BY BARONESS ORCZY.

On the pressed, forgetting the deadly foe on her track, running, stumbling, footsore, half-dazed, but still on. When, suddenly, a crevice, or stone, or slippery bit of rock, threw her violently to the ground. She struggled again to her feet, and started running forward once more to give them that timely warning, to beg them to flee before he came, and to tell him to keep away—away from this death-trap—away from this awful doom. But now she realized that other steps, quicker than her own, were already close at her heels. The next instant a hand dragged at her skirt, and she was down on her knees again; whilst something was wound around her mouth to prevent her uttering a scream.

Bewildered, half frantic with the bitterness of disappointment, she looked round her helplessly, and, bending down quite close to her, she saw through the mist, which seemed to gather round her, a pair of keen, malicious eyes, which appeared to her excited brain to have a weird, super-natural green light in them.

She lay in the shadow of a great boulder; Chauvelin could not see her features, but he passed his thin, white fingers over her face.

"A woman!" he whispered, "by all the saints in the world, it is a woman!"

"We cannot let her loose, that's certain," he muttered to himself. "I wonder now..."

Suddenly he paused, and after a few seconds of deadly silence, he gave forth a long, low, curious chuckle, while once again Marguerite felt, with a horrible shudder, his thin fingers wandering over her face.

"Dear me! dear me!" he whispered, with affected gallantry, "it is indeed a charming surprise, and Marguerite felt her restless lips raised to Chauvelin's thin, smiling lips.

The situation was indeed grotesque, had it not been at the same time so fearfully tragic; the poor, weary woman, broken in spirit, and half frantic with the bitterness of her disappointment, receiving on her knees the banal gallantries of her deadly enemy.

Her senses were leaving her; half choked with the tight grip round her mouth, she had no strength to move or to utter the faintest sound. The excitement which all along had kept up her delicate body seemed at once to have subsided, and the feeling of blank despair, to have completely paralyzed her brain and nerves.

Chauvelin must have given some directions, which was too dead to hear, for she felt herself lifted from off her feet; the bandage round her mouth was made more secure, and a pair of strong arms carried her towards that tiny, red light on ahead, which she had looked upon as beacon and the last faint glimmer of hope.

CHAPTER XXIX

Trapped.

She did not know how long she was thus carried along she had lost all notion of time and space, and for a few seconds, tired nature, mercifully, deprived her of consciousness.

When she once more realized her state, she felt that she was placed with some degree of comfort upon a man's coat, with her back resting against a fragment of rock. The moon was hidden again behind some clouds, and the darkness seemed in comparison more intense. The sea was roaring some two hundred feet below her, and on looking all round she could no longer see any vestige of the ring glimmer of red light.

That the end of the journey had been reached, she gathered from the fact that she heard rapid questions and answers spoken in a whisper quite close to her.

"There are four men in there, citizen; they are sitting by the fire, and seem to be waiting quietly."

"The hour?"

"Nearly two o'clock."

"The tide?" coming in quickly."

"The schooner?"

"Obviously an English one, lying some three kilometres out. But we cannot see her boatswain's mate."

"Have the men taken cover?"

"Yes, citizen."

"They will not stir until the tall Englishman comes, then they will surround and overpower the five men."

INTERESTING BUDGET OF WASHINGTON NEWS

Greatest Military Pageant for Some Years—The Fate of Cuba Under Discussion—Britain's Battleships Excite Great Interest.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON D. C., Oct. 15.—There was a great parade in Washington this week, and the sidewalks of Pennsylvania avenue were crowded with spectators, while the central part of the street was the scene of martial honors to the late Spanish war. It was the greatest military pageant that has occurred in Washington since the late war.

It was stated that there were between nine and twelve thousand men in line, and despite the fact that this was a reunion of the soldiers and sailors of the war with Spain, the men who fought in the Civil War over forty years ago, were treated as the heroes of the occasion, and received the greater share of the applause as they limped along without uniforms or guns, and with scarce anything to signify the exact age and halting footsteps. The rapidly decreasing number of these survivors of the Civil War, makes the appearance of them in parade a most interesting remembrance. The commissioner of pensions in a recent report pointed out that over forty thousand of them had died in the last year. The list, however, still contains nearly a million pensioners, many of them being the widows and very young ones of erstwhile pensioners.

There was a lack of co-ordi-act in the arrangements—a fact was which has been the French equivalent of stinking or stepping on a banana peel) which is making considerable talk. The president did not see the parade, and the parade was the back of the parade, as he was driving away in his carriage with Mrs. Roosevelt, the police, two miles distant, where road's horse were awaiting them for a gallop through Rock Creek Park. It would have seemed peculiarly appropriate for the president to have reviewed his old comrades in the Spanish war, but he did not do so.

The committee last night that the president had agreed to review the parade or attend a banquet on Thursday, and the committee had preferred the banquet arrangement, has been given. It seems that the parade managers, however, were not told of this, and supposing that the president would review the parade, they marched the organization past the White House, but saw only the president's light on a dappled pony as he watched the ranks go by from inside the White House gates. The marching and the counter-marching, but the president did not appear, and after half an hour those in command of the procession gave the order to retire.

The fate of Cuba is the subject most discussed in Washington, and the matter will doubtless be a subject of debate in congress at the coming session. The debate will be a most interesting one, and the president and secretary of war, and Secretary Root will be called upon to explain and furnish information to the senators. Anticipating this, they are preparing the information. It will be ready to hand. Everything that has been done has been put in black and white, and so much will be published and explained that congress will probably be unable to ask for anything more. The administration does not want to give the extremists a chance to express their opinions on its motives and it considers a prominent mill, though they are short handed, of the British, and the "Dreadnaught," the largest battleship afloat, has with her turbine engine, developed remarkable speed. There will be an effort by our naval constructors to make the big ship for which an appropriation was made at the last congress equal or eclipse her. The British cruisers, the "Invincible," "Indefatigable," and "Indomitable," which are about ready to be launched, have a broadside fire equal to that of the "Dreadnaught," and a much higher speed. These are also equipped with turbine engines and are expected to develop a speed of twenty-five knots. It is said that on their trial trip they will probably show about twenty-seven.

A DISCOVERY OF GREAT VALUE

Because a Cure was Found for Inflammatory Rheumatism.

There are many types of rheumatism, but none worse than inflammatory. It was this kind that almost killed Mrs. W. J. H. of St. John, N. B. Every known remedy she tried, different doctors gave their advice, but the disease increased.

Weak and despairing, she was at her wits' end when the remarkable cure of Thon, Gullen was published. This cure was a cure of rheumatism by "Perone." Consequently Mrs. W. J. H. used the same remedy. Here is her statement:

"For years I have been rheumatic, tried various forms of relief without success. The disease increased, settled in my joints, and I was unable to walk. I was in constant pain and kept me from sleeping. My limbs and arms stiffened, my shoulders were lame and prevented me from working. Week by week I was losing strength and despaired of finding a cure. It was a happy day I heard of Perone. Every doctor I took Perone. I felt better; it eased the painful joints, gave me energy and a feeling of new life. Perone cured my rheumatism, cured me so that now an ache has ever returned. Even damp weather no longer affects me. Perone has power to destroy this acid, neutralize and enrich the blood, and therefore does cure the worst cases. Mrs. W. J. H.'s statement proves this.

By removing the cause of the disease and building up a reserve of energy Perone is certain to cure. Sufferers, buy it at about the time to stop experimenting. Perone is a cure. We guarantee this. Sold by all dealers, 50c per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name—"Perone."

RATHER STARVE THAN SURRENDER

THAN SURRENDER

Ottawa, Oct. 15.—All was quiet at Buckingham today. An attempt was made to conciliate the strikers or to induce them to accept the terms of the MacLarens, but on this the union men are thoroughly determined. They will have none of conciliation except on their own terms. For higher wages they come out and higher wages they will have or leave their old homes.

There appears to have been a little trouble at Mason, better known as Buckingham Junction, yesterday, one of the detectives, Formie, who is said since the battle has been staying with his father-in-law there, made up his mind to go to church. He crossed the fields of Farmer Cole, who saw him and ordered him straightway to take another course.

Five or six hundred men were gathered in the street, and the detective was the only one who proceeded to remove him by force. However, the father-in-law intervened, and the detective went by another route, but thought it better not to go to church.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Doody are visiting New York.

YORK MILL LIGHTING

For the first time yesterday the York cotton mill was lighted with electric light. The power is from the company's own plant. The wiring has been done by Frank E. Jones, who also arranged the Cornwall cotton mill lighting, and the results last night were highly satisfactory. Mr. Jones has had only one assistant at the work of wiring the building, which was commenced May 1. The work could be done only when the mill was shut down, so that only thirty-six whole days have been taken up with the actual labor.

The contract was a very large one. Seven hundred lights have been installed in the building. To place these more than 70,000 feet of copper wire, weighing 50 tons, were required, besides 5,000 pairs of coats, 2,000 tubes and 12,000 feet of lamp cord.

Mr. and Mrs. James H. Doody are visiting New York.

Hair Gone?

If your hair is falling out, strengthen it. Hair Food checks falling hair, cures dandruff, and makes the hair soft and smooth. Sold for over half a century.

The Pure Food Movement

is very strong in Canada today. In no article of diet is purity so important as in flour, for flour is the basis of more than half your food. It is your duty, therefore, to see to it that the flour you use is pure.

"FIVE ROSES" FLOUR is made by a process which insures absolute purity. From the time the wheat enters the mill until the flour reaches the cook it is untouched by human hands. The grain itself is thoroughly cleaned before grinding, whilst the flour is sifted, time after time, through the finest silk cloth, in order to remove the smallest impurities.

These processes render "FIVE ROSES" an easy and satisfactory flour to use, and insure better results on Baking Day than can be obtained with any ordinary brands.

Milk Licenses

So far the board of health has issued forty-three shop licenses for the sale of milk. This represents about one quarter of the establishments in the city where milk is retailed. The authorities, however, do not anticipate that they will have any trouble in this direction. It is felt on the other hand that as soon as the law is made plain to the dealers they will secure the necessary permits.

Only one of the direct dealers has applied for and been granted a license, having been able to satisfy the board that all the requirements have been met. This is a woman who keeps one cow in the city. The manager of one of the milk companies operating in the city was a caller at the board of health officers yesterday.

MR. S. D. SCOTT. One of the great merits of Mr. S. D. Scott as a journalist in St. John was the fact that though an out-and-out Conservative he reserved and exercised the right to give his own party, or a prominent member or members of that party, a rebuke when the occasion warranted such rebuke.

TAXING GREAT FORTUNES. The deliveries of President Roosevelt on the subject of limiting great fortunes by legislative enactment have attracted universal attention. Prof. James W. Crook, of Amherst College, also deals with the subject in a paper of which the Wall Street Journal gives this summary: "Prof. Cook does not consider that the era of great fortunes has passed. The sources, in his view, are still present, and with conditions and sources present, results are apt to be the same."

THE GRAND TRUNK AT JAMESTOWN

Will Have a Building of Its Own at the Great Exposition Next Year.

NORFOLK, Vt., Oct. 16.—Among the interesting transportation exhibits at the Jamestown exposition, to be held on the shores of Hampton Roads, near Norfolk, in 1907, will be that of the Grand Trunk Railway. Not only is this road to participate in the transportation display at the Ter-Centennial, but they will have special building to house their extensive exhibit. Although the headquarters of this system is located in Canada, the company intend to have a display second to none, and with this in view, they will erect a handsome building in a central location of the exposition grounds. R. H. Charlton, advertising agent, and R. McMillan, southern passenger agent, of the Grand Trunk system, and officials of the Jamestown Ter-Centennial were in conference at the exposition headquarters in Norfolk, some time ago, and it was then decided by the company to erect a building of its own for which will be immediately put into execution. The decision of the company to participate in the exposition makes them upon such a course, the Southern Railway having decided to display a splendid exhibit of the varied resources along its thousand miles of track. The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad are considering an exhibit in engine construction, the plan being to give a graphic illustration of the progress made in this line of industry, by exhibiting the first engine ever used by the B. & O. along side of one of their present day monsters. The exhibit of the Grand Trunk Railway will be unique in that it will contain enlarged pictures of the summer resorts along their tracks, beautifully executed by noted artists, which in themselves will be works of art. Specimens of fish, game and other products so abundantly available in the region through which the system passes will all be displayed. The feature of the display, however, will be the mineral exhibit. One from the great mines at Carleton Place, Ontario, called the New Silverdale, on account of its great wealth of ore, will be made. This mine was opened in 1897, and is considered one of the richest silver fields in the world. At St. Louis the Grand Trunk made an exhibit which attracted wide attention, and it is stated that the company intend to have an even more extensive display at the Jamestown Ter-Centennial. The company has won gold medals at all of the previous expositions and is at present making a large display at Milan, Italy. The officials of the road, while in Norfolk, were taken over the ground of the exposition, and expressed themselves of the belief that the Ter-Centennial will be the most popular celebration ever held in America. The location, they declared, could not be surpassed for a great international military and naval display.

PARKHURST-FINDS

NEW YORK WIDE OPEN. New York, Oct. 15.-Dr. Charles R. Parkhurst, pastor of the Madison Avenue Presbyterian church, today made public a letter addressed to Mayor McCallan by the Society for the Prevention of Crime. The communication tasks the mayor to task for the alleged existence in Manhattan of gambling and disorderly houses. The society says that its agents have spent four months investigating the situation, and mentions precincts in which it claims more than a hundred objectionable places are to be found. The letter severely arraigns Commissioner Bingham.

A FLOURISHING ST. JOHN INDUSTRY

The Cotton Mills Rushed With Orders and Cannot Get Enough Skilled Help.

A flourishing local industry of which St. John should be proud is that of the Cornwall and York Cotton Mills Company. Some years ago, when the present company took over the properties, it was said that nothing would ever come of it. It was a dead letter. Today, however, the results show that the energetic citizens who had confidence in the success of the mills and in St. John, were not mistaken. Never before in their history has there been such a rush of orders as is now being experienced. The mills are working night and day to the extent of their capacity and the orders cannot be filled. Better goods than ever before are being turned out and are being sent all over the Dominion. Owing to the press of orders the management has had to withdraw the samples and they are now making strenuous efforts to keep up with the demand. New machinery is being put in from time to time to replace the old, and the plant is being kept up-to-date in every way.

Electric lights were installed in the Cornwall mill last year, and now the York mill is to be fitted out as well. An addition to the York mill will also be made shortly, when a weaving room will be added to the Courtney Bay structure. James F. Robertson, the president of the company, said this morning that the prospects were never brighter than at present. He attributed the great success they had had to the policy of turning out only the best goods possible, keeping abreast of the times by the introduction of new machinery and the energetic work of the manager, J. B. Cudlip.

Although the mills now furnish employment for a small army of operators, the company could find work for still more if they could get them.

GOOD PROGRESS WITH DREDGING

The Site of No. 2 Crib Now About Ready--The I. C. R. Berths.

Contractor Mayes completed his work on No. 2 crib site this morning and final soundings are being taken by the government engineer. The dredge will commence work on the site of No. 3 crib as soon as the tide serves this afternoon. It is estimated that a week's work will put No. 3 site in readiness.

Mr. Clark will probably take soundings tomorrow and if the results are satisfactory the No. 2 crib will likely be placed in position on Thursday.

In conversation with Mr. Mayes this morning he said he thought No. 2 would be found all right. There was a possibility that some small boulders might have rolled off the bucket without his knowledge, and he thought that everything was satisfactory the diver was going over the bottom this morning.

Arrangements may be made for the Beaver to do the necessary work at the I. C. R. pier for the government.

THREE SYNAGOGUES

As stated by the Times on Saturday last, Louis Green purchased the Unitarian church on Hacey avenue, in order to fit it up as a synagogue. It is to be used by the older members of the Jewish congregation, who now worship in the old synagogue. Mr. Green stated that the decision is made on account of the older worshippers speaking the English language and the late comers conversing in the Russian lingua, and not through any difference of opinion on doctrine. Rabbi Rabinowitz will conduct service in the new synagogue, and he will have an assistant to minister to the wants of those attending the old place of worship. There is also one in the north end.

GOT OVER A TON OF THE DOGFISH

A peculiar sight was witnessed this morning at Lookhart's slip on Water St. Harvey Ring, who owns a fishing net there, the breakwater Newfoundland Point, went to that place this morning early and found it full of dog-fish. They had made good leave since the earlier hearings. Mr. Ring loaded two or three boats with the destructible fish and brought them up to the city, where he disposed of them to deB. Curritte. There was in the lot about 2,500 of the fish and Mr. Ring stated that he had the weir as many more. Out and around the breakwater is alive with them, and they are a great nuisance to the fishermen.
The fish were taken away in carts to the fertilizer establishment at Little River.
