Town and County News

GUELPH DIRECTORY—A big stock on hand—35cts. at Anderson's bookstore.

The Brockville Recorder is about to come out daily. Father Wylie grows vigorous with age. We hope his new venture will prove a success.

A correspondent at Cedarville writes that the wolves in that section are getting extremely bold. A flock of sheep in the neighborhood was actually worried in broad daylight.

HESPELER.—The quarterly meeting of the Methodist New Connexion Church, Hespeler, held on Saturday, voted, by a large majority, in favour of union with the Wesleyans.

COOL BROTHERS.—This popular comic singer, with a talented company is to pay a visit. He appears next Friday and Saturday at the Town Hall. His advertisement appears tomorrow.

G. W. R.—The new time-table for the Great Western Railway which goes into force to day, Monday, is now fuller than ever. On the main line there are now no less than 43 regular trains, besides many specials. The traffic is very large.

THANKSGIVING DAY.—Announcements were made yesterday from the pulpits of most of the churches in town that services would be held next Thursday the day appointed by the Lieut.-Governor for general harvest thanksgiving.

A short time since, Rev. M. M. MacNeill, pastor of St. Andrew's church, Mount Forest, and Woodland Chapel, Egremont, was presented with a cutter robe by the ladies of his Egremont congregation, at the residence of Mr. Alex. McIntyre, 6th concession.

The Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway have ordered 160 new cars and six new engines. Besides these, six track-laying engines will be available for ordinary traffic during the winter. This will considerably relieve the pressure on the carrying capacities on the line.

Y. M. C. A.—The Y. M. C. A. has been busy for some time making arrangements for various entertainments during the winter, and the programme for November is, a social on the 13th, a lecture by Rev. T. Guttery on the 17th, and a concert by the Veselius Sisters, trio, on the 25th.

SONGS.—"Come, Birdie Come" and the answer "Birdie has Come" has been sent us by John Anderson. They are Nos. 6 and 9 of Irving's five-cent musical series, and are capital little songs, especially suited for young folks. The melodies are pleasing, and easily remembered.

RICE'S BILLIARD HALL.—Mr. J. Rice announces in our columns to-day that he has reopened the large Billiard Hall recently occupied by Mr. Wm. O'Connor, in the Queen's Hotel. It has been thoroughly refitted and rendered comfortable, convenient, and attractive. Mr. Rice will make a popular manager, and will show every attention to visitors.

Two views taken in the town of Guelph appear in the Canadian Illustrated News this week, and more are promised for future numbers. Those now given are the Town Hall and the railway viaduct. Some of the other illustrations in this number are of great interest, including fine portraits of Marshal Bazaine, Louis Niel, and young Fraser, winner of the Galt scholarship for 1873.

RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—James Richardson, a brakeman on the Grand Trunk Railway, had his hand badly smashed near the freight station on Friday evening. About half-past five o'clock he was coupling cars on a freight train and accidentally fell into a cattle guard. He grasped the rail to save himself and the wheel ran over his left hand. Dr. Herod attended.

THE G. W. R. BOARD.—The Great Western half yearly report shows that three of the four Directors eligible for re-election, viz.—George Smith, Esq., England; Wm. Weir, Esq., Glasgow, and D. McInnes, Esq., of Hamilton—did not offer themselves, but that the following were elected: Hon. Wm. McMaster, Toronto; Lieut.-Colonel Francis Douglas Gray, of Ludgrove, New Barnet; Sir Keith Jackson, Bart, Kingston; Thomas Barkworth, Esq., of Austin Friars, London, England.

PRESENTATION.—Mr. R. Fleming being about to remove from Hamilton to Guelph the members and friends of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School, on Friday evening, presented him with a beautiful silver cake basket. The Rev. S. William, son, pastor of the Church, accompanied the presentation with an address, expressive of the sorrow of the Sunday School and the Church in having to say good-bye to one so universally esteemed. Mr. Fleming replied in a very feeling manner.—Hamilton Times.

MR. H. S. MACDONALD, M.P.P., has been made assistant judge of Leeds, Mr. G. H. Dartnell has been appointed junior judge for Waterloo.

London and Hamilton are going to have a football contest.

Local and Other Items

DRAGHTS.—Jas. Wylie, of Carleton, Scotland, the champion draughtman of the world, is expected to pay St. Catharines a visit in the course of four or five weeks.

The St. Catharines Daily News complains of the action of Charles Donaldson, "self-elected Immigration Agent from that District to England." Donaldson has sent a batch of ninety emigrants, laborers and their families, to St. Catharines; and the News says that it is not the place, nor the beginning of winter the time, to send these people.

"Clear House no more."—On Thursday morning the notorious John Martin, who broke from the Wentworth County Gaol in July last, while there awaiting his trial for aggravated assault, came to prison and gave himself into custody. He was in a most pitiable condition. Sickness had reduced him to almost a shadow, and his right leg was badly hurt, which caused him to limp painfully.

A CLERGYMAN who had a railway stoker amongst his parishioners asked the stoker's wife the reason that she and her husband never came to church, and was astonished to find that she was occupied during the whole of Sunday in scouring her husband. That unhappy man, having had no time to wash during the week, was necessarily excessively black by the time Sunday came round; and his wife, after darning the whole day to scouring him with a scrubbing brush, was satisfied if she could bring him to a light brown color by night. Good Words is responsible for this dark story.

Schieber, the celebrated German violinist, and favourite pupil of Joachim, the greatest classical violinist that ever lived, will be in Toronto on Nov. 10.

Messrs. Hamilton & Sons, founders of Toronto, who employed about 500 men in changing the cars of the Grand Trunk Railway Company for the narrow gauge, discharged a number of men, owing to the completion of this heavy contract.

The Oddfellows got on subscribing for the yellow fever sufferers. The New Hamburg Lodge has given $20, and Goderich Lodge $65.

A community in the county of Haldimand was last week thrown into quite a ferment by the sudden and unexpected disappearance of a young man with a young lady of standing and good circumstances. The young fellow's father is left to mourn not only the loss of his son but the loss of $19,000 in bills, this equivalent for certain loads of grain brought to market.

Louis Hendrick, a baker's boy, was killed in St. Catharines five days ago by the accidental discharge of a gun carried by one of three young men to whom he had given a ride.

The following assignments have been made in Ontario since the 10th Oct: Geo. J. Stocks, Sarnia; Henry A. Galbraith, Napanee; T. K. Scovill, Farmersville; McCready & Babit, Pictou; Geo. R. McLeod, Hollin; C. W. Grossmith, Toronto; A. L. Caselman, Morrisburg; Wm. Paterson, Harris; S. T. Culph & Co., Cobocook; Kinzie & McIntyre, Sarnia; W. S. Harvey, Pembroke; J. Ross Robertson, Toronto; R. J. Pitts, South Finch; A. Burton, Lindsay; Wm B. Irving, Dundas; A. H. Dixon, Toronto; E. Barker, Ingersoll.

The quantity of freight at present passing over the Galt Branch of the Great Western from the north is enormous.

The Galt Reporter says that the rates of freight on the Great Western Railway have been advanced a considerable extent within the past two weeks. A car to Suspension Bridge from Galt used to cost $200 the rate is now $28. It is understood that the increase is not local in its character.

A sea captain, invited to meet the committee of a society for the evangelization of Africa, when asked, "Do the subjects of King Dahomey keep Sunday?" replied "Yes, and everything else they can lay their hands on."

The arrivals from sea at Quebec to date, are 190 sailing vessels of 628,824 tons; 155 steamers of 186,384 tons, being 1,000 tons less than last year. There remain in port 31 vessels, and very few are expected to arrive.

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW is to hand from the publishers of the American edition, the Leonard Scott Company, 140 Fulton street. In an interesting paper on "the education of American women," the system of the co-education of the sexes in schools and colleges is favorably spoken of. The Westminster is to a considerable extent representative of the broad school of theological thought, and a well written article in the present number on the Apocalypse is an example of this characteristic. Amongst the other articles is an able one upon the Irish question; and the reviews of miscellaneous literature are as full and varied as ever.

CANADA SOUTHERN.—The Detroit Free Press, after stating that no order had been issued for the suspension of operations, says: "On construction so far, nearly nine million has been expended. The bed is completed, the bridges up, the rails down, and the ferry boat across the Detroit making regular trips from Guelph to the Canada terminus. About one and a half millions more is required to thoroughly equip the road and put it in condition for business. Work will not be suspended for lack of this sum, inasmuch as several of the Directors, Messrs. Courtwright, W. L. Scott, Case, men, Tracy and others, are individually worth from one to five millions. The iron is laid from Detroit to Toledo, and there is nothing lacking but rolling stock. The only gans discharged are two that have completed their work on this division. From Trenton to Fayette, Ind., 65 miles, the road is also ironed and construction trains running."

"Tired Nature's Sweet Restorer, Balm Sleep." But there are times when this "Renewer of Strength" is denied us; times when our minds and bodies have been so over-worked and are so worn out that we "woe the drowsy god in vain." The Peruvian Syrup (an Iron Tonic) renews our strength and makes our rest sweet and refreshing.

MANUFACTURE OF COCOA.—"We will now give an account of the process adopted by Messrs. James Epps & Co., manufacturers of dietetic articles, at their works in the Euston Road, London."—See article in Cassell's Household Guide.

Violent Assault by a Man on his Sister-in-law.

(From our Correspondent.)
On the afternoon of Friday last Wm. McIntyre, of the Gore, of Puslinch, committed a violent and impetuous assault on his sister-in-law, wife of Mr. John McIntyre, of the same neighborhood. It appears that for some time back a feud has existed between the two families—John McIntyre being proprietor of the property on which his brother William lived. His (John's) wife accompanied by her son, a boy of twelve years of age went at the time above alluded to, to drive off some cattle that were on said premises. On seeing them start the cattle, William came out and in a very menacing tone ordered them to desist, and on their refusing to comply he first chased and wounded the boy, and then returned to the woman, striking her twice with his closed hand. On receiving the second blow the woman fell, after which he kicked her in the body, telling her that he would prevent her troubling any one else for a while. The boy with all haste ran and informed Mr. McClarty, the nearest neighbor, of the fact, and on his arrival he found the woman lying in the field apparently lifeless, but fortunately not so. She was at once conveyed home and Dr. Swan, of Hespeler, called on to administer to her sufferings. The doctor pronounced the woman to be in a dangerous condition. A warrant was issued for the arrest of the culprit, and next morning constable Ellis, of Puslinch, arrested him and brought him before Squire Ellis, who after an investigation into the case had him committed to Guelph gaol, where he now lies awaiting his trial.

A correspondent of the Collingwood Bulletin says that Sunday traffic is decreasing on the G.T.R., and adds: "I believe that Sabbath work and intemperance were two frightful causes of demoralization among the employees of the Grand Trunk, and now that the managers are pursuing a more christian and common-sense policy on these points, I hope for very good results to the road."

WELLINGTON FALL ASSIZES.

BEFORE MR. JUSTICE HAGARTY.

Guelph, Nov. 3rd.

The Assizes opened at one o'clock to-day, before Judge Hagarty. Mr. Sinclair, of Goderich, is Crown prosecutor. The following are the GRAND JURY.

John Hogg, foreman; Alex. Allen, George A. Bruce, John Cord, Samuel Coleclugh, Ben. Fountain, John Ferguson, Alex. Godfrey, Wm. Giles, Jas. Johnson, John Long, Jas. McKinney, W. McCormack, J. C. Ross, James Simpson, M. Sweetman, jr., George Werts, Morris Halley.

THE JURY'S CHARGE.
In charging the Grand Jury, Mr. Justice Hagarty said he was glad to see that the criminal calendar was not very heavy, showing only three cases, one of rape, one of larceny, and one of forgery, though he understood there were other cases, where the accused was out on bail. None of the cases appeared, to call for any remark from him. As soon as the Grand Jury had made their presentment he should be happy to discharge them. He was sorry to say that there was a great deal of civil business—about 44 cases being on the docket. Next Thursday was set apart for a general holiday, but in view of the large amount of business before the court, he thought it would hardly be just to the suitors for the court not to sit on Thursday, though the opening of the court might be delayed until one o'clock. He would take the Superior Court cases before County Court cases—that is, after the undefended ones had been disposed of.

The business of the Assizes was then proceeded with.

Notes from Ottawa.

Correspondence of the Hamilton Times.
OTTAWA, Nov. 1.
An article appears in the Government organ here, this evening, calling upon Mr. Blake to join the party of gentlemen. It pours upon him the most fulsome adulation. They praise him more than their own leader, and in passionate terms adjure him to leave the men who have always stood by him, and join with Sir John and the party of gentlemen. The object of this article is too thin, and excites great merriment—being regarded as one of the dying groans of corruption.

It is now ascertained that the Government is in the minority, and the public is strung to a high state of excitement. The most stupendous efforts of corruption and tempting offers of position to members of the House have failed to secure a majority for the Government, and members are making up their minds for a sudden departure from Ottawa as Sir John threatens to appeal to the country, when defeated.

The political situation is somewhat changed, giving accession of strength to the Opposition.

The statement by the Montreal Gazette that Dodge has taken his place in the House, is untrue; he will take good care to keep out of the hands of the parties here who want him. A telegram from New York states that he was in that city yesterday.

The special correspondent of the Toronto Mail, whose attacks on the private character of gentlemen in this city have excited so much disgust, and who is a civil service employer, has been dismissed, it is said, by the conductor of that journal, for perversion of truth.

Correspondence of the Globe.
OTTAWA, Nov. 2nd.
The state of public feeling, even under the very shadow of the Government buildings, is shown by the fact that nearly eight hundred signatures have been addressed to Mr. Lewis, M. P. for this city, protesting against the improper attempts made in the interests of the Ministry to induce him to vote contrary to his independent convictions. Dr. Grant's constituents are also moving, his speech having given many of them great dissatisfaction.

The debate will be opened to-morrow by Sir John A. Macdonald, and rumor attributes to him the intention of speaking at great length. He will be followed probably by Mr. Blake, whose resume of the evidence, and exposition of the several questions that have been raised in connection with the Pacific scandal, are anticipated with much interest.

The impression now abroad is that the vote will not be reached till Tuesday night, or the small hours of Wednesday morning. Mr. Langwin, Mr. Savary, and Mr. Hillyard Cameron are said to be further speakers on the Government side.

Mr. Hillyard Cameron is, it is said, to sum up for the accused Ministers, and give his reasons for voting "yea" in favor of them.

It is a perfectly well understood rule that after notice has been given of a vote of no confidence, all but the necessary business is suspended, and that no official appointments are made until the House has disposed of the question before it. The announcements of the appointments to judgeships and other offices made during the past week show that this rule is being openly violated by the present Ministry.

There is no doubt that many of the supporters of the Government are greatly embarrassed by the position in which they find themselves placed. It is not wonderful, therefore, that some of them have been desirous the Government should anticipate the vote by resignation, and so relieve the faithful from a disagreeable dilemma. Remonstrances to this effect are understood to have been made.

The Gazette of yesterday contains several appointments.

TEMPTATION.—If you want to try a man's capacity, ask him into Maroon's, give him a cigar, then a strip of paper; light a match, and as soon as he has the cigar bit off and his paper in a blaze, ask him an important question that can't be answered under sixty seconds. The generality of mankind pull hard again, and recommence afresh. They then begin to reply, stop short and pull, send out a sentence enveloped in smoke, and about as clear as ground green glass; then they break off short and go for the weed again, and finally they try to convey their thoughts in an eloquent glance; the paper burns down to their fingers, and their hand goes up like a pigeon out of a spring trap. The final expression of sentiment is not exactly suitable for a class Sunday-school.—Translated from the B. postor.

MONDAY EVENING, NOV. 3, 1873

Honorable Conservatives.

Those Ministerial supporters who joined with the Reformers in the protest of August 13th, are one by one showing that they consistently maintain the ground they took on that memorable day. Messrs. Coffin, Cunningham, Glass, Macdonell (Inverness), MacKay (Cape Breton), and Burpee (St. John) have announced in the House their intention of supporting Mr. Mackenzie's amendment to the address. They will show by their vote that they at least will free themselves from the taint of corruption which will henceforth be inseparably associated in Canada with the name of Tory. Fidelity to party ties is a duty which needs no enforcing; on the contrary, even when the choice is between party and honor, great moral courage is required to take the irrevocable step, and face the bitter wrath of quondam friends. The present political crisis is one of the few occasions which more than justify a party secession; and when the events of the present have become history, justice will be done to those men who have nobly protested against the most gigantic corruption that has ever disgraced our annals—protested in the face of an almost overwhelming pressure. How severe this pressure was is shown by a little incident which has come to light regarding Mr. MacKay, who received a cable telegram threatening him with loss of valuable business connections if he voted against Sir John and his friends.

Amongst the repudiators of Ministerial infamy, Mr. David Glass, M. P. for Fife-Middlesex, has been honored by especially virulent abuse from the organs of corruption; and the London Herald is foremost in the attack. A denunciation of his parliamentary career does not satisfy the London organ; it goes back to his boyhood, and declares with upturned eyes that his meanness as a schoolboy had passed into a by-word. We can suggest the explanation of this peculiar animus: David Glass once cleaned out the Herald editor when playing at marbles, and the latter has never forgiven him.

In their eagerness to damage Mr. Glass, the Tory papers have got ahead of time, and placed themselves in a ridiculous position, as will be seen by the following from the London Advertiser:

The absurdity of the statement telegraphed from this city to the Tory prints in Toronto, that there was "intense and universal indignation amongst the constituents of Mr. Glass," on hearing that he had gone against the Government, is so apparent that its appearance here was treated with general ridicule. The fact that except the editor and employees of the morning organ here, no one in the city even knew that Mr. Glass had spoken, or was aware of the tone of his remarks, is sufficient to show the utter impossibility of "universal indignation" having been excited among his constituents, who are scattered over a wide extent of country, and the majority of whom are yet ignorant of what Mr. Glass has said or done.

We see that a letter has appeared in the Ingersoll Chronicle, from "thirteen Conservatives who supported Mr. Glass at last election," expressing their thanks to him "for the independent and upright course he has taken in the House, in endeavoring to hurl from power the parties who sold the Pacific Railway charter, and with the money debauched and degraded our country." This is a specimen of the "universal indignation!"

A hundred thousand dollars is a tempting prize, but even the offer of this magnificent sum has failed to bring about the substitution of steam for horse power in towing vessels on the Erie Canal. It appears that no machinery has been invented which will do the work at a less cost than horses; that the boats as now constructed are too large for the capacity of the canal, their progress being retarded by natural and well-known laws relating to space for the displacement of water and that none of the trial boats could make a speed of three miles an hour. The Erie ditch is a puzzling problem to the State. They would like to enlarge it, but the engineers say this is not practicable.

With the death of King John of Saxony the question will again arise whether that kingdom is in danger of being incorporated into the kingdom of Prussia. It is well known that King William desired after the victory of Sedowa, in 1866, to annex Saxony, pure and simple, as Han-

WHAT TO WEAR.

This is a question which in all probability occupies to a certain extent the attention of every lady in the town of Guelph at the present time. A. O. ver was treated. But the intervention of Bismarck prevented this, and kept the old King on the throne during his lifetime. The probabilities are that his son and heir will be allowed quietly to succeed him. Since 1866 the German Empire has been founded and the supremacy of the royal family of Prussia has been so firmly established that the sovereignty of the smaller States like Saxony is a mere inoffensive formality which does not in the least embarrass the action of the Imperial Government.

THE Pall Mall Gazette has another article on the Pacific Scandal in which it replies incisively to a letter defending the Canadian Ministry which had been published in its columns under the signature of "A Canadian." The Morning Advertiser, a strong English Conservative journal has also an article vigorously condemning the conduct of the Dominion Ministry in reference to the prorogation, which it characterises as a "despotic and arbitrary expedient." The Advertiser blames the Imperial government for disallowing the Oaths Bill.

MINISTERIAL DEBATES.—The following interesting remarks are from the Ottawa letter of the Hamilton Times:—Mr. Picton McDonald—famously termed Jim McDonald by those who know him personally (to distinguish him, I suppose, from others of the same name) was the next speaker. This gentleman, the member for Picton, N.S., is a leading barrister in Halifax. His powers of utterance, style and deportment are the very antipodes of the previous speaker. He is sharp, quick and decisive—fluent in words and mellifluous in accent—capital at repartee—cool and collected at all and every moment. He is, by all odds, the foremost man in the ranks of the Ministers. His style is less strong, less straining for oratorical effect, than Tupper or Hillyard Cameron; but is more fervid in its character, and his words carry more weighty conviction. He speaks as though he believed what he said, and there is a certain show of honesty about the man that at least carries respect—even from his adversaries. Tupper and Cameron, on the contrary, soft and oily of speech, rarely elicit the sympathies of an audience because of their known insincerity. Cameron's style, when addressing the House on previous occasions (he has not spoken this session) partakes too much of the character of an advocate addressing a jury; whilst Tupper—his superior in word painting—is too unreal to be pleasing.

CHAPTER V.

THE CATRANS OF BEN-A-SCHUI—CAMERON AND IAN FLOTT MISCHIEF—FLORA ALONE WITH HER

Then he exclaimed— "M'Kenzie, you are right. And when I go personally I can much more effectively plead my own cause. It would be success to a certainty. By heavens, M'Kenzie, in a year from this, I tell you, the feud between the house of your foes and yourself will be at an end. In that time Donald Cameron will be the chieftain of the McLeods, and then it will be for our advantage to heal up the wounds. "Nothing would give me greater delight," responded Ian, "I tell you this, that so much do I hate that constant dread of death which must of a necessity haunt a clansman in the midst of a raging rancorous feud, and so much do I dread the fury of the McLeods in the present weak state of my clan, that, with Hector's death, I would almost sue for peace to-morrow, if I thought the bones of the McKenzies would rest in their graves under it."

"Bah! don't be a boy, M'Kenzie. Let the bones of the McKenzies lie and rot. They'll not harm you. There's no danger on that score, and you do not require to care for any M'Kenzie that either is or ever has been, your father excepted; but you must care for yourself. Keep up the old spirit—at least pretend to do so; you'll find it best in the end. No, no; no suing for peace, Ian. With the prospect that is before us, I think you can afford to keep up the strife until I succeed to the reins of government at Castle McLeod."

"But what do you propose doing with Flora?" "With Flora? I'll have her conveyed to Droghdaire to-morrow night, or the night following. It will be a rare stroke of fortune for both of us, I can tell you, when I am the husband of Anne M'Leod, and you of Flora Macgregor."

"I hope you do not anticipate much difficulty about that Gowanybraes matter. That is the chief object with both of us, remember. Flora is good enough, but the power that Gowanybraes will bring is much better."

"You are right, M'Kenzie, and you need not fear on that score. That day you wed Flora, I will put you in possession of sufficient proof to show that Gowanybraes is hers. As yet, mark ye, she is totally ignorant of that. She has always been led to believe that she was a bastard born, and her deluded mother thought that I knew not of her marriage with Henry Douglass. But there's a secret beyond this which I dare not intrude upon. However, never fear; it is my interest to see you made right, and when that is the case I hope you know me better than have any further fear as to the accomplishment of what I promised."

"I will trust you, Donald Cameron; why I do hope that nothing will occur to upset our plans. I hope you have considered and provided for all contingencies?"

"M'Kenzie spoke in an anxious tone. "Have no fear; my steps are well considered."

"When do you propose to visit Castle M'Leod?" "At the earliest possible moment. But first we have some preliminaries to settle with our prisoners. It will be necessary that I should bear a communication from him to his father, of the genuineness of which there can be no doubt; but at the same time couched in such vague general terms as to slightly blind the old chieftain as to the real meaning of the message."

"How do you mean?" "I mean to convey a note from Hector to old McLeod, in which it shall be stated that the former is in my power, making no mention of where he is placed, and that the only means by which he can be liberated is by his father acceding to the proposal I shall make, and that he is anxious that I should be met in a fair and honorable manner. Such a note, do you not see, would cause old M'Leod to fancy that Hector is aware of the terms I am to propose, which is just exactly what I shall take care he is not. I shall endeavor to induce him to believe that money is my object. By this time I do not doubt that he has a strong suspicion as to the real character of those who frequent this place, and that will the more readily cause him to arrive at that conclusion."

"And if you should fail in obtaining that note?" "If I should fail in obtaining it, my next movement is as yet unconsidered; but I have other resources to fall back upon. These need not be considered at present, however, for I have full confidence that the plan I have mentioned to you will be successful."

"For a few minutes they continued to pace the floor without speaking. Then Ian, turning to Cameron said— "I think I will visit Flora alone. Perhaps I may be able to reconcile her to myself. When she is told that I am the suitor whom you have chosen for her, that I love her, and that there can be no possibility of her being united to Hector M'Leod, then she may soften down a little, and treat with more favor than she has done hitherto. In any case, she must be made to respect me, if not by fair means, at least by foul. I shall go and test her."

"You may do so; and while you are about that I will see what I can do with M'Leod. Come, let us have something accomplished before any of these fellows return."

As he spoke, Cameron took down two lamps that were hanging from the ceiling of the place, and handing one to Ian, and carrying one himself, the two walked forward in the direction of the door. Opening it, they passed through, carefully shutting it behind them. Where they now stood the light from the two lanterns shone through the gloom with sufficient clearness to show they were in a wide vaulted passage, with doors on either side. From a peg over the first door depended a bunch of keys, and these Cameron secured; then they walked forward.

Lost, on Saturday last, the 12th inst., near the Grand Trunk Railway Station, in Rockwood, a large, black leather pocket book, containing three notes of hand, one drawn by Charles Stovel, Walkerton, for $200, in favor of John Hewer, Guelph, and endorsed by him, the 21st day of December, 1873; one drawn by Joseph Hunter, Pickering, for $45—$15 endorsed thereon in favor of John Hewer, Guelph, and endorsed by him, the 19th January, 1874; and one drawn by T. M. Davy, of Stratford, for $100—$50 endorsed thereon in favor of Robert Cameron, past due. A number of other papers, of no use to any person but the owner, were also in the book. Sunday in the Desert. As I rode upon my camel, In the Oriental land, Swinging and ringing Across the desert sand, A phantom of music Upon my spirit's hand, And I felt as if an angel Were singing to my soul!

The week of short-horn sales of the Messrs Miller came off as advertised, and notwithstanding the very unfavorable weather proved a fair success. At George Miller's, Biggford, Markham, 16 cows and heifers were offered, and all found purchasers at an average of $391 each. Of 30 bulls offered, only 6 found purchasers, at an average of $145 each, making the general average on 22 head $325. 76 Cotswold sheep brought $1,560, an average of a little over $20 each. At Wm. Miller's sale the next day, 37 cows and heifers brought $12,950, an average of $350 each. 3 bulls brought $405, or an average of $135. The general average making $334 each. Sheep brought good prices, but not extra. One cow sold for $1,260, another for $1,000. At John Miller's sale 20 cows and heifers were disposed of for $6,715; $1,085, an average of $217. 28 brought Cotswold ewes brought $1,856, 24 Canadian bred ewes and rams brought $572. At Birrell & Johnston's sale, 24th October, the average on cattle reached $235 each. Sheep, however, brought very high prices, ewes and one lamb going from $30 up to $230 per pair. They were extra fine, and the whole flock was put up and sold. Two Clydesdale stallions, recently imported, only brought $550 and $500 respectively.

Iron in the Blood. PERUVIAN IRON TONIC SYRUP. MAKES THE WEAK STRONG. The Peruvian Syrup, a Protection of the Protobion of Iron, is so combined as to have the character of an aliment, as easily digested and assimilated with the blood as the simplest food. It increases the quantity of Nature's Own Vitalizing Agent, Iron in the blood, and cures all those ailments which are caused by a deficiency of this element, and leaving nothing for disease to feed upon. This is the secret of its wonderful success of this remedy in curing Dyspepsia, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Chronic Diarrhoea, Boils, Nervous Affections, Chills and Fevers, Humors, Loss of Constitutional Vigor, Diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder, Female Complaints, and all diseases originating in a bad state of the blood, or a temporary debility or a low state of the system. Being free from Alcohol, in any form, its energizing effects are not followed by corresponding reaction, but are permanent, infusing strength, vigor, and new life into all parts of the system, and building up an Iron Constitution. Thousands have been changed by the use of this remedy, from weak, sickly, suffering creatures, to strong, healthy, and happy men and women; and it is a fact, and responsibility rests to give it a trial. See that each bottle has PERUVIAN SYRUP blown in the glass. Pamphlets Free. J. P. DIMSMORE, Proprietor, No. 36 De Witt, New York. Sold by Druggists generally.
