SCOTTISH NATIONAL ASSOCIATION FOR THE REMOVAL OF SCOTTISH GRIEVANCES AND THE VINDICATION OF SCOTTISH RIGHTS.

some of the Scotch and Scotch-descended settlers in

As some of the Scotch and Scotch-descended settlers in this colony may not yet have seen an account of the National Association for the Vindication of Scottash Rights, a few remarks are here offered on a subject deeply interesting not only to all Scotsmen who dwell within the bounds of Scotland, but also to every son of Caledonia, and to every one of Scottash origin or descent in whatever part of the world his abode may be.

The Association was formed in Edinburgh only a few months ago and it already numbers many influential names; the president is the Barl of Eglinton; among the vice-presidents are the Marquits of Ailea, the Earl of Erroll, the Earl of Dundonald and Lord Cochrane. Among the members are Sir A. Alison, author of the History of Europe and Professor Aytown the poet; these two are conservatives in politics. The provost and town council of many of the towns have joined; the general committee includes about two hundred names and among them are Mr. Buchanan, editor of the Caledonian Mercury; the editor of the Scottish Reference's Gazette, and the editors of several other papers. The Association has not the slightest connection with party politics as is shown by the fact that Conservatives and Liberals, Whigs and Tories alike belong to it; nor has it anything to do with ecclesiastical dissensions.

The secretary is Mr. Fred. H. Carter, Accountant, 16, Oness St. Edinh; the yearly subscription of members is ecclesiastical dissensions.

The secretary is Mr. Fred. H. Carter, Accountant, 16, Queen St., Edinb.; the yearly subscription of members is five shillings sterling; the objects of this national society are set forth in a short pamphlet of 36 pages entitled "Address to the People of Scotland and Statement of Grievances by the National Association for the Vindication of Scotlish Rights."

dress to the People of Scotland and Statement of Grievances by the National Association for the Vindication of Scotlish Rights."

We entreat every lover of his country to procure this pamphlet, and till he is able to do so, some account of the question may be found in Blackwood's Mag. for Sept.

The chief grievance is that the Scotch members of parliament are too few in comparison with those of England; most of the other grievances arise from this, and we shall therefore examine into the matter with great minuteness. To determine the proper proportion of representatives for Scotland and for South Britain respectively, some consider the number of the population, and others the amount of the taxation contributed by each country to the common fund. One of the chief uses of the House of Commons is to vote away the money paid by the people in the shape of taxes, and as this is the case, they who pay the money ought to have a voice in the disposal thereof corresponding to the proportion they contribute. It is stated in the Society's Address page 12, that the average taxation paid yearly by each inhabitant of Sociland is forty-three shillings, and of England forty-four shillings and two pence. By the census of 1851, the population of Sociland is forty-three shillings, and of England forty-four shillings and two pence. By the census of 1851, the population of England and Wales or of South Britain is 17, 922, 768 and the above tax from this number yields a revenue of £39, 878, 168.

Now if £ 6, 171, 830 the revenue of Sociland is voted away by 53 parliamentary representatives then, £39, 878, 168 the revenue of England and Wales: England has thus 163 representatives in the House of Commons more than she is fairly entitled to. Or if it be said that £39, 878, 168 the revenue of England requires 500 members to administer it, then to observe the same proportion, £ 6, 171, 830 the revenue of Sociland ought to have 77 members to look after it and not 53. Thus according to the revenue was of the matter, Scotland has twenty-four same proportion, £ 6, 171, 830 the revenue of Scotland ought to have 77 members to look after it and not 53. Thus according to the revenue view of the matter, Scotland has twenty-four representatives in parliament fewer than her fair and just proportion. We are of the number of those who think that the revenue view is the only proper one by which to adjust the fair or just proportion of members to represent each of the three kingdoms in the United House of Commons, but as a matter of curiosity we may glance at the population view of the same important question.

As 2,570,784 the population of Scotland return 53 members, then according to our old friend the "Rule of three," 17,922,768 the population of England and Wales ought to return 330 members, and not 300; thus having 170 too many. Or, if 17,922,768 the English population require 500 members to look after their interests; then 2,870,784 the Scotland bear 79 members and not 53. Thus one of two things is the race, either England has 170 members too many, or Scotland has 79 too few.

Even supposing that Scotland sent 79 members, and South

And divide the English population by 37,601; the result is 476 members and there are 24,092 persons over. Seventy six and 476 make 552 and the two remainders make up a number for the deficient member of the 553.

To return to the recense size of the question, if we divide £6,171,830 the revenue of Scotland, by 53, the number of Scotland by 53, the number of Scotland by 53, the number of Scotland by 54,473 of revenue.

To return to the receme view of the 253.

To return to the receme view of the question, if we divide £6,171,830 the revenue of Scotland, by 53, the number of Scotch members, each member represents £1,164,473 of revenue.

Secondly, if we divide £29,878,168 the revenue of England and Wales, by 590, the number of their members, each member represents only £79,756 being £1,084,743 less than is represented by each Scotch member.

Thirdly, if we divide £4,000,681, the revenue of Ireland, by 104, the number of Irish members, each represents only £38,101 of revenue, being £1,126,392 less than is represented by each Scotch member.

We may now allude to a few of the grievances which flow chiefly from the above insufficient representation of Scotland in the House of Commons. The facts are detailed in the Scoiety's £4dress.

Last year, under the head of Charitable Institutions and Hospitals, England received from Parliament £3,000, besides a sum for the support of Bethlebem Hospital: Ireland received £48,575; and Scotland received two pounds!

Under the head of Police, it appears that London, receives yearly £131,000. Dublin £36,000, and the Irish counties £486,924. Half of the expense of the English county police is paid out of the common fund. No allowance for police is made to Scotland.

Injustice to Scotland similar or nearly similar to the above, is instanced in the Society's £xtenent under the following heads:—Harbours of Refuge, Free Libraries and Museums, Woods and Forests, Arts and Science, Scottish Royal Palaces. Antiquities, Goological Survey, Post Office, Stamp Office, Military Establishments, Naval Establishments, Militia, Scottish Naval and Military Academy, Naval and Military Charities, Scottish Lighthouses, Patent Lawa, Ahigher Income Tax on Scottish than on English Landlords, University Representation and Allowances, &c. &c.

In speaking of things so irritating to the Scottish mind, it is much easier for every one to use the burning words of of the facts. But the facts require no comment, they speak but to

"Hreathes there a Scof with soul so dead, Who never to himself has said,
"This is my own my native land! Whose heart has ne'r within him burned, As home his footsteps he has turned, From wandering on a foreign strand."

Fro.n wandering on a foreign strand."

Sir Walter goes on to say that if such there be, the wretch concentered all in self, living shall forfeit, fair renown, and doubly dying, shall go down unwept, unhonored, and despised to the vile dust from whence he sprang.

But we have an earnest hope and expectation that even in these utilitarian days there will not be found any one so base as to forget his native land in its hour of need; these national grievances and indignities have been proclaimed to theworld, and as fully known must be the effort to remove them.

theworld, and as fully known must be the effort to remove them.

A writer in Blacksood (Sept. 1853.) truly observes—"there is this peculiarity about the Scots that they are slow to proclaim a grievance, but resolute to redress it when proclaimed. Their extreme quietude of demeanour and retinence of speech have sometimes been incorrectly interpreted as indicating a want of spirit; whereas, on the contrary, no people can be more keenly alive than they are to a sense of injury."

In viewing the state of affairs of the firm of which Scotland, England and Ireland are the partners it ought to have been previously mentioned that if we divide £4.000.681 the Irish revenue (See "Companion to the Almanac") by the number of the Irish population, it appears that of average yearly taxation each inhabitant of Ireland pays twelve shillings and three pence (each Scot pays £2. 3. 0 and each Scott Briton £2. 4. 2).

As £4,000,68I the Irish revenue is represented by 105 Irish members, then£5,171,834 the Scotch revenue ought to be represented by 16I Scott members and not by 53. Compared with Ireland, Scotland has thus 106 members too few. Or, if £6,171,180 the Scottish revenue is voted away by 53 members, then £4,000,68I the Irish revenue ought to be voted away by 34 members, and not by 105. Of the Irish revenue, there was last year expended in Ireland £3,847,134 leaving a balance of £153,547 transmitted to Ireland while of the Scottish revenue, and 15,540,000 members and 15,540,000 members while 64 the Scottish revenue, and 15,540,000 members while 64 the Scottish revenue, and 15,640,000 members while 64 the Scottish revenue, and 15,640,000 members while 64 the Scottish prevenue and 15,640,000 members while 64 the Scottish prevenue and 15,640,000 members and 15,640,000 members while 64 the Scottish prevenue and 15,640,000 members and 15,640,000 membe

RUSSIA AND TURKEY.

By the Grace of God, We, Nicholas the First Emperor and Autrocrat of all the Bussians, &c.

"By our manifest of the Ith of June, of the present year, we inform our faithful and well-beloved subjects of the motives which made it incumbent upon us to demand from the Ottoman Porte inviolable guarantees in favour of the sared rights of the Orthodox Church." We at the same time announced to them that all our efforts to bring the Porte, by means of amicable persuasion, to sentiments of equity, and to the faithful observance oftreaties, had remained fruitless, and that, consequently, we deemed it indispensable to order our troops to advance into the principalities of the Danube. But, in adopting that measure, we still entertained the hope that the Porte would confess its errors, and would resolve to give satisfaction to our just reclamations.

hope that the Porte would confess its errors, and would resolve to give satisfaction to our just reclamations.

"Our expectations have been deceived. "it is in vain also that the great Powers of Europe have endeavored by their exhortations to shake the blind obstinacy of the Ottoman Government. It is by a declaration of war by a proclamation replete with false accusations against Russia, that is replied to the pacific efforts of Europe, and to our forbearance. Finally, enrolling in the ranks of its army the revolutionists of all countries, the Porte has commenced hostilities on the Danube.—Russia is provoked to the combat; no other means is left them then a recourse to arms to compel the Ottoman Government, to respect treaties, and to obtain from it the reparation of the offences by which it responded to our most moderate demands, and to our legitimate solicitude for the defence of the orthodox faith in the East which is also the religion of the Russian People.

"We are firmly convinced that our faithful subjects will join in the fervent prayers which we addressed to the most High, that His hand may design to bless our arms in the holy and just cause which has at all times found ardent defenders in our pious ancestors.

The order for convoking the Prussian Chamber for the 28th instant has not yet been published. Members of both Houses continue to resign their seats, but, as these resignations proceed indifferently from all the various parties in the Chamber, it is difficult to attribute them to other than private motives. The business of the approaching session will be confined as much as possible to matters of urgent necessity, and every attempt will be made to curtail its length. An order from the Finance Minister has been published for the repeal of the duty on the rice till the end of this year. Gozn,—"Gold well gotten is bright and fair; but there is gold which rusts and cankers. The stores of the man who walks according to the will of God are under a special blessing; but the stores which have been unjustly gathered are accused. "Your gold and your silver is cankered, and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat up your flesh as fire." Far better have no gold at all, than gold with that curse up-on it. Far better let cold pinch this frame, or hunger gnaws it, than the rust of illgotten gold should eat it up as fire."

BEAUTIPUL.-There is a deep and beautiful meaning in the saying of the wife of Jagellon, Duke of Lithuania. Some peasants coming to her in tears, complained that the servants of the King, her husband, had carried off their cattle. She went to her husband, and obtained instant redress, "Their cattle have been restored to them," said the Queen, "but who shall give them back their tears."

BONAPARTE ON NOVEL READING.—NO works were read but those of real value. By common consent all novels were ban-ished from the circle, as Napoleon inveterately abominated everything of the kind. If he happened to find a novel in the hands of any of the attendants of the palace, he unhesitatingly tossed it into the fire, and soundly lectured the reader upon her waste of time. (If Josephine had been a

To Professor Holloway,
Dear Sir.—I am enabled to furnish you with a most extraordinary cure effected by your invaluable Ointment and Pills which has astonished every person acquainted with the sufferer. About 10 years ago, Mr. W. Cammins, of Saltney Street, in this town, was thrown from his horse, whereby he received very serious injuries; he had the best medical advice at the time, and was afterwards an inmate of different infirmaries, yet he grew worse, and at length a malignant running ulcer settled in his hip, which so completely crippled him, that he could not move without crutches for nearly 10 years; recently he began to use your Ointment and Pills, which have now healed the wound, strengthened his limb, and enabled him to dispense with his crutches, so that he can walk with the greatest ease, and with renewed health and vigor. (Signed)

To Professor Holloway,

Dean Sin—I am authorised by Mrs. Gibbon, of 31, Bailey Street, in this town, to inform you, that for a considerable period she had been a sufferer from de bility, and general ill health, accompanied by a dis ordered stomach, and great derangement of the sys tem. In addition to this, she was terribly afflicted with elecated wounds, or running sores, in both her legs, so that she was totally incapable of doing her usual work. In this distressing condition she adopted the use of your Pills and Ointment, and she states that in a wonderful short time, they effected a perfect care of her legs, and restored her constitution to health and strength; and that she is now enabled to walk about with case and comfort. Several other persons in this neighbourhood have also received extraordinary benefit from the use of your invaluable medicines.

To Professor Holloway,

Dear Sir.—Among the numerous cures effected by the use of your valuable medicines in this neighbourhood, we may mention that of an old lady living in the Village of Preston, about five miles from this City. She had ulcerated wounds in her leg for many years, and latterly they increased to such an alarming extent as to defy all the usual remedies; her health rapidly giving way under the suffering she endured. In this distressing condition she had recourse to your Ointment and Fills, and by the assistance of her friends, was enabled to persever in their use, until she received a perfect cure. We have ourselves been greatly astonished at the effect upon so old a person, she being above '70 years of age. We shall be happy to satisfy any enquiries as to the authenticity of this really wonderful case, either personally or by letter.

A private in the Bath Police Force, also, has been perfectly cured of an old scorbutic affection in the face, after all other means had failed. He states that it is entirely by the use of your Ointment, and speaks londly in its praise. We remain, Dear Sir, Your's faithfully, (Signed) WALKER & Co.
