Dr. J. L. Duval Dies in Hospital in London

St. John Physician Succumbs After Relapse—Had Been Convalescing After Wound Received at Ypres When in Gallant Action

Sincere sorrow will be expressed today by many friends in St. John and in other places at the news which was received in an official telegram from Ottawa this morning, telling of the death of Major Joseph Lewis Duval, M. D., in London, England. Wounded while pluckily endeavoring to give first aid to others who had been struck along the line of the famous battle-front at Ypres, Doctor Duval held bravely to his post until he was forced to leave the scene because of the severity of his injuries.

For his gallantry in this action, which was entirely of a voluntary nature, he was awarded the Distinguished Service decoration, winning special mention for his daring attendance in the service of the Red Cross in action.

That was several months ago. Just a short while prior to that he had received his promotion from a captaincy to the rank of major, commanding No. 1 Canadian Field Hospital. He was removed to hospital and later invalided to England, where he lay seriously ill for several weeks. His wife and their two little children, Madeline, aged eleven years, and Neville, a boy of seven, went to England in June, when he was fairly well recovered, and the joy of all at being together again was unbounded.

Major Duval met his loved ones in London and they had a most happy reunion. Then there seemed no doubt as to his recovery, but a few weeks ago he contracted a cold and suffering a relapse, was again placed in hospital. He sank slowly day by day, until Thursday last when death overcame him. The cause being acute gastro enteritis. The death occurred at a private hospital, 29 Wimpool street, London.

Major Duval was a native of St. John, Quebec, where his mother is still living, though seriously ill. Two sisters also reside there. Mrs. G. G. Corbett, wife of Captain Corbett, now serving in France, received the sad tidings of the death of her home, 64 Coburg street, this morning. She is a sister of Mrs. Duval, who was formerly Miss Maud B. Byrd, of Montreal. His early education was received by the late officer at St. John's, following which he studied at McGill University and received his degree from that institution when about twenty-one years. He was in Montreal for a time before coming to St. John.

Major Duval had been an active militiaman all his life. He belonged to units in Upper Canada before coming here but when the 25th N. B. Dragoons were organized in this province he joined as medical officer. At the time of the call for volunteers last fall, he was prepared to go with "his" regiment if it were called out about 11 o'clock one night he received a call asking him if he would go to command No. 8 Field Ambulance leaving next day. Although the appointment was of a hurried nature he consulted his wife, and accepted.

Since then his record is familiar in all homes in St. John, and in Red Cross units elsewhere. Letters from his men have extolled his kindness and bravery. He was an exemplary officer cheerful, kindly and courageous, unwilling that others should bear any burden without he himself having a share, and very capable in surgical attendance upon those injured in battle. His loss will be regretted at the front, at home, and heartfelt sympathy will go across the ocean to his wife and children in their bereavement—strangers in a land of strangers with the one they loved as husband and father taken from them and their only solace being that he died a martyr to his country's cause, making the supreme sacrifice—for the honor of the empire.

Major Duval has a host of friends in this city and other places where he has resided. He was a member of the N.B. Medical Society, and also belonged to the Masonic fraternity.

SHELL CRISIS IS OVER FOR RUSSIA

London, Aug. 23.—The shell crisis in Russia is over, according to an announcement made by Chairman Shingarev, of the Duma Defence Committee, to the Daily Chronicle's Petrograd correspondent.

The quantity of munitions, the statement continues, has been more than doubled and all necessary supplies are going forward promptly. The Russian army now is in splendid fighting condition, and the munitions of the internal administration is gradually being adapted to the new conditions.

"The word 'crisis,'" says the correspondent of the Daily Chronicle, "is losing its terror in the minds of the people, who are beginning to regard the idea of somewhat protracted mobility as a feasible military scheme."

The Daily Mail's Petrograd correspondent also telegraphs in an optimistic vein: "The crisis is now beginning in which the Russians will have two useful allies—namely, autumn mist and autumn mud."

"Already," says the correspondent, "seven Russian armies in many places are floundering through marshy districts where there is a thick fog in the morning and the roads are deep mud. Amid the lakes and bogs where the operations must now take place the Germans will often be obliged to move in narrow causeways under the concentrated fire of the Russian artillery, which thus will be able to inflict terrible losses at small cost. The foggy weather will prevent the German army feeling out the Russian positions."

An indication of what the Russians will do next is given in an official announcement that the time has come for the Russian army to select a suitable position upon which to remain until it can be made to serve as a point of departure for a decisive advance. In other words, the Russians now plan to dig themselves into a fortified defensive front such as exists in the west."

Grand Forks, N. D., Aug. 23.—Three hundred and fifty armed Canadian guards are patrolling the international boundary along Northern Minnesota and North Dakota, as the result of threats that attempts will be made to destroy the Canadian grain crop by fire.

Threats against Canadian farmers are said to have been made principally by Austrian and Hungarian laborers. The Manitoba elevators are said to be closely guarded.

DIED TODAY.
Mrs. Mary Corneley, a well known resident of Moore street, died this morning. She was a life long resident of the North End, and was well known and highly respected. The following relatives survive: Mrs. Margaret Donnelly, John, Joseph M., Francis J., William L. and Russell H. Donnelly, and Mrs. G. N. Comeau, of Montreal, and Mrs. J. J. Heagerty, of Grosse Ile, Quebec. Her funeral will take place from her late residence Tuesday morning.

LEUTENANT-GOVERNOR BETTER
Lieutenant-Governor Wood, who has been indisposed for several days, is now recovering and has sent word to Mayor Frink that he will be in St. John about the middle of next week to arrange plans for the campaign of the patriotic fund, in which he is deeply interested.

FOURTEEN DEATHS
At the board of health offices this week fourteen deaths were recorded. The causes were: One each from intestinal obstruction, broncho pneumonia, cancer of stomach, premature birth, heart disease, meningitis and scurvy, two each from pulmonary tuberculosis, and gastro enteritis, and three from cholera infantum.

THE MARKET
There was an abundance of country produce in the city market this morning. Vegetables remained about the same in price and quality, while butter and eggs were somewhat firmer. Poultry was fairly plentiful. Chickens sold from $1.25 to $2.

GIANT CANNON COVER METZ

Formidable Artillery Behind The French Lines
SOMETHING NEW IN GUNS

High Pieces of Mechanism, Built Into Great Excavation, Silently Await Joffre's Word to Demolish Great German Fortress

(From a New York Times Staff Correspondent)
Paris, Aug. 23.—On a hill commanding a valley that stretches away towards the line is a dense pine forest. There is a dense pine forest. There is a dense pine forest.

From a little clearing a French artillery major came to meet me and my guide. After that we walked for miles, it seemed, through dense shade over paths heavy with pine needles, until we came upon an artillery emplacement.

From the conversation between my guide—a captain of the general staff—and the artillery major, I learned that we were about to see something new in the way of cannon. I am always eager to see something new in cannon. Since my trip to the great factories at Le Creusot last May, when I was permitted to cable carefully censored descriptions of the new giant guns France was preparing against Germany, I have always been looking for the gun in operation.

So when I saw that this was no ordinary battery, I began thinking of phrases to use in calling my impressions. I could not realize then that, instead of sending any such descriptions, I should now be attempting to show by the most poignant illustration I have had since the war began, what a mighty fundamental difference really exists between the Russian and Latin civilizations.

On a gentle slope, for the tops of the pine trees from below came up level with the brow of the hill, there was a great excavation, such as might have been dug for the foundations of a chateau. The front part, facing the valley, was all screened with barbed wire and covered with evergreen. We entered the excavation from the rear, down winding steps, lined on either side with concrete, as was also the entire bottom of the excavation. The air was very fresh and cool as we descended. Up above, the breeze was gently swaying the trees, which closed over us so densely that the daylight was very unobtrusive. I was reminded of a dairy I knew on an upstate farm in New York. I almost caught myself looking for jars of butter. In the dim recesses of the cool concrete cellar, I could almost catch the odor of fresh milk.

Terrible War Weapon
But in the centre of our cavern was a huge piece of mechanism that I recognized as the "something new in cannon." Above the great steel base the long, ugly barrel stretched many yards through an aperture in the front and was covered over with evergreen. The major described the gun in detail—its size, its range, and the weight of its projectiles—none of which matter for, even though this article is primarily about guns, my censor will not let me name them. No more will he let me say whether it is one of the great guns I saw at Le Creusot.

I walked to the front of the aperture to look at the barrel lying horizontal on the tops of the pine trees growing on the slope below. The branches had been carefully cut from the higher trees in order to give a view over the valley. I got out my field-glasses and fixed them on the horizontal many miles away—just how many miles away I am

WANT TO BOOST COST OF LIVING

Retail Jewellers' Convention Want Jewels to Change With The Seasons—A $2,000,000 Exhibition

New York, Aug. 23.—Jewellers are to change, with the seasons, henceforth it will be as unobtainable to wear last year's style lavallieres as to drive last year's automobiles. Jewellers' earnings will change differently from this year's, necklaces will shift their size and shape, and in the ring department long engagements will take on a fresh emphasis.

President T. L. Combs, of Omaha, Neb., told the 1,200 delegates that jewelry was not a luxury, but a necessity of higher civilization, shaping loves, hates, sympathies and passions from the first jeweled trinket that pleases baby in its cradle to the silver plate atop one's coffin. He said the time had come for fashions in jewelry.

Experts in the employ of the association completed an inventory of the exhibits when it was found their value would run over $2,000,000. The exhibits cover an acre of space and form what is said to be the "richest array of jewels ever shown in New York. The exhibition will not be opened to the public, the officials of the association having decided that the risk would be too great. The jewels and silverware will be seen only by members of the association, jobbers and manufacturers.

Charles McKell of Chicago, formerly of this city, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Parker, 131 Victoria street. It is twenty-five years since Mr. McKell saw his home town and during that space he says he has seen many improvements. He will return to Chicago on September 6.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Parker of Boston are to return home on the Calvin Austin this evening, after spending the summer at Public Landing on the St. John river.

P. E. L. DROWNING ACCIDENT
Charlottetown, P.E.I., Aug. 23.—James Jarvis, aged 23, was drowned yesterday at North Lake. He and Joseph O'Hanley went out in a small boat to bring in a large one anchored twenty-five yards from the shore. Their small craft was capsized by a heavy sea. They succeeded in righting it and getting on board, when she was overturned the second time. O'Hanley got into the boat, but Jarvis perished. He leaves a wife and one child.

RUSSIANS DO NOT FEAR FOR NATIONAL CAPITAL

Confident of Ability to Safeguard Petrograd—New Army of Two Million Men Ready in Spring

London, Aug. 23.—The Petrograd correspondent of the Times quotes General Polivanoff, Russian minister of war, as follows:—

"We are confident of our ability to safeguard Petrograd. Our armies can stand the winter without inconvenience. Everything is ready for that purpose. A new force of 2,000,000 men will be trained far behind the fighting line, and will be ready to take the field in the spring. General Ruzsky is commander-in-chief of the Petrograd front, with several armies at his immediate disposal. It is my settled purpose to do everything in my power to work in harmony with the Duma and public opinion."

General Polivanoff, says the correspondent, characterized the suggestion that the allies were not helping Russia to the utmost of their powers as "senseless gossip."

BREST-LITOVSK

Petrograd, Aug. 23.—A Russian official statement concerning the Austro-German occupation of Brest-Litovsk is given out as follows:—
"General headquarters declares that the German report that Brest-Litovsk fell after an assault by Austro-German troops is incorrect. For some time it had been decided that to retain a garrison of 100,000 men in this fortress was not conformable with the Russian plans. Hence, war material useful to the enemy was removed in time, and resistance was maintained on the left bank of the Bug solely to enable the army operating in this region to retire eastward. When this retirement was completed, the fortifications and bridges were destroyed and the garrison rejoined the army in the field."

CHINA TO BUY 100 SUBMARINES IN UNITED STATES?

New York, Aug. 23.—Financial circles here were interested yesterday in a rumor that the Chinese commission of naval experts recently sent to this country were negotiating for the purchase of 100 submarines at a cost of $75,000,000. While the representative of one New England submarine building company admitted that some of the Chinese had inspected his plant, he denied that any contract had as yet been signed.

It was reported that Charles M. Bell, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, had been authorized by the Chinese government to place orders with American submarine builders. It was said that Mr. Schwab has also been given charge of the manufacturing end in this country, of China's vast naval programme.

HARDY WORK FOR ITALY'S SOLDIERS

Fight on Rugged Peaks of Adamello Range

AUSTRIANS ARE BEATEN
Make Desperate Resistance But Are Forced Back and Pursued—Fierce Artillery Duel—Enemy Bombard Military Hospital

Rome, Aug. 23.—The following official statement from Italian headquarters of the Italian army, dated August 22, was given out last night:—
"New and hardy operations were carried out during the day of August 23, on the rugged peaks of Adamello range. While our advancing troops made a demonstration on the small tonale plateau and behind Monticello, mountainous detachments after crossing Vedrette di Pasagna pass, attacked the position of Lagorai, pass—3,500 feet high—and Corra di Bedole—3,000 feet high—which were strongly held by the enemy. The latter opposed a desperate resistance, but was finally forced back and pursued. Our troops established themselves firmly on the peaks."

"On the evening of the same day, favored by a full moon, our airplanes threw bombs on the fortifications of Riva (at the northern end of Lake Garda), and avoiding the fire of the enemy's anti-aircraft batteries returned unscathed to our lines."

"In Valsugana enemy artillery bombarded Borgo, although our troops in their recent victorious advance purposely abstained from occupying that populous locality, keeping on the surrounding mountains."

"On the upper Cordevole, the artillery duel is becoming more fierce, enemy artillery again bombarded the military hospital at Pieve Di Livinallongo, causing further serious damage. Our batteries then bombarded the Arabbia and Chers, where active movements of troops and wagons were perceptible and where artillery was reported in position."

"On the Carso yesterday, the enemy, having seen that our troops had taken possession of a small wood opened a heavy artillery fire on it, and then sent troops to attack. A violent struggle followed, which ended in the flight of the enemy."

A TURKISH REPORT FROM DARDANELLES
Constantinople, Aug. 23.—An official report from the Dardanelles front, under date of August 24, says:—
"Nothing has occurred except now and then artillery and infantry fighting at Anafarta. At Seddul-Bahr the artillery of our left wing destroyed part of the enemy's trenches."

MORE SAFEGUARDS NECESSARY

Another drowning accident directs public attention, in a tragic way, to the lack of proper rescue appliances on our water front. For many years past, it has been made from time to time to have boats placed at proper intervals along the whole harbor front, including the Courtenay Bay side, and arrangements made whereby men would be available to launch any of such boats quickly and proceed at once to the aid of persons in danger of drowning.

A short time ago one of the city commissioners took steps to have grappling irons always available for the recovery of bodies of drowned persons. That, in itself, was a good step, but it very lamentably overlooks the fact that prevention of drowning, rather than the recovery of the dead, is the phase of the question which must be treated in a practical way.

At different times ladders have been placed along the faces of the wharves at different points, and some other things have been done, but no consistent and sustained plan of precautions has yet been adopted. A city with a water front of the extent of ours should attend to this matter without further delay.

THE WAR

Though the Grand Duke has yielded to the advancing Germans the last fortress on his second line, the situation in the Eastern theatre of the war is regarded by military writers as far from being disheartening. There is information that the Russian armies still are intact, that practically all their guns have been carried along in the retreat, and it is known that, with factories at home mobilized and with Japan speeding the work on munitions for her big ally, ammunition is becoming more plentiful.

Grand Duke Nicholas has conducted his operations in masterly fashion and it is now reported that he has reached a newly fortified line and should soon be in a position to turn the tide of battle against the Germans. The most striking intimation in the early dispatches is that, despite reinforcements expected by Von Hindenburg, it is now too late for the Germans to be successful in the main object of their tremendous drive—the destruction of the Russian fighting forces. Meanwhile Russia's minister of war is calling an additional two millions of men to arms. To those who have been wondering why there has been no great movement by the Allies on the western front, it is this the Germans back from Russian territory, the London Times' Petrograd correspondent's despatch may furnish peace of mind. He quotes the Russian foreign minister as declaring that the highest military authorities in Great Britain, France and Russia are in accord on all questions of strategy. Later dispatches bring assurance of Russian ability to safeguard Petrograd. Everything is ready for another winter campaign and the new force of two millions will be ready for the field in the spring.

SMALL HOLDINGS.

The development of the system of small holdings for farmers in Denmark is the subject of a very interesting article in the Bulletin of Economic and Social Intelligence of the International Institute of Agriculture. The interests of the large landed proprietors, under the influence of democratic currents of thought were made to give way in order to constitute a class of small holders established upon land owned by them and sufficient in area for their needs. Of the plan and its results the Bulletin says:

"In this way the small holding in Denmark, intended at first to provide the laboring class with part-time occupation and a supplementary source of income, has become a farm complete in itself and capable of supporting a family. The occupier has changed his standing; he has ceased to be a wage-earner and has become an independent proprietor.

"The stages in the transformation may be traced in the various laws passed, those, namely, of March 24th, 1899, April 22nd, 1904, April 30th, 1909, and, finally, June 24th, 1914. This last law, although it introduces no new important principle, reaffirms the tendency which was already apparent in previous legislation. The maximum amount of the loans which may be granted by the state for the acquisition of small holdings is again raised, being carried to 5,000 crowns (equal to 112,000 francs) an amount which is precisely twice the maximum established by the first law upon the subject—that of 1899. In districts where the price of land is exceptionally high, loans may be granted up to 10,000 crowns (14,000 francs).

"The proprietors of small holdings created under previous acts are admitted to the benefits of the new act and may obtain supplementary loans, upon condition, however, that no supplementary loan may exceed the difference between 7,200 crowns and the amount of the previous loan.

"Raising the maximum of the loans which may be granted has naturally made it incumbent on the state to devote additional funds to the creation of small holdings, and the appropriation for this purpose has been raised from four million to five million crowns yearly for three years. The heavy financial sacrifice accepted by Denmark in order to build up a system of small holdings has been amply compensated by the results obtained. The total amount spent by the state, from 1899 up to the close of the financial year 1913-14, has resulted in the constitution of 7,117 holdings which provide sustenance to a like number of families established thereon. Not only has the rural exodus been stemmed to this extent by keeping this large and valuable labor force employed upon the land, but in some places a movement in the opposite direction has actually been created, and the exodus is now from the towns to the country districts.

In Canada the problem of directing the movement of population toward the land instead of toward the cities, towns and villages, is yearly growing more acute. In Denmark action by the state helped to solve a similar problem. May it not, in a modified form, to suit local conditions, produce a like result in Canada? The farm settlement scheme in New Brunswick has not produced as good results as had been hoped for. After the war is over the question of getting more people on the land will again demand attention, and is worthy of careful study on the part of public men.

After lapse of several days there is news of the Italian army. They are continuing their operations against the Austrians successfully.

A gallant, though unavailing attempt to save human life. Not all heroes die on the battlefield, and this was well exemplified in the noble efforts made yesterday by several young men to rescue a lad who was fighting against death in the engulfing waters. Carleton, too, had its tragedy yesterday. There is general sympathy for those so tragically bereaved.

St. John again keenly feels the touch of war today. Dr. J. L. Dwyer, the news comes by wire to relatives, and will sadden many homes. He had played a hero's part on the battlefield and official recognition of this had been made in the bestowal of honors upon him. A young man of promise in his profession, he gave up much that he might bear his share of the common burden, and now he has given all. If anything should be needed, examples like this should be a spur to those who ought to be with the colors but yet hold back.

No Mote in His Eye.

"What are you studying now?" asked Mrs. Johnson.

"We have taken up the subject of molecules," answered her son.

"I hope you will be very attentive and practise constantly," said the mother. "I tried to get your father to wear one, but he could not keep it in his eye."

"You remember that chap Jones, who made a bet of $10,000 that he would walk from San Francisco to New York without a cent in his pocket?"

"Yes. Did he win the bet?"

"Not quite. He got as far as here, was arrested as a vagrant, and forced upon the sublimity of the scenery in somewhat gushing phrases. The woman paid no attention to him. Provoked by his irresponsibility, he said, 'You don't seem to care for this magnificent scenery.' She took the pipe from her mouth and delivered this settler 'I enjies it, I don't jabber!'

The governor of a western state was dining with the family of a representative in congress from that state, and opposite him at table was the little girl of the family aged 10. She gazed at the governor solemnly throughout the repast.

Finally the youngster asked, "Are you really and truly a governor?"

"Yes," replied the great man laughingly, "I really and truly am."

"I've always wanted to see a governor," continued the child, "for I've heard dad speak of 'em."

"Well," rejoined the governor, "now that you have seen one are you satisfied?"

"No, sir," answered the youngster, without the slightest impertinence, but with an air of great conviction, "No, sir, I'm disappointed!"

were we simply to say that we are showing a complete line of Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Diamonds and other Precious Stones, that we are Opticians, Watch and Jewelry Repairers, that we have a very fine selection of Sterling Silver, Electro Plate and Cut Glass, while it would be all within the truth, it would be a poorly written ad.

Still Ahead.

Among the passengers on a train on a one-track road in the Middle West was a talkative jewelry drummer.

Presently the train stopped to take on water, and the conductor neglected to send back a flagman. An express came along, and, before it could be stopped, bumped the rear end of the first train.

The drummer was lifted from his seat and pitched head first into the seat ahead. His silk hat was jammed clear down over his ears.

He picked himself up and settled back in his seat. "No bones had been broken. He drew a long breath, straightened up, and said:

"Well, they didn't get by us anyway."

Two families in the city were bereaved yesterday when sorrow came into their homes through sad drowning accidents, in which William Lee, aged three years, and Albert Birmingham, aged sixteen years, lost their lives. Sympathy will be extended by many friends. The accident to young Birmingham was described in yesterday's Times. Up to 8:30 o'clock, when he was taken to the general public hospital, there was hope of life, but he was too far overcome by his submersion and passed away. The lad was a son of Edward Birmingham, 32 Brussels street, and was formerly employed with E. J. Fenwick, in the City Market.

The death of the little Lee boy occurred not more than two hundred yards from his home in Rodney street, West End. His mother, Mrs. Win. Lee, wife of ex-policeman Lee, missed him and was unable, after making search, to find him. She saw a tin dipper floating on the pond nearby and recognized it as one from her kitchen. Fearing the worst, she gave the alarm, and the finding of her child's body about 6:30 o'clock by John Pollock confirmed the fear that he had been drowned.

Hints for the Cook

Raspberry Sponge
Sweeten well 2½ cups of raspberry juice and bring to a boil. Add half a package of soaked gelatin, stirring until dissolved. When cool but not set, fold in the whites of three eggs beaten until stiff. Beat until thick. Mold, chill and serve with whipped cream.

Rice Muffins
Two cups of cold boiled rice, 2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of sugar, 1½ teaspoons of baking powder, 2 cups milk and 8 eggs. Dilute the rice made free from lumps, with milk and beaten eggs; sift together flour, sugar, salt and baking powder; add to rice preparation. Mix into smooth, rather firm batter. Muffin pan to be cold and well greased, then fill 2-3 full. Bake in a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Lemon Pudding
One heaping cup of soft, stale bread-crumbs, 1½ cup of water, 1-4 cup of sugar, 1-2 cup of lemon juice. Mix well, and the last thing stir in the stiff whites, place the dish in another of boiling water, and bake slowly 1-2 hour. Serve with whipped cream. This is better cold.

Preserving Berries Without Boiling
In preserving currants or berries of tender substances, like red raspberries or strawberries, do not boil. Fill the jars in layers of granulated sugar and fruit, fill a hot oven fifteen minutes.

Mary Manning May Return: Paul Gilmore in Pictures; Frank Powell as Producer; Grace Goodall in West; Various Items of Green Room and Studio

Grace George, (Mrs. William A. Brady) who has visited St. John at different times, will actively assume the direction of her own theatre in New York, the Playhouse, during the coming fall and winter. Miss George will be in complete control, according to an announcement made by Mr. Brady selecting her own plays, choosing her players and making all productions under her own personal direction.

"When I built the Playhouse," says Mr. Brady, "I had in mind the formation of a permanent acting company upon the line adopted by the late Augustin Daly at Daly's Theatre and subsequently by Daniel Frohman at the old Lyceum. This organization was to have been led by Miss George, who had recently registered a most exceptional success in 'Divorced' London and another as Lady Teazle in the revival of 'The School for Scandal' at the New Theatre in New York.

"Indeed, this was the chief animating purpose that carried the Playhouse to completion, and may be recalled as a tentative announcement in this direction was issued at the time of the opening. But while the plan was developing, 'Bought and Paid For' was produced with such success that to have withdrawn it would have been an act of business madness, and following this play 'Little Women' carried the theatre to the end of its second year, compelling the temporary abandonment of the project.

"This outcome, however, has its compensating feature, since it has enabled the final placing of the undertaking upon a foundation of absolute financial security eliminating all possible anxiety of that sort and enabling Miss George to have complete freedom from any possible fetters in the fulfillment of her artistic aims.

"Several plays have already been selected for the season's series. Of these several are new, and have been selected to embrace a number of revivals. One point of significance is that no production will receive more than four weeks of consecutive performances, while those most in demand will be repeated on single nights during the season.

"The offerings decided upon at this time include a Moliere comedy, a play by John Galsworthy, another by George Bernard Shaw, a comedy by Pinero 'The New York Idea,' by Langdon Mitchell, 'The Liar,' by Henry Arthur Jones, 'The School for Scandal,' two recent successes from the Comedie Francaise and the classical play in addition to two new works by American authors.

Paul Gilmore
Thomas Paul Gilmore's advent into pictures has resulted in an unprecedented success, still he cannot be contented just at present whether he prefers to remain in the silent drama or go to the stage at the head of his own company. His work with the Pathe-Balboa Company was received with great success where he produced the well-known pictures, 'The Shrine of Happiness,' 'Pawns of the War God,' and 'The Idol of Paris.'

Grace Goodall, a Jelenko favorite in St. John, is in the Alcazar stock in San Francisco for the next season.

"Marie-Odile," Edward Knoblauch's drama in which Frances Starr is to play on tour this season, has fallen under the ban of the American Federation of Catholic Societies. The Brooklyn branch of the Federation has asked Louis C. Teller, manager of the Broadway Theatre in Brooklyn, not to book the attraction. The communication adds that in case he does the theatre cannot be included in the Catholic White List.

In the Brooklyn Truth last April the Rev. James F. Irwin denounced "Marie-Odile" in an article over his signature in which he stated that he came away from the performance filled with disgust. When the drama was presented in Boston the Pilot of that city arranged it.

Powell, Producer
Francis Powell, who played in St. John with W. S. Hawkins, has been engaged for the last year on several new plays which he has completed. Mr. Powell will make two productions for the Cosmopolitan Stage, under whose auspices several "thrillers" will be given. Mr. Powell is to enter the producing field independently. He has just returned to New York after a year spent upon his Virginia farm.

Gladys Huette, who played one of the children in the New Theatre's production of "The Blue Bird" will return to the legitimate stage this year after a season in films with the Edison Company.

"The Law of the Land," goes into rehearsal next week and will open Labor Day in Boston. Julia Dean will continue in the leading role and Ethel Wright will be in the cast.

Gavin Harris, the big fellow who played here with Helen Grayce is to appear in a new comedy "Our Children" this season, to be staged by T. D. Frawley.

Not infrequently have photoplay stars been required to play two persons in the one production when the story of the play revolved around twins. What is believed to be the first time, however, that a star has appeared as one person with two distinct personalities, each diamet-

LOOK THE ADVICE OF HIS FRIEND

Stomach Trouble and Rheumatism Relieved by "Fruit-a-tives."

MR. L. LABRIE, 894 Campbell St., Montreal.

"I have been restored to health by taking 'Fruit-a-tives.' For two years, I was a miserable sufferer from Rheumatism and Stomach Trouble. I became very weak, had frequent dizzy spells and when I took food, felt wretched and sleepy. I suffered from Rheumatism dreadfully, with pains in my back and joints and my hands swollen.

A friend advised me to try 'Fruit-a-tives' and from the outset, they did me good. After I had started the second box, I felt I was getting well and I persevered in the treatment. I can truthfully say that 'Fruit-a-tives' is the only medicine that helped me.

LOUIS LABRIE.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" is the famous medicine made from fruit juices. 80c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

rically opposed to the other, is the new Blanche Sweet production, 'The Case of Becky' by Edward Locke, produced by the Jesse L. Lasky Feature Play Company in association with David Belasco.

In this drama which was one of the greatest successes ever produced by Mr. Belasco at the Belasco Theatre, New York, Miss Sweet plays two distinct characters in a single person. One moment she is a sweet, demure girl, the next a striking and thrilling figure.

Lella Hughes, who was prima donna with the first 'Chocolate Soldier' Co. in St. John, is now prima donna with the Park Opera Co., St. Louis, Mo.

Mary Manning is to return to the stage as leading woman for E. H. Sedem during the new season, according to a rumor talked about along the Rialto last week. Miss Manning has been retired from the stage for some time, having married a Michigan millionaire, Frederick Wadsworth, of Detroit. They have been spending the summer at Diamond Point on Lake George.

Miss Manning's last stage appearance was as Domini Enliden in the Liebler production of 'The Garden of Allah,' presented at the Century Theatre, October, 1911. Just previous to that appearance, she had been seen in 'The House of Cards,' 'Step by Step,' 'The Truants,' 'The Independent,' 'The Gower,' and 'A Man's World.'

Little Mary
The following may be of interest to her admirers in St. John. It is from the New York Mirror, written by Otis Barnum:

To Mary Pickford.

Queen of the Movies, you captured the heart of me
In a tin theatre in Kalamazoo;
Youth and adventure and all the best part of me

Woke to the call of Romance—which was you.
When on the screen flashed the sweet, bonny face of you

Time was forgotten, away vanished care;
Ah, the young strength and the wild, reckless grace of you,
Free as the breezes that ravished your hair!

Bernhardt and Terry and all of the rest of them
Stars of the stage they are, none can deny;
But out in the open you laugh at the best of them

You and your pony, the plains and the sky,
Shooting on skis down the snow-covered mountain side;
Fighting the flames, with a baby in your arms

Busting a broncho (Great Scott, how like mad you ride!),
Rescuing men from a watery grave.
In small, smoky dens and in theatres

I've followed the lure from Tacoma to Lynn;
From Dallas, the sunny, to Dawson, the glacial,
There's not a town where you aren't welcomed in.

Oh, how those merry, bright eyes have got hold of me!
Maid of the Films, with your 'wild-craving smile'
The Cinema, is it too bold of me,

Worshipping here from my seat near the aisle?
Silent entreaties! Are any so blind to you
As not to feel the glad charm of your art?

Time spare the youth of you, fortune be kind to you,
Queen of the Movies and queen of my heart!

A German advance upon the Russian garrison is thought to be unlikely. Undisputed possession of the Baltic is believed to be necessary for the enemy before they would advance upon Petrograd.

HOW MUTT AND
JEFF HAPPENED"Bud" Fisher Tells of Their Origin

NOW TIMES DAILY FEATURE

Mutt Was Race Dopester — Jeff
Was Sheer Accident — Born in San Francisco in 1907

On November 16, 1907, in the busy little city of San Francisco, a great man was born. Unlike most great men, the fact of his greatness was known and recognized the day of his birth, and from that day to the present his sole object in life has been keeping people laughing. His name is A. Mutt; his "side-kick" is Jeff; his creator is "Bud" Fisher; and the trio are now appearing regularly in each issue of The Times.

Mr. Fisher was drawing for the San Francisco Chronicle at the time, and it was only after long months of coaxing that he succeeded in inducing that paper to let him run his comic strip. At last they gave the desired permission, and one morning A. Mutt appeared, giving "dope" on the races. He was an instantaneous hit.

"How did you happen to pick out the character of Mutt?" the writer asked Mr. Fisher one day.

"Before I started the comic, I used to go to the races pretty regularly, and I would see fellows bearing around among the hustlers, touts, the crans and bookmakers trying to pick up tips which would make them some money. None was a heavy better, but they all looked as if they needed the money to feed their families. They showed more anxiety over their picking bets than the big plunger did."

"I decided to make one of these race track frequenters the character of my strip, and so I picked out a composite type. He had to be a weak guy, and I made A. Mutt with no chin. He must be a low down on the races, so Mr. Mutt had a long nose. Then he was tall and thin and angular so he could hustle."

Following his betting tips. According to Mr. Fisher, the prototypes from which he had drawn the character of Mutt began to read him conscientiously every day to see what Mutt was going to do about betting, and followed suit. Fisher named real horses in real races at real odds in his comic, and he obtained his data from experts of his acquaintance. His tips were good, and Mutt at one time actually rolled up a fortune on paper. Fisher each night would take the odds for the races the next day and select a horse for Mutt to play. His choice soon began to affect the odds at the track, and the bookmakers would back down the price if they saw in the morning Chronicle that Mutt was playing Feedbag to win. But the entry always received a big play, no matter what the price, for Fisher made it a point to give the readers as good knowledge as he could obtain.

If the horse had won on the preceding day, Mutt was prosperous in the paper on the following morning, and he announced on who he would stake his fortune that afternoon. If this horse lost, then Mutt was broke, and Fisher showed real genius in devising means for his character to obtain money to begin all over again. The character parlayed fifty cents into thousands of dollars and then lost it all on one smash. This Mutt at the races had, San Francisco by the ears.

Jeff was an Accident. Jeff's introduction was by accident, and is a good story in itself. At one stage of his meteoric career on the track, Mutt became disgusted with the odds and the prices and the bets which the bookmakers would accept. He decided to change his headquarters to an insane asylum, where he could lay any price he wanted on any horse and bet as much as he pleased, and none of the regular boarders at the asylum would complain. It gave Fisher a wide range for his humor.

The scheme worked out to Mutt's entire satisfaction, although daily he was bothered by "nuts." One morning a man interrupted Mutt while he was studying the dope sheet and told him he was William Shakespeare, the Shakespeare of Stratford-on-Avon. This did not thrill Mutt.

"Go away, Shakespeare," remarked Mutt, "and don't bother me. I've the dope on a winner."

The following day Fisher had Napoleon of the nut factory commit with Mutt. This great at the asylum where Mr. Nut was making all his imaginary money was interested in military affairs, and believed he was the Great Emperor in all his glory. He was, however, weak on geography. He approached Mutt in the daily strip and said:

"I have to report I have just taken Vicksburg."

"Well, put it back and don't bother me," promptly replied Mutt.

First Time Jeff "Got His." Various strange characters entered the strip day by day. One morning a funny little fellow came along wearing boxing gloves.

"Who are you?" asked Mutt.

"I'm James J. Jeffries," replied the newcomer, "and I want to fight you." He wanted Mutt to don the boxing gloves, but the tall fellow was too busy with his inevitable racing sheets, so the last picture of the strip showed James J. Jeffries down on the floor with Mutt's foot in his face and the owner of the foot quietly studying the form card. It was the first time Jeff "got his," but he was destined to receive it frequently in the years to come.

"Did Jeff continue in the pictures daily, from the time Mutt found him in the insane asylum," asked the writer.

"No, he didn't get a steady job for some time after that. He obtained his permanent place in the comic during the graft investigation in San Francisco. After I took Mutt out of the asylum, Jeff went back on the shelf with Shakespeare and Napoleon and all the other 'nuts.' When I began to draw cartoons on the graft case, I brought Jeff back into the pictures. The little fellow came out of the asylum in order to sympathize with Rudolph Spreckels, because he said Spreckels was crazier than he was. He complained that he should not be kept in the asylum under those circumstances. Jeff has been in the daily pictures regularly ever since except occasionally when Mutt appears alone. Jeff has also starred alone in some strips."

So that is how little Jeff broke into the Big League of cartoon characters.

A MOOSEPATH PARK MEET OF 1887

The following is an account of a great race meet, which was held at Moosepath Park on August 10, 1887.

Yesterday was a red letter day for turfites. Moosepath park has held many well satisfied crowds, but never did it have a gathering so thoroughly enthusiastic and having such good reason to sustain the enthusiasm. Generally speaking, the trotting, while not particularly fast, was very good, and when it is taken into consideration that the track is a dreadfully slow one, and that in the backstretch the loam was covering the fetlocks of the horses, the time given does not by any means indicate the speed of the contestants. The 244 class, as The Telegraph foreboded yesterday, was not trotted fast enough to drive the winner out of the class. In the free-for-all it was a matter of regret to the managers, as well as to the sportsmen, that the field was not larger. Mr. Slipp was unfortunately prevented from trotting either Sir Garnet or Rampart because of a serious accident which he sustained while speering Rampart at Truro on Saturday last. As for the running of the class, it was simply superb. St. John and Halifax had contributed their best, and St. John won it handsomely. The running of Yorktown was simply marvelous in the second heat, and satisfied everybody that he has no peer this side of Boston. He ran the heat in 1:22, while at least the competent timers made it one-quarter second less than the blackboard. His third heat, which he won under a strong pull, was run in 1:23. Golden Maxim ran gamely and well, and her finish with Yorktown in the first heat will be remembered as the hottest that this province has yet seen. Both Yorktown and Golden Maxim have eclipsed the best running time ever made on the track, the nearest approach to it being the heat run by Galvanette, who is so kindly remembered by the old turfites when she went the circuit in 1:22½, though the time would not be less than 1:24½ or 1:25. Praise for Yorktown and Maxim, however, does not at all reflect upon either Strabismus or Emisary. The pace was hotter than any one anticipated it would have been, and the track was strange. Both riders carried their horses well, and they failed to land their winners, for the simple reason that they were over-matched. The best of order prevailed; the applause was general and impartial, and the committee in charge of the races have every reason to feel proud of the success of their meeting. The judges on the race were Col. Osmond, of Lewiston, Me., and Messrs. Jewett and Geo. A. Barker.

of this city. Mr. Jewett also officiated as timer. S. T. Gidding was clerk of the course, and W. Christie held the flag in the distance stand.

The first race on the bill was the 244 class, with three starters: — Duchess, Maud C, and Thunder. Generally the heats, while well contested, were not particularly noteworthy. Neither of the contestants were in as good form as they have been seen, and Thunder justified the remarks in the issue of yesterday, that he had not been given sufficient time in which to develop. When he did trot he threw himself into his work with spirit. Duchess was not at all times well under control either, and the daughter of Sir Charles had comparatively easy work. The time was slow, but as the race was well contested, it was quite interesting. On the first heat, Maud C. and Duchess had the course practically to themselves, owing to the breaking of Thunder as he went down the backstretch on his way to the three-quarter pole, up to which time he had been doing well. The last half of the first mile was close and exciting until the lower turn, as the horses were reaching out for the stand, when Duchess broke badly, and Maud C. came in several lengths ahead. Time, 2:50.

The second heat was the best of the race. Maud C. broke on the upper corner, but caught quickly and went hot after Duchess and Thunder. The latter acted elegantly, but his Nemesis followed his footstep, and, while going handily to the first quarter pole, broke so badly that his driver had to pull him to a standstill before he got him under control. When he did get under way, however, he went after the others lively. The half mile was remarkable for its slowness, and it looked at one time as though three minutes would capture the horses straightened out a little and Thunder, who was acting better, began to close the gap between him and the leaders. The latter were working hard and fighting every inch of the way when they went at it again for the few remaining yards, and it looked as though Maud C. was blackboarded the winner. Time, 2:56.

The third heat was uneventful, except for the good time made on the last quarter, which was trotted at a 2:40 clip. The first part of the race, however, was so slow that the mile was only made in 2:52.

Summary, Moosepath Park, St. John, August 10, 1887. 240 class—mile heats; best three in five to harness:

Thunder ..... 5 5 5
Time—2:50, 2:56, 2:52.

In the free-for-all there were only two starters, Sontag, the bay mare from Manchester, Me., and Sandy Morris. When the latter appeared on the track he was quite lame and his friends expected but little from him. The three heats were practically walks over for the mare from across the border, but he had not the feet under him that once made him such a favorite, and it was merely punishment for him to be forced to keep alongside the mare. It was a defeat of Sandy for two reasons—not in condition, and that in the first quarter of the first heat. The time was disappointing.

Summary, Moosepath Park, St. John, August 10, 1887. Free for all trot. Purse $300. Mile heats. Best three in five to harness:

The running race was really the one in which the great interest of the spectators centered. The field was a grand one and many felt that it might be anybody's race. Golden Maxim had always ous from the reason that there were rumors that he was a little "off" rearing, which, doubtless, were monstrously calculated by the speculative brethren. Strabismus was an unknown quantity to Moosepath, and while not a very likely looking horse, he has a low, long stride. Emisary was in good form and was looked upon to win the first heat. Yorktown was the first on the track with Joe Collins up, then came Emisary with Chris Woods, then Strabismus with Barry D. Wood, and then Golden Maxim with E. Lerol Willis. They were not long in effecting a start. Maxim had the pole, Yorktown next, with Emisary sandwiched in between him and Strabismus. When the word was given Maxim had a slight lead, the others close up and lunched. As they went for the upper corner Strabismus was forming with Maxim a pocket for Yorktown, but when they straightened out on the backstretch Collins gave Yorktown his head and Strabismus widened out to save himself. Wood was riding a careful race and appeared, bent upon giving Yorktown and Maxim the benefit of the crowding, while Emisary was running freely a length in the rear. It soon became evident, however, that Strabismus had cut out a very hot piece of work for himself, and that the mission was not a success for that. Passing under the wire at the half mile Maxim was ahead, with Yorktown on his flank. The other two were running well, but under the leaders quitted they were out of the heat so far as running was concerned. Going for the three-quarters pole Yorktown forged to the front and, neck and neck, he and Maxim went by it and into the lower turn. Here Yorktown seemed to get off his stride coming about the sharp curve, and Maxim was nearly a length to the good when the riders could see the stand. Willis was doing grandly with the mare; Collins was riding Yorktown with rim and judgment. When passing the stables Yorktown responded gamely to Collins and forged inside toward the pole. Stride after stride he appeared to gain somewhat when Willis took Maxim in close and crowded Yorktown so close against the fence that it was impossible for him to pass. He drew out a little toward the end and the horse freed from the place he was in, made a desperate effort to win but he was late. Maxim went under the wire by less than a head in front of Yorktown. Time 1:22.

In the interval between the first and second heats Maxim's stock went up quickly, and she was sold in the pools against the field at odds of 5 to 4. Several scores were needed to get the horses well sent off for the second heat. When they did so Emisary, who had supplied considerably cut out the pace, followed by Golden Maxim, with Yorktown and Strabismus riding together. A quarter at this rate of speed was enough for Emisary, and Wood began piling on both writh and spur upon Strabismus. Just below the quarter pole the four were lunched so neatly together that there was no perceptible difference between them. Coming around the lower turn, the cardinal and gold of Willis, and the blue green of Collins, were the first to be seen. They were making a pretty race and came thundering along neck and neck until when passing the half mile Yorktown responded to his rider and showed half a length in front of Maxim, upon whose flank Wood was driving Strabismus for all he was worth. The positions were not varied until near the homestretch when Wood began to realize that Halifax depended upon him and he piled the gad with vigor. He passed Maxim and went for Yorktown hard, but it was useless. The St. John horse was good for more than he had exhibited and he crossed the line the winner by two lengths with Strabismus second, Maxim third and Emisary a good fourth. Time 1:22. The audience at this juncture fairly went wild with excitement. Strabismus and Emisary having both failed to secure a place had to drop out and the final heat was fought out between the local rivals. It was a good heat and quickly ran but Yorktown was in even better trim than when she started out earlier in the afternoon and Collins landed him a winner under a pull. 1:18.

MOOSE CARNIVAL

Arrangements are completed for a grand carnival to be held next week, on the exhibition grounds, under the auspices of the Royal Order of Moose. To stage and tent the various shows and amusement devices, more room is required than for any of the big circuses. At the same time, the show differs vastly from the stereotyped circus, being more in the order of a beautiful park. In connection with the carnival the management features one of the greatest trained wild animal shows of any production of its kind. Professor Herberth, the famous lion tamer, gives a thrilling exhibition with eight lions, five tigers, and a leopard, and a group of trained African leopards, also gives a sensational exhibition. Professor De Kilo gives a remarkable performance with lions, tigers, panthers, bears, etc. While the show was in Bangor (Me.) State Fair, E. J. M. Devillo, known as "the dare devil Devillo," narrowly escaped serious injury. After a heavy rain storm he attempted to give the sensation of a high speed ride, but the feat was impossible as the sloping sides of the track were very wet and Devillo was hurled from the top of the rim to the ground, where he landed in a limp and crumpled heap. Fortunately no bones ed out Pat Hagan in the third round of what was to have been a fifteen round bout in the Halifax arena last night.

Johnson Behind Footlights.

Johnson, erstwhile heavyweight champion, is now an actor, says a London cable. The big black boxer has announced that he has given up the ring for good and will henceforth seek limelight on the stage. He appeared in a leading part of a musical comedy, entitled "Seconds Out," now running at a suburban music hall. Johnson, who is surrounded by a cast of white actors, is the hero of the piece.

Fight on River Bank.

At Biddeford, Me., on Wednesday, Bay Wood of Fall River, and George Alger of Cambridge, Mass., fought a twelve-round bout to a draw in the open air. The bout was one of the most rugged witnessed there in years. While the first six rounds were even, boxing fans said Alger had a shade the best of the last six. In the fourth round of the first bout the pair went through the ropes, landing on the stone abutment on the river bank and coming within a foot of falling into the river. On the stone wall they began pounding each other again, and were just about to roll off when they were rescued by a special officer.

News of the Boxers.

The manager, Colin Bell, Australian heavyweight, is credited with wanting to back Bell against Willard for $10,000.

That Steve O'Donnell, ex-Australian heavyweight is popular with the Boston fans is shown by the fact that they are securing seats for a benefit to be tendered O'Donnell at the Atlas A. A.

Frank Moran stirred up a lot of bitterness against himself in England when he declared that he could defeat any English heavyweight, is credited with wanting to back Bell against Willard for $10,000.

Battling Levinsky was offered a chance to meet Sandy Ferguson in Boston Sept. 14, but passed it up.

Gilbert Gallant wants another meeting with Frankie Callahan under the same conditions and with the same man for referee. Gallant does not register any kick about the decision in their bout the other night.

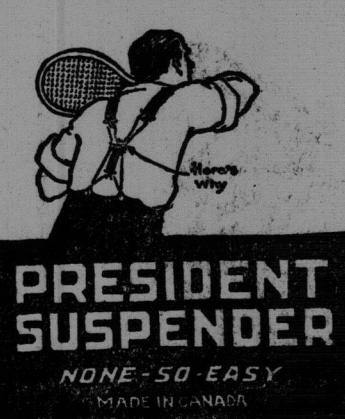

That's all right," flung back the pitcher, "you never saw grass grow on a busy street, did you?" Then he mopped the bald spot, threw in the high speed clutch and spun the ball so fast that it whizzed like a hornet.

Sharks Defeated Acadias.

In a fast four innings last evening on the Shamrock grounds the Sharks defeated the Acadias, 4 to 2. The batteries were: A. Cooke and Thompson for the winners; King and W. Cook for the Acadias. A feature of the game was a home run by Henry McEachern, when two men were on bases.

Parsons Knocked out Hagan.

Billy Parsons, of Cape Breton, knocked out Pat Hagan in the third round of what was to have been a fifteen round bout in the Halifax arena last night.

Interest in the Mike Gibbons and Packey McFarland bout at the Brighton Motorrome on September 11 is not confined solely to the sterner sex. That many women will be present at the ring-side when those two greatest boxers of the present day oppose each other is indicated by the advance sale of tickets.

Ad. Wiganat wants to meet Matty Baldwin in Boston.

LAST DAY OF THE FAIR AT SEASIDE

Today being the last half holiday for many employees, and also for the kiddies from school, a record attendance is expected at the Patriotic Fair, which will close tonight at Seaside Park.

Many improvements in lighting effects were noticeable last evening and the whole affair was conducted with a swing and dash that promises fun and enjoyment for the big crowds today. Well-known business men on the pike, exploiting the attractions, were on hand again yesterday afternoon getting their new business down to a science, and the midway of today will be better managed and operated even than before.

Tonight the final prize winners will be announced for the following:

$10 gold piece, donated by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter.
$5 gold piece, from Commissioner Potts.
$5 cheque, Toledo Scale Co.
Ham from J. R. Hopkins.
Canoe from C. F. Tilton.
Cane (value $10), from J. W. Long.
2 boxes biscuits from Hamm Bros.
Cane (value $8), from J. R. Richards.
Half barrel "Purity" Flour from Kane & McDonald.
Patriotic picture from J. M. Roche & Co., Ltd.

The gold wrist watch, contributed by Ferguson & Page, was won by Andrew Gregory on a punch board, and as this prize drew a great deal of attention and

The Man In The Street

All aboard for Seaside!

What was said by almost everybody going to the fair: "Wouldn't it be great if the cars were running across the bridge now?"

Of course there were some who expressed themselves somewhat differently but they're the same people who use naughty words with regard to no night work being done in street or railway construction.

Blank Comment
"Silence is golden" the editor of the Standard probably murmured to himself as he paused for editorial comment, and then happened to spy the report of the Manitoba Royal Commission.

The editorial page was about as enlightening on this subject for Standard readers, as it was when the election was held in that province a few weeks ago.

Blind Justice
After the row over the efforts of a lady to raise money for the Belgians by selling clothes lines may we expect other similar displays of the public conscience? Will they make the next tag will they raid the patriotic fair for conducting gambling devices?

And the poor Belgians do not even get the $7 profit on the clothes lines because a by-law was overlooked!

Why Not Kill a Few More?
The Americans must feel neglected. Germany has not killed one of her citizens for several days.

But, since the United States has accepted the German apology so pleasantly, may not any murderer expect a pardon if he is willing to say that he did not mean to do it?

Boring for An Alibi
The Clarke government shows about as much originality in its attempts to conceal its Valley Railway policy as does the man who shews clove before going home to his wife.

Even the government must find the boring a bore by this time.

The Way of the Transgressor

A commercial traveler who returned to St. John yesterday from Nova Scotia after a trip through the "horse country," tells of an embarrassing situation in which a speaker at a recruiting rally recently found himself. He had been concerned in some of the skits and bone purchases which have placed the Kentville district on the map, and his name was familiar not only to his neighbors but in other parts as well.

The honor of serving the colors was ably set forth. He used language fluent and forceful, became eloquent upon the duty of patriotic Canadians, and stirred his audience to an outbreak of applause. Taking advantage of the appreciative response, he poured a small glass of water for himself, and then paused a second for emphasis. He again struck an attitude and was about to resume his speech from the rear of the hall a hoarse voice shouted: "Whoa." The expression had a familiar sound. It caused the speaker to hesitate and in his stammering from another part of the hall was heard: "Glad-dap, glad-dap." The memory of Roy was horses sold for Canadian soldiers in the present crisis was too much—the orator closed his remarks abruptly and resumed his seat.

CONSTRUCTION CORPS AWAY TO FRANCE

The news that they are packing up preparatory to leaving for France is contained in a letter from Roy Cougle of the Canadian Overseas Railway Construction Corps to his wife in Fairville. He says:

"We were out to the range today and had a jolly time. We were there from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., quite a day of it. I received the tobacco you sent, and you don't know how I enjoyed it. There are seventy of us who have to go to church today, and if we don't, we go to the clinic; so I guess I'll go. By the time you get this letter we will be in France, as we expect to leave on Sunday. There are only five of us in the unit but now, and we are working packing up the stuff to take with us. I am quite well and enjoying camp life fine."

HALF HOLIDAY EVENTS

With ideal weather conditions prevailing and attractions of all kinds booked for the half holiday, the members of the construction corps are expected to be more than realized this afternoon. Aquatic sports, baseball games and fairs make up an interesting programme.

The R. K. Y. C. cruising race on the Kennebecasis river will undoubtedly attract many lovers of yacht racing. A large number of boats have entered and the race is under arbitrary handicap rules, the rivalry should be keen and the event an interesting one to watch.

The St. John Power Boat Club intend holding a speed motor boat race at Inlandtown. Several fast boats have entered and the event should attract a large number of people who enjoy that particular pastime. The race is for the Bullock Cup.

On the East End league grounds another interesting triple header will be played. As the result will determine the winner of the championship race the games should be exceptionally interesting and keenly contested.

Then there are the picture houses and the Opera House with good attractions.

The fair at Seaside Park should be one of the feature attractions.

A patriotic garden party will be held at the Grafton Institute, King street east, this afternoon and evening in aid of the Red Cross fund.

For those who wish to spend the day in the country and at the same time witness one of their favorite sports, a baseball—an opportunity will be afforded them as the boys from Riverdale Club will meet the Courtenays, of the Fairville League, at Grand Bay.

POLICE COURT.
In the police court this morning one man, arrested on a drunkenness charge, was fined $5 or two months in jail.

Funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from his late residence.

MAJOR FRANK MAGEE'S MEN LEFT ST. JOHN JUST A YEAR AGO TODAY

In marked contrast to their retreat of the present stage of the war, the Russians about this time a year ago were making their wonderful steam-roller advance into the enemy's country. A dispatch to the Times a year ago today told of their going steadily along and, besides taking new territory, capturing 100 guns and many German prisoners.

British marines were landed at Ostend about a year ago to defend the channel resort against German approaches. The enemy however succeeded in piercing the Allies left flank, with a superior force. The Allies were fighting desperately to block the march of the enemy upon Paris for that was the ideal cherished by the Kaiser and his troops. Locally the last goodbyes were being said by units of the artillery, who, under Major Magee, and numbering 254 men, marched to the station a year ago tonight, and entrained for Valenciennes in their midst were many who have since won honor and made sacrifices for the honor of king and country, well to serving the many complimentary words said of them on departure.

THIS FAMILY IS WELL DOING ITS SHARE IN WAR

Two Sons in 26th. Another in Munitions Work and Father Three Times Disappointed That He Was Not Accepted

A letter has been received from Lance Corporal George F. Glass by his mother, Mrs. James Glass, of 118 Spar Cove Road, from England, where he is in the ranks of the 26th Battalion. Another brother, Walter, is also serving with the 26th, while a third, James, is in a big munitions plant in England. He would be with the colors were it not that his skill as a workman makes him valuable at home. James Glass, of St. John, the father of these three lads, has three times sought to join the volunteers, twice with the 26th and once with the 5th, and has been keenly disappointed because of being refused for medical reasons. Mrs. Glass, herself, has made her sacrifices most willingly, and said yesterday that her only regret was that there were not greater opportunities for women to serve.

The letter from her son was in part as follows:—"Last week we had an inspection by Bonar Law and Major General Hughes. I got the best soaking from the heavy rain that ever I have had. We marched about three miles to the inspection grounds and had been there about a quarter of an hour when the rain began to fall, and as we had no shelter or greatcoats everyone was wet through within half an hour. If you had seen us, you would have laughed. I took my coat and trousers two days to dry out."

We are having plenty of work now. We went on manoeuvres yesterday morning, returned at five in the afternoon, and were called out at ten that night. About twelve o'clock we received orders to lay out blankets and sleep. A couple of hours as we had to start operations at 2:30 in the morning. Well, I had just turned in when someone said "Look at the Zeppelins!" and sure enough, there was one over Dover about eight miles away, with four searchlights bearing on it, and many shells bursting about it. We watched for about ten minutes, and then it got out of range. Nobody seemed to take any more notice of it, so I turned over and went to sleep. The papers next day said that the Zeppelins had been damaged by British aviators, but escaped to Ostend where it was wrecked. It did quite a lot of damage around Dover, killing one and injuring about fifteen persons.

Mrs. Glass, besides the members of her own family in the war, has several cousins with the colors.

HON. WM. PUGSLEY MARRIED TODAY

Weds Miss Gertrude MacDonald—Ceremony in Trinity Church, Boston

A Boston dispatch says:—

The marriage of Hon. Wm. Pugsley, M. P., for St. John, N. B., and ex-minister of public works in the cabinet of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, to Miss Gertrude MacDonald, only daughter of the late Rev. Geo. W. MacDonald of St. John, N. B., was quietly celebrated at noon today in Trinity church, Boston. Among those present at the ceremony were Wm. G. Pugsley and John A. Pugsley, sons of the groom, and Mrs. Wm. G. Pugsley, Rev. Geo. W. MacDonald, brother of the bride, and Mrs. Wm. R. Dupee and her son, and Mr. and Mrs. John Newell of Boston, near relatives of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Pugsley left for New York immediately after the ceremony and it is expected that from there they will proceed to the Canadian west for a few weeks trip.

And that means mother must begin to get ready.

The clothes must be gone over, the books must be got ready and a thousand and one things done.
