MARGARET LONG IS FREE FROM PRISON

Fredericton, N. B. June 23--Announcement was made at the Attorney General's department this morning that an order has been signed by the Lieutenant Governor for the release from the York County Jail of Miss Margaret Long, the Milford (St. John) girl, who was acquitted some weeks ago on a charge of infanticide.

But the young woman told a reporter this morning that she will remain at the jail, where she has been assisting Mrs. Hawthorne, wife of the sheriff, while confined there as a prisoner.

I don't think I could be with better people than Mr. and Mrs. Hawthorne, she explained.

While the Sheriff and Mrs. Hawthorne were away for a few days, Miss Long is in charge of the jail. She has been acquitted by a jury on a plea of insanity and her release was ordered by the Lieutenant Governor upon a report by an alienist that the insanity found by the jury had been entirely temporary and that she was normal and perfectly sane.

NOT LIKELY TO RACE THIS YEAR

FREDERICTON, June 23--Archie Alcorn, of Blackville, N. B. who sold Bill Sharon, 2.11 1/4 to Thomas W. Murphy, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., for $28,000 Canadian funds, is said to have received a letter a few days ago from the Grand Circuit wizard in which Mr. Murphy said that the big chestnut Fredericton-bred trotter had kicked his stall door while being driven into the stable after a workout, and, he stated, it was unlikely that he would be able to race him at all this year.

Kissing has never had to be preached to stimulate practice.

There are people who make it their business to set idle rumors to work.

"Is Lloyd George truly great?" it is asked. Certainly not. He is still alive.

LOOKOUT CHAIN TO BE LOCATED ON NORTH SHORE

G. H. Prince, Chief Forester has returned from a trip of inspection in some of the North Shore counties. The purpose of Mr. Prince's trip was to settle on suitable locations for forest fire lookout stations. A chain of these stations is to be started in Northumberland and Gloucester Counties with the co-operation of the Dominion Geodetic Survey. It is necessary for the carrying on of the work of the Geodetic Survey that they have towers in various places along the coast. Those in charge of the survey have with them a collapsible tower, such as was used by French troops during the war for observation purposes. The tower, which is carried on a motor truck can be raised 80 feet in two hours. This tower will be used all along the East coast of New Brunswick during this summer.

To Link With Bald Mountain

It has been decided that four lookout towers are to be erected in the Eastern part of Northumberland County, to come up in line with the tower situated on Bald Mountain, which was erected last winter by the Forestry Department. The sites for these towers have not yet been settled.

J. W. Menzies, of Ottawa, was in company with Mr. Prince on the behalf of the Geodetic Survey. Mr. Prince reports that the country is very dry.

HAPPY HOUR ON THURSDAY

Fate is oftimes the cruellest of jesters. Jacqueline Floriot's piteous life story bears vivid evidence of this. Turned from her home and family by her remorseless husband, a deputy attorney of Paris, she is unable to escape the dread shadow of a fate that crosses her baffled footsteps with ever increasing menace. Fate, in the guise of her husband's unjust suspicions, denies her the right to see her son; fate places in her hands the weapon which destroys a blackmailer who would ruin the career of her husband, now a judge; and fate brings her before the bar of justice where her husband presides and places her fight for life in the hands of her son--counsel for the defence. And having played trumps to the last, fate plays its joker, the highest card of all--death. Pauline Frederick in the role of Jacqueline Floriot brings an emotional t to the screen more intensified than any ever displayed by this popular star. You may have seen the stage version of this famous play--most everyone has, now see Goldwyn's masterful, heart touching picturization.

BLACKVILLE CHILD BURNED TO DEATH

Blackville, N. B. June 20--A sad fatality occurred here when the year old child of Mr. and Mrs. Judson Underhill was burned to death. While the mother was in another part of the house a two year old brother took a stick of burning wood out of the stove and ignited the child's clothing, and before the mother heard the cries of the little child every stitch was burned off its body and it died in a few minutes after suffering untold agony. The child is the youngest of five, the eldest being only five years old.

Text—Text—2:17: "Fear God, Honor the King." This Sunday, April 24, is especially associated with St. George, the patron saint of England and our hearts naturally look across the waves of the Atlantic to that moorland from which our fathers came.

"The land where freeman love to dwell,
A land of just and old renown,
Where freedom slowly broadens down
From precedent to precedent, Mighty indeed have been those
Who with the name of England
But in the field has made greater Advances than the field of politics.
She has justly earned her title Mother of Parliaments. The first of the English had shire moots and then hundred moots in which the freeman had his say as well as the thane, the power of the king was curbed by the witanagemot of free nobles. After the Norman conquest the moot system still persisted by the side of the autocratic feudal system brought from the continent. After the decline of the latter the power of government in England was shared with the king by the parliament where the knight of the shire took his seat as well as bishop and noble, while on the continent, to the contrary the power the nobles lost was absorbed by the king until a monarch like Louis XIV could hardly say "Let God and I am the state). But in England the power of parliament steadily grew, with the concession after concession from the king. The break between the two ideals of government, the autocratic and democratic, came in the reign of Charles I. and, while men were slain in fair stand up fighting between the opposing armies, there were none of the assassination and untold misery imposed upon thousands of innocent people as accompanied the French and Russian revolutions.
After the war the monarchy still remained, but henceforth it was to be the servant, not the master, of England's government made mistakes, and those of them that the American colonies, but she learned the lesson of tolerance from her errors. And today, as a result, she has by her side self-governing states to find her not by the sword but by ties of love and respect, with the crown as the central bond of union. This spirit of toleration, now so characteristic of the English, may not be seen to greater advantage than in the government's handling of the recent labor issue. A general strike of all the important unions, headed by the powerful Triple Alliance, had been ordered all over England. Such a strike would paralyze all industry, cause untold suffering to countless innocent women and children, and increase the already widespread unemployment. Besides this there were possibilities which the radicals fondly hoped to see realized, of the complete overthrow of the government, a great revolution of the ignorant masses and the disruption of law and order. And yet what happened? The inherent talent of the Englishman for self-government, the genius for compromise noted by Karl Marx himself, the love of justice and fair play, led to the postponement and final abandonment and averting of the danger. All this occurred without the firing of a single shot or the shedding of a single drop of blood.

Let me take you to another country and let you see an entirely different manner of handling a similar situation. When I was in Paris, in March, 1919, one of the sights that interested me most was the beautiful Church of the Madeleine, situated at the side of a great open square. The sunlight shone on the marble columns, and one seemed to catch a glimpse of the glory that once belonged to Greece. Six weeks later, on May 1, the Labor Day of Europe, that square in front of the Madeleine church was filled with a crowd of cursing workmen, throwing stones and firing revolvers, while from the side streets came charges after charges of mounted police with whips and drawn sabres. That night the setting sun still reflected upon the front was filled with the grim forms of those dead or those of those who were in their agony, the mothers ran with the red wine that flowed the day the Bastille fell. That was France's day of deliver with her people, but it was not England's.

I think I may say without fear of contradiction that in no country is the personal liberty of the individual citizen better safeguarded, while at the same time in no country is there greater stability of the state as a whole than exists in the land where the sun has shined for our keeps watch and yard by the North Sea.

This ability to govern and administer perhaps is the secret of England's great success as a colonizer. Today the English king rules over a territory of 1,400 million square miles, a quarter of the earth's surface, possessing a population of 400 million people. The British Empire is twice as large as all the Russias, three and one-half times larger than the United States, and fifty-two times larger than Germany.

To every part of the globe the sons of England have penetrated. They have assumed "the white man's burden," and brought peace and order and justice to the poor as well as the rich among hundreds of millions of native races. If it were not for this justice and fair play that has animated her colonial policy she could not hold a country like India very long with so small a number of soldiers and administrators. Whenever possible she has transplanted her own system of government and her own policy, that has borne ample fruit in the recent South African war, and today in Greater England she has five Empire hands instead of one. But when the challenge came in 1914 to Empire situations the five answered with the voice of one. Today is a great day for us. It is the day of Canada's birth, the day of Newfoundland's men with the old Red Patch, the men of the First Canadian Division, went down by the thousands before the

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and headache. I began just after my baby was born, and I did the best I could about getting my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I read in the papers about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have got dandy results from it and will always recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. HENRIETTA L. CASSIN, 18 Main Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could hardly keep about and do her housework she was so ill. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Fayette, O.—"For about three years I was very nervous and had headache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I got medicine from the doctor but it did not help me. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend your medicine to my friends and you may publish my testimonial."—Mrs. CHRISTINA A. BALL, R. 15, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience: Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me from working in my housework. I had such a headache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room. I was suffering with pain. Rubbing my back with alcohol sometimes eased the pain for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me so strong and healthy that I can do my housework as well as my garden. —Mrs. J. A. McQUITY, 200 W. Walnut St., Bloomington, Ill.

The conditions described in the above testimonial are those of many women who are suffering from female trouble and headache. In fact, it is said that the tragedy in the lives of some women is almost entirely due to the daily routine of housework, often made clothes for their families and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while suffering from these ailments. Headache, backache, nervousness, the blues, and troubles which sap the very foundation of life until there comes a time when nature gives out and an operation seems inevitable. If such women would only profit by the experience of these three women, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the natural restorative for such conditions it may save them years of suffering and unhappiness.

There is hardly a neighborhood in any town or hamlet in the United States where some woman does not reside who has been restored to health by this famous medicine. Therefore ask your neighbor, and you will find in a great many cases that at some time or other she, too, has been benefited by taking it, and will recommend it to you. For more than forty years this old-fashioned root and herb medicine has been restoring suffering women to health and strength.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Allments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

ABLE ADDRESS BY REV. F. H. BUCK

England's colonies are growing to young nations. The time is not far distant when the center of importance of the Empire will shift westward from London, but whatever happens the Empire will stand the greatest league of free nations the world has ever seen.

Being an island country the sons of England have had the love of the sea in bred in their veins. Perhaps it was inherited from their Scandinavian forefathers whose longboats harried the coast of Europe from Norway to Rome and took what they would.

Wherever the sun has shone on the sparkling, from far to the north where the icebergs grind, to the southern sea where the palm trees grow, on the coral reef, the ships of England have gone with the cross of St. George at the masthead.

To the shark and the sheering gull, it blood be the price of admiralty. Lord, God, we have paid it in full. Aye, England has paid her price for the right to be called mistress of the seas. She has had to meet and vanquish many an adversary.

It was Drake, Raleigh, Hawkins and many another captain who captured the great Spanish galleons on their way back from the New World and scattered his great Armada to the four winds. Their sons likewise picked up the gauge of defiance which Holland flung down for the mastery of the seven seas and Blake, with his merry men, forced Van his masthead with which, he once had boasted, he would sweep the English from the sea. Then it was Nelson who donned the mantle left by his famous forbears and the guns of the Nile and Trafalgar foiled Napoleon's dream of invasion of England and the conquest of the world. In 1914 it was the German navy, which, with the toast of "Der Tag" on its lips, flung down the challenge to that white ensign with the cross of St. George proudly emblazoned upon it. The answer came to that toast with the guns of Any-haven, Falkland Isles, Jutland, together with Ostend and Zeebrugge, whose anniversary we also commemorate today.

After those battles the residue of the German fleet sought safety in its mine-guarded harbors, with the bulldog's teeth snapping at its heels, while the British navy, the old Vindictive, the Thor and the Iphigenia remained as plugs for the wraps' nest from which many a noble ship had been sent to death.

The task of the British navy in its ceaseless watch through storm and fog, its unhesitating self-sacrifice when sacrifice was needed, its work in conveying safety to their destinations to and from the theatres of war, twenty million troops, including the whole of the American army, gradually wore down the morale of the enemy, shut off its food supply and was undoubtedly one of the deciding factors in winning the war.

But while we give due credit to the navy of England we must not forget the army. From the time when the English regiment with the war cry, "St. George," marched into the field, it has brought down the

TORTURED BY TERRIBLE ECZEMA

Suffered Three Years Until She Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q. "I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good. Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives'.

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure." Dame PETER LAMARRE (81s). 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

of the land from which we have Much has England done in the past. She has borne the brunt of the great crisis just over. But what is the spirit of England today? Will they prove worth of the sacrifice that has been made or has the old virtue gone out of them? Has she been so bruised and battered by war that she has sunk below the levels of her old solidity? Under the stress of evils following the war—the downfall of enthusiasm, the corruption and injustice of profiteers, the fear of poverty—is England losing that instructive wisdom that was hers in spite of small stupidities and large ignorance?

At first one is oppressed by fear that these things are so. Capital and labor seem to be arrayed in hostile camps, each with no thought of the welfare of the other. The slums, the alleys, and the ghettos where poverty and crime were so greatly fetters on men who in their bitterness want to smash everything because so much is evil. Their teachers spread propaganda everywhere, educating their followers. The big interests, the profiteers, are also organizing for a conflict. But in spite of the signs of mutual trouble I feel certain that the sterling commonsense of the mass of the English people will avert the conflict just as they did.

of France with their arrow fire at Crecy, Poitiers and Azincourt, the British infantry, though often small in numbers, was always respected by the neighbors. Under Marlborough it curbed the power of the greatest monarch France ever possessed. Under Wellington at Waterloo it caused the star of Napoleon to set in a sea of blood. The Russian infantry went down before the bayonets of the Guards at Inkerman and his gunners recoiled from the sabres of the Light Brigade at Balaclava. Since then the British Tommy has fought beneath many a land. Fighting back to back he reformed the broken square at Abu Klea when the "Fuzzy, Wuzzy" of the Sudan charged through with his shovel-headed spear. Though dying to the last man at Isandulana, at Rorke's Drift and Ulindi, he subdued the Zulu impi of Cetewayo, the greatest fighters of South Africa. He compelled the submission of Afghan and Pathan in their rocky villages in the Himalayas. He faced the lurking savages in the swamps of the Gold Coast and the fevers of Burma. Gordon avenged at Omdurman. The guns of Majuba Hill, Sion Kop and Colenso were answered by those of Paardeburg, Ladysmith and Mafeking. The Boer became a Briton.

What the English Tommy endured and suffered in the late war I do not need to tell you. No man could do so adequately. They told us England was a decadent country. That she cared only for drink and football. Let those who said such things stand by the "tower bridge" on the great crossier at Loos, let them gaze over the powdered villages in the "bloody bath of the Somme"; let them pass through the gate at Ypres, and let them answer when they are so far the ground where they stand is holy ground, watered by the blood of England's best and bravest. No nation is decadent which could do what England did for a principled ideal.

But lest one might think England is, on the one hand, a purely militarist nation, or, on the other, as Napoleon said, "a nation of shopkeepers" she stands second to no country, in the field of literary achievements. Only the works of that Greek trio, Euripides, Sophocles and Aeschylus, can compare with the magnificent portrayals of human life we find in the dramas of Shakespeare. As an epic poet John Milton has only two rivals, Dante and Virgil, Keats, Shelley and Wordsworth remain supreme as masters of lyric poetry. As she was the pioneer of the drama, she was also of the novel, and the names of Dickens, Thackeray, Scott, and Elliott will always remain glorious in this sphere of literature. In philosophy we have Herbert Spencer, J. S. Mill and Bentham. In science there are Huxley, Darwin, Wallace and many another. Thin, Watery Blood Means ill Health

Rich, Red Blood Brings Bright Eyes and Rosy Cheeks.

The girl who returns home from school or from work thoroughly tired out will be fortunate if she escapes a physical breakdown, because this getting tired so easily is probably the first warning symptom of a thinning blood that must be disregarded if her health is to be preserved.

When the blood becomes thin and impure the patient becomes pale. She not only tires out easily but often suffers from headaches, palpitation of the heart, dizzy spells and a loss of appetite.

In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found to have a beneficial action on the blood. Miss Delina Lafreniere, St. Am'rose, Man., has proved this in her own case, and advises others to use these pills. She says: "Before I began the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I felt like a complete wreck. My eyes were sore, my blood was poor and thin. I suffered from faint and dizzy spells, and had backache and headaches almost every day. I decided to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a trial, and in a little time I had used three boxes I felt much better and I continued taking the pills until I felt as well as I ever did. For what they did in my case I cannot recommend these pills too highly."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained from any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ALL OVER 65 YEARS WILL NOT RETIRE

Ottawa, June 21—Sir George Foster acting premier, has made the following statement regarding superannuations:—

It is not true that all employees of the post office department and of the department of customs and inland revenue over the age of 65 are to be retired from their positions as unfit for efficient service. Parliament has enacted certain legislation by which employees who have attained the age of 65, and who are not efficient, are to be dealt with under the Civil Service Commission with allowances as fixed by the Retirement Act, and it is incumbent upon the Government to carry out the will of Parliament in this respect in the interests of both accuracy and efficiency of the public service.

CULLING THE FLOCK

The hatching season should now be over on the well regulated poultry plant and attention directed to culling the flock to make room for the growing youngsters.

In the first place there should be vigorously culled from the flock all birds that show any physical defects such as crooked beaks, back or breasts, excessively long toe nails, sunken eyes and long "crow" head, knock-knees or other signs of poor stamina and low vitality.

At this season, if they have not already been discarded, the hens over two years old, unless possessing the characters of extra high production and retained as breeders on this account, should be marketed as soon as they stop laying, show signs of broodiness or moult.

When trap nests are used, this condition is readily noticeable but if not the hens that have stopped laying can be easily distinguished by their shrinking comb and fading colour of face and wattles, also by the contraction of the pelvic bones.

The bones, slightly protruding on each side of the vent, remain spread to the width of about three fingers held perpendicularly between them, as long as the hen is laying. In the poor producer they will be found closed to the width of only one finger and when the latter condition is evident early in the season, when she should be still producing, it is a fairly good indication that the bird has given up too soon and is not the type which makes the high record.

Vigour, health and high productive qualities are shown by distinctly visible characters and all birds that do not carry these qualities in a marked degree should disappear from the flock.

The high-producing characters of primary significance are: full, red comb, bright bulging eyes, long keel bone with lots of white between stern extremity and pelvic bones showing depth of body with capacity for food and room for the producing organs; fine pelvic bones spread well apart and an elastic, velvet texture to the skin of the abdomen.

Hens that moult late in the season and in the yellow-skinned varieties these individuals then fade out white in the sections in that show pigmentation, namely the skin, beak, shank and ear lobe, also indicate the possibility of high production and should be kept in preference to those that do not carry these qualities.

There are more intricate decisive characters that help in the selection of good from poor layers, but the foregoing will be of some use in an elementary way, to the farmer in selecting his breeders to carry over to the next season. If carefully followed they will eliminate most of the undesirable specimens that are a source of expence without profit and rob the deserving hens of the flock of their creditable record.

Probably even in the days when wives rode behind their husbands on horses' backs they insisted on telling them how to do the driving.

RESIGNATION OF REV. DR. WYLLIE

A pro re nata meeting of the Presbytery of Miramichi was held in St. Andrew's Hall, Chatham, on Monday, June 20th at 1 o'clock p. m. The members of Presbytery in attendance were Rev. Dr. E.B. Wyllie moderator, W. McMatthews, clerk, L. H. MacLear, Alex. Firth, G.P. Tattie, Thomas Harrison and Messrs. Wm. Carruthers and D. Sadler, elders. The court was constituted with prayer by the Moderator. The clerk stated the purpose for which the meeting was called, namely, to consider and deal with the resignation of Rev. Dr. Wyllie of the pastoral charge of St. Andrew's Church, Chatham with a view to accepting a call to the pastorate of First Presbyterian Church, San Diego, California. At this point Dr. Wyllie vacated the chair and called upon Rev. L.H. McLean to act as Moderator for the conduct of the business of the meeting. The clerk read the resignation of Dr. Wyllie and stated that he had duly cited the congregation of St. Andrew's to appear in their interests at this meeting of Presbytery.

Messrs. F.M. Tweedie, Robert Murray, D. Sadler, A.G. Dickson and H.W. Fleigher were present as regularly appointed commissioners of the congregation. Mr. Tweedie presented a resolution which had been adopted at a meeting of the congregation expressing sincere appreciation of the services of Dr. Wyllie as minister for nearly five years, regret at the prospect of his departure from them, their decision to place no obstacle in the way of his acceptance of this call to a position of larger opportunities and responsibilities and their best wishes for success in his new prospective pastorate.

The commissioners one and all spoke in terms of commendation regret and goodwill, in the spirit of the resolution. Members of Presbytery expressed gratification at the spirit shown by the congregation and its commissioners, and spoke in terms of appreciation and goodwill of their co-presbyter to whom this call had come to the wider field. Dr. Wyllie, being called upon, spoke in feeling words of his relations with the people of the congregation during his pastorate, appreciating their royalty and the spirit shown on this occasion, and stated his decision to adhere to his resignation.

On motion of Mr. Matthews seconded by Mr. Tattie, the resignation was accepted to take effect on and after Sunday, August 7th next, and the sympathy of Presbytery tendered to St. Andrew's congregation in this severance of the pastoral tie. Rev. L.H. McLean was appointed interim-moderator of St. Andrew's session, to declare the pulpit vacant on August 14th and to moderate in a call to a minister at the will of the congregation. On motion a Presbyterial Certificate was granted Dr. Wyllie and the clerk instructed to forward an extract minute of the proceedings of this meeting to the clerk of the Presbytery of Los Angeles.

RAILWAY CUT IS POSTPONED

Toronto, June 21—There will be no wage reduction on the Canadian Railroads on Dominion Day, according to the Brotherhood chiefs who returned to Toronto today from the conference held in Montreal with the railway executives. The railways receded from their announced intention, the delegates said, and as a result of the conference will not put into effect on July 1 the 12 per cent. wage reduction intended.

The Brotherhood representatives took the ground at the conference that they could do nothing about the proposed reduction until the big railway gathering in Chicago on July 1, dealt with the official award of the United States labor board recommending a reduction in wages of 13 per cent. on the railroads in the United States.

EVERYBODY SEES A CHANGE IN FATHER

Grateful Son Says His Father Looks Like Different Man Since Taking Tanlac

My father has suffered from chronic stomach trouble for over twenty years and has paid out thousands of dollars for medicines and doctors," said G. W. Slayton, a well known Cobb Country farmer, living a short distance out of Atlanta, Ga. "We tried nearly everything trying to cure him and he went off to the Springs, thinking maybe he would get better. It just looked like nothing would cure his trouble. Then he tried dieting and lived on liquid food until he almost starved, but even that failed to do him any good and he just kept going from bad to worse. "I don't guess there ever was a case as stubborn as his and there ever was a confirmed dyspeptic. He was one of them and I guess he would have been one yet if it hadn't been for this Tanlac. "The first we heard of this medicine was when my father saw an advertisement in the paper from parties he knew in Tennessee, who had friends of his and knew what they said about it was the truth, so he got it right away and began taking it. Well, sir, he never felt better since he began taking it down to the table and ate like a champion. Only yesterday he ate pork and turkey for his dinner and ate so much we were actually afraid he was going to over-do the thing but he laughed and said nothing hurt him now and that he was hungry and expected to eat and make up for lost time. "Now, when a medicine will do things like that, I think people ought to know about it and I want to say right now that I can't not give a testimonial for Tanlac for all the good health results in the country put together."

What a Great Boston Newspaper Said of Sells-Floto Last Year

There are newspaper reviews and newspaper reviews all of them worth while, but some more authoritative than others. Below is what the Boston American, Tuesday, June 1, 1921, had to say of "the second largest show on earth," coming to Moncton, Dominion Day and to Newcastle on Saturday and this season Sells-Floto comes with an added stage, a bigger and larger tent, a greater parade and a better performance.

"A great day it was for Boston, and a great day it will be, with Sells-Floto camped on the Hunting Top avenue showgrounds, opposite the Boston Opera House, and something doing their every minute. Throngs, the like of which have not been seen in considerable time, choked the lane ways of the capital city, that contains so many wonders. And not only were the two big shows given as scheduled, but an extra performance had to be put on yesterday afternoon to accommodate the insistent demands of the holiday crowd.

"There are more than the present one, which will be here until Saturday night. It is an intimate circus, albeit bigger and better than last year. It carries an array of assorted clowns, the delight of the kiddies; it has the most gorgeously acquired wild animals, and the star acts are as good as the best. For instance there are the Hannefords, equestrian experts, headed by the remarkable "Poodles" Hanneford, from the New York Hippodrome.

"There are the stunning Riding Roneys, the Hobsons, the Hogginis, the Japanese Oudeas and Mrs. Cotterell-Powell, Alfredd, Godson, of the aerial troupe of that name turns triple somersaults in the air. The Flying Nelsons defy the laws of gravitation. The LeGrish-Enough contortionists receive a big slice of the honors. Bertha Beeson, the extraordinary slack wire-walker, thrills and fascinates by dancing and by her peculiar and jarring obstacles on the mid-air wire. There are a score of other attractions to delight the senses of the children, the Indians, cowboys, Arab warriors, Japanese, French and English. And as for animals—bears, horses, dogs, elephants. There are numerous side shows, a Manager and a musical comedy with

PUBLIC HEALTH NURSES READY

The public health nurses when they go out to their fields in the province will have as complete and perfect an equipment as can be obtained. The five nurses who were trained at the Victorian Order training school and who were graduated recently are to go to their respective districts on July 1. The Red Cross Society, which assumed their training, is now assuming responsibility for their equipment. The committee which was especially appointed to arrange for the securing of the kit and equipment in consultation with Miss Coates, the superintendent of the V. O. N., has made a list of all the articles required and is now at work seeing that every item on the list be available for each of the five nurses as she enters on her work. Not only is the kit to be sufficient to meet all the requirements of the nurse at the outset in medical, surgical and emergency supplies, but it is to form a model for all future needs. The local Red Cross branches have been asked to help the nurses in their districts and it is thought that the initial supplies given the nurses will be patterns to guide the members of the local societies in making more as they are required. The equipment is not only for the actual needs of nursing but for the public health work done for the safeguarding of health and that the nurses undertake in outposts. In their campaign to prevent disease the work of making up the equipment is being carried on at the Red Cross depot and it is found to be no light and easy task.

CUT WORMS DESTROY BEANS
Not for many years have cut-worms been so numerous and destructive as they are this season. Many fields of beans, which appear to be their favored prey, are nearly destroyed. The beans are not only cut off after they come up, but the worms operate under ground, cutting through the stock as soon as it grows. The bean crop on account of these depredations, will likely be very light. Peas and other plants have also suffered, but not to the extent of the beans.
