Ottawa, Nov. 15-Special marked the formal opening of the first session of the twelfth parliament of the Dominion, owing to the circumstance that for the first time in the history of the Dominica the vice-regal throne in the Senate chamber was occupied by a prince of the blood reval who read the speech from the throne, first in English and then in faultless French, much to the delight of the French-Canadian members of the House. A mantle of recently fallen ideal. A mantle of recently fallen snow covered the ground and the sun shone brightly, which added materially to the brilliancy of the military part of the spectacle, while the crisp winter air had an exhilarating effect on the men in uniform as well as the people who had turned out in thous ands to see the Duke of Connaught and his escort arrive after the drive from Government house. On arrival in the Upper House Speaker Sproule informed His Royal Highness that he had been elected speaker by the House of Commons and then repeated the usual for:nuia, wherein the Commoners, "Humbly claim their undoubted rights and privileges, especially that they may have freedom of speech in the debates, access to Your Royal Highness' person at all seasonable times, and that the proceedings may receive from Your Royal Highness the most fvaorable

Special to the Bulletin, Ottawa, Nov. 15-T. S. Sproule East Grey, Ontario, was elected speaker today without opposition. Only Sir Wilfrid and one or two others have been members as long as the new speaker. Sir Wilfrid suggested that as the Government had come to power on an ultraimperial policy, it might have followed imperial precedent and reelected the former speaker, Hon. Mr. Marcil. When this was not done he had no fault to find with the selection made except that he knew the speaker proposed to be an extreme Tory. That, however, was his misfortune rather than his fault. He drew attention to the fact that the minister of public works, Mr. Monk, who was supporting the election of Dr. Sproule to the highest position in the House of Commons had for months before and during the recent campaign attacked him violently and continuously for his connection with the Orange order.
