Allies in Balkans Storm Cegel Village-March Begins on Tepavtsi Near Monastir.

Paris, Nov. 15.—Announcement is made here of another success of the Serbians by the war office tonight in a bulletin on the operations of the allied army in Macedonia. The Serbians, resuming their offensive north of Iven, Cerna River region, drove the Germans and Bulgarians back in the neighborheod of Hill 1212, and they captured Cegel Village. The Franco-Serbians continue their advance north of Velyezelo, towards Tepavisi. The fighting has extended west of the Cerna to the Kenali region.

According to supplementary reports the number of prisoners taken in the Cerna bend on Nov. 10, 11 and 12 exceeded 2200, to which must be added a thousand prisoners captured on Nov. 13 and 14. Among the latter were 600 Germans, including several officers.

London, Nov. 15 .- In the Danube Province of the Dobrudja the Russians and the Roumanians have made another advance against Von Mackensen and they have occupied Boasic Village and also progressed along the whole front. The foe was unable to withstand the bombardment on his right flank by the Russo-Roumanian Danube flotilla. The allies are reinforcing this sector in men and guns. The Teutons have also made slight gains in the Red Tower Pass, north of Bucharest. They claim that they have taken 1800 prisoners in these actions.

The Germans have sent out squadrons of aeroplanes to fly low over the country and to shoot down the civil population with fusillades from their machine guns. These airmen also attacked the Roumanian capital with machine guns. These airmen also attacked the Roumanian capital with bombs and did some damage. Peaceful inhabitants, especially women and children, were killed and wounded. Many towns have also been bombarded from the air.

Special Cable to The Toronto World. Paris, Nov. 15 .- On the front of the Somme today the French fought a violent action with the Germans, and they inflicted large losses on the enemy, who came out to make reckless attacks. The fighting began this mornattacks. The lighting began this morning on front between the Ablaincourt sugar factory and the wood of Chaulnes, on a front about four miles, and it was continued till nightfall. North of the Somme the battle opened after the French had made some progress in the wood of St. Pierre Vaast, and it extended along the front north of Les Boeufs to a point south of Bouchavesnes.

As the fighting proceeded the French artillery and machine guns did great execution in the ranks of the oncoming foe, and the German dead and wounded soon began to pile up in heaps before the French lines.

Proves Costly Failure.

As a whole the action was a costly failure for the Germans. The only places where they moved back the French line at all was in the wood of St. Pierre Vaast and in the eastern part of Pressoir Village. The French part of Pressoir Village. The French lost some advanced trenches in the northern part and southern outskirts of the wood and they also lost a little ground in Pressoir Village. Paris reports concerning this fighting: "The resistance of our troops held back the assaults of their adversaries, who were able to obtain only limited advantages at the price of very heavy losses."

Everyone seems to be anxious to know just what Sir Sam Hughes is going to do now that he is no longer a member of the Borden administration. The paper which he formerly owned, The Lindsay Warder, has an article in its Tuesday's issue which is very eulogistic of the late minister; and while it says nothing very definite as to what he may do, it is worth reading inasmuch as there is at least this in evidence, that he is likely to continue in politics and may yet play a great part in the future of this country and of the empire. Here is what it says:

Sir Herbert said he just returned from British Columbia where during October, he had visited some 25 points. That province has pledged itself to raise $1,000,000 in 1917, which, he said, represented a degree of sacrifice greater than ten times that amount would mean from Ontario.

Sir Herbert said he was in Nova Scotia in September and he had asked that province for $500,000 and had been promised $800,000. New Bruns-wick had been asked for $450,000 and had promised $550,000. He expected three million dollars from Quebec. In January the county councils of Ontario would be asked to renew their grants, and in some cases would be asked for an increase over the amount given last year. Campaigns will be held in the various cities in the months of January and February. Four mil-lion dollars are asked from thirty city points in the province.

Plowing has been held up for two or three days, but yesterday they were at it all over southern Ontario, the frost interfering very little with the work. The men who are operating tractor plows out in the county, and there are quite a few of them, are making the best of the opportunity and a week of fine weather will make a big change in next spring's seeding. Thousands of acres of land yet remain to be turned over and the conditions for good work are excellent.

On the question of the shipping output he explained that the British yards were not working up to their maximum production. New construction must be increased if Great Britain was to hold her own, adding:

"If our yards had remained in full activity we could have produced 2,000,000 tons yearly, while our total losses during the war have been only two and one-quarter million. I see no reason why in the next six months we should not turn out nearly half a million tons."

With respect to the possibility of Milk Regulation.

Instancing milk as one of the articles, the price of which might be controlled by calling for contracts, Mr. Runciman reminded them that it was only possible to fix the prices of articles controlled by the state, and that attempts to control other articles might prevent their coming into the country. The government had been driven to ask for these powers against its will, but they were only a temporary expedient.

Lamps more wonderful than Alad-

Is there ever a woman who runs needle into cloth who wouldn't love a sewing table like that on the left? It is made of malogany, well constructed and well proportioned, and the four-s ded flaps at the end lift up to reveal most capacious pocket-l ke receptacles that will hold the largest pieces of work. Of the drawers, two are fitted—the top one with a divided sliding tray, and the second with rods for holding spools. Price

The very sight of such a round voly-poly basket as the one on the stool suggests knitting and stockings and all sorts of treasured thimbles and scissors and needlecases. And think of what an economical present it would be, for it only wants a lining to make it perfect, and its price is Brackets that disp'ay the artistry and cleverness of the Japanese.

And sundry pieces of furniture both decorative and useful.

L OOK at the illustrations! They will show you that the lamps are by no means the sort of lights that you'd hide under a bushel, for each one has some special artistic feature, something by way of novelty to commend it to your attenton, and the types are many and varied.

The baskets are but a few culled from a vast assortment of Japanese wicker work, in that artistic reddish brown shade which is so typically Eastern.

The furniture has been carefully chosen, each piece showing all the qualities of good materials and good construction, as well as of artistic design.

Do you know the Lyra plano? In case you do not, the shetch (right) will introduce you to its graceful proportions, but only a ser acquaintance can convince you of its splen-did tonal qualities. It has both sweetness and power and another very great attraction is its moderate price. For since there are no commissions, agent's Jees or warehouse expenses to be paid and only one freight rate we are enabled to mark this plane at very greatly below the u ual price of pianos of such qualities. That sketched is in Louis XV. design and is obtainable in either wainut or mahog-any finish. The p. ice delivered to the nearest station in Ontario is $225.

The first and last link in the chain that encloses the odern decorator's "scheme of things entire" is it not the lighting? So here is a lamp that with its simple, well proportioned mahogany column, its firm, well weighted base, and its rose s lk shade answers every requirement both aesthetic and utilitarian. The price of the amp is $9.00. The shade of drawn some silk with heavy silk fringe edging and quaint gold galon latticing-most scoming as well as very ecovative—is $12.00.

To the studiously inclined, to the book-worm such a lamp as that sketched above will specially appeal, but busy needle women and others whose occupation demands a good light which is not diffused will rejoice in its adjustability. It is of the type known as students' lamp, is made of brush brass with green bands round the base and shade, has a white reflector and is adjustable both as to height and angle. The price is $14.50. Other sizes and styles in students' lamps range in price from $6.75 to $17.00.

cold storage and no record kept of the date when being packed, or any mark to indicate how long it has been in cold storage. Cold storage is, or should be, a live issue in every municipality inasmuch as it constitutes the most sane and efficient means by which food can be kept in a comparatively fresh condition. But, unfortunately, the abuse of cold storage, the lack of proper regulations in supervision, has brought it into dire disrepute. It is a well known fact that dealers during the season when eggs, utter, poultry etc., are plentiful, go ut thru the country and offer a cent or two more for eggs and a cent or two more for eggs and a cent or two more for a pound of butter, the same for poultry, than the farmers could get in the market. They in that way secure all the surplus supply and thus bring about an abnormal ing an efficient supply of cold storage for all vendors. Meat, poultry, butter, eggs, and fish when offered for sale should be kept in refrigerated show cases and never exposed to dust, dirt and fly contaminations.

"A chain of cold storage warehouses should be established thruout the province or the Dominion or thorogovernment supervision and railway boards should be empowered, if they do not already possess this power, to compel all railways to supply efficient refrigeration, transportation facilities for meat, poultry, butter 'eggs and milk'."

which he has admittedly done so be little concern, as regards the time that they are in storage.

All food should be stamped so as to indicate the day and date when it was placed in cold storage.

The regulation of ventilation, temperature, humidity, and general santifary conditions of cold storage in refrigerating plants.

The time in which food is held in cold storage logether with careful supervision after its removal and until time of consumption.

These were recommendations contained in the report of Dr. C. J. O. Histings, medical officer of health of Toronto who, in completing an investigation of cold storage plants here, declared that the proper use is being abused and that they are in "dira disrepute." This is due to lack of conficial estimates that the improper handling of the egg crop in Canada and the United States results in an annual loss of $50,000,000. Commenting today on the retirement of Sir Sam Hughes, The Winnipeg Telegram. Hon. Robt. Rogers' organ, says this step "comes neither as a surprise nor as a disappointment." Credit is paid to his "very valuable services." but it is added, "his administration was erratic and threatening all kinds of dangerous consequences, Sir Sam Hughes would neither take advice, heed warning, nor submit to discipline. His incompatability was universal."

"Rigid inspection of all foods before being placed in cold storage, the proper supervision of cold storage, efficient regulations, preferably under government or municipal control, would result in the saving of tens of toning.

Valuable Services.

The Sun concludes a lengthy editorial thus: "The British Empire cannot well forget the services that General Hughes rendered it. Canada ioses from its official life a vigorous and resourceful man."

The Times describes him as a "peppery and domineering character." but pays high tribute to his military achievements. It adds: "With inexhaustible vigor he worked away at his task. He is now in part the victim of that vigor. The armies he called forth are a record and a monument which no mistakes and no squabbles on this side or the other side of the water can impair. What he has done is noble and memorable. He is a salient and angular, forceful personage."

Very few leading English papers have commented on Sir Sam Hughes' resignation. Canadian cables have been rather short, altho The Daily Telegraph's Ottawa correspondent reveals today that the resignation was virtually a dismissal.

The Manchester Guardian today says: "Even if Hughes' judgment on purely technical questions was right and that of the military authorities here was wrong, a minister of the dominion chooses an indefensible mode of asserting his views when he attacks imperial authorities in a public speech, phrased most intemperately. The war could not be carried to a successful conclusion if each allied state and dominion claimed freedom to pluck the beam publicly from each other's eye. Which very evidently is the opinion of Premier Borden and his government, who have drawn from Hughes' speech the inevitable moral."

The Daily Sketch professes to know the war office is in communication with Borden on Hughes' speech and inquiry will follow into the allegations if necessary. Allan Huff, who was removed from 141 1-2 East King street to St. Mich-

CITY HALL NOTES

In a letter to Colonel Denison, Sheriff Mowat points out the disadvantages of closing up the old jail. In addition to being a hardship on the present officials, he says it will inconvenience friends wishing to visit prisoners, will mean long trips to bring prisoners to and fro from the farm when on remand and also heighten the danger of escape when desperate criminals are in transit at night to the jail farm. Chief Grasett appends a report, in which he advocates some means of holding prisoners on remand close to the police court.

The inception of our club came one night last, fall in the composing room between editions. Old man Dillon, at one of the linotype machines, had lighted his pipe and observed between puffs: "It's going to be a hard, cold winter."

In view of the war in Europe and the prevailing notion of scarcity and high prices, in view of the prospects of idleness, no one was prepared to argue about that.

"Where do you get your potatoes?" he pursued.

"Buy mine at the store," I replied.
"Now, my boy, that's no way, I get mine from a farmer, What we ought to do is to get together and buy from the store was a buy from the same than the orchards one day, we sped from farm to farm, and from each I took samples and prices back home.

"I haven't seen such apples as these since I was a boy," he said when he saw them. Then the story had to come out. The boss was interested. "Put me down for ten bushels of those Spys," he said, and he went down the hall eating exhibit A.

No One Ordered Enough.

And so we contracted for apples at the such was a buy from the such apples and prices back home.

But that idea of buying potatoes at he was delivering the 200 or 300 bush-wholesale lingered in the back part of my head and kept coming forward.

Our paper had been printing lots of stuff about the high cost of living and about wrestling with it thru co-operative companies but it had never the control of the paper of the control of the c tive companies, but it had never seemed that a co-operative company was for "the likes of us."

There we were, forty or fifty of us.

There we were, forty or fifty of us, working in a busy print shop—editors, compositors, artists, pressmen, cashiers, bookkeepers, mail clerks and so on. Most of us had families with growing appetites, and most of us as the hens laid—eggs that several companies and the statement of up.

Our county has a farmers' cooperative company to sell produce. Thru its sales agent we bought eggs on. on. Most of us had families with growing appetites, and most of us took our pay envelopes home Saturdays and sent our wives down to market to buy a little butter, a peck of potatoes, half a pound of bacon and a pint of beans. We bought where we could buy handlest; we had no idea of guality or price. That idea of buying quality or price. That idea of buying ed poultry every week—a hundred-hundreds of bushels of potatoes was weight or two in a box by express.

But that idea kept working itself round before my eyes, and I knew I should never see anything else until I got it out of my system. This is what I typed at the head of a long strip of copy paper and hung up on a nail in the composing room:

weight or two in a box by express. Thanksgiving we bought the tenderest of turkeys—a whole boxfut. Then we began to buy weekly supplies of butter and bacon. It is no uncommon matter to buy thirty dollars' worth a week. We have the benefit of the wholesale price and at the same time the composing room:

like one of those bond issues we read about that are over-subscribed, for none of us had the slightest idea where we were going to buy so many potatoes nor what they would cost. It was becoming embarrassing. We were as helpless a lot as ever entered a market with a wad of money. But we did not propose to be fleeced. There's a way of getting at things. If we didn't know all there was to know about potatoes, there were men who did. Up in our country there is a farm bureau, with a government expert agriculturist who goes about improving crops.

To him we turned for expert advice. Could he direct us to farmers with good potatoes to sell? Could he? That was just his business. He gave us a list of a dozen who had sprayed and tilled after his direction. We started communicating with them at once thru the rural post.

Well, to make a long story short, we seize without notifying the cold storag grafters, otherwise the food will be ship ped across the border in a week's time It is to be hoped that some of our members of parliament have not investe their capstal in cold storage plants.

IS THIS A HOLD-UP?

Editor High Cost of Living: A grocery man at Woodbridge, Ont., said a short time ago that he could not buy a bag of potatoes on the market. At the same time there was a trainload of potatoes on he track there. Car after car of potatoes, yet no potatoes. Is this a hold-up?

Catch onto the egg business (high jugging). Some few years ago eggs were selling for 70 cents a dozen in Cleveland. Ohio. A certain lawyer started a live movement and eggs dropped to 42 cents. The idea of a lawyer to act was a doubly good one. It stirred things up substantially. If I am writing worth-while stuff don't pass it up.

TO COMBAT COMBINES.

Well, to make a long story short, we contracted for 400 bushels at fifty cents a bushel delivered in our several and respective cellars. The price was about the average for that abundant season, but we had the assurance of guaranteed stock. John Boulter, a Chicago resident, yesterday announced the incorporation in Illinois of a co-operative society designed to combat the high cost of living. The society is called the National Mutual Alliance. The alliance, according to Mr. Boulter, expects eventually to establish a string of stores and otherwise follow out the plan of the English co-operative systems.

BALTIMORE SUGGESTION.

Baltimore, Maryland.

Editor Toronto World: Your timely article on the killing of calves should be taken up at once by the government and an embargo placed on the sale of veal for at least two years. I should suggest that every householder with a yard turn his yard into a vegetable garden. Enough could be grown to supply the family during the summer and fall, when meat could be dispensed with to a large extent. This would save money in both meat and vegetables. It would also give the cattle a longer time to mature and increase weight.

Believes Baking Classes Would Reduce Living Cost

Establishment of a school in which housekeepers may learn thru an efficient teacher how to bake bread in order to reduce the high cost of living has been made in the Earlscourt Methodist Church. In commenting upon this innovation Rev. Peter Brice said: "We believe that families can economize by baking their own bread. If classes like ours could be started all over the city it would mean that all the mothers could soon, learn how to bake bread and the high cost of this necessary article of food would be bound to come down."

Chicago Also Has Trouble With Cold Storage Plants

After hearing from the reports of investigators that there are stored in Chicago 625,839,480 eggs, the city council subcommittee on health at its meeting this afternoon decided to ask the aid of United States District Attorney Clyne and State's Attorney Hoyne in breaking up supposed combinations that are boosting the prices of food.

Figuring eggs at 4 cents each, the value of cold storaga eggs now in Chicago can be estimated at more than $25,000,000.

J. B. Fleming, Mr. Clyne's chief assistant, has already begun an investigation to find out why prices are high. He wants to know so does Alderman Willis O. Nance of the council committee delivered. Like their cdor, the fame of those apples spread over the city. The postman smelled them and enquired. Within a day half the post-office force came clamoring at our door with money in their hands to "get in on that apple deal." Did the farmer like our way of doing business? While he was delivering the 200 or 300 bush-gation to find out why prices are high. He wants to know, so does Alderman Willis O. Nance of the council committee on health, whether or not the retail grocer is in collusion with the jobber, and if this is the reason for the increased cost of canned goods.

Circulars sent out by some of the retail merchants on the south side, warning housewives that while there has already been an increase in the price of canned goods, the cost will continue to go up, and that there's no time like the present for purchasing, interest Mr. Fleming.

It was up to the men. To tell the truth, I did not much believe there would be a very heavy response. But you should have seen that list grow.

Every day it grew longer as the men had time to consult with Mary or Margaret and learn how many bushels the kiddles would eat thru the winter. The word spread all over the building. Up from the pressroom came the inky crew; from the mail-room came pastersmeared boys and signed their names along with the managing editor's. The financial sharks from the front office, having figured the percentage they might save, signed their names with a flourish.

Assessing the New Store Building

No finer exhibition of faith in the cause for which the great war is being fought, of faith in the British Empire, of faith in the future of Canada and particularly of Toronto, could be found tuan in the determination of the owners of the block of land on Yonge, College, Teraulay and Hayter streets, as announced at the city hall yesterday, to proceed with the erection of large departmental store. .The projectors state that they have two plans, one "a plain one that will suit the purpose of handling goods and selling them over the counter, or a better and more handsome style."

It has not transpired what the difference in cost is to be, but whether it be 20 per cent., 25 per cent. or 35 per cent., the extra investment will be a benefit to the community in two ways: first, to the builders, supply men and workmen, and second, to the community as a whole in the possession of a more attractive and artistic building. The principle is to exempt the extra cost from taxation, or in other words to give a fixed assessment on the building at a rate presumably to cover the cost of the cheaper class of building which might be erected.

It has been urged that the extra money spent on a better class of building should be taxed as an investment, but it ought to be clear that the extra money spent on adorning or improving a house is not an investment if the building in its original condition serves its purpose. "Smells" was the big item for consideration at the meeting of the health board yesterday. Three separate protests were received concerning odors from the West Toronto ahattoirs, the Morley avenue sewage disposal plant, and the Harris glue factory on Danforth avenue. In the case of the ward seven firms the board decided to ask the provincial authorities to take action against the abuttoirs, whereas in the glue factory proties to take action against the abuttoirs, whereas in the glue factory protest, they decided to ask the city solicitor whether action was within the province of the local or provincial board. > PARIS NEED NOT FEAR COAL FAMINE'S RIGORS

However, Maximum Retail Prices Will Be Fixed for Euel.

Paris, Nov. 15 .- Paris has no reason to fear a coal famine. Manufacturers, including those working for the national defence, will have an ample supply of coal, according to a statement made today by Minister of Public Works Sembat to the chamber of deputies, which adopted the first clauses of a bill which would fix maximum retail prices of coal and other combustibles and regulate their sale during the war.

M. Sembat said the price of coal had increased from 81 francs per ton in April, 1916, to 140 francs per ton in May. France was able, however, to economize on the importation of coal to the extent of from 80,000,000 to 100,000,000 francs per month. The production of French coal had been greatly increased, the minister said, but it was still insufficient, and the supply was dominated by the question of labor. M. Sembat urged the sending from the trenches to the mines the greatest number of men possible.

The Columbian, he said, had formerly been owned by the Hawaiian American Co., but was taken over by his company which had been organized since the war.

"All the shipping of our company, totalling nearly a quarter of a million tons, is owned in America and is under American registry," he said, "The majority of the ships are under charter to the Italian and French Governments. The Columbian was bound for Genoa with about 9,000 tons of oats when she was torpedoed. She had delivered about 1,500 horses at St. Nazaire. ELECTORAL REFORMS IN THE NETHERLANDS

Sex Disability of Women Removed by Parliamentary Resolution.

The Hague, via London, Nov. 15.—By unanimous vote parliament has passed a resolution providing for the amendment of article 80 of the constitution, so that henceforth there will be universal manhood suffrage and no plural votes or compulsory voting.

The sex disability of women is also removed by the resolution. The actual granting of the vote to women, however, is still distant, as it depends on the passing of an electoral bill, which at present is unlikely.

The first chamber amended article 31 of the constitution establishing the principle of proportional representation for the second chamber. This likewise was passed unanimously.

it is feit that he would have been made manager.

By the general dope tonight it looks as if the Ottawa team, even if colder weather sets in, cannot hit the ice and hold even a schoolboy's workout inside the next two weeks. This ratio gives the Ottawa Club a scant thirty days to sign up its team, put it in condition, whip its second string men in line and go out and win the opening game of the N.H.A. From this standpoint it looks like a mighty big task, and the question is being freely asked: Can it be done?

All the other teams in the league have their players signed and are busy getting them into shape. Toronto's, with Keats, is looked to as being up to a pretty fair standard, and Wanderers with the Clegfrorns, Lindsay, Hague, etc., on the roaster look pretty fair.

New Orleans, Nov. 15.-Proposed amendments to the constitution of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues were considered at tonight's session of the 15th annual meeting here. Amorg the amendments were propositions to reduce the membership of the National Board from nine to five providing for representation by the minor leagues in the National Baseball Commission, changes in rulings of the National Board, reclassification of leagues and other matters involving relations between players and clubs.

The minor league clubs, at the afternoon session, voted unanimously to table four demands of the Baseball Players' Fraternity submitted in writing by President David L. Fultz, as follows.

Elimination of alleged contracts permitting clubs to suspend injured players; giving players the right to sign new contracts immediately after their unconditional release; allowance to minor league players of traveling expenses from their home clubs to the club's city, or its spring training camp; and changes in the procedure of the National Board in players' claims cases, so as to give the fraternity notice of the clubs' defense and opportunity to reply.

The convention acted upon the fraternity's demands after Secretzry Farrell of the association had argued against them. There was no argument in support of them.

Almost all the leagues which are members of the association held conferences today, but no important action was announced by any of them. Cleopatra was 18 when she ascended the throne as joint heir with her brother, Ptolemy Dionysius, a lad of 11. In accordance with the custom, she was to marry him as well. But Cleo-patra had a masterful disposition, and revolted against this division of power. Just at the moment when the followers of Cleopatra and Ptolemy were fight-ing their hardest, Julius Caesar came ring their hardest, Julius Caesar came to Alexandria, having overthrown Pompey on the plains of Pharsalia. He sought to establish peace in the Egyptian royal family, and summoned Cleopatra and Ptolemy to appear be-fore him. The former was not popular in Alexandria, and to reach Caesar without being discovered she had her faithful attendant wrap her in a rich oriental carpet and carry her in a rich oriental carpet and carry her into the audience hall. When Caesar saw this princess in the flower of her beauty he was captivated by her charms. After establishing Cleopatra firmly on the throne, he lingered in Egypt to enjoy her companionship and the pleasures of the court.

Finally, to preserve his popularity, he was forced to return to Rome. In the course of time Cleopatra followed him there, but the hand of Brutus interrupted their love affair, and the Queen of Egypt returned to her do-

She reigned in comparative peace for hree years, when Marc Antony, Rome's great general, was sent to the east to receive the homage of the vas-sal kings. Cleopatra remained absent from Antony's Asiatic council, and Rome's representative sent a messenger to summon her.

The romantic meeting of Antony and Egypt's queen on the river Cydnus is familiar to every lover of history. Like Caesar, his predecessor, Antony fell deeply in love with Cleopatra. He followed her to Alexandria; forgot Rome, ambition, everything—even his faithful Cleopatra exerted every art to keep Antony at her side. She gave enter-tainments of remarkable splendor. Then Rome called the triumvir to take an active part in affairs. He went home, but eventually returned to his Egyptian enchantress. The Romans clamored for his overthrow, and Octa-vius Caesar was sent to attack him. Octavius was victorious, and camped without the walls of Alexandria.

While Antony made a last vain ef-fort to outgeneral Octavius Cleopatra sat within her palace awaiting the re-sult. She resolved, rather than become a captive of Rome, to kill herself. She collected all kinds of deadly poisons and experimented with them upon her prisoners. She found that quick-acting poisons caused the victims to die in paroxysms of pain, while the victims of pain while the victims of pain while the victims of pain while the victims of the victim tims of slow poisons were too long in dying. She also tried animals and in-sects. Then she discovered that the bite of an asp brought a drowsy numbthe victim expiring in a deep slumber.

At last Antony was overpowered and fled into the city. He sought Cleo-paira, who, having heard that the Romans were about to enter Alexan-dria, had locked herself in a massive tomb which she had built. Antony was falsely told at the palace that the queen had slain herself. Maddened by grief he rushed to his own apartments and fell upon his sword. He was slowly bleeding to death when a messenger entered, saving that Claopatara yet lived. He ordered himself borne to the mausoleum, where Cleo-patra and her maidens nursed him tenderly until he died.

The queen, in her agony, threw herself upon his body just as Octavius and his followers burst upon her. She tried to kill herself with a dagger, but a soldier snatched the weapon from her hand.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By ANNIE LAURIE

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE! There are quite a few young fellows from my home town that are going around and the girls don't seem to notice them at all. There are lots of fellows looking for girls, but how are they going to get them when they don't look at them? What seems to be the matter? E. C.

seems to be the matter? E. C.

E. C.—Why don't you have a talk with some public-spirated woman or man and try to start a young people's club—non-sectarian, of course, and with a social feature or a good educational feature.

Am sure you ought to have jolly times if this could be done, for in this way the boys and girls would be able to meet.

I know of a church in a small city that has a fancing school, where the teacher is paid by the evening—about $5 an evening, I think. The young people pay a fee of 10 cents each and are sure of proper instruction and a jolly good time. It might be that some older person would agree to teach the class free, but with the small fee the young people feel much more free to come and go as they choose.

I hope you will write me soon and tell

I hope you will write me soon and tell me that such a club is being started, for I know what a good thing it would be for your town.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE;

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE;
I am a married woman of 16 years' experience and still can learn a great many things. Would you kindly advise me if it is proper for a young lady of 26 years to travel by train with a gentleman friend and remain over at a relative's home from Saturday till Monday. They are not engaged as yet, altho they have been keeping company for the past four years. Kindly advise if prudent also, should they become engaged? She did not want to be invited, but simply wrote, asking if she might bring her young man when she came?

Mrs. W. A.

Mrs. W. A.—It is not proper for young people to go away alone on trips unless they are married. However, if the young people have gone together for four years, don't you think it is probable that they are engaged?

And if it is not convenient for the hostess to receive the man it is perfectly proper for her to say that it is impossible for her to have him at this time, and no offence should be taken at such a refusal. Often it is not pleasant to have a stranger about when we would just as soon entertain relatives as not.

I'm sorry that I could not reply to your letter by mail, and hope that you will see this reply. will see this reply.

Inasmuch as you are older than the young woman and have had so much experience, it might not be unwise for you to talk to her when she comes to visit you.

Annie Laurie.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have a great problem to solve. I am a married woman and have been married for one year.

Last week-end we visited an old school chum of mine. She is very attractive, and altho I am considered a handsome woman, I do not seem to attract my husband as much as she does. He has always shown his love very profusely, but now he is cold and indifferent. My heart is breaking, Please advise me what to do.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I have been going with a young man regularly for five months, and I love him dearly. He says that I am the only girl he loves, but for the last two or three weeks he has been so indifferent. FLORA: Yes, my dear, I think I'd continue being just as polite to the young man as you have been. The fact that he is not proving himself a gentleman, does not give you the privilege of being unwomanly or impolite. Your responsibility is to yourself and your own ideals, not to the man.

If I were you I would not be so interested in him, however, and I would try to put some other interests into my life. I would not have time for a man who apparently cared so little for the favor of my company.

I'm sorry, dear little woman, but it may be best. Think how terrible it would be to have married this man and then have him act in such a manner. Isn't it better that you have learned about his moods now?

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two girls, 17 and 19 years of age. Every evening for the last week two fellows on a motorcycle have come around our home. Why Fright Makes Your

By Dr. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG A.B., M.A., M.D. (Johns Hopkins Univ.)

Have eart-not in the popular meaning of the phrase, being kindly disposed, sympathetic or generous, but in anatomical physiological meaning of the The heart of a hearty, sound and vigorous per-son beats about 72 times a minute. Fright will cause DR. HIRSHBERG your heart to feel as if it were going to "jump out of your mouth" because to "jump out of your mouth" because of the increased rapidity of its beat.

The heart of a rabbit frightened by a dog or a gun-shot will beat with such velocity as almost to defy counting. What causes the extra beats? It cannot be muscular exertion, because fright often "strikes you dumb" or "freezes you in your tracks." Neither can it be a runaway heart, loosened and set free by "checking the reins" or "vagus" nerves as the traces are call-

The change of the rate of heart beats associated with fright is caused by setting free in the blood, muscles and nerves certain fluids, as the juices of the thyroid and suprarenal glands. If a child, woman or man, therefore, is so badly frightened that the heart is kept beating at too high a rate of speed for too long a time, much permanent injury is done to the organ.

Scientists recently carried out important experiments, to prove even such seemingly remote activities as paying attention, remembering, listening and thinking produce a change of rate in your heart action. If you pay close heed to things seen or heard, if your visual attention is kept at proper pitch, the number of breaths you take to the minute as well as the number of pulse beats, respectively 17 and 72, change definitely. Close attention at first decreases the rate of breathing and the effort to pay at-tention with the eyes increases the rate of the heart beats. Increased breathing also puts a strain on the heart and increases the number of heart beats per minute, while restricted breathing tends to decrease the pulse rate.

Rapid breathing or "shortness of breath," as you call it, means that your heart is also pumping faster. Deep breathing interferes with sleep, rest, attention. Rapid breathing interferes more with the listening.

Gymnastics, physical culture, dancing and play all yield a plentiful amount of extra heart action, which if too long continued do more than increase the rate and rhythm of the heart beat. They may endanger the elasticity of

Three Delicious Meat "Extras" for Your Luncheon HOUSEHOLD HELPS By ISOBEL BRANDS

A hot meat dish in the middle of the day is most welcome during cold weather when the body demands heating food. And yet very often the housekeeper objects to having a meat dish both at noon and in the evening, partly because an excess of meat is unwholesome and partly because it is expensive. Here is where the meat "extras" are a solution, as they provide the basis for an appetizing meat-flavored dish, minus the expense er heavy protein value of steak or Meat extras, so-called, are the liver, heart, kidneys, tongue and also sausiges, and while all of these items are not cheap they are used in smaller quantities than meat, and nence their total cost for a meat is less. The best liver is calves' liver, and can serve for several meals in an average fatally. However, usually the butcher is willing to cut the liver and soll it by the pound in any quantity desired. Beef liver is larger than caives' liver, has a stronger flaver, and is not quite so tender, but it costs less, and pigs' liver is cheapest of all.

The veal kidneys are best, but beef, veal, mutton, lamb and pork kidneys are also used and cost very little. Hearts can be purchased for about 15 cents, and are flavorful, but not very digestible. Here are some simple inexpensive recipes for using meat-flavored dighes.

Instant Relief for Nausea and Heartburn You cannot have sick headache when your liver is right. Dr. Cassell's Instant

Relief sets it right, and that is why it cures sick headache and other bilious troubles so quickly, so surely, so thoroughly. It is not violent, like so many preparations, and you don't need to keep on taking it. It just helps your liver to regain its power, and thus natural action and natural cure follow at once. "Science Siftings," a prominent English scientific Journal, says (April 11, 1918):—"Providence has given us the brains to devise means to compensate Nature for our ill-treatment of her. . . . The means at hand come from natural sources, and we have them embodied in such splendid combinations as Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief."

Take Dr. Cassell's Instant Relief for constipation, biliousness, torpid liver, sick headache, dizziness, specks before the eyes, flatulence and windy spasms, acidity, heartburn, impure blood, and that dull, heavy feeling which is a sure indication of liver troubles.

There was only a very small attendance at the North Toronto Market yesterday, prices remaining about stationary with Saturday's quotations.

New-laid eggs were in demand, but it now looks as if the high-price limit had about been reached, as one vendor, who arrived after the few first offered had been disposed of at 70c per dozen, and who asked 80c per dozen for the our dozen she had gathered since Saturday, was turned down, as the buyers refused to pay that sum, and so had to reduce her price.

Butter sold at 45c per lb. Apples brought 35c and 40c per six-quart basket, and 55c per 11-quart. White turnips

WHEAT ADVANCES LIVERPOOL HIGHER Closing Prices at Chicago Show Maximum Gain of

Two Points. CANADA'S CROP SHORT

Rumors Prevail of Coming Embargo on Argentina's Grain.

Chicago, Nov. 15.—Altho talk of peace parleys within four months gave a temporary advantage today to the bears in wheat the market closed strong, influenced by announcement that Argentine grain offerings to. Europe had been completely withdrawn and by a report that farm reserves of wheat in Canada were small. Closing prices were 3-4c to 2c net higher, with December at $1.87 1-2 and May at $1.90 3-4. Corn gained 1-4c to 5-8c and oats 1-8c to 3-8c. Provisions showed a setback of 2 1-2c to 10c.

Unexpected advances in wheat quotations at Liverpool gave right at the start a decided upward swing to the market here. It was explained that arrivals of wheat in Great Britain were scanty, and that millers' demands were increasing. Moreover, Argentine-crop advices proved bullish, and foreigners seemed eager to acquire Chicago contracts for future deliveries. Soon, however, the market headed downward faster than it had gone up. Bears were making much of the peace interview from Count Apponyl, the Hungarian leader, and it was not until the last 15 minutes of the session that the bulls again obtained control of the market.

Announcement of the complete with-market.

Announcement of the complete withdrawal of Argentine offers of wheat to Europe was coupled here with earlier advices implying that the government of Argentina was contemplating a possible embargo.

Much late buying resulted also from reports credited to the Northwestern Grain Dealers' Association, saying that the Canadian prairie crop was 182.000,-000 bushels less than last year's total and that only 43,670,000 bushels was now, left in farmers' hands.

Corn swayed with wheat. Bullish Argentine reports were in a measure offset by assertions that rural domestic offerings of corn to arrive here had noticeably increased. Demand from the seaboard helped to uphold the cats market. The Canadian northwest crop was estimated to be 51,000,000 bushels less than in 1915.

Fifteen Important Properties in Porcupine Have Resumed Work.

Outlying Districts When Linked Up Will Make Camp a Large One

By Special Correspondent.
Timmins, Nov. 15.—Something of the abnormal war prosperity of this country and the United States is indicated in the fact that the active area of Porcupine has widened greatly since last year this time. Without war, production would now be greater and the camp further advanced, but in the fact that at least fifteen important properties resumed work in the last twelve months there is evidence of great progress. Erratic and short-lived operations have been carried on at dozens of other properties, and all of them, the not important even in is once more set aright this camp will boom in every corner and in sections far out from the present circle of development. Development at the West Dome Consolidated is going ahead at full speed. A skip has been installed in No. 1 shaft and drifting has been comced toward the new shaft. Boom in Mine Stocks Coming

Dealing with the future prospects of the mining markets, a broker who has spent a lifetime in the business, gives his views as follows:

Never in the history of the world has the position of the money metals (silver and gold) been placed in a position subject to such changes as during this time. Students of economics were not taken by surprise when, at the declaration of the almost world-wide war, gold was eagerly sought, and immediately went to a premium in several countries. Sterling exchange was, in a sense, paralyzed for a time, and it was only when confidence between the allies and the leading neutral nations was restored that the gold basis was replaced on a proper level. Should the war end as suddenly as it commenced, another dislocation of similar dimensions is just as likely to occur.

This, however, is neither probable nor possible, and due preparation will be made in the matter of the position of these two metals long before the declaration of peace.

The history of the war thus far has been to increase the value of almost every commodity, and as these are valued in gold, the standard, it is readily seen that gold has depreciated or lost in its purchasing power. Silver occupies a double position, being both a commodity and a measure of value, to some extent, as money. Under the circumstances that have existed, both metals have lost in value, as measured by their purchasing power, but silver has risen in price, and thereby partly retained its standard.

During the past two years, metals of every description, except money metals have risen in price. Conver has trabled; steel has advanced elements.

During the past two years, metals of every description, except money metals, have risen in price. Copper has trebled; steel has advanced allost as much, and other industrial metals in equal proportion.

metals, have risen in price. Copper has trebled; steel has advanced allost as much, and other industrial metals in equal proportion.

With the ending of the war, the position must inevitably be reversed, and this is the point that the investor in the gold and silver companies must bear in mind and keep constantly before him.

Ask any well-informed banker, and he will admit that a feverish rush for silver and gold at the close of the war is inevitable.

This desire for gold, and more gold, and silver in proportion, will make such a demand for the mining stocks that a boom of tremendous dimensions is bound to follow. The man with money and foresight has already started to discount the time of the wild market prices for the silver and gold securities. Men who picked up Bethlehem Steel when it was selling at $40 per share knew that the price was bound to advance because of the commercial conditions, and these men are now holding to the stock at $675 a share. It is such far-sighted individuals who will buy gold and silver shares now, when prices are normal, to hold until conditions warrant an increase of several times the cost.

The increase in these mining shares may be, at first, gradual, and can be said to have already begun, but the big movement will come in a whirl of speculation that cannot be checked until it has exhausted itself. Patience and careful investment in the stocks of responsible gold and silver companies will bring such a return of profits as seldom excess.

Patience and careful investment in the stocks of responsible gold and silver companies will bring such a return of profits as seldom occurs more than once in a lifetime. As an earnest of the future demand for silver, consider the cargo of the German submarine, which comprised, in part, $250,000 in silver bullion.

Murray Alexander, secretary of the Vacuum Gas and Oil Co., left yesterday to meet Manager Rowe to inspect the company's gas field near Til.sonburg, where a pipe is now down fice it was thought that the second gas well would be brought in while the officials were on the ground. A "Development is now proceeding the officials were on the ground. The Vacuum Gas Co. operations have created much interest in New York, and a party of investors are leaving there on Friday to inspect the company's oil wells. New York is still the heavy buyer of Vacuum Gas stock, the demand being quite insistent yesterday at 1121/2.

AMERICAN ENGINEER FAVORABLE TO NEWRAY

Mines on Behalf of U. S. Capitalists.

Special to The Toronto World. Schumacher, Ont., Nov. 14.—Reginald W. Petre, M.E., of Baltimore, Md., U.S., has just completed a very careful examination of the Newray on behalf of capitalists in the United States. To the two local experts associated with him in the examination he has expressed a very favorable opinion of the property. Mr. Petre is an engineer of wide experience in many parts of the continent, but this is his first visit to Porcupine. He was surprised at the progress that has been made and believes that the camp will have a great future. He is making a thoro investigation of mining conditions and the methods of treating the ore of this camp. His report will no doubt influence a large amount of American capi-

DEMAND FOR NIPISSING

New York Active Buyer of Veteran Silver Stock-Holly Con. Stronger.

Trading was fairly active in the ines at the Standard Stock Exchange yesterday and on the whole the market was strong in tone. The outstanding feature was Nipissing, the veteran issue of the Cobalt list. The ecent finds on this property, which are said to have lengthened the life of the mine considerably, and the nigh price of sliver were probably the factors which induced investors to beme interested in this stock again. The buying, which was very persistent came chiefly from New York and an advance was made to $9.15.

The volume of trade in the mine stocks was moderately heavy and well scattered thruout the list. In the morning session the market appeared a little heavy in some parts, but trading became more active in the afternoon and stocks displayed a stronger tendency.

Dome Consolidated recovered a little on short covering to $2 1-2. Teck-Hughes displayed an active tendency, sciling at 41 to 41 1-2. Among the smaller stocks, Inspiration made a new high at 27 1-2.

In the silver stocks, Timiskaming was reactionary, selling off to 61, Poterson Lake was active, selling at 18 to 18 1-2. Beaver was strong again at 42. Konabeck displayed strength by reason of a reported find on the property, the stock selling up to 25 1-2.

HURRICANAW DISTRICT COMING GOLD CAMP

S. Lawrence, a mining engineer, who has been in the Hurricanaw district for two months in the interest of To-ronto and other capitalists, informed The World yesterday that this new The World yesterday that this new gold field is likely to prove a second Porcupine. Options have been obtained on 350 acres on which several veins have been found, the surface assays ranging from $2.50 to $12.00 a ton with the free gold discarded. The lower than the property is 140 miles. cation of the property is 140 miles east of Countain on the Transcontin-ental Railway, and north by boat 75 miles. During the winter camps will he erected and some development started. Mr. Lawrence states that other prospecting syndicates are also busy at this new field,

MARK HARR MINES and MINING

Copper, the metal, has held the centre of the stage for more than two years, but, unless I am greatly mistaken, silver will be very much in the financial "limelight" from now on.

Last week, without any beating of drums or blowing of trumpets. silver quietly jumped two cents an ounce overnight, and today the precious white metal is quoted at nearly 72 cents an ounce, which represents an advance of 12 cents in the past few months, and more than 25 cents above the low figure of last year.

For several months I have predicted new high record prices for silver, and I am now firmly convinced we will see these prices before the end of the year. These high prices are of the greatest importance to the mining companies producing silver, as it means millions of dollars in added profits.

Cobalt is not only the richest silver district in the world, but it is also the largest producer. Nearly one-fifth of all the silver mined

In the Porcupine list, McIntyre opened at 186 and eased off to 183. At this point some good buying developed and a partial recovery was made. On the close, 185 was bid, but there did not seem to be any stock offering at this figure. McIntyre Extension weakened, selling down to 41, but recovered again to 42 with this figure the closing bid.

Hollinger Consolidated was strong and in demand, selling up to $7.00. Big Dome changed hands at $25.00. Newray was firm, but quiet around its recent high at 104 to 105, and West Dome Consolidated recovered a little on short covering to $2 1-2. Teck-

What I say about Nipissing I could repeat on nearly all of the producing mines of Cobalt, and the remarkable feature of this is the fact that nearly all of the Cobalt securities are selling as low today, with silver above 70 cents, as they were when the white metal was quoted around 50 cents an onnce.

Why this is I do not pretend to understand, unless it is on account of copper monopolizing the attention of investors; but whatever the cause, silver securities have certainly been woefully neglected, and I think it would pay the investing public, and pay them well, to investigate the silver situation and the silver securities.

While copper, lead and zinc have all stood still, or even declined in price, silver has advanced, and the consensus of opinion among metal brokers in all parts of the world is that 80, 90 or even one dollar an ounce can be looked for in the near future.

Should silver advance to one dolfar an ounce, you will see such a boom in silver stocks that present prices will look simply ridiculous, and those who take time by the forelock will secure a rich reward, not only in extra dividends, but also in greatly enhanced value in the

As an example, let us take Kerr Lake, which is one of the big oducing silver mines at Cobalt. This security can be from $4.75 to $5 a share, and as it pays regular dividends of 5 per cent. quarterly, or 20 per cent. yearly, it is a reasonably safe purchase.

The last annual statement issued by the Company showed ore eserves of 3,827,000 ounces of silver, and, in addition, the Company has a million dollars on hand from sales already made.

Kerr Lake could, therefore, pay the regular dividend for several years, even if they ran out of ore tomorrow, which, to say the least, is very unlikely.

Should silver advance to 90 cents or one dollar, Kerr Lake stock would undoubtedly sell at nearly double the present price; therefore, a purchase of Kerr Lake today means an almost certain dividend of 20 per cent. a year, with a chance for an extra payment or two when silver, the metal, advances.

Should silver decline to 60 cents, instead of advancing, there is every reason to believe the stock would remain around the present figure on account of the dividend yield; whereas, if the expected happened, and silver went to 80, 90 or $1.00, you would not only secure your dividend of 20 per cent. yearly, but an additional profit in the enhanced value of the stock.

Another excellent silver purchase is Lorrain, now selling at about 50 cents a share. This stock is listed on both the New York Curb and Toronto Exchange, and represents, in my opinion, an exceptional opportunity for those who like a speculation.

A silver security differs from gold or copper in one important way—which is that, while it may take anywhere from two to five years to make a hig producing gold or copper mine, a silver property may be a prospect today and a shipping mine next week.

The reason for this is that the silver ore at Cobalt, is very rich, often running from 5000 to 20,000 ounces of silver to the ton, which means, at the present price of silver, from $3500 to $14,000 a ton.

Very often one car of ore from Cobalt nets $100,000 to $150. 000, so you can see that it doesn't take many cars of ore to earn and pay big dividends.

Shrewd investors always endeavor to anticipate future conditions, and, as every known condition points directly at higher silver prices, I believe it is the psychological moment to buy such stocks as Nipissing, Kerr Lake, Timiskaming, Beaver and Lorrain.

Upon request, I shall be only too pleased to give full information on silver, gold or copper securities.

GREAT NORTHERN ZINC PROPERTY PROMISING J. P. BICKELL & CO.

Large Body of High Grade Zinc Ore Located by Drills.

According to reports from a reliable source the Great Northern Mining Co. has a very promising property in the zinc mine called the Invictus, which is situated in the State of Missouri.

Up to the present time five drill oles have been put down and the cores have shown an average of 12 per cent.

zinc. This percentage is considered very high in that part of the country.
The ore body has been traced for a distance of about two hundred and fifty feet and it will run over one hun-dred feet in width. Development work is being pushed with vigor in order that the mill may be started producing zinc concentrates.

The mill has a capacity of one hun dred tons per day and is in perfect running order. Prior to the change in control of this property the ore produced was only 4 per cent. as against 12 per cent. now being recovered by the

of several weeks past has been the exceptionally large amount of profit which has accrued to those who subscribed to the new underwritings or who purchased shares at the initial chased shares at the initial prices which were established immediately after the listing of the issues in question. There have been many cases of this kind in the market, the most prominent, perhaps, being Newray, Davidson, Lorrain, White Reserve and Vacuum Gas. Newray was not, strictly speaking, a new issue of this fall, but the property has only been opened up and the stock actively traded in during the past few weeks, and the advance scored by the shares of this company is to be regarded in the same light as the advances made by the other stocks mentioned. Tabulated, these advances make a most impressive showing, particularly when it is borne in mind that the stocks in question have only been on the board for comparatively a few weeks. The following table shows the actual record:—

	Initial	Present	Actual
Issue	Price	Price	Advance
Newray	33	$1.04	.71
Davidson	37	.62	.25
Lorrain	25	.50	.25
White Reserve	22	.28	.06
Vacuum Gas	35	1.14	~ .79
Inspiration	20	.271/2	.071/2

From the foregoing it is to be seen that the percentage of profit which has been secured through the early purchase of the issues as they were offered to the public, has been of most exceptional proportions, and it may be taken as a foregone conclusion that the newer issues will continue to be the big profit-makers of the market.

In this connection we wish to draw attention to an issue which is to be made within the next fortnight. The company in question owns 120 acres in the very heart of the greatest producing area of Porcupine. The property adjoins the Hollinger, the Porcupine Crown, the North Thompson and the Vipond. Of the Hollinger there is little need to speak; it has paid over $5,000,000 in dividends and is one of the worldfamous mines. The Porcupine Crown has paid dividends for famous mines. The Porcupine Crown has paid dividends for nearly three years and is now in better condition than ever before in its history. The North Thompson has over $1,000,000 of ore blocked out and a merger is now being consummated with the Vipond. The Vipond, according to latest reports, is now earning at the rate of over $10,000 per month, and has better values at depth than ever before. These are the properties surrounding and adjoining the property which is to be offered to the public, and the location is warrant for the utmost optimism as to the immediate future of the new company. Aggressive development work will be inaugurated at once with a view to proving up the property and bringing it to the operating stage. It is to be property and bringing it to the operating stage. It is to be added that this property has been the subject of negotiations on the part of practically every large organization which has entered the Porcupine field during the past two years, but owing to complications which arose at the outbreak of the war, it was impossible to do anything in the matter until this time.
