The copy filmed here has been reproduced thanks to the generosity of:

Library of the National Archives of Canada

The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche sheet contains the symbol \rightarrow (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ∇ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left to right and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

L'exemplaire filmé fut reproduit grâce à la générosité de:

La bibliothèque des Archives
nationales du Canada

Les images suivantes ont été reproduites avec le plus grand soin, compte tenu de la condition et de la netteté de l'exemplaire filmé, et en conformité avec les conditions du contrat de filmage.

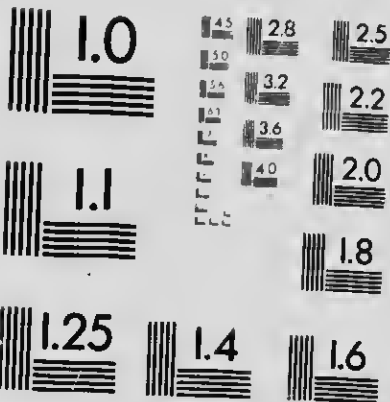

Les exemplaires originaux dont la couverture en papier est imprimée sont filmés en commençant par le premier feuillet et en terminant soit par la dernière page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration, soit par le second feuillet, selon le cas. Tous les autres exemplaires originaux sont filmés en commençant par la première page qui comporte une empreinte d'impression ou d'illustration et en terminant par le dernier feuillet qui comporte une telle empreinte.

Un des symboles suivants apparaît sur la dernière image de chaque microfiche, selon le cas: le symbole \rightarrow signifie "A SUIVRE", le symbole ∇ signifie "FIN".

Les cartes, planches, tableaux, etc., peuvent être filmés à des taux de réduction différents. Lorsque le document est trop grand pour être reproduit en un seul cliché, il est filmé à partir de l'angle supérieur gauche, de gauche à droite, et de haut en bas, en prenant le nombre d'images nécessaire. Les diagrammes suivants illustrent la méthode.

G. T. Berthon

Born in Vicence, France, in 1806, the son of René Theobald Berthon. The father, who was an artist, studied under the French painter, David, who regarded him as one of his most promising pupils. The younger Berthon showed, at a very early age, great aptitude for portrait painting; and, as soon as his school-days were over, he travelled through Europe to perfect himself in his art. In 1811 Berthon settled in Toronto where he devoted himself solely to portrait painting. His works include presentments of many of the most eminent men of Canada. He died January 18th, 1892, aged 86 years.

W. B. BRUCE

Born at Hamilton, Ont., in 1859. His father, William Bruce was a native of Scotland. His first lessons in painting were obtained at the Hamilton Art School; but considerations of prudence made him for a time devote himself to the study of Architecture, which, in spite of some success in this field, he abandoned for the more congenial work of a painter. He went to Paris in 1881, and entered the Julian Academy, where he placed himself under Tony Robert Fleury and Bouguereau. He was an artist of great versatility and matured power, whose work showed nothing traceable to the teaching of either of his masters. His range of subject included landscape, marines, portraits and mythological subjects. He died at Stockholm in 1906. In 1907 a retrospective exhibition of his works was held in the Rue de Sèze.

WYATT EATON

By permission of the Century Co. N.Y.

Born in 1849 in Phillipsburg, Quebec. Pupil of the National Academy of Design, New York, and the Beaux Arts, Paris. He exhibited in the Salon, then returned to New York, and made for the Century Magazine his portraits of the great American poets. With others he was active in forming the American Art Association, the outcome of which was the Society of American Artists. In 1880 he visited France and Italy and in 1892 was called to Montreal to paint a number of important portraits. He painted in Florence a portrait of Mr. Timothy Cole, which was much exhibited as "Man with Violin." Wyatt Eaton was a fine pen and ink draughtsman. He wrote his recollections of his friend, J. F. Millet. He died at Newport, Rhode Island, in 1896.

A. A. Edson, R.C.A.

Born in 1816 at Stanbridge, Quebec, of American descent. In 1861 his family removed to Montreal and at the age of eighteen he crossed the Atlantic and studied art for two years. Again he visited Europe and after two years returned with many sketches which were quickly bought up. A third visit was spent in England and Scotland, then five years in France as a pupil of Pelouse when he became a friend of that master. He exhibited at the Salon, the Royal Academy, and the Society of Canadian Artists, of which he was a charter member, and of the Ontario Society of Artists. Princess Louise presented two of his pictures to the late Queen Victoria. He died in 1888.

J. A. FRASER, R.C.A.

Born in London, England, 1838. As a young man he studied as a portrait painter. Owing to the failure of his father, John Fraser, the family emigrated to Canada; and in 1860 Fraser entered the employ of William Notman, photographer, in Montreal. The Montreal Art Association came into being at the time of his arrival in the city, and later he assisted in the formation of the Society of Canadian Artists. In 1868 he removed to Toronto, and in 1873, he, with a few coadjutors, organized the Ontario Society of Artists, of which he was the first Vice-President. In 1880, on the establishment of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts, he was appointed a charter member. In 1883, severing his connection with photography, he went to Chicago, then to Boston, and finally to New York. In 1891, he exhibited several pictures at the Salon of the Champs Elysées. He was a member of the American Water Colour Society. He died in 1898.

D. FOWLER, R.C.A.

Born at Down Hall, in the village of Down, Kent, England, in 1810. He was intended for law and was articled in Doctors Commons by his father. This uncongenial pursuit he gave up on his father's death, and bound himself for three years to J. D. Harding, the eminent water colour artist and draughtsman.

In 1843 he came to Canada for the benefit of his health, and chose a farm on Amherst Island, near Kingston, where he lived for fourteen years, and occupied himself with agriculture. After a visit to England in 1857, the impulse to paint pictures revived. His work follows the admirable traditions of the early British school of water colour; and in it can be traced the influence of Turner (in Liber Studiorum), David Cox, Cotman and J. D. Harding. He painted a great variety of subjects, and a vast number of pictures. In 1886 he received the diploma medal at the Colonial and Indian Exhibition. He died in 1894.

BENONI IRWIN

Benoni Irwin was a Canadian portrait painter of English descent. Studied art in Toronto, and in 1864 or 1865 entered the National Academy of Design, New York. He afterwards went to Paris and Italy to study and remained five years abroad. Returning he took a studio in New York. At Salt Lake City he painted portraits of Brigham Young and his five wives. For a time he had a studio in Baltimore and later in San Francisco. He exhibited at the Salon and a "Study" in brown was shown in the World's Fair, Chicago. He came to a tragic end, being drowned accidentally while boating on the Hudson.

OTTO R. JACOBI, P.R.C.A.

Born in Königsberg, Prussia, February 27th, 1812. Educated at his native place, he early devoted himself to art. In 1832 he won a prize of $1,000, with the privilege of studying at Dusseldorf for three years. The Grand Duke of Nassau appointed him court painter at Wiesbaden. He held this position for twenty years. All his paintings found ready purchase, being taken principally to England and America. In this way he became known in Canada where he settled in 1860. On the organization of the Royal Canadian Academy of Arts, 1880, he was chosen one of the first members of that body, and in 1890 was elected President. He died in 1901.

HENRI JULIEN

HENRI JULIEN, of Montreal (1846-1908). A French Canadian born in Quebec, known chiefly as an illustrator, though he painted in oil and water colours. His pictures represent the life of the Habitant, and are full of reality and action. His drawings of the French-Canadian horse were among his most noteworthy achievements. Previous to 1870 his work appeared in The Canadian Illustrated News, L'Opinion Publique, and The Favorite. He accompanied the Red River expedition of 1871 as illustrator, and this work received wide recognition at the time. For over twenty years he was chief illustrator of The Montreal Star, and his sketches of the Ottawa politicians were particularly noteworthy. Hebert, the sculptor, said of him, "He was a good artist and a fine comrade."

PAUL KANE

Paul Kane was the son of an Irishman who had come to York, now Toronto. In 1836 he went to the United States and in 1841 to Europe, where he spent four years travelling in France and Italy. Returning to Toronto in 1845 he determined to visit the haunts of the Indians in the far west. He travelled thousands of miles in canoe, on horseback and on snowshoes to obtain his end, and on his return painted his famous collections of portraits and scenes representing the life of the Indian. These became the property of the Hon. George Allen and were treasured for half a century until, at his death, Mr. E. B. Osler bought the collection. Paul Kane wrote his experiences, Wanderings of an Artist among the Indians of North America.

CORNELIUS KRIEGHOFF

Was born at Dusseldorf about 1812. He took a course of study at Rotterdam, then travelled in Europe and came to the United States. He wandered south, then the Seminole war breaking out in Florida he joined the United States Army and made a series of sketches representing incidents of the war. He was afterwards commissioned by the United States Government to make paintings from some of these for the War Department. He took a studio in Rochester and afterwards joined a brother in Toronto, where he opened a studio, but removed to Montreal. In 1853 his friend, Mr. John S. Budden, induced him to go to Quebec, where he had success painting scenes from the life of the Habitant, and Canadian landscapes. He visited Toronto to study figure painting. His pictures are to be found in Montreal, and Quebec. He died in Chicago in 1872.

Meyer, Hoppner

HOPPNER MEYER was the son of a London engraver, and was one of the first portrait artists of real excellence to migrate to Canada. No dates of his birth and death are procurable, but he exhibited eight works in an exhibition of the Toronto Society of Arts, held in the old City Hall in 1847, and was a member of the Society. He painted small portraits in water colours and made drawings in pencil and chalk. Some of his works were engraved by himself.

PAUL PEEL, R.C.A.

Born in London, Ont. At seventeen he entered the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts, and studied for three years under Eakins. He then went to England and worked at the Royal Academy, shortly afterwards removing to Paris, where he remained for ten years, studying under Gerôme, Boulangier, Lefevre, Doucet, and Benjamin Constant. With the latter he spent nearly four years. His "Venetian Bather" and "Life is Bitter" were shown in the Salon of 1889; and "Après le Bain" gained a medal at the Salon. He died in Paris, France, in 1890.
