THE MODERN MRS. CHAPONE.

THE NEWEST EDITION OF A SERIRS OF LETTERS TO OUR JUDY's beloved clarlsba.

My Dearest Nigce,

WVE have now arrived at an important consideration, viz: a proper regard for your own interests. On this point, I must offer you some advice. Not that I hink young ladies are generally insensible to their own welfare, for I have lately observed in numerous families a delicate and systematic prudence edifyiug to behold. But the sentiment is expressed with rare beauty and'pathos, by one of our elder didactic poets, and it conveys with exquisite force, what ought to be the guiding principle of our conduct. It rung-" Number one is the first law of nature." Some still however is required in the practical adherence to this golden rule, for it is by no means agreeuble to be accused of meanness and selfishness, language, which many weak men are often in the habit of applying, to what is only a justifiable sense of one's merits.
Therefore get all you can and give nothing away, gratify every wish, at the expense of the dearest friend. Lead nothing but never refuse a request, without the strongest expressions of regret; bat you cannot grant, what you bave been asked. This live of conduct is only necessary to people who may be of use to youa mere relation, should receive suminary treatment, and ought to be told at once you do not like such liberties. On the other hand uever hesitate to borrow when you are in want, even from a person whom you are in the habit of abusing Unenecessary caution concerning what is lent to you is foolish;-and never inconvenience yourself by atoo speedy restitution. Should you hy accidast happen to lose what has been lent to you take no notice of the matter. Shew that you have forgoten it, for the probability is, if your friend has any delicacy sho will never ask you for her property: and the longer the time which elapses before you are reminded of the loan, the mors easily you can get out of the scrape. Should your friend haversome regard for the trinket beyond its intrinsic value, and gently remind you that you have it, reply by thinking you have returned it and by promising to look for it. With strangers be dlways in the best of humours, and reserve ynur ill-temper for your own family. At home be as querulous and as listless as you can grumble eternally, and if you are asked to obligo others of the family, either do not do so at all-or comply in such as manner, that the party shall be quite sensible of the obligation. Be ready at all times to talk of yourself and your prospects, for you may be dertain, that you are so important a personage, no tupic of oonversationican be more agreable.
lin your love affairs; for of course'you will have them, never allow your heart to prompt you. Look what a mau has, rather than what he is, marry to see dompany not to obtain a crmpanion. Be the first: to find out the ridiculous points in the character of the man' who is courting you, and join otbers in laughing at him. Always have a certain number of hangers-on, because as you moust have seen "one iool makes many." If you should be so unfortunate as to get entangled in an engagement and a richer man asks your hand, rebuke the injpertinence of the first suitor should he be foolish enough to suppose you intend to keep your word. Snub him with a proper dignity and send him about his business-be sure however chat your new beau is really tied to you, for it would be an awful hing atter jilting another to get jilter yourself.
I have already said something about your reading, but the matter is of very secondary imporlance. I may as well say, if you have any leisure time 1 do not object to your studying those true pictures of life-the Wandering Jew and the Mysteries of Parisor some of the immorial works of Mr. G. W. M. Reynoids of London. Yot there fiod subjects for metiation, and a fund of religious and instructive reading not to be met in the English classics. As to histories and such balderdash nobody ever tallis about them here, and the majority of your friends see liitle difference between Alexander Pope, and Pope Alexander. Sufficient for you to be the pure, generous souled miden, I have endeavored to make you, intent upon looking well in your bonnet, and desirous of an affecLionate husband who can give you a rich cne to look well in.
And for the present, my dear niece, this is the last letter I shall wite you. It is somewhat bitter to say "Eood bye," nevertheless we have to yepeat those weds of sad import every week of our lives. But I have this to ary before we pari. If you have any bosom friends whom you desire to read my ietters, you have my consent to shew them. For the petusal will do no harm. None of us are perfect, even you whose eye rests upon these lines may have felt a quicker tingling of the cheek as you have looked at Aunt Judy's Letters. If so, think of the old woman's advice, and extract good from it. She has put it to paper, with a far sadder spirit than one would discover, and like most people who give advice will get litte thanks for her trouble. Let that pass, time works woniders and the modern Mrs. Chapone may not have been written in vain. And so says adieu,

Your affectionate friend and adviser.

SYMPATHY FOR THE GOVERNOR.

Our "well beloved" Governor General has received several addresses from "sympathisers" expressive of regret that his Lordship should have suffered such ignominious treatment at the hands of an indignant public, and hoping that if his Lordship is compelled to retire from his "respunsibility" he will not think of returning to "bonny Scotland," but show bis attachment to Camaria and the French Canadians, by assuming the "bonnet rouge." The tradesmen at Montreal are determined to vie with each other in endeavoring to induce his Lordship to remain, and have declared their intention of selling all goods to his Excellency "under first cost," with the praiseworthy motive of enabling him to carry out that system of economy for which he is so flatteringly distinguished, and which will be doubly nenessary as suon as his Lordship. resigias the paltry seven thousand ayear salary, which be receives.

We ingert the following, which by some accident, have been omitted from the Official Gazette:
"M. Compain, Place D'Armes, a l'bonneur de prevenir Mi Lord Elgia qu'il se trouvera bien servi à son etablissement. Il peut commander un bon potage fu choux, trois plats, avec pain a discretion; et une pinte de demi-er-demi, enfin, i! pourra parfaitment avoir des sacs souffles" pour un schelling. La societe est tres comme-il-faut, et ou pedodne rien au garcon.
"French idiom-' he will be able to llow his baga out."
Madame St. Jülien begs leave to express to Lord Elgin her deep regret at the present crilical state of his Lordship's position : and feeling that it behoves every lady gituated as she is, (t) endeavor to assugge, as much as possible, the awkward predicameat ino which his Lordship will shortly be thrown, begs to say that as her boarding house is in a cheerful part of the town and very convenient to the river (in case his Lordship should feel disposed to depart suddenly from the city) she will be liappy to receive his Excellency oa moderate terms, when an ungrateful province shall induce his retirement from office. Her establishment is chiefly composed of the French members-(addicted to short pipes and very bad tobacco) who will be proud to have the society of a Nobleman of his Lordship's economical habits. The dinner table is particularly well furnished, and a rubber is generally got up every evening. at which Lord Elgin could play long penoy points if be wishet it."

My Lord,--Probably your cellars will be ; i Choke-damp when the door is opened, from long disuse a onfined air. I have been accustonsed to descend dangerous walls and shatis, and will andertake the job at a moderate price, should you labor under any temporary pecuuiary embarrassment in payiog me, I shall be happy to take it out in your wine, which I should ibink had been some years in bollle.

Your Lordehp's most humble servant.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT.

Punch is confidentially informed that the carters and cabmen of Montreal, and the mémbers of the Legislative Council, in consequence of the serious interruption to their usual business, have petitioned Mr. Justice Smith, to be permitted to undergo an examination for admission to the learned profession of the law. His Honor has kindly consented to view the application favorably, and suggested the names of a Grocer's Clerk and the Book-keeper of a Tea Warehouse, as examiners. The place appointed for the examination, is M'Tavish's Barn, off Sherbrooke Street. A subscription bas been opened to defray the expenses of the usual complitnentary remarks in the Montreal papers, as to capacity and crudition. One of the Members of the Legislative Council, gave a draft upon the Inspector General for the amount of his subscription.

PUNCH'S MOURNING REGULATIONS.

KN consequence of the doubt and uncertainty which exist in the minds of numerous friends and relatives, respecting the time during which mourning ceremonies are to be observed, Punch is induced to publish the following bints, which, it is hoped, will be found serviceable to all interested.
For a Dearji-beloved Movier,-Under these melancholy circumstayces, the bereaved mouraer should be seen for three days at least, in tears,. with a wbite cambric handkerchief deeply edged with lace, in her hands. The hair sliould be slightly disordered, and an air of wildness is recommended in the manner. Frequent allusiens may be made to "dear departed mama" and the "saint in heaven," and the sight of the "saints" picture ought to be conspicuously placed in thes sittiog room. At the end of a week, the tears may be discontinued, and the usual head-dress resumed. The ninth day, the portrait may be removed io the back parlour or bed-room, on its way to the lamber closet. If black becomes the mourner, it may be worn for three months-if unbecoming, half that time is sufficient. Under very afflictive circumstances, as where an annuily expired with the deceased-sis montlo is oot unusual. During the whole of this period, it was formerly usiual to suspend attendance at public amusements, but modern practice is against this. As a general rule, the custom now is, not to dance for a fortaight after a yery valued relative has been put out of sight, and it would certainly excite altention to be seen at the theatre on the night of the faneral.

For a dear Papa.-For a "dear, dear, kind, good papa," the observances may be the same as for a "dearly beloved mother." In the case of a "stingy papa," 25 per cent. discount is generally allowed. Where "papa" has been "extravagant" or "unfortunate in business," or has "spent uearly all dear mama's money," a larger reduction even, will be promply allowed. If "papa" has been "nobody" all his life, as is often the case, no notice should be taken of his demise, as it is vety provoking of him to die at all, and creates a great deal of confusion and uapleasantpess in the family.

For an affectionate Siater or Brother.-If the deceased was young, no nolice need be taken, bot you may allude to the fach, by observing to your partner at the next ball, that "it was a great mercy" that James or Euphemia is " much better off," that you wish you " hat died young," that "the world is full of vanities," and so oo. If it is a married sistet or brother in fashionable life, mourning should be worn for a month. For a poor sister who bas made a bad match, it is generally considered sufficient, to send a few yards of black ribbon to the orphans, and a second-hand black coat, as a mark of sympathy to the bereaved husband.
For a grandmother or grandfather, (with a legacy) considerable attention to outward circumstances is required; without a legacy, a pie ce of black crape round the hat, or for a female, very glight half mourning is sufficient.
In the cases of aunts, uncles, nephews, nieces, cousins, &c., no general rule seems to prevail. Punch once knew deep mourning to be worn for an uncle, but it was by a poor servant girl, and cannot be given as a precedent. At Slapem's funeral the other day, there were three strangers in black, but on entquiry, it turned out that it was the undertaker, his assistant, and the surgeon. It is usual to wear black crape round your hat, for a relative or friend, when the Jatter article is getting shabby, but not otherwise. Black g!oves, when given gratuitously, may be worn, but Punch has observed that the description of article so furnished, is always of the worst kind, doubtless to illustrate the melancholy truth of the speedy decay of all earthly things. In these cases, bowever, every thing must be left to the good taste and fancy of the mourner. who will bear in mind, that as it is not improbaitie that be may be some day buried himself. He should be careful not to introduce any vulgar or unfashiouable practice.

LEGAL DANCING.

It is understood that Mr. Solicitor General Drummond has danced several hornpipes on his Commission since the barning of the Parliament Buidings. The last time he was seen performing this curious feat was at 'Tetu's Hotel, armed with a carving knife and an empty cider bottle. Mr. Solicitor General Blake, with great gravily remonstrated witli his learned friend, reminding him that he was carrying the joke too far. Whereupon Mr. Drummond hoped the Company would consider what had there passed as strictly confidential, and begged them to believe that he never meant this dancing on his Commission, in any other than in a Pick-wickian and Parliamentary sense. (Hear, hear, from the Waiters.)

FIGS DO NOT GROW ON THISTLES.

It has just nccurred to Punch, that there is somethiag strangely and ominously coincident between a portion of the style and title of His Excellency the Governor General, and the circumstances in which he is now placed-for how remote, although obvious, is the association of ideas between a.Knight of the Thistle and a Bed of Roses.

CUCKOO! CUCKOO!!

Anolber negetive has been added to the cry of the Canuckian Cuckoos! it is now, "No lois; no institutions; no langue, et no Soldas."

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

A.S.S.--There is such a Journal as "Hogg's Weekly Instructor," but Punch will not take upon bimself to affirm that it is edited by the Learned Pig.

PUNCH ON EVIDENCE.

In the Cavalry, at the Batte of Goojrat, was an officer who must be deemed for ever disqualified to give evidence in a British Court of Law. His name appears in the list as follows: "Cavalry. - Brigadier J. B. Hearsay, commanding.". Every one knows that hearsay evidence is never received in well regulated Courts at home.

AMERICAN ORTHOGRAPHY.

A great spelling reform is now going on in the United States: Noah Webster's nest edition of the Yankee English Dictionary, out of compliment to Canada and Lorl Elgin, "its last Governor," will spell tho significant word "Annexation," as follows:-an-EGGS-ATION,

LETTERS OF PUNCH IN CȦNADA No. 6.

My bear Blaks,

The phrase "a peculiar preparation of cooiness," used by you in your late explanation of that very unyarliamentary and decidedly iotemperate pass of Billiogsgate which took place in the House between you and my esteemed friend Col. Gugy, requires a little consideration and some comment. "A peculiar preparaction of coolness," negatively, and as you yourself applied it, has reference to nothing so dircctly as to her Majesty's Solicitor General West. "A peculiar preparation of coolness, affirmatively, and as Punch will be likely to apply it when summer sets in, has a pointed applicability to a much more palatable compound-being suggestive of SLeery-Cobbler; not that I would recommend you to follow iny example in the occasional though moxlerate use of stimulating beverages. Quite the reverse. Your habiss, fortunately for yourself and for those with whom you are hourly brougbt in contact, are striclly temperate, in a vinous sense. Glad would I be could I say as much for your language as a Legislator, and for your madners as a member of that House, where the conventional courtesies of civilized life ought to be observed as decorously as in the domestic drawing-room of private society. That the want of such suavity should become a feature of our Colonial House of Commons, is as much to be regretted as it has, of late, and that not unfrequently, been extibited there. And I must candidly tell you, my dear Blake, that since your occupation of a seat in that House, the feature ieferred to has increased in promionency to a very considerable extent, threatening at times to becone a carbuycle upon the face of Canada only to be cured by the judicious lancet of Punch. Besides Blake, you are strangely inconsistent, and for an Irisb-man very unartistical in your mode of treating such aftairs as that which has suggested these remarks. "Sealing with your blood" is a beautiful and figurative pbrase lately used by you in your anxiety to express firmness of conviction. "Quivering on a daisy" is also a beauiful and pastoral figure of speech, originating, I think, with the last generation of your Galway countrymen; and meant playfully to express the position to which any.one of your Conanaught ancestor's would have reduced the Gugy of his im. mediate circle, if unpleasantly contradicted by him with half so strong an expression as that launched at you by the fiery Gugy of our affections. But the daisies are not grown that will be fatuened by the fall either of Her Majesty!s Solicitor Geaeral West, or of his opponent, at the orthodox distance of twelve paces, and therefore you should abstain from vainly sporting your "seal of blood," leaving such phrsses to the poetical recorder of "deeds of arme," and the lowie-knife swaggerers of the South. I do not want you to have recourse to the now antiquated appeal to arms, the "exploded" pistol of your ancestors. Far be it from Puoch to advocate the revival of uinireasonable prejudice : but your march of improvement should be consisteut, and your tenacity in observing the usages of decorum should beep pace, passibus equis; with the very commendable disinclination which you bave sbewn towards being held up to public admiration as "The Man for Galway;"

Ponder well upon ihese rapid, but sincere remarks, and believe me, my dear Blake.

Truly yours,
PUNCH IN CANADA.

HURRA FOR ST. DEN゙IS :

The habitants of St. Denis, the renowned St. Denis, the focus of the relellion in 1837 and '38; the village, in which Dr. Wolfred Nelson became innmortal by tighting, and-Lnuis Joseph Papineau became dito by running away; have presented an address to His Excellency the Governor General expressing their profound approbation that be has given his assent to the bill for rewarding Re: bels. They thank him for promoting their interests: for paying them for their wickedness and folly. And this is a great ministerial triumph! A number of men return thanks'for money being raken nut of the pockets of others and snugly lodged in their own. Great triutiph! Wonderful babitants of Sti. Denis! But they have gone farther. To express their gratitude each and every one is to have the portrait of the just Governor bung up in their shanty's. Punch will contract to supply these portrails at 4d each. Patriots of St. Dedis ! give your orders.

WONDERFUL RECOVERY.

Mr. Solicitor General West, who, for some time; has been greatly troubled will indigestion of public proceedings, has, we are happy to say, entirely recovered. On Tuesday last, his appetite returned 10 him , and he made a hearty meal. Amongst other savory morsels, be eat his own words with some of Guer's Sauce.

HOW TO CLEAR THE TRACK.

With pofound regret for the incapacity of the present AdminisIration to prevent the riotous and lawless British people of Canada from evincing their stupid determination not to be taxed to pay Rebels; Punch offers to their notice his plan to attain the end they so much desire. If carried into effect, Punch will expect a statue to be erected to his memory should he ever die, and a pension for his body while living.

PUNCH'S PLAN.

Solicitor General Blake has jugtly earned the appellation $\mathbf{o f}^{5}$ Bobodil and as such by act of Punch, he shall oe henceforth known. Let him then in imitation of his renowned protatype rid Canada of the British "by computation."

Let Miusterial feeds be got up ten times a day under his auspices: let the windows of the Hotels in which they are held be opened: let toasts be proposed and speeches made abusing everyboly and everything opposed to the opinions of the apeakers: Let derisive cheers be given to excite the British who of course will collect on these occasions; at each dinner shoot fifty : ten dioners a day: Fifty at each dinner: five hundred a day: three thousand five hundred a week: for let the work go bravely on even.on the Sabbath; on the well known principle that " the better the day the better the deed." Threa thousiand five hivitred a week fourteen thousand a month; one hundred and sixty eight thousand a year! This is easily done: Let decisive and prompt action be taken in this matter, shoct one hiundred and sixty-eight of the bobsting British in one year: and their butiness is done, and the business of Canada will be done at the same time, for the British are the only men of busidess in the Colony. Rush for rifies; prig pistole; bormw blunderbussee, commetce the good work ; and in the larsguage of an illustrious man who lived in times scarcely less exciling than the present, "Put your trust in Heaven and keep your powder dry."

FIRE! FIRE!! FIRE!!!

- Fira! fice !! fire ! !! It cannot be That fire shall have the mastery. Who is he can hope to chain The fearful. fierce, devouring flame, That tells the utmoes earih can know Of what are demon scenes below; And scatiers mids't the live or dead The ashes it alone can spread. Though servile slave! at umes 'twill be That fire shall have the mastery; When Heaven's winds do howl and groan
For causes known to Heaven alone.
But may not man in abject state
'Gainst all that Heaven could avimate,
Decree that Treason's fair and good. That stain
Is wiped away alone by flame,
And justly leaves to Rebel name
A blackeged pile and ruined fane.

COURT CIRCULAR.

We have it on the best authority, that His Excellency the Earl of Elgin, is to be elevated to the British Peerage, under the style and tifle of Marquis of Omelette.
