ANOTHER THEATER FIRE. Chicago, April 2.- The Columbia Theater, one of the oldest playhouses in this city, was destroyed by fire Friday, entailing a total loss of $190,000. The fire interrupted the progress of a rehearsal, and 20 men and women in costume were driven to the street in haste. The early part of the fire was marked with gallant rescues of girls employed in the laundry of the Iro-quois Club, where the flames started. Two firemen climbed the fire escape to the sixth floor and carried the women, who had grown hysterical, to a place of safety. The rescuers were urged on by the cheers of thousands massed in the street below.

ports that Col. Broadwood lost seven guns and all his baggage, in the ambush laid for him by the Boers on Sat-

The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, April 1: "I received news late yesterday afternoon from Col. Broadwood, who was at Thaba N'chu, 38 miles east of here, that information had reached him that the enemy was approaching in two forces from the north, and the east. He stated that if the report proved true he would retire towards the waterworks, 17 miles nearer Bloemfontein, where we have had a detachment of mounted infantry for the protection of the works. "Broadwood was told in reply that the ninth division, with Martyr's Mounted Infantry, would march at daylight today to support him, and that if he considered it necessary he should retire from the waterworks. He moved there during the night, and bivouacked. At dawn today he was shelled by the enemy, who

THE FIRST REPORT.

Bushman Kop, Saturday, March 31. The British force, commanded by clonel Broadwood, consisting of the Colonel Tenth Hussars, Household Cavalry, two horse batteries and a force of mount-ed infantry, under Colonel Pilcher, which had been garrisoning Thaba N'chu, was obliged, in consequence of the near approach of a large force of Boers, to leave last night. Colonel Broadwood marched to the Bloemfontein waterworks south of the Modder, where he encamped at four this morning. At early dawn the camp was shelled by the enemy from a near point. Colonel Broadwood sent off a convoy with the batteries, while the rest of the force remained to act as a rear guard. The convoy arrived at a deep spruit, where the Boers concealed, and the entire body walked into ambush and was captured, together with six guns. The loss of life was not great, since most of the British had walked into the trap before a shot was fired. Gen. Colville's division, which left Bloemfontein early this morning, arrived here at noon, and he is now shelling the Boers. London, Monday, April 2 .- 4:30 a.m.

The hope is expressed here that Gen. Colville will recover the convoy and guns; but this is hardly likely in such a difficult country, and it is probable that the next news will be that, after a stiff fight, Gen. Colville has extricat ed Col. Broadwood from his difficult position. It is possible the affair MAY REVIVE THE BOER HOPES. Great things are expected by the Boers of the new commander-in-chief, Gen. Botha, who has made his reputation who has made his reputation wholly during the present campaign. Foreign officers serving with the Boers have expressed surprise at his clever tactics. The proof of continued activity in the Free State will compel greater circumspection on the part of the British, and will probably delay the march of Lord Roberts northward.

WILKINSON'S COMMENT. London, April 3 .- Mr. Spencer Wil-

London, April 2.—The war office re-kinson, in the Morning Post, says:

"The attack on Thaba Nchu and the convoy is a sample of the mode in which the Boers will try to conduct the war. It is a legitimate mode and the most effective for Boer purposes. So long as the Boer army keeps the field such attacks will embarrass the British, and perhaps the best way to get rid of the difficulty would be a swift advance and decisive blows against the main Boer army. London, April 1-4 a.m.-The war office issued no further news tonight, and the few dispatches received from the seat of war bear evidence of having been delayed by the censor. According to a special dispatch from Pretoria, dated yesterday, Lord Roberts has commenced his advance northward, The dispatch says that there are daily skirmishes, and that a big battle is imminent. This, however, may refer to the operations preceding engagement at Karee Siding, which has apparently cleared the way, as well as secured an advantageous position, whence the next op-erations may be conducted.

Tucker's division is now strongly occupying the Boers' camp at Karee Siding, with the way clear to Brandwhich is reported already evacuated.

Orders have been received at Cape Town for the eighth division to be disembarked and sent north immediately on its arrival there.

HOLDING OUT. London, March 31.-Lord Roberts today reported to the war office that he had received news from Col. Baden-Powell at Mafeking up to March 10, when the general health of the garrison and its spirits were good. The locally-made gun, searchlight and ammunition were working well; the food was holding out well, and the paper currency which the British commander had issued was satisfactory. At the extreme west there are movements that seem to indicate the relief of Mafeking may not long be layed. Two thousand men and three batteries passed through Barkly West on Monday, and half as many more were expected to follow them.

OLIVIER'S 800 WAGONS. London, April 2.-The Times has the following from Mafeking, Basutoland, dated Friday, March 30.—Gen. Olivier has just passed Jamesberg Drift with a large body of men, four guns and 800 wagons. The column, which extended 30 miles, was accompanied by many women and children."

ROBERTS' MESSAGE RE JOUBERT Bloemfontein, Friday, March 30 .-Lord Roberts has sent the following dispatch to President Kruger: "Have just heard of the death of Gen. Jou-bert and desire to offer my sincere condolences upon the sad event. Would ask you to convey to Gen. Joubert's family an expression of my most respectful sympathy with their sad bereavement, and to assure them also from me that all ranks of her Majesty's forces share my feelings of deep regret at the sudden and untimely end of so distinguished a general who devoted his life to the service of his country, and whose personal gal-lantry was only surpassed by his humane conduct and chivalrous bearing under all circumstances.

COL. GOUGH DEAD.

London, April 1.-Lord Roberts re-ports the death at Norval's Pont on Wednesday, March 28, of Col. the Hon. George Hugh Gough, C.B. Col. Gough had been private secretary to the commander-in-chief of the British forces, Lord Wolseley, since 1897. He was born in county Tipperary, Ireland, July 25, 1852, and was the second son of the late second Viscount Gough He joined the 14th Hussars in 1871, passed through the staff college in 1883, commanded mounted infantry in the Soudan campaign, 1884-85, and commanded the 14th Hussars, 1891-96. of the 14th Hussars, who died at Norval's Pont, was buried here today with full military honors, Lord Roberts and staff following the remains to the

IN NATAL. London, April 2.-In Natal there is a renewal of activity that seems to promise fighting before long. The last reports from Natal indicate the speedy clashing of the opposing armies. Sir Redvers Buller's army has vast-ly recuperated since Ladysmith was relieved, and despite the supposed tremendous strength of the Boer defenses in the Drakensburg passes, it is expected that he will make his way across the obstacle and join forces with Lord Roberts for the final march on Pretoria. BOERS MARAUDING.

London, April 2.-The Lisbon correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "The Portuguese Government has wired an order to Beira that British troops and ammunition be allowed to pass through freely to Rhodesia. the Delagoa Bay Railway arbitration tribunal.' OFF TO ST. HELENA.

Cape Town, March 31. - The first batch of prisoners started today for St. Helena The transportation of the prisoners o St. Helena is arousing the anger of the Boers, who threaten to retaliate by sending the British prisoners to Koomatipoort, reputed to be the worst fever-den in South Africa.

The departure of the British transports with the Boer prisoners has been delayed in consequence of the increased sickness among the prisoners. Three died today and 12 have died during the week. Arrangements are being made to prevent overcrowding. The prisoners do not complain of their treatment or their food. Many of Gen. Cronje's men when captured were completely worn out with the hardships they had undergone and little strength was left them for fighting disease. How 'Twas Done.

THE TURNING MOVEMENT. Bloemfontein, March 31.-The Boer position yesterday (at Karee Siding station) was one of great natural strength. Only the turning movement of Gen. French and Major Le Gallais, the latter commander of the mounted infantry, on either flank, insured the British success. The shape of the kopjes was irregular. The Boers' right flank consisted of a long hill, with wooded sides, connected with the main position by a long, low ridge, thickly wooded. The rest of the position, towards the left, consisted kopjes, all connected by a high ridge. Major Le Gallais moved around the Boer left and engaged them first, freely using his Vickers-Maxims, and gradually forcing the Boers towards the center, where they made a good stand. Major Le Gallais was unable to move until late in the day, while Gen.French moved early. The latter made a wide detour towards the rear of the Boers, but was unable to complete his movement before the Boers perceived his intention, and abandoned the position, They retired in good order between Gen. French and Major Le Gallais where the main body of the Boers with four guns held an excellent position on the edge of a deep donga, whence they shelled Gen. French. The infantry attack was delivered at idday, when the Norfolks opened the fight by seizing the lower slopes of an ugly kopje. Steadily they worked their way to the crest of the hill, where a hot engagement ensued. The Lincolnshires occupied the hill on the right, protecting the Eighteenth Battery, which dragged its guns up the hill with the greatest difficulty and opened a heavy fire at close range.

Meanwhile the City Imperials, get-ting in touch with the Boers, the renainder of Tucker's division advanced across a semi-circular basin through which a railway ran. It was very open d kopje and ridge delivered a heavy fire. In spite of this, however, the British moved on steadily, as if on parade. The advance was protected by guns, which vigorously shelled the Boer positions. About 4 o'clock the British advanced simultaneously, and occupied the Boers' position, from which an excellent view could be had of Brandfort, 15 miles distant across the open plain. The Boer loss is unknown.

London, April 2.-Trooper Morris, beonging to the Australian contingent on service in South Africa, has been recommended for the Victoria Cross for rescuing an officer while under fire. April 1 will be averted. The decision of workmen affected by the decision to resume work is esti-mated to be about 10,000. Of this total 5,000 are Chicagoans. From the terms of the settlement as drawn up and executed in writing, the strikers are figuring out a victory. This claim is not disputed to any extent by the manufacturers, who admit that concessions have been made. Although the final settlement is to be worked out by a board of arbitration, it is claimed that assurances have been made that will guarantee the concession of the nine-hour day or its equivalent. President O'Connell will submit the issue of calling off the strike to a referendum vote at a mass meeting of the strikers this afternoon. The rank and file is said to be strongly in favor of the settlement. Much money has been

Mrs. Gilbert, 105 Rebecca street, Hamfiton, writes: "I suffered from a bad form of asthma for over nine years, and, notwithstanding all the doctors could do for me, got worse and worse, so that my neighbors looked for my death at any time. I spent money la ishly in the efforts to get relief, but all to no purpose. For six weeks at a time I could not get up or down stairs, and was in a miserable condition. My daughter, who clerks in a drug store, had heard a good deal of Clarke's Kola Compound, and urged me to try it as a last resort. I paid $2 for a bottle, but that is nothing, for it is worth more than that for every teaspoonful Two doses gave me splendid relief, and after using but one bottle I am a marvel to all who know me. I am doing my own work, can get around as well as ever, and feel like a new creature. Clarke's Kola Compound has been a godsend to me, and I look upon it as lars to anyone inquiring. BASEBALL. THE INTERNATIONAL.

Detroit Free Press: Within the next ten days it will be positively known whether there is to be an international league of baseball clubs this year. The Canadian League club owners delayed calling a meeting until rather late in the year, but it is possible to yet form a good eight-club circuit, as the playing season will not commence until about May 7, be it a Canadian or international league that exists in this part of the country. The success of the Canadian League last year, together with the showing made by the Cana-dian cities in 1898, demonstrates that Michigan cities will make no mistake by joining hands with the enthusiasti sportsmen on the other side of the porder, and past experience convinces the Canadian promoters that an international league can be made a complete success this year if the Wolverines only have the courage to make a start. At the meeting held in Detroit last Wednesday the Canadian League club owners made all arrangements to go ahead with a league in their own country; providing Michigan does not want a half interest in the venture. The matter was left open until April 10, and if the Michigan people come to the front in that time, prepared to post forfeits to play the schedule out, an eight-club international league will be formed, and 1901 will see such a circuit in existence if the project fails to materialize this spring. The time is ripe now, as the Michigan cities have had a rest of one year, and enthusiastic support would be assured. The Canadian cities do such a big business on their holidays that each club is almost assured two months' salaries on these and with Sunday games in Michigan, in addition to American holidays, it is hard to figure a chance for the teams to quit worse than even. ... HEART DISEASE.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American business life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion. Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic. The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves; the Sympathetic and the Pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food. There is a from half-digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stemach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion, and to insure the prompt assimilation

This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive ele-ments in a pleasant, convenient form. It is safe to say that the regular persistent use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at meal time will cure any form of stomach trouble except cancer of the

THE MAGNETIC PO'LE

Said to Have Been Located by an Antarctic Expedition.

Wellington, New Zealand, April 2.—
The exploring steamer. Southern Cross, bearing Mr. C. E. Borchgre vink and the survivors of the South I olar expedition, fitted out in 1898 by Sir George Newness, of London, an fived here yesterday.

Mr. Borchgrevink reports that the magnetic pole has been located. Mr.

H. Hansen, one of the zoologists, who started with the expedition, died on the voyage.

Hobart, Tasmania, for the Antarctic region on Dec. 19, 1898. During the latter part of February, 1899, the members landed from the Southern Cross near Cape Adair, Victorialand, it having been arranged that the steamer chould be a standard that the steamer should leave them there with full equipment of every kind, and should return for them early in 1900.

According to accounts of the explorer's plans, published at the time he left Europe, Mr. Borchgrevink's party consisted of nine besides himself. With these went two natives of Finland to look after ninety dogs. Engrmous supplies of provisions were

Enormous supplies of provisions were laid in. The expedition carried 500 Union Jacks, which Mr. Brochgrevink intended to plant at frequent inter-vals in the new region he hoped to discover. He took also a large Union Jack which he intended to run up on landing. This was given to him by the Duke of York. On board there was a cinematograph with which he hoped to get interesting pictures of sights little dreamed of by people in the civilized parts of the world. Apart from discovery the solution of unset-tled problems, the explorer expected that the expedition would yield an immense result of practicle value. His theory was that weather forecasts for the whole of Australasia could be made from the Antarctic region. good and bad times in the Australian colonies of Great Britain are dependent upon the state of the weather, the Australians themselves have taken a peculiar interest in the outcome. Mr Borchgrevink has always contended that the work of anticipating meteorological conditions in that part of the world could not be complete until reports from the Antarctic circle could be made promptly available.

MUST PAY $26,000

Importers of Rubens' "Holy Family Tried to Deceive Uncle Sam.

New York, April 2.-Appraiser Howell has announced his decision in the matter of the painting, "The Holy Family," a Rubens, which was sent to this country and entered at a value of 112,000 francs. It has been sold at public auction in London at a considerably higher figure, and the cus-toms authorities stopped it and held it for a reappraisal. Howell advanced the valuation to 198,000 francs, making the duty 20 per cent, something in the neighborhood of $7,000.

According to law, however, there is an inflexible penalty attached to goods which are imported under a low valuation, and the penalty in the case of the painting amounts to $19,000, making the entire amount which must be paid before the painting will be delivered about $26,000.

Fatal Boxing Bout in New York-Interesting Budget of Latest Ball News-Prospects of the International.

> BASEBALL. THE INTERNATIONAL.

Detroit Free Press: Within the next ten days it will be positively known whether there is to be an international league of baseball clubs this year. The Canadian League club owners delayed calling a meeting until rather late in but it is possible to yet form a good eight-club circuit, as the playing of the country. The success of the Canadian League last year, together with the showing made by the Canadian cities in 1898, demonstrates that Michigan cities will make no mistake by joining hands with the enthusiastic sportsmen on the other side of the border, and past experience convinces the Canadian promoters that an international league can be made a com-plete success this year if the Wolverines only have the courage to make a start. At the meeting held in Detroit last Wednesday the Canadian League club owners made all arrangements to go ahead with a league in their own country; providing Michigan does not want a half interest in the venture. The matter was left open until April 10, and if the Michigan people come to the front in that time, prepared to post forfeits to play the schedule out, an eight-club international league will be formed, and 1901 will see such a circuit in existence if the project fails to materialize this spring. The time is ripe now, as the Michigan cities have had a rest of one year, and enthusiastic support would be assured. The Canadian cities do such a big business on their holidays that each club is almost assured two months' salaries on these dates, and with Sunday games in Michigan, in addition to American holidays, it is hard to figure a chance for the teams to quit worse than even. FLYS.

The home plate will be seventeen inches across, flat side facing the pitcher, this season.

The Atlantic League have placed the guarantee at $500, to be forfeited if the club fails to play out the season. The first game of the Virginia League will be played on April 30. A Central League has been formed.

The season will open May 1, and close Sept. 18. The salary limit will be $700. Pitcher Cronin, of the Cincinnatis, looks more like Amos Rusie than any pitcher in uniform. Tim Hurst has been engaged to um-

Schmidt claims that he orig-inated the idea of changing the plate, and not President Hart, of the Chicago club, and offers documentary evidence that he suggested the rule the National League has adopted. He also claims that he suggested the advisability of covering the 'players' benches.

"Biddy" McPhee has retired from the game after playing eighteen consecutive seasons with Cincinnati. George Davis will captain the New York team this season.

The following figures of the number of players signed by each club in the National will be interesting. They show that St. Louis, a tail-ender last season, has 40 players on her string, while Boston, who always lands well up in the race, has only 17 men signed. Brooklyn has 14 pitchers, and Boston only 4. Men signed: St. Louis 40. Brook-35, Chicago 28, Philadelphia Pittsburg 24. Cincinnati 24. New York 23. and Boston 17. Many of these men will be released before the season.

ENDED FATALLY. New York, April 2.-Thomas Mac-Gregor, a youth about 17 years old, died at his home here Saturday from the effects of a blow received last night in a friendly boxing bout. Thomas Nelson, about the same age, is under ar-rest, charged with causing the death of MacGregor. The boys had been in the habit of holding boxing bouts in company with a number of other boys of their age. They used a vacant flat or basement as their club room. Friday night Walter Sacht asked the boys to meet in the basement of the house in which he lived. MacGregor and Nelson, whose homes were in the neighborhood, put on the gloves, and Nelson landed a right-hand blow on MacGregor's nose that started a hemorrhage. MacGregor was carried to his home. Ineffectual attempts were made to stop the flow of blood. One of the physicians said the boy had received a fracture of the base of the skull. > > HEART DISEASE.

Some Facts Regarding the Rapid Increase of Heart Trouble.

Heart trouble, at least among the Americans, is certainly increasing, and while this may be largely due to the excitement and worry of American bus-iness life, it is more often the result of weak stomachs, of poor digestion. Real organic disease is incurable; but not one case in a hundred of heart trouble is organic. The close relation between heart trouble and poor digestion is because both organs are controlled by the same great nerves; the Sympathetic and the Pneumogastric.

In another way also the heart is affected by the form of poor digestion, which causes gas and fermentation from half-digested food. There is a feeling of oppression and heaviness in the chest caused by pressure of the distended stemach on the heart and lungs, interfering with their action; hence arises palpitation and short breath.

Poor digestion also poisons the blood, making it thin and watery, which irritates and weakens the heart.

The most sensible treatment for heart trouble is to improve the digestion, and to insure the prompt assimilation of This can be done by the regular use after meals of some safe, pleasant and effective digestive preparation, like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which may be found at drug stores, and which contain valuable, harmless digestive ele-ments in a pleasant, convenient form. Mrs. D. N. Ostrander, Trenton, Ont., says:-"I was a great sufferer for many years with my heart and nerves. At times I got so bad that I had to lie down on a lounge, often at night I could hardly sleep on account of a terrible suffocating feeling. I got very weak and languid, and was reduced almost to a skeleton, weighing only go pounds. Several doctors attended me, and I tried different remedies, but without much benefit. At last I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

"The results were simply marvellous, I began to improve at once and now I sleep well, the suffocating feeling has entirely gone, my appetite is splendid, my strength has returned, I am increasing in weight right along and I feel that life is worthliving.

CHINESE OUTRAGES. Pekin, April 2.-The Chinese Government has "settled" the controversy arising out of the murder, on Dec. 30 last, of the Rev. Mr. Brooks, of the Church Missionary Society, on the following terms: Two of the murderers lowing terms: Two of the murderers will be beheaded, one imprisoned for life, one for ten years, another for two years, a memorial chapel will be erected on the site of the murder and a tablet will be placed in the Canterbury Cathedral, England, at the expense of the Chinese Government.

Rev. Mr. Brooks, at the time of his murder, was stationed at Ping Yin, in the Province of Shan Tung. He was captured in that vicinity, and killed by members of the seditious society known as "Boxers," who had been very active in destroying villages and slaughtering native Christians. The governor of the province had dispatched a force of cavalry to the scene of disturbance, but the sildiers arrived late to save the life of Mr.

ONLY AN INTERIM JUDGMENT. Paris, April 2.-Mr. Trebane, who has arrived here from Berne, Switzer-land, was asked his opinion on the Delagoa Bay award, and said:

"It was a great surprise, and pro-foundly astonished most of us, but as it is, in a way, only an interim judgment, and does not state the reasons and legal conclusions on which it was based, I do not think it possible for me at present to criticise it. When we are in possession of the complete award, enumerating all the motives in jurisprudence, then I shall carefully examine it with jurisconsults. The state department will only then be in a position to make a competent pro-nouncement. This ought to be given in the near future.' CABLE NOTES

During the latter part of February, 1899, the members landed from the Southern Cross near Cape Adair, Victorialand, it having been arranged that the steamer should leave them there with full equipment of every kind, and should return for them early in 1900.

According to accounts of the explorer's plans, published at the time he left Europe, Mr. Borchgrevink's party consisted of nine besides himself. With these went two natives of Finland to look after ninety dogs. Enormous supplies of provisions were

Enormous supplies of provisions were laid in. The expedition carried 500 Union Jacks, which Mr. Brochgravink intended to plant at frequent intervals in the new region he hoped to discover. He took also a large Union Jack which he intended to run up on landing. This was given to him by the Duke of York. On board there was a cinematograph with which he hoped to get interesting pictures of sights little dreamed of by people in the civilized parts of the world. Apart from discovery the solution of unset-tled problems, the explorer expected that the expedition would yield an immense result of practicle value. His theory was that weather forecasts for the whole of Australasia could be made from the Antarctic region. As good and bad times in the Australian colonies of Great Britain are dependent upon the state of the weather, the Australians themselves have taken a peculiar interest in the outcome. Mr. Borchgrevink has always contended that the work of anticipating meteorological conditions in that part of the world could not be complete until

Importers of Rubens' "Holy Family Tried to Deceive Uncle Sam.

New York, April 2.—Appraiser How-ell has announced his decision in the matter of the painting, "The Holy Family," a Rubens, which was sent to this country and entered at a value of 112,000 francs. It has been sold at public auction in London at a considerably higher figure, and the toms authorities stopped it and held it for a reappraisal. Howell advanced the valuation to 198,000 francs, making the duty 20 per cent, something in the neighborhood of $7,000. According to law, however, there is an inflexible penalty attached to goods which are imported under a low valuation, and the penalty in the case of the painting amounts to $19,000, making the entire amount which must be paid before the painting will be delivered about $26,000.

LIFE SAVED .- Mr. James Bryson Canteron writes: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting no this advice I procured the medicine and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believe it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good.

The sian ambassador smiles blandly, assures his friends that it means nothing, absolutely nothing," but, just the same, speculation is acute. There ere many men of fair standing and a clerable knowledge of international ndercurrents who are willing to say now come within measurable distance. Of these, Henry Norman, who just returned from a trip to Rusta, to one. But it is learned that no wiew is taken by the British form office, which during the recent lous times has sized up the inter-nal situation with wonderful cor-

JAPANESE NAVAL MANEUVERS. Japanese naval maneuvers in the oming fall are to be carried out on an unprecedented scale, and will partake nore of the nature of a demonstration than that of peaceful evolutions. Forty or more war vessels are expected to be present in Japanese waters. The moral effect of such an aggregation upon far comment.

As far as Great Britain is concerned, Russia's military, rather than naval celivity, is chiefly interesting, though the press is not yet allowed to take up is cue in this matter. The foreign ofnee, while only faintly interested in Corea, being practically sure that no serious trouble will result there, is devoting careful investigation to the war-like preparations occurring in South

JAPAN NOT READY. The next few weeks may, perhaps, bring up a tremendous war scare, but the salient fact remains that Japan is not ready for hostilities. Alarming telegrams from the far east may increase and multiply and Corea may seem to be on the verge of annexation by Russia, but the calm of Downing street is not likely to be disturbed. Corean matters have been arranged by treaty, and Lord Salisbury does not believe that Russia intends to break the treaties, though her relations with Japan may ome strained to a serious point. If all this rumpus in the far east had been postponed for another year there scarcely any doubt that war would be a serious probability; but those having any intimate knowledge of Japan's far-reaching naval projects and her recent state of incompleteness do not hes-Itate to say that Japan is not going to risk anything until her plans are ma-

TURKEY MENACED.

There seems no longer any doubt that Turkey for her tardiness to meet Russian demands regarding railway concessions is being menaced by her northern neighbor; and many signs point to the fact that Russia intends to settle herself in the northeast of Asia Minor, unless Turkey gives in. Already a quarter of a million of Russian troops are massed on these borders, while the Black Sea squadron is ready for business at a moment's notice.

To what extent British moral assistince can be given to Turkey in withstanding the Russian demands is a question which at the present moment is occupying Lord Salisbury's attention to an even greater extent than the South African war. In view of the troubles of Great Britain in South Africa it is more than probable that Turkey will meet the demands and that The scare ament Russian troops conatrating in Afghanistan apparently arose from this movement in the direct tion of Turkey in Asia Minor and Afghanistan has passed into the category of peaceful, uninteresting spheres.

RUSSIA NOT IDLE. With all these reports, to say nothing of continued rumors of Bulgaria's desire to throw off Turkey's suzerainty and become a vassal of the czar, it is evident that while Russia is observing in the letter her promise to England, not to interfere in South Africa, she is not idle in taking advantage of op-portunities in every quarter of the globe. For the peace of the world, it is reassuring to remember that the fixed policy of Russia for years has been to take matters almost to the point of hositilities, and then settle diplomationally, the only exception to this in INACTION OF THE ARMY EXodern times being the Crimea, when the tone of the peace party in England led her to believe that the country would not interfere.

DELAGOA BAY AWARD. As a nation and as individuals Great Britain is very wroth over the Delagoa Bay Railway award. The average opinion is that this is merely the latest instance where the country has got the worst end by trusting to arbitra-tion. All the high-flown prophecies that an Anglo-German secret African agreement would become operstive through the decision have fallen flat because the damages against Portugal are so small that she is amply ole to pay them herself without giving either party to the secret agreement their opportunity of bidding for Delacoa Bay. Right up to the last several of the most influential organs seemed be almost sure that Portugal would obliged to sell Delagoa Bay to Great Britain in order to pay up. As a result of this confidence Delagoa railway debentures went up to 132, and shares of the company to $35. After the anuncement of the decision the debentures went down to 100, while shares could be bought for 62 cents, or practicelly nothing, as it was evident that the award provided scarcely anything to make them good.

In South Africa, except the death of Gen. Joubert, home politics have claimed a large share of attention.

The meeting of the Nafional Liberal Federation served to show how divided to the Liberal party. The substitution of Sir Edward Grey for Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman as leader. owing to the latter's illness, gave the imperalist faction a great chance, and Bir Edward Grey spoke, as expected, frankly in favor of the war and all Leaden, April 1.—Russian activity it means. The only surprising feature of the conference was Mr. Herbert week and diplomatic function—Gladstone's declaration that the British flag must "wave over the whole of South Africa," and in other ways his following in Sir Edward Grey's footsteps. Mr. Gladstone is the chief whip of his party, and is supposed to some extent to mirror his late father's ideas. He was heretofore considered by no means a follower of Lord Rosebery, Sir Edward Grey and Mr. H. H. Asquith and the imperial faction. But since the speeches at Nottingham it must be concluded that the Liberal party has agreed to allow the annexation of the Boer republics.

W. Sillem, who was born in San Francisco, and whose mother is now the wife of the English Vice-Admiral Richard G. Kinaham. The official report of the battle of Belmont says: "Midshipman Sillem also charged to the top of the hill, gallantly leading his men, all the time under a very heavy fire, and is deserving of special

THE WAR IN AFRICA. London, April 1 .-- Isaac N. Ford rein his cable dispatch, filed at 1 o'clock this morning. He says: The details of Gen. Tucker's clearance of the kopjes in front of the British positions confirm the impression that the Boers were not making a serious attempt to har-not making a serious attempt to har-ass Gen. Roberts' army. They had sent tremendous impulse from the war in South Africa, and is a vital issue to date the burghers, who were either surrendering their arms or returning the World-wide empire. to their farms, and to enable Mr. Steyn to keep up appearances as a president with a republic behind him. entrenched, and planned the battle in good style. Artillery fire was massed upon the Boer positions, and the cavalry brigades were sent around on the flanks. The Boers hardly waited long enough to enable Gen. Tucker to carry out these scientific evolutions. They fell back upon the main laager at Brandfort, and, according to Gen. Roberts' second message, are retreating still further. The British outposts have now been advanced toward Brandfort, and the burghers in the central districts of the Free State have been warned that resistance is hopeless. The casualties on the British side were about 170, with a large pro-portion of wounded. Rudyard Kipling was one of the spectators of the battle, and the colonials displayed great gallantry. There are details of Col. Bethune's movement toward Help-makaar, which is now described as a

MAFEKING.

There is also an official dispatch from Col. Baden-Powell, giving an encouraging account of the health of the garrison and reporting that the supplies of food and ammunition are holding out. The correspondents' reports are naturally colored by the intense eagerness of the garrison to be released from an investment which has become a terrible bore. Baden-Powell is a soldier, whose fortitude is proof against the ennui of a protracted siege, and whose motto is "Patience." His talent for versatility is illustrated by his experiments in finance. He has introduc-ed a paper money system in the Mafedistrict, and is highly pleased with the result.

The facility with which the Boer outposts have been driven back from the front of Tucker's division is proof that Gen. Roberts will not have much difficulty in turning the enemy's positions, and marching on to Pre-

PLAINED.

Two facts serve to explain the inaction of his army. One is the climate. On the eve of a South African winter, while the days are warm, there is a rapid fall of temperature after sunset, and a lack of thick clothing and underwear exposes the men to pneumonia. Gen. Roberts knows this, and is waiting for a fresh equipment of clothing for his soldiers. Second—The conversion of Bloemfontein into an advanced base of supply for an army of over 60,000 men requires time. Remounts for a third cavalry force are needed, according to private letters from the front, the forage for the future operations of the cavalry is indispensable when the grass is disappearing from the veldt. Gen. Roberts is clearly waiting until he can be thoroughly prepared for another strategic move-short of just expectation and tends to prejudice public men against arbitration. The American claims have suffered, without doubt, from their association with the English claims, and have been cut down in consequence. There is a fixed idea on the continent that John Bull is a bloated millionaire, who must be bled whenever there is a convenient opportunity.

"The correspondence over the 'open door' question has been commented on here with intelligence and sympathy. There is a frank recognition of the fact that Secretary Hay has shown himself to be a statesman of the first rank in taking up the Chinest question and treating the letters received from the powers as contracts which can be enforced, even if no punitive measures are included in the bond. There is no suggestion in the English press that President McKinley's Government has been carrying out a secret arrangement with the foreign of press that President Mckinley's Government has been carrying out a secret arrangement with the foreign office or adopting British principles of action: on the contrary, the prevailing idea here is that America has acted from motives of enlightened self-interest, and not for the purpose of rendering a special service to England"

BRITISH PARLIAMENT. The same correspondent says: "Never have the debates in the House of Commons been duller than now, nor the tactics of both sides of the house more feeble. Mr. Balfour and Mr. Wyndham are heekled daily by the bores, whom one is too listless and the other too polite to shake off. The financial debates are conducted without spirit or critical accusation, and time is wasted over academic questions like flogging, Irish university education and the London water supply, which the ministers have not the remotest idea of taking up. They the remotest idea of taking up. They lack energy and breadth of view, and the opposition is not led with vigor. Sir Edward Grey has made a thoughtful speech at the Liberal conference at Nottingham, striking a strong imperialist note; but he is the exception that proves the rule. WANT A PILOT.

Her majesty's opposition is adrift without a pilot; there is no strong hand at the helm. The general feeling of Liberal demoralization is exan early dissolution of parliament, be cause they know that their own party is utterly unprepared for a general election. The policies looming up be-fore the nation are large, even if the party leaders of both sides seem incapable of forecasting the natural course of events and the force of pub-

BRITAIN HAS A SURPLUS. THE QUEEN. The Queen, who in her way is a more capable politician than any memher ministry, has perceived what a crowning opportunity she has for bringing Saxon and Celt into sympathetic relations, and is taking full advantage of it. Her approaching visit to Ireland promises to be one of the most memorable events of her It is said that politics cannot enter into it; but when has anything gone on in Ireland without having politics in it? There is broad, statesmanlike policy in this royal journey, and it implies reconciliation through the wholesome influence of the sovereign's womanly sympathy. WHY DO YOU HAWK AND SPIT?

All the Distressing Symptoms of Catarrh Are Eradicte From the System by Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Hawking and spitting become a habit wherever catarrh prevails. People from warmer climes are shocked at what they consider our rudeness. But we can't help that. The droppings get into our throats and to get relief we must hawk up the thick matter and spit. There is an even more disgusting symptom of catarrh than hawking and spitting, for when the decay reaches the bone the breath becomes foul and of

Until the discovery of Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure by the famous author of Dr. Chase's Recipe Book, there seemed to be no permanent cure for catarrh. The marvelous success of this remedy has added to the fame of the great physician in whom the people of America have always had such great confidence.

Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure gives almost instant relief, and by its healing influence permanently cures catarrh. It heals the ulcers, stops the droppings into the threat counterate faul breath into the throat, counteracts foul breath and restores hearing to those who have been made deaf by catarrh.

Like Dr. Chase's other remedies, his Catarrh Cure is at the same time simple and effective. the usual way. Flags were displayed, and at the banquet Emperor William personally congratulated the chancellor and sent him a handsome present. All the German private postal companies are abolished, and the imperial post takes their place throughout the empire. One private Berlin postal company alone received a million in damages. Simultaneously, the postage will be reduced for local postal cards to half a cent and for local letters to one cent, including all the suburbs.

Archibald Forbes' death has called out most sympathetic sketches of the brilliant correspondent's life. The ruling passion was strong with him, even during the closing hours of de-lirium and suffering. He talked about going to the front and riding with his dispatches across country and accompanying Roberts to Pretoria. The Duke of Norfolk received an affectionate send-off from a large party of friends today on sailing for South Africa. The real motive of his per-sistence in enlisting for the war, even at the cost of resigning from the government, is believed to be an intense desire to prove that English Roman Catholics are loyal to the Queen and the empire, and unaffected by contin-ental prejudice. Several society favorites have re-turned from South Africa, where they have found themselves out of place in war time. Mrs. Rochfort Maguire is entertaining dinner parties with amusing accounts of her adventures at the Cape; Lady Lillian Grenfell and Mrs. Maxse are returning from Cape Town. The west end is full, but neither lively nor gay. The Duchess of Devon-shire and Lady Lansdowne are the chief figures of such entertainments as there are. Scores of fashionable dinner parties were given last week either in town houses or hotels. "The Strength of TwentyMen." When Shakespeare employed this phrase he referred, of course, to heal-thy, able-bodied men. If he had lived these days he would have known that men and women who are not healthy may become so by taking Hood's Sarsayarilla. This medicine, by making the blood rich and pure and giving good appetite and perfect digestion, imparts vitality and strength to

And take it to your druggist, W. T. Strong & Co., who will present you with a trial bottle of the wonderful New Medicine they have secured the exclusive agency for, Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis and all Throat and Lung affections. Its cures are simply marvelous, absolutely curing where all else fail, and has saved thousands from an early grave; even physicians are astonished at this marvelous cure. It costs nothing and is always convincing. A guaranteed cure goes with large bottles.

The women of Pretoria gather to-gether at each others' houses in sew-ing parties, making clothes for those of their families on the firing line. A DINNER PILL - Many persons suffer excruciating agony after par-taking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a the stomach, and instead of being a healing nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, open the secretions, and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutriment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

"Honesty is the Best Policy."

Never was a more pointed saying put into print, and yet to be honest only because it is policy is a poor kind of honesty. Better change "policy" to "principle" and the world will like you better. In the medical world there is one medicine honest for principle's sake-and that is Hood's Sarsaparilla.

It is the specific of the age for all blood troubles. The liver, kidneys and bowels are all toned up by its action as a cleanser and thus good health ensues. It never disappoints.

Rheumatism-"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla has no equal for rheumatism. It has done me more good than any other medicine I have taken." Mrs. Patrick KENNEY, Brampton, Ont.

Bad Cough—"After my long illness, I was very weak and had a bad cough. I could not eat or sleep. Different remedies did not help me but Hood's Sarsaparilla built me up and I am now able to attend to my work." MINNIE JAQUES, Oshano, Ont.

Billousness—"I have been troubled with heada he and billiousness and was much run down. Tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and it gave me relief and built me up." A. Morrison, 89 Defoe Street. Toronto, Ont.

Heart Trouble—"I had heart trouble for a number of years and different medicines failed to benefit me. I tried Hood's Sarsaparilla and three bottles completely and berfectly cured me." Mrs. C. A. Flinn, Wallace Bridge, N. S.

A Safeguard - "As I had lost five children with diphtheria I gave my remaining two children Hood's Sarsaparilla as they were subject to throat trouble and were not very strong. They are now healthier and stronge: and have not since had a cold."
MRS. V. H. FLECKER, Pembroke, Ont.

Varicose Veins - "I have been a great sufferer from varicose veins, which swelled my foot and limb, discharging watery matter. I took Hood's Sarsaparilla faithfully and the sores healed." Mrs.

CHURCH SERVICE INTERRUPTED

An Aged and Out Spoken Critic Maker Trouble for Himself-Police Court Proceedings.

James Loney, an octogenarian, wandered into Wellington Street Methodist Church yesterday morning in a slightly exhibarated condition, and proceeded to enjoy himself in his own peculiar way. Not content to remain seated, he ascended the pulpit, and insisted on sharing the rostrum with the pastor. He was gently but firmly persuaded to take a seat in the body of the church, where he remained quiet until the choir rose to render an anthem. The choir did its best, but it did not satisfy Loney's critical taste, for he promptly informed them that if he could not sing better than that he would keep quiet. He was again remonstrated with, and told that he would be ejected if he made any further disturbance. Upon this he arose and announced that he would He accordingly left, pausing at the door to say "dood afternoon. Ta, ta, everybody," waving his hand at the minister, the choir and the congregation. Shortly after Loney was arrested by P. C. Downs, and at the police court this morning he was remanded for a week.

SOLDIER'S GOOD FORTUNE

Gunner Napoleon Comtais, of the R. C. A., Cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Quebec, April 2.—Napoleon Comtais, gunner, No. 2 Company of the Royal Canadian Artillery, stationed at the citadel here, considers himself a lucky man. He will wear the Queen's uniform for years yet. He expected at one time that kidney disease would necessitate his quitting the service. But he heard of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Gunner Comtais received a letter re-cently asking about his cure. He relied as follows: Royal Canadian Artillery Library.

Dear Sir,-I received your letter, and hereby certify that I was cured of Kidney Disease by Dodd's Kidney Pills. By them I can be a soldier a few years yet. GUNNER N. COMTAIS, No. 2 Co., R. C. A., Quebec.

FREIGHTS COLLIDE.

Cadillac, Mich., April 2.-A collision between two heavy freights on the Ann Arbor Railroad occurred about noon Saturday a few miles north of this city, causing a great destruction of property. Three engines and 25 freight cars were demolished, and about a quarter of a mile of track torn up. No one was injured. ?

Astounded the Editor.

Editor S. A. Brown, of Bennettsville, "Through long suffering from Dyspepsia," he writes, "my wife was greatly run down. She had no strength or vigor and suffered great distress from her stomach, but she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and, after using four bottles, she is entirely well, and can eat anything. It's a grand tonic, and its gentle, laxative qualities are splendid for torpid liver." For Indigestion, Loss of Appetite, Stomach and Liver troubles it's a positive, guaran-teed cure. Only 50c, at W. T. Strong & Co.'s drug store.

FISHERMEN ON AN ICE-FLOE. Buffalo, N. Y., April 2.—Two fishermen are supposed to be on an ice floe, some distance from the city shore on Lake Erie. Signal lights were seen at midnight. A rescue party started out, but found the ice had broken. Across the open water the light could still be seen, signaling.

*The name Hartwell does not appear on the official list. There is a Hartwell in the 93rd Battalion, and this may be the man. There is no Adder-ton on the list, but there is an Allison in the 90th Battalion, and as the cable gives Adderton as belonging to the Winnipegs, it is likely a mistake for Alliston.

Luilet Extracted From a Boy's Brain-It Lodged Above the Hyyeball-He Will Recover.

Toronto, April 2.-A remarkable instance of what modern surgery can accomplish was given at the General Hospital yesterday, when a bullet was removed from the brain of young Stanley Thomas, of Forest. The operation was entirely successful, and after the performance the patient got his father is a farmer near Forest. Saturday the lad was engaged in target practice with a revolver. He was seated on a log, and after shooting, he looked into the muzzle of the weapon. From cause that cannot be explained a cartridge exploded and the bullet entered the lower right eyelid, and, passing upward, lodged within the Dr. Blain, a local doctor, was called as soon as possible, and he de-termined to send the lad to the General Hospital in Toronto. He arrived in safety, and in a perfectly conscious condition yesterday morning. The Xrays were applied, and the position of the bullet was located behind and above the right eye. It was felt that it could be extracted with perfect safety, and the operation was accomplished by Dr. Bruce. The floctors do not ex-pect that the lad's sight will be af-

HUTTON'S WORK

Imperial Army Officers Placed Over Their Canadian seniors.

Measures Taken to Correct the Injustice Done to Colonials.

[Special to the Advertiser per C.P.R.] Ottawa, Ont., April 2.—Gen, Hutton issued an order in council, giving Lieut.-Col. Kitson precedence over other lieutenant-colonels in the Canadian militia, and also putting Major Stone over the heads of Canadian officers who were his seniors.

An order has been passed restoring Col. Kitson to his original position. At present he would be senior to Col. Aylmer, who is in command.

Major Stone was put over Lieutenant-colonels on the Canadian militia by Gen. Hutton, and this order has been cancelled. The order of Gen. Hutton was in DIRECT VIOLATION OF THE REGULATIONS. which provides that imperial officers serving with the Canadian militia shall only be entitled to the rank and precedence given them by their Canadian commissions. There is a paragraph in the militia act which provides that officers of the imperial army shall have precedence over the Canadian militia officers of the same rank while in Canada, but this was at a time when the British army was largely represented here, and worked with Canadian militia officers. It is probable that the act will be changed in this regard.

Bloemfontein Temporarily Loses Its Water Supply.

Unconfirmed Report That Broadwood's Guns Have Been Recaptured.

All But Two Men in One Battery Missing-Boer Activity on the Vaal.

London, April 2.- The rumors of the recapture by the British of the seven guns taken from Col. Broadwood's force, based on a dispatch to the Chronicle from Bloemfontein, which is said, in all probability, to be correct, tends to compensate the London shock experienced from the disaster sustained within a few miles from the headquarters of the British army of occupation. President Kruger is said to have promised to reoccupy Bloemfontein this week, and the stubborn burghers seem to be closing around the place in menacing force. The ac-tivity of a strong Boer force in the vicinity of Paardeberg has already in-tercepted direct communication between Lord Roberts and Kimberley. The nation is beginning to realize, from the nature of the guerilla warfare that it is liable to embarrass the future movements of the British

WATER SUPPLY CUT OFF. A special dispatch from Bloemfontein this morning reported that the water supply of the place had been cut off. This was a natural sequence of the Boer success at the water-works. The authorities are hopeful that it will be promptly remedied. It is evident, from Lord Roberts' dispatch, that a big engagement is in

INCIDENTS OF SPLENDID HERO-ISM.

A special dispatch from Bloemfontein dated today, says: The loss of the guns was attended by incidents of splendid heroism. The leading battery was so near to the Boers ambushed in the rived bed, that the latter said: "It is useless your attempting to advance; throw down your arms."

The sergeant of the battery, fearing the other battery would misunderstand the hindrance, rushed through the convoy and warned his commanders, enabling the rearmost battery to save a portion of the guns, which came into action later. The Life Guardsmen and a gunner got a gun out under a tremendous fire, and four others were saved by the men dragging them off after their horses had been shot.

The scene of the British disaster appears to be Mealie Spruit, where the Bloemfontein road crosses a tributary of the Modder River.

FROM LORD ROBERTS. London, April 2-4:55 p.m.-The war office has received another dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, Sunday, April 1, 8:15 p.m., in which, after referring to his previous telegram, he gives a partial list of the missing British officers. Of Q battery four officers were wounded, two of whom are missing. One gunner was killed and 40 non-commissioned officers and men are wounded or missing.

Lord Roberts then continues: In U battery all are missing except Major Taylor and a sergeant-major. The two cavalry regiments did not suffer much. BOERS FALLING BACK.

A report has just come in that the enemy has retired towards Ladybrand, leaving 12 wounded officers and some 70 men at the waterworks. We are now sending an ambulance for them.' It will be noticed that in the fore-going advices Lord Roberts says nothing in regard to the British guns being recaptured. BOER ACTIVITY.

Kimberley, Sunday, April 1.-There is great Boer activity along the Vaal River; about 6,000 burghers have assembled at various points between Fourteen Streams and Christiana. About 700 men are occupying Witrand (north of Klip Dam), and 400 men are laagered at Boetsap.

Britain's Phenomenal Prosperity-The Queen's Visit to Ireland Stirs Great Enthusiasm.

DUBLIN EN FETE. New York, 'April 2 .- "Bedad, and it's mad you're all agoing, I'll be think-ing," said an old six-foot Irishman, walking in College Green yesterday afternoon, says a Dublin cable to the Herald. Indeed, Old Dublin, as it has been tovingly called, is bristling with excitement and bright with thousands upon thousands of fluttering flags. What strikes one, when the people are out in thousands, as a sure sign that her majesty's passage will arouse enor-mous enthusiasm, is the unmistakable evidence in the streets that Irish women have taken up the loyal cry. With scarcely any exceptions all were wearing red, white and blue ribbons and patriotic badges, with little pictures in them of the Queen, Lord Roberts, Lord Kitchener and Col. Baden-Powell, and others, and if the women are thus inclined, the men are sure to follow.

It is evident that the Irishman is going to accept this occasion as giving to the Englishman, while deeply im-pressed by his deeds recently in the field, a better knowledge of the Irish-man at home. The Irish car-driver in Dublin is always a man from whom you may be sure of drawing a reply clothed in candor, reflecting the ideas of the mon in the street. This afternoon one was asked, "Will there be any disturbance? He replied: "Faith, and what would that serve? Again: "Is the Queen's visit popu-

He replied: "Certainly, but if it was made oftenerit would be more popular."
The Duke of Connaught, who really loves the Irish, has done much to pave the way toward that reconciliation so much wished for by the English, and so ardently hoped for by all except professional agitators and insatiable malcontents.

THE SOUTH POLE.

London, April 2.-Carsten E. Borchgrevink, the leader of the south polar expedition fitted out in 1898 by Sir George Newnes, of this city, who, with the surviving members of his party, arrived yesterday on the steamer Southern Cross, at Campbelltown, near Bluff Harbor, N. Z., telegraphs to Sir George Newnes that the object of the expedi-tion had been fully attained. The position of the south magnetic pole has been located. The expedition reached the further point south with a sledge of which there is any record, namely, latitude 78 degrees, 50 minutes south. Previous to the late exploration Herr Borchgrevink believed the south mag-netic pole to be situated in latitude 57 degrees, 5 minutes south, and longitude 15 degrees east.

· WITH THE BRITISH. Yokohama, March 14, via San Francisco, April 1.—The emperor's message of congratulation to Queen Victoria and the reply thereto, have awakened lively sensation in all quarters of the empire and have emphasized the sympathy almost universally felt for British in the South African struggle. It is reported that the emperor will shortly raise to the peerage Dr. Kentaro Kaneko, the first of the Japanese to be granted the honorary degree of LL.D. by Harvard University. He is well known in New Washington. Judging from the strictures of the native press, there is fear of some friction between Japan and the United States on the Hawaiian question. There are now some 60,000 Japanese subjects on the islands. It is claimed the United States ignored the pledges given to the Japanese Government at the time of annexathion.

BRITAIN IS PROSPEROUS. London, April 2.-The annual statement of the chancellor of the ex chequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, for the year ending March 31, shows a net increase over 1899 of £11,899,377, of which £7,462,801 occurred in the last quarter and was evidently due to the immense payments for the release of bonded goods previous to the budget announcement.

HAMILTON FOR THE EASTERN. New York, April 1.-Unless all signs fail, the Eastern League, at its meeting in the Fifth Avenue Hotel tomorrow, will adopt a recommendation from its circuit committee to proceed with last year's membership, including Hartford or Hamilton, Ont. This will mean that no attempt will be made to enter Baltimore and Washington, as planned by the National League men when they reduced their own circuit. P. T. Powers, president of the Eastern League, confirmed this point yesterday when he said to a reporter:

"It looks to me now as if we would go ahead without Washington and Baltimore. In the estimation of our circuit committee, the National League's proposition to us regarding these two cities is unfair, and we cannot, accept it as it stands. Springfield has shown a determination to remain in our circuit, and a number of responsible business men in Hartford are anxious to keep that city in line, too. But in case they back down, Hamilton, Ont., stands ready to step into the vacant place. I have just returned from Baltimore. I did not see either McGraw or Robinson there, although I waited 24 hours in that town. They have acred queeriy, to say the least. We wanted to have their good-will if they chose to it, but it wasn't really necessary at that." Saturday's Chatham Planet says: George Black, the enterprising baseball manager, is in the city today with a view of looking into the matter of placing an international league baseball team here, and a meeting of citizens interested will be held in the Garner House tonight to discuss the possibilities, at which all are invited to be present. Mr. Black says he has great faith in the possibilities of the Maple City to support a first-class team, and it is generally understood that he will not be adverse to himself accepting a franchise for this city, with the co-operation of the citizens.

Mr. Black has already a first-class team signed.

THE TRIUMPH

How they chimed in with the thought always uppermost in her own mind—"If she were but dead, he would be free!"

And now the laughing lips of a fair, fashionable woman of the world said the same thing. Bright-eyed belies and gorgeous women with flashing jewels, young exquisites with soft down on cheek and chin, men grown gray with age—all joined in saying the same thing—

"It would be a good thing if she were

The laughing, cruel woman, who had sat there half an hour ago, said: "All Florence knows he is unhappy." Ah, woe, woe! Was this the end of the love so happily begun under the la-burnum tree? Was this the end of the love that was to have been immortal -that was to have consecrated her life and his? Could what those people said be true? Had he loved Beatrice Leigh first and best, then left her for the passing, fleeting love of a fair face and now he regretted that he had so left her? Down lower amongst the crushed orange blossoms sunk the wearied head; hot, passionate tears, such as only come from a broken heart, fell like rain from her eyes. It was all true, she moaned to herself-

She, the country lawyer's daughter, had no right among the patrician Selwyns. Her homely bringing up, her unutterable simplicity, her incurable shyness and retiring quiet manner, made her all unfitted for the position to which Lord Selwyn had raised her. He must repent, seeing that all those of his world comiserated and pitied him, seeing that "all Florence" agreed it was a great pity that he had not married Miss Leigh.

The silent stars shone down upon a woman whose heart was broken. The night wind played around a golden head never more to be raised in proud happiness, or still prouder love. whole world knew her storyknew that her husband's passing fancy had gone by; that he repented having married her. The unhappiness of their lives was a subject of their lives was a subject of the hubble approach. People comment. themselves by speaking of it, by ridiculing her, by laughing at her, as one out of her place.

It was indeed time that she were

She rose, and trampling the sweet almond-blossoms under her feet, walked quietly back to the house. music came in sweet, soft gushes from the ball-room, where Beatrice Leigh, in her imperial beauty and Circean grace, was queen. Quietly and slowthe mistress of the house walked through the silent room, where no guests lingered, up to her own room. Who would have recognized in the pale, wearied, heart-broken woman the fresh, dimpled beauty of Violante Temple?

She went to her own room, saying over and over to herself, "It would be better a thousand times if she were dead, and he were free!" CHAPTER XXVII.

Before her, as she stood there in her loneliness and despair, rose the teachings of her youth-the words of the white-robed minister who had trained her to simply love God above all things, and to do right, no matter what the right cost. In her ears sounded again simple, earnest words, grand and sublime prayers, sweet snatches of glorious psalm, the ringing rhyme of the hymn concerning "Jerusalem the Golden." All of good and of holy that she had ever known in her life came back to her in the starlight; the stars themselves seemed like eyes of heaven watching her-watching the fierce struggle between the intense longing for death, and for the knowledge that life was not hers to lay down et will.

If it were not for that—if the law of heaven had not forbidden even the troubled and sorrowful to seek the oblivion of death, Lady Violante Selwyn would gladly have laid down her

What was her life? It stood before the happiness of the man she loved best on earth. Life to her was death What had she to live for? to him! Home love? Ah, no; that had long since passed away. Her husband's love? No; that had either never been Her husband's hers, or it had died a violent death. For her child? No; for he would be taken from her—he would be given over to those whose worldly training fitted them for training him. For her duties? No; she could not fulfill them. "What have I to live for?" moaned the white lips; and then the tired heart answered that death was better than life.

She went to the nursery, where Rupert lay sleeping; the nurse sat by the child's cot, and she looked up in horror at the white, ghastly face of her

'Mrs. Peters," said Lady Violante, "will you go and find the butler? Tell him to see Lorl Selwyn, and say from me that I am tired, and unable to return to the ballroom tonight."

"You look very ill my lady," said the woman. "Is there anything I can do for you?—anything I can get?" Lady Violante thanked her. It was one of this unhappy lady's peculiaritles to be exceedingly kind to everyone about her; and Mrs. Peters went downstairs, thinking to herself that of all

She found the butler, who sought his lordship and delivered his lady's message. Lord Vivian shrugged his shoulders, sent some commonplace message in return, and said it was always the same. "Violante was always ill when there was anything to do."

When the nurse was gone, she knelt down by her sleeping child. She laid her tired head on the white pillow by her tired head on the white pillow by his side. Ah, no! not even for him, her dearest and best beloved, was her life worth preserving. For his dear sake, she would be better dead than living. Dead, people would treat her memory at least with respect; living, they would tell her boy, when he grew older, that she was unfitted to have charge of him—that his father had married beneath him. How could she hear that her precious how her only bear that her precious boy, her only child, should hear such words? Dead, a veil would cover all.

She was not one of those grand, he-roic natures that can suffer all and grow the more noble for the suffering. There was a strong element of self-sacrifice in her character; but here there seemed to be no scope for it. Death for her would be gain, not sac-

She laid her gentle hands on the child's beautiful head; she kissed with the passion of a mother's love the sweet white eyelids, the red, smiling lips, the bonny, bright curls, with gold shining in them. She kissed the white hands that clutched so tightly even in sleep a child's toy; then, in the passion of grief, she prayed aloud that heaven would bless the boy. Little—ah, so little!—dreaming of when and how she would kiss that face again!

There was no settled plan in her mind There was no settled plan in her mind then. From the chaos of her thoughts came only one clear idea, and it was that never again—never again, could she look upon the face of her husband or Beatrice Leigh. Hearing the nurse return, and not caring to be seen, she went back to her own room, and the eyes of the mother fell upon the child's face no more.

Another hour in the starlight, another hour of thought that was almost prayer, and then her resolve was ta-

Not death! She dared not meet the angry face of the Omnipotent. The temptation was trampeled upon, cast under her feet. She would go away— go where her fallings and imperfections would annoy him no more. Go first to her father, Horace Temple, whose only son slept in a hero's grave, and ask him to find for her a retreat—to place her somewhere in solitude and seclusion, where her husband would never dream of looking for her. "Then no need," she said to herself with a bitter cry—"no need for Miss Leigh to go away; they can all be happy when I am gone."

The more she thought of that plan, the wiser it seemed. "Perhaps," she murmured with her white lips, "Heaven will be merciful to me, and let me die soon. Then he can rectify his mistake—he will be free!"

Only one idea tortured her, and that was a hungry, passionate longing to take her child with her. Here justice interfered. She had no right to deprive her son of title and estate, of honor and wealth. The time must come when the bright-eyed boy would be the head of a grand and gallant race. She could not take him from the brilliant future that awaited him, and give him solitude and hard work for his portion. Even should she remain, her son would be lost to her. She knew that he would not be left with her many weeks longer. [To be Continued.]

The man tangled in the tape from the ticker is the type of the average business man. His business cares wrap him about like the coils of a constrictor and slowly crush out his life. The common sign of the business man's slavery is "weak stomach," the natural consequence of the rapid eating, the indigestible pastry, the coffee and pie or doughnuts, with which many a man stuffs his stomach under the name of "quick lunch." The quickest way back to a strong stomach and sound health is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medcal Discovery until perfectly cured. It goes to the root of disease. It removes the cause of ill-health. Many Being Transferred Over From Michigan.

[Detroit Free Press.]

Saginaw, Mich., March 31.-The Georgian Bay district in Ontario has suddenly assumed formidable proportions as a lumber producer, and the output this year will nearly double that of any previous year. This is a matter of general interest to American lumbermen, and particularly so to Michigan men who have invested heavily in timber properties over there and are operating extensively. Three reasons can be attributed as to the cause for the facts stated. The first is the waning of the pine timber interests in Michigan and the investment of Michigan and the invest-ment of Michigan capitalists of large sums of money in Georgian Bay tim-ber, then comes the extraordinary boom in lumber in the American mar-kets last year, and lastly the act of the Ontario Legislature which became operative April 30, 1898, requiring all timber cut from crown lands to be manufactured in the province. This manufactured in the province. act, as is well known, was the result of the provisions of the Dingley tariff imposing a tariff duty of $2 a thousand feet on lumber imported. Prior to the enactment of the McKinley act no Canada logs of consequence came to the States for the reason that the Ontario authorities imposed an export duty of $2 a thousand feet on logs exported in the rough. The McKinley act fixed the import duty on lumber at $1 a thousand feet, and also contained a clause which enabled the secretary of the treasury to double the import duty in the event of discriminating legislation by a foreign country. The result was that the Canadian authorities at once suspended the operation of the export duty provision on logs in the rough. Michigan capitalists at once went into the Georgian Bay district and invested heavily in pine stumpage and began the cutting of timber and rafting of logs to their Michigan mills to be manufactured. The result is shown in the quantity of logs rafted to Michigan mills as follows:

The logs brought over in 1898 were cut prior to April 30 of that year, the date at which the act prohibiting the export of unmanufactured logs became operative. This act does not apply to logs cut on deeded lands or Indian reserve lands, and there came to Michigan mills in 1899 from this source 42,-

The original draft of the Dingley bill contained a clause providing for the doubling of the import duty on imported lumber in the event of discriminating legislation by a foreign country, and also increased the import duty from $1 a thousand under the McKinley act, to $2 a thousand feet. The clause referred to in the Dingley act was cut out by the committee havcharge the measure, and the Canadians were not slow to take advantage of the situation and the act of April 30, 1898, was the result. is claimed by those interested in Canada timber that had not the duty on manufactured lumber in the Ding-ley bill been raised to $2, but allowed to stand as fixed by the McKinley tar-the town. His neighbors threatened to mob him.—Chicago News. The present year it is estimated that the quantity of logs brought from the Georgian Bay district to Michigan will be about the same as last year. ton & Reid, of Cheboygan, will raft about 15,000,000 feet to that place, cut from Indian reserve lands; Pitts & Co., of Bay City, have bought 8,000,-000, and will bring them over; the Saginaw Lumber and Salt Company will bring over about 15,000,000 feet, and some other small lots will be rafted to this side. Another result of the Canadian legislation is the transfer of Michigan lumber mills to Canada. If the timber cannot be brought to Michigan mills to be manufactured, the owners must cut it over there. Last fall the W. & A. McArthur Co., of Cheboygan, bought the McKinnon & Walsh mill at Little Current, Ont., and a large force of men are at work fitting up the plant, which has been idle seven years, for active operations. It will have a capacity of 120,000 feet daily, and the company has put in 20,000,000 feet of ogs there to manufacture during the ensuing summer. The Moulthrop Lumber Company, of Bay City, has pur-chased the Moiles mill on John's Island in Georgian Bay, and it is being fitted up for a big run. It will cut from 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 feet this summer. Edmund Hall, of Detroit, has purchased the plant of the Minor Lumber Company at Alpena, and the mill will be taken to Spanish River, Ont., as soon as navigation opens and set up there. It is calculated this mill will cut 10,000,000 feet of lumber this year.

The Edmund Hall Lumber Company, Detroit, will also erect a saw-mill Sarnia. Ont., and work will begin at once. It will be modern and have capacity of 20,000,000 feet. It is intended to have it ready to start sawing by the middle of July, and the logs will be rafted from Georgian Bay, the company owning 400,000,000 feet of timber in that district. Two new mills are being built at Midland, Ont., and all of the mills at that place will be operated day and night through the season. J. & T. Charlton are rebuilding the Emerson mill at Collingwood, The weather for logging in this district has been favorable, and the output is the largest in the history of Georgian Bay operations. Every firm has a full stock. The lumber output of the Georgian Bay mills for 1900 is estimated at 480,000,000 feet, these figures being obtained from well inform ures being obtained from well-informed lumbermen on the ground. It is expected that fully 100,000,000 feet of lumber manufactured in Georgian Bay will be imported to the Saginaw River Curing the coming season. W. B. Messhan & Co., of Saginaw, have bought 20.000,000 feet of logs of the Arthur Hill Company, which will be manufactured at Midland, Ont., and the lumber brought across the lake to this place. Schuette & Co. have bought 5,000,000 feet to be manufactured over there, and a number of other Saglnaw River lumbermen have made, or will make, purchases of lumber in that district to stock their yards here.

HOROSCOPER HICKS

Gives the Following Forecasts of April Weather.

Hicks, of St. Louis, who claims to be able to foretell the weather from a study of plantetary influence, says:

The regular storm period which was The regular storm period which was central on the last day of March, will finish its course to the eastward side of the continent by about the 3rd, leaving much precipitation behind it in the form of rains to the southward, and sleet and snow over northern parts. Normally much cooler weather and high barometer should follow these storms from early in the period, beginning in the extreme west; but persistent southerly currents, influenced by moon's declination north, will tend to keep up the temperature. It will be safe to count on freezing and many sections, anyway, as the storm area moves east from any locality in the northern half of the Country.

On and touching the 5th and 6th, look for reaction to warmer, fluctuating barometer and marked tendency to April showers and vernal storms. Another change to rising barometer, westerly winds and much cooler will follow these reactionary perturbations.
One of the marked storm periods for the month will fall between the 9th and 14th, and the days in this period of greatest intensity and possible violence will be about Wednesday, the 11th, to Saturday, 14th. The moon is on the celestial equator on the 11th and full on the 14th, so that the warm weather and electrical storms beginning about the 11th will not subside entirely until after moon's opposition on the 14th. Hot, humid air, with low barometer and restless clouds, should be regarded as admonitions of dangerous storms at this period. Change to rising barometer and cool, frosty nights northward, will follow up the track of this period and dominate the weather generally up to about the 16th. On and touching the 17th and 18th the elements will again react into storm conditions. Moon will be at south declination, hence atmospheric tides will be northerly and the temperature will not rise as high as it would with moon at north declination. But temperature will be sufficiently high for the development of April showers, with probability of thunder and hail storms. Look for change to quite cool nights, with probable frosts in many sections on and touching the 19th and 20th. The Vulcan storm period, reaching from the 21st to 26th, will bring an unseasonably warm or hot spell, which will culminate about Monday, the 23rd, to Thursday, the 26th, in very threatening barometer, and vicious rain, thunder and hall storms. We will name Wednesday, the 25th, as the probable crisis of this period. No doubt the Venus influence will be present in these storms and temperature changes, causing tremendous local rains, down pours of hail, vivid lightning and sudden changes to almost cold—quite so in extreme northern sections, with frosts extending far towards the Southern States. Storms of tornadic character need not surprise anyone during these general perturbations. During the three last days of April reactionary storm conditions will develop and pass eastward across country, resulting in another fall of barometer, rise of temperature and renewed showers.

A Piano Trade Omen.

With the splendid growth in Canadian commerce, people are no longer satisfied with the commoner articles, which of necessity they may have had to use when money was scarce. No better barometer of the improved conditions exists than the large demand there is this year for a high-class plane like that made by the old firm of Heintzman & Co. Everyone knows they can possibly spare the money that a first-class piano is the cheapes in the end. A concrete illustration of what this means was witnessed by a representative of this paper a few days since, when there was sent out from the warerooms of Heintzman & Co., King street west, Toronto, three of their beautiful baby grand pianos, addressed to prominent citizens in three different parts of the country. One was going to Mr. E. G. Sills, ex-M.P.P., Belleville. The second was to one of the most prominent citizens of Middlesex, Mr. McKillop, of Lucan; and a third to George E. Coleman, London. Each of these instruments was finished in fine mahogany, in some of the newest and most artistic designs. Like all the baby grands of this firm, the tone was distinctive as the Heintzman & .Co. tone. London warerooms of Heintzman are at 217 Dundas street.

A medal has been received by Squire J. B. Smyth, 133 Dundas street, it being granted him by the militia department for his services as lieutenant in medal for participation in the quelling of the Northwest rebellion in '85, when he served as quartermaster in the Seventh Battalion. That the squire but followed the tradition of his family in thus taking an active part in the fense of his country is evidenced by the fact that his father, Capt. John Smyth, served through the Peninsular var, and was present at the battle of Waterloo, for which he received two medals. A. G. Smyth, the squire's brother, has also received a medal for serving as brigade quartermaster in

LAST OF THE SEASON. The sixth and last twilight organ recital of the season was given by Mr. Hewlett on Saturday afternoon. The church was well filled with an appreciative audience, who were delighted alike by Mr. Hewlett's soulful inter-pretations of the masters of music, and Mrs. Mackelcan's moving rendition of sacred song. The programme was: Sonata, No. 2 (Mendelssohn), Mas: Soliata, No. 2 (Methods S Villanelle, op. 64, March in E flat (Th. Salome), Prayer and Cradle Song (R. Huntingdon Woodman), Mr. Hewlett; song, "There Were Ninety and Nine," and encore, Mrs. Mackelcan: Berceuse (lullaby), Tempo di Minuetto (Alexandre Guilmant), Marcia Villereccia (Pl. LOYALISTS IN NATAL.

Mrs. Joseph Farr, of Bruce street. has received a letter from her niece, Miss Bowers, of Ashton Home, near Pietermaritzburg, Natal, describing the death of Mrs. Farr's nephew, Walter Bowers, at Spion Kop. Two other nephews are in Thorneycroft's Horse, and two living farther up country were pri-soners of war in Pretoria for several months. Miss Bowers tells of the severe hardships suffered by the loyalists of Natal. Their property, she says, has been wantonly wrecked by the Dutch. Crops and orchards were in many cases ruined. The Bowerses lost several hundred head of sheep and cattle that were driven on by the Boers. "This has been a terrible war," she writes, "but Natal colonists have suffered the most. How many homes are mourning dear and loved ones, and before the close many a one will be laid in a soldier's grave. Scarcely a home in Natal but has someone in the fighting ranks. How eagerly the lists of killed and wounded are scanned, dreading every moment to see the name of a dear one. A STORY OF ESCAPE the Boers-Robbed and Maltreated. In the Wellington Street Methodist Church last night, Rev. Dr. Livingstone preached to a very large congregation. Dr. Livingstone is a Canadian who has spent the past five years in South Africa, and as a large portion of this time was passed in districts that since have become famous, his story is absorbingly interesting. For two and a half years he lived in Ladysmith, and describes graphically the scene of the famous siege. Thence he went to Innavuma, Zululand, where he was worknavuma, Zululand, where he was working among the natives, when the present war broke out. Although a missionary, he was taken prisoner by the Boers, 300 of whom visited the town, and his house was robbed and burned, as also were the government buildings. He was afterwards treated with extreme cruelty. One night, while guarded by four armed Boers and with the ed by four armed Boers, and with the balance of the commando walking about, the doctor suddenly jumped and he arrived on Jan. 27.

Many will recognize the familiar name of Mr. James Westbrook, the genial landlord of days gone by. Mr. Westbrook now resides at 781 King street, and he says he knows something about DR. PITCHER'S BACK-ACHE KIDNEY TABLETS that the papers are talking about. This is the way he talks:
"I was having an annoying lameness

the Seventh Battalion in the invasion in the small of my back, and there of '66. Squire Smyth also possesses a was a dull pain over my kidneys. I read about those tablets, and they seemed just what I required. I went to C. McCallum & Co.'s drug store, corner Dundas and Richmond streets, and got them; they proved the very remedy required. I am over the whole

Many of our acquaintances will remember how much Mrs. Westbrook bas suffered. Though always about she was subject to dull headaches, pains across the loins, inactive kidneys, and an overpowering languor. There was a sense of weariness al-ways. Since using DR. PITCHER'S BACKACHE KIDNEY TABLETS she has become so invigorated that she feels no annoyance from pains and lameness, her kidneys perform their functions promptly, and she does not suffer from indigestion. Yes, I know that those tablets are reliable;

they have exceeded my expectations."
"Oh, yes; DR. PITCHER'S BACK-ACHE KIDNEY TABLETS did me a great deal of good, indeed," said Mrs. George Taylor, residing at No. 256 Talbot street, when our reporter called to ascertain if those tablets had been as effective in her case as in others that had used them. She added: "I am over my backache; I no longer have those tiresome headaches in the top of my head. I am now perfectly free from any kidney annoyances; Pitcher's Tablets acted like a ances; Pitcher's Tablets acted like a charm in that respect; they proved a thorough kidney invigorator. Nothing that I ever had before would give me perfect freedom from that constant backache so quickly as those tablets. It requires very few to accomplish this desirable condition. I am not alone in this house that indorses DR. PITCHER'S BACKACHE KIDNEY TABLETS. Others speak of them as TABLETS. Others speak of them as highly as I do. I have some still remaining of the bottle that I procured from C. McCallum & Co., the druggists. I did not finish them, as I felt that I did not require any more medicine."

A BUFFALO YARN

Canadian Militia May Receive a Sud den Summons.

The Buffalo Sunday Express says: "At some date within the next few weeks (no notice will be given of the day), an order will be wired from Ottawa for a number of Ontario corps to defend the Niagara frontier from an attack by Uncle Sam's army. Infantry, rifles, cavalry and artillery will be called out. This will be no skeleton army. Officers of regiments will be as much in the dark as their men as to the time the call will come, and as to the number of troops required. It will be a practical lesson in mobilization and a practical test of the Canadian militia officers' resourcefulness in meeting an emergency. all-important matters of immediate transportation, adequate supplies and immediate. proper equipment will be a part of the lesson to be well learned, and reports will be required from all those taking part, so that the militia department will be informed as to the comparative capabilities of the officers. and as to the success or failure of the experiment. Most interesting to those along the Niagara frontier will be the presence of the British troops on ground made historic nearly 100 years ago. Fort Erie is to be occupied again, and Lundy's Lane will reecho with the shouts of charging soldiers and the roar of artillery. It will be made as realistic as mimic war can be, and if the people of Buffalo should be awakened some fine April morning by the boom of cannon across the river they will understand that it is not an army of invasion at our doors, but a peaceful nation practicing at war in the interests of peace. There may be a suggestion in it for our local regiments. FACTS. The Canadian patriotic fund now amounts to $222,256. The Ottawa Bricklayers' and Mas-ons' Union have decided to offer the service of as many men as may be needed to build the proposed me-morial monument in Ottawa, and the men will do the work without charging any money. The union has several members in South Africa with the Canadian contingent. A Toronto dispatch says: Up to Saturday only four young men have applied to Sergt.-Major Pearson, of A Battery, Kingston, for enlistment in the R. C. A., but the sergeant-major is in no way disconcerted at the limit-ed number of applicants.

Mosa township council has made a grant of $10 to the Canadian patriotic fund, and it is expected that Ekfrid and Glencoe councils will do likewise.
