The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol $\rightarrow$ (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol $\nabla$ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those toc large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier plat et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second plat, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou cillustration et en terminant par la dernière page qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaîtra sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole $\rightarrow$ signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole $\nabla$ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent ètre filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

INTRODUCTIJN.

$\rightarrow$

"Let those laugh now that have before Been laughing, laugh a little more; And such as never laugh, begin To exercise themselves therein." so did a heathen poet write In long ago, as apposite, And applicable we admitAppears the relaxation, yet, Even in a christian age like this, It does not seem to be amiss. We'll contribute for one occasion
Material for a cachination. No legend, ours, but bona fide, And the location is beside ye; The date, that scarcely need be told, Is, at the outside-two months old; And for the actors, one's a showman, Another both a squire and yeoman ; The third, half-grown,-the wanting half We'll pass o'er in this paragraph. It generally is allow'd Of citizen-ship he is proud; Prosumptive, too, more than is meet,

And strongly tinctured with conceit, Altho' its sole foundation yet, Is with mysteriousness beset. "Tis true that "Festus" said Panl hats With too much learning become mat:
So education, in om days, A dwarfish brain may partly craze, And prompt our quondam friend to pay Us off for that election day. There is some satisfaction in Revenge, albeit allied to sin-
'Tis the elandestine mode, and mean, He took to ventilate his spleen, We censure; 'tis the zeal to aid His partner in the stigma trade, And cantionsly a nameless Lyie Attempt to hide from Albyn's ire : Vain subterfuge! the eloven foot Was seen protruding thro' the Boot. But, when a Boy (how erudition Might dignify a man's position, And if he by his actions lose it, It is not "Alma Mater" does it,) But when a boy- well, we allow, He was not then what he is now :
Some traits imposing; other some Inviting; but on them we're dumb !
'Tho' whilst we're chopping law and logic', Both may find entrance to our project.

As we intend to found our farce-on "The frenzy of' a stickit parson: Hence, something of a legal kind, May with them mingle in our mind, And in the trio, there's no doubt, That something curious will come out, Whereat the very jaws of coquettes In levity may leave their sockets, And the more moderate escape With liaces twisted out of shape.

Laughing's infections; there is nome That cares for laughter when alone, And never less than ten at least should laugh iu chorus at a jest; But, ten times ten! in fact a crowd, Should be the quorum were allowed. Big Bugs, or, specially invited, listening to what we have indited, The quota of their mirth to cast in, When it is read by Joseph Austen; ${ }^{0}$ )r, see the broad grins-Motton uses When he the mannscript peruses.

Probouo publico! we claim-
To write for neither fun nor fame. Our title page can well explain Why we invole the Muse again, And grasp the pencil with a will.

6

To figure makes our fingers thrill.
As the assail'd we choose the brand Befitting best a Poet's hand, And woe to those with wanton aim Would with their slaver soil our name ;
The champion's "scull" may not awake
One tithe the mirth that we could make, As hypocrite and harlequinLike totums on our tablets spin, Tho' not among the upper-ten, All would-be "honourable men."

RETRIBUTION.

Nemo me impune lacessit.

-curean
"Owe no man anything, -but love."
So reads the Scriptures; we approve
The precept; as we are a Poet, Feel perfectly content to owe it. 'There seems to be no limit set for cancelling that kind of debt, Not even a syllable is said Of when the payment shall be made, Accommodation never will Have terms more casy to fulfil: Indeed, it seems as if no call Shall be for principal at all; But, as our assets may aecrue, We'll pay the interest, when due; Taking for gianted, tho' not stated, Hate should, of course, be ventilated; And from the funds that we have now Must upon Funnyman bestow The first instalment ; few we wot Will envy Gaffer of his lot,

So learn'd, so lapsed, and so lame-
Gives him a preferential claim;
And as we fill cheques now and then
No doubt we'll think of little Ken-
As Gaffer's aider and abettor
We own ourselves to be his debtor :
As we are solvent, he can wait, And brood pon his coming fate, Then by and bye, tho' times be dull, We'll settle his account in full.

Just retribution is a debt
Of honour-no one should forget, And always to be promptly paid, Nor offsets over nicely made.
Give Scripture measure for what's due-
Press'd down and running over too.
No compromises can atone
For insolence in any one;
Societywill not admit
Of less than compensation fit,
Especially, where spleen or spite,
To liquidation does invite ;
Nor to be weigh'd by consequences
What may be meet for some oftences;
But, as in making a silk purse,
A sow's ear is not worth a curse-
So poctry, on puppies may
Be not the best adapted way.

9

What odds : as upon this occasion The object is not admiration, Yet, possibly by our coercion Outsiders may get some diversion. Nor is it all the Poet's fault, If wanting found in attic salt, Our similes and satires, freeze, Or scorch, exactly as we please ; And, even when inverted, will Part of our purposes fulfil.

A farmer in-terrorem nails To his bain door, the heads and tails, When they are caught, of hawks and owls That come to prey upon his fowls; Tho' not as compensation, yet Some satisfaction be may get, And such marauders as are spared Deter from pilfering in his yard. So, we intend to gibbet someTo poach in our preserves do come.

If throwing stones to them can give Delight, that in glass houses live ; Can it be strange if those they hit Do fling them back should they think fit. Ken is susceptible, and may Regret his rashness in a wayPerhaps he did not dream of, when

His renom soil'd the "Citizen." It is not the first time that we With vipers made a little free, And those that fasten'd on our hands Shook off among the burning brands. And knew not, if we felt much harm, in The bites of such disgusting vermin. We'll find enough to make Ken sorry, Without the family Eunuch story ! If Gaffer makes the balls, and Ken, For his amusement flings them, then-
Then, by the castigating pow'rs,
Retaliation shall be ours.
To let the pair escape our rhyme Would be both meanness and a crime.
Be it remembered we are none-
Of those that's tamely trench'd upon;
We give no quarter,-none we crave
From either hypoerite or knave;
But hold him as a treach'rous for,
Beneath the belt would strike a blow,
And them assassins seek our track
To make a stab behind our back.
War to the knife, if it be war
What may be done, at least we dare :
No sanctities can Albyn see
In en M. A. or LLAD.,
More than in Gaffer, or in Ken,
To paralyse a poet's pen ;

11

Even if there is, we count a title, Of no more value than a spittle. Our nom de plume, a certain guide, Of what we are, and, where abide, Nor, of such questionable shape To be mistaken for an Ape.

Nothing anonymous conceals The open front of Andrew Shiels, He's not ashamed, nor yet afraid To face his foes with naked blade, Provided al rays that, brhind A hedge, no hiding place they find, Or, cover with that sapient sheet, The "Citizen," their cloven feet; His visor's up, and is prepared The character he has to guard,'Tis capital too fondly prized That reekless ruffians, tho' disguised, However much to pillage prone, May find it best to leave alone; Nor is he ever known to yield One foot-breadth on the battle field, 'Tho' a gorilla, fierce and keen, His bold assailant erst has been, We played our part till it became More calm at least, if not more tame ; Driving it off to Downing Street To publish there its own defeat;

Tho' all the uproar that it made Could not to sympathy persuade, And, saving Gaffer and his dog, Since then, we've mei no other rogue.

His r̂ate might have admonish'd Ken.
To be aware of Albyn's pen ; Not much Shiels dreads those wicked thingr.
The wasps, though all of them have stings:
Still less, those wanton waifs that roam,
As clergymen, away from home;
Half saints professed,--but then the fact is,
That half, is seldom put in practice,
And on occasions show a bias
To act the part of Ananias !
Nor, will it be considered strange
That some of them, by way of change,
Or rather relish, in their lives
Have concubines, as well as wives!
(Impatient of the happiness
That fabled Honeymoons possess) -
And lay aside the preaching trade,
When servant girls are mothers made,
Or, antecedents prove that it,
Might be thought more than time to quit.
'T is not cominendable; but, then
The ministers are only men-
And of the ci clevants are some
That curious articles become,

Even dwindle down till lost among The undistinguishable throng.

Tho half a buzzard, if inclined, Ken need not go far of to find, Nor waste his precious time to seek A blush for his mblushing cheek. There is more than one tender spot At home, perhaps he think's forgot. A verse of ours, without his leave, Could instimtly from time retrieve, Or pencil in a paragraph, A picture, would make people laugh. 'Tho' little Ken, might little care, To see himself distinguish'd there.

Altho' directed to forgive, No prohibition positive Enjoins how far, or in what way, We should maliciousness repay ; We'll take the universal plan, To use our penchant as we can, And with due eourtesy report, Proceedings in a Justice Court.

Some men are born to greatness; some Must wait with patience till it come; Whilst, actually, we have known 'em Had greatness suddenly thrust on 'em ; Even imbeciles have felt a touch

At times, altho' 'tis never muchThey always come baek to the level On which they naturally revel. In such, we grade him number four, He may be less, he may be more,A genius he, it must be owned, In Dartmouth frequently is found ; Of giant size, but brain so sinall. A baby's skull might hold it all. And, in the place of common sense. A vast amount of consequence. Determining the fine or fee A culprit muleted there shall be ; It matters not what's said or sworn The imposition must be borne, And woe is theirs who breathe the air Or look for equity in there !
Oh! out of Justice Shallow's den Good Lord deliver us! Amen.

A simple fact is always true, Altho' the dress 'tis in, be new ; But Shallow, by his legal lore, Deem'd that it could be less, or more, And found a fabrication must, If made on oath, be counted just, And over-ruled his colleague, who Sat there advising what to doSaying, that for the sport we made,

Only one dollar should be paid? He could find nothing else to say, Hat, then, it is the Dartmouth way. Oh! oh! from Justice Shallow's der Good Lord deliver us! Amen.

EPITAPK.
Here Gaffer Fimmyman, the Lyre, Lies, who told lies upon the squire; Among the common damn'd degraded, 'Till 'atan's company's paraded.

Gaffer, was once a Hebrew teacher, And then an Antiburgess preacher, Until some sort of a disaster Made twain of people and of pastor:
We care not to advertise now The over-curions, as to how, Or why: altho' in such a case, Tradition, dues deserve a place, As their embellishments might add To what already is-too bad.
But. it was deemed that near Mount Hope Would be a fitting place to stop, As vantages of various kinds, A student in that structure finds, When symptoms of unruliness Insanity-in part confess.
so, bye and bre, he got a home in

Dartmouth, and acted as a showman: But stickit ministers are there Considered quite a small affair. Legends and laziness, did each, Suit Gaffer better than to preach, 'ho' most officious, it is said, Where wealthy widows' wills are made, But far more summarily ejected, On some occasions-than expected : Leaving behind, without his care, The gold chains and the watehes there-Aye, and the comfortable doze He had inon the lounge, to lose, Where, wnlst with one eye shut, he slept ;
The other on the coffers kept Night watch; or in the nurse's stead Could render help if there was need :
A very plansible pretence For covering impertinence;
But the expulsion, sharp and short, Spoil'd all the meditated sport, And harshly on his temper grated Beyond what he had calculated, And made the quasi christian creature The incarnation of ill-nature, Especially, if in the e'ening An extra glass was intervening ;
Like living balls of flaming fire
His eyes betokened savage ire,

Whilst up on end, stood ev'ry hair, Without one sign of sermon there; Aye, and the snout, the puggish shapen, Appear'd a formidable weapon ; lts purple colour gave a grace To otherwise a fiendish face, And terse and terrible his tone Of utterance when the fit was on: Some people thought;-but we prefer, Not to say what, in case we err, And then, $O$ then, but was not he A funny looking thing to see!! No turkey cock could well be prouder Of his make-up, or gabble louder, Or, strut in more ludicrous fashion, Than Gaffer in a pious passion. So, to diversify his labour, An ill report, raised on his neighbour. Albeit the Psalmist says:-such will Have no abode on Zion hill, And then besides, as people know, He turned his back upon the Plow. Even to establish his positionLean'd o'er the margin of perdition, Feeling or might have felt, what verse In epitaphs may not rehearse, But, ev'n in Justice Shallow's hearing, He border'd closely on false swearing; And it was difficult, forsooth,

To keep him some-way near the truth. But that, was neither here nor there, As judgment had been given ere The case was heard ;-to some this may Seem strange; but is the Dartmouth way: It is the faces, not the faets, Upon an issue there-that acts.

On Sabbath it had been decreed (The better day, the better deed,) On Sabbath !--day of self denial ; Sabbath ! the day before the trial It was announced, $\dot{O}$ shallow mind : That the defendant should be fined, And right, or wrong, no odids it made When Justice Shallow had it said!! If there's a place that does compare With Dartmouth ; who can tell is where ? That we, (forgive our selfishness) Another wrinkle may possess.

Had he been bless'd with sense to try
And get the beam from his own eye,
The motes that in his neighbours' swim
Might not have look'd so läge to him ;
But, "cruelty to animals"
An incident too us recalls:-
In Gaffer's history só rilide
On memory it will obtrude,

And looms in our remembrance still, The scene of it is break-heart Hill ; The time, one Sabbath afternoon, About the month of May or June, Or, if 'twas in the season later That does make very little matter.

When on his oath, forgetting $t^{1}$ en (For ministers are only men,) And difficult 'tis to exempt Some of the cloth from our contempt, And it is just as like as not His antecedents were furgot, ()r else he did not deem it seandal To maul a horse with a hoe handle ! At least the clumsey looking stick Was just as loug and just is thick, More like a fencing stake than whip, lt came down on the garran's hip, And had a deputy to aid Him, in the savage onslanght made. Returning home from preaching, down In the precincts of Lairrencetown; And by his measurement of pain The jaded ereature did complain ; And yet the sinner loudly prated, Because a dog we had checkmated; That nightly with a burglar's aim, Unseen our visitor becáme;

And in our lock-up without grodgi'g, Was favour'd with a few hours lodging ; Nor martyr-like with a I'e Deum, Had been embalm'd in the Museum.

Perhaps he did not know that we Were present then and there to see, The outrage on the poor dumb brute, Made by him, and his substitute ; But, one Cole harbourite at least Denounced his treatment of the beast, And cursed the wretch such reckless. blows, Could on an animal impose.
No doubt that Gaffer was aware A justice Shallow was not there, But culpable it were to skip, That relic of his preaching trip. Such cruelty had never beenEre then in all Cole harbour seen, Nor will again, since dogs became Synonymous with Gaffer's name.

Ah! now we are forgetting quite The epitaph we have to wrice, Which if we do, our readers will Imagine that we treat them ill; And lest it disappointment give, We'll now resume the narrative. There's no apology to make About the zig-zag course we take,

As, just as it eomes in our head, Sometimes we go at railway speed, Or if there be a special cause, Are not averse to make a pauseBut seldom tail, when 'tis a person, 'To let him off' without diversionNoting the demon all the while, 'That lurks beneath a borrow'd smile.

If this last paragraph seem odd, Just read it as an episode. Or a parenthesis; digression May comprehend some useful lesson. Well,-Gafler falling, falling iowt. Came to buffoonery at last; Making the folk that cross the ferry With his he-ha, ha-hawing merry, Until the creature's shrivll'd soul Took flight at hearing a dog howlAnd these few strokes of Albyn's pen,Here labels him fay-end of men.

Dartmouth, June, 1875.
