

HUNDREDS KILLED IN MEXICO WHEN SOLDIERS FIRE AT CROWD

Terrible Loss of Life in Fight at Zacatecas.

CITY IS UNDER MILITARY RULE

Bands of Mexicans Reported To Be Gathering at Many Points.

[Associated Press.]
El Paso, Texas, Nov. 21.—One hundred persons were killed in rioting which took place at Zacatecas in the interior of Mexico, opposite Tampico, Saturday night, according to reports received here. Soldiers fired into the struggling body of rioters with disastrous effect. One hundred is the lowest estimate of the loss of life, which may reach five hundred.

The American consular agent at San Antonio, stating that the town was in a state of terror, and that the loss of life was not less than one hundred. No details were given out here, except that a company of soldiers were ordered to fire upon a vast crowd of rioters which thronged the streets.

Zacatecas is the capital of the state of Zacatecas in Central Mexico, about 500 miles from the United States line. News of the riots did not reach the outside world until late Sunday, although the battle took place Saturday night. It is stated that quiet has now been restored by placing the city under rigid military rule. The latest reports are that the slain are still lying in the street.

Attacks Reported.
El Paso, Texas, Nov. 21.—Reports that bands of Mexicans had crossed the river at different points cannot be verified.

County officers and United States river guards state they have no positive information of trouble, but have heard rumors of an invasion and attacks at different points.

It is reported that riots have taken place at Alamez, 70 miles south, in Mexico, and several have been killed there. The report is unconfirmed.

A Big Fight.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 21.—A dispatch from Del Rio, Texas, on the Mexican border, 250 miles east of El Paso, states that a battle of a fight which is supposed to have taken place near here early last night.

Henri Bourassa

TO SIR WILFRID

Nationalist Leader Replies to the Open Letter of the Premier.

MAKES WILD CHARGES

Goes Back to the Campaign of 1896 and Resurrects Alleged Election Crises.

Montreal, Nov. 21.—Henri Bourassa attaches his own signature to a reply in Le Devoir to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's letter to La Presse. He says:

"Commandant Fortin may be the father of the Canadian navy. That is possible; but Sir Wilfrid's navy is only Canadian in time of peace; it is imperial in time of war. Mr. Fielding proclaimed it, Laurier admitted it, Mr. McKenna, first lord of the admiralty, confirmed it, and so did Mr. Broderick and Sir Frederick Borden. And this is what constitutes the difference between the navy of Commander Fortin and the navy of Commander Laurier, which is absolutely imperial."

May Play With Facts.

"Mr. Laurier may play with history by going back to 1852, but he will cause no one to forget that fifty years after Wilfrid Laurier declared that for Canada to adopt the policy he championed today would be a crime and a suicide. Sir Wilfrid Laurier treats as demagogues those of his opponents who speak of coming conscription, but as an advocate and doctor of laws he must know that the forced enrollment of sailors flourished in England scarcely (Continued on Page Eight)

PUBLICITY AGENT
RESIGNS POSITION

Mr. Carruthers Decides to Devote
Time to Business.

Publicity Agent Carruthers has handed in his resignation, and it will be considered by the council tonight. "I have business interests which will yield me better returns than my present situation," said Mr. Carruthers. "I am not quitting because of any difference with the aldermen, but merely because I can do much better elsewhere."

It is understood that the council will accept the resignation. The appointment of a successor will go over to next year's council.

SUDDEN DEATH AT CHATHAM.

Chatham, Nov. 20.—Walking on the street with her 19-year-old daughter, Mrs. Hock, aged about 60, was taken suddenly ill on Saturday night. The little girl gave the alarm at the police station; Dr. Charteris was summoned, but the woman lived only a few moments. Heart trouble, aggravated by rapid walking after a hearty supper, was the cause of death.

AMERICANS IN BRITISH ELECTIONS

Unionists Are Dragging Them Into Controversy for Political Purposes.

HOT AFTER THE IRISH

Conservatives Are Trying To Raise the old Bugaboo of Home Rule Dangers.

London, Nov. 19.—Americans will probably resent being compelled to play an unwilling but important part in the greatest political campaign which has disturbed the modern history of the British Empire. There are many in this country who believe that the American role will prove a decisive factor in the coming election. That role, nevertheless, is a false one in every representative sense.

It has been heralded throughout the country during the past few days by the Unionist leaders and pressed by the press, constitutional crisis has been forced to a premature conclusion solely by the dictatorship of Redmond and that his dictatorship has been made possible only by the backing of American dollars. He is the "black angel," to use Premier Asquith's friendly phrase, who threatens the British constitution by means of American support. The "dollar prince," he has been dubbed by the other side, and even Mr. Balfour expressed his resentment that a man without loyalty to the empire should be permitted to influence British institutions with the aid of foreign gold.

Sentiment Causes Surprise.
All Americans know, of course, that Redmond's fund is almost exclusively from Irish-American and Canadian pockets. Tell an Englishman that American sympathy with the Irish causes is limited to the modest aspiration that Ireland shall receive such a degree of home rule as will enable her to govern herself. LONDON BAPTIST CHURCH CALLS BELFAST DIVINE

Adelaide Street Congregation Extends Invitation to Rev.
J. H. Boyd.

A unanimous call has been extended by the members of the Adelaide Street Baptist Church to Rev. J. H. Boyd, president-elect of the Baptist Home Mission Society of Ireland. The call will be presented to Mr. Boyd in person today.

Rev. J. H. Boyd is preaching in this country at the present time in aid of the Baptists of Ireland. He was in this city a week or so ago and conducted special services in Adelaide Street Church and Talbot Street Baptist Church. Rev. Mr. Boyd has been connected with mission work in Ireland for some years, and resides in Belfast. He is the founder of the open-air meetings which are held by the Baptists in that country, and which were subject to such severe treatment at the hands of mobs. He is a splendid speaker, and an able preacher.

The vacancy in the pulpit of this church was caused by the removal of Rev. T. T. Shields to Jarvis Street Baptist Church, of Toronto.

A NEW STORY
ON WEDNESDAY

The Tracy story running in The Advertiser will conclude tomorrow. On Wednesday the first installment of another story will begin. It will be of a different type. The name of the author, Bertha M. Clay, is known to millions. "The Daughter of a Prodigal," her latest work, has not yet been published in book form. The serial rights have been secured from her agents by The Advertiser. It is a lively and exhilarating work, a clean and pure romance.

GOT SIX MONTHS.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 21.—Police Magistrate Fraser this morning sentenced James Webster, porter at the Arlington Hotel here, to six months in the common jail for appropriating a quantity of liquor and provisions to his own use. The man pleaded guilty to the charge.

KING CONGRATULATES SIR WILFRID

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Nov. 21.—The text of the birthday message, which Sir Wilfrid received from King George, is as follows:
"Windsor, Nov. 20.
"Right Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, K. C. M. G., Ottawa:
"Please accept my sincere congratulations on your sixtieth birthday. May you be blessed with many more years of health and prosperity."
("Signed) GEORGE R. I."

ASK THE CITY TO GUARANTEE $150,000 OF TRACTION BONDS

London and Northwestern Will Present an Application Tonight—
City Is Offered the Sulphur Baths For $16,000.

There will be many applications for fixed assessments at tonight's meeting of the city council, three applications, in addition to those already in hand, having been received since the special meeting. They are from E. Leonard & Sons, Wortman & Ward, London Brass Foundry Company, and the London Foundry Company.
A proposition to purchase the mineral bath at the foot of Dundas street will be submitted. The whole property will be offered for $16,000, or the baths alone for $4,000. The first proposition includes practically all the land on Thames street from Dundas to York street. It may be submitted in the form of a bylaw to the people.
Then there will be the application of the London and Northwestern Railway to have the city guarantee $150,000 worth of bonds for fifteen years. A debate will probably follow on this.
A Proposed Bridge.
The bylaw asking the citizens to set aside $50,000 for a bridge on the Wharfedale road, joining West and South London, will be given two readings.
A communication will be sent in from City Clerk Baker suggesting that six new polling divisions be added to the city, and it will be sent to the finance committee. In addition, there will be bylaws naming the polling places, the deputy returning officers, and the clerks.
John M. Parsons will have a letter from the Real Estate, asking the council to institute commission government. Something will be done shortly in this matter, it is thought.
The notice of motion given by Ald. Underwood at the last meeting, that the services of Building Inspector Graydon be dispensed with, is sure to start some warm arguments.
The purchase of the Canadian Fire Engine Company's machine will be recommended that the engine be bought, provided it will stand a satisfactory test.
It looks like a busy night.

ENGINE ON FAST G. T. R. EXPRESS WAS DITCHED NEAR CHATHAM

The International Limited Had Close Call for Very Bad Wreck at Diamond—The Tender and Coach Were Also Off the Track.

Windsor, Nov. 19.—Hon. J. O. Reame, Ald. H. J. McKay, John T. Reynolds and A. G. Roberts, of this city, passengers on board the Grand Trunk International Limited from Toronto, due here at 10:45 last night, from London, had a narrow escape, when about two miles this side of Chatham the train ran off the derailed, where the C. P. R. crosses the Grand Trunk, landing the large engine, the coal tender and combination car in the ditch, but luckily on account of the slowness of speed at which they were travelling at the time, other serious damage was averted. The engine, tender and car have not yet been replaced, and the passengers were obliged to wait until 3 a.m., coming home on a Wabash train.
The passengers received a slight shake-up, but no one was hurt, not even the engineer, Edward Hardman, of Toronto, who went down the bank with the engine. The engine did not turn completely over, but rested on its side. Further catastrophe was averted by the fact that Hardman had complete control of his engine, and applied the emergency brake at the proper time.
At the time the accident happened the train was moving slowly. It was stated that the light on the semaphore was out, which was the sign to stop. The engineer slowed up, but did not stop, it appearing that he received a hand signal to come ahead.
The tender and coach, which were left on the track, arrived at Windsor this morning, being brought in by No. 21, due here at 10:16. It was an hour late on account of having to pick up the two cars, the trucks of the front one in which the Windsor men were riding, being off the track.

MAYOR WOULD MAKE RATES UNDER THOSE OF COMPETITOR

Proposes That Discount On Domestic Lighting Be 25 Per Cent
Instead of 10 Per Cent, But Board Decides That Present Figure Is Lowest Possible.

At the meeting of the water commissioners held on Saturday afternoon Mayor Beattie moved that the discount for domestic lighting be 25 per cent, instead of 10 per cent, the present rate. "My object in making the motion is this," explained his worship. "We are in this game with competition. How serious that competition will be, the future alone will show. In a business fight, the object should be to get rid of the opposition as soon as possible. Let us cut our rates lower than the very best of the London Electric can offer. Let us get down below them, so that there will be no uncertainty as to who is furnishing the cheapest light. I do not think the city's is the cheapest at the present time."
Chairman Pocock thought the present rate was as low as they could give just now.
"We are running our own business," he stated. "We need not worry about the city's rates. We are selling our own goods and we should go our own way, paying no more attention to them than if they never existed."
"They could not offer competition very long if they were compelled to bring their rates down much lower," commented his worship. "If it is a fight, let us go right at it."
"My own bill for a year show that at 5 cents a kilowatt, the London Electric is underselling the city," declared Mr. Beattie. "My case is by no means isolated. We should meet by prices, and go them one better if necessary to obtain control of the business. When we have a monopoly we can adjust the price to meet the cost."
A statement was shown in which it was proved that the cost of power to the city was a fraction over 1 cent a kilowatt, leaving the city a balance of 2 cents to work on.
Commissioner Darch stated that he was furnishing the city with light, and he was willing to discuss it at length. He took the stand, however, that the city should meet the competition.
The board decided to allow the rates to remain as they are at the present time.
"We will come out all right," declared Chairman Pocock.
Those present at the meeting were: Chairman Philip Pocock, Commissioners John H. Chapman, William Wyatt, F. J. Darch, Mayor Beattie, Head Engineer Van Cleave, Manager Dark and Secretary Elliott.

POLICE MAY LAY ANOTHER CHARGE AGAINST JAS. BATES

James Bates, committed for trial by Magistrate Love on a charge of criminal neglect laid by his 17-year-old wife, appeared before Judge Macbeth at the court house at noon, pleaded not guilty, and was remanded until one week from Thursday next, when his case will be heard before a judge without a jury in accordance with his election.
All the evidence will have to be heard again, and it is expected the case will last several hours. It is reported that the police have a new card to play that may result in the laying of another charge against the prisoner. Evidence to support this is being gathered today, it is said.

GRAFT CHARGES OBJECT TO SONGS

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Calgary, Nov. 21.—At a meeting of the technical education commission it was reported that American settlers, through their children at the public schools here, object to the singing of such British patriotic songs as "Rule, Britannia." In reply to a question by Hon. Mr. Armstrong, Inspector Boyce said: "The singing of such songs is not insisted upon, and when objection was raised these songs were dropped."
"Yes, that's right, we want peace," concluded Mr. Armstrong.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER,
Who Yesterday Celebrated His 69th Birthday.

RURAL DEANERY SELECTS RECTOR OF ST. JOHNS

The Rev. W. T. Hill, M. A.
Elected to Succeed Late Canon Dann.

A meeting of the Rural Deanery of East Middlesex was held this morning in Bishop Cronyn Hall at 11:30 for the purpose of electing a rural dean to succeed the late Canon Dann. Bishop Williams presided, and those present were Dean Davis, Canon Smith, Canon Hague, Rev. W. T. Hill, Rev. T. B. Clarke, Principal Walker, Prof. Jenkins, Rev. A. L. Clarke, Rev. H. Sutton (Dorchester), and Rev. G. B. F. Doherty.
On the first ballot the vote was not clear, and the second and third resulted in a tie between Rev. W. T. Hill, M. A., rector of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, and Rev. G. B. Sage, Rector of St. George's Church, West London. It was then announced that Rev. Dr. Sage did not desire election, and on his withdrawal Rev. W. T. Hill received the honor. His election was then declared unanimous and he was appointed by Bishop Williams.

Crippen's Petition Was Refused

[Associated Press.]
London, Nov. 21.—Dr. Crippen's petition for a reprieve was denied today, the home secretary announcing that he declined to interfere with the sentence of the court. Crippen will be executed on the morning of Nov. 23.

NEW ENGINEER NAMED BY WATER COMMISSION

Mr. Willis McLachlan, of Dundas, Appointed to Succeed
Mr. Lyons.

Mr. Willis McLachlan, of Dundas, one of the engineers of the hydro-electric commission, was engaged today by the water commissioners as an electrical engineer, and he will take charge of the three stations—the Horton, Street, the Springbank, and the East End substation, until such a time as there are sufficient operators instructed in the work to run the different plants. When that is done, he will have supervision of all falls of water in the province.
His salary will be $1,500 per annum.
In answer to the board's request on Saturday, Mr. McLachlan arrived in the city at noon today, and looked over the plants. He met the board at noon, and after a short conference, he agreed to come to London.
There was difficulty in coming to an early date.
Mr. H. Frayne, who installed the producer gas plant at C. S. Hyman & Co.'s, was appointed an assistant, and he will be in charge of the pumps and gas system at the Horton station.
Other minor matters of business were discussed. Those present were Chairman Pocock, Commissioners F. J. Darch, John H. Chapman, William Wyatt, Mayor Beattie, Head Engineer Van Cleave, Manager Dark and Secretary Elliott.

HUSBAND FOUND AFTER 14 YEARS

Confronted by London Wife, He Again Disappears in an American City.

A VERY STRANGE STORY

Man Said He Was Quite Willing to Allow Matters to Remain as They Are.

The strange story of a London lady locating her husband in a western city after nearly fifteen years, during which time he was given up as dead, and of his subsequent denial of her when unexpectedly confronted, is contained in information received here Saturday by relatives of the couple.
According to the story they were married some twenty years ago here and had one child. He was the son of a London hotel proprietor, and was well known in business, while her relatives were also quite prominent.
Fourteen Years Ago.
Fourteen years ago he was last heard of when a letter was received stating that he was seriously ill in a hospital in a Michigan town.
Goods and money were sent to him but he was not heard of from that time until a week ago. The wife, with the child, went to Chicago after his disappearance and resided with brothers supporting herself and the baby. Another brother lived in Portland, Me., and she was about to go there when she started for that city on a visit. On her return she passed through St. Paul, stopping over to visit a family of former Londoners, who left a couple of years ago. It developed that some person had heard of the husband, who made his home in a boarding-house in that city.
Husband Confronted.
A few days ago the wife went to the place and confronted her husband. At first, it is said, he denied knowing anything of her, but later claimed that he thought she was dead. However, the conversation ended abruptly and he left the place explaining that he was quite satisfied to allow things to remain as they are.
The wife has been returned to Chicago and is said to be willing to forget her experience.

SIR WILFRID WAS 69 ON SUNDAY

Canada's Premier Celebrated Another Birthday Anniversary
at Ottawa.

HIS VIGOR IS UNIMPAIRED

Quiet and Kindly in Manner, He Is the Ideal Host to Visitors.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Nov. 21.—On Sunday Sir Wilfrid Laurier celebrated his 69th birthday, and political friends and enemies alike wished him "many happy returns of the day."

It never sounds quite right to refer to Sir Wilfrid as the Grand Old Man, even though Father Time himself insists that 69 years have slipped away since he opened his eyes in the lovely little village of Arthursville, in the little town of Chatham, Ontario, when he was first taken ill. His wife was with him at the time of his death. "Throughout a heartbreaking night a motley crowd, made up of the most varied elements imaginable, pressed around the low hut. These were distant relatives of the aged aristocrat, the village, and many churchmen, among them the Abbot of Chateaufort, who had been with him until the end of seeing Tolstoy and extending to him the olive branch on behalf of the church.
All alike stood spellbound, knowing that a matchless personality was departing as the Sunday dawn dispelled the foggy, raw November night. Virtually the whole population of Chatham was there. Then a voice from the hut came quietly: "Leo Nicholasievitch is dead."
There was a moment of silence. Then every head was bowed and there were sobs everywhere, of sobbing.
One called out: "His heart was burst by his unbounded love for humanity," and this and similar phrases ran from mouth to mouth through the weeping Russians gathered there.
Peasants View Body.
Later in the day all the peasants in the district flocked here. Nona was excluded from the death chamber, through which there was a constant stream of visitors, including many school children. The chamber was decorated with pine branches. The body has been given permission to photograph the body if they wish. At Chateaufort, the sculptor, will take a death mask.
It is stated that Tolstoy expressed a wish to be buried on the hill at Yasnaya Polyana where he played as a child, but that the funeral should be held at Chatham. (Continued on Page Three).

GET NAME ON LIST CITY CLERK URGES

Will Keep His Office Open Tomorrow Night for the Purpose.

City Clerk Baker will be in his office on Tuesday evening from 7:30 to 9 p.m., to give those whose names may have been omitted from the voters' list an opportunity of having them put on. During the year a large number of people move, and in the change of residence it often happens that several names are left off. We can make corrections up to Nov. 23, and in order to be accommodated those who find it impossible to get down in the day, the office will be open tomorrow night. It is important that all who wish to have their names added to the list should see me," said Mr. Baker.

FOR THE "DEATHS"

Essex County Man Left Charity to Calvinists and Lutherans.

Windsor, Nov. 19.—Joseph Paine, of the Township of Merse, Essex County, left the "remainder" of his estate to be disposed of in a way that is not very clear. The clause ran:
"The remainder I want I sent to the Bible and Tract Society, to be given to the poor and to the hearings of the Calvinistic and Lutheran doctrine."
The Upper Canada Bible Society and the Upper Canada Religious Tract and Book Society both lay claim to the remainder. Chief Justice Meredith raised the question as to whether it was not outside their charter right to distribute charity, and reserved judgment.

MEDS AND FACULTY MEET TOMORROW

Conference Arranged to Settle Trouble Over Recent Row.

STUDENTS TO APOLOGIZE

Must Be Good in Future on Pain of Losing Their Entire Year.

The first and second year students are still absenting themselves from lectures at the Medical School at the request of the faculty.
There was a meeting of the governing body on Saturday night, when the situation was discussed at some length. A request was received from the students asking that they be allowed to state their side of the case and it was decided to hold a meeting on Tuesday morning in the classroom, at which all the students and members of the faculty will be present.
It is understood that there was a discussion as to what punishment should be meted out.
Some wanted the students to be placed under heavy bonds to keep the peace. However, the general impression was that the suspension had cooled the ardor of the youths, and henceforth there would be an absence of rows such as that of last week. The students will likely be admitted to lectures by making suitable apologies, and guaranteeing on pain of losing their year to refrain from any further demonstration.
"We did not decide upon anything except this," said Dr. Waugh, the registrar. "We will hold a meeting on Tuesday, at which the students will be present, and the question will be settled at that meeting. We did not dispose of the trouble, but merely arranged for the meeting."

COUNT LEO TOLSTOI DIES AT ASTAPOVA

His Wife Was With Him When the End the End Came.

HEART WAS WEAKENED

Constant Stream of Peasants Gathered Around Hut to See Him.

[Associated Press.]
Astapova, Russia, Nov. 20.—Early this morning Count Leo Tolstoy died in the little hut in which he lived when he was first taken ill. His wife was with him at the time of his death.

"Throughout a heartbreaking night a motley crowd, made up of the most varied elements imaginable, pressed around the low hut. These were distant relatives of the aged aristocrat, the village, and many churchmen, among them the Abbot of Chateaufort, who had been with him until the end of seeing Tolstoy and extending to him the olive branch on behalf of the church.

NOT READY FOR TEST

Niagara Energy Not Turned on Today
as Expected.

Niagara power has not yet been turned on at the transformer station on Hamilton road.
It was expected that a test would be made today, but the machinery was not quite ready. A start will be made this week, however, and in all probability will be witnessed by the local commission.
The line into the city distribution station will be completed in a day or two.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

A Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings. A formation of gases, causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headaches, sickle appetite, nervousness and a general played out, languid feeling. There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition.

The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily, thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach. To secure a prompt and healthy digestion is the one necessary thing to do when normal digestion is secured the catarrhal condition will have disappeared.

According to Dr. Harlanston, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Distas, Ascorbic Pepsin, a little Nux, Golden Seal and fruit acids. These tablets can now be found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety and assurance that healthy appetite and thorough digestion will follow their regular use after meals.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but today I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found flesh, appetite and sound rest from their use."

ROYALIST STRUCK PREMIER BRIAND

French Premier Reels Under Two Blows in the Face.

Paris, Nov. 20.—Imposing national ceremonies in the Tuilleries Gardens Sunday in connection with the dedication of a statue erected to the memory of Jules Ferry, the French statesman, were marred by an assault on Premier Briand, who, while walking with President Fallieres, was struck twice in the mouth by a royalist. The premier was not seriously hurt.

The vast crowd which had gathered in the garden set on the premier's assailant and only after a determined intervention by guards saved him from being beaten to death. The incident occurred at the conclusion of the exercises, which were attended by thousands.

President Fallieres, M. Briand, and the other ministers were walking toward the statue when a man broke through the Republican Guards that lined the road, leaped to M. Briand's side, and raising his clenched fists high in the air, brought them with full force upon the premier's face.

Reels, But Does Not Fall. M. Briand, reeling under the blows, but did not fall. As friends rushed up to assist him, he cried: "I am all right; we must protect my assailant."

The very audacity of the assault rendered the crowd momentarily speechless, but a shout of anger and cries of "Kill him!" arose quickly from all sides, as men fought their way to lay hands on the assailant. He was kicked and beaten and badly injured before the Republican Guards urged on by the premier rescued him. The man was taken before a magistrate and gave the name of Lacour. He said he was a member of the executive committee of the "Camelots du Roi," an organization of young royalists, and that he wished to strike at the republic in the person of Briand.

Associates Honor Lacour. The "Camelots du Roi" met Sunday night and unanimously elected Lacour vice-president of the association in token of their sympathy and admiration of his exploit.

The statue to M. Ferry was erected by the public school children of France and the colonies, two million of whom each contributed 1 cent. The ceremonies, while honoring M. Ferry, as a statesman and upholder of the colonies, especially honored him as father of the public houses of France. A golden book, containing the names of the two million subscribers, was placed in a receptacle beneath the

EMANCIPATION LODGE GETS TOGETHER AGAIN

But Under a New Name—Its Aim and Objects Seem To Be the Same.

Montreal, Nov. 19.—"I do not want to dare authority. I recognize the right of bishop or priest to defend his flock, but I certainly do deny their right to interdict anyone simply because he does not happen to attend church. We must, however, respect them."

"I have preached in a Presbyterian Church, and the minister told me that I might have gone a little further than the average minister, but what I said was all right—in the main. I was not invited to preach in a Catholic Church? Possibly it is because we have no tales of ceiling piercing or highway robbery to relate."

The above are samples of the declarations made by Gustave France at a meeting of the Cercle Alpha Omega, an organization composed in part of members of the late Emancipation Lodge, who style themselves "Free Thinkers of an advanced type."

The meeting was noisy throughout, and anti-religious references received unlimited applause. At the conclusion of the meeting, the members adopted calling upon the mayor and aldermen to put a speedy end to the conduct of Lemieux, who was going about the city and fanning into flame the embers of the religious war.

ENGLAND IS BUYING CANADIAN FLOUR

Imports Show Big Increase in Last Few Years.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—J. M. Mussen, Canada's trade commissioner at Leeds, England, reports as follows: In the small space of three years, 1907-1909, the imports of flour into this country from the United States have fallen by no less than 2,800,000 cwt., those from Austria-Hungary by 322,000 cwt., and those from France by 189,000 cwt. While the imports from these and other countries are either stationary, or are showing a gradual decline year by year, it must be gratifying to Canadian millers to learn that on the other hand the Dominion shows a material increase, having risen from 1,430,420 cwt. in 1907 to 2,059,400 cwt. in 1909.

It is most interesting to observe the increasing popularity in this district of Canada's native game of lacrosse, which is now regularly played each week-end by numerous city and suburban clubs. That the game is being taken up in earnest is shown by the fact that lacrosse sticks are now taking a prominent place in the shops of local outfitters. In this connection it is gratifying to see the goods made by an Ontario firm well in evidence.

PERFECT SKELETONS OF THE STONE AGE

Prehistoric Human Remains of Priceless Value, Found in Bedfordshire.

London, Nov. 20.—A remarkable discovery of the skeletons of a man and woman belonging to the stone age, which antiquarians consider of priceless value, has just been made at Astwick, in Bedfordshire. Some workmen were laying a conduit near the line of the bed of the river Great Ouse, when they came across the skeletons. They were examined by Dr. Waddell, a well known antiquary, who at once gave it as his opinion that they belonged to the neolithic period and were of great importance to the world of science.

The male is believed to have been a chieftain, and he must have been a man of magnificent physique, as the skeleton measured six feet six inches, while the head is massive. The woman was laid at right angles to the man, with her feet resting against the side of his body. Apparently when he died she had been slain and buried with him, according to prehistoric custom. Both skeletons are complete and in a good state of preservation, due to the nature of the soil. There ultimate resting place will in all probability be the British Museum.

ELEPHANT SAVED A THOUSAND LIVES

People Were Cut Off by Sudden Rise in River.

The Pioneer of Allahabad, India, says: As there were many wild bazaar rumors about the disaster at the bathing festival at Sorong in the Agri division I have interviewed the proper authorities and obtained the following particulars: Thousands of pilgrims had camped on a strip of land which had never before been flooded within memory of the oldest residents. On Sunday night, Oct.

London, Nov. 20.—Has William R. Hearst, owner of the New York American and other yellow papers in the United States, at last entered English journalism by the back door?

For some years there have been persistent reports that he would establish a newspaper in London, and recently he was in this city, and the report was revived. Now the Weekly Budget, a small publication published in a back street of London, has suddenly changed its form and makes its appeal to the public dressed in many of the familiar journalistic clothes which have become identified with the American editor's name.

Possibly, if Hearst is really behind the Weekly Budget, it is being used as a feeder. The British public is a difficult thing to gauge, and even a Hearst might be doubtful of his ability to guess what it will like. The Weekly Budget publishes the different Hearst features and a careful note is made of the way in which they are received by the readers. This is no very difficult matter because the English readers of a newspaper are constant correspondents and freely express their opinions to the editors of the papers they read.

When Harnsworth advertised that there would be a Sunday edition of the Daily Mail no less than 200,000 protests were received from readers. The editors of the papers they read, the project was abandoned. Harnsworth knew his public, however, and quietly bought up the Weekly Dispatch, which was being published on Sunday and put his ideas into that. The British public never made a protest.

A glance over the Weekly Budget reveals the New York American humor in color. This must be printed in New York and shipped over here, because the newspaper color press has not yet made its appearance in London. Besides the Crippen confession, there are several of the American magazine section features which are very evidently sent across the Atlantic in matrix form. The Lina Cavalieri beauty hints, which have long been appearing in New York, occupy the back page, and Arthur Brisbane, Dorothy Dix, and Beatrice Fairfax are on hand to tell us how to glide through life without the customary bumps and jolts.

There is considerable prejudice in England against the Americans and American schemes. Possibly Hearst figures on disarming this feeling by entering the field in stocking feet, so to speak.

WAS TERRIBLY AFFLICTED WITH LAME BACK.

COULD NOT SWEEP FLOOR.

Three Boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Her.

It is hard to do housework with a weak and aching back. Backache comes from sick kidneys, and what a lot of trouble sick kidneys cause.

But they can't help it. If more work is put on them than they can stand it is not to be wondered they get out of order.

Weak back is simply a warning from the kidneys and should be attended to immediately so as to avoid years of terrible suffering from kidney trouble.

Mrs. N. Larmour, Smith's Falls, Ont., writes: "I take pleasure in writing you, stating the benefit I have received by using Doan's Kidney Pills. About a year ago I was terribly afflicted with lame back and I had I could not even sweep my own floor. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, which I did, and with the greatest benefit. I only used three boxes and I am as well as ever. I highly recommend these pills to any sufferer from lame back or kidney trouble."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

If ordering direct specify "Doan's."

16, there was a sudden rise in the tide of the Ganges, and the pilgrims were stranded on the spot where they were encamped, which has now become an island surrounded by deep water. The pilgrims who had the presence of mind to link arms and stand up, though immersed chest deep in water, were saved, but those who ran panic-stricken to regain terra firma fell into the deepest stream and were lost.

Rescue parties, headed by the deputy collector of the locality and the police, arrived on the scene as soon as possible, and with the aid of boats and an elephant rescued the stranded pilgrims.

An account given of the work done by an elephant, named Jung Bahadur, is most interesting. Jung Bahadur belongs to a race named Koor Jawsant Singh, who was on a visit to the fair, and his presence was providential. With ropes attached to his trappings the elephant repeatedly swam out to the distressed pilgrims, who were clinging on to the ropes and he landed in safe places. It is estimated that this noble animal saved at least a thousand lives.

The number drowned is put down at about two hundred or even less, but as the pilgrims had thronged from all parts of India it is impossible to say how many were really drowned. The collector of Etah and his officers did all they possibly could to help the pilgrims in their misfortune.

WILL TAKE CENSUS OF ALL MANUFACTURES

Important Investigation Will Be Made of the Various Industries.

Ottawa, Nov. 21.—On the first of June next year a census will be taken of the manufactures of Canada. It will ascertain the capital employed in works in 1910, together with the value of land, buildings and plant, the kind or class of products of the works by quantity or number of finished articles and their value in the year. These statistics will relate generally to factories employing five hands or more during the year, but in such industries as flour and grist mills, brick works, saw and shingle mills, electric light and power plants, and a few others where the value of products is large in proportion to the number of persons employed, returns will be required without regard to the number of employees.

The employees of work will include managers, superintendents, etc., on salaries; officers, clerks, etc., on salaries; operatives or workers classed as over and under 16 years on wages; and piece-workers employed on the basis of works. Salaries, wages and payments to all officers and employees will be entered on the schedule for the census year by sex, and will include the aggregate wages employed in the year, average hours of working time per week, and aggregate wages paid to them in the year. The aggregate weeks of time, and the aggregate wages paid will enter to the whole body of employees for the year, while the average hours of working time will refer to an average computed for all employees in the year for one week only.

For piece-workers outside of the works the statistics are required to show by sex the aggregate payments made to each in the year, and also the aggregate value of their products. The power sold to or bought from other show the number and horsepower of steam, gas and gasoline engines, water wheels, and other power, as well as the power sold to or bought from other public or private companies. The fuel used at the works will show the quantity of coal, wood or other fuel, and its value laid down at the works, including transportation and duties. The coal will be classified by measure to show whether it is foreign or Canadian.

Custom work and raw material will be reported by kind or class, and entries will be made to show amounts received in the year for custom work and repairs; and the cost value or partly finished materials used at the works. The kind or class of products of the works in 1910, will be entered by separate name if more than one is made, the quantity or number of each finished articles and the value of separate products in the year. The kind of this record is to show the extent and variety of manufactures in each province and district; but it will be understood that the statistics as compiled and published will give away to records of individual business. Totals will be published only where three or more industries of a class or kind are reported. All information here referred to will be collected by enumerators on schedule No. 3.

The census of the dairy industry, relating to the production of butter, cheese, and condensed milk, will be taken on schedule No. 12, and will show for each kind of product its quantity and selling value, and the quantity of milk and cheese used for conversion at the factories, the number of patrons, and the amount of money distributed to them in the year.

HAS HEARST BOUGHT A LONDON PAPER?

Weekly Budget, a Sunday Sheet, Now Running Signed Confession of Dr. Crippen.

SIR WILFRID WAS 69

smile is only the outward and visible sign of an inward and polished personality which prevents sparks.

There was an excellent instance of it in the few brief minutes during which the House sat on opening day. It arose over the withdrawal, at his own request, of the name of Mr. George Taylor, for twenty-five years chief Conservator of the House, a man whose duty it is to strike the permanent committees for the session. Sir Wilfrid seized the opportunity to pay a warm little tribute of praise to Mr. Taylor. Of course, it was a small matter, this kindly word to a retiring opponent, but it was a small matter properly done at the proper time. There are a number of men in the House who would have used the occasion for a job at the other side, but that is not Sir Wilfrid's way. By that simple little act of courtesy he raised a generous glow in Conservative bosoms which still remains.

"That man Laurier's a wonder," was the way in which the Conservative member put it. "I bet I know one man on our side of the House who would not have let the chance pass."

Sir Wilfrid in his own office is the courteous, genial host whose one endeavor is to make you feel at home, and to make you forget that you are talking to the Premier of Canada. If he knows that you have been doing something, or are particularly interested in something, that is the thing he wants to talk about, or to ask you about.

Simplicity of His Office.
The dominant note of the Premier's office is simplicity. It is a big square office, its wide windows looking westward across the lawn to the West Block, where the amber and crimson and scarlet of a November sunset flames in unchecked by the wisely drawn curtains. There is none of the lavish furnishings, the atmosphere of luxury, that is everywhere in some of the ministers' offices. It is a plain business office, with its square simple desk and half-a-dozen severe chairs. The one article of real comfort in the office is a huge leather sofa that stretches mammoth arms towards you, and coaxes you to lie down and look out of the window. Against one wall hangs a businesslike map rack, one map half unrolled.

Fingers on the Pulse.
Facing the Premier's desk a big fireplace sends out a wavering glow and grateful heat, its crackle the only sound to be heard, save the beat of a horse's hoof on the driveway outside. It is quiet in there, so quiet that you are reminded of the room in one of the great power plants at Niagara Falls where all the gauges and registers of the system are kept, a room which contains the heart of the system, and where all noise is rigorously excluded. In that room, too, a single man sits before a square desk, his finger on the pulse of the system which cuts Ontario into a gridiron.

Sir Wilfrid, too, sits at his finger on the pulse of a system,

BOURASSA VERSUS LAVERGNE.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier, in his letter on the naval question, deprecates the attempt of the Nationalists to frighten the people of Quebec by the bogey of conscription. "There has never been in any political campaign in this country or elsewhere a more dishonest affirmation," he says.
Mr. Laverne tried to evade this point in his speech at Toronto. He offered this ingenious explanation (vide Globe report):
"The moment we have a navy, and it went to attack a foreign country, we might expect that country to attack us, and then men from 18 to 60 would be drafted. NOT FOR THE NAVY, WHICH THEY BELIEVED
ALL ALONG WOULD BE VOLUN-TARY, BUT FOR THE ARMY."

But this is not the story Mr. Bour-assa tells. In a speech on Sept. 19, reported in his own paper, Le Devoir, he said:
"It is all very well for him (Sir Wilfrid); he has no children. Ten years hence, or perhaps sooner, he will have disappeared from the scene of politics. For fifteen years he has trodden on everything sacred to his compatriots in order to make a pedestal for the English who distribute the titles, medals and decorations. . . . But when fifteen years hence your wives will see the agent of the Government, hanging in his hands this accursed act, and addressing each one of them, he will say: 'Good mother, thou must give thy sons, NOT TO DEFEND THEIR NATIVE SOIL, BUT TO FIGHT ON ALL THE LANDS AND SEAS OF
THE WORLD ON BEHALF OF THE ENGLISH FLAG.'"
"Then, when your wives will learn some months later that an Austrian shell, a Japanese cannon ball, or a German bullet will have disembow-elled their children, and that they have fallen over precipices or collapsed on the deck of a ship, do you think they will then say:
"Very well, my husband was Rouge, and it was Mr. Laurier who passed this act. He did well. No; they will curse you, and it will be only right."

Here's a direct contradiction of one Nationalist leader by the other. It is another proof that their propaganda has one dress for Ontario, and a very different one for Quebec. We in Ontario must judge it by its garb in Quebec.

TWO PROVINCES, TWO STORIES.
The Montreal Gazette gives its friends at Ottawa some fatherly advice. The present session, it says, may try the Opposition even more than the Government. Some of the issues that have been thrust into the foreground of late are important, but they carry possibilities of mischief. "It will depend largely on what members of the Opposition do and say whether they will push a weak and weakening Government into the political grave, or give it new strength for the parliamentary elections that may not be far off." By way of enforcing admonition by example, the Gazette recalls the western autonomy bills of 1905. Remembering what was said and done in the city of London on behalf of the Opposition in that year, the Gazette's remarks are worth reproducing. It says:

"These bills, as introduced by the Government, proposed to give to the religious minority (presumably Roman Catholic) of the new provinces what may be described as the same privileges as are accorded to the religious minority in the Province of Quebec, and then which nothing more could be reasonably sought. As passed, the bills gave to the religious minority of Alberta and Saskatchewan not much more than is accorded to it in Manitoba, and which, which, which, which, which,
plaints of those who speak for the Roman Catholics of that province, leave to be desired much that could reasonably be desired. The Government's original clause, after Mr.
Clifford Sifton, then minister of the interior and now the Government's chief adviser on conservation, had resigned his portfolio in 1904, and after Mr. Fielding, minister of finance, by common report, had intimated that he could not accept the clause as drafted, the Government proposed, that the control of the schools of the new provinces should be left to their legislatures and the minority to the protection in their existing privileges. The B. N. A. act, was rejected. Yet, by unwise talk, persisted in beyond reason. Conservatives in the House of Commons helped the Government to turn the tables on them; and Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who in 1896 for the sake of power sacrificed the Catholics of Manitoba to the Dominion policy, and who, who, who, who, who,
that suffered more through his political friends than it has done from the efforts of the Orangemen, who are presumably his sworn enemies."

In 1905 the Gazette's party allies were screaming in the ears of the electors of London that a vote for

Hyman was a vote for that terrible trinity, "Laurier, Sbarretti and the Hierarchy." They drenched the city in religious bigotry. Even some of the pulpits thundered against Laurier as the vassal of Rome. By extremists in Quebec the Government was attacked just as savagely at the same time, but on opposite grounds. The Nationalists still make the western autonomy bills
a cry against Laurier, but the Gazette is not a French-Canadian or a Nationalist newspaper. It is owned and edited by English Protestants, and is the foremost Conservative daily in Quebec. The enemies of the Government in that province denounced Laurier as a traitor to his religion, while his enemies in the English-speaking provinces pictured him as the plant tool of the papal delegate. Today the same tactics are employed against him. In Quebec he is presented as a militant imperialist; in Ontario as an enemy of British connection. The fathers and mothers of Quebec are told that their sons will be forced to serve on English warships and fight England's battles in distant seas. The people of Ontario are told the Canadian navy will be useless to Canada, to Great Britain, or the empire in time of war.

MR. ASQUITH'S RETICENCE.
Mr. Asquith's speech on Saturday gives still another turn to the political situation. "I decline now," he said,
"and shall continue to decline, to make a statement regarding the advice which I may have given the King, or hereafter may give. The King stands aloof from all our political and electoral controversies, and it is the duty of his subjects, as well as of his ministers, to maintain secure his absolute detachment from the arena of party struggles."

This statement will be a surprise to many in all parties. It has been generally assumed that the Premier would be obliged to inform the electors what to expect if the Government were again sustained. As it is, they will be compelled to fight in the dark. The only certainty is that Mr. Asquith and his colleagues will not take office again if they cannot obtain the King's promise to aid them in abolishing the absolute veto power of the House of Lords. The Liberals, the Laborites and the Nationalists must fight this election without knowing whether victory at the polls will yield the fruits of victory. For all they know they may be called upon to fight the battle over again a few weeks later.

The Premier's reticence may have been imposed by the desire of the King himself. If the King has consented to give the guarantee the publication of the fact would undoubtedly help the Government in the contest. If he has refused to give them the crown would be involved in the struggle in a manner which every friend of the monarchy would deplore. It may be that the Government will refrain from tendering him advice until the result of the election is known, or that he has deferred his answer until the people have spoken. There must be grave constitutional reasons for the Premier's course, and it is to be hoped that his desire to protect the Crown will be seconded by the Unionist party, which has been too prone to drag the monarchy into this controversy, even to the extreme of trying to lay the death of the late King at the door of the Administration.

There's not much objection to American gold in the old land when the aristocracy finds it at the altar.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier entered his 70th year yesterday. He wears well, not only in his own person, physically and mentally, but in the hearts of his countrymen.

Dr. Crippen says that he could have proved his innocence if he had had more money. But Great Britain is not a country where "Offence's gilded hand may shove by justice."

Mayor Beattie figures out that Niagara power would cost him more for lighting his house than does steam-generated power at present. This may be an exceptional case, but it shows that more light is needed on the lighting puzzle.

Tolstoy is relieved at last of "The heavy and the weary weight
"Of all this unintelligible world."
On few men in the world's history has this burden weighed so heavily.
The problems that vexed his soul to the verge of madness are now solved for him.

The "Charlottetown (P. E. I.) Guardian advocates the annexation of Maine. The Guardian is either serious, or it is disposed to have some fun with its United States contemporaries.
If it is serious, its friends should call in an alienist before matters become worse.

The Unionist outcry against "American gold" threatens to disturb the friendly feeling between the United States and the mother country. The newspapers of the United States resent it, and justly so. A large part of the fund raised in America by the Irish envoys was subscribed in this country, among the donors being Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Premier McBride.

KENTUCKY'S WAY.
[Toronto Star.]
An English physician declares that there are fewer cases than are supposed of persons being buried while in a state of suspended animation. This is not much consolation to those who are so much afraid of it that they will take no chances, and hence give instructions for their bodies to be cremated. In Kentucky, the home of the great distillery trust, they have a plan which, it is said, surpasses all others. When all medical tests have failed to detect a sign of life, someone whispers in the ear of the sup-

ESSAY ON HONESTY.

No man is thoroughly honest, but he discovers that honesty is the best policy;
that it pays better than dishonesty; that honesty is the best doctrine for a selfish man. Any man who believes that honesty is a burden is not honest.

THE SILENT CITY.

[The Observer.]
To the ears of our returning Australian the truly remarkable thing is found to be not the noise of London, but its silence. Of course the words are comparative. The silence of London is not the silence of the Australian bush.—The Times.

Ever since I left the vessel,
Spry and happy and contented,
And proceeded to the Cecil,
Where a bedroom I had rented,
I have suffered with acuteness
(I admit it seems a pity)
From this overwhelming noisiness
Of this dumb and deathlike city.
Thither town is so much calmer
Than my ranch upon the Palmer.

Yes, the silence is appalling.
So depressing and so chilly;
Not a kangaroo is calling
To its mate in Piccadilly.
When I wander in Hyde Park, sir,
I grow homesick for the prairies,
Where you hear the dinno's bark, sir,
And the cries of carousers,
Where the pungent stink is snarling
Round my shanty on the Darling.

When I see Trafalgar Square, sir,
All my sighs are unavailing,
Not a cat can be seen, sir,
Not a wallaby is waiting!
All in vain I try to combat Disappointment and dejection,
Not a single tumbler of rum,
Gives a musical selection.
But a hush, severe and solemn Seems to brood over Nelson's Column.

Motor cars may hoot and rattle,
Motor busses growl and rumble;
They are naught to lowing cattle
And to bees that moan and humble.
All your traffic, too, I warrant,
Roars in quite a minor key, sir,
Like a whisper to the torrent
Of the loud Murrumbidgee, sir!
So I wander, sick and ruffled,
In a city mute and muffled!

"My son," said Harker, as he pointed to the ivy in front of the cottage, "always be like the vine on the wall, sir.
The little boy was thoughtful.
"I don't think I'd care to be like that vine," he responded seriously.
"And why not, Tommy?"
"Cause if I was I'd be porch-climbing."

A CANADIAN POLICY.

[Victoria (B.C.) Colonist, Can.]
When expressing our approval of the decision of the Dominion Government to establish a Canadian navy, we said it was the first step that would cost.
The first step has been taken. It may not be as long a step or as strong a step as some of us would have liked to have seen taken, but it is a step and it is in the right direction. Perhaps we do not much mistake the case when we say that Sir Wilfrid Laurier led the people of Canada as far as they could be safely taken at this juncture; but be this as it may, it is something to know that the country has been launched upon the naval policy, and we may add that the efficiency with which that policy will be interpreted in her music," said the instructor.

"I tried that," replied Mr. Cumrox, told her the other day that her playing

"Was she pleased?"
"No. Tears came into her eyes as she explained that what I had been telling to was the work of the piano tuner."

IN THE "GOOD OLD DAYS."

[Goderich Star.]
Fancy hogs soaring to $9 a hundred live weight! We remember dressed hogs, a dozen or a load of grain, at $3.50, and many old residents will recall it. In those days, over 40 years ago, fresh eggs were plentiful at 5 cents a dozen, and fresh butter at 7 cents a pound, and we often carried those products to the store and took the value in trade in the County of Bruce.

T. P.'S ACHIEVEMENT.

[Calgary News.]
William O'Brien says that T. P. O'Connor does not count, and will either repudiate himself or be repudiated at the word of command. This may or may not be, but the fact remains that T. P.
Pay satisfactorily accomplished his mission to Canada, viz., the raising of money for the Irish cause.

[Buffalo Times.]
"Why do you only keep a clerk for two weeks?"
"Well, you see, it takes about that long for the girl to find out where a young man is working, and after that they're so busy telephoning him that you can't get any work out of him."

ENGLISHMEN IN CANADA.

[Rev. Father Vaughan.]
I would strongly recommend that man to go to Canada who is prepared to take the first "job" that presents itself; to take his coat off, to put his back into the work, and if there is a wheel in front to put his shoulder to it. If he does this he is bound to get head and to come out on top; but if he is going to Canada with the idea of teaching them how to do it and not doing it himself, he had better stay at home, because he will never recover the money paid for his steering. The successful man, I mean, started below the bottom rung of the social ladder. They are now on the wal-top, and can survey their own achievements. "It is dogged as does it." In many places they don't want English, because very often, instead of coming to work, the Englishman comes to patronize and loiter. In the west-

British Columbia there are vistas open-

DEATH WAS ACCIDENTAL

Three Witnesses Examined at Inquest on Editor Bruce McDougall.

Sydney, N. S., Nov. 19.—The jury in the Bruce McDougall inquest returned a verdict of accidental death.
Only three witnesses were examined.
McDougall arrived in Sydney last Friday for the purpose of attending a case where several boys had been arrested for selling his paper, the Indicator, of Moncton, N. B. He remained until Monday, and was on his way to the I. C. R. train in company with his agent, J. N. Power, when both were assaulted by four men on Dorchester street, and left on the siding of the road almost dead.

Neither Power nor McDougall knew the men as they kept their faces hidden. Though the police were notified, nothing could be learned about the assailants. It is thought that the men who attacked McDougall were several men who had been singled out in the Indicator's columns, and they took this manner of getting square. Mc-Dougall went to the Windsor Hotel where he fell downstairs and broke his neck.

Nervous Prostration For Three Years

"Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine cured me of a period of nervous prostration of over three years duration, and the Anti-Pain Pills are as necessary to us as the roof of our house.
They have been household remedies with us for many years."

WM. J. LOUGHRAN,

Philadelphia, Penna.

Much sickness is due to nervous troubles. Headache, dizziness, epilepsy and insanity are nervous troubles. There are a large class of disorders which arise from a weakness of the nerves of an organ or part,
as weak lungs, heart, stomach,
kidney, bladder, eyes, etc.
Dyspepsia and indigestion are usually the result of nervous disorders.

Restorative Nervine
soothes the irritated nerves, and assists the nerve cells to generate nerve force.

THE WOMAN'S CORNER

Do You Know Anybody Like This?

He had not spoken to her for a week. Then they met on the street. Haven't you noticed," he began, "that I have been displeased?" "Certainly," she answered, "how could I help it?" "Why didn't you try to find out?" "I did not care to know," she replied. "Then you do not care whether or not you hurt my feelings?" "I have done nothing to hurt your feelings," she said. "Maybe I heard something or mis-constructed something you did." "Then you should have come to me and given me a hearing." "I wanted you to come to me; I wanted you to care that much." She smiled. Suddenly she burst out: "I would care if I hurt you." "That is what you have been trying to do for a week." "Well, if I did not care so much for you I would not mind your indifference." "You do not care for me at all; you care only for yourself. You enjoy having me like you; it is agreeable to your self-esteem." "I would do anything in the world for you." "You would do nothing for me, alone; you would do anything to induce me to flatter your vanity by noticing you." "It makes me miserable to see you happy with other men." She looked at him with undisguised contempt. "Yes, you are always wretched when I am happy." "Oh, come; that is not true; I want you happy, but I want you to be happy through what I do for you." "Don't you understand love?" "Yes; and that is just the trouble. I can distinguish between love which desires the happiness of its object, and self-love, demanding to be doted. I might burn incense before some man's shrine perpetually, but it would be a man who cared too much for me to demand anything except what I gave voluntarily—and was happy in giving."

SON OF THE IMMORTALS

BY LOUIS TRACY.
Author of "The Storyway," "The Message," "The Wings of the Morning," Etc.

"You can dismiss your men," he said to the officer in charge. "They will not be needed tonight." He told an attendant to order a couple of carriages for half-past eleven. In the reception room he wrote a hasty note to Stampoff. "My Dear Paul," he wrote, "The legitimate King of Kosovnia and his heir-apparent, not contented with the arrangement entered into in your presence, planned with Bellani a coup d'etat. I defeated it. You will find all three in my bedroom, the key of which I inclose. They are all well, and will stop there until it pleases you to release them. Perhaps you would like to consult with me regarding the man who by the time you receive this may have recovered the composure so rudely disturbed tonight. I am, however, moving rests with you. Farewell and good luck. Yours, ALEC." Outside his mother's apartments he came upon Prince Michael's valet in whispered consultation with Pauline and Delgratz. The King's valet, who had been of events he had forgotten the two domestics from the Rue Boissiere. "You will not need your services tonight," he said to the man, "and it will meet his wishes in every respect if you are said to the other servants as to the departure of the Princess for Frenchman. Your Majesty," smirked the Frenchman. "You, of course, he went on, addressing the maid, will accompany my mistress."

could you take him back to your heart as Phineas?" Joan rose and stepped out on the platform. Polanski's chaffing guffaw faded in its intent, though, to his great relief, she did not break down as he feared. "Perhaps it will not be long now," she said, and her eyes were shining. "Oh, Adellesticks!" cried the hunchback. "Why did he telegraph from the first wayside station after leaving Semlin? Also not want you! I wish this moment he is more proud that he is a free-born American than if a miracle almost beyond the powers of heaven had made him a Delgratz." Felix, cynic that he was, was secretly delighted when Joan discovered after breakfast that a blouse which caught her eye in one of the Budapest shops was much more suitable for travelling than that which she happened to be wearing. It was also significant that the dust which had gathered in her hair during the long journey from Delgratz found a visit to a coiffeur. These straws showed now the wind blew, he fancied. And it was good to see Joan in her face kindled when Alec clasped her. Then he that the whole of the evening they left to another hour; but when Joan had retired to her room, he went to the two women exchanged an affectionate kiss; each looked at the other through a mist of tears. "I am not needed. They understood, and that sufficed." In a calmer moment Alec told Joan stress on the fact that his mother was not to be trusted. He had renounced her title and reverted to the name which she bore at her first marriage. "I am not needed," he said, "though I know far more about Prince Michael's make-up than he guessed. We must make it our business, Joan, to make some brightness into her declining years. In the time I have been planning our future all day I have been thinking of the future of the teller this time?" "I am for it," she murmured, "and perhaps I may form the cost of you a kingdom." He laughed gayly, just as he used to do when he was a boy, and he told her when he waited on the Pont Neuf in the hope that he might be permitted to escape. "Never dream that I shall bring that up against you, dear heart," he said. "Delgratz ought to be hanged as a traitor for ambition. I liked the people, but I hated the job, and Kosovnia is already becoming a myth in my mind. Talbot, I hope you like it. My mother tells me that my father was one of the strong men of the west. I am called after him, it seems, and although my own name sounds strange to me I like the purposeful ring in it." Joan laughed merrily. "Felix was teasing me this morning by suggesting that you might have been christened Phineas," she said. "The word 'And what if I was?' she looked at him with a delightful shyness. "No matter what name you would always be my Alec," she whispered. "They were leaning over the balcony of Alec's apartment at the moment; so Alec performed a feat of gymnastics by clapping her hand. "I am not needed," he said, "though I know far more about Prince Michael's make-up than he guessed. We must make it our business, Joan, to make some brightness into her declining years. In the time I have been planning our future all day I have been thinking of the future of the teller this time?" "I am for it," she murmured, "and perhaps I may form the cost of you a kingdom." Doctor Told Her She Did Not Have A Pint Of Good Blood In Her Body.

Mrs. Dosithe P. Cormier, Middle Backville, N.B., says: "In the spring of 1897 I was all run down, and the doctor told me I had not a pint of good blood in my body. I took different remedies from doctors, but they did not seem to do me any good. After having taken a lot of different other kinds of medicine, and they did not seem to benefit me, I was almost in despair and did not know what to do until my husband met a lady and told her about my sickness and she told him to try Burdock Blood Bitters as she had received the greatest benefit from using it. My husband went and bought me a bottle, and after having taken it I felt better, so I kept on using one bottle after another until I had taken six in all and then I was strong and well. I am positive that my being able to do as much as I do is due to the use of Burdock Blood Bitters. One spring since then I was not feeling very well and had a lot of work to do. I thought I would procure a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and after I had taken two I was able to do a lot of hard work all the summer, and I never felt better in my life. In the winter of 1906 I had Pneumonia, and it left me with a severe pain in the left side. Every morning when I would get out of bed I had to sit down for a while it was so painful. After I had used Burdock Blood Bitters the pain disappeared completely. It has also cured me of bleeding piles. I have received so much benefit from Burdock Blood Bitters that you may publish this as it may help others as it has me."

Two Minute Talks About PANDORA RANGE for Coal or Wood

THE Pandora Range is for those who desire to make a permanent investment. The high quality of the materials and the superior method of construction assure long life.

The Body of the Pandora is very heavy. The Rods and Bolts are on the outside where they cannot burn or rust out. The Expansion Rings of the cooking section provide ample allowance for extreme expansion and contraction and eliminate the possibility of the metal cracking. The Cooking Top is Burnished which toughens the surface of the metal and increases its strength. McClary Oil Cement is used between the joints. Unlike cheap, ordinary cement, it will not dry out and need replacing. The Nickelling will not tarnish and is many times more durable than the single coat of nickel on ordinary ranges.

The Semi-Steel Fire Box Linings are twenty per cent. heavier than cast or gray iron linings. Sulphur fumes, so destructive to cast iron, cannot penetrate the hard, smooth as glass surface of Semi-Steel. The Grates have Three Faces, which allows the wear to be distributed on three sides, insuring triple durability. If you want a range of guaranteed quality get the Pandora. It's built to give you lasting service.

FASHIONS

Few sleeves seen in the afternoon gowns reach further than the elbow. When they exceed to the wrist they are finished with an undersleeve of chiffon.

The wide silk rubber girdles, studded with jet or steel, and accompanied by wide, long sashes, worked with jet or steel, are popular where a two-piece costume admits of the separate girdle.

Buttons are used once more to trim coats and suits. The horn buttons are considered a great deal more fashionable than those made of cloth.

Gulmpes are usually of the simplest order, very sheer, little trimmed, unobtrusive and very shallow.

The newest models in very handsome hand-made lingerie blouses are composed of heavy, soft hand-woven linen beautifully embroidered in open work designs and combined with the sheerest of linen and finest of laces.

Lace and embroidered hose are equally fashionable.

Metalized Egyptian scarfs are still great favorites for the evening wraps.

Veils to match the costumes are much smarter than those of contrasting color.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: (1) What will remove raindrops from a light coat? (2) Please give me recipe for beef loaf.—Anxious.

A: (1) Go over entire coat with wet sponge and press dry with hot iron. (2) Use damp cloth between iron and coat. (2) One and one-half pounds ground beef, 1/2 pound ground smoked ham, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 cups bread crumbs, sage, onion, salt to taste. Bake with a slice of sweet pork on the top. Have oven rather hot for 1/2 hour, then bake 1 1/2 hours in moderate oven.

Dear Miss Grey: How can I press a velvet gown without giving it that crushed appearance? What is the best way to press broadcloth?—E. P.

A: 1. The only way to renew velvet or velveteen is to steam it over a hot iron with a damp cloth between iron and material. Brush with soft brush continually to bring up the nap. It takes two persons to do this. Press broadcloth newspaper between iron and cloth.

Dear Miss Grey: What can I do when I want to give a girl a present and I think her parents will object? They probably will not allow her to accept it.—Anxious.

A: If you are engaged they probably will not object. If you are not engaged you should give her nothing more valuable than flowers, books or candy. Her parents will hardly object to such inexpensive gifts as these.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Kindly tell me how to remove ink stains from a linen centerpiece. (2) Would like recipe for fruit cake.—Housekeeper.

A: (1) Before washing it cover stain with salty grease, and rub in well. Let stand 12 hours, then wash. (2) Cream half cup butter with 1 cup brown sugar. Add half cup molasses, 1/2 cup eggs, 1/2 cup soda, 2 1/2 cups milk, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 1/2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon each soda and cinnamon, half nutmeg grated, 1 cup seeded raisins chopped and flour, half cup currants, half cup chopped nut meats.

Dear Miss Grey: I have had a pair of shoes a week and they are stretched out of shape. It's the same with every pair I buy, no matter how much I pay. How can this be stopped?—Olga.

A: If you allow an experienced shoe clerk to fit your feet according to his own judgment, I'm sure you'll have no further trouble.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it proper for me to write to a man I met a few months ago, when he has not written me?—Anxious.

A:—No.

Shoe Bags.

As good idea when travelling or when staying at home is to have small bags of different colors or patterns in which to place the evening shoes and stockings which accompany each dress, the bag, of course, being placed in same box, bureau drawer, tray or compartment as the dress in question.

When the dress is hung in the wardrobe the shoe and stocking bag should be laid with the bodice for there are few things more trying than to start dressing with but little time perhaps and to have to hunt wildly first for the shoes to match the dress one has chosen and then for the stockings.

These and many other irritations especially consequent on travelling can be avoided or largely mitigated by using a little common sense before-hand in one's preparations, and not at tackling one's packing solely with the idea that all that is necessary is to get a certain number of things somehow into certain space.

Garnitures.

Bead trimmings promise to be much in vogue. On tunics they are placed in close rows, making gleaming stripes on self-colored materials. They are used in numerous combinations, and the effect obtained is always pretty. There will be embroideries of all kinds. Byzantine and Persian will be largely used, and over velvet flowers cut from old Venice lace, not to speak of fur, for the last month. Feathers seem to be entering more and more into the rank of trimmings for garments.

A Physical Wreck

Suffered Tortures from Nervousness. Miss Margaret Lee, 81 Robert St., Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I was a wreck, reduced in body, and almost blind. I suffered tortures from nervousness, and was totally unfitted for work. A friend recommended Hood's Sarsaparilla. I commenced taking it and by the time the second bottle was consumed I knew that I was mending. Gradually I grew well. I have used Hood's since. I would not be without it on any account, and do most enthusiastically endorse every word in its favor. Get Hood's Sarsaparilla today. Sold by all druggists everywhere."

MAY RECOVER MILLIONS

New York, Nov. 19.—Federal proceedings will be begun against certain great importing houses, following the suits already started against Joseph Brooks & Co., British importers and manufacturers of woollens, worsteds and linings. URGES DIVORCE FROM INCURABLE INSANE

A Doctor Says That the Law Should Regard Such Patients as Dead.

London, Nov. 19.—Striking medical testimony was given Saturday before the royal commission on divorce, which resumed its sitting at Winchester House, St. James Square, Lord Gorell presiding.

Dr. Thomas Smith Clouston, physician superintendent of the Royal Asylum, Edinburgh, and lecturer on mental diseases, Edinburgh University, said he had had over 45 years' experience as the physician of two mental hospitals.

He was of opinion that there were certain forms of mental disease where the law should be so altered as to redress the present hardships to husbands and wives, but especially to provide for the better care and guardianship of children and prevent the birth of children with an undue liability to mental disease.

With certain exceptions, divorce should only be applicable to persons who could be proved to labor under incurable mental diseases.

There were very few cases, indeed, where he would feel justified in giving an opinion that any case was incurable within 12 months after the onset of the disease, whatever the symptoms might be.

In his opinion, no divorce proceedings should be allowed in most cases within from three to five years after the commencement of the mental disease, the symptoms have been continuous during that time.

Much insanity. There were 150,000 registered insane persons, not including imbeciles and idiots from birth, in the United Kingdom. Of these, 50,000 patients—a low estimate—labored under secondary dementia of an incurable kind.

Estimating half of those to be married, the actual number of this class which would be possibly affected by any change in the law of divorce would be 25,000 persons of both sexes.

The hardship was greater where married women were so affected than in the case of the husbands, on account of the care of the children coming in. He thought any facilities for divorce in those cases would be likely to be taken advantage of more by husbands than wives.

Another class to whom any change in the law of divorce would be likely to apply were the persons who suffered from epilepsy. He absolutely disapproved of epileptics marrying, on medical and eugenic grounds. It was a very hereditary disease, and epileptics almost certainly propagated insane, epileptic and idiotic progeny.

He strongly recommended that divorce proceedings should be applicable in cases of alcoholic dementia. At a low estimate, there were 20,000 such cases, half of them being married.

Summing up cases of those persons to whom, in his opinion, any changes in the law of divorce could possibly apply on account of incurable mental disease or defect, he estimated that might put down the number as 41,000. He had no means of forming an opinion as to how many of the husbands or wives of those would be likely to apply for divorce.

WOLVERINE'S CREW SAFE

Fish Company Organizing Expedition to Bring the Rest Out.

Selkirk, Man., Nov. 19.—Hart, of the crew of the missing steamer Wolverine, arrived here this morning, after a severe experience and a very hard trip out from swampy Harbor, where the boat grounded. She broke wheel entering the harbor, and is now lying partially submerged. Engineer John Sealan came in with the party, and the fish company is organizing a relief party to bring out the rest of the crew. The accident occurred Nov. 3, and nothing had been heard of the boat since.

Along with the Wolverine party, Hart, of the crew of the Mikado, which is grounded near Swampy, came in. No lives were lost.

MAY REDUCE RATES

Test of New Apparatus To Be Made on Pacific Cable.

Vancouver, Nov. 19.—A series of experiments with a new cable receiving and transmitting apparatus will be made during the next four weeks, over that portion of the Pacific cable between Bamfield Station on the west coast of Vancouver Island and Nanaimo Island, in mid-Pacific, the longest stretch of the entire submarine cable, 3,460 miles. If the merits claimed on behalf of the new apparatus can be demonstrated it will mean an increase of at least fifty per cent in the speed of the cable, and will probably result in a reduction of rates.

BIG TIMBER DEAL. Vancouver, Nov. 19.—Timber rights on one hundred sections of land, principally in the Port George district of British Columbia, have just been purchased by British capitalists from C. E. Mahon, of Vancouver, and associates, at a consideration of $1,500,000, half cash. This is a record for the province.

WILL SOON HAVE HYDRO POWER. Port Arthur, Nov. 19.—The city will probably be taking power from the new hydro-electric sub-station at the end of next week. The shortage lately has seriously affected the lighting and street car system.

AUSTRIA HAS AIM FOR NAVAL POWER

Nine "Super-Dreadnought" Ships Will Give Her Great Offensive Strength.

Vienna, Nov. 20.—That Austria intends to become a great naval power is indicated by a public statement made by Admiral Count Montecucoli, the chief of the Austro-Hungarian naval department, who says that he intends to bring forward a programme of seven additional Dreadnoughts, a portent which the British nation cannot disregard.

These ships will be in addition to the two Dreadnoughts already laid down at Trieste, and in addition to the three Lord Nelsons and three other powerful battleships which the Austrian navy already possesses. The aim is to bring the fighting strength of the Austrian fleet in modern battleships up to fifteen ships, nine of which will be Dreadnoughts.

Germany May Finance. One of the two Dreadnoughts now building for Austria was laid down in May or June of this year, and is to be completed in October, 1912. The second was laid down in September, and is to be completed in March, 1913. Two more are to be laid down next year, if the Austro-Hungarian parliament will vote the money, though it has been intimated that Germany will provide the amount required in the event of any difficulty arising on that head. Both these ships, according to the Neus Freie Presse, will be in commission by March, 1914.

Thus Germany at that date (1914), will have in the Mediterranean an ally possessing the third army in Europe and a fleet as follows: Dreadnoughts, 4; Lord Nelsons, 3; other modern battleships, 3; armored cruisers, 3; destroyers, 12; scouts, 4; submarine, 8.

Plans Fast Building. The Zeit publishes an article explaining that Admiral Montecucoli's statement indicates Austria's intention to embark shortly on an extensive naval programme. In Admiral Montecucoli's view, slow building is not in accordance with modern requirements, and his wish "to bring the Austrian fleet up to the standard of the sixties and seventies," says the Zeit, signifies the laying of seven Dreadnoughts in the immediate future, thus giving Austria a fleet of fifteen first-class warships.

Austria, adds the Zeit, has now six modern battleships, and two Dreadnoughts have already been laid down. Thus only seven units more are required to realize this programme.

The Zeit further adds that the only difficulty is the financial one, and that it is a question whether any special loan will be available to carry out the scheme. "But Admiral Montecucoli is the man to realize far-reaching plans."

PRIESTS FOR RUTHENIANS

Archbishop of Lemberg Will Try to Secure Some in Austria.

Winnipeg, Nov. 19.—Archbishop Siedliski, of Lemberg, is here after a trip through the Ruthenian settlements in the west. His grace was impressed with the necessity of protecting the 150,000 Ruthenians, commonly called Galicians, who have but four or five priests of their own rite. He is understood to favor the appointment of a bishop of their own tongue and rite, and with the approval of Archbishop Langevin and other western bishops, on his return to Austria, Archbishop Siedliski will induce a number of priests to settle in the west among these people.

The Archbishop of Lemberg will lay the cornerstone of the Catholic Church at Fort William at the beginning of the week, and then return home via St. Paul, Ottawa and New York.

ATTITUDE OF BRITISH TOWARD CANADA ALTERS

Formerly One of Tolerance, Now One of Growing Interest in Everything Concerning Dominion.

London, Nov. 19.—A. S. Barnstead, the secretary of industries of the Nova Scotia Government, whose tour of Britain in the interests of emigration to his province has been much interrupted by illness, returned to London from Scotland last week, and was at once interviewed by representatives of several leading journals. The fact is worth noting as illustrating the different attitude now adopted in quarters which until recently were indifferent to Canada as a whole and notoriously ignorant in regard to the special conditions prevailing in the various provinces and the opportunities which they offer to the emigrant and the capitalist.

"The attitude of the British Government towards Canada has changed in more ways than one," said a prominent Canadian official to the writer. "At one time it was an attitude of good-natured tolerance; now it is one of growing interest in everything concerning the Dominion. Formerly emigration was viewed as a good avenue through which to get rid of all the 'undesirables'."

"But times have changed. Emigration is now thought to be so important that the desirability of forming a separate department which would deal with this phase of imperial work is being considered; and the time is not far distant when this department will be organized. It has also been recognized that the Dominions must have a voice in this field and a representative."

INDIANS WERE VICTIMS OF A SHAMEFUL TRICK

Cheated Out of Homes, Are Now in a Destitute Condition—Move for Investigation.

Ottawa, Nov. 19.—The St. Peter's Indian reserve case, which caused such a keen discussion last season, will come up in parliament this year again. George H. Bradbury will move that a special parliamentary committee be appointed to inquire into the whole matter. It will be remembered that this was a case in which Manitoba Indians were tricked out of their homes and paid a ridiculously low figure for their valuable lands.

Mr. Bradbury stated that many of these Indians were now in destitute circumstances, and their sufferings during the coming winter would be severe. He stated that Rev. John MacDougall, who was sent by the Government to look into the situation, has caused $3,000 of their rightful money to be refunded to them. This made a payment of $5.50 per head, out of the $90 owing to them.

The member for Selkirk commented strongly on the horrible wrong which had been done to this band of Indians. Yet these Indians had, when in their zenith, been friendly to the white man. In old days they had stood between the scalp-seeking redmen and the Selkirk settlers and protected them. Later they had been loyal to the British during the Riel rebellion, although the Riel runners had gone from wigwam to wigwam endeavoring to arouse them against the British. More, they were the Indians who saved Stroud's life at that time.

During the Egyptian campaign they took a prominent part, and twelve of the magnificent boatmen who took the British troops up the Nile to Khartoum came from the St. Peter's land.

John Norquay, former premier of Manitoba, and one of the most brilliant politicians Canada has had, came from St. Peter's reserve. "In view of these facts, apart from the question of humanity," said Mr. Bradbury, "the British people should see that they are treated decently, and saved from the depredations of greedy and unscrupulous politicians."

BUKER NOT GUILTY

Honorably Acquitted of Charge of Wounding—Woman Told a Confused Story.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Nov. 19.—Martin Buker, a well-known white man residing here, was acquitted today by Magistrate Fraser of wounding Mrs. Maude Washington, colored. Mrs. Washington was found in an unconscious condition in a field near her home Oct. 19.

John Shea heard four shots fired, and saw the woman within a few moments of the shooting. He did not see her assailant.

Mrs. Washington swore Buker shot her. "That man Buker did it," she kept repeating in the witness stand. Her evidence was disconnected.

Dr. Olmstead swore that the wounds the shots was short, while the prisoner Buker is about six feet in height. Witnesses for the defence accounted for the whereabouts of Buker at the time of the shooting. According to the evidence, Mrs. Washington was seen in company with a short foreigner only a few minutes before the shooting.

You Can See How It Heals

NO QUESTION OR DOUBT AS TO THE HEALING POWER OF

Dr. Chase's Ointment

To people who have used internal treatment in an effort to cure eczema it is almost beyond belief what benefit can be obtained by a few applications of this soothing, healing ointment.

It seldom that the cause of eczema can be determined, but one thing is certain, the itching must be stopped and the sores healed up. These results are secured by the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. The itching is relieved almost instantly, and you will be surprised at the healing which will take place over night. A little patience and persistent treatment with Dr. Chase's Ointment will give you more practical and definite results than a whole lot of dosing with internal medicines. You can see how the Ointment heals. The other is guesswork.

Mr. Geo. Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: "I wish to communicate to you the great benefit I received from using Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. For years I suffered with a great skin disease on my head, a sort of eczema. I tried four doctors, giving each a trial, but got no better. In fact, the disease spread to my left arm."

"I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised and began using it. Persistent use of this treatment has entirely cured me, and I give you a statement of my case with pleasure, as I hope thereby to induce some other sufferer to try the same Dr. Chase's Ointment." Because this ointment has made its world-wide reputation by curing the most severe and long-standing cases of eczema and piles is no reason why you should overlook its scores of uses in the relief of itching and irritation of the skin.

MANY SPORTSPETROLEA JUNIORS DEFEATED
LONDON IN FARGICAL CONTEST

Ludicrous Efforts of Players in Heavy Snow Drives Crowd Away.

STIRRET'S AWFUL
RUN A "FEATURE"

Oil Town Man Ran Ball Out of Own Goal and Scored Try Unassisted.

Petrolia O. R. F. U. Juniors came to London Saturday for the second match of the semi-finals in this district, and as darkness fell over Tecumseh Park, the local would-be left the field and a 12 to 2 victory to the visitors.

A week ago in Petrolia the Oil Town men were credited with a win by the same score, the tally on the round being 24 to 4. They now go down to Hamilton where they will grapple with the Alerts in a championship set-to.

The conditions at the game were vile, and in a short time the players who were not in the best possible condition began to sag at the knees, and their chins hanging on their chests after the manner of Scrooge's famous ghost of the cash-box fall.

HALF FOOT OF SNOW MADE HEAVY GOING. The gridiron was covered with several inches of snow, despite the efforts of the local management, which had had a team of horses and a scraper on the job all day. The lines were marked off by digging strokes in the "beautiful" snow had been chopped off about one-third of the field along the west side, and this piece of good footing proved to be a fine thing for the Petrolians.

The most ridiculous piece of work came in the second quarter when the visitors scored a touch on a run the entire length of the gridiron.

"Tidy" Sage, who played a great game, and whose punting gave the locals practically all of their opportunities, fumbled the ball several yards behind the Petrolia line. Stirret, who had developed a lame leg, and who was to have been taken out as soon as the substitute got his harness on, caught the piskin, and commenced a chase down the field. He was on the good going, while the Londoners were spread out in the heavy stuff on the east side. They started across after him, however, but gradually quit the job as hopeless as he approached the London goal. Stirret enjoyed the joke keenly, and centering behind the line deposited the ball on the snow and rolled on it.

FIELD BEFORE FINISH. At the commencement of the fourth quarter, the players having killed time at every opportunity, darkness spread over the park, and it was impossible to see the ball.

The crowd left the stands, preferring not to witness the last agonies. London left the field with a few minutes left to play, as nothing was to be gained by prolonging the trouble, and the officials appeared willing to let it last all night. At the finish a row developed between the Petrolia banner and some of the officials. Dr. C. O. Fairbank, of Petrolia, charged one of the timekeepers with being crooked, and trouble followed in which all sorts of threats were made. The timekeeper admitted that he may not have understood the rules perfectly, but was willing to be shown, but the matter was allowed to drop.

Injuries came frequently, but as some of the players faked in order to delay things, it was impossible to tell how many were actually in trouble.

SAGE SUFFERED INJURY TO FOOT. "Baldy" McQueen was kicked in the stomach and was laid out for a time. When play was resumed he was scarcely able to shout the signals, but at that he stayed with it and made as good a showing as many of those who did not mix as heartily in the battle. London suffered a serious loss in the final quarter, when Elmer Sage, the star of the game, strained a tendon in his left ankle. He hobbled off the field and had the member bandaged, returning shortly to work in the finish of the "contest." The big fellow's gameness was applauded. The only penalty was handed out to Crapper, of Petrolia, whose toe stopped in Londoners' ribs on several occasions. He spent three minutes on the side.

The officials appointed by the O. R. F. U. to handle the contest did not show up, and Mr. McInneston and Mike Fleming, of Petrolia, were selected to alternate as referee and umpire. The tackling of Gilles, one of the younger members, featured the match, while Callahan, Chatto and McQueen also showed class. The first score came in the opening quarter, when Sims was forced to rouge. Whitting counted one for Petrolia in the same manner on a punt by Whitting, shortly after.

COULD NOT CONVERT OWING TO SNOW. Webb was bucked over for a try, which Crapper was unable to convert, as the snow was six or eight inches deep. Another rouge by Wetherall ended the quarter.

After that awful run by Stirret the crowd began to leave. It was not converted, but a little later Stirret, without being forced, dropped the ball behind the line, making no effort to run it out or punt. In the same quarter Sage punted behind the line, and Stirret ran it out, being tackled on the line. Petrolia tried a bucking game, and lost possession on yards in the scrimmage. London was gradually forced back, but when they did get it over a minute later they were penalized ten yards on Callahan's offense. There was little or no serious play thereafter, each player being winded by the heavy going.

TAIT, BREAKS RECORD
IN TORONTO HANDICAP

Makes New Time Mark, But Fails to Win Race on Saturday.

Toronto, Nov. 20.—The West End Y. M. C. A. Harriers' Club handicap on Saturday afternoon was featured by Jack Tait, scratch, beating his own time for the five-miles of 25.43 last year, by 40 seconds. His time, 25.03, however, failed to make him winner, owing to the handicaps. Felix Bowes, who had a 3-minute handicap, finished first, time, 27.47. A. Kitchen, 4 minutes handicap, was second, in 28.09.

E. Carter, with a 1:45 handicap, finished third, in 28.33.

AGE LIMIT 20 YEARS.

The proposition to make the age limit in the junior series 20 years instead of 19, as proposed last year, caused considerable discussion. The amendment was moved by Jas. T. Southern, who made a strong speech in favor of the 20-year age limit. Bert Short seconded the motion.

Mr. Nelson spoke in favor of the 19-year-old clause. Mr. Marriot pointed out that in his experience players under 19 years of age were not competent for junior hockey.

Mr. Lutz, of St. Thomas, said upon the action of the association depended the entrance of a junior team from that city. Mr. Farquharson, of Stratford, said that the junior series should be a schooling ground for the youngsters. He favored the 19-year-old clause, as did Mr. Connolly, of Belleville.

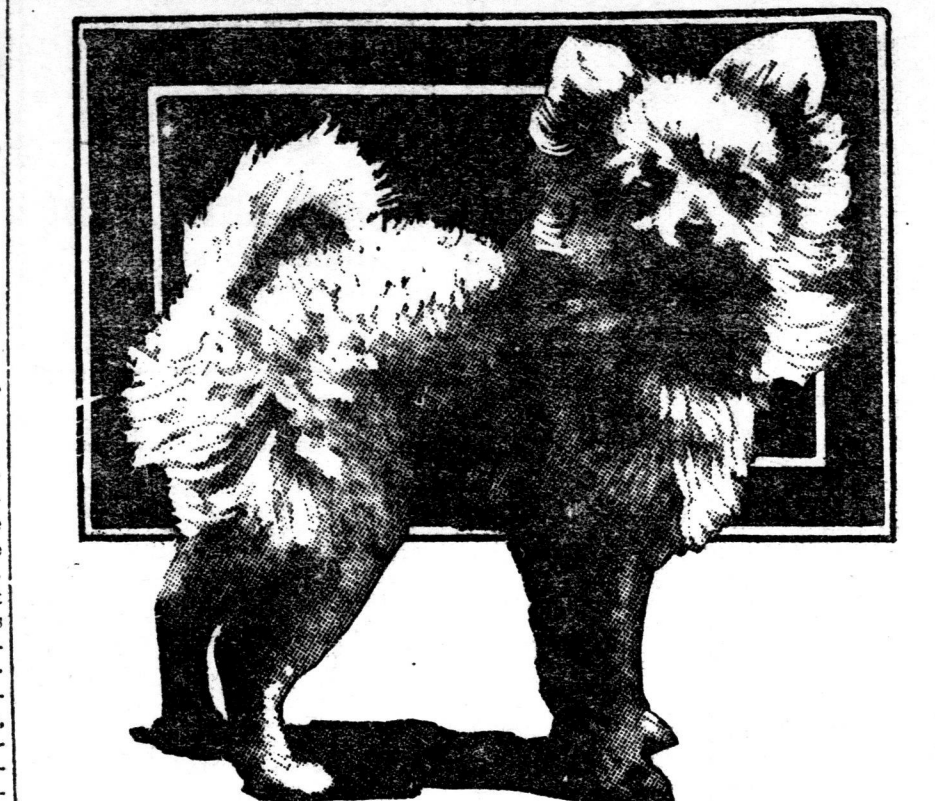

Mr. O'Brien, of Peterboro, spoke in favor of the 20-year-old clause. Mr. Beaton, endorsed what Mr. O'Brien said. Mr. Sterling, of Paris, also spoke in favor of the 20-year-old clause.

Speaking for Oshawa, Mr. Bradley suggested a trial of the 19-year-old clause for one year. Mr. Sheridan, of St. Michael's, favored the 20-year-old clause, citing experiences in Toronto last winter. Mr. Doyle, of Newmarket, suggested the formation of a juvenile series for the youngsters. Mr. Robertson said that the discussion was most beneficial to the association, and a large crowd attended. Billy McMaster, the now famous official, acted as referee.

Robertson kicked to the dead line for the first R. M. C. point at the close of the opening quarter. In the second there was a large crowd attending. SURE IT'S A DOG! NOTHING ELSE

It's a dog, all right, although it looks more like a small bundle of fuzz. When you get right down to brass tacks the pup is entered as Gatacre Quicksilver, which, considering its size, is a pretty severe handicap for so small a dog. Gatacre Quicksilver is owned by an English woman. He is a Pomeranian, which just now is enjoying the favor of society, while terriers, collies and other real doggy dogs have been forced into the background.

ALERTS WIN ROUND
FROM TORONTO PARKDALE

Commence Second Semi-Final Match With Lead of Thirteen Points—Game Score 6 to 6.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Nov. 19.—The Alerts, of Hamilton, commenced today's game with Parkdale with a lead of 13 points on the round, and held the locals to a 6-to-6 tie on the match. The visitors will now meet Petrolia in the finals for the O. R. F. U. junior title.

There was no score till near the finish of the first quarter, when each team counted one. Flannery and Adams being forced to rouge. The Alerts led by 2 to 1 at the half. Parkdale made the first try in the third, when Cummings turned the trick. It was not converted. A little later Pickley kicked to Adams, who was carried over by Brockmeyer for a safety touch. Pickley kicked over twice in the final, Adams being forced to rouge on each occasion. The teams lined up as follows:

Hamilton Alerts—Full back, G. Pickley; halves, Flannery, Lang, Carr; quarter, Brydges; scrum, C. Pickley, Spencer, Graham; wings, Becker, Snyder, Clark, Havers, Harper, Brockmeyer; full back, Parkdale—Full back, Williams; halves, Porgie, Cummings, Henderson; quarter, Graham; scrum, Smead, Russell, Leonard; wings, Brown, McDonald, Meyer, Mallard, Bell, Edwards. Referee, W. Wilson; umpire, Monroe.

VALUABLE RACE HORSES
BURN IN WICHITA BARN

$52,000 Damage Done in Disastrous Blaze in Kansas Yesterday. (By Associated Press.) Wichita, Kan., Nov. 20.—Forty-five head of race horses, valued at $52,000, were burned Sunday in the stables of the Wichita and Southwestern Fair Association. The horses were last period the quarter after a racing season on the circuits of Kansas and Oklahoma. The stables, which were destroyed, were valued at $12,000. A further loss of $10,000 was due to the burning of harness carts, harness and other accessories.

YALE HOLDS HARVARD
TO A SCORELESS TIE

[By Associated Press.] Yale Field, Nov. 19.—Yale came back today sufficiently to hold a stronger team in the history of Yale field. The Harvard team was not quite aggressive enough to get to Yale's goal line, although in the last period the crimson had a good chance for a field goal from Yale's 15-yard line. Harvard chose to punt and lost the ball in the end zone after a fumble. This was the nearest that Harvard came to scoring. A few minutes later Yale kicked the ball on Harvard's 35-yard line, and in the last two minutes of play Yale punted to a field goal by 20 feet.

TIGER PITCHER LEARNING LAW. Detroit, Nov. 10.—Ralph Works, Tiger pitcher, appeared in Judge Connolly's court today on a charge of assault on a woman. Works is charged with assaulting a woman, who is defending James Champe, a full-on trial on a charge of assault on a woman. The young ball player is taking up the study of law in the Detroit College of Law, and is studying with Attorney Bumps. "Criminal practice is the most exciting, just like a good game, with the judge as umpire," he explained today.

Pittsburg Politician
for Big League Head

So dissatisfied with President Tom Lynch are some of the National League club owners that they are planning to oust him at the league's annual meeting next month.

Among the men mentioned to succeed Lynch are Johnny Ward, Fred Richter and John Morin. Don't know Morin, do you? He's safety director at Pittsburg. What he knows about running a baseball league is probably known to the men who want to place him in power. The chances are that if the public was asked, it would vote against placing a politician, especially one of the Pennsylvania type, at the head of the league.

Shopkeepers in Blythe road, Hamersmith, are agitating for the establishment for a street market outside their premises. Large quantities of salmon and sea trout have been ascending the Tweed and, despite the alertness of bailiffs, there has been much poaching. A check for $15,000, which has been subscribed by workmen in local factories, was presented the other day to the poverty and Warwickshire Hospitals.

Some Notes of the Harness Horses

Copa de Oro, by Nutwood Wilkes, 2:16 1/2, now has a record of 1:58. More than 40 horses have been sold for the meeting at Lexington next fall. Carlin, by McKinnay, 2:11 1/2, took a new record of 2:07 1/2 at Phoenix, Ariz. Happy Dentist, by Nutwood Wilkes, 2:16 1/2, reduced his record to 2:05 1/2 at Phoenix.

During the Phoenix meeting, Lady Maid C, by Chitwood, paced to a record of 2:02 1/2. The promising young trotter, Walter Jay, 2:13, by Jay Mallie, died recently at Montgomery, Ala.

Zombro, 2:11, got another 2:12 trotter at Phoenix, Ariz., when Zombro took a record of 2:08. The driving club at Bainbridge, Ind., has leased the track for another year. The rumor is that the driving club will hold a race meeting early in July, 1911. Manager John Page, of the track at Hillsdale, R. I., is already making plans for the four meetings which will be given next season. The rumor is that Windsor will be in line with a meeting next year, and the managers will apply for dates on the Grand Circuit and Toronto was down stable at Lansing, Mich., early in the spring. Harrie Jones has added to his stable at Rusville, Ind., the promising Nebraska trotter, Fred Constantine, by Constantine, 2:12 1/2, dam by Ganabette Wilkes, 2:19 1/2. James E. Williamson, of Denver, Colo., has purchased a colt, Ethelrington, at Abilene, Kan., the trotting mare Selie Andrews, 2:23 1/2, by Rayon, a full sister to the pacing stallion Ray Star, 2:14 1/2. Daney C, the yearling brother of that sensational filly, Dorothy Axworthy (2:21 1/2), has taken a record of 2:29 1/2, and also trotted a fair in ended war Varsity billed for Hamilton next Saturday. Varsity 22, Toronto 3.

Notice the Difference WE ARE NOW SELLING Our Own Make Mince-meat

The first we have made this season. This is from the same recipe that gained us such a good reputation in past seasons.

WE HAVE BEEN SELLING a so-called Home-Made Mince-meat, but it was so inferior to our own make that we have had to make again in order to please those who have learned to depend upon us for GOOD mince-meat.

THE REASON OURS IS THE BEST is because we use only the best raisins, the finest flavoured Raisins, Currants, the best English peels and pure sugar, good juicy apples and kidney suet. Thoroughly mixed in just the right proportions.

A FACULTY OF MUSIC ADDED TO WESTERN

Will Share With Toronto Board of Governors—Agrees to Important New Department For Local University.

A faculty of music was added to the Western University at a meeting of the board of governors, held in Mayor Beattie's office on Saturday afternoon.

There has long been a demand for such a department. Hundreds of graduates in music throughout Western Ontario have been given their degrees from the University of Toronto, but from this time on the Western will share with the provincial university the right to give diplomas.

Mr. Justice Meredith, chairman of the board, presented the report of the special committee appointed to inquire into the matter. The recommendation that the faculty be installed was unanimous, and an agreement was prepared.

In addition Mr. Meredith pointed out that a number of English universities were endeavoring to have musical examinations conducted in this country. Since Toronto University had the only faculty of music, that institution held all the examinations throughout Western Ontario.

Mr. R. Anderson, president of the Brantford Conservatory of Music, and Mr. F. L. Willgoose, president of the London Conservatory of Music, were present, and explained their courses to the governors. Both were of the opinion that the new curricula would provide a much more thorough musical education than the course supplied by Toronto University.

The agreements were ordered executed, and the members of the faculty will be selected shortly.

Those present at the meeting were: Mr. Justice Meredith, chairman; Capt. T. J. Murphy, T. H. Smallman, Samuel Stevely, Arthur W. White and President James.

COMMISSION TO USE STREET RAILWAY POLES

Commercial Lighting Cables Will Not Be Put Down Until Spring.

At a meeting of the water commissioners, held Saturday, it was decided to arbitrate for a piece of property belonging to Wm. Gray at the corner of the Wortley road and Horton street. This land is needed for the Springbank line, and an agreement was made to purchase it some time ago. However, the negotiations were never completed, and the board will submit the matter to arbitration. Mr. M. D. Fraser will represent the commissioners.

A communication was read from the London street railway, in which they agreed to allow the city to string wires on their poles down town for lighting the streets.

It was decided to delay the installation of the commercial lighting cable until spring, and in the meantime the commission will purchase enough to supply the street lighting. About $2,000 worth will be needed.

The London street railway complained about the size of their water bill, but as the meter was found to be working satisfactorily it was decided to file the account.

Mr. M. Cornelius, of Pittsburgh, was engaged as expert, to succeed Mr. E. A.

Mr. Van Cleve will secure a competent designer for the office by the next regular meeting, when the question of his appointment will be considered by the board.

Mr. Macarthur complained about a bill for a water service, but the board could not allow him more than 60 cents on it.

Considerable routine business was transacted in addition.

There was a decided improvement in the presentation of "The White Square" at the Grand on Saturday as compared with the somewhat disappointing exposition of this drama on Friday night.

A great deal of hard luck has followed the company since leaving Buffalo. Miss Larrie lost her leading lady, as well as one of the most impressive actors, leaving her short handed. She had to fill in herself, and between acts coach two new actors for their parts.

As a result, the play did not run smoothly the first night. On Saturday there was a more polished performance in the earlier performances.

The play attracted good business, and it was quite popular.

Bernhardt Plan Today.

Mr. William Connor, who is directing the tour of Sarah Bernhardt, has arranged with the great French actress a peculiar young men, faith, not blind superstition.

Barbering is one of the oldest journeyman trades in the world. There have been barbers almost as long as men—which is not saying barbers are inhuman. Some of the oldest folk in the Bible seem to have been razors and shorn. First barbers were errand, nomadic or itinerant, as they are now, in old Egypt, where barbers were first born. Along the Nile today he wanders with his kit of tools hunting customers, and he squats then on the sand and goes to work.

The leader of the Republican party in Portugal is Dr. Bernardino Machado. He is an extremely rich man and has fourteen children, to all of whom he is greatly attached. At one time he was minister of works under the late King Carlos, but his refusal to sanction certain alterations at one of the royal palaces at the public expense led to his resignation and to him becoming a Republican.

King Manuel has always been intensely fond of music and is himself an excellent pianist. He frequently organized concerts at the palace, and it is recorded of him that when he claimed: "Ah! What would become of us if we had not music!" It is also related of him that when he heard of the investiture of his brother with the Order of the Garter by the late King Edward, and was asked what he thought of it, he replied: "A very nice ceremony, but I would sooner conduct an orchestra."

The leader of the Republican party in Portugal is Dr. Bernardino Machado. He is an extremely rich man and has fourteen children, to all of whom he is greatly attached. At one time he was minister of works under the late King Carlos, but his refusal to sanction certain alterations at one of the royal palaces at the public expense led to his resignation and to him becoming a Republican.

King Manuel has always been intensely fond of music and is himself an excellent pianist. He frequently organized concerts at the palace, and it is recorded of him that when he claimed: "Ah! What would become of us if we had not music!" It is also related of him that when he heard of the investiture of his brother with the Order of the Garter by the late King Edward, and was asked what he thought of it, he replied: "A very nice ceremony, but I would sooner conduct an orchestra."

Barbering is one of the oldest journeyman trades in the world. There have been barbers almost as long as men—which is not saying barbers are inhuman. Some of the oldest folk in the Bible seem to have been razors and shorn. First barbers were errand, nomadic or itinerant, as they are now, in old Egypt, where barbers were first born. Along the Nile today he wanders with his kit of tools hunting customers, and he squats then on the sand and goes to work.
