can't keep people in a tax-burdened town. There is nothing short of enslavement to keep them from moving out when the tax become oppressive. Of course if we had listened to the good old Globe we would have to have taken an opposite course. But I knew the limitations of our resources and I am convinced that our report of a few days hence, when it is considered again ten years from now, the people will look back and acknowledge we did right. They will award us credit for looking ahead before attempting any undertaking of such magnitude."

Lake of the Woods.

"Then we have the Lake of the Woods issue. There is no use trying to evade things. There are only two questions involved. One is general expenditure and I have already dealt with that. The other is what is known as the Backus deal."

At this juncture the premier traced back briefly to 1914 the commencement of the issue to the time, he said, that the Government, with its usual lack of thoroughness, sold property in question to Backus. He explained the plight of the town of Kenora, which he said had made many commitments involving huge expenditures all based on the expectations that Backus would undertake certain mill industries in their locality. Kenora had appealed, he stated, to his government advising that it was on the verge of bankruptcy. "And the question of a town of that size," he explained, "being faced with ruin was certainly a serious proposition for any government that is capable."

Govt. Put Him There.

"Backus was there, not of our doing, but because the old government put him there. Our critics have said that we gave him control of the Norman Dam, but as an actual fact we took control out of his hands and placed it where it belonged with the Government. Our having control of the Norman Dam, regulating the flow of the Winnipeg River, places the control out of private interests.

"There has been a pile of discussion and criticism about the ex-'Empire Timber' limits, but that section is a mere postage stamp in comparison to what the former minister of lands gave away quietly and without competition to a few friends before election time. The Empire tract is but 3,000 miles in area with half of it under water and burned land. Our critic, the ex-cabinet member, from down Thamesville way, I think, has made some statement about giving one-third a cent per cord. That is nonsense and he knows it. There were certain conditions attached to our sale.

Was Up For Sale.

"Back in 1915 the old Government put it up for sale, with the condition that a mill costing one and three-quarter million dollars be constructed. We put it up for sale in 1920, and said that a mill costing two and one-half million dollars be built that would employ a thousand men. We demanded a quarter-million forfeit, but the old Government did not see fit to do so.

"Have we done fairly? By giving up the Norman dam Backus delivers up the key to the situation to the province. Compare our record with some of Mr. Ferguson's deals before the commission. There is another question in connection with this that will be settled, and that is the control of the Lake of the Woods. For the last two years the Dominion and the province have jointly regulated the levels of this lake. This was seemingly satisfactory. The board consists of four engineers, two from Ontario and two from the Dominion, with the latter having the casting vote. I introduced legislation in the House whereby the Dominion would not have the casting vote. I thought it advisable, but not really urgent. What happened? Ferguson said we were slackers and were giving away the rights of the province. What were we doing? We were placing the regulation of two watersheds on a basis of co-operation. I deemed that our interests would be better served in friendly unity. We were, of course, opposed, and even had one or two filibusters in our own ranks. It looked as though my bill would go down, and rather than have defeat I withdrew my motion. I then asked Premier Meighen to use his influence to have the present board function as before until next session, but, to my astonishment, a bill was soon before the Senate taking all power out of the hands of the province. I considered that an unpardonable breach of faith, and do yet.

Bill is Vital.

"I saw no excuse for it, and I want to say here that that bill is vital to the interests of Ontario. Not alone in the interests of the Lake of the Woods, but relative to the English River, a river that rises and empties in this province. And I do say that where the Dominion Government obviously stretches the clauses of the British North America act, it is high time that we do something to define just where we stand. (Applause). This is not a matter of sentiment, but cold business.

"If the Dominion Government has actually such right in reference to English river then no river in the province is safe. We have invested more than a hundred millions in our streams, and if such were to continue we would not be able to invest a dollar more. I say here now that I think it is an illegal stretching of the powers of the British North America act and that we can have legal action and soon. I miss my guess if the people of this province will stand for this unnecessary and tyrannical action by the Meighen administration. (Applause). If they can do this with the English River why not expect the same with the Niagara and our hydro? We must find out and will. This is a sample of their kind of politics."

"My honorable friend Ferguson, however, opposed my concurrent legislation of co-operation. Then his leader in the Federal House introduces a bill that is directly in opposition to his attitude and he defends him. What do you think of such consistency? In April he stands up in the House and opposes the Federal Government, and in June he stands up on the hustings in the country and says the latter is right. Has he, do you think, the interest of the province at heart? (Voices "No.")

Course is Clear.

"Our course is quite clear," concluded the premier. "It is plain and straightforward and nothing is covered up. We proposed to deal honestly with the Dominion and have not changed or varied. We must fight this thing through, but we must have additional power. Personally, I have never yet been accused of being faint-hearted in the House, or afraid to grapple with the issues, and I believe that the people, while realizing that we make mistakes like all others will support us again at the next election. I am not saying there will be one. The Opposition, I don't think is so inclined, but when it comes I believe that we will have the backing of not only the Farmers and Labor, but the citizens generally. Because no one can accuse us of class legislation. We will be appealing to all, not any one class." (The premier was well received).

Tells of Highways.

"We have what we call a comprehensive road system," explained Hon. F. C. Biggs, following his opening remarks. "A system that will relieve to a great degree the burden of the bigger highways. We admit that we have spent considerable, but you must stop and realize that the number of cars in the province have increase 500 times over. There are veritable engines of destruction as far as the roads are concerned. Our main question is to administer within reason our expenditure fairly throughout the province. Wherever possible we are following out our plan of using local material, thereby saving enormously."

The minister of public works explained that he would like to talk longer only the premier had yet to speak and the situation had already been fairly well covered by the preceding speakers.

"They have accused us of class legislation," declared John Lethbridge, M.P. P., West Middlesex. "But I believe that our record of the past two sessions shows different. You'll notice also that our critics accuse us of extravagance, but they do not do this when they are in the House."

Fairly Distributed.

"You can blame us for our vote in the House," continued the speaker, "but you cannot blame us for the administration of the departments. I think, however, that the Biggs road policy is fairly and equitably distributed. I believe also that the time for a big road policy has come; a system that will reach out and benefit as many of the people as possible."

"Labor and the farmers have stood solidly together," asserted Dr. Hugh Stevenson in his introductory remarks as chairman. "We have together given you good service. We have worked hard and I think we deserve your support. The farmer and the laborer are the real producers and as long as they stay together the country will prosper. You can read the recent report of the United States commission of immigration and you will learn the startling news that a tremendous increase in the number of Canadians migrating over the border is noted. We want to know why and we are endeavoring to find out. We have a task to turn them back to the land."

OFFERED BRIBE TO "PULL" LIQUOR CASE

Inspector Swears That Court Interpreter Says $5,000 Was Mentioned.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—Inspector P. Sarvis of the provincial police, testified at the police court investigation today that he had been offered a bribe by one of the court interpreters, Mrs. Bagneto, to "pull" a certain b. o. t. a. case out of the courts. At the time Mrs. Barneto approached him, Sarvis testified and said: "How would $5,000 do to pull out the case?" Witness told her it was a second offence and so far as he was concerned he was going ahead with it and that Goldberg had better save his money. This conversation took place in November, 1920. Inspector Sarvis said he had merely mentioned the attempted bribery in a casual way to Inspector John Miller about three months later. The officer was criticized by Herbert Lennox, K.C., representing the interpreter, for not making an immediate report and following the matter up.

Considerable evidence was given about the effort of friends to collect money for a motor car for Mrs. Bagneto. Some donations, the evidence showed, came from parties who had been up on b. o. t. a. charges.

Louise Huff the Famous Actress Tells How To Instantly Beautify The Hands and Arms

New York—"The girl or woman who neglects to beautify her hands and arms (now that short sleeves are in vogue) has only herself to blame if she is passed by unnoticed," says that beautiful actress, Louise Huff. It only requires a few minutes twice each day to make your hands and arms beautiful and attractive. With no covering to protect the elbows they become dark and rough and no matter how often they are bathed they look ugly and repulsive. This can be easily and quickly overcome by taking proper care of them. The best way I have found to accomplish this is to soften the elbows with a good cold cream (Liska cold cream I have found to be the best), then wipe off the superfluous cream with a soft cloth and apply that popular beautifier, Derwillo, to the hands and arms. This combination instantly beautifies the hands and arms and if you ever try it once you will never be without it." Just make this test: Try Derwillo on one hand and arm and then compare it with the other, and you will need no further argument to convince you that there is nothing like it and you would not have missed it for anything. Derwillo comes in three shades, white, flesh and brunette. Use white on the hands and arms and the shade you are accustomed to for the complexion. Derwillo gives the skin that youthful appearance every normal woman craves. It puts the blush of a rose on your cheeks and a lily-white baby softness on the hands and arms. It cannot be detected. Derwillo has become a regular fad and over five hundred thousand discriminating girls and women use it in place of face powder as it stays on better and does not rub off on clothing. Perspiration does not affect it and is wonderful for a shiny nose, oily skin, freckles, dark, sallow, rough skin, and poor complexions. It's famous for the quick results it gives. The very first application will astonish you. Try it today. It can be obtained at the toilet counter of any up-to-date drug or department store and if your druggist does not carry it he will be glad to order it for you if you will ask him to. All wholesalers keep it so he can get it from them or the manufacturers direct. Accept no substitutes, then you will not be disappointed.

NOTE—Derwillo and Liska Cold Cream are sold everywhere with the distinct understanding that if you are not pleased your money will be refunded. They are sold under the above guarantee in this city at all department stores and druggists, including the Standard Drug Stores, Strong Drug Store and Taylor Drug Store.

CHOLERA INFANTUM

THE FATAL DISEASE OF CHILDREN

Mothers should look well after their young ones during the hot summer months as this is the time of year when this summer complaint is most prevalent. It begins with a profuse diarrhoea, the stomach becomes irritated, vomiting and purging set in, and the matter ejected from the stomach has a bilious appearance; the child rapidly loses flesh and is soon reduced to great languor and prostration which in a great many cases terminates fatally.

To quickly offset the vomiting, purging and diarrhoea

DR. FOWLER'S EXTRACT OF Wild Strawberry

should be administered.

Mrs. Charles Kretlow, Wideview, Sask., writes: "I have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry for summer complaint. I think it saved my little girl's life one time, as she was so bad I thought she was going to die. A friend advised me about "Dr. Fowler's," so I got a bottle and it helped her right away."

Don't endanger your child's health by accepting a substitute, but get the genuine "Dr. Fowler's," price 50c a bottle; put up only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

COUNTY PICNIC AT SHETLAND WELL ATTENDED

Three Thousand Gathered For Big Outing in Bolton's Grove.

[By Staff Reporter.]

SHETLAND, Aug. 10.—Never in the history of Shetland did such a large crowd gather for the annual picnic of the County of Lambton, as turned out today in the D. Bolton grove in Euphemia Township, a most picturesque spot on the banks of the Sydenham River. There were fully 3,000 on the grounds.

In addition to the numerous speakers an exceptionally fine musical program was staged. The Petrolea band and orchestra was in attendance and also the Ionic Male Quartet. A special feature was Harry Bennett, comedian of Toronto.

Albert Johnston, sheriff of Lambton County, was chairman in the absence of John Farrell of London, who has acted in that capacity on many previous occasions. Mr. Farrell notified the picnic committee that he had been mistaken in the date, and as a result had taken a trip to New Ontario.

Must Lower Rates.

Joseph E. Armstrong, M.P., the first speaker dealt with many questions of national interest. One was the transportation problem. He stated that freight rates must be reduced. The Canadian farmer is forced to send his products long distances by reason of the United States putting up a stone wall against Canadian products. The tariffs on goods imported into the United States are so high that the farmer has to find other markets. Freight rates are so high that it is nearly impossible for a farmer to ship his goods even if he finds a market for them. In a few months the people of Canada will be owning and controlling nearly 22,000 miles of railroad in Canada. The transportation problem to the Canadian farmer is one of the biggest questions which he has to face today.

Rev. A. E. Moorhouse of Windsor also addressed the gathering. He said that although he lives within a few minutes' ride of Detroit he never reads American papers, because they are poisoned with American news. "There is a great deal of American news stories coming into Canada which should be stopped. I like Canadian newspapers, and I always read them," he stated.

Tells of Development.

Ex-Mayor William Nesbitt of Sarnia gave an interesting address on the development of Lambton County, and how it had been evolved from the wilderness by the pioneers.

J. Sproule, warden of Lambton County, in his address, dealt extensively with the good roads policy. "There is no better asset to any county than good roads," he said. The high freight rates was a reason why Lambton County should have good roads. If the roads were good the farmer could use a truck to take his products to the markets and be independent of the railroads.

Urges Economy.

Leslie Oak, M. P. P. for East Lambton, dealt on economy. He stated that he would like to see the good roads policy gone on with, but there is a place to draw the happy medium. The country is in debt and this is not the time to be extravagant. He touched on the extravagant ways that things were done in Ottawa. "Six million dollars in non-essential things were spent yearly. This money could be put into the making of good roads, where it would do much more good," he stated.

Favors Good Roads.

J. M. Webster, M.P., for West Lambton, also advocated good roads. "It deserves the biggest and best consideration of any man in the country," he stated. In the course of his speech he deplored the fact that it was so hard for Lambton County to obtain road material. Even the gravel has to be brought long distances. All of which adds to the expense of road building.

Consolidated Schools.

Neil McDougal, public school inspector for East Lambton, advocated consolidated schools, where a part high school education could be obtained without the necessity of the child attending high school in the city.

The cost of sending one child to a high school in the city for a year would maintain a considerated school. He said that he was very pleased with the way farming communities were handling the educational problem.

One way to keep the younger folks on the farm was by giving them a good education and entertainment. The younger people were attracted to the cities in the quest of amusement at a terrific loss to the country at large. By giving them entertainment was the only solution to the perplexing problem.

Won From Florence.

The Glenrae aggregation defeated the Flo[illegible]ce nine in a fast game of ball by a score of 11 to 10. In the second game Rutherford defeated Glenrae by a score of 20 to 16.

The winners in the baby show were: Clara Walker, Bothwell; Margaret Burnett, Walkerville, and Norma Wicks, R.R. 2, Dresden.

William J. Davis, president, and Frank Johnston, secretary, were responsible for the successful outing.

Tide of Depression Turned, Declares J. Ogden Armour

[Special To The Advertiser.]

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—"The tide of business has turned at last, but nevertheless it is advisable to keep all hands at the oars."

This was the conclusion advanced today by J. Ogden Armour, when he addressed the convention of the Institute of American Meat Packers as chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Armour considers packing house wages entirely too high, does not like to pay 7 and 8 per cent for bank loans when he formerly paid 5, and considers that it is time for the meat industry to do some careful figuring, which, he said, had been a novelty heretofore.

"It is the belief of the Institute finance committee that conservation and caution must be the watchwords during the coming year," said Mr. Armour. "The fact that periodical balances are again appearing in black ink ought not to be taken to mean that the red ink, which has had constant use for two years past, can be now thrown away. Just as the packing industry was the first to suffer from post-war readjustments, so it is to be hoped that it will lead the procession out of the mountains of adversity into the valley of prosperity."

BASEBALL TOURNEY FEATURES THIRD DAY OF OLD HOME WEEK

Three Fast Games Were Greatly Enjoyed by Crowd At Goderich.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GODERICH, Aug. 10.—Another big day of the old boys' reunion passed most successfully today. A procession was formed at 10 o'clock in the morning and proceeded to the Agricultural Park, where the baseball tournament took place. The first game between Zurich and Teeswater resulted in favor of Zurich by a score of 6 to 5. The batteries for Zurich were Ohlert and Bennings, and for Teeswater, Campbell and Johnston.

The second game took place at 2 p. m., between Wingham and the Purity Flour nine, the score being in favor of the former, 6 to 4. Batteries for Wingham, Johnston and Irwin, for Goderich, Cooper and Bissett.

The last game of the tournament started at 4:30 between Wingham and Zurich, and resulted in a win for Wingham, 5 to 3. Batteries for Wingham, Johnston and Lindsay, for Zurich, Ohlert, Hoffman, Thompson and Siebert. The officiating umpires for the three games were James Reynolds of Clinton and Vic Dean of Buffalo.

The street carnival last evening was a great success, and the fun was kept up until 5 o'clock this morning. A fine band concert was given in the Square Park by the Waterloo band, which has made a hit with Goderich old boys and girls.

A feature of the ball game between Wingham and the Purity Flour was a gold medal, which Sid. Malcolmson of British Columbia, an old Goderich ball player, put up for the best batter on the team. The medal was won by "Bob" Bissett, and was presented to him in front of the grandstand by Mr. Malcolmson immediately after the game.

WILL ENDEAVOR TO RAISE $10,000,000

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—When the meeting of the Riordon Pulp and Paper Company interests concluded, it was understood that the working out of the latest proposition to salve the company was placed in the hands of a special committee. This committee will endeavor to raise $10,000,000 on a plan which relies for its success on the American interests involved.

So far as the common stock holders are concerned, it is stated that the latest scheme eliminates them, but there will be an opportunity for them to secure a further interest, and they are given a special preference by way of rights.

It is said that the success of the plan will have to be tested within a few days, as further delays are difficult.

POLICE DISCOVER STILL.

ST. CATHARINES, Aug. 10.—Officers visited the farm of James Ross near Virgil yesterday and discovered part of a still as well as a quantity of "moonshine" whiskey. Ross, who is 70 years old, has been admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

I. T. U. WILL ASK SHORTER WEEK IN ALL PLANTS

QUEBEC, Aug. 10.—A resolution urging the members of the International Typographical Union to bend all their energies toward securing the establishment of the 44-hour week in job plants in the United States and Canada, and this having been accomplished, to begin operations toward securing a shorter week in newspaper offices, was adopted by the convention of the union in session here at the drill hall this afternoon. The resolution was brought in in the form of a report from the shorter day committee, which was adopted by the convention without a debate or vote.

Some discussion took place on the selection of the city for next year's convention. John Kelly of New York complained that for some time the convention had been held only in a certain part of America. If the element which controlled the union had its way it would be held in Atlantic City. A convention so controlled could not be representative of all the union.

Admitted Mistake.

On a question of privilege John E. Dugan, Cincinnati, brought up the matter of expense accounts, which raised such an uproar yesterday. He explained that he was a member of the board of auditors, and he announced that the only person caught charging twice for a railroad fare was the gentleman presiding at the meeting. He said it was a mistake, and his word was accepted.

President McParland, who was in the chair, said that if Mr. Dugan and his colleagues could get anything on him during the convention wild horses could not hold them back. The overcharge mentioned was plainly an error, and it was not a question of Mr. Dugan's accepting his statement. His (the president's) was the only expense account at Indianapolis that was scrutinized by a microscope.

Barrett Objects.

First Vice-President Barrett objected to the suggestions that the officers and organizers of the union were a bunch of crooks.

Mr. Dugan said that the president's expense account was not scrutinized any more than anyone else's.

The convention adjourned until tomorrow afternoon in order to permit of the delegates witnessing the landing of Lord Byng, governor-general designate of Canada and the ceremonies in connection with it.

EXPECT SIX WELLS TO BE WORKING AT FORT NORMAN SOON

Officials From North Country Are Enthusiastic Over Prospects.

EDMONTON, Aug. 10.—Drilling will be in full swing at six wells at Fort Norman this fall, according to Wada, a Japanese, and W. C. Wilson, post manager for the Northern Trading Company at Fort Norman, who have just returned from the oil country in the north. Both are very enthusiastic over the progress being made in the oil fields. Four of these wells are Imperial Oil Company property, while the other two are a Fort Norman Company and the MacKenzie River Company.

Wada, Wilson and some others reached Edmonton on a special train arranged for the purpose of rushing Mrs. Wada, a Church of England missionary, from Fort McPherson, in the Northwest Territories, to the general hospital in Edmonton, to undergo an operation. The arrival of the party has exploded the rumor that the Imperial Oil Company has struck another oil gusher on Bear Island.

"It is absolutely impossible that the Imperial Oil Company could have struck oil since we left," said Wada. "They had not started boring at the time. We left Fort Norman July 25, and they cannot be down more than 100 feet or so at the present time."

The Imperial Oil Company staked some sixteen claims recently, giving them 64 square miles, while they are staking still more and buying up every available inch of property in the Fort Norman fields.

The visitors were tendered a civic reception at noon, taken around the city and shown the leading industrial plants and in the evening were the guests of Col. R. S. McLaughlin at a complimentary banquet tendered at Parkwood.

This afternon othe six rinks of British bowlers played six Lake Shore rinks, one rink each representing Whitby, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg, Peterboro and Oshawa. The British rinks won by 70 shots. The only rink to give the visitors a close contest was Bowmanville, which lost by two shots.

POTATOES FAILURE AROUND LAKESIDE

Only Two or Three Small Ones Found In Each Hill

LAKESIDE, Aug. 10.—Potatoes in this district are a failure. Some of the farmers say that they only get two or three potatoes in a hill and small ones at that. Corn, millet and buckwheat are good crops.

Alex. Sangster and Mr. Davies of London motored up to the lake on Sunday and when returning met with what might have been a serious accident when the rear axle of their car broke. They were driving slowly at the time and no one was hurt.

Ren Ross is rushing work on his new house. Mr. Mounds will also soon have his new home completed.

A. McMillan has started to make arrangements for ten new summer cottages on the lakeshore summer resort.

The union Sunday school of this district will hold their picnic at the lake on Thursday.

D. Wilison and family have returned after a month's visit with friends at the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Gregory visited friends in St. Marys over the week-end.

OFFICIOUS OFFICIAL TOOK AWAY BOUQUET

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 10.—Reaching the border on a M. C. R. train during the week, a St. Thomas woman, who had a bunch of gladioli, was stopped and ordered by the customs officials to hand over the bouquet, as the state law prohibited the entry of certain vegetables and flowers as being dangerous to public health.

The officer threw the bunch of gladioli out of the window.

KING APPROVES DELIBERATIONS OF CONFERENCE

Hopes For Excellent Results From Meeting of the Premiers.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—His Majesty King George in his reply to the address from the Imperial conference emphasizes the fact that he had stirring and ineffaceable proofs from the peoples of the dominions of their loyalty and devotion in the enthusiastic and touching receptions invariably given on the several occasions of his visits to different parts of the world where the British flag flies—proofs which had been renewed in the remarkable demonstrations of welcome and good will to the Prince of Wales during his visits of the last three years. Furthermore where could one find such ample testimony to their common allegiance to empire and sovereign as in their noble self-sacrifice during the four and a-half years of the world war?

Keenly Interested.

His majesty added: "I followed with keen interest the deliberations of the conference. These meetings and the exchange of views between ministers of the great communities which they represent upon the many problems affecting the common interest of the British peoples, are essential to the unity and well-being of the empire and the general peace of the world. Every facility must be given for such periodical meetings and to insure this we look confidently to men of science and research to discover an improved means of intercommunication between all parts of the British commonwealth.

Was Well Spent.

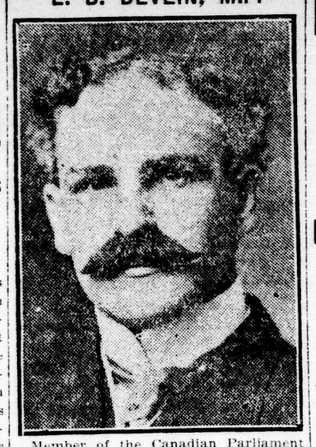

"I know the work of the conference has been strenuous, entailing severe demands both mental and moral, upon all concerned, but their time was well spent in advancing further along the road of progress and development.

"I heartily thank them, on my own behalf and that of the queen, for the address. We wish God-speed to those who are leaving England and a safe and happy return to their respective homes and families. More than ever do we follow with feelings of affection, the welfare of our people at home and across the sea."

NO LAW AGAINST EXPORTING BEER

Truckloads of "Suds" Being Shipped Across To Detroit.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—All roads are open, so far as Canadian law is concerned, for the export of nine per cent beer to the United States.

This is the meaning of a decision rendered this afternoon by Magistrate Gundy in police court, when officials of the British-American Brewing Company of this city were in court to show cause why 100 cases of beer, seized by Patrolman Fitzgerald of Sandwich when it was being loaded into a Detroit launch, should not be confiscated.

That breweries along the border intend to take advantage of the ruling was shown a few hours later, when at least 12 motor truck loads of beer containing nine per cent proof spirits, was shiped from Sandwich town dock to Detroit persons.

James Haverson, K.C., of Toronto, counsel for the brewery, argued before the court that there is nothing in any act passed by either Legislature or Dominion Parliament to bar the exportation of liquor.

"Our law is powerless," Barrister Haverson asserted. "It is up to Uncle Sam."

A HAPPY SETTLEMENT.

The world will rejoice that an agreement has been arrived at in connection with the delimitation of the Upper Silesian boundary. For a time this question assumed a somewhat sinister aspect, and it was hinted that the Germans were endeavoring to create bad blood between the British and the French. There was no doubt that for a time the situation was extremely acute. While France appeared to favor the pretensions of the Poles to the rich mining regions in dispute, Britain stood firm for the provisions of the Treaty of Versailles, and the result of the plebiscite, by which the Germans were allotted the region which the Poles claimed. It was felt, however, that both France and Britain would ultimately come to an agreement and that the matter would be amicably arranged.

Happily for the peace of Europe and for that of the world as a whole, a settlement has been arrived at, M. Briand and Lloyd George coming together at the Supreme Council of the Allies, held in Paris, and arranging the points in dispute to their mutual satisfaction. Whether the Poles will be satisfied is another story, but whether they are or not, the Allies will see to it that the terms of the agreement are put in operation without more ado.

M. Briand put the matter in a nutshell: "If one examines the result of the plebiscite in a general way," he said, "there is no doubt that the German mass is in the west, and the Polish mass in the east. Thus, geographically speaking, the solution is easy to be seen, and even obligatory." It is upon this basis that the boundary line has now been defined. At the opening of the session Lloyd George made the British attitude clear. He pointed out that Silesia had belonged to the German race for 700 years, and that the British Government would not consent to any division not founded on the votes of the two nations concerned.

The compromise boundary line begins west of Pless, on the River Vistula, and running west of Gleiwitz, west of Tost and Gross-Strehlitz, north to between Rosenborg and Kreuzberg, terminating at the frontier of Northern Upper Silesia.

But altogether, apart from the agreement which has been come to in this vital matter, the meeting of the Supreme Council will be rendered memorable by Lloyd George's declaration that the British Empire will never be dragged into another war caused by the oppressive use of superior force or the abuse of justice in a time of triumph. This declaration more than anything else indicates the determination of Britain that nothing will turn her aside from the objective upon which her eyes are firmly fixed, and which she has made great sacrifices to attain—the preservation of the world's peace.

GOING TOO FAST.

The loss of the steamer Alaska, with nearly fifty lives, through striking a sunken reef, is one more illustration of the madness for going fast which at present appears to possess the world. On the admission of the engineer, the vessel was going full speed at the time, despite the fact that a dense fog prevailed.

The grim and terrible lesson of the fate of the Titanic appears to have been forgotten. It will be remembered that the Titanic crashed into an iceberg in the North Atlantic and shortly afterwards went to the bottom, with an appalling loss of life. The sea was covered with mountains of floating ice at the time, but this did not prevent the ocean greyhound from trying to make a record.

This insane desire to make speed records, both by land and sea, is responsible at the present day for the sacrifice of thousands of lives. Day after day souls are hurled into eternity at express speed, and for what—merely that somebody has been seized with the vain-glorious notion of reaching a certain point sooner than somebody else, and of being able to boast of this accomplishment. In the case of a sea captain it is sometimes a question of pleasing the owners, who wish to cut out some rival concern; in the case of speeding on land it is frequently due to the driver of the train or car being behind or overstaying his time, but in order to "get there" all are alike in "taking chances."

Unfortunately in such circumstances it is often the innocent who suffer, those who have no voice in controlling the speed or directing the man at the wheel, whether it be on the fog-darkened ocean or the treacherous highway. The pity of it is that in the majority of instances the victims are drawn into the danger without in the slightest degree being conscious of its proximity. The faith of ocean voyagers in a capable commander is infinite, and whether on train or road-vehicle the judgment and skill of the driver is seldom questioned.

The inculcation of the precept of "safety first" seems futile and almost ironical, so long as the frenzied desire for rushing over land or sea at lightning speed remains an obsession in the minds of so many. The world would be none the worse of slowing up a little and thinking things over. It is getting too giddy.

STUDYING YOUR CUSTOMER.

In the British House of Commons attention has been drawn to the fact that the recently published statistics of the Canadian trade year ending March 31, show that imports from the United States were four times the amount of those from the United Kingdom. As a remedy for this it was announced that active steps were being taken by the trade department, and that within the last few months his majesty's trade commissioners from Toronto and Winnipeg had toured the United Kingdom and interviewed over 700 firms with the object of devising means for meeting the competition of American firms.

The quality and general excellence of British goods has never been disputed, and it has often been conjectured why these goods do not command a more ready sale in different parts of the world. One reason may perhaps be found in the circumstances that they are not sold at a price calculated to effectively compete with the products of other countries, and that their merits are not sufficiently advertised; but the main reason is the conservatism of the British manufacturer, his reluctance to adopt new methods, to develop the old ones, and to make an exhaustive study of the requirements of his customers. His organization is also far behind that of his American cousins, and his lack of enterprise prevents him from sending men adequately trained in salesmanship to push his interests abroad.

One of the elementary principles of working up a business is to study your customer, find out what he wants and supply it to the utmost extent of your ability. In pre-war days, and we are afraid to a large extent now, the policy of the British merchant and manufacturer was almost exactly the reverse of this. He produced a good article, it is true, but he tried to sell it on its merits without regard to the likes or dislikes of his prospective customer. In other words, he assumed the role of an arbiter, and claimed the right to lay down the law to the customer as to what he ought to buy and what was good for him. Those days are past. It is now the buyer who indicates what he wants and he is determined to get it. If, therefore, British producers do not study the tastes and foibles of those to whom they wish to sell, others are bound to capture the trade.

Tastes change from time to time and must be kept pace with. There is also the craving for novelty that it so pronounced these days, and which the Americans are adepts at catering for. From these facts also the British manufacturer must take a lesson if he wishes to reduce the ascendancy which the United States now holds in regard to its trade with Canada.

STRACHEY ON QUEEN VICTORIA.

Lytton Strachey, who attacked the "Victorians" a while ago with his irony, has lately proceeded to a biography of Queen Victoria herself. He dares to draw word-pictures of the good queen as she was, or as he thinks she was, adroitly bringing out anything ludicrous.

According to her new biographer, Victoria had at 18 years, when she became queen, "blue prominent eyes, an open mouth, revealing the upper teeth, and a tiny chin." Thus it is suggested that her countenance was somewhat rodential in effect. She was then at her best, and as time goes on Mr. Strachey takes pains to show how much coarser she grew, her narrowness and mediocrity. She raves over Albert's "delicate moustachios and light but very slight whiskers." We see Albert playing with the royal babies and designing a new pigsty (very Teutonic this). Under Peel, too, or over Peel, he was assuming the actual control of the forces of Great Britain, like a real German king.

Later, Victoria appears drinking up musky flatteries from Disraeli, who compared her to Titania the fairy queen!! A rather girthy Titania. Her fairy mind failed to understand Gladstone's Irish Church Bill, but she disliked it like its author. One thing she did tackle with feeling, the proposal that sailors be allowed to wear beards. She instructed the First Lord of the Admiralty that personally she favored the idea, but would rather the men shaved the upper lip to distinguish them from soldiers. . . . "on no account should moustaches be allowed without beard's."

At the same time, for all Victoria's pettiness and sentimentality, she is fairly shown by her latest biographer as sincere, truthful and undisguised. Stupid she may have been, but her hands were quick unto good, and she was even great in her way.

OTHERS' VIEWS

DEVELOPING THE NORTH.

[Edmonton Journal.]

The constant stream of highly placed C. P. R. officials nothward is impressive. It indicates that that corporation has become keenly interested in the country that it is serving through its contract for the operation of the E. D. & B. C. and that its great resources are likely to be applied to making northern Alberta better known to the world and promoting its development. General Manager McGregor of the E. D. & B. C. last week put into circulation some very striking information as to the progress of Marquis wheat, which was seeded at Fort Vermillion on May 1st. Stooling commenced on June 16th and on June 20th there was an average of thirty to forty-five stems. On July 16th the height, including the head, was 55 inches. When it is considered that this growth occurred at a point further north of Edmonton than Edmonton is north of the international boundary, an outsider must get a new idea of the possibilities of the province.

A SURE CURE.

[Toronto Telegram.]

The only sure cure for the "divorce evil" would be to make a constitutional amendment forbidding marriage—and even then a lot of men who never thought of marrying before would go around swapping recipes for the good old home-made domestic tie.

THE PRIZE BOOMERANG.

[Fitchburg Sentinel.]

Hard knocks are good for a man—unless he's doing the knocking.

LAW ENFORCEMENT.

[The Pioneer.]

The importance of law enforcement is becoming more pronounced as the prohibition laws become more rigid, and as people realize the full significance of what law violation means.

The business of law enforcement concerns not only those who believe in the law, but every patriotic citizen who is loyal.

The measure of prohibition we have in Ontario has been brought out by constitutional means, and, while it is law, should be respected as is any other enactment upon the statute book. Loyal citizens cannot, will not, others must not, single out a particular law for nullification.

While a law is law it must be enforced, and only constitutional means should be used to overthrow it. Non-observance of law should never be a reason for the repeal of that law, but rather for enforcement, and so long as there are disloyal citizens who flout authority and spit upon constitutional government, right-thinking Canadians must rally irrespective of their opinions upon the law in question, and see that the integrity of the law is maintained.

THE TENACIOUS CLASSICS.

[Kansas City Star.]

It does not appear likely that the numerous spokesmen for the cause of the classics will reinstate these once popular studies in a predominating place in modern education. But one should not form hasty conclusions as to the passing of these studies or as to their lack of value. For the classics are displaying a wonderful tenacity on life. Though dead, their language speaks. And in all probability it is best this way. There is a place for both the good of the old days as well as the good and practical of the present. The final development in education, so far as the classics are concerned, probably will be to give these studies their proper relation to other branches that also have been found to be essential in real training of the intellect and preparation for life.

TWO DOLLARS A LOOK.

[Philadelphia Public Ledger.]

Landlords in Toronto have been charging would-be tenants $2 merely to look at apartments. Two dollars a look exceeds the rate collected at Artemus Ward's hotel in Richmond, where it was 50 cents a breath. Two dollars a look suggests new possibilities in profiteering. For the former price of a theatre ticket, think of the joy of beholding at one coup d'oeil a parquetry floor, a radium-painted radiator, a bathtub with high tide clearly marked, and a kitchenette for a fireless cooker. It's a wonder they can do it at the price! "Look-tickets" might be issued, and perhaps the landlords would take something off for purchasing in quantities—say six for $10 for family parties. Looking on Sundays and legal holidays might be less—or more—than on other days, and children might be charged half—or double price. The free art galleries will be depopulated if this new form of indoor diversion fires the popular fancy. Why look at Rembrandt, or Franz Hals, or Titian for nothing, when you may behold all the glories of Grand Rapids, plus an ormulu clock and a bird cage, for $2. Why give Mount Vernon or Valley Forge the once-over without an admission fee when you have the privilege of laying down two "berries" for a private view of a $1,000,000 apartment in an exclusive neighborhood?"

BASED ON THE HOME.

[Detroit News.]

It is written in the annals of history that the welfare of the state and its permanence must be based on the home and the family life. It is only when it is so based that the nation can endure; it is only when our ideals about the home grow out of the teachings within the home that we may most effectively conserve the nation.

THOSE ORCHESTRAS.

(Le Devoir.)

"It is announced that a number of proprietors of moving picture houses in New York have decided to abolish orchestras from their theaters. The result will not be any loss to music, for too often the orchestras in certain of the moving picture shows massacre music with their noise, rather than appeal to the taste for sweet harmony. The president of the Theatrical Managers' Association of Philadelphia has recently characterized a number of theater orchestras as nerve wreckers. Judging from what we have heard in a number of picture shows in Montreal, the description is not exaggerated. It is in only a few of the picture houses that real music may be heard."

ALBERTA'S PREMIER.

[Moose Jaw Times.]

Herbert Greenfield, of Westlock, who is to succeed Premier Stewart, in Alberta, has a big job on his hands and plenty of opportunity for hard work. Premier Stewart says he is the right man for the task that the U. F. A. have set before him. Mr. Greenfield comes of the common people. the people who work. He has been working for thirty-five years or thereabout, and in regard to this qualification for office and responsibility, he can measure up with any other Prime Minister in Canada. His part in public affairs has been much the same as that of many other prairie farmers of ability—secretary-treasurer of his school district, active in the agricultural society, and a diligent worker for the advantage of the U. F. A. organization; an active Liberal in politics previous to the U. F. A. movement, and so forth. It is the story of a hard-working man, a producer, anxious to render what public service came to his lot, keeping himself informed and buttressing an insufficient education by constant reading and study.

Hits and Misses

THE LIARS.

I know a guy with millions Per
Who owns a yacht and country house.
A dozen servants call him "Sir."
His life is just one mad carouse.

His liver's always on the blink;
He's surfeited with earth's delights;
He finds it difficult to think
That anyone but he has rights.

Now which to be would you prefer:
The gentleman described above
Or one who gets $2,000 Per,
Who lives only on that and love;

A man who owns a garden plot,
Some bright-eyed kids, a pretty wife;
A man contented with his lot,
Who lives a quiet, placid life

Free from the ills that flesh is heir.
Which do you think you'd rather be?
The bird with but $2,000 Per
Or he whose liver's gone screw-gee?

Sixty men were asked this query,
Sixty men at once replied:
We'd rather have the poor gump's cheery
Wife and home." (The blighters lied!)

POETRY AND JEST

CARUSO.

Grantland Rice, in The New York Times.

Where the twilight is deep by the last lonely hill,
No warrior sleeps where the last mourners throng;
No warrior sleeps where the world's voice is still
But one from the silence who came with a song.

The dawn winds are hushed, for their master has left;
The streams that are singing their way to the sea
Are soundless and shadowed, as singers bereft
Of the last chord of morning, unconquered and free.

He came with a song. Is there more to be said
For any who sleep where the last flag is furled?
The twilight has called him, the gray soul has sped,
But its melody waits in the heart of the world.

SLOW BUT SURE.

[Exchange.]

A very shy youth sat on a sofa with his lady-love. Too diffident to pop the question, he gradually slipped his arm round her waist, and after a long silence, blurted out, desparingly:

"I don't seem to be making much progress."

"Perhaps not," replied the lady; "but anyhow you are holding your own."

THE MORNING.

[Theodosia Garrison.]

The glad, mad wind went singing by,
The white clouds drove athwart the blue,
Bold beauty of the morning sky
And all the world was sun and dew,
And sweet cold air with sudden glints of gold
Like spilled stars glowing in the cedar's hold.

SAVING SYRUP.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.]

"What flavor?" asked the pretty girl dispenser.

"Never mind the flavor. Flavor it with a smile."

"That girl is going to save money for me this summer," said the druggist sotto voice. "I can see that."

HAYSEED IS RISIN'.

[A. T. Worden, in Judge.]

We kin all of us remember, along about September,
The papers used to tell us about the caucus and the fair,
And them fellers frum the city used to get almighty witty
On the feller with the duster what had hayseed in his hair.

They had fun in legislaters with the man what raised pertaters,
If by any hook or crook or chance elected and sent there.
End the reportorial friskers used ter comment on his whiskers,
End the carpetsack of Billson, what had hayseed in his hair.

Yes, b'gosh, he rid his pass out, and he used to blow the gas out,
End he used to drink hard cider when he went out on a tear;
End he used to pinch a dollar till the buzzard used to holler,
End the man cut up ree-e-diklous what had hayseed in his hair.

But, by gum! ef you've been readin' you observe a strange perceding—
It's the feller with chin whiskers that is slowly gettin' there,
End it won't be too surprising, if by slowly organizin'
Old parties may wake up tew find the hayseed in their hair.

When the fashions change, you fellers will all carry green umbrellas,
End the trousers wide across the seat to make the dudelets stare;
In them times if you pass muster, you must wear a linen duster,
And ef you wunt tew throw on style put hayseed in your hair.

HO HUM.

[Exchange.]

Lawson Rigges was the laziest colored man in town. Everybody admitted it. So Mandy Rigges was to be forgiven when she went at her spouse somewhat hotly.

"Man," she ejaculated, "You all is too dog gone lazy to die, you is!"

"No, Mandy," re replied feebly, turning over on the other side. "You does me wrong. Ah ain't too lazy to die. But Ah hopes when I does die, Ad dies at six o'clock in de mawnin'."

"Six o'clock in de mawnin'? How come you poor trash?"

"Cause dat'll be one mawnin' Ah won't have to git up and dress."

HIS ONLY RUTH.

[New York Sun.]

"My husband complains that I haven't a sense of humor," confided the tired woman, "so I make it a point to remember jokes and conundrums and spring them on him to rid myself of the stigma. Last night I tried it like this: 'Henry, what did Boaz say to Ruth when she entered his field?' The answer, of course, is 'Don't step on my corn.'

"You'd think he had some knowledge of the Bible, wouldn't you? At least enough to make an intelligent guess. Instead he said: 'Ruth? What Boaz? That slob better keep off Babe Ruth, whoever he is. Had his nerve saying a word to the mighty Bambino, no matter what he was doing on the field.'

"I tried again, but he was so deep in the sporting page I couldn't signal him."

THE MIRACLE.

[Exchange.]

When William brushes back his hair,
Which, only just last fall,
His sisters bitterly declare,
Was never brushed at all.
And places, in a new red tie,
An imitation pearl;
Which he saved up a week to buy,
What ails him is a girl.

He has no loathing now for spats
Or coats with swallow tails;
He doesn't call boys sissy cats
Who clean their finger nails.
He doesn't strew his clothes about
But folds them on a chair,
And every evening he goes out—
He never tells us where.

He seems sedate and staid, somehow,
Concerning his years,
We never have to tell him now
To wash behind his ears;
And all the family rejoice
This miracle to see
And think the lady of his choice
A wonder girl must be.

But mother bravely makes believe
It brings her happiness
That she no longer has to grieve
Because he hates to dress.
And yet she wears a troubled frown
It's fine, she says,—but still,
She knows there's not a girl in town
Half good enough for Bill.

A RESEMBLANCE.

[Exchange.]

"Your husband says he leads a dog's life," said one woman.

"Yes, it's very similar," answered the other. "He comes in with muddy feet, makes himself comfortable by the fire, and waits to be fed."

THREE GIRLS.

[Hazel Hall.]

Three school-girls pass this way each day,
Two of them go in the fluttery way,
Of girls, with all that girlhood buys;
But one goes with a dream in her eyes.

Two of them have the eyes of girls
Whose hair is learning the scorn of curls,
But the eyes of one are like wide doors
Opening out on misted shores.

And they will go as they go today
On to the end of life's short way;
Two will have what living buys;
And one will have the dream in her eyes.

Two will die as many must,
And fitly dust will welcome dust;
But dust has nothing to do with one—
She dies as soon as her dream is done.

THE SILVER LINING

By Fullerton Waldo.

WHAT YOU ARE.

Emerson says that what we are speaks more loudly than what we say.

When a man comes into a room all that he is enters with him.

He carries to private meeting or public conference his whole career.

One man has the respectful attention of a gathering or of a solitary hearer from the start to the finish of what he says because there is a man of honor, of rare unselfishness, of devotion to the common good standing behind every syllable he utters.

He isn't a windbag. He isn't talking through his hat. He hands it straight to those who hear him out of the length and breadth and depth of three-dimension life.

The eyes ratify what the tongue declares. You say: "I can see right off that this is a fellow I can trust."

Another man gets but a distracted and indifferent hearing. His neighbors sized him up and took his measure long ago. He is a "hot-air merchant," and he has no influence.

There are certain men and women in your community who lead. They lead by what they are. Oliver Cromwell led because he was a leader. Richard Cromwell stepped into his father's shoes. He never did anything but show people the complimentary resolutions that were passed by his father's admirers when Richard succeeded him. That was all the succeeding Richard ever did.

Napoleon the Third had the name of the first Napoleon, but that was all. Napoleon the Third was a stuffed shirt on a stick, unable to keep the crows from the corn.

On the other hand, there's Albert of Belgium. They called him when he came to America "a king among men, a man among kings." The manhood shone through the monarchy.

It isn't your name; it isn't your title or your pedigree. It's what you are that's going to settle what we think of you.

THE FASHIONS

[By Eleanor Gunn.]
(Copyrighted by the Fairchild Company.)

THE ALL-IMPORTANT QUESTION OF THE SILHOUETTE.

First and foremost comes the silhouette. It is the consideration above all others each season—for no matter how beautiful in detail a costume may be, if its outline is not correct as adjudged by present standards, all its beauty counts for naught. Here are two distinct silhouettes that have been in vogue this season, and which, it appears, will be good for next. The bouffant Spanish silhouette and the classic

Greek draped one, one long and slim, the other short and wide, although there is a possibility that the wide silhouette may be lengthened by fall.

What our own smart women are wearing at the seaside and mountain resorts is criterion enough to guide most of us in planning our fall wardrobe. Of course, the intense heat of the past few weeks has not been calculated to stimulate interest in clothing. Everybody wore the coolest thing she possessed, although at some of the smartest resorts the colors were bright enough, brilliant scarlet and rose Spanish shawls being the choice by night, and equally bright hats and angora wraps being worn by day.

Evening dresses, too, are bright in tone and worn with satin rather than silver or gold slippers, the slippers and stockings matching the frock, and in some cases being brighter, for rose and red tones with black dresses were noted. As one might expect, there was a preference for chiffon in wisplike drapery, and fluttery petal types with bodices that were almost nil, resort frocks being much more ultra in cut than those worn in town.

"The Beach Combers."

For the morning dip in the sea it is plain to be seen that beauty unadorned rules! Such abbreviation of apparel!

Such an array of knitted bathing suits, some in brilliant orange banded in green, with cap and hose to match, and such a display of knees about the rolled stockings! True, beach capes are used for one's entrance on the beach, but they are quickly discarded to become a patch of color on the sand, along with the picturesque paper parasols which seem to gain in popularity as the season advances.

Fewer Knitted Dresses.

Knitted dresses, by the way, are not seen to the extent they were at the beginning of the season; crepe dresses combined with Swiss and organdy, flowered georgettes and ginghams, ratines and foulards, to say nothing of cretonnes, sum up to a total which about equals the many varieties of sports togs worn.

XLIX.—VANDAVEER IS ANXIOUS.

Kismet glided out of sight as stealthily as he had appeared. And Mary, with quickly-beating heart, wondered if the Oriental had seen her, recognized her?

His mad pursuit of her today—it wasn't possible that he had been drunk at all! He could not then have sobered up so quickly.

Besides, after Dick Calardin had felled him to the ground he had leaped up like an acrobat, sprung through the hedge and flown like a hare across the fields. Such agility was not usually displayed by drunken men.

"A dangerous fellow!" Dick had called him.

"Is—is he your servant?" Mary faltered, turning to Vandaveer.

At her question a curiously perturbed light gleamed in the eyes of her companion. Mary was a friend of Dick Calardin; the part that Kismet had played in Dick's young life was not a thing to be made known, for Kismet had half-strangled Dick in Kimberley, then run away just as success—and Dick's priceless diamond!—were within his grasp!

Of course, Kismet had at that time been known under another name. The fight had occurred in the darkness of Dick's bedroom in the Kimberley Hotel. Dick couldn't prove his assailant to be Vandaveer's servant, although the young man's suspicions had been roused.

And Kismet had cleared off completely. Even Vandaveer had not heard from him for a week. Meantime the Kimberley police had done their best to track the Cingalee.

He (Vandaveer) had been a fool to bring his Oriental servant once again into the neighborhood of Dick Calardin! Kismet was a wily fellow—and, of course, there was no actual proof against him—but young Calardin might easily circulate a damaging story, which would queer both Kismet and his master in the eyes of the rich Carrington Bellairs and Miss Eve Rochester—a lady whom Julian Vandaveer wished to fascinate, for reasons best known to himself—material reasons!

Eve was a clever girl. She would help him on tremendously in his "career" of blackguard. Into her spider's net male flies would certainly fall. Cards, gambling—in every shady way of earning a dishonest penny, Eve would be sufficient "lure."

She would possibly be rich one day, too, when her guardian died—or even sooner. For if he—Julian Vandaveer—should bring himself to marry Eve, then possibly there would be "settlements" of unprecedented generosity.

At Mary's question Vandaveer narrowed his eyes, and then he smiled.

"Yes, Kismet is my servant. He hasn't been very long in my employ, of course." This was a diplomatic stroke. "I've had a heap of other servants of his type—two other Cingalees, and once a Pathan—but they couldn't touch this man for faithfulness and general excellence of character."

If Dick Calardin had recounted the midnight fight at Kimberley to this girl, the above remarks would certainly put her suspicions off the right track. The fight had taken place five years ago, and he had been telling her that Kismet had not been very long in his employ—a clever fib!

"Come on—let's have a game of bridge!" Eve yawned. She did not like another girl to absorb the conversation. She was not going to let a little chit like Mary Drew attract her friend. Mary had received sufficient attention this evening already.

Mary guessed her thoughts. She moved over to a distant corner of the hall and began to examine some old-fashioned armor there.

The aunt of Carrington Bellairs followed Mary. She wished to have a chat with the young girl.

"We'll leave the others to their bridge." She was unexpectedly condescending. "Dear Eve is so ridiculously fond of cards."

From the dining-room emerged Carrington Bellairs, and a good-natured neighbor from a neighboring estate. They joined Eve Rochester and Vandaveer, and the other woman guest.

"Carrington won't play cards," his aunt remarked to Mary. "He thinks it waste of time—and I'm half inclined to agree with him. Also—he hates poor Eve to play for money! I'm sure I don't know why—she plays for very trifling sums. Besides, isn't Carrington's own business a perpetual gamble?"

Mary smiled. She did not wish to make any comment on her employer's business methods. She was too discreet to permit herself to be "drawn."

Her inquisitive hostess led the way to a secluded sofa, produced her knitting and began a one-sided conversation with the girl.

FAMOUS AUTHORESS

BOARD MEETING AT SHELTER HELD TUESDAY AFTERNOON

Improvements Discussed—Report Read—Investigations Made—Next Meeting to Be Held in October.

A board meeting of the Children's Aid was held Tuesday afternoon at the Children's Shelter, Wharncliffe road. Mr. D. H. McDermid acted as chairman, and members present were: Mrs. F. E. Leonard, Mrs. John Weld, Mrs. F. R. Hardy, Mrs. H. E. Wheeler, Mrs. John Gemmell, Mrs. E. H. McKone, Miss Jackson and Secretary W. E. Kelly.

Improvements which have been made at the shelter, including interior decorations and the newly-erected fire escapes, were discussed, and it was decided on the recommendation of the fire chief and building inspector to erect two additional platforms, one on the west and one on the north side of the building. The ventilation of the two detention rooms has also been improved.

Mr. Kelly then read his report, giving the statistics for the months of June and July.

Over 300 children have been involved in the society's work during each of these months. Three hundred and eighty office interviews and consultations relative to the welfare of children have been given, and 182 outside investigations made.

Sixty-nine warnings have been given to parents and guardians of children who were not receiving proper care, and eight children have been made wards of the society, while ten were placed in foster homes.

In addition to the above-mentioned investigations over 100 children have been visited in their foster homes in the country, the inspector having covered 929 miles in his visits.

At present there are 25 wards in the shelter, among whom are several bright little boys for whom the officers want homes. Strangely enough homes seem to be found much more readily for the little girls than for the boys.

The September meeting has been withdrawn and the next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in October. Standing committees have been given power to deal with all matters until then.

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

One need only grow old to become gentler in one's judgments. I see no fault committed which I could not have committed myself.—Goethe.

Sends Thanks.

To Cynthia Grey Mail-Box,—Kindly convey to the friend who sent five dollars to the Day Nursery the board's sincere thanks. We wish many would visit our day nursery, and I am sure their hearts would be touched and pocketbooks opened. We are very much in need of help such as money, fruits, vegetables, bedding and children's clothes. Yours sincerely,

CARRIE I. KARN, sec.

Dear Miss Grey,—Well can you find any cool place these days? I have been in bed, sick, and oh, the heat was terrible. I would think sometimes I surely couldn't stand it, but I am up now and better.

I read in your Mail-Box where so many were getting help for their children. I haven't been to my mother's for a year and I and the children could go now if my boys only had clothes.

There are four, their ages are 12, 9, 6 and 4.

I have taken men's pants where the legs were good and made nice little pants. Probably someone could help me that way.

The oldest boy needs a pair of shoes, size four or five.

It is 30 miles to my home and they would take us with car. I do hope I can go. I will be watching the Mail-Box pretty close, you bet. Please get my letter in as soon as you can. Will send some change for the children's fund next time.

Will sign my name as

MOTHER NO. 2.

Who Will Make A Block?

Dear Miss Grey and Boxites,—I just came in for a minute to say I would finish the quilt up. So those who volunteer to make blocks can get my address from Miss Grey and send block direct to me. Be sure and have blocks eighteen inches square when finished and don't have your pieces too large so you can get more pieces on, as there is supposed to be a name of each piece. So the more pieces, the more money we'll bring in.

If anyone has not enough colors perhaps we could change some pieces with some one else or beg some from a friend.

Now maybe the Boxites are afraid they will be known who they are in their neighborhood, but they don't need to tell their pen-name. They can say they are one of the persons who volunteered to make a block and I don't think anyone would inquire any more.

I forgot to say in my last letter that if you decided to guess the number of names the one that puts the quilt together cannot have a guess as she will have to count the names. So now I have offered to put the quilt together I am quite willing to give up my chance of guessing and count the names. Well, I will go now, and come along Boxites let's see how much money we can raise for the S. C. H. fund. TIP.

P.S.—Inclosed you will find mite for S. C. H. and will you please send me a S. F. P. for which I am sending addressed envelope.—T.

Ans.—Am mailing you a stocking foot pattern; many thanks for the hospital mite for same.

At last our quilt is going to materialize Tip, and I am quite sure it will be a success thanks to you. I will repeat part of Tip's former letter for the benefit of those who desire to make a block: "If twenty persons would make a block of crazywork out of woolen material, such as dress goods, and work them with silkine, and then put a name on each piece with silkine (surely you could get enough names in your neighborhood to put on a block eighteen inches square), and let each person give you ten cents or anything they would like to give with each name. Then when finished send the money on to Miss Grey and the block to me. The price for the lining could come out of the money collected unless someone wished to donate the lining. When the quilt was finished let any one guess the number of names and send in the guess to Miss Grey with ten cents for each guess, and the one that guesses the nearest would get the quilt. I will do a block if this plan carries.—Tip." Will those who are making a block or who intend doing so kindly let me know, so that I can announce when twenty have been started, in this way we will not exceed the required number and no one will be disappointed in not having their block in the quilt? I think we should move a vote of thanks for Tip, who has not only offered to make the quilt up, but has forfeited her chance of winning it.

PLANNING BREAKFAST.

If breakfast provides fruit, cereal and one protein dish, such as eggs in some form, bacon or fish cakes, it covers the desired range of food for all ages. Oranges, prunes or apples, fresh or dried, may be used to provide juice or strained pulp for the very young and old, and the whole fruit for the rest of the family. The fruit may be served first, or with the cereal, or at the end of the meal. The cooked cereals offer much variety, are cheaper, and are better food than prepared sorts, which should be used only occasionally for variety. More and more doctors are insisting upon a substantial breakfast for children, a light one for sedentary adults. The fresh eggs which every child ought to have every day can best be given at breakfast. Eggs may be served in different ways, but as a matter of fact children do not demand nor need much variety at breakfast, any more than adults do. For most normal people it is the meal of the day to which appetite brings the best sauce, and, so that it is well cooked and well served, it can be fairly standardized.

If eggs and bacon cannot be afforded, or only occasionally, fish cakes, made with cold, cooked, flaked fish, mashed potatoes, an egg and milk, form a good substitute. Enough cakes can be prepared at one time for several days, kept in a covered dish in a cool place, and fried fresh in a little very hot grease as needed.

Plenty of milk for cereal and to drink should be provided with breakfast. Cream is, of course, desirable, and at any rate this is the meal for the top milk of the bottle.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

General Decline Arrested.

The notorious General Decline, perhaps better known to many of our readers by his aliases, "T. B.," "Phtisis," and "The Con," who at one time or another has boldly claimed membership in nearly every family, has been arrested at Pittsburg, Pa., Denver, Col., Boston, Mass., Boise, Idaho, Hamilton, Ont., Richmond, Va., Oswego, N. Y., and New Orleans, La., not to mention eight hundred and forty-three other places throughout the country. In fact, this old offender may be arrested at any place where his depredations against rich and poor subject him to the surveillance of the health authorities.

Suspicion was long ago directed against the culprit, but although he was temporarily "detained," examination was waived against the advice of medical counsel. Not until a "nervous breakdown" persuaded his unenlightened host to slip away to some distant city where a fashionable practitioner handed out a pleasing diagnosis of "neuro-circulatory asthenia," with a fine of $840, did the host begin to cough up anything to speak of. This 'neuro-circulatory asthenia" was, of course, none other than the old reliable neurasthenia—itself a twentieth century way of saying nervous prostration—with the human circulation grafted in, to cover every conceivable contingency. Had the charge been just neurasthenia a fine of $200 would have sufficed; and back in 1892 probably $48.50 would have been collected for nervous prostration.

While out on probation, so to speak, the luckless host visited Denver, where shortly after his arrival he spat some blood and was committed to a sanatorium on the charge of obtaining treatment under false pretences. This charge was sustained by the sanatorium authorities and the previous charge of neuro-circulatory asthenia dismissed for lack of funds. The criminal was now sentenced to complete rest in bed for an indeterminate period, not less than six months. He served twenty months at the san, and by good behavior was paroled. Close friends declare that at one time the fortunate man was indicted by Minnesota specialists for exophthalmic goitre, but he absconded and the operation was quashed.

When interviewed by our correspondent at his hotel here where he is staying pending the final disposal of his case, T. B. issued the following statement:

My case should be a warning to all young people to live hygienic lives and, when that course has broken down their health, to listen to their doctor's advice. I made a false start when I tried "nervous breakdown"— if I knew then what I do now I would have realized that some shrewd medical man sooner or later would rule that diagnosis out. "Nervous breakdown" is as obsolete as a "heavy cold" or "weak lungs" or "a little catarrhal trouble," all of which alibis I'd advise persons contemplating a run of "con" to turn down cold. My message to young people who feel tempted to try this T. B. thing is this: If you're gonno have it be honest and have it and get it over with, and don't try to fool yourself that you have something else.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.

Wetting the Bed.

A doctor told me he learned this in Germany, and I tried it for my child, with happy effect: Tie two yards of toweling about the lower waist, with as many knots as you can tie in it across the back. That will make the child lie on the side. It will overcome the bed-wetting.—MRS. G. C.

Ans.—The effect is to fully or partly awaken the child at intervals through the night. That may suffice. But I think it is better to attend to that systematically. The child should be invariably awakened at 10 p.m. by the parent to empty the bladder, then not again until 6 a.m. Of course it is also necessary to insist on a strict clockwork schedule through the day, and to properly regulate the diet and general activities of the child for a few months, as described in the pamphlet on bed-wetting, which I sent you.

Badly Advised.

I have been told that while babies are teething they must have wool or flannel shirts and a bellyband, no matter how hot the weather is.—B. S

Ans.—In very hot weather a baby should have nothing but a cotton diaper on, through the heat of midday. It is cruel to swathe an infant in heavy clothes or woolen garments when the weather is torrid. Of course, all babies are teething from the age of a few months to the age of 18 or 25 years.

THE BANDIT DOGS.

Part Fifteen.

The bandit dogs were bandit dogs so longer. They had all been adopted by a very fine master—Pickles, the clown to be sure, and of course, old Billy the goat had been re-adopted by Pickles too.

"I just don't know how it is you and Billy came back, Riggles, old boy," Pickles confided to his old dog, "but I am going to have a feast in celebration of it anyway;" so all the dogs and Billy were invited to a feast at the cookhouse of the circus. And Pickles had chairs drawn up to the tables for them too. This was quite new experience for Rolf and Tige, but Riggles had been used to sitting at a fable in his circus days, but little Cha had always had a place at his master's table before he had been stolen from the show. Old Billy, however, couldn't be persuaded to sit at the table. He prepared to get under the table and munch up the paper napkins the circus people had discarded there.

"What am I to do with four dogs and a goat?" Pickles asked. "I am sure I won't be able to use you all in my act, but seeing Riggles and Billy brought you strangers with them I'll have to keep you all. So for the time that was decided.

As the days went on little Cha and old Tige were the only discontented members of the band—for Rolf had been a quick dog to learn and Pickles had taken him into his act with Riggles and Billy the goat. Even though they were discontented, Tige and little Cha were not entirely unhappy for Pickles was more than nice to them and they had plenty to eat—but Tige was longing for the old master he knew was dead and little Cha was yearning for his old show days to come back. You see, Cha's coat had grown in again and he was every bit as beautiful as before—if only his master would come along, he thought.

One day while the circus was on and off, Riggles and Billy were at work with Pickles, the two dogs who didn't act, were basking in the sun outside the circus tent.

Tige was the first to spy it. A tiny spark from a train had fallen on the roof of the circus tent and a tiny whiff of smoke started to come up. The smoke got wider—a black streak went up the roof and then flames burst out—the circus was on fire. What were the dogs to do?

LOCAL ELEVEN TO PLAY SOO; LONDON DROPS LAST GAME TO HAMS

TIGERS TRIM AND REND LONDONERS IN LAST

Matte, Boston Red Sox Rookie Hurler, Helps in Putting Shoe On Other Foot—Dee Wild.

HAMILTON, Aug. 10.—Hamilton turned on London today in the third game of the series and gave them a sound 7 to 3 drubbing. Delotelle who defeated Bill Morrisette here last year in the memorial 20-inning game, had nothing that the Hams couldn t hit and he was wild as well. Hamilton got a run in the first inning, one in the second, two in the third and three in the fourth, bunching their hits with passes. The Londoners struck a snag in Jack Mattes, the Boston Red Sox recruit, who held them to eight scattered hits. Vandyke's running catch of Jack Blake's drive in the eighth inning with O'Rourke on first was the fielding feature. In the two previous games London outclassed Hamilton. Today, however, the shoe was on the other foot, Hamilton looked better than the leaders. They played fine ball defensively and hit well in the pinches. The score:

MONTREAL CUSTODIAN LEADS ATHLETIC MEET

Toronto Police Department Holds Annual Field Day.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—With five firsts Captain Maranda of the Montreal police force easily led in the Toronto police department's annual athletic tournament at the stadium, Hanlan's Point, today. Ottawa made a fair showing with three firsts, and Brantford managed to scrape into the line. An all-round good record was made by the Toronto force, which captured the 56-pound high and long throws, running high jump, 16-pound shot put, tossing the caber, quarter-mile race, throwing the hammer, the pillow fight and the tug-of-war.

The weather was ideal, and about 6,000 persons witnessed the games, while the police pipe band and the 48th Highlanders' band provided the music.

Alex. Stewart, Brantford, ran third in the half-mile race.

Wilson and Downey Meet On Labor Day

Middleweight Championship Will Be Decided.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Martin Killilea, manager of Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion, announced tonight that Wilson had been matched by Tex Richard to meet Bryan Downey in a twelve-round no-decision bout at Jersey City on Labor Day. In a recent bout at Cleveland the referee awarded the decision to Wilson on a foul, but the Cleveland boxing commission announced that it had overruled the decision and would recognize Downey as champion on the ground that he had actually scored a knockout. The Massachusetts boxing commission has refused to recognize the action of the Cleveland body.

Wilson will receive 30 per cent of the gate receipts and Downey 20 per cent. Both men are to weigh 160 pounds at 10 o'clock in the morning. They will enter the ring at 4 p.m.

YANKEE TENNIS STARS AGAIN TAKE MAJORITY OF GAMES AT NIAGARA

1918 Junior Champ Defeated by Anderson of New York.

NIAGARA-ON-THE-LAKE, Aug. 10.—United States competitors again proved victorious in the majority of games played in the international lawn tennis championships here today, some of the most exciting games of the week being witnessed by a good crowd.

The feature match of the day was that between Harold Taylor of New York, 1918 junior championship, and Frank Anderson, New York, American indoor champion, which resulted in a win for the latter, 6—3, 7—5. Anderson's fine serving and deadly overhead work won the first set for him. In the second set Taylor led at one time, 5—4, and 30-love in his favor, but Anderson tightened up and served three aces.

Clifford Herd of Chicago beat J. M. Laing of Waterloo, and then A. R. Bernhardt of Preston in straight sets. He served with terrific force.

In the doubles, W. Westbrooks of Detroit and F. Anderson, New York, defeated the Western Ontario pair, 6—2, 6—2, while R. L. Murray, Niagara Falls, and C. Herd, Chicago, disposed of E. W. Bickle and T. Sheard, Toronto, easily.

R. Innes-Taylor, Toronto, won a marathon match from H. G. Merritt, Toronto, in the men's handicap. It required 44 games before a decision was reached. The match started in the morning and finished in the afternoon.

President Maines Wants To Talk to London Fans For An Hour Tonight

"Please arrange for a meeting of Messrs. W. H. Heard, Buzz Wetzel, C. S. Grafton, A. J. McGuffin, Ed. Stein, Joe Hickey, Neil Stryker, Ken Murray, Norman Keene, Jack Hay, Mack Fergusson, Vern Ryan, J. G. Gunn, J. D. Eagan, W. G. Moore, Nip Tune, yourself and other representative London fans for Thursday night at Tecumseh House at 8:20 sharp. Will stop over between trains, so will have one hour for meeting. Detroit Club will be on same train. (Signed) G. H. MAINES."

The above message was received last night by Secretary Rhodes of the Tecumseh Baseball Club.

Why the Mint president should wish to hold converse with such a group at the present time is a bit of a poser, but doubtless some reason exists for the action.

Something whispers a "troubled conscience" wishing to be relieved of its load of troubled thoughts.

Perhaps the Mint head comes with a dove under each arm.

Probably the shades of Crichlow will attend the "seance," wraith-like and accusing?

It may even be a ghost party!

BRANTS DROP FINAL GAME OF SERIES TO CALBERT'S BEAVERS

Shifting of Lineup Is Thought To Have Been Responsible For Win.

BOOTHBY BLANKS FLINT

Hurons Are Also Shut Out by Schwartje's Steller Pitching.

KITCHENER, Aug. 10.—The Beavers played big league ball and completely reversed the tables on the Brants in the final game of the series here today, winning 9 to 2. Kirley pitched a steady game and was given airtight support from all parts of field. Regan starred both at bat and in the field where he pulled several sensational catches. Babe Dye was the shining light for the visitors, his three hits including a long three bagger to right field. The shifting of the line-up appeared to have worked wonders for the locals. The score:

MINT PATTER —By C. S. G.

Bill Kuhn, instead of jumping a train for Kitchener, took one in the opposite direction for his home.

The view that Kuhn is said to have taken before he had his last one of the old Grand Trunk station was that he had helped London win a pennant and therefore deserved better treatment than to be passed around the circuit.

However, that is the lot of a ball-player. And there is little sentiment in baseball.

* * * *

Hamilton Spectator:

It's not the smooth-grained hickory,
That makes the London team such terrors,
It's not that they are supermen,
But they thrive on Hamilton's errors.

* * * *

You bet they thrive on errors,
And on the pitchers, too.
They don't need to play like supermen
To make the Hams look blue.

* * * *

Curry is another sale prospect before the season is over. The big boy had pep to begin with, and he has been learning something every day since he jumped into the first game.

It is just possible that Foulkes, who was the other second string catcher with the squad in the early spring, might have been given the preference over Curry if it had come to a choice just then. Foulkes was older and appeared steadier, and certainly wielded a wicked bat. But as it turned out and Curry has turned out, Foulkes probably did the London team a favor when he decided to go back to the drug counter.

* * * *

If Curry turns out a find, and he looks headed that way, it will be a bit of a feather for Buzz and a bit of luck. Lots of finds in baseball must be just as lucky.

* * * *

F'instance, take the day DeLave was found by President Maines. Those was a lucky day.

* * * *

The Brants come here this afternoon for a three-day stay. They are going strong, but London should finish out the week with a good block for the profit column.

A Hamilton writer says:

"Some of the writers in the Michigan-Ontario League cities have accused the umpires of giving the London team all the "breaks." It may only be a coincidence, but there were five real close decisions at first base yesterday and not one of them went in favor of Hamilton."

They'll be accusing the man who makes up the standings of giving London the breaks, next.

* * * *

Hamilton Spectator:

The Hamilton Baseball Club is trying to purchase Stutz from the London club. The Cockneys are asking $1,000 for the peppery little third sacker, but this morning Manager O'Rourke made an offer of a player and cash. While no definite answer has been received, there is a chance of the deal going through and it would mean a great deal to Hamilton, as third base has been the hard spot to find a suitable guardian for this season. Stutz is looked upon as being one of the best infielders in the league and is also a good hitter. On top of that he is a regular Nick Altrock for comedy.

* * * *

Joe Reddy has won one game and lost three since joining the Hamilton team two weeks ago, but with good support he would have been credited with three wins and one loss. Two of the reverses he met with were caused by poor fielding behind him.

It was a shame to see Reddy meet with defeat yesterday, as he pitched splendid ball, and but one run should have been scored off him. He had splendid control, and had the Cockneys dizzy at times with the "stuff" he put on the ball.

* * * *

Brantford Expositor:

President Maines stays in Hamilton while in Canada. Despite all of the mix-ups into which the Mint prexy has wandered in other parts of the circuit, he has certainly placed Hamilton back on the baseball map and his work there has earned him some well-deserved appreciation.

In the rest of the Canadian half of the Mint circuit, Prexy Maines is not exactly popular. Kitchener has been after him for a long time and between London and Brantford and the president there seems to be little love lost.

Dan Morgan has wired Charlie Hallet of the Army and Navy Vets in Toronto that Jack Britton, welter cham, will meet the winner of the Beatty-Barrieau bout there on September 20. The weight will be 147 pounds and will mark the champ's first appearance in Canada.

INTERNATIONAL 15-MILE YACHT RACE WON BY ENGLAND

Final Score of Event Was England 117, United States 88.

COWES, Isle of Wight, Aug. 10.—Great Britain today won the international six-meter yacht race from the team of four United States boats sent across seas to contest for the cup.

The sixth and final race in the series was won by the British racers by a margin of four points the home boats scoring 20 and the visitors 16. Previously the point score stood at 97 for the British craft and 72 for the United States, thus making the final score: Great Britain, 117; America, 88.

The course for today's race of 15 miles afforded less windward work than in the previous races. The United States boats got a good start with Grebe in second place, Sheila in fourth, Genie in sixth and Montauk in seventh. The British order of crossing the starting line was Jean first, Victoria third, and Polly fifth, with Fly A., eighth.

The first round was a great struggle between Grebe and Jean. Grebe had a slight lead at the first mark, but Jean was ahead at the second and third and finished the round 19 seconds in front of Grebe. Grebe had bad luck after the start of the second round, where she had gone ahead of Jean. The United States boat went aground and thus lost her place to Jean, with Victoria second and Montauk third. Later she managed to get free, but was third at the finish line.

The wind failed in the second round and the race was a long-drawn-out one. The order of the finish was: Victoria, Jean, Grebe, Genie, Sheila, Fly A., Polly and Montauk.

Ruth Is Ahead of His 1920 Record

Slugger Has Fifty-Two Games To Make Thirteen Homers.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—Babe Ruth hit his 42nd home run in the third inning of today's Yankee-Chicago game.

The hit, made off Hodge, put Ruth four days ahead of his 1920 record, when he made his 42nd homer off Shaw of Washington, on August 14. The Yankee slugger has 52 games in which to make thirteen home runs in order to surpass last year's record. If he continues hitting at his present rate he should obtain about 63 home runs for the season.

L. AND D. PLENTY CUP TEAM OFF FOR SOO

Leave Tomorrow For Northern Wilds, Playing Saturday Night First Plenty Cup Game—Confident of Win.

The representative eleven of the London and District in the Plenty cup series leave tomorrow on the 12:20 Grand Trunk for the Soo where they meet the Greyhounds of that city on Saturday evening.

The match was at first called off, but frantic messages from the Soo made the London officials make the offer of a hurriedly gathered team, many of them Public Utilities players.

Mat Morgan of the L. and D. council, and Tom Hodkinson will accompany the team, the latter in the capacity of manager. Secretary Bob Muir of the O. F. A. will try and accompany the team from Toronto.

Soo Are Fast.

The Soo are a fast crew as they showed when they defeated Listowel in the O. F. A. cup series and later gave Toronto Scottish a good battle.

Cochrane, one of the forwards making the trip, is a new man to London footballers. He just arrived in the city from Scotland where he was a member of the Blantyre-Victorias, one of the most famous teams in junior football in the Old Country. He played his first game last night with Public Utilities against Ontario Hospital and showed up splendidly.

The line-up the Londoners are taking up to the Northern wilds is as follows: Whitworth, goal; Hunt, Dennis, backs; Capt. Ince, Clarke, Smith, halves; Cochrane, Hazelwood, Ridley, Moore and Leigh, forwards.

CLOTHIERS DEFEATED.

Greene-Swift nine of the Manufacturers' League lost to the Bolt and Hosiery crew at Queen's Park last evening by the score of 5 to 2. The Clothiers started the game off by getting two runs in the first inning on three hits. A feature of this inning was Steeper's three-base hit.

Lawrence, who started on the mound for the losers, was derricked in the second inning in favor of Mel Wray after he had been touched up for five hits. These, coupled with an error, netted the winners four runs.

After Wray went into the box the combination team only connected for two safeties.

GUARDIAN TRUST WINS ANOTHER AT RANDALL

Third Consecutive Victory On the Grand Circuit.

NORTH RANDALL, Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Guardian Trust, the 3-year-old Belwyn colt, maintained his perfect grand circuit racing record today by winning the championship stallion stake, the richest futurity to be raced for so far this season, but only after a split heat race. The stake was worth $12,000, of which $5,750 went to Mrs. H. M. Hanna, Jr., of Cleveland, owner of the winner. He was nominated by H. J. Schlessinger of Milwaukee.

It was Guardian Trust's third consecutive victory, he also having captured the Matron Stakes at Toledo and a purse at the Kalamazoo meeting. Dick McMahon was the driver in each instance.

Guardian Trust won the first and third heats, the second going to Favonian, equal favorite with the winner in the betting, after Guardian Trust had made a bad break.

The final heat found Guardian Trust in the lead all the way. He had to be shaken up to withstand the rushes of The Great Rose and Favonian at the finish, but he was equal to the emergency.

Jeanette Rankin, the favorite, won the Press Purse of $5,000, for the 2:16 class trotters, the second event of importance on the card, in straight heats. She took the lead when called upon.

Dardanella, favorite in the 2:06 pace, was distanced in the first mile. The winner turned up in Johnny Quirk, which won the first two heats.

ANOTHER WIN FOR NORMAN GENERAL

Wins Eight-Mile Modified Marathon At Brantford.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 10.—Norman General, local Indian runner, outdistanced his next competitor, Bert Fulcher of this city, by three-fourths of a mile, when he won the Lacrosse Club eight-mile modified marathon at Agricultural Park tonight. His time was not as good as on former occasions, but he finished with a fine sprint. The order of the finish was: General, Fulcher, Green, Douglas.

Frank Wallace outran Ted Cowell of the I. B. C. in both the 100 and 220-yard events. His finishes were of high calibre.

Fred Shaw defeated Bill Young in a four-round bout in which Shaw successfully defended his title as the welterweight amateur championship of the city. Shaw displayed better foot work and outpointed the challenger. Nip Wilson of I. B. C. retained his honors as bantamweight champion of the city after going three rounds against Joe Nameth.

Lacrosse Also.

Hamilton intermediates came from behind in the last two frames of the O. A. L. A. game here today and defeated the locals, 8 to 6. Brantford put up a dying fight and handled most of the play during the last quarter, but ineffective shooting and the great work of Dexter, the Hamilton goalie, saved the situation for the Hams. The Brants during the game displayed great combination and in general better lacrosse, but the Hamilton rushes were particularly effective and usually individual drives counted in the score.

The line-ups:

Hamilton	Position	Brantford
Dexter	goal	Shannon
Stuart	point	Nickell
Rohmer	1st. defence	D. Bothume
O. Simser	2nd. defence	Kiersy
Naylor	centre	Shaw
Regan	1st. home	Thomas
Cooper	2nd. home	Martin
L. Simser	out home	Campbell
Farr	in. home	Spearing

The students held their own except in this inning and made the Enarcos go the limit. The final score was 6—2. Batteries: For Petrolea—Smith and Smith; for U. of T.—Bibson and Patterson.

RAMBLERS WIN ONE.

WOODSTOCK, Aug. 10.—The Ramblers, tail-enders in the City League, administered a 10—4 defeat to the Harvey-Knits, league leaders tonight. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of fans. Home runs by Scott and Story featured the hitting. McCleneghan held the league leaders to five scattered hits.

SOCCER KICK-OFFS

In a City League fixture played at Port Stanley yesterday afternoon the W. O. R. eleven defeated the R. C. R.'s by the score of 3 to 0. Gelaty scored two of the winner's goals, while Dickson netted the last.

The P. U.'s were victors over the Ontario Hospital in a City League fixture on the latter's grounds last evening by the score of 8 to 2.

SAVED $12,000 BY SELLING DEBENTURES TO CITIZENS

CHATHAM, Aug. 10.—From March 1, 1918, to December 31, 1920, the city of Chatham has sold debentures totalling $423,516 without costing the city a cent. These debentures were sold to the citizens at par, thereby effecting a saving of $12,000.

During the present year, up to July 31, debentures to the value of $175,500 have been disposed of, making the grand total $611,016, the savings to the city on the grand total being approximately twenty thousand dollars.

The recent sale of Essex County debentures will serve to illustrate why Chatham prefers to sell its debentures locally. Essex County sold a block of $120,000 six per cent ten-year instalment bonds through brokers at a price of 96.31. At this figure the money cost that county 6.86 per cent.

The only Chatham debentures disposed of through brokers in the past three years were those issued for hydro purposes.

BELGIAN DROUGHT RELIEVED.

Brussels, Aug. 11.—Rain fell throughout the greater part of Belgium during last night, relieving drought of several months past, which has been complete except for a few showers. BAKER.—In loving memory of Albert Baker, of Francis street, who died two years ago today, August 11, 1919.

From our happy home and circle
God has taken one we loved.
He is borne from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.
In a near and silent graveyard,
Where the trees their branches wave,
Lies a loving husband and father
In his cold and silent grave.
He bade no one his last farewell,
He waved his hand to none;
His spirit fled before we knew
That he from us had gone.
A husband kind, a father so dear,
A faithful friend when he was here.

WINDSOR GIRL SENT TO THE REFORMATORY

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—Arrested early this morning as a disorderly character, Mabel Battersby, aged 20, of this city, this afternoon was sentenced to serve not less than three months and not more than two years in the provincial reformatory.

Offices of Joseph White, division court clerk at Sandwich, were entered and robbed early today, according to information received by Councillor Alfred Moreton, chairman of the civic fire committee. White's offices are in the town hall near police headquarters. Councillor Moreton will investigate the alleged robbery.

Ernest Jobin, aged 26, a Detroit barber, is being held by the Windsor police for alleged serious offenses against young boys. He was remanded this afternoon for eight days, bail being denied.

TEACHERS TRY TO DEVELOP UNITY SPIRIT

Hope To Bring New Viewpoint To Scattered Parts of Empire.

SCHEME FOR INTERCHANGE

Work Interrupted by the War Is Again To Proceed.

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—To develop a spirit and viewpoint of unity among the scattered parts of the British Empire is the oustanding idea behind the British Imperial Teachers' Association, which opened its second convention in Toronto today. The conference is under the auspices of the League of Empire, and the tone of the first day's sessions was highly imperialistic and tended to show that there is a great work which the teachers of the Empire can do in the way of molding the thoughts of the young in the viewpoint of unity.

The main object back of the conference is to work out details to further the scheme for the interchange of teachers among the mother country and the dominions, and while the first practical steps along this line were taken back in 1914, when seven Canadian teachers sailed to take up positions in the schools of London, England, and while the war interfered greatly with the furthering of the work, such advances have since been made that there are now 98 Canadian teachers ready to take up their work in the schools of the old country.

The interchange is being worked out in a similar manner between Canada and other parts of the Empire, while teachers from all the dominions are flocking to the mother land to take up their work this fall.

Wants Provincial Day.

Lieut.-Col. T. E. Perrett, principal of the Provincial Normal School at Regina, advocated the addition of another day to the calendar of school holidays, maintaining there was just as much need for a provincial day as there was for a "Dominion" or "Empire" day.

Rev. W. S. Matheson of Selkirkshire, Scotland, told of the success of the Scottish education act of 1918, under which pupils of promise are not debarred from attending a secondary school because of the expense involved. Deserving candidates received assistance in the form of fees, maintenance allowance, et cetera.

An Experiment.

T. Percy Page, principal of Edmonton High School, reported that the Provincial University of Alberta was conducting an interesting experiment by recognizing the three-year commercial course of the high school as a basis for admission to university courses in commerce. Mr. Page believed that action would do a great deal towards articulating the commercial course in the collegiates with higher education.

Tells of Work.

The work done by the London, England, County Council in organizing day continuation schools was described by Beresford Ingram. These schools which are usually open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., aim to give the student two four-hour periods of tuition each week. The pupils attends two mornings or afternoons a week for 40 weeks in the year, and the principals are instructed to meet the convenience of employers of the pupils as much as possible in arranging for attendance. The enrollment of pupils over 14 years of age in these continuation schools is expected to reach 60,000 this year.

PRISONER ESCAPED FROM SANDWICH JAIL

Monkey-Wrench Smuggled Into Cell Helped Greenan Getaway.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 10. — Using a monkey-wrench to unscrew bolts holding fast the bars of the cell where he was confined, Frank Greenam, aged 26, of Detroit, escaped early today from the Sandwich lockup.

Greenam was being held by police as a witness in the case against P. C. Lemmings of Corunna, Ont., who was fined and sent to the county jail Tuesday for reckless driving and being intoxicated while in charge of a car. Greenam also faced a charge of drunkenness.

That the wrench was smuggled in Greenam's cell by friends who took advantage of the police being called from headquarters on other business is believed by Chief of Police Gordon Pillon.

The delivery may result in two more men being added to the police force, which Councillor Alfred Moreton, chairman of the police commission, this afternoon said is undermanned.

$25,000 WORTH OF LIQUOR CONFISCATED

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—More than $25,000 worth of liquor was confiscated this afternoon by License Inspector M. N. Mosseau as a result of an order made by Magistrate W. E. Gundy in police court. The liquor, consigned to border residents previous to the province entering the "dry" column, had been held by license inspectors since June 1, when it was seized because the persons to whom it was consigned could not give satisfactory explanations as to why such large amounts had been ordered. The 40 persons summoned to "show cause" failed to convince the court that the liquor was ordered for their own use.

OBJECT LESSON WAS PAINFUL FOR CHIEF

[Special To The Advertiser.]

AMHERSTBURUG, Aug. 10. — Fire Chief John Hamilton, one of the foremost disciples along the border of the doctrine of "safety first," this afternoon had a practical lesson in the value of "practice what you preach."

He was badly burned about the face and hands when gasoline which was being put into the tank of his automobile flower over onto the hot exhaust pipe, causing flames to envelope the car. The fire was put out by Motorcycle Officer Fitzgerald of the Sandwich police, who used a chemical extingusher.

RESIGNATION OF CONSTABLE IS ACCEPTED

Surprise Sprung At Meeting of Guelph Committee.

GUELPH, Aug. 10.—A surprise was sprung at a committee meeting here this afternoon, when Constable W. H. Clark, one of the officers, who was alleged by a citizen at the recent fire investigation held in this city to have been seen leaving an apartment house on MacDonnell street at an early hour the morning of the disastrous Wyndham street blaze, when he was supposed to have been on duty, tendered his resignation to take effect immediately. It was accepted.

Constable Shingleton, whose name was also mentioned in the affidavit presented to the commissioners, appeared at the meeting and asked that his character be cleared. He demanded that an investigation be immediately proceeded with. He asked further that he be suspended from the force until such time as he is found innocent or guilty of the charges made.

At the fire investigation Mr. Hatch, one of the witnesses, claimed that he had seen Constables Clark and Shingleton leave the MacDonnell street apartments via a rear exit just after the fire alarm had been sounded. Both officers denied that they were near the apartment house. At this afternoon's meeting Constable Shingleton stated that he was determined to fight the matter through to a finish.

OATS ARE SHORT IN KERWOOD DISTRICT

Yield of Potatoes Not As Large As Was Expected.

[Special To The Advertiser.]

KERWOOD, Aug. 10.—Harvesting is well along in this district, and with the exception of oats, which is short and not well filled out, the crops are generally satisfactory. Many of the farmers state that their potatoes will not be nearly as large a yield as was at first expected.

Excellent progress is being made on the new Methodist church Rev. W. K. Hager, B.A., of Waterford, was in charge of the laying of corner-stones, and was assisted by Rev. Diehl, Rev. G. N. Hazen, Rev. T. Steadman, Rev. F. Rutherford, Rev. D. D. Thompson, Rev. Dr. Treadgold, Rev. S. Millson and the pastor, Rev. C. J. Moorehouse.

The ceremony was largely attended. During the service Mrs. Evans of Toronto sang twice, and later a solo was rendered by Miss Beatrice Foster.

John Richardson, the oldest member of the congregation, laid the corner-stone for the trustee board, Dr. L. A. Trueman of Hamilton the Ladies' Aid stone and James Richardson, retired secretary for the Sunday school, laid the corner-stone for the Sunday school. The Ladies' Aid then served supper. In the evening an excellent concert was given. William Sutherland of Toronto gave a much-appreciated address, Mrs. Wyatt of London sang several selections, Mrs. Evans assisted again at the evening concert, Mr. and Mrs. W. Rapley sang a duet, Miss Violet Wight of Thedford sang twice, Miss Beatrice Foster sang a solo, Mrs. Howard McLean gave a very fine reading and Miss Eunice Moorehouse of London two readings. The Salvation Army Band delighted everyone with their music during the evening.

The Mission Circle will hold their lawn social on Friday evening on Mr. Harry Eastabrook's lawn. A splendid program has been provided, and Rev. Mr. Moorehouse will give an address, in the absence of Ernest Trueman, who will not be able to be present on account of ill-health.

Mr. and Mrs. Boomer of London and the Misses Todd of Toronto are guests at the parsonage this week.

George Hull and daughter Marjorie of Owen Sound visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hull.

Dr. James Mathews of Detroit visited his brother, Mr. George Mathews, recently.

Miss Amy Campbell of London is visiting Miss Florence Johnson.

Lyle Richardson of London, who has been spending a couple of weeks at the home of his aunt, Mrs. E. Denning, has returned home, accompanied by his cousin, Irvin Denning.

Mrs. Ferguson of Petrolea visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Brigham recently.

Mr. Basil Brandreth of the Royal Bank, Kitchener, visited his grandmother, Mrs. E. Brandreth, recently.

A very pleasant time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Langford, when their two Sunday school classes met to bid farewell to two of their members, Miss May and Grace Law, who leave for the West on Wednesday. The evening was spent in games and music. Mrs. Langford served luncheon.

FREEMAN REUNION HELD AT PINAFORE

Members of Family From All Over District At Picnic.

ST. THOMAS, August 10.—The Freeman families held their annual picnic at Pinafore Park today, and about one hundred of the members enjoyed the outing. They came from Detroit, Bay City, St. Thomas, Chatham, London, Aylmer, Tillsonburg, Ingersoll, Mount Brydges and Dresden. John Freeman, 171 Adelaide street, was the principal promoter of the annual gathering, and one of the members of the first families of the Freemans. His sister, Mrs. Geo. Tanner, Mount Brydges, is 82 years old, and was one of the happiest members of a very happy party. Their father came from England in 1830 and settled in Union, the family being one of the pioneer settlers of the county. The first family gathering was held at Springbank, the second at Port Stanley and the third this year at Pinafore Park. Old and young enjoyed a program of many good things, including a banquet in the pavilion and athletic sports nearby.

FERRY JAMES BARD MYSTERIOUSLY SUNK

SARNIA, Aug. 10.—The ferry James Bard sunk in 81 feet of water south of the municipal wharf here today. The cause of the sinking is unknown, but it is thought to be the result of the boat hitting against an object while lying at dock during the night. No one was on the boat.

Lon May, a painter employed on the freight house and waiting-room, noticed the boat listing to one side, and went into the hold to investigate. He found two feet of water, and called for help, but the ferry sank in a short time.

SARNIA HOSPITAL GETS $2,000 FROM LATE R. T. GEARY

Relatives Will Divide $46,000 That Is Left After Bequest.

SARNIA, Aug. 10.—The will of R. T. Geary, druggist, who died on July 26, has been admitted to probate. The Sarnia General Hospital is given a bequest of $2,000. The remainder of the estate, which is $48,000, is disposed of in specific bequests to relatives, to be paid in cash, free of succession duties. The residue of the estate goes to Mr. Geary's nephew, George Gerry, city solicitor of Toronto. The will, which was made on August 15, 1919, names as executors George Geary of Toronto and Alexander Burnham of this city.

The contract for the construction of the London road pavement, extension highway from Russel street to East street to link up with the new provincial highway, now nearing completion, was awarded to Reid & Somers of Guelph by the council last night. The bid of the successful firm was $11,894, and that of the Caldwell Sand and Gravel Company, the only other firm to submit a tender, $15,100. Arrangements for the execution of the contract and initiation of the work will be made at once.

A motion to allot an additional $25,000 for the use of the housing commission was voted down after considerable discussion, rejection for the present being deemed advisable owing to the unsettled condition of the municipal bond market and a desire to keep the slate as clean as possible during the remainder of the year.

All aldermen who expressed their views on this made it clear that they in no way wished to hamper the housing scheme, but that during the present depression it would be wise to go slow.

CONCILIATION BOARD IS BEING ASKED BY WINDSOR ALDERMAN

Increase in Street Railway Wages May Mean Higher Fares.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

WINDSOR, Aug. 10.—Hearing no reply to his suggestion that a local board of arbitration be appointed to deal with the street railway employees' demands for a wage increase, Ald. A. Hooper will ask the labor department of the Dominion Government to name a conciliation board to adjust the differences.

Ald. Hooper, believing that an arbitration board composed of local men would better understand arguments of the carmen that wages must be higher here than at other Ontario points because of the difference in cost of living, requested the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission to consent to his suggestion.

The commission, replying to the resolution passed by the city council, backing the demands of the men for a five-cent increase, hinted that a six-cent fare may result if the boost is allowed.

SERIOUS CHARGES AGAINST BELGIANS

Case Will Be Heard Shortly In Chatham Police Court.

CHATHAM, Aug. 10.—Three Belgians who reside near Coatsworth will be required to appear in the county police court at an early date on serious charges preferred by Inspector Frank Appleyard of the Children's Aid Society. It is alleged that the foreigners have been living in a state of immorality with Chatham girls under fourteen years of age.

While incarcerated in a cell in the city police station awaiting trial this morning, a Belgian possessing a beautiful tenor voice sang several operatic arias for the benefit of his fellow prisoners and police officials. He concluded his performance by singing "La Brabaconne," the Belgian national anthem. His fellow prisoners, who were all Belgians awaiting trial for gambling, stood to attention until the end of the anthem and then filed upstairs to the city police court, where they were assessed $10 and costs. The proprietor of the alleged gambling place was fined $50 and costs. He also paid the fines of the Belgians.

Chicken thieves are again busy in the county, according to reports from the county police. Several complaints were turned in to the police last week, and investigations are being made.

The latest theft was on the farm of Ernest Montgomery, 8th concession, Dover Township. Sometime during last night thieves raided his coop and carried away 100 chickens.

CANADIANS LEARNING TO BUY AT HOME NOW

OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—Apparently Canadian people are learning to buy "made-in-Canada" goods. The financial statement issued monthly by the federal department of finance shows that customs revenues collected during the first four months of the fiscal year have dropped from $69,773,477 in 1920, to $35,337,891 in 1921. The months covered by the statement are April, May, June and July, and the decrease is $34,435,586.

Hon. R. W. Wigmore, minister of customs, when spoken to regarding the decrease, said that it was general and not applicable to any particular country. Canadians were simply not buying abroad to the same extent as they did last year.

LONDON FIRM SECURES EXTENSION OF LEASE

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 10.—A further extension of the term for which Lawson and Jones, lithographers, have leased the Edison Building, formerly the Thomas Brothers factory, has been secured by the firm.

This favor to the firm, would indicate that the Edison people will not commence operations for some time yet, but will allow for the Lawson and Jones industry to remain in St. Thomas.

The firm employs, on an average, 100 hands.

STRATFORD STORE IS SWEPT BY FIRE

Powder Explosion Shattered Plate Glass Front of Hardware.

STRATFORD, Aug. 10.—Fire of unknown origin broke out in the store of the Stratford Hardware Company on Wellington street about 5 o'clock this afternoon, and during the best part of the hour it raged the flames swept through practically the entire store. Water did heavy damage to the adjoining stores of F. J. Whitmore, book seller, the Myers Hardware Company and Hudson's billiard parlors.

The fire apparently had considerable start before it was discovered. Owing to the Wednesday afternoon half-holiday, the store was closed at 1 o'clock. H. S. Schmidt, proprietor of the Stratford Hardware Company, stated to The Advertiser that there had not been any light or fire in the store. He left about 1 o'clock.

In Third Story.

When noticed the flames and smoke were pouring out of windows in the third story. No estimate of the loss is available tonight, but it will be heavy. It will be covered by insurance. It is believed the fire started in the cellar or at the back of Schmidt's store. An elevator shaft provided a ready passage for the flames, which swept up to the second and third floors.

The firemen had hardly arrived on the scene when there was an explosion. A small keg of powder had been received in the morning and this is believed to have caused the explosion. The force of the impact shattered the plate glass windows at the front of the store, scattering the glass over the road. Three firemen were just about to enter the store when the explosion occurred, and they were thrown back onto the pavement.

Stock Not Heavy.

The fire was practically confined to the second and third floors. Mr. Schmidt's stock at this time was not particularly heavy. There was very little on the third floor, but on the second floor a considerable quantity of glass was stored. The straw in which this was packed caused very dense smoke. The damage to the main part of the store was entirely from the water.

The block is owned by McCurdy Bros. and will practically have to be rebuilt.

Charlie Hudson, who runs a pool parlor adjoining Whitmore's store, had his seven tables practically ruined by the water. At the first alarm his furniture was moved from his flat above and was thus saved. His loss is covered by insurance.

The firemen did splendid work and much credit is due them for keeping the fire from spreading.

BOARD APPOINTED TO SETTLE QUESTION OF C.N.R. WAGE REDUCTION

OTTAWA, Aug. 10.—(By Canadian Press.)—The appointment of a board of conciliation to deal with the question of wage reduction as affecting certain classes of stationary employees on the Canadian National Railways, was announced by the minister of labor this morning. The employees, as represented by the Canadian Brotherhood of Railroad Employees, have nominated ex-Mayor Harold Fisher of Ottawa as their member, while the management of the Canadian National Railways has chosen George D. Kelley, also of Ottawa, to represent the company. Mr. Fisher and Mr. Kelley will in all probability confer at once in the matter of the appointment of a chairman. It is hoped that the first sittings of the board will be held early next week. The board has been granted under the conciliation and disputes act, a joint application having been made for a board under that measure, or the industrial disputes act (the Lemieux act) by the C. B. R. E.

President D. B. Hanna of the Canadian National system, in a statement forwarded to the labor department some days ago, objected to a board under the Lemieux act, on the ground that the act did not affect railways under government ownership and operation. The board was therefore granted under the other act.

The application of the "Big Four" brotherhoods is still to be dealt with.

LEGAL QUERIES

HIRED FOR A YEAR.

Ques.—On February 28th last, I hired with a farmer here for a year (verbally). Now he informs me that he will not need me in the winter. I reminded him that he hired me for a year and he tells me that a month's notice is all that is necessary. Is this correct?

Ans.—No.

Ques.—If not, what redress can I get.

Ans.—Sue for damages.

Ques:—I have not got my notice yet, not until all the hard work is done. Should I get another job in the meantime? Can I give a month's notice?

ANXIOUS.

Ans.—No.

A HYDRO POINT.

Ques.—I live in a village where hydro was installed one year ago. By some mistake they neglected to give me a street light. All the other street corners have one and mine was on the plan; they put the poles and wire but no light. At first, when I spoke of it, they said they would give me one in a few weeks, but have kept putting me off and now say they would not give me one unless I wired my house. They did not ask the others to do so, neither have they done so. Please let me know will I have to pay hydro street light taxes when I derive no benefit? In fact it is darker here than before and spoils the sale of my house. By kindly advising me what I should do, you will greatly oblige. A READER.

Ans.—If the rules of the commission for your village provide that you should pay for the extension, you will have to do so. If you could send us a copy of their regulations, we could advise you more fully.

A TENANT QUESTION.

Ques.—Some years ago I leased a house for one year. Since that time there has been no new lease, but the owner has twice advanced the rent. Am I a yearly or monthly tenant?

AN OLD SUBSCRIBER.

Ans.—Yearly tenant.

EXEMPT.

[Exchange.]

Maggie (home from church)—Say, Tom, the preacher said today that any one stealing potatoes from his field will go to hell.

Tom—Well, did he say anything about turnips?

Maggie—No, not that I heard.

Tom—Well, then, it's nothing to me.

TAX EXEMPTION FOR ALL NEW BUILDINGS URGED BY ALDERMAN

G. A. Wenige Says Plan Will Act As Incentive To Building.

Total exemption from taxation of all new buildings for five years after erection in this city, as an incentive to building, lowered rents and a solution of the unemployment problem, was advocated by Ald. G. A. Wenige at a regular meeting of No. 1 committee of the city council Wednesday afternoon The committee decided upon his motion to ascertain if the law permits such procedure, with a report to be presented at the next meeting.

"It will lower rents, provide work and create a building boom," predicted Ald. Wenige. "We get the taxes on the land only now, and if it were built upon it would not remain vacant, and this motion would assist building."

President McGuire of the trades and labor council addressed the meeting, urging that the motion regarding the renting of a stall in the markethouse to the Western Fish Company to operate in opposition to the municipal fish stall be repealed. No action was taken by the members, who decided to rent this stall to the Western Fish Company at a previous meeting.

"It is a special privilege to a private company against a public utility," contended President McGuire. "The private company is there for profits."

Ald. Wenige opined that competition is best for good business.

"It is an open market and we have no right to bar anyone," commented Ald. F. R. Watkinson, who presided.

Was Misquoted.

Appearing "as a private citizen," Fred Young, who is a member of the local trades and labor council, said: "I was misquoted in the report of the trades and labor council meeting, which said that I was the only one present who objected to the motion to deny this company a stall in the market. This motion from the trades and labor council was a minority report.

"I will tell you plainly that those who are making the kick are not kicking so much against the Western Fish Company coming to the market, but are against them coming to the city at all. This is not disloyalty, but I am speaking as a citizen of London."

"It is time to call a halt on this kind of stuff," he continued. "I claim that anyone has a right to come in and compete. I object to any member of the trades and labor council, chamber of commerce of Kiwanis Club, acting so un-British to say that opposition should not come in. I don't care if they kick me out for my objections."

Ald. Watkinson explained that the proprietor of the fish company holds a union card, and that he intends to sell dressed fish 5 cents cheaper than prevailing prices. He will be allowed to rent a stall in the market house.

Want Representation.

A communication was read from the trades and labor council, asking representation on the special gas committee appointed to investigate the feasibility of procuring natural gas for London. It was referred to the city council to be dealt with.

A second communication from the same body, asking that the council indorse federal and provincial measures for the working classes, particularly clause 13 of the peace treaty, and that the Government be urged to take steps "to grapple with the unemployment situation," was also referred to the city council.

The city clerk of Peterboro wrote regarding disposition of police court fines, stating that the member for that city will urge in the legislature that laws be passed alloting fines collected in municipalities to the said cities or towns. The committee decided to call the attention of Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.L.A. for London, to this matter, with a request that he back up the Peterboro member in his stand.

Offers Coal.

An offer of the W. A. Freeman Coal Company offering 1,000 or 2,000-ton lots of egg, stove, or nut coal f.o.b. mines at $8.80, $8.95 and $8.85 per ton, respectively, was referred to the Public Utilities commission. In the opinion of some members present, exchange, freight and loss by leakage in transit, will bring this price up to $16 per ton, with no advantage to citizens in purchasing same.

City Clerk Baker reported: "It was hoped that public schools and separate schools of the city would pay for local improvements. We cannot compel them. The public schools will pay, the separate schools refuse. I recommend that in future no local improvement be charged to the board of education, as it would be unfair to charge the public schools when the separate schools refuse to pay." The clerk's recommendation was adopted.

The committee renewed the contract for heating No. 1 fire station with the Helena Costume Company at a price similar to that now in force. An application from Police Court Clerk John Moule for an increase in salary was laid over.

Raise Rates.

The Humane Society accounts read showed that a charge of 20 cents per day is made for maintaining stray animals, with 50 cents as the increased price for collecting and burying them. "It is worth it to keep stray dogs off the streets," commented Ald. Wenige as the accounts were passed.

Delegates to the 23rd annual session of the Ontario Municipal Association, in session at Toronto August 31, September 1 and 2, were appointed, as follows: Ald. F. R. Watkinson, Ald. G. A. Wenige, Ald. W. A. Wilson, City Clerk S.Baker and Assessment Commissioner Stephen Grant.

SAMPLE OF PUBLIC SPIRITEDNESS SHOWN BY LONDON WOMAN

Following publication of the fact that permanent playgrounds for the children of West London are not available at present, owing to the fact that property in this section of the city suitable for recreational centres, is owned by citizens who demand exorbitant prices for their land, a local woman has written to General Manager E. V. Buchanan of the public utilities commission, offering to sell her lot in London West to the city for use as a public playground at its assessed value.

"This is a very fine example of public spiritedness," Mr. Buchanan informed The Advertiser. "Unfortunately, however, this land offered is too small to be utilized as a public playgrounds. We appreciate the offer, and only wish that owners of property in London West, which the playgrounds committee desires for the kiddies, would take this as their cue, and offer to sell their land at a reasonable figure, or better still, at its assessed value."

SCENES AT THE ENGLISH PICNIC

3,500 Britishers Enjoy Picnic At Lakeside Resort

St. George's Society Stages Best All-Round Outing of the Season.

Fully 3,500 people enjoyed, in the English picnic at Port Stanley Wednesday, one of the all around most delightful outings of the season. There have been in other years attendances equally as large or even larger at the big annual gala day under the auspices of St. George's Society, but probably never has there been so interesting a program, so nicely balanced and presented, without an interruption, as yesterday. Every event or series of events was presented on schedule time, and there was no overlapping, everyone being able to witness all the events with plenty of time for supper between the conclusion of the big baby show and the commencement of the keenly-diverting aquatic sports.

Wins Gold Watch.

The announcement of the result of the drawing for the gold watch, won by Mrs. McNiven, was made from the platform of the open air theatre, where the Great War Veterans' band, under the capable direction of Lieut. C. C. Irwin, played at the conclusion of the picnic program proper. Plenty of train accommodation was provided by the London and Port Stanley Railroad, but practically all the trains were comfortably filled returning from 7 o'clock onwards. The program of pictures in the open air theatre kept a considerable number of the picnickers at the beach until the later trains.

Difficult Task.

It was the best baby show in years, everybody declared, and Inspector Joseph Saunders of the Children's Aid Society and Mrs. W. P. Martin of Vancouver had not easy task selecting the best babies out of some 75 entering the various competitions. However, there was a prize for every baby, beautiful flowered china cups for the babies who did not win silver cups.

SPRINGBANK PICNICS

COMBINED CHURCHES' PICNIC.

An interesting picnic was that of the combined churches of Lucan—Methodist, Presbyterian and Church of England—who held a glorious time at Springbank Park Wednesday afternoon.

About 500 members of these churches and Sunday schools and their friends motored to the park, and on their arrival a baseball game between the married men and the single men of the various congregations was staged. The married men showed the "youngsters" that they weren't old-timers as yet, when they put the finishing touches to the game by a score of 10 to 2.

After the ball game all repaired to the pavilion, where refreshments were served.

NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN AND POLICE ARREST TWO NOISY DRUNKS

Third Member Is Captured With Bottle of Whiskey As Bedmate.

Dan Stewart and William Williamson made such a disturbance at Stewart's home on Florence street Sunday that a neighbor had to call the police. He said that his family could not sleep because of the noise that was being made. Peter Williamson was there also, the complainant said, but he was not as noisy as the others. Dan and William were allowed out on suspended sentence on a disorderly charge after they had pleaded guilty to being drunk.

When Constables Last and Clemens arrived on Florence street they found Dan and William sleeping on woodpiles and other places, but could not locate Peter Williamson or Walter Slaght, a fourth man, who was also alleged to have been a noise-maker. At the time court adjourned he had not been apprehended.

Last night Peter Williamson was found asleep in a shed at 196 Simcoe street by Sergt. William Middaugh, with a bottle of whiskey not a foot from him. He swore that the bottle was not his, and that it belonged to another man who had been with him. As he pleaded guilty to being intoxicated from drinking the contents of another bottle—which was not found—he escaped a $200 fine, the court giving him the benefit of the doubt. He was fined $10 and costs for being drunk.

Chief Birrell stated that as long as the prisoners had money and whiskey they would be in police court. They came to the city a few months ago, and have been creating trouble ever since, he claimed.

Frank Curran, who defended two of the prisoners, stated that Stewart had recently been discharged from a military hospital, and asked the court to deal leniently with him.

RELIC OF EARLIER DAYS FOUND IN LAKE ONTARIO

An old anchor, with date of 1839 on it, was hauled in by the crew of Baxter Bros. It weighed half a ton and was well preserved. Iron is almost indestructible, but has little or no value, while Diamonds last for ever and maintain their quality, ever increasing in value. Safety first, though—buy perfect Blue-White Diamonds from John A. Nash, My Jeweler, 182 Dundas street "where you will eventually buy." b
