SIX GREAT EUROPEAN POWERS ARE DEFIED BY MONTENEGRO WARSHIPS BLOCKADE ANTIVARI

Little Kingdom Will Continue Siege of Scutari, Making Necessary the Use of Further Coercion by International Fleet—Brigade of Austrian Troops Manoeuvres Near Montenegrin Boundary.

CETTINJE, April 6.—(Can. Press).—The little kingdom of Montenegro has thrown down the gauntlet to the six great powers. It declines to yield to the demand of the powers to abandon her attempts to gain possession of Scutari, and has officially announced that there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey.

An international fleet comprising warships of Austria-Hungary, Italy, France, Germany and Great Britain is now blockading the Montenegrin port of Antivari. These include four Austrian warships, the British cruisers Yarmouth, Inflexible, and Gloucester; the German cruiser Breslau; the Italian cruiser Pisa; and the French cruiser Edgar Quinet. Russian is not represented by a warship, but has acquiesced in the naval demonstration.

British Admiral's Message.

On Saturday the British admiral sent the following message to the Montenegrin premier, Dr. L. Tomasevich:

"I have the honor to inform you that the international fleet is assembled in Montenegrin waters as a protest against the non-fulfilment of the wishes of the great powers. I beg to call your excellency's attention to the presence of the fleet as a proof that the great powers are acting in concert, and request that their wishes be fulfilled without further delay. Please inform me immediately that your government is ready to carry out the wishes of the great powers."

To this the Montenegrin premier replied in a note expressing regret at the presence of the fleet, which he considered a violation of the neutrality proclaimed by the powers at the beginning of the war, and to the detriment of Montenegro. The premier continued:

"Despite the pressure which the presence of the fleet implies, there will be no departure from an attitude which conforms to the necessities of the state of war existing between the allies and Turkey."

A brigade of Austrian troops near Cattaro has been manoeuvring near the Montenegrin boundary. The customary notice has not been given the Montenegrin Government, and Austria's action is considered unfriendly and menacing.

EDITOR JOHN BOWES DEAD.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 5.—(Can. Press).—John A. Bowes, one of the best known editors in Eastern Canada, died at his home here Saturday night, after a long illness. He was 54 years of age. After long service on The New York World, he became proprietor of The Evening Standard in this city and later The Evening Gazette, which he sold about 10 years ago.

Montenegro Will Fight.

PARIS, April 6.—(Can. Press).—King Nicholas of Montenegro is quoted in The Temps as saying that he has learned with sorrow that the cruiser Edgar Quinet will represent France in the naval demonstration on the Montenegrin coast.

"It is a bitter irony," says the king, "that the name of the illustrious writer, Edgar Quinet, the upholder of peoples struggling for independence and unity, should be associated with an expedition against the small but valiant champion of Balkan independence. You may say that despite the measures of coercion taken by Europe against her, Montenegro will yield only to violence. It remains for Europe to add the risk of armed force to her injustice."

BIG INCREASE IN FEDERAL REVENUE

Gain For Fiscal Year Exceeded Thirty-Two Millions—Expenditure Was Over Twelve Millions.

OTTAWA, April 6.—(Can. Press).—The statement of revenue and expenditure of the Dominion for the fiscal year just closed as by returns furnished to the department of finance up to March 31, has been issued. It shows that for the fiscal year ended on that date, the revenue totaled $165,528,137, as compared with $132,745,386 for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1912, an increase of $32,782,751.

The increase was general in all sources of revenue. In customs there was an increase of $26,736,391; in excise an increase of $2,333,300; in post-office receipts an increase of $1,556,747; in receipts from public works and railways and canals an increase of $2,087,882; from miscellaneous sources, an increase of $212,421.

The expenditure on consolidated fund account for the fiscal year was $35,625,013 as against $33,560,593 for the preceding year, an increase of $2,064,420. On capital account there was a decrease of $151,529, namely from $28,909,985 to $28,758,456.

MAY MERGE ALL MACKENZIE INTERESTS TO PROVIDE NEEDED FUNDS FOR C.N.R.

MONTREAL, April 6.—(Special).—There is a rumor here to the effect that Sir William Mackenzie is almost ready to bring about a very important deal in connection with the financial reorganization of the Canadian Northern Railway Company, and that when it is consummated the great house of Mackenzie & Co. will be a partner with Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann in their transcontinental enterprise.

It is also reported that Sir William Mackenzie's enterprises in South America, Mexico, Winnipeg and Toronto will either be taken into the enlarged concern, or that they will be sold to provide more capital for the C.N.R. undertaking. It is generally held that Mackenzie & Mann will be unable for a great length of time to keep an undivided hold on the common stock of the company, and that others will be invited to participate in what is now considered a going concern.

WILSON DECIDES PERSONALLY TO PRESENT HIS TARIFF BILL MANY THINGS ON FREE LIST

Material Reduction on Goods Affecting Housewives and Farmers, Such as Meat, Fruit, Agricultural Implements—Income Tax Bill Will Reduce Salaries.

Special to The Toronto World.

WASHINGTON, April 6.—For the first time since John Adams was President of the United States (1797-1801) a president's message to congress will be delivered in person by President Wilson on Tuesday. That afternoon he will appear on the floor of the house, mount the stand by the side of Speaker Clark, and deliver his first message to congress.

George Washington and John Adams were the only other presidents to do it. Thomas Jefferson was the first to send in his message to be read by the clerks of the two houses.

The purpose of the president has created considerable excitement here and there are all sorts of opinions as to the advisability of it.

Begging for Seats. It is predicted tonight that the large crowd ever assembled in the house will be there. Although it was Sunday, immediately upon receipt of the news of his intention hundreds of persons began to telephone begging for seats in the galleries.

Altho the senate has not yet been informed of Mr. Wilson's program, it is believed that he will have the senators invited over to the house to hear him. The new tariff bill has been completed, but the house and senate committees are still squabbling over wool and sugar and a compromise will be substituted.

The new bill purports that the things which go into the market shall be materially reduced or placed on the non-dutiable list. The housewives are expected to reap the benefit. Fine will tell whether both the market basket and the purse will be heavier after a shopping expedition.

On the Free List. Fresh meats are carried on the free list in the new bill. Under the existing law fresh beef, pork, lamb, mutton and other meats carry a duty of 1½ cents per pound. Bacon and ham struggle along under a 4 cents per pound duty.

It would appear that free meat should mean something to the housewife, yet a report from a commercial

It is said, from the Wallfort-Astoria, accompanied by a valet, who also acted as a nurse.

DROWNED SPEECH OF SUFFRAGETTES

Huge Mob in Hyde Park Huddled With Great Difficulty by the Police.

LONDON, April 6.—(Can. Press).—Rioting at the suffragette meeting in Hyde Park, which has become a regular Sunday afternoon diversion, was repeated today. The crowd, which numbered 15,000, was distinctly hostile, and only the big force of police prevented the rioters from handling the women roughly.

The suffragettes talked for half an hour, but were unable to make themselves heard above the uproar of horns and hooting. Misses of various kinds were thrown, and Miss Brackenbury was struck in the face. Mounted police finally escorted the suffragettes from the park while police on foot kept the crowd from following.

A similar disturbance occurred at Wimbledon Common, where Miss Annie Kenny attempted to speak, but was howled down.

FEDERALS PURSUE MEXICAN REBELS

Heavy Artillery Fire Caused Insurrectos to Take Refuge Thru Mountain Pass.

MONTREY, Mex., April 6.—(Can. Press).—Gen. T. W. Abernethy, on Lampasas, after a fight yesterday at Bustamante, where he defeated the rebels, who retreated westward thru a gap in the mountains. The losses in the battle have not been reported. Gen. Aubert's victory was due largely to the artillery and machine gun fire of his men.

The general plan of the rebels is for two columns, one under Gen. Aubert and the other under Gen. Casco Lopez, to move against Monclova, the headquarters of Gen. Carranza, the rebel governor of the State of Coahuila.

LATEST SURPRISE IN LAND OF SURPRISES

All Salt Machinery in China Has Been Absorbed, Thus Abolishing the Security of the Six-Power Loan, and the Situation is More Complicated.

Special Cable to The World.

LONDON, April 7.—(Copyright). 4.30 a.m.—The London Telegraph's Pekin correspondent cables: "Pekin diplomatic circles are surprised at the news of the Chinese republic on the opening of parliament April 8. Indeed, widespread conviction prevails that this step will complicate the general position."

"Meanwhile, an interesting thing has happened to the security of the abortive six power loan, namely, the salt Gabelle Mirabile Dictu. It has disappeared entirely and absolutely as a directly controlled tax. The provinces, always suspicious of centralizing attempts, have quietly absorbed the salt machinery within their jurisdiction into the provincial taxation, thus abolishing the old zones or regions, ten in number, comprising the old imperial system which the bankers proposed to perpetuate."

"President Wilson's designation of this security as an antiquated tax has proven oddly correct, forming the latest surprise in this land of surprises."

SCORE OF LIVES LOST IN WRECK?

German Ship Capsizes Off Bay City, Oregon—Men Trapped in the Hold.

BAY CITY, Ore., April 6.—(Can. Press).—Twenty-two men, including the ship's captain, the president of a wrecking company of Portland, and the representative of the Marine Underwriters, were trapped in the hold of the German ship Mimmi, which capsized off the beach here early to-day after having been hauled off a reef on which she had been fast two months. How many perished is not known. Figures were seen on the bottom of the wreck at day's end, it was supposed they had cut their way out.

A heavy sea was pounding the wreck and life savers refused to attempt a rescue until it calmed. They said no boat could be launched and refused to let volunteers take their boat.

The life savers are camped on the beach tonight watching for a chance to reach the wreck.

YOUNG ROBBERS SHOT AND KILLED

Amateur Burglars Opened Fire on Police and Fell Under Deadly Volleys.

GREENVILLE, S.C., April 6.—(Can. Press).—Breaking into a store here early today, Leonard Smith, 17, and Rowley Martin, 21, were shot to death by three policemen concealed in the place in anticipation of robbery. One of the officers was severely wounded.

According to the story of the policemen at the inquest, the boys advanced into the store, flourishing pistols, wearing masks and flashing pocket lanterns and opening fire upon being ordered to throw up their hands. Examination of the revolvers showed that Smith had fired once, Martin twice and the policemen twelve times.

Young Smith belonged to a wealthy and prominent family.

Special Cable to The World.

LONDON, April 7.—(4.30 a.m.).—(Copyright).—The Daily Express states today that contrary to the general belief Mrs. Pankhurst is being forcibly fed and that she is now in a state of collapse in the infirmary of Holloway prison. It says that last night (Sunday) her condition was serious.

A rumor, to which the police attach some importance, has spread that the suffragettes contemplate hiring steam launches for a fire raising expedition among the houseboats and bathhouses on the Thames. Precautionary measures are being taken by many owners.

The police have warned away a number of persons, and the constables on duty near the water side have instructions to keep a sharp look out.

At Brockville he succeeds Ven. Archdeacon Dodds, who has been appointed chaplain of Kingston penitentiary.

BITTERLY OPPOSE TAXATION PLAN

Reichstag Enters Upon Long Struggle Over Financing Increase in Armament.

BETRLIN, April 6.—(Can. Press).—With the submission to the reichstag tomorrow of the government's armament and taxation measures, a contest will begin which is almost certain to last until the summer vacation and possibly will not be ended before the fall.

The imperial chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, will speak, explaining the political situation, and the minister of war, Gen. von Hoeringen, will elucidate the technical features of the measures.

There is no question that the army increases will be accepted practically without alteration, but there is widespread disagreement and dissatisfaction over the financing of the proposals. The new army measures include the expenditure of about $250,000,000, and the financial measures include a non-recurrent tax of from $243,750,000 to $250,000,000 spread over two years, and a permanent yearly increase in taxation of from $45,000,000 to $47,500,000.

Herr Bassermann, the National Liberal leader, in a speech recently made at Hanover, declared that the National Liberals had accepted the armament increase, but that the tax measures were unjust and would require the most thorough revision. This also is the view of other non-government parties, and the measures will be subjected to an overhauling, which will probably result in important amendments.

Both Party Leaders Opposed to Use of "Gag," But Sir Wilfrid Could Not Give Pledge That His Followers Would Agree to Allow Final Vote After Fair Opportunity For Discussion.

OTTAWA, April 6.—(Special).—

"Watchman, what of the night?" This query, in form less poetical but more direct, is coming to every parliamentary correspondent respecting the developments of tomorrow, of the week and the ultimate developments in the matter of the naval debate and the naval bill.

The conference held yesterday between the prime minister and the leader of the opposition was one of several and perhaps the least important which have taken place since the Easter recess. Both Mr. Borden and Sir Wilfrid Laurier are opposed on principle to the application of closure. The latter is said to have been much annoyed at the speeches of Hon. Sydney Fisher in the campaign of 1911, forestalling the adoption of a closure rule in case the Laurier Government was returned to power. As a matter of fact the Laurier Government would have had no trouble in ratifying the reciprocity deal if people had not mistakenly declared themselves in favor of the Taft-Laurier arrangement on Sept. 21, 1911. Mr. Borden, in his recent conferences with Sir Wilfrid, is said to have unreservedly accepted the statements of the ex-premier in this regard, and to have agreed with him that the closure rule might tend to abuse and tend to prevent that full discussion of public affairs and that searching investigation into public expenditures which is so necessary in a young and rapidly developing country like Canada.

Free Discussion, But—It may be stated with some authority that the prime minister proposed to allow any reasonable length of time for discussion upon every stage of the naval bill which the Liberals might suggest, provided they would agree to the final vote being taken at some time this session. It is reported, however, in this connection that Sir Wilfrid Laurier found himself unable to bind his followers to any pledge. The result of the conferences is said to have left Mr. Borden no alternative but to force the issue by the use of drastic measures or to abandon it altogether.

Still No Surrender. The position of the government was thus stated last evening by a departmental Conservative, who is not a member of the governing party, but who is known to be in the confidence of the prime minister:

"There is every reason to believe that the Liberal leaders have decided to continue their policy of obstructive obstruction of the naval bill, and that they will not agree to a conclusion and the vote taken. It is probable that the debate in the committee will be resumed on Monday, and if it should appear that the policy of obstruction will be indefinitely persisted in it may be expected that the government will take such measures as may be necessary to vindicate the reasonable rights of the majority and to permit public business to be carried on in an effective manner."

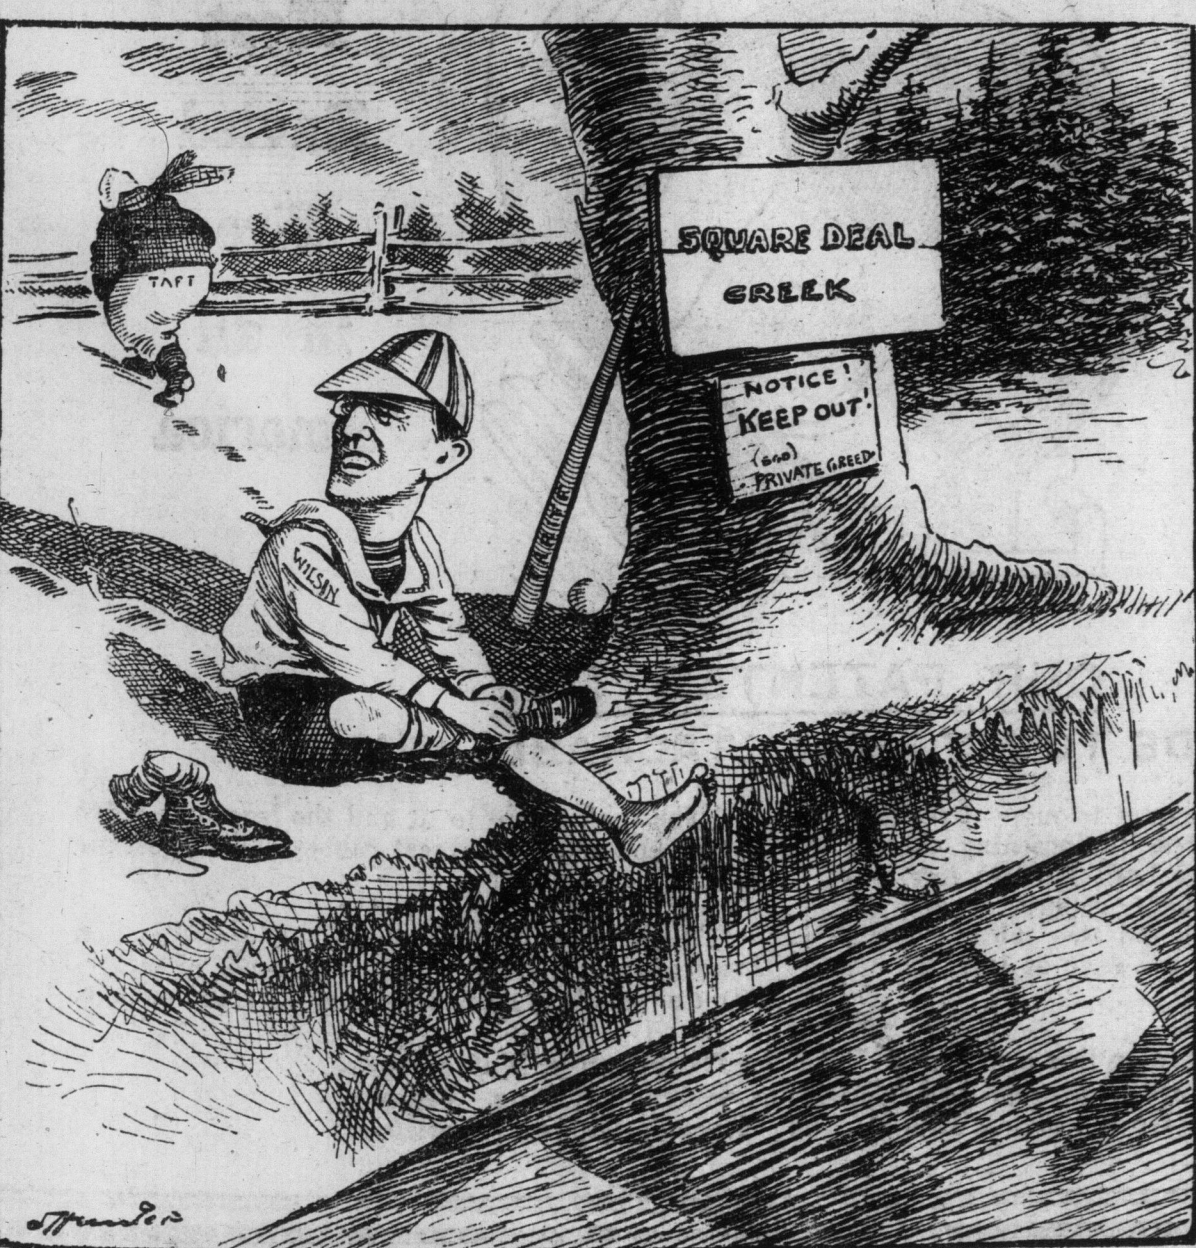

Back to the Grind. When the government orders are called tomorrow, the house upon the suggestion of the prime minister, will go at once into committee of the whole for the further consideration of the naval bill. The chairman will immediately announce that the business before the committee is clause 2, appropriating $35,000,000 for strengthening the naval forces of the empire, and the amendment proposed thereto by Mr. Hugh Guthrie, which is to the effect that said money shall be expended in Canada. It may be that Sir Wilfrid Laurier may move to renege his amendment, which was ruled out of order in his absence on the night of March 14. In any event, there will likely be several carefully prepared speeches, delivered by leading members of the opposition.

Night Sitings Doubtful. The impression seems to be general that all-night sittings will not be resorted to, at least for a time, but no direct confirmation can be obtained of the report that this will be in pursuance of an arrangement made between the party leaders at the time the interim supply vote of one-sixth was agreed to.

The Liberals are said to be less averse to having closure rule adopted than they are to having the bill forced thru by more or less arbitrary rulings on the part of the chairman of the committee. The chairman might, undoubtedly, refuse to recognize Liberal members clamoring for recognition and put the question from time to time, or he might, on the other hand, finally upon the motion to report the bill. Should this course be followed, the bill will eventually get back to the house for third reading and some limitation can be placed upon anything that appears to be mere obstruction.

Machinery Well Oiled. Such a course, if followed, however, would precipitate a number of riotous scenes, such as those which occurred on March 15. In any event, a long and bitter fight may be anticipated, with the possibility always in the background that the senate may throw out the bill. Prominent supporters of the government say that everything is arranged to put thru a closure amendment to the rules without any great loss of time, and the Liberals would undoubtedly prefer having the bill put thru under closure known by what they call "illegal gag rule."

They certainly show no signs of surrender, altho any compromise which acknowledged the principle of the Canadian navy would be welcomed by them.

AMERICAN BABY MISSING THREE YEARS IS DISCOVERED IN PARIS LIVING WITH FOSTER-MOTHER

Lucy Ewald, Four-Year-Old, Whose Disappearance From New York Caused a Sensation, Is Now Living With a Woman Who Adopted Her—Mother Was Poor and Left Baby in Care of a Woman Who Gave Her Away.

Special Cable to The World.
PARIS, April 6.—(Copyright.)—Lucy Ewald, the four-year-old child whom its mother, Mrs. Betty Schwartz Ewald, wife of George Francis Ewald, a lawyer of New York, has been seeking for years, was found here today.

The child was with its foster mother, Mrs. Nella Mann, wife of William H. Mann of New York, in the home of Mrs. Mann's mother, Mrs. James Sharp, No. 5 Rue d'Alger, one block from Tuilleries Gardens.

Mrs. Mann told of her flight from New York in October, 1911, under an assumed name, in order that she might take the child to Europe without molestation. While she talked, Lucy, whose name she well modulated to Helen Mann by her foster mother, played in a front room of the apartment with a doll, ignorant of the fact that she was the subject of conversation, and that the young Mrs. Mann was not her real mother.

A Beautiful Baby.
Lucy is a beautiful child with big brown, trusting eyes, a generous supply of blonde hair and features all most perfect. Her expression is gentle, her voice soft and well modulated. If she ever knew any English she has forgotten it. She talked with her doll baby in French and she talked French songs to it. Her clothing consisted of a white frock over which was a comfortable blue jacket. She was the picture of health and seemed a part of the sunshine that flooded thru the windows into the apartment.

"No one in the world can ever take that little girl from me," said Mrs. Mann, as she looked at the playing child. "I simply adore her. I love her with my heart and soul. Were she my own flesh and blood I could not leave her. She is my life, my all. I actually would die were I parted from her. She has entwined her little self about me until she is my very life."

Mrs. Mann's smiles gave way to a grave expression, and she continued: "My husband is responsible for my address becoming known. He has brought this trouble upon me. I left him because he was unkind to me, and he alone knew where and how I got baby, and he is seeking to harass me."

How She Got Child.
"At the time we got Helen—I insist on calling her Helen—we were living at No. 248 West 59th street, New York, where I had a rooming house. Mr. Mann and I had no children of our own, and on June 6, 1910, when I saw an ad in The World which told of a healthy blonde baby which could be adopted, Mr. Mann and I desired to see what the child would bring into our lives. The child was described as 10 months old."

"I went to the home of a Mrs. Kloss, No. 155 West 65th street, and there saw Helen for the first time. What a pitiful, pale, thin little thing she was. I don't like to think that Helen ever was like that. Mrs. Kloss told me the mother had abandoned the baby and was owing several months' board for her. According to Mrs. Kloss the mother also had said that she wanted her baby placed in some asylum."

"Mrs. Kloss did not tell me the name of the mother, nor did I ask it. I paid nothing to Mrs. Kloss for Helen, not even the board she said was owing her. She said that Helen was the last baby she had in the house, and as she was going to move it was absolutely necessary that she found a home for the child."

Won't Give Her Up.
"Mrs. Kloss retained all of Helen's clothing, and before I could take her away I had to go out and buy her a new outfit. I have never seen Mrs. Kloss since the day I walked out of her house with that precious little baby."

"My husband is the son of a former district attorney of Philadelphia; his brother, Benjamin Mann, is now a lawyer in that city."

"Immediately after our marriage I took a furnished house. My husband was 60 years old and in bad health. He did little work, because of his physical condition. At first he did not take to the baby, but as Helen got stronger and prettier every day, he began to love her, but his manner toward me changed."

"To make Helen a strong, healthy child, I sat up nights with her. I spent much money for her food, and we became closer and closer to each other."

"Then conditions with Mr. Mann became such that I could no longer live with him. I made up my mind to flee the country with my baby—I say my baby unreservedly, because she is my baby. Where else is she? Who else has a claim on Helen?"

Mrs. Mann's face flushed with anger at the thought that some one else would dare put in a claim for the little girl, who was clinging to her dolly in the adjoining room.

Fled From New York.
Continuing, she said: "Anyway, after I decided to leave New York and come to my mother, who was living here, I engaged a friend to get me tickets for Europe. These tickets were got under an assumed name. Helen and I were on the passenger list of the Rochambeau as Mrs. Charles Young and child."

"One day I fled from the house with Helen under my arm, and I reached the cabin of the Rochambeau safely. My husband in some way learned of my flight and he followed me. He entered my cabin, and on his knees begged me to go ashore and return to him. I refused. Then he had to go ashore and that is the last I have seen of him."

"Mother met Helen and me on Oct. 9, 1911. No questions were asked by the French officials, who I rather expected to be placed in an embarrassing position because of the assumed name I was using."

"Since Helen and I have been here I have worked hard to keep her in fine clothes and pay for any necessities, and even luxuries, she may have desired."

Like a Daughter.
"What plans are you making for Helen's future?" was asked.
"I want to send her to boarding school and give her the very best education Europe affords. This I shall do, too, although I may have trouble in getting her into some schools, as I have no papers for her, showing her birth and the Avenue de la Paix, at her pink cheeks and golden curls," exclaimed Mrs. Mann proudly, "a more beautiful child never lived and never will live. Come, Helen."

The child bounded up from the floor, where she was still chatting in French to her doll, ran to her foster mother and threw herself in Mrs. Mann's arms. The perfect understanding and love between the two was manifest. Then Helen nestled in her foster mother's lap and patted her cheek, jabbering in French that her doll was fast asleep. Mrs. Mann, the mother of Mrs. Mann, is a sister of Miss Mary Buell, Paris correspondent of The Chicago Tribune. Mrs. Mann's father died nine years ago when he was European agent for the Vaughan Machine Company, of Boston. They have other relatives in Paris.

Mother is Informed.
NEW YORK, April 6.—Mrs. Betty Schwartz Ewald, who for three years has sought far and wide for her missing baby, Lucy, was told tonight that the child had been found by the Paris correspondent of The World.

For a time the young mother could not control her voice. She tried to speak and then began to sob. When she got control of her voice she exclaimed:

"Thank God. Where is my little Lucy? Tell me so I can go to her. I want to see her now, tonight, this very minute. Please tell me where Lucy is? I must see her and claim her."

Mrs. Ewald was told the child was in Paris with Mrs. Mann and was happy and most comfortable in every way.

Has Suffered.
"I have never heard of Mrs. Mann in my life. Who is the woman who has taken my baby as her own? I am glad she is so respectable and has been so kind to Lucy, but has she any right to my baby?"

"I have signed any papers giving anyone the right to adopt my child and I never shall. I put the baby out to board with Mrs. Kloss in the spring of 1910 and paid her board regularly. I was forced to do this because my husband had left me and I had to make my own living. It nearly killed me to do it, too."

"I was to have brought Lucy home with me the day she was given to that strange woman by Mrs. Kloss. No one will ever know how she suffered since. I have gone to every nook and corner of New York City searching for her."

"As a last resort I appeal to The World and now my baby is found. Now can I ever thank The World for having done this for me. I am so glad that the police and city authorities could not have accomplished what I have accomplished."

"Just to feel that my baby is happy, that she is strong and well and in good hands makes my burden lighter, but it makes me want to see her all the more. If I could see Lucy this minute I would be willing to die. I believe the joy of seeing her would kill me."

Has Little Money.
"Mrs. Mann says nothing can part her from Helen, that she loves her as she loves her own flesh and blood. Mrs. Mann never had a child of her own. If she had she would appreciate what I have suffered and what I shall suffer until I hold my little girl in my arms and know she is all my own and will always be all my own."

"But what am I to do now? I have little money. What I have saved has gone in the long search for my baby. I shall go to the district attorney on Monday for advice, and if necessary I shall appeal to the federal authorities. Mrs. Mann admits in the cable despatches from Paris that she has no birth papers for Lucy. I feel sure that I am going to get my baby back, and when I do I shall tell Mrs. Mann how I appreciate her kindness to Lucy. If she loves Lucy half as much as I do, then my heart will go out to her, for the separation from the child will probably kill her."

Reads Like Fiction.
The story of the Ewald baby since it was placed, when eleven days old, in the care of Mrs. John Kloss, at 419 East Sixty-fourth street, reads like a chapter from a novel.

According to the stories told by persons concerned in the case, the little girl, who was named after a nurse in the hospital where it was born, remained in the home of Mrs. Kloss several months, while her mother was regaining her health.

Mrs. Ewald was a dressmaker. In health threw up out of work, but she continued to pay Mrs. Kloss for the baby's board until she found herself without money to pay her own board.

Gave Child Away.
One Saturday night Mrs. Kloss called upon Mrs. Ewald at a boarding-house and told her she would have to take the baby back because of the boarding-house keeper's objection to babies. Mrs. Ewald asked Mrs. Kloss to keep the baby until Monday while she made arrangements to move, and the latter promised to do so. On Monday Mrs. Ewald went after her child. She was told, she says, that Lucy had been sent to an orphan asylum. In the meantime the advertisement had appeared in several morning papers announcing there was a baby for sale or adoption.

Mrs. J. E. Smith, of No. 12 Lowell place, Newark, had been doing some sewing for Mrs. Mann, who told her several times she wanted a baby. Mrs. Mann read the advertisement and she took Mrs. Smith with her to the house mentioned and got the baby.

SAXON KING SEES EX-WIFE'S MOTHER

Grand Duchess Laments Cruelty While Louise Is Startling Rome.

LETTERS SENT AS A JOKE

Dozens of Anonymous Communications Sent to Emperor of Austria.

VIENNA, April 5.—(Copyright.)—Aged Emperor-King Francis Joseph of Austria, whose sole aim during his declining years seems to be to produce peace and harmony among the members of his family, has just brought about a meeting between the King of Saxony and the latter's mother-in-law. It was the first time the king had seen her since Crown Princess Louise eloped with her son's tutor and was divorced in 1903. The king journeyed to Salzburg and paid his respects to his mother-in-law, the Grand Duchess of Tuscany. The visit was merely one of friendship, due to the persuasions of the Austrian Emperor, and has no bearing upon the position of Princess Louise. She is at present making herself conspicuous in the Bohemian society of Paris, appearing on the streets in daring costumes and granting interviews to whoever troubles to ask questions.

The Grand Duchess of Tuscany is not an old woman, being still in her early sixties, but she is much broken in health and spirits by her daughter's estrangement, and was much affected at seeing her son-in-law, for whom she has always felt a great affection. She thinks he has been cruelly wronged.

Emperor Francis Joseph has also made possible a meeting between Princess Louise of Belgium, the divorced wife of Prince Philip of Coburg, and her daughter, the wife of Duke Ernest of Schleswig-Holstein, the only brother of the German Emperor. Emperor William's permission had to be obtained for this meeting, which took place recently in Paris. Duke Gunther accompanied his wife to the French capital, and was present at the reunion between mother and daughter, during which both wept copiously.

Turns His Down.
It seems various lesser personages have tried in vain to win Emperor William over so that Duchess Gunther could see her mother, but it was impossible until the Austrian monarch took a hand in it. One reason for Emperor William's refusal to consent to the meeting was that he had been told by his brother-in-law, Duke Gunther, whom he enjoys "turning down" in every possible way. Duke Gunther is a pleasure-loving man, gifted with that rare German trait, a sense of humor. Four years ago, after long and intimate conversations with his sister, the empress, upon matters of state which were secret, the duke began to write a series of anonymous letters to Emperor William, making fun of his personal peculiarities and discussing things which the emperor supposed nobody outside of the council knew.

The last person in the world to be suspected was Duke Gunther. A dozen of 1910 this paid her board regularly, and they in their turn, in anonymous letters expressing indignation they dared not speak of to the emperor, in a few weeks the court was in a furore with anonymous letters arriving by the dozen each.

When the first culprit, Duke Gunther, was finally discovered he was forbidden to come to court for several months.

He bears no ill-will towards his brother-in-law, however, and has since been on friendly terms with his sister. He is also friendly with his wife's mother, Princess Louise of Coburg, and says she may see her daughter, so far as his permission is concerned.

Special Cable to The World.
LONDON, April 6.—(Copyright.)—Lord Grantley's youngest daughter, Katherine Norton, whose mother, a daughter of Commodore W. H. Mackenzie of New York, died in 1897, has been very ill, but is now out of danger. She had a slight operation on the under eye on one morning and the same evening had to be hurriedly operated on for appendicitis and peritonitis, a very serious affair. She is young and exceedingly handsome, with a slender, beautiful figure, dark eyes and hair and is very popular in society. Mrs. John Ford, who has been seriously ill with double pneumonia at the home of her mother, Mrs. Cavendish Bentinck, Whitehall, is somewhat better. Her husband has to interrupt his cure in Switzerland to come to her bedside.

AMERICAN'S TABLE MANNERS SCORED

Frenchman Gives Lecture on His Experiences in New York.

Special Cable to The World.
PARIS, April 6.—(Copyright.)—Andre Fouquieres has opened at the Theatre Marigny a series of lectures on his experiences in America with a talk on "Life in New York."

He said America's deligion is the worship of energy, that her life is altogether a phenomenon in intensity and speed. He went into details on the daring eccentricity and the luxury of American women's clothes, reasoning that there is no danger of Berlin, or Munich styles superseding the French modes in New York, although the fashion papers are owned chiefly by Germans who would like to swing trade away from Paris. The lecturer criticized the table manners at the houses of the four hundred on the ground that there is no general conversation.

Furthermore he declared that at parties grave magistrates, celebrated professors and powerful trust magnates "dance the thirty-nine kinds of turkey trot like mad."

Theatres he found very queer in the atmosphere of the plots, the vaudeville sketches thin, the comic acting excellent and the chorus girls pretty.

SPANISH LADIES ENTER POLITICS

Win Partial Victory on First Appeal Made to Government.

MADRID, Spain, April 6.—(Copyright.)—For the first time Spanish women have entered the domain of politics. A large number of aristocratic ladies, headed by the Duchess de Luna and the Duchess de Sotomayor, waded upon Premier Romanones and protested earnestly against the government's declared intention to abolish obligatory religious teaching in the schools and to permit the reading of the church catechism. The premier declined to alter an important government policy, but he showed his good will toward his fair petitioners by promising that the crucifix shall not be removed from the schools while he is the head of the cabinet.

A great commotion was caused at the village of Pedrosa del Rey, near Valladolid, by the Bishop of Zamora, who proposed to sell to a reputed American millionaire a valuable picture from the Church of the Holy Cross.

An agitation was started against the sale and when the millionaire's agent moved to remove the picture the people mobbed him, refusing to allow the picture to be taken down.

The matter has been referred to the central government, but it is not likely that the sale will be sanctioned by the proceeds were to be devoted to the needs of the village poor.

NEWFOUNDLAND TO IRELAND THIRTY HOURS BY AIR ROUTE

British Aviator Thinks That Trans-Atlantic Trip Could Be Made With Two Stops During Voyage at Depot Ships—Waterplane Should Be Twice the Size of the Present Type.

Special Cable to The World.
LONDON, April 6.—(Copyright.)—Harold Gatty, a pioneer in the use of the British waterplane, when asked his opinion concerning the type of machine likely to make the trans-Atlantic flight today, replied:

"About twice the size of the present type of waterplane, twin engines each of 200 horse power, tanks inside the body to carry 480 gallons of petrol, enough for 12 hours flying, and 160 gallons of lubricating oil, a cabin with a sleeping bunk, food lockers and a wireless telegraphy installation."

"She would travel sixty-five miles an hour under favorable conditions, and with two stops at depot ships during the voyage to fill up her petrol tanks, she would fly from Newfoundland to the west coast of Ireland in thirty hours."

The flight, he thinks, would be best made from west to east, so as to take advantage of the prevailing westerly winds.

Two days of fine weather would be enough for it. The aviator would travel at a height of six thousand feet, if one of the engines failed at that height, the waterplane would cover 100 miles before touching water and could then go along the surface to the nearest depot ship. If both engines failed, she could call a liner with her wireless installation.

One of the last acts of Moret, as premier, was to sign the petition. The late Senator Don Sigismundo Moret was born in Cadiz in 1838, his mother being a woman of English extraction. He had been premier three times, minister of finance, of the colonies, of the public works, of foreign affairs, ambassador in London, and at the time of his death was speaker in the house of representatives. While colonial minister, in 1898, he did his utmost to avoid war with the United States, and insisted that autonomy should be granted to Cuba and Porto Rico. He was overruled, his ideas being scouted as unpractical.

Largest Tire in Canada

DUNLOP TREAD

Does Not Rim Cut

Maximum Tire Life and Mileage

No Loosened Treads

That's What You Seek and Here Find

This is the famous Dunlop Straight Side Tire (made plain or with Traction Tread).

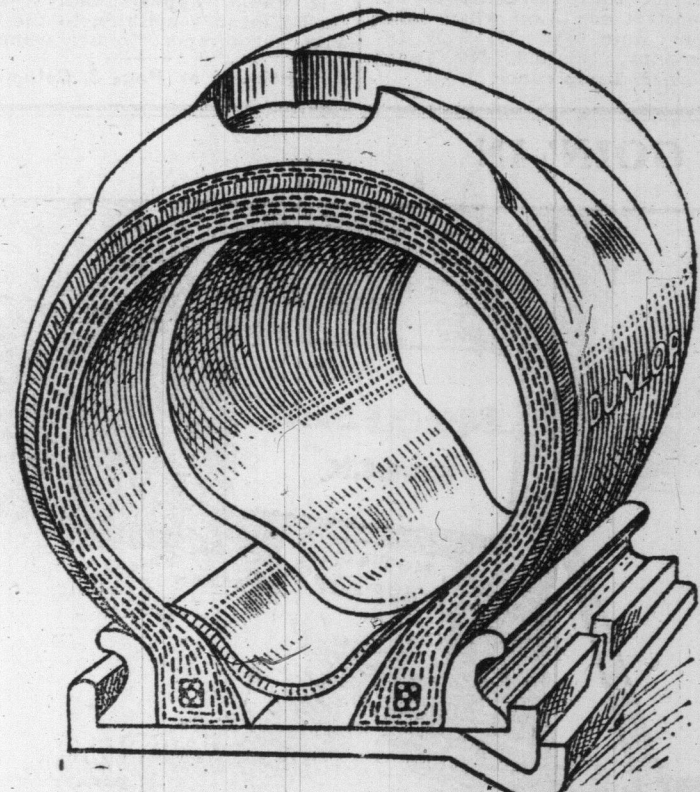

It's the largest tire manufactured in Canada today—bar none. That means this tire, size for size, will hold more air, give greater resiliency and greater mileage than any other tire made in Canada.

This tire does not rim-cut. Every dealer and the thousands of Canadian motorists say so. And their experience with Dunlop Tires covers many years.

Dunlop Traction Tread Straight Side Type

Most Envied Tire in all America

OUR PATENTED TIRE
MADE TO FIT ANY DETACHABLE RIM

A serious defect common to many tires, but not found in Dunlop Tires, is loosening of the tread. Dunlop treads are built into the tire, not stuck on; the deep resilient rubber absorbs all shock between the tread and tire fabric. From this feature alone, motorists save at least 30 per cent. of tire life.

The easiest tire to fit and the least expensive to use, because it has most rubber and largest air chamber.

By all means Buy Dunlop Tires—Traction Treads keep you safe, and, as thousands of motorists are proving, more than double your mileage.

The Dunlop line consists of Tires for Automobile, Motor Truck, Motorcycle, Bicycle and Carriage, Rubber Belting, Packing, Hoses, Heels, Mats, Tiling, and General Rubber Specialties.

Confessed Crime.—A dozen wardens passed thru the prison and on to the roof, by trap door, to see surrounding him on all three sides. He turned toward himself down and the guards hesitated to approach.

When conversation then took place between Lacombe, the examining magistrate, M. Drioux, and the prosecuting attorney, M. Lescouvie, who had been summoned for the purpose.

Lacombe's lawyer, Georges Rouchon, and others meanwhile gathered on a balcony overlooking the part of the prison where Lacombe was standing. The magistrate called on Lacombe to surrender.

Lacombe replied that he would not do so, with his lawyer, other prisoners in adjacent cells overhearing scraps of the conversation shouted to him and cried "Hurrah of Anarchy."

Then he allowed his arguments to Lacombe to be reasonable, but the anarchist glancing at a clock in a church steeple near the prison window, said:

"At half past eleven all will be finished," and at that moment raising his hand to his forehead in salute, he turned toward the steeple. Telling his mother that my last thought was of her, Farewell.

He then jumped like a diver to the stone parapet far below, where he was dashed to death.

Lavender piloted the Chicago Cubs to victory, 10 to 4, in a heavy-hitting game at Kansas City. The Cubs made a total of sixteen hits. Mitchell was high-scorer for the Cubs, with three hits, two runs, excepting Clymer and Evers, but only two hits. Manager Carr of Kansas City had no trouble in finding curves of Lavender. The Kansas City leader made four hits.

Joe Wood points out that star pitched men are good batters nowadays, instead of the contrary which used to be the case. He names himself, Phil Thompson, Johnson, Dubuc, McCann, Ford, Blandin, Bender, Mullin, Mathewson, Crandall, Camnitz and Rice as slingers who batted over .350 a year.

Lou Griger, who caught under George Stallings on the New Yorks in 1910, says Stallings is one of the most capable ball leaders in the business, and that he will make a real team of the 1911 team Nationals.

Half a dozen big league scouts are expected to have recommended Johnny Cooney, crack shortstop of the Mount St. Mary's team, to the Nationals. Cooney is available is predicted when he is graduated June 1.

Claire Patterson, star outfielder of the Oakland Pacific Coast League champion team, who had been in the majors and who has joined the Browns, had died as

WHITNEY 1-2-3 IN JUVENILE STAKE

NORFOLK, April 5.—It is of rare occurrence that three horses belonging to the same owner run first, second and third in a stake event, but such was the case today when Vega, Holiday and Trumps, belonging to H. P. Whitney, filled all the named positions in the Juvenile Stake. There have been like cases in the past, but never in the same stakes. In such instances there has been little contention in the race. Yesterday there was competition, as Mr. Belmont's Elly, Too Enough, and Charles Cannell, were both in evidence during the running of the race.

Albert Simons, the trainer of the Whitney trio, declared to win with either Vega or Holiday, as he wanted to keep weight off the best of the three, which is Trumps. The latter was ridden by Trotter, and the accomplished jockey had to use a lot of headwork to accomplish the desired result. He was on his mettle for three furlongs and had to keep Trumps at her work to take the lead and keep it, as he was sure to say the latter was well extended at up to the last furlongs of the running, and while she is the best of the three from the Whitney stable, she did not impress close observers as being decidedly better than Vega.

After Striker had won her race she was held by Sam Louis from $1100 to $2000, at which figure she was bought in by her owner. Striker had shown a trial before the race that stamps her as a very speedy filly. It was this trial, more than the race, which caused Louis to try to get possession of her.

A stranger entered the course yesterday, a foreigner, with a German accent, who deposited $2000 with the association for the purpose of paying for horses he intends to buy out of selling races. He said he was acting for a Mr. Howlett. His attempt was to buy Star Gift for $500, but it failed. Then he took a notion to buy the Squire, and ran him up from $400 to $600, but he again failed to get the horse.

After the closing race he bid up Lawton Higgins from $300 to $1100, and J. W. Hedrick let him go at that. Summary:

C. W. A. HAVE BROKEN AWAY FROM THE FOLD

Cyclists Severed Their Connection With A.A.U. of C. After Failing to Settle Grievances.

The C.W.A. held an executive committee meeting on Saturday afternoon at the Queen's Hotel with President Rubenstein in the chair. The other members present were: G. L. MacKay, R. Falconer, G. McClelland, G. S. Pearcey and Secretary H. Richard. The main object of the meeting was to receive the report of the subcommittee, which was instructed at the annual meeting to meet the A.A.U. of C. to effect an amicable settlement of the C.W.A. and Rubenstein represented the C.W.A. and met Major Hearn and N. H. Crowe of the A.A.U. of C. on Saturday afternoon. The committee reported that the A.A.U. of C. after receiving instructions from Dr. Toss asked the C.W.A. to send a copy of their constitution and racing rules to them for consideration. After considerable discussion a motion was passed unanimously that owing to the C.W.A. being unable to come to a satisfactory agreement they were forced to withdraw their affiliation.

The C. W. A. felt that the A. A. U. of C. were not consistent in their actions as they have been affiliated for several years, and the point of governing professional racing was never brought up before, and it seemed out of place. The racing of pros and amateurs at the same pace met, with the same officials, was another point. The sanction for the Dominion championships on July 1 was left over for some time. Peterboro and Valerio were mentioned, but the committee seemed to favor the former, but decided to leave the matter over for the present. The Dunlop race, over a course of 20 miles, will be run at wherever the meet is decided to be given to Woodstock. The application of E. McClelland to have his suspension raised was discussed at considerable length, and he was given a clean slate again. A committee was elected to look into the constitution and make any changes they might find necessary.

The Capitals were given serious consideration, but unfortunately will have to wait another year before they can be come members of the chosen few.

TAKE IN LEASIDE NOW.

Among the more important matters that come before the council today is the annexation of Leaside. But for the fact that immediate development in this district is proposed and a population of considerable size is assured from the establishment of the car shops of the Canadian Northern Railway there would be no pressing necessity for the inclusion of Leaside before the territory to the south and west had been taken in. The action of the railway leaves no choice to the city. A bill for the incorporation of a new town is now in the legislature, and the city cannot contemplate the erection of a new municipality so near the boundary with satisfaction. Such a town would compete in many ways with the city as a residence quarter, and would probably extend its boundaries on every hand. Nor is it to be supposed that in the event of an independent municipality being established annexation could easily be brought about. The city seems to think that the new municipality could be annexed at any time, but it is far from certain that the municipal and railway board would consent to recognize such a shuffling policy or agree to annex the Town of Leaside without granting favorable terms, fixed taxation and so forth. The more prudent way is to extinguish any possibility of such pretensions at the start. Leaside in five years may cover double the territory at present proposed, and the city might not care to have such a large tract than to take care of it. It is much better that the city collect the taxes, administer the territory and govern further accretions of territory than leave these functions to an independent body outside the city jurisdiction.

EUROPEAN READJUSTMENTS.

Year by year the burden of armaments increases in Europe. Germany is proposing to spend $500,000,000 this year, of which one-half will be capital expenditure, and the other half for maintaining her eastern frontier. It is already bristling with fortifications and bayonets, but these, it seems, are not enough for protection in the new circumstances created by the success of the Balkan allies. Safety demands the addition of 50,000 men to the peace strength of the German army, which requires the absorption of the young men who have hitherto escaped service. In reply France has increased the period of service with the colors from two to three years, thus adding 300,000 bayonets to her first line of defence, while her standing army is to be increased fifty per cent. Not to be outdone, Russia is adding three army corps with nearly 300,000 men. Austria is following suit with one army corps. Even Belgium is strengthening her army in an endeavor to maintain her neutrality. And after all these readjustments Germany will be where she was, relatively weaker, than before her provocative challenge.

No valid reason appears to exist for an immediate disturbance of the previous balance of power between the Triple and Dual Alliances. The Balkan states have waged a remarkably successful war, but they have lost heavily in men and money, and it will take them years after the declaration of peace to recuperate. Turkey is in no position to pay an indemnity—could indeed only do this by borrowing—a process hardly feasible at this time, and even more unlikely when the state of her finances is remembered. The war has again revealed that the Turk is without capacity for either organization or administration, and the outlook for Asia Minor, to which he is now virtually restricted, is as hopeless as was that of his vanished European provinces. What the future holds for Asiatic Turkey is on the knees of the gods, but it has few reassuring features. That it will remain a thorn in the side of Europe is certain enough, and nothing but a root and branch measure of internal government reform, almost miraculous in character, can secure its stability or continuance as an independent state.

ANNEXATION THE BEST POLICY.

We have deep sympathy with the Evening Telegram in the plight in which it finds itself over the question of annexation. Six years ago The World advocated wholesale annexation of the territory which was quite evidently to be benefited within the next ten years by the proximity of the city. The Telegram, whether led by or leading the little-minded aldermen of the Foster type, was at that time wildly indignant at the idea. The plan of annexing everything between the number and Scarborough, with a north of Eglinton avenue as a boundary dary east and west of North Toronto, which was to be included, looked to The Telegram like the proposal of a maniac, and the Fosters declared that there was enough territory in the city for twenty-five years to come. Controller Foster declared the other day we had room in the present limits for 380,000 more population.

After six years it is seen that what ever may be said The World was not wrong. Had the territory then been annexed taxes would have been collected, several franchises would be in better shape, values would have been more equitably adjusted. But The Telegram and the aldermen refused to annex any territory into which they were not forced by circumstances. Bit by bit portions of the extra-urban territory have been absorbed. More bits are constantly being proposed.

Now The Telegram has discovered that—we won't say that it was wrong—but that it is time to change its policy. On Saturday it announces, "Piecemeal annexation is agency of greed." Evidences of greed are particularly painful to a disinterested supporter of disinterested proposals, like The Telegram.

The Telegram, having arrived at a point where wholesale annexation seems necessary, and having read The World of Friday morning, asks: "Is Toronto to understand that the esteemed World does not favor the absorption of great sections of York, Scarborough and Etobicoke Townships?"

It is idle to ask if this be disingenuous. "We will promise not to interfere if The Telegram will go ahead with the program indicated," and "It is not too late yet to annex York County." And further: "The Telegram has the right idea, and we hope it will excuse our endorsement."

But The Telegram does hate to have anybody agree with it, and apparently most of all The World. But how could we disagree with the plan of wholesale annexation when we have consistently advocated it all along, and specifically for six years back?

We fear that what The Telegram sticks at is Donlands. It asks: "Does The World merely hunger for the annexation of all the territory that 'jines' Donlands?"

Why Donlands any more than any other farm in York Township or the neighboring townships? Would the problem be in the least degree simplified by the elimination of Donlands? Or does the editor of The Telegram, whenever he looks at the map and thinks of annexation, see a red blotch and cry with Lady Macbeth, "Out, damned spot?"

The Telegram will strain its intellectual powers if it dwells too much on the tragic side of annexation. We would recommend it to ignore Donlands and consider the best policy for the city as a whole. What is good enough for the rest of the people is good enough for Donlands.

BRITAIN'S DRINK BILL.

Last year the United Kingdom spent roughly $800,000,000 on intoxicating liquors, representing about $17.50 per head of the population, or about $90 per family of five. As the figures include children, abstainers and only occasional users they do not indicate the amount actually expended by the habitual consumers of intoxicants. The total sum is slightly less than six times the expenditure on the navy, about four times that on the army, and exceeds by $150,000,000 the value of the nation's dwellings. Contrary to the common notion England and Wales expend more on drink than either Scotland or Ireland.

Large as the total is it is less by $6,000,000 than that of 1911, notwithstanding the exceptional industrial prosperity. Both that year and 1910 disclosed a slight upward tendency, ascribed to buoyant trade, but it has apparently been more than checked by the temperance agencies. As compared with 1914 the consumption per head of beer has fallen by over six gallons, of spirits to little more than half and of wine to less than a half. Mr. George B. Wilson, secretary of the United Kingdom Alliance, from whose annual review of the trade these figures are taken, notes that by lowering the gravity of their beer the brewers passed on to the consumer very much more than the whole of the taxes levied in 1910.

BLOCKING THE TECHNICAL SCHOOL.

Anything that is badly wanted in Toronto has to be asked for ten years in advance, and no one is willing to look so far ahead. Much complaint has been heard about the delay over a Yonge street bridge, the Esplanade viaduct and the Union Station, and all the delay is laid at the door of the railways. Even if the railways are responsible for the delay they must fancy they are pleasing the citizens by an agreeable procrastination which the city practises in every other available quarter.

The latest instance of delay is in the technical school. Of the necessity for the school no one who knows anything about the situation, or knows what other cities have done, has the slightest doubt. The board of education, whose proper business it is, are quite clear about the necessity, and the principal, Dr. McKay, who is the man best able to talk about the matter, has only one view.

One would imagine that the aldermen would be satisfied with this. So one might, if one did not know Toronto aldermen. They could not be content to let the erection of the school wait until the city council has decided, but out of an eager desire to movement have found cause to yield to a new pretext for delay.

Next time, they will be sending for an American expert to tell them what to do, as they did in the trunk sewer business, when they thought Engineer Rust's advice was not good enough.

What do a lot of rattle-pated aldermen know on these technical matters which the hired municipal officials do not know? And why are the official recommendations not followed? And why, if they are not fit to be followed, are the officials not fired, and men who know more than the aldermen engaged? These are questions asked by people who do not know Toronto aldermen or the Foster and McBride type. The officials do know and they give good advice; and when mistakes are discovered it will invariably be found that the aldermen have overruled the technical experts and brought about the failure. Let the aldermen stick to policy, and having settled it, let the officials settle the technical details.

In the case of the technical school the policy has been settled. The school is to be built. The council should let Dr. McKay say how it is to be built.

INVITE BRITISH COMPETITION.

There should be enough time given in advertising the tenders for the Bloor street viaduct to permit British contractors to tender if they wish. The only excuse offered for asking for cement tenders was to break up a possible combine among the steel companies in Canada. This can be effectively dealt with by providing for British competition.

And perhaps the city council will give British tenders a fair deal in the matter, as well as the city.

There will be competition now between the doctors and the anti-vaccinationists at Niagara Falls. If the anti-vaccinationists can count more deaths from vaccination than the doctors can from smallpox the situation will be worse than ever.

THE SPRING HATS.

The milliner strids at her mill with patience and courage and skill, producing spring hats by barrels and vats and raking coin into her till; for many and many a day she's been on the job making hay and aggraves and loops and jigsaws and droops from morn till the shadows grow gray. She's worked on the unadorned shapes, and fixed 'em with feathers and drapes, and flowers and roots and berries and fruits and smilax and bunches of grapes. She's carefully studied the trend in style of the bonnets they send from giddy Paris, and therefore we see the firm at the rear or on end, the "boa" shapes have bows at the stern, the breeze and cause us a lot of concern; on others a poppy or rose salutes every zephyr; that blows it swings in the air, a beautiful affair, a foot from the place where it grows. An "acropolis" pattern we note as being distinct from the "boat," a style which seems on the other hand to be which look like huge Dreadnoughts at sea pursuing a foe, as past us they go full speed not cavil and carp let's call for our voices in praise, commencing at milliners' boats that never be which look like snickers or sneezers, have smitten their ears from Labrador out to the coast. SIGNS OF SPRING

By William H. Taylor.

(Extract from Canadian Seasons).

What is that subtle, rushing, silken sound? It is the south wind whispering to the ground; What is that fairy music from the trees? It's from Aeolian harps, played by the breeze; Why doth a bridal veil about the sky? Because Sol's marriage to the North is nigh; Are seraphs' cymbals like those water-bells Which tinkle 'neath the snowbanks' melting cells? They are the trembling echoes which impart The vibrant melodies of Nature's heart. Whence came that butterfly, with painted wing? From Miracle's first Chant, which angels sing; That humming-bird, a flash of gold and blue, Proclaims the Artist's pledge that He is true.

Come, saunter by this lake, whose bosom bears A brittle honeycomb of ice, which tears Its channelled skirts to tatters near the shore, Retreating from the river's angry roar. The wind is rising, hear the seagulls scream, A loon is crying like a lost son's dream. As Thor's huge Titans pile up rocks on rocks, Boreas heaps the beach with blocks on blocks Of wave-worn ice, which Zero's wizardry Congealed from keen December's chemistry.

THE BIRDS' RETURN

On, on above, at eighty miles an hour, The flocks of geese sail home with warlike power; Ahonk! ahonk! they greet their native North; In V-shaped legions captains lead them forth; Like Vikings homeward bound from southern fray, They hark victorious on to Hudson Bay. Here come the ducks that Sam's pot-hunters spared, They seek ancestral pools where they were reared; In solid column their battalions charge Along the chains of lakes, which floods enlarge. Among the pussy willows by the shore, The blackbird's flute of joy is heard once more:

"My Can-a-da! Our Can-a-da! Double-gurglie! Joyous bubble! Sweet! My Can-a-da! Our Da-and-Ma! Double-welcome! Can-a-da! We greet!"

And Robin, thou first along the skirmish line— Red Robin, thou art ours, and we are thine, Why recount? The feathered embassy Awake the North with music's ecstasy.

FUTURE KAISER DEEMED TOO GAY

"With All His Faults, Present One Is Saint in Comparison."

BERLIN, April 6.—(Copyright)—Walter Steinthal's popular weekly, the Montagszeitung, which claims Viscount Haldane, the British Lord High Chancellor; Count Posadowsky, a German statesman; Maximilian Harden, a famous editor; Colonial Minister Seif; Martin Schiff, the Director of the German National Bank, and others as contributors, was suppressed by the police on Tuesday because of its bold and satirical attack on the Crown Prince.

The Montagszeitung asserted that the Crown Prince is to return to Berlin permanently during the coming summer, his education at Danzig having proved a complete failure. The paper complained of the Prince's negligence for supping with actors and actresses.

"One day," it said, "we read that the Prince left for Langhau on the night that he visited a gay Berlin theatre or supper with Gustav Matzner. Matzner is a favorite Berlin light opera star and is called 'the Prince's pet' owing to intimacy with the Crown Prince.

His years in Langhau were intended to teach him restraint and old Prussian severity, but they proved fruitless. All we can say is that the whole business is most unsatisfactory and we are utterly sick of it. Even the Emperor, with all his faults, is a sterner ruler than compared with his eldest son, who is the best advertising agent for all the theatres of the Reichstag."

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY STRIKE.

BUFFALO, N.Y., April 6.—(Can. Press)—A strike was declared today on the lines of the International Railway which operates the street car business in Buffalo, Niagara Falls, Lockport and several smaller nearby towns.

Eighty per cent of the motormen and conductors struck, according to their organization officials, all officials of the street railway assert that less than 100 of their 1700 men responded to the strike call.

BAD AIR CAUSES HEATED TEMPER

That's the Explanation of the Warm Debates in the Commons.

LONDON, April 6.—(Copyright)—The explanation given to the tendency to heated tempers and violent language in the house of commons is the faulty system of ventilation, by which the body cooling process is retarded. The air in the house undoubtedly is enervating, and a scientific inquiry has been made with a view to its improvement. Prof. Hill of London University, who analyzed the air, says:

"It is pumped into the chamber at the ideal summer temperature of 64 degrees Fahrenheit, but there is no draught and the air is kept at such an even temperature that it does not cause a sufficiently speedy loss of body heat. This tries the nervous system, the members get too warm and relaxed, and their appetite diminishes, but they feel bound to eat, especially as food is cheap, all kinds of evils ensuing."

ENORMOUS AMOUNT OF DEATH DUTIES

Lloyd George's System Resulted in Collections of Over One Hundred Millions.

LONDON, April 6.—(Copyright)—The death duties collected in Great Britain in 1912 amounted to $22,000,000 and in 1913 to $23,000,000, the yield four members of the famous thread-making firm of Coats of Paisley have died within a year, leaving an aggregate estate valued at $32,000,000, and paying nearly $4,000,000 in death duties.

They were among the strongest opponents of the Lloyd George system of finance under which this toll has been levied, and the last of them canceled all his charitable bequests as a protest against the heavy death duties.

FLOODS IN MANITOBA.

NECHE, N.D., April 5.—(Can. Press)—The Pembina River has overflowed its banks here and is doing serious damage. The river has risen more than 12 feet in 24 hours. Fifteen miles north of here in Manitoba, the Alton and Rosendell districts are one vast lake. The water from the Turtle Mountains must yet find its way into the Red River of the north, and great damage is feared.

Many country roads in Southern Manitoba have been washed out and railroad trains on all lines have been delayed.

FASHIONS AND THE HOUSEHOLD

AFTER BIG GAME IN THE ARCTIC

Lucky Scott and Harry Whitney Took Fine Moving Pictures.

NOW AT MASSEY HALL

Opportunity Given to Become Acquainted With Arctic Lands.

"Hunting Big Game in the North," as shown in the splendid motion pictures by the Northern Ventures, Limited, at the Massey Hall on Saturday, and through this week, affords a great opportunity for Toronto citizens, both grown-up and juveniles, to attain a close-in, comprehensive knowledge of Canada's Arctic seas and lands.

At the opening machine on Saturday, Dr. J. G. Knowlton had a thrilling story of travel and adventure to tell, which, synchronized with the remarkable motion pictures of the actual deeds, attracted in the fur suit which he wore as the physician of the expedition on the SS. Neptune, his appearance was impressive and added interest to his graphic narrative of life amid the fields of ice.

Rev. Dr. Stephenson and a group of prominent Toronto supporters of the Gentile Mission warmly applauded a tribute paid by the lecturer to another heroic missionary in the far north, who is devoting his best years to medical and religious effort among the Eskimo—Rev. Dr. Greenhills.

When the Neptune called at the distant point where Dr. Greenhills has his mission, he had reported and related, as he had spent twelve years continuously there. But he merely smiled on learning that it would be at least another year before a successor could be secured for the medical mission station.

The motion pictures give a most complete vision of the expedition of the SS. Neptune and its companions on their Arctic voyage. Vivid views of the exploits of the Whitney polar expedition also add to the revelations of the elements of peril and picturesque scenery of the "Land of the Midnight Sun."

Stately white mountains, towering hundreds of feet above the water, sparkling like crystal, were the rugged icebergs photographed by the Neptune's camera men.

At one period the Neptune was ice-bound near one of the bergs. One of the crew made a wager that he would climb to the top of it. His attempts at ultimate success in getting to the summit were frustrated and the pictures of the incident caused roars of laughter at the Massey Hall on Saturday.

The lecture and series of pictures cover the voyage of the Neptune from St. John, N.B., to Blackhead Settlement, and include the seal and polar bear hunts of the Whitney expedition.

CARE OF THE LAWN.

From now onward the lawn will need careful attention. Spots will appear where the heavy rains have made uneven surfaces, little hollows here and little hummocks over there, all marring the smooth sweep of green. These bad places will appear in the most carefully wintered lawns, showing up as soon as the straw and manure has been raked off.

This top dressing, by the way, should never be allowed to remain on too long, else considerable harm will be done. A few good rains will have carried down plenty of nitrogenous material from this top mulching. But enough is enough. If the sun is warm up unduly, the amount of heat generated beneath this dressing is simply amazing and spells ruin to the turf. Large patches of yellowish-green will appear, showing where the steaming took place. As the first grass is always very bright and green the contrast formed by the discolored spots, is not inviting.

Prevention is better than cure, so take warning. To mend the hollows, the best plan is to lift the sod above, level up the hollow with some loamy sand, and perhaps a spadeful of manure, pound all down well with the back of the spade, or by means of a flat board nailed to the end of a short beam, making the whole surface of the earth smooth and level and firm, then replace the sod. Keep these spots well watered, giving them an occasional good soaking through the hot spells; by this plan the mended spaces will not look patchy, a thing which often takes place, especially if new sod has been added. By using the old sod it will be of the same texture as the rest of the lawn, a thing not possible when fresh sods have to be brought from the fields, and often requiring a whole season's cutting and doctoring in order to get the color and texture of the surrounding grass.

Wherever bare spots have appeared, add fresh sod, taking care to find sods as near the quality of the lawn grass as possible.

Especially see to it that these fresh sods contain no weeds. Sprinkle a looted grass seeds over these spots as soon as they are in appearance, do not forget to scatter plenty of some good rich fertilizer, like bone meal, over the entire lawn a few times during the season, always after a rain. Such little odds and ends attended to will in a short time give a perfect lawn, one to be proud of, and one that will enhance the value of the property.

Primrose and Dockstader in

Big Show—Good Bill at Shea's.

Henry Miller will give the first performance of "The Rainbow" in Canada at the Princess Theatre tonight. Mr. Miller's new play comes to Toronto with an extraordinary record of success in the foreign theatres of the United States. At the end of its second season it has been presented only in a few cities of America, and is just beginning a Canadian tour. It ran an entire year in New York last season, and has had three long runs in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago this season. The play is a study of sentiment, built on the story of a father's love for his innocent young daughter, and his fight to protect her from the consequences of his own dissipated life. It gives Mr. Miller the most sympathetic role he has ever played, and in which, according to the New York and Chicago critics, he is doing the biggest and finest acting of his brilliant career. Mr. Miller is bringing the original New York cast to Toronto. This superb acting organization has been selected from a list of the most famous players of England and America, and is easily the strongest and biggest cast Mr. Miller has ever assembled for a modern play. The engagement will include matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Disraeli" Coming.

George Arliss, the well-known English actor, is coming next week to Toronto with a play written by an English author, which has an English subject, and the cast of this organization is composed of the best of the English stage. The play is "Disraeli," written by Louis N. Parker, author of "Pamander Walk," and it will be presented for a week, beginning Monday evening next, at the Princess Theatre. The comedy deals with a very important incident in English history, in which Benjamin Disraeli (Baron Bessborough) was the principal figure. It was the purchase of the Suez Canal, which the British premier accomplished against the opposition of the combined powers of Europe and many of the great men of the empire.

Primrose and Dockstader.

The advance sale of seats is very brisk for the big spectacular revival of genuine old-time minstrelsy, which Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader and their merry band of fifty associate artists will present at the Alexandra Theatre for four nights, commencing Wednesday of this week. A popular matinee will be given on Thursday, and a street parade will be given at noon each day of the engagement, headed by Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader. The vocal contingent is said to be particularly brilliant, and is headed by the phenomenal male soprano, Raymond Wylie and Harry Farron, the contraltos. The Musical Brown Brothers, who by the way, are Canadian, present what is said to be the best act of its character of the American stage, being one of the bright features of the first part. "The Toss," a comedy, and "Melody," a most imposing scenic production, as is also the afterpiece, which is a plantation scene, showing the life of a Negro family in the South. HENRY MILLER AT PRINCESS TONIGHT

In "The Rainbow" the Brilliant Actor Is at His Best.

MINSTRELS AT ROYAL

Primrose and Dockstader in Big Show—Good Bill at Shea's.

Henry Miller will give the first performance of "The Rainbow" in Canada at the Princess Theatre tonight. Mr. Miller's new play comes to Toronto with an extraordinary record of success in the foreign theatres of the United States. At the end of its second season it has been presented only in a few cities of America, and is just beginning a Canadian tour. It ran an entire year in New York last season, and has had three long runs in Boston, Philadelphia and Chicago this season. The play is a study of sentiment, built on the story of a father's love for his innocent young daughter, and his fight to protect her from the consequences of his own dissipated life. It gives Mr. Miller the most sympathetic role he has ever played, and in which, according to the New York and Chicago critics, he is doing the biggest and finest acting of his brilliant career. Mr. Miller is bringing the original New York cast to Toronto. This superb acting organization has been selected from a list of the most famous players of England and America, and is easily the strongest and biggest cast Mr. Miller has ever assembled for a modern play. The engagement will include matinees on Wednesday and Saturday.

"Disraeli" Coming. George Arliss, the well-known English actor, is coming next week to Toronto with a play written by an English author, which has an English subject, and the cast of this organization is composed of the best of the English stage. The play is "Disraeli," written by Louis N. Parker, author of "Pamander Walk," and it will be presented for a week, beginning Monday evening next, at the Princess Theatre. The comedy deals with a very important incident in English history, in which Benjamin Disraeli (Baron Bessborough) was the principal figure. It was the purchase of the Suez Canal, which the British premier accomplished against the opposition of the combined powers of Europe and many of the great men of the empire.

Primrose and Dockstader. The advance sale of seats is very brisk for the big spectacular revival of genuine old-time minstrelsy, which Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader and their merry band of fifty associate artists will present at the Alexandra Theatre for four nights, commencing Wednesday of this week. A popular matinee will be given on Thursday, and a street parade will be given at noon each day of the engagement, headed by Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader. The vocal contingent is said to be particularly brilliant, and is headed by the phenomenal male soprano, Raymond Wylie and Harry Farron, the contraltos. The Musical Brown Brothers, who by the way, are Canadian, present what is said to be the best act of its character of the American stage, being one of the bright features of the first part. "The Toss," a comedy, and "Melody," a most imposing scenic production, as is also the afterpiece, which is a plantation scene, showing the life of a Negro family in the South. Mr. Lee passing up the Mississippi. Messrs. Primrose and Dockstader are said to be at their best.

"Where the Trail Divides."

Robert Edeson, Indian drama, "Where the Trail Divides" will be the offering at the Grand Opera House this week. The event leading up to the story proper is the finding of two babies, one an Indian and the other a white girl, after one of the terrible massacres which marked the pioneer days in the west. Col. William Lamont, a wealthy rancher, takes the two children to his home and brings them up together, adopting the girl, who becomes known as Bess Landor, while the Indian takes the name of How Landor. The pair grow up to young manhood and young womanhood, and fall in love with each other quite naturally. As the play opens, Col. Landor has just discovered that his days are numbered, and sends east for his only living relative, Clayton Craig, a nephew, whom he leads up to the ending of the play with a series of swift, convincing situations.

"The Spring Maid."

Seats are now on sale for the engagement of "The Spring Maid" at the Grand next week. This will be the first time this big musical success has been offered anywhere at less than a two-dollar scale of prices.

At the Star.

"The Girls from Joyland" is the euphonious story by Sam Williams to his high-grade company this season. It will be made up of burlesque, farce, opera, drama, acrobatics, singing, dancing; in fact, all kinds of novel and diverting entertainment. Replete with scenic environment, beautiful costumes, electrical effects and a most alluring bunch of twenty-five siren chorus girls, it has been sweeping through the country with wonderful success. A rare treat is promised the natives of this city this week at the Star Theatre. Don't fail to see "the big show."

Joe Hurling, that master-builder of burlesques, has been rather liberal in quipping his pet show, the "Bowery Bachelors," with an attractive and amusing which will be more than an ordinary treat to the patrons of the Gayety Theatre, where this popular organization is now presenting. The show is "Plain Clothes Man." Such eminent entertainers as Fitzgerald and Quinn, Mabelle Morgan, Chas. Janzen, Sam Brown, Minnie Lee, and Edna Green will grace the cast of the "Bowerys." Among the new-comers will be Keeler and Don, those surprisingly clever jugglers, a novelty creation, the Green twins, will mark their first appearance in America.

JUSTICE STREET'S DAUGHTER MARRIED

Miss Evelyn Street Wed William

Mickie Boykin of Boston on Friday.

BOSTON, April 6.—(Special)—Miss Evelyn Delane Street, youngest daughter of the late Hon. Justice Street of Toronto, Canada, became the bride of William Mickie Boykin of this city, a son of the late Dr. Thomas J. Boykin of Baltimore, Md.

The ceremony was performed at the Hotel Somerset. The Rev. Markham J. Stackpole officiated. Miss Martha Peabody, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Peabody of Highfield, Milton, who will be one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Miss Constance Zerrahn in Milton on Saturday, was the bride's only attendant.

Thomas Wentworth Boykin of Baltimore, a brother of the groom, was his best man. The engagement of the bride couple was announced last February when she was a guest at the home of Mrs. Joseph Quincy. She was given in marriage by her brother, Captain E. R. Street, late of his majesty's Hampshire Regiment, England. Mrs. Street's father was one of the most prominent men in Canada and a son-in-law of the University of Toronto, of the wedding of Miss Constance Zerrahn in Milton on Saturday, was the bride's only attendant.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING

INTERESTED OWNERS MAY BE PROMOTING JORDAN EXTENSION

Street Opening That Would Create Several Valuable Corners Is Being Quietly Worked Out For City to Complete.

A proposition to extend Jordan street thru to Adelaide is being actively forwarded by realty owners interested and the project may be developed into one using the present two blocks of thoroughfare as the first link in a new street extending from Front street to Queen street, and connecting with James street. The new artery would have the effect of heightening contiguous values along its whole length, as it would, although necessarily jogged, develop considerable prominence in the relief of traffic on Yonge street.

The corners created would be especially valuable, and it is this point that has led those interested to work out the project from King to Adelaide street, the most important sections, without the hurtful effects following street opening proposals, promoted first from the city hall. In the absence of any law that gives the city the right to immediately condemn property wanted for civic improvements, the property owners are believed to have worked, by private agreement, a scheme that the city will be asked to complete. This project was first mooted a year ago, and some buying by people on the inside was made. This buying was partially protective, as later developments made apparent.

The first extension would be made—the street would have to be narrowed—thru the Manning Arcade, the closing of which from traffic may be significant. Opposite Johnston street, an integral part of the project is a city lane from Adelaide to Temperance street; the idea is to widen this, on the east side probably, and then by some trading arrangement with the Methodist Bookroom and the city's registry office property, promote the street thru to Richmond, and then northward into James. At the same time the block between Front and Wellington streets, on the Jordan street line, would be opened up making the thoroughfare one outlet from the new station and taking part of the traffic from the customs houses and the new postal station.

While naturally it is difficult to secure such information as to how this big project will be developed and how far it has been advanced, it is thought to be in strong hands, who propose to reap some benefits in the way of increased values on properties adjacent, while making it easy for the city to carry out the improvement.

The big steam shovel starts work this morning on the north side of the C.P.R. tracks at Leaside, cutting down the hill coming westerly toward North Toronto. The earth taken out is used for elevation of the tracks across Yonge street. The work was suspended for the winter months.

The plans for the big new bridge with double tracks over the Belt Line ravine for both the C.N.R. and C.P.R. are under way. This bridge will be immediately south of the present single-track bridge. The latter bridge and site will be sold to the city for an approach from Rosedale to Leaside.

The middle section is now to be developed for building, and Mr. Dinick, president of the Land Corporation and holding company, has made arrangements for the immediate constructing of roads. The city is now taking levels for sewers, the company making its own levels for city water service grades.

The space which is 21 feet by 116, was secured from the Toronto General Trusts Corporation at a graded scale. It will be fitted up into handsome offices.

Train Smashes Buggy But Occupant Escapes

GALT, April 5.—(Special).—At the C. P. R. yards this morning a derailed freight car crashed into a cab driven by George Wright, smashing the vehicle, and killing one of the horses. Wright was thrown clear of the wreck and miraculously escaped. The accident occurred while the freight was pulling out of the siding after the departure of the early morning train east. The engine had reached the main line when the back trucks of the car took the wrong rail, and before the engine could be stopped this car left the tracks and pulled two more beside it, blocking the space between the two switches. The cab was left standing in the space between the switches until the freight had pulled out. Although the driver saw the first freight car leave the track, the team was struck before he could get out of the way.

INQUIRING INTO CAUSE OF FLOODS

Ontario Government to Spend Ten Thousand on an Expert Report.

BRANTFORD, April 5.—That the Ontario Government will make a grant of $10,000 to conduct a thorough investigation into the causes of the Grand River floods, with a view to their abatement, was the announcement made here on Saturday. The preliminary report of the government engineer, H. G. Acres, as a result of a survey made last year, recommends storage dams between Paris and Glenora, and at Blair and Elora, also on the Onastoga, Speed and Nith Rivers and White Man's Creek. It is estimated that five billion cubic feet of water would be looked after by dams as outlined and flood control to a beneficial degree would be effected. The engineer strongly recommends a more complete investigation to secure definite data as to the channel slope of the river and the provisions to be made to take care of the back-water from the dams. The investigation, he states, would be of great value in preventing floods along the Thames, Sydenham and other rivers in the province.

About 25 years ago he entered the grain business, which he carried on till a few years ago, when he retired from active life. He worked hard for the Buffalo and Goderich line to come thru Cayuga about 1850 instead of being six miles east, but the opposition was too strong. He knew William Lyon Mackenzie and had vivid recollections of the Mackenzie rebellion. In politics he was a Conservative.

The Dunlop property at the corner of Bloor and Lansdowne avenue was sold Saturday thru Goulding and Hamilton to an English investor, who has turned the property over to the same agents for subdivision and retailing. It is said approximately $150,000 was paid.

John H. Dunlop will now close a deal for another property in the suburbs. When he bought the five and one third acres in the Bloor street land, some of it 27 years ago, $5 and $6 a foot was paid. Now the subdividing agents expect that $300 a foot will be secured for the Bloor frontage, $175 for the Lansdowne side, and $75 a foot for the inside property. Builders will be the buyers in all likelihood.

The greenhouses are to be removed, some of them at once, all by September. The Bloor street side is 241 feet, and the Lansdowne front 308 feet. The property is irregular in shape, but with the running thru of a street, will cut up well.
