BISHOP FALLON LAMENTS STATE OF AUSTRIANS

His Lordship Returns to London After Sojourn in Europe.

RELATES EXPERIENCES

Declares Vienna Doomed Unless League of Nations Acts.

"I am glad to be back. And I found absolutely no country, whose inhabitants ought to be more grateful to God for the blessings with which they are endowed than the Dominion of Canada," said the Rt. Rev. M. F. Fallon, bishop of London, Friday morning.

Sends Apostolic Blessing. To the people of the diocese of London, the Holy Father sends his apostolic blessing through his bishop. His Lordship Bishop Fallon returned to the city Thursday night from a five months' visit to Europe, during which time he and his party attended the Eucharistic Congress at Rome.

After having spent considerable time in Germany, Austria, Belgium and other European countries, a Canadian has very serious reasons for being proud of his native land. "I can't make that too strong," hinted his lordship. "Conditions in European countries, particularly Austria, are indescribable."

"I purpose, in order to bring some little help to certain afflicted districts in Europe, to appeal to my priests, and the people in my diocese, for some immediate financial help."

His lordship described some of the miseries of the Central European. In the city of Vienna, out of its population of over 7,000,000 people, two and a quarter million were functionaries of the Austria-Hungarian government. With their employment gone they must starve.

The absolute collapse of Austrian money values has reduced to the extreme poverty even those who were very wealthy before the war. "Unless the financial situation which has just been developed by the league of nations is put into early and effective operation, Vienna, one of the most beautiful and most cultured cities in the world, is doomed to destruction," declared the bishop.

Bishop Fallon was deeply impressed by the nobility, the culture, and the patience of those Austrians who it was his good fortune to meet, and he hoped for a sign of better times in their country.

His lordship referred to the holy pontiff, Pope Pius, in the highest terms. "The holy father is a man of relative youth, splendid health, and of great intellectual energy," said the bishop. "He is very much interested in the spiritual and temporal welfare of the people of Central Europe, where conditions are so terribly disturbed as a result of the late war."

He is publicly and privately endeavoring to have the world come to the assistance of these devastated countries, and he is also making every effort to bring about peace and order to the distracted people."

EBERT FORBIDS BERLIN TO SPECULATE IN EXCHANGE

Berlin, Oct. 13.—President Ebert has issued a decree against speculation in exchange. It forbids domestic prices being fixed in foreign currency or on the basis of such currency, and it provides that purchases of foreign currency are permissible only by consent of a special control department.

WILL TRY WESTERN BANK MANAGER FOR FORGERIES

Saskatoon, Sask., Oct. 13.—L. T. Rand, formerly manager of the Bank of Commerce at Lums, Sask., was today committed for trial on three charges of forgery at Melville. It is alleged that these forgeries were committed at Lums during 1921, and that the money procured from the bank in this manner was diverted to his own use.

Plan to Remove British Embargo On Cattle From Canada

LONDON, England, Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Hon. W. S. Fielding, Canadian minister of finance, and Hon. Ernest LaPointe, Canadian minister of marine and fisheries, will meet Sir Arthur Griffith-Boscawen, British minister of agriculture, and Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, secretary of state for the colonies, at the colonial office tomorrow in an initial conference on the legislation to be drafted providing for the lifting of the embargo against Canadian cattle, thus giving effect to resolutions passed by the House of Commons and House of Lords in July on the admission of Canadian cattle.

SAYS COALITION MUST CONTINUE

Austen Chamberlain Delivers Sensational Speech to Midland Conservative Club.

Speculation Rife as to Audience of Premier With King.

Birmingham, England, Oct. 13.—By Associated Press.—Austen Chamberlain, the government leader in the Commons, in a sensational speech to the Midland Conservative Club here today, declared the coalition government must be continued, thereby indicating the line upon which Premier Lloyd George will make his fight for political life in the next general election, and removing doubts as to whether Mr. Chamberlain, as a Unionist party leader, would support his chief.

Special significance attached to the speech inasmuch as the prime minister himself was said to be awaiting the pronouncement to learn what support he had before writing the speech, he is to deliver at Manchester tomorrow.

Mr. Chamberlain took his stand in favor of the coalition on the grounds that the country faced a great national danger in the labor party. If labor obtained a majority, he declared, direct action would triumph over the government, which would not be allowed to lead, but would be forced to take instructions from the labor caucus.

The Unionist party leader asserted that the country must not hand over an experiment in national reconstruction to a subversive, and that a levy on capital would mean the ruin of industry, he said. He defended the government's foreign policy, which had been heavily attacked by the political opponents of the government. He declared that the government's policy had prevented the conflagration in Asia Minor from spreading to Europe.

KING GIVES AUDIENCE

LONDON, Oct. 13.—There was considerable speculation in political circles this morning, when King George gave an audience to the prime minister, as to whether the latter would raise the question of calling a general election. It was expected that Mr. Lloyd George was merely reporting on the Near Eastern situation, and would not touch upon domestic politics.

COMES TO CITY TO BATTLE FOR WIFE; LANDS IN CELL

PAYS FINE IN COURT.

IRITATED because he believed an Austrian woman in London was "spoiling" his family, by sheltering his wife and advising her not to return to him and his five children, John Abraham, a St. Thomas, Nfld., came to London Thursday night and landed in police cells for being disorderly.

John brought John Klick along with him for moral support. The supports also came under heavy fire in the battle on William street south, and Klick emerged from battle with a mutilated ear and a swollen and discolored eye.

According to evidence interpreted by a rather pretty little Austrian girl, who handled her part in the affair in a most able manner, Klick and Abraham ordered Steve Guebet from his room, with the result that Klick found it was one thing to make an order and quite a different one to carry it out.

Residents of the vicinity did not approve of midnight engagements even if it was one of the city's most popular battle grounds, and called the police. Constables Walter Harpur, Miles and McRoberts rushed to the scene in the black Maria, and called an armistice before any serious damage was done.

Abraham's wife claimed her husband abused her, and declared she was afraid to return to him. As her husband had struck the woman with whom Mrs. Abraham was staying, Magistrate Graydon believed he would even strike his wife.

Guebet was discharged, but the visitors from the Flower City were informed they would have to pay about $13 each before they could leave custody.

TURKS BEGIN TO RETREAT FROM CHANAK REGION

Nationalist Leader Claims Ignorance of Armistice Cause of Army Advance.

COMMEND HARRINGTON

Allied Circles Unite in Praise of British General's Skill.

Constantinople, Oct. 13.—A general retreat of the Turkish troops from the immediate vicinity of Chanak is in progress.

A Chanak dispatch Thursday announced an advance of the Turkish forces towards the British line, against which the British commander, General Harington, protested as a violation of the armistice agreement. The Turkish commander, replying, declared he had not yet received notification of the armistice, but would give orders for retirement as soon as such notice came.

Units in Praise. Allied circles today unite in giving Lieut.-General Sir Charles Harington warmest praise for his skillful handling of the difficult armistice negotiations.

He had received from the British cabinet permission to employ the fullest military measures to bring the belligerents to terms, but despite strong pressure from some of his own officers and continued opposition from abroad, he refused to countenance an appeal to reason. When the Mudania conference seemed headed for the rocks, General Harington addressed to Ismet Pasha, the Nationalist representative, a stern warning, declaring that Great Britain was nearing the end of her patience.

When he spoke he carried in his pocket two ultimatums, either of which meant war: one demanding immediate acceptance of the allied terms on Thrace, the other demanding that the Turks withdraw at Chanak.

"I was prepared to use them as a last weapon, and the time seemed to have come," General Harington informed the Associated Press. "I determined not to remove them from my pocket until I had tried persuasion once more. I told Ismet that England had said her last word, and had made her last concession. He said, 'I am sorry, but I really mean your final word.' I replied: 'Yes.'"

"Somehow his bellicose attitude changed; he softened into an attitude of compromise and conciliation. Then the tide changed and peace appeared on the horizon for the first time."

Set Near East Aflame. "Only the officers and soldiers in the Chanak and other areas, and suffered silently many taunts and humiliations from the Nationalist troops, how near the first shot which might have set the whole Near East aflame."

"Four factors made the armistice possible. First, the allied powers spoke with a united voice. The Turkish hoped to divide France and Great Britain and get what they desired. Second, the allied powers spoke with a united voice. The Turkish hoped to divide France and Great Britain and get what they desired. Third, the allied powers spoke with a united voice. The Turkish hoped to divide France and Great Britain and get what they desired. Fourth, the allied powers spoke with a united voice. The Turkish hoped to divide France and Great Britain and get what they desired."

CAUTIONS CAPTAIN AS RESULT OF GROUNDING

St. John, N. B., Oct. 13.—Captain Angus McDonald, of the Canadian Pacific Railway steamer Empress, was cautioned, but holds his certificate as a result of an investigation today into the grounding of the Empress on Black Shoals on Sept. 29.

In the course of his evidence, Captain McDonald ascribed the cause of the grounding to the abnormal currents. He was not represented by counsel.

PROTEST DISMISSAL OF HARBOR COMMISSIONERS

Hamilton Chamber of Commerce Forwards Objection to Premier King.

Hamilton, Oct. 13.—The chamber of commerce yesterday afternoon forwarded a message protesting against the summary dismissal of G. J. Guy, W. J. Clark and A. C. Garden as harbor commissioners, and the appointment in their stead of Wm. Ainslie, John Newlands and B. Sheppard. The chamber feels that the three who were dismissed without good reason, and that they were treated unfairly after their good work in connection with harbor development. The message asks for confirmation of the report of their dismissal, and the request that they be reinstated.

It also protests against the discourtesy to the city of Hamilton in denying it the right to appoint one of the three commissioners. Resolutions of regret at their dismissal were sent to the deposed commissioners, and they were assured that the chamber of commerce and citizens generally appreciated their work in connection with the Hamilton harbor.

NAMES CANADA MOST PRODIGAL NATION ON EARTH

DEPLORES FIRE LOSS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 13.—"We are the most prodigal and wasteful nation on earth," declared J. Groves Smith, B.A., B.Sc., A.R.C.S., F.R.S.A., Dominion fire commissioner, speaking before the Ottawa branch of the Engineering Institute of Canada here last night. "From childhood we learn to boast of our forest wealth, our mines, and of our vast natural resources," continued Commissioner Smith.

"This tends to make us careless in our methods of tapping the source of our wealth, and results too often in uneconomic developments. The fire losses annually in the Dominion reach an appalling figure. In 1921, apart from forest fires, a direct loss of $45,500,000 occurred in property alone. Indirect losses called for the payment by insurance companies of $65,000,000. The department of waterworks expended $24,000,000 in dealing with fire. A total expenditure was incurred of $134,500,000. The destruction of property thus caused an expense of $5.25 per capita, a sum which is at least ten times greater than in any other country except the United States."

As a result of this, insurance rates are five or ten times as great as in other countries, Mr. Smith said. More serious still is the loss of life, which in Canada yearly amounts to between 300 and 450 lives. Sixty per cent of the deaths occur in homes through gross negligence, but many in institutions and public buildings.

Uniting in Praise. Allied circles today unite in giving Lieut.-General Sir Charles Harington warmest praise for his skillful handling of the difficult armistice negotiations.

He had received from the British cabinet permission to employ the fullest military measures to bring the belligerents to terms, but despite strong pressure from some of his own officers and continued opposition from abroad, he refused to countenance an appeal to reason. Being the oldest country in the world, she was sufficient unto herself and had resources enough to live without interference with any other power. No wonder then that she resented the coming of the foreigner. Yet the Chinese were a peaceful people, and were always on the defensive. Rarely being quarrelsome, the Chinese persevered and developed their country.

"With an area of more than 43,000,000 square miles, it is the largest producer in the world, and is said to have more coal than all the other countries of the world put together. When one considers the expanse of that immense country, and the enormous amount of rice and other foodstuffs grown there, it will not seem strange that the Chinese commercial man is ranked high in the business of the world."

It is a mistake to think that China is over-populated. The country is not as densely populated as the British Isles, or Germany, and has not as many people per square mile as New York State.

The resourcefulness and the optimism of the average Chinaman is wonderful. Dr. Ross said. Even the coolie, who is practically a beast of burden, is always happy, and is forever hoping for better times.

Framing the great strides made by the Chinese within the last quarter century. Dr. Ross pointed out that Shanghai is a modern city in every sense of the word, is a large commercial port, and sells far more foreign goods than any city in the Dominion. To demonstrate what the people of the great empire are sending their young men to the largest universities in the world for an education. In American universities alone, Turn to Page 15, Column 4.

Pushed into the background by the spectacular return to civic circles of the "Oliver street school site problem," the central collegiate institute issue, involving the Kingston construction, is out of the sidelines beckoning frantically for recognition.

W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, announced Friday morning to essay his customary salutation: "no word from the company as yet."

Scheduled for Friday afternoon, a session of the collegiate institute committee has been postponed until Monday, when further definite action is promised.

CLAIMS LONDON EXCEEDS LIMIT OF DEBENTURES

Statement Shows Interest Debt Per Capita Trebled in Ten Years.

GOES BEYOND BYLAW

Local Improvement Charge Listed as Nearly Totaling $1,989,883.10.

London has exceeded its debenture issue. In addition to this, the per capita tax for the interest and sinking debenture issues of bygone years has increased from $8.50 in 1910 to $11.74 in 1921.

In view of the approach of the annual municipal election and the number of money bylaws that are scheduled to go to the ratepayers or shareholders, these and other interesting facts are disclosed at the city hall.

It is stipulated that London's debenture limit shall be but 14 per cent of the assessment, which would be roughly, the city officials explain, $8,899,012.64.

The total debenture issue up until 1921 exceeds this, however, as the city hall financial statements reveal the sum of $9,222,220, of which debentures to the amount of $5,742,950 have yet to be sold. It is added that a certain small proportion is exempted, as charity grants, etc.

The local improvement debt is set at $1,989,883.10.

ARMOUR REFUSES TO GIVE FIGURES ON GRAIN TRADING

Federal Commission Tries in Vain to Shake Decision of Witness.

Chicago, Oct. 13.—J. Ogden Armour again today refused to give the federal trade commission, which is investigating trade in wheat, figures showing the extent of his grain trading in 1920, 1921, and the early months of 1922. Mr. Armour, the stand Wednesday, had refused to give the details of his grain transactions and was excused until today.

Victor Murdock, vice-chairman, and other members of the commission, tried in vain to shake the decision of the witness. Finally Mr. Murdock excused Mr. Armour and said that the commission would decide later what it might do in the situation.

In hearings in the east, as well as thus far in the inquiry conducted here, Mr. Murdock said the commission had been able to obtain from every witness, except Mr. Armour, such information as it sought.

MOVE MADE TO DEFEND CHURCH

Toronto, Oct. 13.—At the meeting today of the Presbyterian Association in St. Andrew's Church, convened to oppose church union, a resolution was passed unanimously by a standing vote, pledging those present to maintain and defend the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

This was followed by the singing of a psalm with deep emotion. It was further resolved to appoint a committee to protect the property rights of the minority, should the proposed union be effected, and this committee was empowered to employ legal counsel. A proposal was made but dropped after discussion, to apply for an injunction forbidding the union committee from paying its expenses out of missionary funds.

ST. CATHARINES REPORTS FIRST HYDRO INCREASE

St. Catharines, Oct. 13.—The first increase in hydro rates has been announced here by the public utilities commission, and affects commercial users only, while other new rates will be established later. The new commercial rate will be 3 1/2¢ per kilowatt for the first 30 hours, 1 1/2¢ per kilowatt for the next 70 hours, and 3 1/2¢ per kilowatt thereafter. The old rate was 4¢ for the first 30 hours, 1 1/2¢ for the next 70 hours, and 1 1/2¢ thereafter.

Extension of the hydro system in Grantham, Louth and Clinton Townships is under way, the government paying 50 per cent of cost of all primary pole leads.

FARMER KILLS SELF BY TYING NECK TO HORSE

Larnes, Kas., Oct. 13.—A. G. Umburg, 45, farmer, committed suicide yesterday, neighbors declare, by tying a rope around his neck and fastening the other end to the collar of a horse, which he frightened and forced to run from the barn. The animal dragged the man into an open field, where his wife witnessed the tragedy.

to settle certain sub-contractors, who are pressing for the payment of certain monies, said to be due them.

L. E. Carrothers, school architect, looked up from his plans Friday morning to essay his customary salutation: "no word from the company as yet."

Scheduled for Friday afternoon, a session of the collegiate institute committee has been postponed until Monday, when further definite action is promised.

Hydro Employee Is Badly Burned by Electric Wires

While at work at the hydro power transformer station at 11:30 a.m. today, Archie McCulloch, 77, Briscoe street, was seriously burned when his feet became entangled in some high voltage wires, which had fallen to the floor. Authorities at Victoria Hospital, where he was removed, stated he will recover, although limbs are badly burned.

McCulloch received 15,000 volts, being thrown to the floor instantly. Hydro employees rushed to his assistance, later calling Dr. E. M. Copeland, who ordered his removal to the hospital.

POWER DEMAND IN CITY GROWS

Commission Will Be Forced to Install Another Transformer.

London Now Uses Almost 18,000 H. P., Showing Big Increase.

So great is the demand for electrical current in London becoming it will be necessary early in 1923, local hydro chiefs state, to add another transformer to the city power stations.

While the maximum demand a year ago was 15,000-horsepower, the present average is well over 17,000, and the indications are that the 18,000 figure will be reached within the next month or so.

There are different reasons, of course, the officials explain for this remarkable, yet satisfactory increase. Continued new customers to the roll is chiefly responsible, they say, pointing out that there are at this moment about as many consumers to equal one person to one horsepower used—17,000.

The authorities have watched their charts closely within the past few weeks, the way, as they concluded, that the increased use of electrical heaters and the like has been responsible for perhaps 1,200 horsepower, a notable increase in this respect.

Revenue is on the steady increase in the city hydro department. It is reported, and the entire plant is in a flourishing state, which is gratifying to the utilities commissioners and all concerned or interested.

INVESTIGATE CASE OF BOWN MYSTERY

Police Seek Solution to the Strange Disappearance of Hamilton Man.

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Information obtained by the detectives here concerning the mysterious disappearance of T. W. Bown, former hotelkeeper of Hamilton, Ont., according to Chief of Detectives Le Page last night, was that Bown had been registered at the Queen's Hotel and that a report of his disappearance had been made by Mrs. Bown.

Chief Le Page stated that he had been informed that Bown had been in possession of $900 when he left the hotel on October 7. Mrs. Bown admitted that her husband had several times disappeared in a similar manner and the Hamilton police have been asked to obtain details about Bown's character.

Chief Le Page said there was no truth to the report that a blood-stained cap had been found by the river and had been identified as Bown's. On October 7, Bown left the hotel in a taxicab that he summoned himself. His trunk and baggage were taken to Hamilton by Mrs. Bown on Wednesday night. The police here are not of the opinion that Bown met with foul play.

OTTAWA COAL AT $19.50 REFUSED

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—"Coal at $19.50 a ton is entirely out of the question." This was the unanimous feeling of the French committee of the separate school board, which met here last evening. The coal discussion was postponed for a special meeting to be called next week.

The investigation was carried out by His Excellency Pietro Di Maria, papal delegate. The titles were conferred by his holiness the pope as a mark of recognition of the work accomplished by Mr. Murray and Mr. Boivin in organizing and promoting the Catholic Army Hut movement.

PROTEST MIXING WHEATS OF CANADA AND AMERICA

London, Oct. 13.—(Canadian Press Cable).—The president of the Corn Trade Association, with other interested parties, accompanied by Secretary Griffith of the Canadian high commissioner's office, interviewed the United States consul-general, Robert F. Skinner, here today regarding the mixture in Canadian spring wheat, which it is alleged takes place while the wheat en route from Canada through the United States to Great Britain.

BOSTOCK NOT BADLY HURT

Kamloops, B. C., Oct. 13.—Hon. Hewitt Bostock, speaker of the Canadian senate, was not seriously injured when he was thrown from his horse last week. This is revealed in the X-ray examination made at the hospital here.

REPORT STREET RAILWAY ROUTE IMPROPER ONE

Valuating Experts Claim System Followed Not Most Advantageous.

INCREASED FARES COSTLY

Claim Also No Room For Two Rival Transportation Companies.

"The London street railway system is not routed to the best advantage." This is one of the items of the report to be submitted to the city by those who are now valuating that corporation, it was declared at the city hall Friday.

This fact is similar to one recorded by the hydro-electric experts, who directed a similar undertaking two or three years ago. The further claim is being made that the London Street Railway Company has lost thousands of fares since the inauguration of the straight five-cent fare. It is contended that these people are not even resorting to the motor buses for transportation.

Loss Passengers. This element, it is explained, constitutes the bulk of what is termed the "short-haul" passengers—those who used to ride when tickets were seven for a quarter, but have since, determined to walk the short distance to the downtown district unless it is a case of strict necessity.

While declining absolutely to anticipate just what their final recommendation to the city will be, experts employed to valuate the rolling stock, cars and other property of the railway corporation, declare most emphatically that there is no room in London for rival transportation companies. One must go, the street railway or the buses.

While the question of what shall be done with the railway company rests entirely upon the will of the electors, the need for extreme caution was stressed to The Advertiser Friday by experts who are conversant with the civic transportation service in Toronto, Windsor and other communities, where the ratepayers have purchased the street railways.

Gives Illustration. The citizens of Toronto purchased their system in 1920 and while a board of arbitration was appointed to define the purchase price for the supposed satisfaction of all concerned, the problem stands at this moment as near as can be determined, in statu quo.

The company declared, the Toronto expert points out, that the road was worth $35,000,000 to them, while the city placed a value of $5,000,000 upon the stock. The arbitration board is scheduled to meet again next week, and the ultimate outcome is still problematical.

That London, if it proposes to purchase the road, should guard against a possible value of $5,000,000 upon the stock, and still more questionable result, is the warning from those who have been vitally interested in other transactions of a like nature.

In Toronto, it is explained, the city has found it unwise to scrap cars to the approximate number of 190, while the same is said to have been recommended at Windsor, if not actually undertaken.

The first report from the valuator is expected to be ready for the mayor and council in time for their Windsor inspection, while the final recommendation will be completed, it is assured, next week.

SIR JOHN CARSON DIES AT MONTREAL

Montreal, Oct. 13.—Major-General Sir John Carson, one of Montreal's leading business men, and a prominent figure in milling and mining circles, died at his residence, 4113 Sherbrooke street west, this morning. Sir John had been in failing health for several months.

BESTOWS TITLES ON 2 CANADIANS

Ottawa, Oct. 13.—Two prominent Canadians, Joseph Lawrence Murray of Renfrew, and George Henri Boivin, K.C., M.P., of Granby, Que., were last night invested with the honor of the title of knight commander of the Order of St. Gregory the Great, before a representative gathering of Knights of Columbus and others in the Chateau Laurier.

The investiture was carried out by His Excellency Pietro Di Maria, papal delegate. The titles were conferred by his holiness the pope as a mark of recognition of the work accomplished by Mr. Murray and Mr. Boivin in organizing and promoting the Catholic Army Hut movement.

FIVE FISHERMEN ROW 90 MILES TO MAINLAND

British Political Experts Claim Government Crisis

PREMIER WILL STICK

Lloyd George Attacked On Near East and Irish Policies.

LONDON, Oct. 12.—A clever Liberal cartoonist today depicts Premier Lloyd George making a flight from Manchester in a "new engineless glider," the discarded engine being the Conservative party. This broadly represents the present political situation, for although Austen Chamberlain, Lord Birkenhead, the Earl of Balfour, and other Conservative ministers, are still supporting the coalition, the bulk of the Conservative party is believed to be opposed to the continuance of Mr. Lloyd George in the leadership, and are anxious to get back to the party system.

An indication of the complete uncertainty of the whole position is seen in the suggestion made today that Mr. Lloyd George will wait for the Chamberlain speech tomorrow before finally drafting his Manchester speech, because Mr. Chamberlain's speech will prove how far he may count upon the firm support of the Conservative section of the ministry.

Defend Near East Policy.
The present belief is that both ministers will devote themselves chiefly to a defence of the government's Near East policy, and there are rumors that the prime minister may reveal some new facts in connection with this in further justification of the British policy.

Excitement in political quarters continues at fever heat, the only universally admitted fact of the situation being that Mr. Lloyd George has no intention of resigning. Though an early general election is expected it is believed it is more likely to occur in the spring than the present year, as there are weighty technical difficulties in the way of election in November or December.

The first is the necessity of the Westminster Parliament, which re-assembles on November 14, ratifying the Irish constitution. The treaty automatically lapses on December 12, and it is considered almost inconceivable that the prime minister would resign or dissolve parliament until the Irish constitution is ratified.

Reason for Revolt.
It must be remembered that the revolt of the Conservatives against Mr. Lloyd George is largely based on his Irish policy, the "die-hard" never having forgiven what they denounce as his surrender to the Irish rebels. For this reason it is supposed the premier would not likely miss submitting this policy to the chances of a new parliament with the possible, though improbable, advent of a new Conservative government.

With regard to December elections, there is a general feeling against a general election this year because it would interfere with Christmas trade unless held very early in the month, which is hardly possible, as it is expected the debate on Near Eastern affairs will precede the Irish debate, thus preventing a speedy wind-up of the session.

OFFERS SPACE IN CAR FOR SHIPMENTS TO FIRE AREAS

Thomas Furniture Company Donating Large Quantity of Beds, Chairs and Tables.

In response to the call for household goods to meet the needs of fire sufferers in Northern Ontario, the Thomas Furniture Company, 240 Dundas street, is sending a large quantity of beds, tables and chairs for distribution among the needy.

Owing to the fact that the entire space in the freight car will not be required by the firm, it offers remaining room to any Londoners who may be desirous of contributing beds, tables or chairs.

The shipment will be made as quickly as possible, and those desirous of taking advantage to send along donations of above articles are requested to communicate with the Thomas Furniture Company at the above address, or phone 5616.

Urges More Attention to Girls Souls, Less to Dress.

OSHAWA, Oct. 12.—"Do a little less for the dress of your daughter and a little more for her soul," was the advice to W. C. E. U. mothers by Dr. Detwiler of Kitchener, in her address before the convention here today.

"Do we, as women, realize our responsibility as to our dress or undress, as a minister said, in its relation to the young girl and young boy of today?" she asked.

Affair in Country's History.

Bucharest, Oct. 13.—The much postponed coronation of King Ferdinand and Queen Marie will be held next week. The ceremonies are expected to provide the most elaborate festival in the history of Rumania, with an estimated total public and private expenditure of 300,000,000 francs.

The program will begin on Sunday with the arrival of the royal family at Albajulia, in the heart of Transylvania, where the actual coronation will take place. Albajulia is an ancient national shrine in that section of Hungary, where high dignitaries will celebrate solemn mass and the coronation will take place in the presence of the delegations from other countries.

After the cathedral ceremony the heralds-at-arms will read the king's proclamation and a state luncheon will be held. This is to be followed by a military review, the day ending with the departure of the party for Bucharest, where they will arrive Monday morning.

Upon their arrival the sovereigns will be received by the premier and other members of the government and will be driven in gaily decorated carriages, with a military escort, to the cathedral, where high dignitaries will celebrate solemn mass and the coronation will take place in the presence of the delegations from other countries.

RETREAT FROM CHANAK REGION

sired out of the quarrel. Second, the prompt action of the British government in sending reinforcements. It was a remarkable achievement to collect within the brief period of three weeks from peace time resources such an impressive force, consisting of 100 warships, 40,000 land troops, scores of airplanes and many of our biggest guns and this enabled us to speak with vigor and firmness to the Nationalists, who finally realized that we had ample means to enforce our decisions.

The third, and perhaps principal factor was the extraordinary patience and tolerance of the British officers in circumstances which might easily have provoked war.

"The slightest relaxation of discipline at Chanak, when the Turks were daily increasing might have produced a disastrous collision."

"The fourth element was the ultimate inclination of Ismet Pasha to listen to reason. At first he dismissed every criticism of the Turkish proposals, but latterly he saw that we were in dead earnest, had reached the limit of our patience, and were prepared to resist. He also became convinced of our sincerity and honesty of purpose. It is an important psychological point in dealing with the Turk that you impress him with your strength, honesty and sincerity. Then he will yield."

A dispute exists between the British and Turkish military men in the field as to whether the movement of Turkish troops on the Ismid Peninsula, reported Thursday, constitutes an invasion of Mudania armistice lines. According to the British interpretation to the Turkish cavalry occupying the village of Enchlik penetrated four miles inside the boundary, but when a British officer requested a withdrawal the Kemal officer replied that the movement did not infringe upon the Mudania line.

Meanwhile the Ankara government has appointed an agent to meet representatives of the Allies Sunday to arrange a definite delimitation of the new lines.

Great Increase in Platinum.
Some uneasiness with reference to the future of platinum goods has been manifested of late owing to the marked advance in price. Platinum has increased $45 per ounce since the first of the year, it now costs $135.00 per ounce. Considering this increase in platinum, and 20 per cent advance in diamonds, we would advise buying your diamond rings now as most jewelers can still sell at the old prices. Buy now for Christmas from John A. Nash, My Jeweler, 152 Dundas street, "where you will eventually buy."—Adv.

COURT IMPOSES $3,000 IN FINES

Three Kitchener Men Plead Guilty to Carrying Liquor on Highway.

Magistrate Warns Hotelkeeper
That He Has Appeared Too Often.

Special to London Advertiser.
KITCHENER, Oct. 12.—Three thousand dollars in fines were collected in police court here today when Ed. Reinhardt, a local hotelkeeper, Fred Solomon and Claude Musselman paid $1,000 each when they pleaded guilty to carrying liquor on the highway contrary to the liquor carriage act.

In imposing the fines Magistrate Weir told Reinhardt that he had appeared in court too often and had been convicted too often of O. T. A. offences to get off with a fine, and declared that he was going to send him to jail for a month in addition to the fine.

Crown Attorney Bowley intervened at this point and stated that the crown would be satisfied with the mere imposition of a fine, and would not press for a jail term for the defendant. Magistrate Weir then told the defendant that in virtue of his attitude of the crown he would omit the jail term.

Word of the proposed retirement to the superannuation list of Governor Jonathan Cook of the Waterloo county jail was received with considerable regret in Kitchener today as the community has taken pride in having a man of Mr. Cook's age in the position, particularly in view of the fact that in the 35 years of his administration not one escape has been recorded against him.

The governor is over 70 and the government proposes superannuating him in connection with its program of retiring all jail officials when they reach the age of 70.

The county council in session here opposed the retirement of the governor on the ground of having to pay part of the officials' pensions when they are satisfied with the present incumbent.

News From City Churches

Speaking to the boys on the subject of first aid from the standpoint of the medical profession, Dr. Chalk, of the medical school, provided a fine address for Tuxis groups of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, at their regular meeting Wednesday night.

Organization of the chief business of the section and three groups were formed, with Dr. R. J. Gordon head of the seniors, the pastor, Rev. (Capt.) J. Garbutt, head of the intermediates, and Dr. B. C. Wilson head of the juniors. C. E. German was appointed honorary mentor.

Following their meeting the boys went to the Y. M. C. A. for a workout.

Mrs. J. D. Keenleyside and Mrs. McAuliffe very capably looked after the supper, which preceded the meeting.

SCOUTS ENTERTAIN AT ST. DAVID'S.

St. David's, Church of England, was the scene of a highly interesting event Thursday night, when the Boys' Scouts of the church entertained their parents to camp-fire treat. With the camp-fire scene realistically simulated as a stage, the boys rendered some particularly neat and gave splendid examples of their boy scout work and training.

Scoutmaster Frank Slack and J. West, the assistant scoutmaster, were in charge of the program.

A delightful nine o'clock supper followed the camp-fire to the evening.

About thirty boys of the scout troop were present and between fifty and seventy-five fathers and mothers.

ANNOUNCE BAZAAR AT ST. JOHN'S.
Members of the Junior Girls' Friendly Society of the Church of St. John the Evangelist have volunteered again to provide the doll booth for the annual church bazaar, and Thursday night's meeting, held at the home of Miss Gibeord, St. George street, was taken up with sewing and other preparations for the bazaar.

Thirteen members were present, with the president, Miss Rita Willett, presiding.

Miss Helen d'Avignon, girls' work secretary of the Y. M. C. A., was a guest at the meeting.

Child Gives Life Savings to Fire Sufferers.

Special to London Advertiser.

STRAITFORD, Oct. 12.—Members of the G. W. V. A. Women's Auxiliary, who have been collecting supplies for the fire sufferers in the north, received a pleasant surprise today, when they discovered a child's bank in a parcel of clothing.

The bank contained $1.08 in coppers, the fruits of a child's efforts to amass a fortune. It was accompanied by a note from the wee giver, urging that it be put to some useful purpose.

and musical, Annie Goddard; literary and scientific, Jim Dean; religious and educational, Mrs. B. Dixon; gymnastics, F. S. Fins.

ETIMAR CLUB AT ST. JAUL'S.

Judging by the attendance and enthusiasm displayed at the opening meeting of the Etimar Club, of St. Paul's Cathedral, Thursday night, it promises to be one of the best organized and most capable boys club in the city this season.

After the election of officers had been completed, the new executive immediately held a meeting to discuss the preliminary details of the fall and winter program, which is said to be far ahead of anything attempted in other years.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: Honorary president, Rev. C. W. Foreman of Waterloo; president, Bob Shaw-Wood; vice-president, Brewster Hunt; secretary, Art Jackson; treasurer, Lindsay Scott; chairman of social committee, Fred Beal; chairman of athletic committee, George Gillespie; chairman membership committee, Frank McHardy; chairman of program committee, Dave Finlayson.

The presidential chair was a hotly contested office, Mrs. J. H. Childs, who delivered election speeches to the gathering that were as eloquent as they were interesting and resourceful.

Within a week or so candidates for the basketball team will be asked to get out to practice so that the club will have a star five in the city series.

SUPPER HELD AT DUNDAS CENTRE.

Members of the Mission Circle of Dundas Centre Methodist Church, Thursday night, varied their regular meeting by opening it with a delightful supper. Autumn leaves, fruit and flowers formed effective decorations on tables softly shaded with pumpkin-colored candles.

The speaker was Mrs. J. H. Childs, who dividing her subject "Vision," into "Vision of the World," "Vision of Christ" and "Vision of Our Share in the World's Task," indicated clearly the importance of missionary endeavors both in the life of the church and the life of the individual.

A brief but interesting musical program was rendered by Mrs. W. B. Wortman, soloist, and Mrs. John Garbutt and Mrs. Lettany, pianists.

Miss Emily Trace conducted the study period.

Mrs. A. C. Deacon convened the committee in charge of the refreshments, and Miss Addie Beal saw to the decorations.

Mrs. Roderick Gordon, the president, occupied the chair.

MEETINGS BEGIN AT CHURCH OF CHRIST (DISCIPLES)
The Young People's Church of Christ (Disciples), Dundas and Elizabeth streets, has reorganized and anticipated doing better work this season than ever before, the meetings having started off with a spirit of consecration and a desire to assist the church in every way.

At the first meeting the following officers and committee chairmen were elected: Honorary president, Rev. J. H. Versey (pastor), president, Hilda M. Versey; secretary, Miss Evelyn Banks; treasurer, Mr. E. P. Versey; prayer meeting committee, Mr. Fred Churchill; Sunshine committee, Miss Ethel Speller; social committee, Miss Evelyn Banks; missionary committee, Miss Jean Henderson; music committee, Miss Grace H. Versey.

The first Monday in October the society was favored with a talk by Mrs. C. B. King on "Our Missionaries," which drew them a greater desire to cultivate the missionary work.

The social committee is very active, having started off with a wicker roast near Wonderland last Friday night, where a good number spent a delightful evening and several social evenings are already planned for the near future, as well as entertainments to raise money for the proposed new church building, which is always upmost in the minds of the young people, who feel the need very keenly.

MEN'S CLUB MEETS AT FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.

Members of the men's "Get Together Club" of the First Congregational Church held a splendid and greatly enjoyed banquet, Thursday night, in the Sunday school room, bringing Dr. W. P. Gunne, D.D., of Toronto, here as the main speaker.

From the subject: "Is Your Square Square?" Dr. Gunne brought out the necessity of every man seeing that his life was a perfect square and in proportion to his duty to other men, his church, and his wife and family.

To pattern one's square after the square of Christ, in order that life might more nearly approach the perfect, was given by Dr. Gunne as the great objective toward which all men should work.

Following the splendidly inspirational address there was given a brief musical program in which solos were rendered by H. Anundson and H. Logan. Messrs. Ashplant and John McAlpine acted as accompanists.

There was a fine attendance at the banquet, fulfilling in every way the expectations of those who were in charge of preliminary arrangements.

Leslie Walker, the president, occupied the chair.

GIVE FIRST AID DEMONSTRATION

Boy Scouts and Nursing Division Give Splendid Exhibition of Work.

Dr. C. J. Copp Presents Medicals and Certificates to Successful Candidates.

The value of St. John Ambulance training in accident and emergency was strikingly demonstrated in the auditorium of the new Medical College Thursday night in connection with the presentation by the assistant commissioner for Ontario, Dr. C. J. Copp of Toronto, of some fifty certificates to successful candidates in first aid, home nursing, home hygiene and maternity nursing, and presentation of a number of labels, medallions and pendants to nursing division members for re-examination by Gen. W. B. King, G. O. C.

The Boy Scouts of St. Paul's, under the company leader, Mr. Thompson, evolved for themselves rounds of applause from the audience for their highly entertaining and educational "stunts." A first-aid bandage was applied to a fractured head, a sprained ankle skillfully bound up, and a fractured jaw made as comfortable and safe as possible, pending the arrival of a doctor.

Boys' Work as Artists.
Following the example of all artist folk of the stage, the boys left their big feature for the last, the forming of a human pyramid. By design, one of the number slipped, the others going quickly and efficiently to work to catch him up. His list of injuries, which he, as well as the good Samaritans, took quite nonchalantly, included a seriously injured knee, so it was said. After he was so snugly swathed and splinted that his own mother wouldn't be able to recognize him, a stretcher was improvised of coats and the damaged hero carried off the stage to allow medical science to get in its second-hand work.

No. 28, Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, of which Miss Eleanor Davis is lady superintendent, gave some simple first aid and home nursing demonstrations, showing what should be done promptly when an ankle gets twisted, and also demonstrated the use of the tourniquet.

C. P. R. Exhibits.
What is valuable knowledge to women and boys, was also proclaimed most useful equipment for growing-up men, particularly when they are employed in work where accidents have a habit of occurring. The C. P. R. division, with Mr. Gildow of Montreal in charge, "reduced" a fractured femur, a fractured kneecap and a fractured collarbone. The boys then made up successfully under control until an S. O. S. could bring a doctor to finish the case.

Dr. Copp, who had inspected the divisions previous to the meeting, and watched early the examiner's keen eyes the various steps in the demonstrations, expressed himself as much gratified with the standard of the work being done in London, the skill revealed by the members of divisions and companies.

General W. B. King gave a eulogistic address, in which he paid tribute to the value of the work of nurses and V. A. D.'s overseas. He graphically reviewed the history of the Order of St. John of Jerusalem, expressing in conclusion his satisfaction at being identified with the work here, and having been asked to participate in the ceremony of presenting awards, Dean H. W. Hill, of the London Institute of Public Health, presided in a happy manner.

Following the exercises in the medical school auditorium, Mrs. E. B. Smith, an honorary member of No. 28, Lord Kitchener Nursing Division, entertained at supper at her home, "Tuelynn," in honor of the assistant commissioner, Dr. Copp.

Invited to meet him were General W. B. King and Mrs. W. B. Shuttleworth-King, Mrs. J. B. McKillop, London district superintendent; Miss Eleanor Davis, lady superintendent of No. 28, Lord Kitchener Nursing Division; Col. F. B. Ware, and Dr. H. W. Hill.

SHOT MAN WHO GAVE SHELTER

Detroit Youths Make Attack
On 71-Year-Old Watchman.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Ferndale police and Oakland county deputy sheriffs sought shelter from Samuel Pike, 71-year-old negro, living on the Eight-Mile road, and then beat, shot and robbed him.

Pike was found in his shack late yesterday, weak from loss of blood. The youths appeared during a rainstorm and asked for a place to rest, Pike said. He admitted them to his home, only to be felled by a blow on the head. After his assailants had taken $3.50, he said, they fired a shot at him. It glanced off his forehead, inflicting minor injury.

The youths then fled after discussing and abandoning the suggestion of one that they burn the shack to conceal their crime.

Pike is a night watchman for the Sparling-Anderson Company of Highland Park.

Elwood and Mrs. Davis as joint conveners, proved a complete success.

There was a most delightful program in which the following artists assisted: Mrs. Edward Wyatt, Miss Ulah Kennedy and Miss Beryl Wainwright, soprano; Miss Edith Wynne, in some charming dance numbers; Miss Cora Brennan, violinist; Miss Topley-Thomas, whose readings were greatly enjoyed, and Miss Dorothy Davis, pianist.

The proceeds of the tea were devoted to the Guild Bazaar, which is to be held at the end of November.

NOTED DOCTORS ATTEND SESSION

Will Address First Meeting of Ontario American College of Surgeons.

Expect More Than 100 Members From District Will Be Present.

More than 100 out-of-town surgeons are expected to attend the first annual meeting of the Ontario Section of the American College of Surgeons, which opens at Western University Medical School Monday morning, and will continue for two days.
Among the visitors will be included many outstanding men of the medical profession of the continent.

These distinguished surgeons will deliver addresses at the several sessions of the meeting, and many distinct physicians will make London their headquarters next week in order to hear their remarks. Registration of all visitors will be made at the Medical School next Monday morning, after which a tour of inspection of the new school and the Institute of Public Health will be conducted.

Monday afternoon marks the first session of the convention, which follows a luncheon tendered to the visiting surgeons in the new Children's Hospital, by the board of governors of Western University. One of the chief speakers at this session is Dr.
Franklin H. Martin, M.D., C.M.G., of Chicago, director-general of the American College of Surgeons, who will deliver an address on "The Hospital Program of the American College of Surgeons."

Dr. Martin is editor of Surgery Gynecology and Obstetrics, a popular journal with the medical profession, and is a member of the faculty of Northwestern University Medical School. Other speakers on the Monday afternoon program are Dr. John Osborn Polak of Long Island Hospital, Brooklyn; Dr. T. C. Routley, secretary of the Ontario Medical Association; Rev. C. B. Moultrie, S.J., president of the Catholic Hospital Association of America; Dr. D. A.
Craig, provincial commissioner of the Nova Scotia Division of the Canadian Red Cross; Dr. George Ramsay of London, and Dr. Roy Kingswood, physician-in-chief at Victoria Hospital.

A round-table discussion will follow this meeting, led by Dr. M. T.
MacEachern, president of the American Hospital Association, and director-general in Canada for the American College of Surgeons.

Monday night will be devoted to a community health mass meeting in the Majestic Theatre, to which the public is invited to attend and hear noted surgeons of the United States and Canada, talk on public health subjects. This meeting will conclude "Hospital Day."

Tuesday has been designated "Doctors' Day," and clinics and clinical demonstrations will be held at St.
Joseph's and Victoria Hospitals all morning. At 2 p.m. the scientific session of the meeting will hold a session at Western University Medical School, where leading surgeons will read papers. These include Dr.
George W. Crile of Western Reserve School of Medicine, Cleveland, and
G. E. Richards, M.D., of Toronto.

Graduates of Western University will be on hand at this meeting to welcome Dr. Leonard Rowntree of the Mayo Clinic, Rochester, Minn., a former Londoner, who returns to his alma mater to give a medical clinic.
Dr. Rowntree is chief of the department of medicine at the Mayo clinic, and is best known by his discovery of the Brown test, to determine the function of the kidney, now in use in every hospital in the world.

During the two days of the annual meeting, the visitors will be permitted to inspect Byron Sanatorium, Westminster, Psychopathic Hospital and the Ontario Hospital. Monday noon they will be the guests of the hospital trust at a luncheon to be served in the Sick Children's Hospital.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

They that know thy name will put their trust in thee; for thou, Lord, hast not forsaken them that seek thee.—Psalm lx.10.

Be strong!
We are not here to play, to dream, to drift.
We have hard work to do, and loads to lift.

Shun not the struggle; face it.
'Tis God's gift.
Be strong!
It matters not how deep intrinsed the wrong,
How hard the battle goes, the day
how long.

Faint not, fight on! Tomorrow comes the song.

SURGEONS' BODY TO SHOW CANCER FILM

"The Reward of Courage" to Appear at Grand Theatre
Under the Auspices of American College.

As a means of informing the public as to the truly formidable nature of the dread disease, cancer, how it may be contracted, and the possibility of effecting a permanent cure if the growth is not allowed to reach headway, "The Reward of Courage," a moving picture endorsed by the North American College of Surgeons, will be exhibited all day Saturday at the Grand Theatre in conjunction with the regular program.

Local doctors witnessed the film
Friday morning at a private exhibition, and have given it their entire approval as a splendid means of dealing out reliable information on the subject of cancer and also of exposing quick methods, which, by means
of fraudulent advertising, are imposed upon the public as a cure, when as a matter of fact, surgeons have proved
time and time again that applications
of paste or plaster are utterly impossible as a cure for cancer, and indeed,
as yet complete cure cannot be effected unless the disease be caught
at an early stage of its growth.

NORTHERN WOODS CALL FOR MANY LUMBERMEN

Local Employment Office Seek Number of Men for Outside Work.

The local government employment bureau reports an ever-increasing demand for lumbermen and mill hands to work in the forests of Northern Ontario.

The northern mill owners are giving the preference to men of experience, but, nevertheless, there is plenty of room for even inexperienced men who wish to apply for work in this capacity.

In regard to the local employment question, employers require men who can capably hold down various positions, not merely those who need work because of the prevalent industrial depression the employment agency cannot possibly secure places in London and vicinity for all those who are seeking work here, but if they care to go outside the city the advantages are limitless. Men are wanted for road construction, apple-picking and to work as railroad brakemen.

IN LONDON PROSPEROUS

English Traveler Impressed With Condition of Wholesale Houses in City.

A traveler for the Richard Austin Company, one of the largest wholesale clothing firms in England, states that the clothing trade in this city is on a sound footing.

Mr. Austin has spent much time of late traveling throughout the British Isles, Australia and the United States, and hence his opinion as to the clothing trade in this city is on a sound footing.

Only a short time ago one of the largest men's wear firms in Hamilton failed, with liabilities to a considerable amount of $400,000.

Such an occurrence here in London is highly improbable he claims, as everyone in the local clothing trade seems optimistic regarding the prospects for the coming winter season.

From Courts of Justice.

All aspects of the juvenile court problem were discussed at a meeting of the Social Service Council Thursday night.

The members were unanimous in their opinion that conditions in London justify the existence of such an institution at the present time, and they believed no delay should be made in bringing the project to an actuality.

The Social Service Council will seek its consummation at an early date, as it feels that it is a necessity in the community if the coming generation is to be safeguarded.

Along with the court, probation officers will be advocated, men who understand children in their various moods and who will be able to work effectively to benefit children placed in their charge.

The juvenile court, it was decided, should be kept distinct from the ordinary police court, as the stigma of having been to an ordinary tribunal of justice was bound to cling to a person, it was thought, and probably such a stigma would handicap him in later life. For the juvenile court to become a success, constant supervision of delinquents by the officers in charge would be necessary as well as the sympathetic co-operation of these officers with the end in view of lessening youthful misdemeanors.

Mr. Asplund was of the opinion that the city council had not given sufficient consideration to the requests of various local bodies interested in this plan.

Wm. Tite stated that in view of the coming civic election campaign the necessity of a juvenile court should be strongly brought before the prospective candidates and, if the need arises, be made an election issue. In this connection expense should remain a minor consideration since a debt was owed to the future.

Local doctors witnessed the film
Friday morning at a private exhibition, and have given it their entire approval as a splendid means of dealing out reliable information on the
ing quick methods, which, by means
of fraudulent advertising, are imposed
upon the public as a cure, when as a matter of fact, surgeons have proved
time and time again that applications
of paste or plaster are utterly impossible as a cure for cancer, and indeed,
as yet complete cure cannot be effected unless the disease be caught
at an early stage of its growth.

Next, the problem of neighborhood and relief work, was brought forward and the same system of relief as used last year will be adopted. Many families to whom assistance was given last winter, are not in need of any help at all this year, it was reported. Every Mothers' Club in the city was organized and ready to commence charitable work at a moment's notice, it was stated.

The different units of the Social Service Council are assigned particular work in eleven different zones, thus eliminating overlapping.

An effort will be made to avoid parities, and those who—without sufficient reason—are perennial seekers of charity.

The nine playgrounds conducted during the last summer were an immense success, it was reported, and the grant of money from the city council hardly suffices to meet expenditures.

This deficit, however, has been met by drawing from the large sum left to the playgrounds fund, by a public-spirited citizen who died during the past year.

Mr. McCullough reported on behalf of the budget committee that the amount of money secured from various sources for the carrying on of the work of the Social Service Council during the past year, has been approximately $1,212. An additional amount of about $2,000 was required to clear the expenses of the year and bring the finances out on the right side of the ledger, he said.

The officers anticipate a realization of this required quota, basing their hopes on the support they received from the community at large last year.

H. B. Asplund then advocated the continued support by all the members of the motions adopted at the last meeting concerning the making known to employees in large concerns of a list of books and record firms. True copies of all such reports should be filed and made available to all the workmen who have made the goods of which they treat.

All members of the council should work to secure legislation making this motion a law. There is an economic unrest prevalent in the country due chiefly to the misunderstandings between employers and employees caused by the entertaining of erroneous ideas on both sides.

When the employer knows trade conditions and the employee does not there is bound to exist a degree of dissension between the two. When the workman is accorded facilities for learning the facts concerning the running of the business in which he works this dissension will be minimized and a greater spirit of amicability will obtain between employer and employee.

A very small number of the members were present, due partly to the inclement weather and meetings elsewhere.

DIBSDALE AWAITS GOVERNOR'S MOVE

Gordon Dibsdaile, who was found not guilty of the murder of his child sweetheart, Christina Near, on the ground of insanity, is still in the county jail awaiting the pleasure of the Lieutenant-governor in council.

Official papers required by the authorities at Toronto have been forwarded by Dr. James D. Wilson, jail physician. As yet it has not been officially decided where the prisoner will be incarcerated, but it is reported he will likely be sent to the Hamilton Asylum for the Criminally Insane.

I SPIED TODAY

PRIZE FOR BEST ITEM DAILY.

YOU must see something going on every day. Perhaps not a big thing, but interesting. The Advertiser wants you to send it for use in the "I Spied" column. Every reader a reporter is the idea behind the plan. The items must not be written to "take a stab" at any person. If so, they will not be published.

In order to create interest in the column, the GRAND OPERA

OUTLINE NEED FOR NEW CITY LIBRARY

Board Reports Largest Book Circulation in History of London.

London needs a new main public library, and a recommendation to that effect is contained in the annual statement just submitted to City Clerk Sam Baker from the library board. The report will be included in the city's pamphlet, and to be sent to the ratepayers before the election. This is a customary undertaking from year to year.

By reason of the congested state of the main building, corner of Queen's avenue and Wellington street, the report reads, a new and modern structure is desirable within a reasonable length of time.

Three branches were maintained the past year in addition to the main building. The number of books in circulation attained a total of, the highest in the history of the city, $75,000, and 23,000 citizens were registered as consistent readers.

City Clerk Baker points out that the cost per capita for the library is trifling each year, a matter of thirty odd cents.

PACK BALES FOR NORTH VICTIMS

London Women Secure Wright & Sons Building for Work.

Appeal to Citizens to Assist in Worthy Object.

Plenty of storeroom for donations of clothing, bedding, etc., from the citizens of London for the relief of sufferers in Northern Ontario has been secured at 539 Richmond street, the building formerly occupied by Wright & Sons.

The civic center, in charge of a committee of women, representing the city council, under the convenership of Mrs. A. T. Edwards, will be there during this week to receive and pack goods for shipment. These will be forwarded as quickly as possible, the C. P. R. offering the use of all the cars necessary for transportation.

Mrs. A. T. Edwards, who had wide experience in organizing during the war as organizing secretary of the London branch of the Canadian Red Cross, and also mobilizing relief for Belgium and Serbia, as an officer of the Women's Canadian Club, is making an earnest appeal to the women's organizations in the churches to assist, first in seeing that the subject of relief for Northern Ontario is brought before the various congregations on Sunday next, Oct. 15.

"The women's societies in the churches are so well organized, and did such splendid work in the war," said Mrs. Edwards, Friday, "that they will be ready to reach the membership of their own congregations on shortest notice."

The city's grant, and any donations left during the next week at the office at 539 Richmond street, will be expended for supplies in London.

Importantly needed in the work of collecting will be "motor transports." Mrs. Edwards is asking for volunteers with automobiles to assist in this work, in order that all supplies may be in during the days the depot is available.

A problem arising in connection with the store rooms and administration office is that of heating.

"It would be poor policy to freeze the women acting for the city as a relief committee," was a comment made. A suggested solution is a donation of coal from one of the city dealers, a means of serving the fire sufferers indirectly but effectively.

Information with regard to the relief work may be obtained by telephoning to 1619, dropping a card to 183 Oxford street, Mrs. Edwards's address, or calling at 539 Richmond street. Prospective donors of coal may also find it advisable to telephone, in order to prevent overlapping.

FIX PRICE OF ANTHRACITE
AT $9.25 AT U. S. MINES

Washington, Oct. 12.—An agreement which is expected to result in fixing the maximum price of anthracite mined by independent operators at $9.25 per ton at the mines, has been reached between the Pennsylvania authorities and Fuel Distributors' Spens, representing the federal government.

REPORT BUSINESS BETTER IN CITY

London reports to Bradstreet's say that the feeling of optimism in business circles here reported last week is well sustained, and the volume of trade at both retail and wholesale houses is showing improvement. Retailers at tributary points are showing confidence in the future, and while placing orders for spring are not large yet, the movement of goods in a sorting way is satisfactory. Industrial plants continue to be well employed, while building operations continue active, with a consequent good demand for supplies. Collections are somewhat better.

Crops—It is estimated that there will be considerable reduction in the area sown to fall wheat this year.

ADVISES BUILDING ON DAKIN STREET SITE

Trustee J. B. Wright Would Proceed With School Building Immediately.

The school board should forthwith abandon the Oliver street public school location and build as soon as possible upon their property at the corner of Dakin and Price streets, according to School Trustee J. B.
Wright, chairman of the Technical School committee.

In addition to this, the school trustees should proceed in 1923, the chairman continued, to outline their building program and proceed with it, paying scant attention to what the mayor or councillors may think or do.

"If the citizens desire that the mayor and aldermen should handle the school affairs as well as their own, they should eliminate the school board," contends Trustee Wright, who still holds that the switch from the Dakin street site to the proposed location at the corner of Oliver and Trudalgar streets was arbitrary.

Had the trustees proceeded early this year as they originally planned, it is not unreasonable to suppose,
he states, that Southeast London would have a new public school practically ready for occupancy today.

The prospects now are, he points out, that the board will be lucky if actual construction is in progress next spring.

Telling the Public.

APPARENTLY the medical profession has at last broken away from its time-honored habit of hiding its light under a bushel. It is now taking the public into its confidence and is endeavoring to explain what it is attempting to do in the way of making the country safe for the sick.

Many things have been accomplished in the past, but have been almost unnoticed because of a lack of publicity. In the year 1911 the mortality from typhoid fever in the province of Ontario was about 53 per hundred thousand of population. Today it is less than four. Notwithstanding which, almost every attempt on the part of the profession to cure, to alleviate, or, better still, to prevent disease, is viewed with suspicion and distrust because the average individual cannot understand any body of men cutting the ground from under their feet.

Today the hospital is the main meeting-place of the sick public and the medical profession. Anything that tends towards better hospitals, better service, better care, better laboratory facilities, or better equipment is all in the best interest of the public of our country.

It would seem, therefore, that the Ontario section of the American College of Surgeons is rendering a unique service to the population of London and its vicinity in inviting them to attend a community health mass meeting at the Majestic Theatre on Monday night, October 16, to listen to recognized leaders of the profession explain what scientific medicine can do, what can be accomplished by routine pre-natal care, what standardized, or in other words, better hospitals, can bring about, and what the aims, ideals and ambitions of the medical profession of Ontario really amount to.

One Way Out.

COME, gather round, all you housekeepers who complain of the high cost of living. Everybody talks about it. When the man walks into the manager's office to ask for a greater reward for his labors, he always keeps old H. C. of L. as the last trump card, feeling that if he isn't worth any more money he is at least entitled to live. And when editors can't think of anything else to write about they can always rumple up the brow, and fill five inches on the H. C. of L. So it is that he's come to be part and parcel of our existence.

But, hark ye, hither comes the governor of the jail, BYRON DAWSON, fresh from the task of counting up meals and what he has paid for them. And as he counts noses and totals up the roller oats column alongside of the expenditure on beef stew, cream puffs and plum pudding, he announces that he has fed his children of the jail on 14.5 cents per day.

So, now, let's get the stubby pencil at work and see what this means. The average family, according to the government count, consists of five persons, so on jail diet the bill for the week would be $5.18, or if some person edged in for a second helping of plum pudding it might go up as high as $5.20 for the week.

Nor can it be said that it is starvation diet, for the family at the jail, most of them, are able to do a bit of work around the premises, and there have been times when they possessed enough strength on prison diet to knock a hole in the wall or saw out a couple of iron bars and get away, and still retain enough strength after all those exertions to keep on going. So there is proof positive that there is considerable virtue in the fodder that is provided at Dawson Castle.

It might be a good thing to make the acquaintance of the governor of the jail to find out how he does it. It might even pay the head of the house to hit his neighbor on the nose or something in that line, so that he might get in and see for himself how the thing works out. Let him weigh in when he enters and then mount the scales when he is marked exit. If all is well he can stand around the kitchen at home and cut the H. C. of L. all to pieces.

The governor of the jail has at least pointed out how to stay one big giant that has been scaring us for a long time.

No More of This.

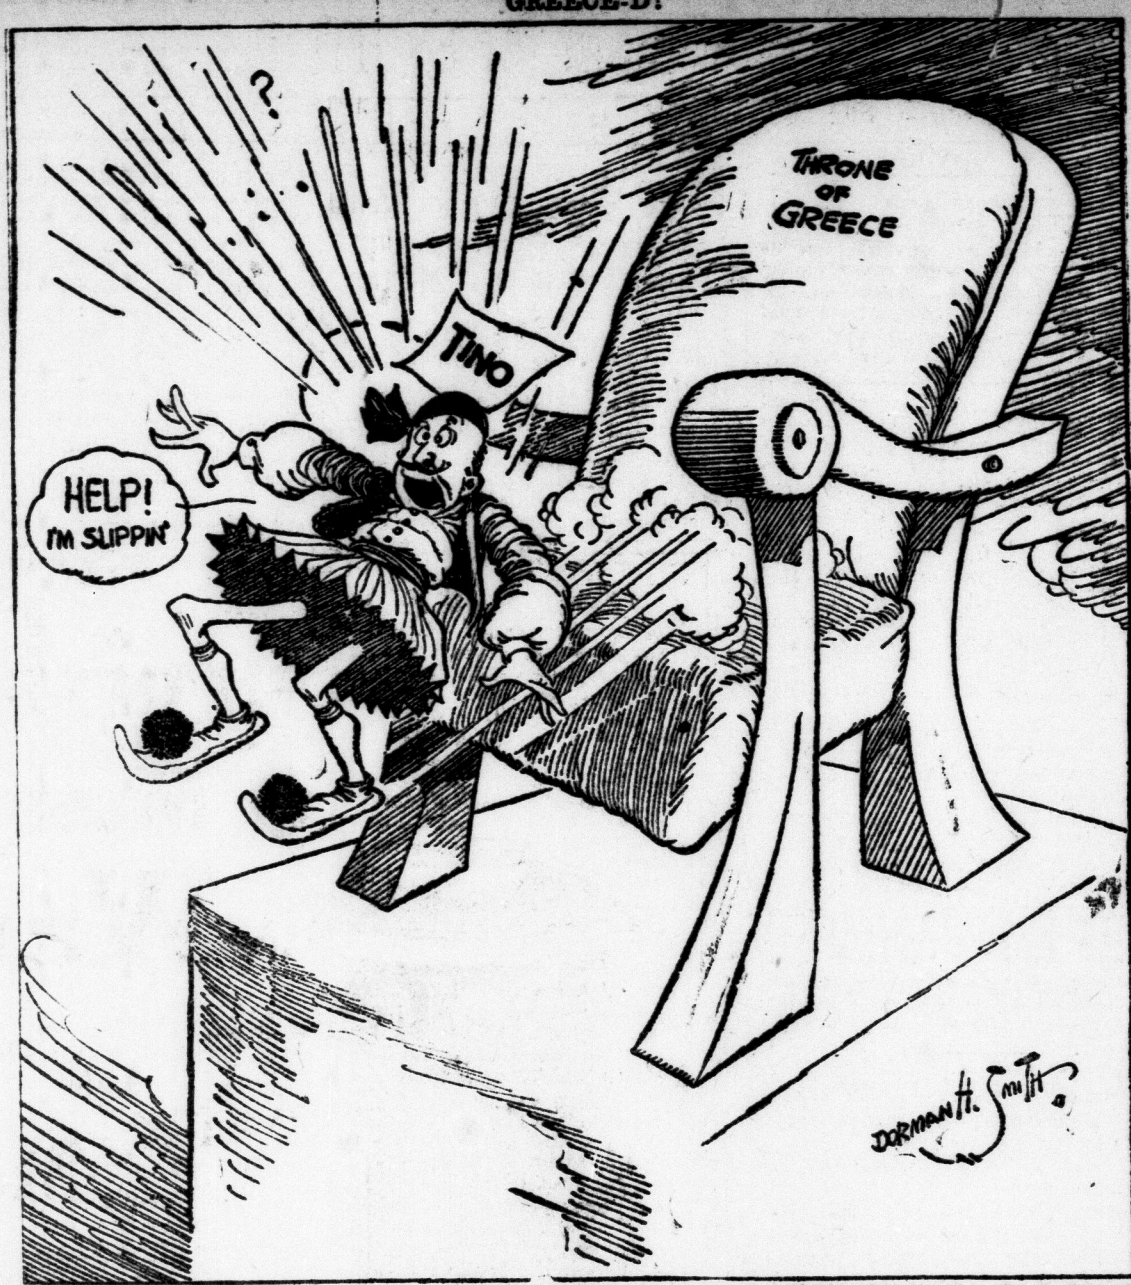

OF investigations there seems to be no end.

The latest is in Woodstock, N.B., where the authorities feel they are justified in inquiring into the events connected with a condemned man who had to be hanged twice before he was pronounced dead.

The condemned man, SWIN, was hanged and cut down, and then it was found he was not dead, and the operation had to be repeated.

It is not a comfortable matter to discuss, nor yet to investigate. At the same time it may be necessary that some such unspeakable butchery has taken place before it wakes the country up to the point that a decent and sane method will be worked out to take charge of executions.

Right now it is the duty of the sheriff to see that an execution is carried out, and as a general thing he can secure the services of a hangman who has had experience in such matters.

Following that there is always the resultant morbid curiosity connected with his visit to the place of the execution, the keeping out of the crowds that want to gain admission, the building of the scaffold, and always the chance that some slip may take place just as it did in the Woodstock butchery.

The executions in Canada could all take place at one spot, and there could be arrangements made to handle the carrying out of death sentences with the least possible publicity, and with every detail so worked out that a hitch in the performance of the task would be almost an impossibility.

The authorities have had this matter brought to their attention times without number, and still no action is taken.

Is it going to be necessary to have another Woodstock butchery job before they will move in the matter?

He Lifts a Ton.

A PHENOMENALLY strong man is discovered working in a steel mill at Youngstown, Ohio. He is Gus Lessis, 22, a Greek.

Gus first attracts attention by absent-mindedly picking up a one-ton steel beam and carrying it up a flight of stairs. This, of course, nearly shuts down the mill.

Crowds gather about Gus. He entertains them by bending an iron bar, three-quarters of an inch in diameter, around his neck like a corkscrew, then unwinding it.

BARNUM once said, "If you have anything worth showing, get it under canvas."

So Gus takes the road and charges admission.

Without straining himself, Gus could pick up a ton of coal, wagon and all. You wonder what he looks like?

Well, he weighs only 155. Compared with size, he is a weakling alongside an ant.

Nevertheless, he is one of the strongest men in the world.

His strength was not acquired in gymnastics. He says he inherited it. That, however, is only partly correct. When a human body weighing 185 pounds easily lifts 13 times its weight, a good part of that strength is in the will power.

You have had this experience: You try to lift a heavy weight, strain every muscle into action, but cannot budge it.

That makes you mad. Anger arouses the will power. You lift again. The weight rises clear of the ground.

Muscles are like the wires that carry electric current. The real power is in the mind. It is will power. A weakling, suddenly gone insane, could literally tie Gus Lessis in a knot. In asylums, four or more powerful men frequently are required to subdue a frail woman in a maniacal frenzy. Weak muscles, strong will power.

Whether lifting weights, accomplishing hard tasks or conquering obstacles, will power is your greatest force. It lies dormant in most brains, a sleeping giant waiting to be roused.

Confidence alone can rouse it. That's why confidence in self is the skeleton key that opens the doors of success. Also why the man of apparently small ability so often "bluffs his way through."

Failure is never more than a temporary setback until the will power retreats in dismay and admits defeat.

BUSYNESS

By Berton Bruley.

YOU say you are "awfully busy." You look it, there isn't a doubt. You move at a pace that is dizzy. But what are you busy about? Just pause in your striving and straining. And cease, for a bit, to gyrate. And spend a few moments explaining What you have accomplished to date!

HOW much of your vim energetic Is wisely and sanely applied? How much is mere hustle frenetic? I leave it for you to decide. How much of this split-second hurry Is getting you honor or pelf, How much of it's hustle and flurry With which you are kidding yourself?

IT'S seldom indeed that hard work kills. But many men get below par, While running round swiftly in circles, Exclaiming how busy they are! How much of your strength is expended In mere wasteful effort, old scout? You say you are busy—that's splendid, But what are you busy about?

Complaints are frequently heard about express charges being higher than the traffic will stand. A London businessman informed us today that 100 pounds shipped to a point not far from London cost $110, whereas the same parcel can be picked up and carried by a truck service that goes that way for 60 cents. That may be one reason why these truck lines are springing up all over the country, and why they all seem to be getting their share of the business.

One thing that must be watched in connection with the relief for fire sufferers in the Northern Ontario district is that the first outbreak of public generosity does not spend itself without adequate provision being made for the wants of those who need help. The public purse will open at once for such a trouble, but the need in this case is so great that the public purse may be required to remain open for some time. Hundreds of these people have lost everything.

RENAISSANCE: By Beaumont S. Cornell. Macmillans, publishers. Price, $2.

The Macmillans in Canada announce as their outstanding Fall novel, "Renaissance" by Beaumont S. Cornell.

The author of "Renaissance" was born in 1892 in Athens, a typical Ontario village, near Brockville. The son of a successful practitioner, Dr. Stanley S. Cornell, he came in contact, early in life, with a wide variety of human experience, the value of which in his future work as a surgeon was augmented by the fact that his father, like many of the old school of rural physicians, possessed a marked strain of philosophical insight.

Mr. Cornell's up-bringing and elementary education was that of the average Ontario boy. After graduating from high school at Athens he spent several years as a surveyor in the wilds of Northern Ontario before matriculating at Victoria College, University of Toronto, as a student in Arts.

After one year of Arts, Mr. Cornell commenced the Medical course, which he completed in time to serve two years as an officer in the R. A. M. C.

Added to a naturally keen mind and inquiring nature, Mr. Cornell has, like many other Canadian boys who reached maturity during the stress of war times, had an unusually varied and colorful experience. Teaching, salesmanship, civil engineering, practicing medicine in London, England, and later in Canada, have all left their impress on the mind of Mr. Cornell, and, fortunately, he possesses in rare degree the power of passing on his experiences and his philosophy of life to his readers through the medium of polished, but unadorned English prose.

It was during his London days that Mr. Cornell gained the knowledge of metropolitan local color, and of labor conditions which he has so skillfully utilized in "Renaissance."

Friday, 13, Brings Many Fears

Keep your fingers crossed—Look out for ladders and spilled salt.

And run if you see a black cat. For today is Friday the 13th (Black Friday), the star Jonah combination of them all.

That is, if you're superstitious.

But if you're inclined to scoff at the Friday jinx idea, here is an argument in your favor:

Columbus' expedition which discovered America set sail on Friday and landed on Friday.

Where the Friday 13 idea came from is still in doubt. The most probable explanation is that the Crusades gave rise to the Friday part, and the 13 part from the fact that the Hebrew words for "death" and for "thirteen" were identical.

H. G. WELLS' FAMOUS OUTLINE OF HISTORY

The Romance of Mother Earth

The Strange Case of the Tasmanians.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT—29.

It is necessary now to discuss plainly what is meant by a phrase, used often very carelessly, "The Races of Mankind."

It must be evident from what has already been explained in Chapter III. that man, so widely spread and subjected therefore to great differences of climate, consuming very different food in different regions, attacked by different enemies, must always have been undergoing considerable local modification and differentiation.

Man, like every other species of living thing, has constantly been tending to differentiate into several species; wherever a body of men has been cut off, in islands or oceans or by deserts or mountains, from the rest of humanity, it must have begun very soon to develop special characteristics, specially adapted to the local conditions.

Two Contending Forces. But, on the other hand, man is usually a wandering and enterprising animal for whom there exist few insurmountable barriers. Men interfere, one people with another. Concurrently for thousands of years there have been two sets of forces at work, one tending to separate men into a multitude of local varieties, and another to remix and blend these varieties together before a separate series has been established.

These two sets of forces may have fluctuated in this relative effect in the past. Palaeolithic man, for instance, may have been more of a wanderer, he may have drifted about over a much greater area, than later Neolithic man; he was less fixed to any sort of home or lair, he was tied by fewer possessions. Being a hunter he was obliged to follow the migrations of his ordinary quarry. Men in hundreds of miles. He may therefore have mixed very widely and developed few varieties over the greater part of the world.

The appearance of agriculture tended to fix these communities of mankind that took it up to the region in which it was most conveniently obtained.

Mixing or differentiation is not dependent upon a higher or lower stage of civilization; many savage tribes wander now for hundreds of miles; many English villagers in the eightteenth century, on the other hand, had never been more than eight or ten miles from their villages, neither they nor their fathers nor grandfathers before them.

Hunting peoples often have enormous range. The Labrador country, for instance, is inhabited by a few thousand Indians, who follow the one great herd of caribou as it wanders yearly north and then south again in pursuit of food. This mere handful of people covers a territory as large as France. Nomad peoples also range very widely. Some Kalmuck tribes are said to travel nearly a thousand miles between summer and winter pasture.

It carries out this suggestion, that Palaeolithic man ranged widely and was distributed thinly indeed but uniformly, throughout the world, that the Palaeolithic remains we find are everywhere astonishingly uniform.

From the Seine to Somaliland. To quote Sir John Evans, "The implements in distant lands are so identical in form and character with the British specimens that they might have been manufactured by the same hands. . . . On the banks of the Nile, many hundreds of feet above its present level, implements of the European types have been discovered; while in Somaliland, in an ancient river-valley at a great elevation above the sea, Sir H. W. Seton-Karr has collected a large number of implements formed of flint and quartzite, which judging from their form and character, might have been dug out of the drift-deposits of the Somme and the Seine, the Thames or the ancient Solent."

Phases of spreading and inter-mixture have probably alternated with phases of settlement and specialization in the history of mankind. But up to a few hundred years ago it is probable that since the days of the Palaeolithic Age at least mankind has on the whole been differentiating. The species has differentiated in that period into a very great number of varieties, many of which have re-blended with others, which have spread and undergone further differentiation or become extinct. Wherever there has been a strongly marked local difference of conditions and a check upon intermixture, there one is almost obliged to assume a variety of mankind must have appeared. Of such local varieties there must have been a great multitude.

In one remote corner of the world, Tasmania, a little cut-off population of people remained in the early Palaeolithic stage until the discovery of that island by the Dutch in 1642. They are now, unhappily, extinct. The last Tasmanian died in 1877. They may have been cut off from the rest of mankind for 15,000 or 20,000 or 25,000 years.

MRS. PANKHURST BACKS CAUSE OF BABIES' RIGHTS

Famous Suffragist Raps Double Standard, Addressing Women's Club.

Declares Physical, Mental, Moral Health Birthright of Every Canadian Child.

A perfect race of human beings in Canada, the insurance of safety for motherhood and the birthright for every child of being born into the world healthy in body, healthy in mind and endowed with those spiritual qualities which combine with healthy body and mind, make for perfect citizenship, was the high ideal towards which to work set before the members of the Women's Canadian Club on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the eminent suffragist.

Delivering her lecture in the Central Collegiate auditorium on the subject of "Social Hygiene," the speaker declared that it will never be possible to approach such ideal conditions until a single moral standard is insisted upon for men and women.

At the door of the double moral standard she laid age-long evil which the human race has suffered, the appalling extent of infant mortality, a large share of the enormous cost of caring for thousands who grow up unfit for the struggle of life, the wastage of life and happiness.

Support was bespoken for, and co-operation with the social hygiene movement to be organized for London at a mass meeting of citizens to be held Friday evening in the auditorium of the new medical school. In this connection a brief history was given of the present movement in Great Britain, Canada, the United States, France and many other countries of the world, with the backing of the governments of these, a movement to which revelations of the war gave tremendous impetus and assured its success. Brief mention was made of earlier movements along the same line of the social purity campaign inaugurated in England by a heroic woman, Josephine Butler, at a time when statesmen and even scientists were against it. One thing, it achieved, however, brought about repeal of "terrible laws on the statutes of Great Britain."

The next crusade mentioned was W. T. Stead, famous British journalist, who used his paper in the '80's in endeavor to arouse public opinion. "But these movements were not destined to succeed," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "because the mind of the public was not prepared for them."

"Then the war came, and conditions changed. Largely due to the war, women received the rights of citizenship, and because of the war, the present great movement for social hygiene has been made possible."

"The awakening came," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "when man power was needed, and certain facts in the various nations concerned showed the serious conditions."

"In British Columbia, which doubtless is fairly representative of other provinces in Canada, as a result of medical examinations, fifteen per cent of the men were rejected because they were infected with racial diseases, which rendered them unfit for military services, and on account of causes closely allied to public standards of morals."

"This condition could not have existed if there had been one single standard of morals for men and women, the highest."

"Based on such reports, Canada and the other nations realized something had to be done, first, to keep the healthy men in the army physically fit. Expedients that would be intolerable in peace time can be resorted to in war time. Scientists and professional men set to work on the problem. A great conference was called in Ottawa, and as an outcome of information received, the Dominion government voted the largest sum ever voted for public health service since the Dominion has been established. This was apportioned to each of the provinces, the provinces in each case to contribute an equal amount."

Praises Ontario Laws. Continuing, Mrs. Pankhurst told of the establishments of free clinics, for treatment of sufferers from racial diseases, the enacting of legislation with regard to reporting cases, etc. The Ontario laws in this connection she termed the best she had ever seen dealing with the question.

"But," said Mrs. Pankhurst, "it is not enough to have laws. Laws are not effective unless sanctioned by public opinion. No laws will help people unless they know about them."

"This was responsible for the setting up of an independent, but friendly organization to educate, warn and tell the people what the government was doing in the way of laws and health measures. Today, the organization is known as the Canadian National Council for Social Hygiene, a much more comprehensive title than the original name chosen in 1919, when the chief function was combating of racial disease. It has developed and grown beyond dealing with the disease problem and become more the work of prevention."

Concerning the birthright of physical, mental and moral health for Canadian children, "do you know," said the speaker, "that 20,000 children die in their first year in Canada, born as they are without the endowment of health to weather the first year?"

"We are horrified by a catastrophe like the fire in Northern Ontario, shocked by the sudden violent death of a single child. But we scarcely glance at the little heading 'Vital Statistics' in the paper, which tells of wholesale catastrophe and loss of child life."

"The children who die in their first year perhaps are the fortunate ones, because thousands grow up unfit for the struggle of life. You know what women are doing for the establishment of hospitals, the way of caring for the feeble-minded, for incurable children, in rescue work. Manitoba, with a population of 600,000 or 700,000 people, spends on hospitals, social service work, palliative work, in prisons, four million dollars annually. Think of the burden imposed on the population, patching up human beings, undoing evil! Think what it would mean to have this money expended for constructive purposes! Think of the loss these people are to a province that needs people so much!"

With regard to the safeguarding of motherhood, "Do you know," interrogated Mrs. Pankhurst, "that more mothers die at childbirth than soldiers in fields of battle?"

Reverting to the subject of the single standard of morals, and pleading for it in the interests of the race, "everyone says that it is a wonderful ideal, but contrary to human nature, and that human nature cannot change," said the speaker. "My experience tells me nothing is more easily changed than human nature. Human nature this year is what the last year made it. Bring up every child with inbred responsibility towards the race, with responsibility with regard to parenthood, respect for others and the sanctity of life, and the human race would in time become worthy of its divine origin."

"The greatest monument that could be erected to the pioneers of the past in Canada, to the heroic men who gave their lives in the war, would be a memorial of flesh and blood, a race of human beings worthy of the sacrifice, and fit to take up the tremendous and awful responsibilities of citizenship."

Mrs. F. W. Hughes presided, a large representation of the membership of the club turning out to hear Mrs. Pankhurst and accord her lecture enthusiastic applause.

Sir Arthur Currie Cannot Come To Open War Memorial Hospital

MANY other engagements and duties will prevent General Sir Arthur Currie, last commander of the Canadian forces overseas in the Great War, and now president of McGill University, from officiating at the opening ceremonies in connection with the War Memorial Children's Hospital on Saturday, October 28.

In view of a letter of regret which has been received, in response to the invitation forwarded by Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, honorary secretary of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, it will be necessary for the program committee to make other plans at a meeting to be held early next week. The committee consists of the hospital trust, with five representatives of the Municipal Chapter, I. O. D. E., and five representatives from the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee.

The letter of Sir Arthur Currie is as follows: McGill University, Montreal. Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, honorary secretary, War Memorial Children's Hospital Committee, London, Ontario.

Dear Madam,—On my return to Montreal, I found awaiting me your letter of September 19, in which you honored me by inviting me to be present at the opening ceremonies of the Children's Memorial Hospital on Saturday, October 28.

I am extremely sorry that arrangements for the next three months prevent my being with you to participate in the ceremonies.

My deep sympathy with the splendid project you have undertaken renders my inability to be present all the more regrettable. I sincerely congratulate the Daughters of the Empire on their form of memorial.

Yours faithfully, (Signed) ARTHUR CURRIE.

In addition to the large sum taken in, a substantial bundle of warm clothing was packed for the Northern Ontario fire sufferers.

UNION MOTHERS' CLUB.

"Importance of Courtesy and Self-Respect" is the theme on which Col. W. J. Brown will address the meeting Friday evening in Lord Roberts School of the London Union Mothers' Club. The meeting is being held Friday evening instead of Monday, owing to the public health mass meeting, to be addressed in the Majestic Theatre Monday evening by eminent specialists attending the convention of the Ontario section of the American College of Surgeons.

BESIEGED WITH CUSTOM.

The Abigail Becker Chapter, I. O. D. E., has been besieged with trade at the rummage sale in progress, under its auspices in the old Peters' store on Richmond street. The sale is continuing while the stock holds out.

CLASS '40' MEETS.

Class "40" of Dundas Street Methodist Church held a very interesting meeting on Thursday, October 5, at the home of Mrs. W. E. Wilson, William street. The president, Miss Lillian Davidson, was in the chair. Considerable business was discussed and plans laid for the coming year. Arrangements were also made for a handkerchief race to be held in November. Light refreshments were served by the hostess at the close of the meeting.

On the centenary in Toronto.

Open house will be kept all day Monday and Tuesday at the War Memorial Children's Hospital in order to afford the delegates attending the convention of the Ontario Section of the American College of Surgeons an opportunity of making visits of thorough inspection. The public, it is stated, will also be welcome these days. Mrs. Arthur H. Smith, convener of the War Memorial Children's Hospital committee, is arranging for three hostesses to be on duty each hour from nine in the morning to six in the evening, the members of the committee and twenty-six or more societies affiliated assisting.

A brilliant event of Wednesday was the luncheon given by Mrs. Edward Ferguson at the Queen's Hotel in honor of Mrs. Arthur Murphy of Edmonton, Mrs. Murphy, wearing a handsome dress of black charmeuse, heavily embroidered in steel beads with chinchilla collar and black velvet hat with feathers, assisted the hostess in receiving the women of the Press Club, who numbered about 75. Mrs. Ferguson looked very smart in a dress of blue crepe with Oriental trimmings. After dinner toasts were proposed to the king, to Mrs. Murphy, and to the hostess. Mrs. Murphy gave a charming little address, in which she gave all the ladies a cordial invitation to the West next year. "Toronto Globe."

A charming tea was given at "The Beeches," Thursday, by Misses Isabel and Marian Coles, in honor of Miss Eleanor McPhillips, an October bride-elect. Mrs. Hugh McCrimmon presided at the attractive tea table, adorned with pink and white anemones. The guests included: Mrs. Ernest Bluetner, Mrs. Leonard Townsend, Mrs. Russell Beattie, Mrs. Ralph McPhillips, Mrs. Lionel Tobias, Mrs. Wilson Purdom, Mrs. John Harvey, Mrs. Russell Croden, Mrs. Hugh Shuttleworth, Mrs. John Barnard, Mrs. Kippen, Mrs. George Grange, Mrs. Eric Reid, Mrs. St. Clair McEwenne and Misses Eileen Regan, Priscilla Ball, Doris Belton, Babbs Chisholm, Isabel Muir, Louise Duffield, Angela McPhillips and Miss Dorothy Fitzgerald of Riverside, Conn.

A smart affair of Thursday afternoon was the bridge and tea given in the officers' quarters at the armories, under the auspices of the Seventh Regent Chapter, I. O. D. E. The rooms were effectively decorated with halloween favors, the table centered with a large bowl of salvia and autumn foliage, surrounded by black cats. The many guests were welcomed by the regent, Mrs. F. H. Butler, and tea was poured out by Mrs. A. A. Campbell and Mrs. William Beattie. The excellent arrangements were in charge of the convener, Mrs. D. M. Morrison, assisted by Mrs. J. E.

Following the meeting of the Women's Canadian Club, addressed by Mrs. Pankhurst on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. F. W. Hughes called the executive together to arrange for placing a wreath on the Cross of Sacrifice in Mount Pleasant Cemetery after the unveiling ceremonies on Sunday next.

Mrs. Hadley Williams is entertaining at the tea hour Monday at "Windermere" in honor of Mrs. Franklin Martin, wife of Dr. Martin of Chicago, head of the College of Surgeons of America, and of Mrs. M. T. MacEachern, wife of Dr. MacEachern, president of the American Association and director-general of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Miss Maude Taylor was the hostess Thursday evening of a dinner party at Wong's Cafe, in honor of Miss Isabel Malloch, a popular bride-elect of this month. Covers were laid for nine, and the table was decked with pink and white flowers and attractive pink favors. The guests included: Mrs. Bert Parkinson and Misses Sadie Doherty, Geraldine Walker, Mabel Knowles, Vera McKenzie, Jessie and Agnes Malloch.

Of interest to many London friends and relatives is the announcement of the marriage which took place in St. Paul's Church, Toronto, Tuesday, Rev. Canon Cody officiating, of Aileen Young, widow of Capt. Arthur Hamilton Young of Winnipeg, and daughter of Mr. P. W. D. Broderick of Toronto, formerly of London, to Edward Cronyn of Montreal, son of the late Mr. Benjamin Cronyn of this city.

At the monthly meeting of the national executive, I. O. D. E., held in Toronto Tuesday, a resolution of sympathy was extended to the national organizing secretary, Mrs. John A. Stewart of Perth, on the death of her husband, Hon. John A. Stewart, formerly minister of railways. The meeting adjourned over the time of the funeral. It was arranged that Mrs. Arthur Peplar should place a wreath on the Cenotaph in London, England, on Armistice Day, and in behalf of the Daughters of the Empire of Canada, a similar floral tribute will be placed

The FLAMING JEWEL

by ROBERT W. CHAMBERS

CHAPTER III.

SOMEBODY had halted beside Eve. After a pause she was aware of nimble fingers busy with the bandage over her eyes.

At first, when freed, the light blinded her. By degrees she was able to distinguish the rocky crest of Star Peak, with the tops of tall trees appearing level with the rocks from depths below.

He wore a white mask over a delicate, smoothly shaven face.

As she met his brilliant eyes behind the mask, his delicate, thin lips grew tense in what seemed to be a smile—or a soundless sort of laugh.

"Veree happen," he said, "to make the acquaintance. Pardon my uncertainty, miss, but on necessary compels. Are you, perhaps, a little rested?"

"Yes."

"Ah! Then, if you permit, we proceed with affairs of moment. You will be sufficiently kind to write down what I say. Yes?"

He placed paper and pencil in Eve's hand. Without demurring or hesitation she made ready to write, her mind groping wildly for the reason of it all.

"Write," he said, with his silent laugh, which was more like the soundless snarl of a lynx afraid: "To Miss Clinch, my fathaire, from his child, Eve. . . I am a hostage, held by Jose Quintana. Pay what you owe him and I go free."

"For each day delay he sends to you one finger which will be severed from my right hand—"

Eve's slender fingers trembled; she looked up at the masked man, stared steadily into his brilliant eyes.

"Proceed, miss, if you are so amiable," he said softly.

She wrote on: "One finger for every day's delay. The whole hand at the week's end. The other hand then, finger by finger. Then, alas! the right foot—"

Eve trembled.

"Proceed," he said softly.

She wrote: "If you agree you shall pay what you owe to Jose Quintana in this manner: you shall place a stick at the edge of the Star Pond where the last harum-scarum dress of mine is. Upon the stick you shall lay the parcel which contains your indent to Jose Quintana."

"Falling this, by tonight one finger at sunset."

Costume for School Miss

THE school girl's costume is receiving a little consideration now from Dame Fashion.

A smart frock that allows for absolute freedom and still has very good lines, is that harum-scarum dress of blue, trimmed with rows of white braid.

The full skirt forms its own bloomers. What child would not appreciate those rosy cheeks? And what is more typically youthful than the neat sailor collar?

NUTS ARE RICH IN FOOD VALUE

BY BERTHA E. SHAPLEIGH.

CRISP October days always bring new nuts, and one of the autumn pleasures is to gather the winter's supply.

In some parts of the United States we have the pecan, one of the finest flavored nuts; the black walnut, and in California the wonderful almond, which has figured in the history of man for centuries.

It is probably possible to use the almond in a greater variety of dishes

The man paused. Eve waited, dumb under the surging confusion in her brain. A sort of incredulous horror-bemusement, through which she still heard and perceived.

Then the masked man took the letter, got up, removed his hat.

"I am Quintana," he said. "I keep my word. A thousand thanks and apologies, miss. I trust that your detention may be brief and not too disagreeable. I place at your feet my humble respects."

He bowed, put on his hat, and walked quickly away. And she saw him descend the rocks to the eastward, where the peak slopes.

When Quintana had disappeared behind the summit scrub and rocks, Eve slowly stood up and looked about her at the rocky pulpit so familiar.

There was only one way out. Quintana had gone that way. His men no doubt guarded it. Otherwise, sheer precipices confronted her.

The sun was half way between zenith and horizon when she heard somebody coming, and rose to a sitting posture. Her visitor was Quintana.

He came up to her quite close, stood with glittering eyes intent upon her.

After a moment he handed her a letter.

She could scarcely unfold it, she trembled so: "Grittle, give that packet to Quintana and come on home. I'm near crazy with it all. What's anything worth beside you, grittle? I don't care for nothing only you, so come on quick. Dad."

After a little while she lifted her eyes to Quintana.

"So," he said quietly, "you are the little she-fox that has learned tricks already."

"What do you mean?"

"Where is that packet?"

"I brought it."

"Where is it?"

She shook her head slightly.

"You had a packet," he insisted, fiercely. "Look here! Regard!" and he spread out a pencilled sheet in Clinch's hand.

"Jose Quintana:

"You win. She's got that stuff with her. Take your junk and let my girl go."

"Well," said Quintana, a thin, strident edge to his tone.

"My father is mistaken. I haven't any packet."

The man's visage behind his mask flushed darkly. Without warning or ceremony he caught Eve by the throat and tore open her shirt. Then, hissing and cursing and panting with his own violence, he searched her brutally and without mercy—flung her down and tore off her spiral puttees and even her shoes and stockings, now apparently beside himself with fury, puffing, gasping, always with a fierce, nasal sort of whining undertone like an animal worrying its kill.

"Cowardly beast!" she panted, "filthy, cowardly beast!" striking at him, wrenching his grasp away, snatching at the disordered clothing half stripped from her.

His hunting knife fell clattering and she fought to get it, but he struck her with his open hand, knocking her down at his feet, and stood glaring at her with every tooth bared.

"So," he cried, "I give you ten minutes, make up your mind, tell me what you do with that packet."

He wiped the blood from his face where she had struck him.

"You don't know Jose Quintana. No! You shall make his acquaintance. Yes!"

Eve got up on naked feet, quivering from head to foot, striving to button the gray shirt at her throat.

Her mute lips only lightened.

"Ever well, my God! he cried. 'I go make me some fire. You like it, eh? We shall put one toe in the fire until it burns off. Yes. Eh? How you like it? Eh?'"

The girl's trembling hands continued busy with her clothing.

"So!" he said, hoarsely, "you remain dumb! Well, then, in ten minutes you shall talk!"

He walked toward her, pushed her savagely aside, and strode on into the spruce thicket.

The instant he disappeared Eve caught up the knife he had dropped, knelt down on the blanket and fell to cutting it into strips.

The hunting knife was like a razor; the feverish business was accomplished in a few moments, the pieces knotted, the cord strained in a desperate test over her knee.

Nuts and Meat. Someone has said that instead of considering nuts as a meat substitute, meat should really be called a nut substitute.

Nuts are nature's meat, used, perhaps, before any cooking was known. We have grown accustomed to using nuts as an addition to a meal, combining them with raisins and fruit.

That combination is ideal, but might

JACK looked over his map carefully and found that by taking this road he could cut off many miles from his journey to the hidden treasure. This meant the saving of much time.

THEN the little adventurer decided to take a chance and continue on this blocked path. "Come on, Flip," yelled Jack. "No more stops until we find the buried gold."

JACK's horse, Lightning, used all his strength and tore down the road. In the meantime Jack spied a man some distance ahead. He was standing in the road holding a gun.

"STOP right where you are, you young scamp," commanded the man when Jack reached him. "Can't you see that this is a private road, or aren't you able to read?" Continued.

Turkish Influence Seen in Clothes

BY MARIAN HALE.

LIKE good Mohammedans, we are all looking toward the East for sartorial as well as political developments.

The political situation may fill us with apprehension, but the styles give us joy. The Turkish influence is one of the most popular ones that has reached us, via Paris, for many a day.

Harem beauties learned long ago how to frame the face becomingly and have been little influenced by changing styles. They have become such artists with the veil that though custom no longer requires them to wear it on all occasions they cling to it from sheer coquetry.

They still wear it draped about the face and their chin veil has been stolen by Parisian designers to be one of the season's most popular styles.

Of black lace, it gives a grace and beauty to the simplest hat and is more effective than any chin strap known in keeping the double chin out of evidence.

The spider and fly comb is Spanish rather than Turkish, but it belongs with the season's novelties in headdress.

A very black and well-nourished looking spider, mounted on a yellow tortoise shell comb, makes his invitation much more inviting because of its advantageous position in the locks of a lovely woman.

Paris has decreed that the unconventional shall lead. Now is the time for every original citizen to come to the aid of his country and produce novelties in dress.

Delicious Rich Cream for Breakfast

THE sure way of serving the perfect breakfast is to serve Keepsweet Cream. Pour lots of it on your cereal or porridge, put it in your coffee, and the day will be off to a glorious start, for dishes enriched with Keepsweet are delicious, a delight to the most indifferent palate.

Keepsweet Cream is simply without equal for table use. It is cream—real cow's cream, rich, smooth, wondrous flavored. It is super cream! After using Keepsweet you will find ordinary raw cream weak and rather flat in flavor. Keepsweet Cream closely resembles "Devonshire Cream" in marvelous flavor and purity. Use it always in your coffee or other beverages, on puddings, pies, fruits, cereals and desserts.

Do not place Keepsweet in the same class with condensed, evaporated, dried or medicated milks. It is something altogether new, infinitely superior. It is cream! The finest cow's cream procurable, pasteurized and homogenized, then hermetically sealed in sanitary containers and sterilized. This makes it pure, 100% pure! It contains absolutely no preservative. It keeps in its sanitary containers for long, long periods because it contains not one atom of germ life. It is pure as pure can be!

Keep a case or more of Keepsweet Cream and Keepsweet Milk in your pantry, and you will find it so convenient to have a supply of fresh Cream and Milk always on hand. You can thus be independent of the uncertain milkman, and you won't have to worry about cold weather, souring, or a sudden shortage. All grocers sell Keepsweet. Order a supply today.

Keepsweet Milk is a Nutritious Beverage

Nutritious? Yes, decidedly so, not only for children and for building up delicate babies, but for grown-ups and old folks. Keepsweet Sterilized Milk is pure—100% pure—and digests easily, even in the most sensitive systems.

But the flavor! Delightful! Take the richest milk you can get and mix cream with it and you get a drink that compares with Keepsweet Cream-Milk. It is so creamy and rich in flavor, so exquisitely palatable. After using Keepsweet ordinary milk will seem weak and flat!

Keepsweet is the only milk sold in sanitary containers which can be poured from the can ready to drink. You don't add water or sweetening. Just pour into a jug and use. The same with Keepsweet Cream. An equal mixture of Keepsweet Cream and Keepsweet Milk produces a splendid light table Cream of about the richness of the "top-of-the-bottle" grade. Ask your grocer about Keepsweet.

DO WOMEN WORK AS HARD AS MEN?

Yes. And They Must Keep Well and Strong

Two Interesting Letters

Toronto, Ontario.—"When my husband was called back to England in 1914 I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to strengthen me so I could work. I had a trouble that used to make me weak, but I am able to do my work now and am perfectly satisfied with your medicine. I still get it at the chemist's and I strongly recommend it to anybody I hear of suffering as I did. You may publish this if you wish."—Mrs. E. H. Henshaw, 899 Yonge St., Toronto, Ontario.

I Did Not Feel Like Working
"I was in a general run-down condition with a weak back and a tired feeling so that I did not feel like working. My mother was taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me, so I have taken it and my back is better and I am now able to do my work. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to my neighbors and you may publish my letter."—Mrs. JOSEPHAT A. GRENIER, Box 47, Carleton Place, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be taken when you first notice such symptoms as nervousness, backache, weakness and irregularity. It will help you and prevent more serious trouble. Give it a fair trial.

FIERY, ITCHY SKIN QUICKLY SOOTHED WITH SULPHUR

Mentho-Sulphur, a pleasant cream, will soothe and heal skin that is irritated or broken out with eczema; that is, covered with ugly rash or pimples, or is rough or dry. Nothing soothes fiery skin eruptions so quickly, says a noted skin specialist. The moment this sulphur preparation is applied the itching stops, and after two or three applications the eczema is gone and the skin is delightfully clear and smooth. Sulphur is so precious as a skin remedy because it destroys the parasites that cause the burning, itching or disfigurement. Mentho-Sulphur always heals eczema right up.

A small jar of Mentho-Sulphur may be had at any good drug store. —Advt.

The Kaiser's Memoirs

By WILHELM VON HOHENZOLLERN, (Former Emperor of Germany)

CHAPTER VII. Science and Art.

THE broad and many-sided field whose care devolved upon the ministry of public worship and instruction—embracing art, science, research, medical matters, etc.—always aroused my lively interest and enlisted my efforts in its behalf.

Special pleasure was afforded me by the development of the Technical High School. The increasing importance of technical matters drew ever larger numbers of the ablest youths to institutions of learning of this description, and the achievements of the teachers there and of the young engineers who were graduated constantly brought new laurels to the German name.

Among the teachers at Charlottenburg one of the most prominent and best known all over the world was Prof. Dr. Slaby. Until his death he had constant dealings with me and kept me informed concerning the newest inventions by means of captivating discourses. These were given not only in his laboratory, but also in the quiet hunting lodge in the forests of Brandenburg, where I, together with the empress, surrounded by a few intimates, used to listen eagerly to Slaby's words. Slaby was also dear to me as an individual and as a man. He was a simple, clear, and honest man, whose simple, clear views on every possible sort of thing in this world, which he could always express in the most stimulating and entrancing manner. Slaby meant much to me, and I felt grateful affection for him up to the time of his death.

Influenced by the achievements of the technical high schools and of such men as Slaby, Intze, and so on, I resolved to grant the high schools the same privilege of representation in the Prussian upper house as was enjoyed by the universities. But the universities protested vehemently against this to the minister of public worship and instruction, and there ensued a violent fight against the classical-scientific arrogance of the savants, until I finally enforced my will by a decree. Slaby received the news from me by telegraph in his laboratory while he was delivering a lecture, and gave it to the students, who burst into wild cheers. The technical high schools have shown themselves worthy of the honor conferred upon them.

In view of the constantly more violent fight for the markets of the world and its outlets, it became necessary, in order to utilize the wisdom of the leaders of German science in this direction, to provide them with more freedom, quiet, possibility for work, and materials. Many savants of importance were hampered in their work by their activities as teachers, so that the only time they had left over for research was their vacation. This state of affairs resulted in overwork and over-burdening, which had to be stopped.

Chemical Research. Attention was turned first to improvements in the domain of chemistry. Minister von Hertefeld, Director of the Ministry of Education, having grasped the state of affairs with clear understanding, made possible for me the establishment of the "Kaiser Wilhelm Society" and drew up the statutes governing it. In the short time of its existence it has achieved brilliant results and given me an opportunity, at its general meetings, to become acquainted with eminent men in all branches of knowledge, in whom I thereafter entered into regular intercourse. I also visited their laboratories, where I could follow the progress of their labors. New laboratories were founded, others subsidized from the contributions of the senate and members of the organization.

I was proud of this creation of mine, since it proved a boon to the Fatherland. The inventions due to the research of its members benefited the entire nation. It was a peacetime achievement with a great and most promising future, which, under the guidance of Herr von Trost, was in most excellent hands; unfortunately, the war robbed me of this joy.

The event justified us. The so-called "Russian experts" of Berlin, as well as the official world, were mistaken.

During the very first years of my reign there was occasion for much important building work. First, there was the question of erecting a worthy monument over the tomb of my grandparents. Since the old mausoleum at Charlottenburg was inadequate, it was necessary to erect an addition. Unfortunately, the funds left by Emperor William the Great for such "extra construction"—the so-called extra construction fund—had been used up during the ninety-nine days on something else. Hence I was obliged to burden the crown revenues with unforeseen building expenses. The mausoleum of my parents at Marly was erected by the Empress Frederick, according to her own sketches and designs, and for this, too, I had to provide the funds.

A thorough examination of the royal palaces—including those in the provinces—had revealed, particularly at the palace in Berlin, such deplorable conditions in sanitation, comfort and so on, that there could be no more delay in remedying them. In the course of my thirty years' reign I restored these palaces to good condition—working in accordance with carefully prepared budgets, examined, corrected and supervised by myself with the help of architects (such as Ihne), and of artists, with due regard for the traditions of my ancestors—all of which gave me much trouble and tried my patience, but also provided me with a great deal of enjoyment.

Architectural Interests. In restoring the Berlin palace, the Empress Frederick, with her sure, keen eye for the proper style and her sound judgment, helped materially in offsetting the harm and neglect dating from bygone days. My mother's expression of her view ought surely to be of general interest. "Any style is good so long as it is pure," Ihne used to call the encyclopaedia of the '90s "a peu pres style" (the "Almost Style"). The restoration of the picture gallery, the last work of Herr Ihne—who died, unfortunately, all too soon—was not completed until during the first half of the war. The palace of my forefathers, erected at much pains and a source of pride to me, was later bombarded, stormed, sacked and devastated by revolutionary hordes.

These artistic building enterprises, as well as the already-mentioned restoration of the white drawing-room, belong among the duties of representation devolving upon every government, be it absolute, constitutional or democratic in form. They afford a criterion of the national culture and are means of encouraging artists and, through them, the development of art.

During my vacations I busied myself with archaeology, and was active in excavation work. Here I kept in view one basic idea: to recover the roots from which ancient Greek art developed and to erect or find a bridge in the endeavor to establish the cultural influence of the East on the West. It appeared to me that Assyriology was important, since from it might be expected an elucidation and vitalizing of the Old Testament. My vacation in the Holy Scriptures. Therefore I accepted with pleasure the offer of the presidency of the German Oriental Society, and devoted myself to the study of the Old Testament, to the best of my ability, never missing one of its public lectures on the results of its explorations. I had much to do, and I was not alone. I had a number of detailed reports to be made to me of the excavations at Nineveh, Assur and Babylon, in Egypt and in Syria, for the study of the Old Testament, and I often personally brought influence to bear on the Turkish government.

Professor Delitzsch, a member of the society, gave his well-known and much-attacked lecture on "Babel and Bible," which, unfortunately, fell upon the ears of a public as yet too ignorant and unprepared, and led to all sorts of misinterpretations, some of them in church circles.

I strove hard to clear up the matter. Since I realized that the importance of Assyriology, then enlisting the efforts of many prominent men, including clergymen of both religions, was yet understood and appreciated by the general public, I had my trusted friend and brilliant theatre director, Count Huisen-Haeseler, produce the play "Assurbanipal," after long preparation, under the auspices of the German Oriental Society. Assyriologists of all countries were invited to the dress rehearsal; in the boxes all mixed together, were professors, Protestant and Catholic clergymen, Jews and Christians. Many expressed to me their thanks for having shown, by this performance, how far research work had already progressed, and for having at the same time revealed more clearly to the general public the importance of Assyriology.

My sojourn at Corfu likewise afforded me the pleasure of serving archaeology and of busying myself personally with excavation. The accidental discovery of a relief head of a Gorgon near the town of Corfu led me to take charge of the work myself. I called to my aid the experienced excavator and expert in Greek antiquities, Professor Dorpfeld, who took over the direction of the excavation work. This savant, who was as enthusiastic as I for the ancient Hellenic world, became in the course of time a faithful friend of mine and an invaluable source of information in questions relating to architecture, styles, and soon among the ancient Greeks and Achaeans.

"Hud" As a Guide Book. It was a joy to hear Dorpfeld read and elucidate the old Homeric poems, and establish, by means of a map, and following the hints and descriptions of the poet, the location of the old Achaean settlements destroyed later by the Doric migration. It appeared that the names of the old places had often been transferred by the dispossessed inhabitants to the new places. This made the identification of the location more difficult. Nevertheless, Dorpfeld had rediscovered the location of a whole series of them, with the help of his Homer, which he carried in his hand like a Baedeker, hitting upon it by following the minute geographical descriptions given by Homer.

This interested me so much that I took a trip by water, with the empress, in the company of Dorpfeld, in order to put the matter to the test. We went to Leukas (Ithaca) and visited, one after another, the places made famous by the "Odyssey," while Dorpfeld read, referring to each, I was amazed and had to admit that the poet and the description tallied exactly.

The excavations begun by me in Corfu under Dorpfeld's direction had valuable archaeological results, since they produced evidence of an extremely remote epoch of the earliest Doric art, with a lot of superfluous acrimony discussion. From all this, it seems to me one of the most important things I have achieved, namely, the bridge, sought by me between Asia and Europe is assuming shape.

I sent reports regularly to the Archaeological Society and I also brought the well-known Professor Caro from Athens to work with me. I was busy with preparations for lectures to be delivered before the society during the winter of 1911-12, and with searching discussions on many disputed questions, which I hoped to bring toward a solution since I had studied it with a pleasure to me to be visited almost regularly at Corfu by English and American archaeologists, former pupils of Dorpfeld, who helped zealously in following light on the difficult problems which often came up. Since they were at work in Asia Minor, I was deeply interested in hearing what importance they attached to the Asiatic influence on early Greek art—as a result of their discoveries—and how readily they recognized a connection with the East in the finds made at the palace in Berlin. Professor Duhn of Heidelberg visited the excavations at Corfu, and, after thorough investigation, gave his support to the views held by Dorpfeld and me. I shall tell in a separate piece of writing about the result of my Corfu excavations.

That was the sort of thing which, in the spring of 1911, occupied the thoughts of the German Emperor, who, lusty for robbery and conquest, is accused of having bloodthirstily brought on the world war. While he was expiring and discussing Gorgons, Doric columns and the Asiatic influence on early Greek art, he was planning the world war.

It is good to see how the world has changed since then. The world war has been averted, and the world is at peace. The world is at peace, and the world is at peace.

LAY $100 ON PLATE AT THANKOFFERING

The usual mid-week prayer meeting in New St. James' Presbyterian Church was withdrawn on Wednesday evening this week for the annual thankoffering meeting of the Women's Missionary Society. A collection of $100 was laid on the plate.

Mrs. D. M. Christie of Woodstock, Ontario, was the speaker of the occasion, taking as her texts, "Christ, the Bread of Life," and the motto of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, "The World for Christ."

The task the W. M. S. has set itself she pointed out, is nothing more nor less than sharing in the winning of the world for Christ. Strength for the task can alone be found, she declared, through feeding upon Christ, the bread of life.

Rev. James Mackay, minister of the church, presided. Mr. C. Pink sang a solo, and a duet by Miss Corbin and Mr. Pink rounded out the program. A beautiful and impressive prayer of dedication of the thankoffering was made by the oldest member of the auxiliary, Mrs. Hugh Omond.

Well-Known New York Critic Says Canadians Lovers of Good Music

DO the Canadians love music? Of course, they do, says Mr. S. L. Debalta, New York musical critic, here for De Feo Grand Opera Company.

Mr. S. L. Debalta, a contributor to Musical America, the New York Times and other publications, is in London since last night in the interests of the De Feo Grand Opera Company, which is to give a short season of grand opera next week at the Grand Opera House, beginning Wednesday, Oct. 18.

Mr. Debalta was found at the Teumseh House busy preparing his campaign to win the support of the local music lovers for the coming season of grand opera.

"Before I landed in Canada," said Mr. Debalta, "I was told that your country was not musical; that this divine art had no chapel nor worshippers here, at least very few. I came here for the first time two months ago on a mission for a syndicate of French and American newspapers to study the country from a political, economic and intellectual angle. Thanks to the courtesy of Mr. J. M. Gibson, the president of the Society of Canadian Authors, and at the same time director of publicity of the Canadian Pacific, who was emulated in his kindness by Mr. Whiteside, the literary agent of the Canadian National Railways, the freedom of the country was granted to me, and I crossed it from south to north and from east to west.

"That I have seen and heard amazed me. In my mind—the forcibly limited mind of a globe-trotting journalist—Canada, with a larger population, is destined to take its place among the leading countries of the world; you already possess the solid foundation of a sturdy constitution; the arteries formed by your wonderful railroad system, like the blood arteries in a healthy human body, give ample proof of a wonderful vitality.

"Owing to my natural leanings, I was quite interested in finding out how far you have progressed in the domain of art, in music especially. The management of the Canadian National Exhibition honored me by inviting me as a special guest to Music Day. I learned there in less than 24 hours more about musical Canada than I could have done otherwise in the month, it appeared quite evident to me that the love of music in the land of the beaver was as strong as in America or elsewhere; but due to a reduced population, smaller means and longer distances between cities, the development is naturally not quite as advanced here.

"It was at the National Exhibition that I came across De Feo and his opera company. I have known Mr. De Feo for many years as the most courageous and one of the cleverest opera impresarios of the day. The tremendous success of his company at the exhibition did not surprise me; the Toronto papers were right in proclaiming it 'the sensation of the Canadian National Exhibition.'

"I always thought that opera should not remain a luxury for the few who can afford the high prices that are usually exacted for it. The nightly attendances of 7,000 and 8,000 at the Coliseum convinced me that the masses wanted opera. Mr. De Feo thought so, too, and thus we decided to embark on this Canadian venture with the highly artistic intention to give everybody in this country a taste of lyric drama.

"With a company composed of artists from the Metropolitan Opera House of New York, the Covent Garden of London and the Grand Opera of Paris, the De Feo Grand Opera Company is touring this country and what is almost incredible—gives grand opera of the highest quality at prices usually charged for traveling dramatic and musical comedy shows. And, mind you, we carry 90 people, three carloads of brand new scenery and costumes, an orchestra of our own, and we give a performance at two dollars and a dollar and a half an orchestra seat."

"How is it possible? Well, I really do not know. It would hardly be possible, I am sure, if it were purely a commercial enterprise, with material gain as the sole object in view. But this is not the case; I want to be believed when I say that behind this gigantic enterprise there is an ideal, the noble aim of educating the masses and encouraging the development of music in this country."

"We want and we bid for everybody's patronage; we have made the prices so low as to give nobody an excuse to stay away; and if we succeed in covering our expenses—the trifling of over $20,000 a week—we will be satisfied and compensated for our missionary work. We hope for the gratitude of the people in every city, large or small, we have visited. There is no reason why Canada should not be on the same footing as other countries when it comes to entertainments of a higher character."

Kind now playing Canadian time the Cardiac Duo in Western roles excel as Australian whip and boomerang artists. They give a remarkable exhibition of dexterity in the use of long-lashed stock whip and the American karate.

As sensational novelty athletes the Gauthiers showed something new in parallel bar work and bag punching while Fordie and Dean made a hit in a versatile comedy offering.

Coming to London on Thursday to address the Women's Canadian Club, Mrs. Pankhurst was obliged to turn her back on very important operations in her family circle. It was moving day in the famous Pankhurst family, which has so happily transplanted itself to Canadian soil, and fitted in admirably in constructive work for the betterment of the nation.

"Unfortunately for me," said Mrs. Pankhurst, with a winsome smile, "I had a most capable substitute to leave behind, my daughter Christabel, who has been with me all summer. She is in charge of the moving."

"And the little adopted war orphans, what of them?" asked The Advertiser.

"Very much excited over moving, tremendously interested in the new house, and, needless to say, very much in the way of everybody," was the laughing reply.

STANDARDIZE UNIFORMS OF PROVINCIAL POLICE

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—No longer will different sections of the provincial police be known by the variety of their uniforms rather than by their similarity. General Victor Williams has just chosen a standard uniform which has been approved by Attorney-General Raney and will shortly be issued to all the men on the force.

There is a slight leaning toward the mounted type. Constables and sergeants will in future wear blue serge uniforms, broad Stetson hats and black Sam Browne belts with revolver holsters. Staff inspectors will wear three gold stars on the shoulder, provincial inspectors two, and district inspectors one. Inspectors will wear brown Sam Browne belts instead of black.

TAKE GIRL TO HOSPITAL AS RESULT OF HAZING

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—As a result of a bit of hazing done by two Victoria College freshmen, one of the girls in the junior class is under a nurse's care, suffering from nervous shock and bruises about the arms and shoulders.

The matter has caused an outburst of indignation and is being taken up by the Women's Undergraduate Association. Some of the men in the college threaten to take unofficial action which will result in severe physical punishment for the offenders.

As a character singing comedienne, Virginia Millman delighted with her clever interpretations and the rendering of the latest selections. In this act Miss Millman makes six complete changes of costume.

Mr. Neville Chamberlain Guest of Honor At Luncheon in Toronto.

LAUDS IMPERIALISM

Declares Britain Not Supporting Greeks in Near East Dispute.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—Mr. Neville Chamberlain, M. P., was guest of honor at the Empire Club luncheon today. His speech was largely an exposition of imperialism—past and present. He showed that the present variety is much better than the past, and that perhaps it was better than any other policy even in the present. "Imperialism," said Mr. Chamberlain, "is not Jingoism. We regard our position as a great trust, and in that spirit have we accepted fresh burdens in the mandates under the League of Nations. It is not every nation which is willing to accept mandates or responsibility."

Speaking of the Near East situation, Mr. Chamberlain said: "The purpose of the conditions imposed on Turkey after the war and the incorporation of the treaty of Sevres was not to punish the Turks—though God knows we had reason enough to—but to prevent Europe being the victim of such massacres as had taken place in Asia Minor. We were not supporting the Greeks—we have no cause to love them either—but merely acting as we have so often acted before—as the policeman of Europe."

Mr. Chamberlain then proceeded to trace the history of British colonial development. "It has been remarked," he said, "that the greater opportunity there has been for separation of colonies, the less has been the desire for separation."

"In a speech which my father made in Canada in 1883," (applause) "he referred to Canada as a colony, and it excited no comment. In 1905 he again was speaking to Canadians and he said, 'The British colonies are no longer colonies, but sister states, among whom the mother country by virtue of her age and her past achievements may claim to be first, but first only among equals.'"

"In 1918, Sir Robert Borden in London said, 'We come here to deal with these matters on a basis of perfect equality with the British prime minister.' Gentlemen, that is the position today, and the British constitution, which is an unwritten one, and founded upon mutual understanding, sympathy and tolerance, may be depended upon to ensure harmony in our future relations."

"In the future Canada may exceed the motherland as much in material resources and population as she does today in area, but I am confident that whatever happens, you will remain a great and united people."

FAMOUS TENOR RETURNS TO U. S. FOR CONCERT TOUR

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—John McCormack, tenor, returned yesterday on the Olympic with his sister, returned abroad after a serious illness last spring. He said he had reduced his weight from 246 to 217 pounds, and never felt better in his life. The singer plans to give about eighteen concerts before Christmas, then return with Mrs. McCormack to spend the holidays with their children, who are at school in England.

GET READY FOR THE CHASE. SPECIAL TRAIN FOR HUNTERS.

The open season for hunting deer and moose in Northern Ontario is rapidly approaching. South of the French and Mattawa rivers, Nov. 5 to Nov. 20 inclusive; north and west of these rivers, Oct. 25 to Nov. 30 inclusive. North of the Trans-continental Railway line, the season is from Sept. 15 to Nov. 15 inclusive. The Canadian National Railways traverse the finest hunting territory in this country. This fact, with their special and regular train service, makes "The National Way" the premier line for the hunter. The hunting grounds are so vast there is game for everyone.

The selection of grounds is a most important matter, and one which requires careful study. The territory reached by the Canadian National lines, north of Parry Sound, is already a favorite one, but the new country east and west of Capreol is as yet comparatively little known to the hunter and should, therefore, be highly attractive to the follower of the deer and moose. The Canadian National Railways are providing special train service, which, with regular trains, will meet all demands. Special trains will be operated as follows: Leave Toronto Union Station 11:15 p.m., Oct. 31, for Capreol and intermediate points, and 11:15 p.m., Nov. 2, 3 and 4, for Key Junction and intermediate points. The usual ample accommodation of sleeping cars, baggage cars and coaches will be provided. The Annual Hunter's Leaflet, issued by the Canadian National Railways, is now ready for distribution to any agent of the company, or write General Passenger Department, Room 607, Royal Bank Bldg., Toronto. —Adv.

CONTRASTING MATERIAL. Combination frocks are the mode this season, except in the very tailored frocks, the bodice is usually of a different material from the skirt, or the coat contrasts with the dress. The contrast is more frequently of material than of color.

Eight pages of the world's best comics, all in color, Sunday's Herald and Examiner, Chicago's best newspaper. Buy it today from your local dealer. —Adv.

Turnkey Everson of Guelph Jail Must Give Up Post After 35 Years' Service

Special to London Advertiser.

GUELPH, Oct. 12.—An important matter that will have to be dealt with at the October sessions of the Wellington County Council, which opened here today, is the new provincial ruling governing the age of officials holding positions in the county jails.

A copy of the new regulations has been forwarded to County Clerk Beattie, the contents of which were made known to the county councillors today in session. The new order means that George Everson, who has occupied the position of turnkey here for the last 35 years, and who is 71 years of age, will be superannuated, as he has passed the 70-year age limit. Accompanying the regulations is a letter from Inspector of Prisons Dunlop, who states that Mr. Everson will be relieved of his duties on October 31. Another change received in the new regulations authorizes the sheriff of the county to fix the salaries of all jail officials, and not the county council, as formerly.

Turnkey Everson was with the late jailer, John McNab, when that official was assaulted by prisoners who escaped from the local jail last Thanksgiving Day, and was himself severely injured at the time.

SUICIDE VERDICT IN FATAL SHOOTING

Galt Jury Find John Martz Guilty of Taking Own Life.

Special to London Advertiser.

GALT, Oct. 12.—That the late John Martz came to his death as the result of a bullet fired from a revolver in his own hand while he was mentally deranged was the verdict of Coroner J. H. Radford's jury investigating the double shooting at 21 Queen street east, on Sept. 20, when Martz shot his son-in-law, E. Lamare, and then turned the gun on himself. The evidence went to show that deceased had been ailing for nearly a year, while the medical testimony was that he suffered from Bright's disease and the doctors gave the opinion that it might cause a brain storm.

The Killie Band's "Kick-Up" opened tonight at the Queen's Square Skating and Curling Rink, preceded by a parade and some comedy stunts on the streets. The fun opened with the arrival of a rube band, and then there was a run by the "Tonerville" fire-brigade, who had one of the ancient hand pumps, and who made a "thrilling" rescue with a lifeline of a "lady," who jumped from a Main street block window. At the rink Mayor Charlton officially opened the affair with a speech. The city council were guests of honor. The "kick-up" is just a big bazaar. A feature of tonight's program was the singing by a chorus of 330 school children.

The assessment notices of 1923 crease in the assessments on land and buildings. Assessment Commissioner Welland points out that Galt's assessment on real property per capita has been away below that of other cities Galt's size.

The local branch of the Red Cross shipped today no less than 30 bales of clothing, shoes, food and tools to the Northern Ontario fire sufferers. There was clothing for babies, children, men and women, a lot of which was donated by manufacturers. The subscription list is still open and is steadily growing.

Just back from a trip to the fire zone in Northern Ontario, Ald. J. E. Gardiner declares words cannot fully describe the scene of desolation.

The Preston Town Council has granted $300 for the relief of the Northern Ontario fire sufferers.

MINISTERS MUST HOLD MEMBERSHIP IN DAIL

DUBLIN, Oct. 12.—Parliament today, by a vote of 31 to 20, rejected a proposed amendment to the constitution which would enable some of the ministers of the Free State government not to hold membership in the Dail Eireann. The question was left to the free judgment of the house, and there was much cross voting among all sections of the membership.

FORBID SMOKING BY CLERGYMEN

Methodist Conference Approves Memorial Presented by Rev. W. E. Millson.

Rev. Dr. Chown Again Elected To General Superintendency of Canada.

TORONTO, Oct. 12.—No more shall the ministers of the Methodist Church in Canada indulge in the habit of smoking. This was decided tonight by the delegates of the general Methodist conference when they approved a memorial presented by Rev. W. E. Millson of London, Ontario, to prohibit in the book of discipline examination from the words "and you will continue to abstain therefrom?" So that when a probationer about to enter the ministry is being exhorted to abstain from the use of tobacco it shall be incumbent upon him to answer this question in a positive manner.

Some years ago the committee in the course of study dropped the question of discipline, but since that time there has been an outcry in many sections of the church against the habit of smoking by some ministers, so that when the motion of Rev. Mr. Millson was presented to the conference it met with ready support.

The chief features of the conference was the re-election of Rev. Dr. Chown to the general superintendency of the Methodist Church in Canada, the referring of the dispute between the Methodist bookroom and its printers to the book committee, the selection of Chancellor Bowles of Victoria College, Toronto, as fraternal delegate to the British Wesleyan Church conference; Rev. Dr. J. W. Graham, Toronto, as fraternal delegate to the Methodist Episcopal Church north of the United States; and Rev. T. W. Kirby, principal of Mount Royal College, Calgary, to the Methodist Episcopal Church south of the United States, and the extension of the period of probation to six years for young men entering the ministry.

Dr. Chown was appointed by acclamation for his third term. He was first elected in 1910, when he served four years as associate of the late Dr. Carman, and in 1914 he was given an eight-year term. He will be seventy years of age next spring.

Speaking of his motion on smoking, at the night session, Rev. Mr. Millson declared that he wanted the question settled once and for all by the Methodist Church. He knew what the use of tobacco was, and he had no hesitation in saying that a man was better without it. He did not mean to state that a man who used tobacco was "going to the bow-bows," for some of his best friends were smokers, but he did say that a man who smoked would be ten times a better man if he did not smoke.

Rev. Dr. W. B. Smith, Saint Ste. Marie, agreed with Rev. Mr. Millson, and said it was not a question of what the other churches thought on the matter, but what was in keeping with a proper standing of morality. The church had led in moral and social reform, and he was anxious that its ministers should not indulge in smoking.

Extend Period.
The committee in the course of study recommended that the period of a probationer be extended from five years to six years, and that the period be divided, one year on the circuit and five years in college. At present the probationer spends two years on the circuit and three in college.

An amendment to the committee's recommendation, by Rev. Dr. Bowler, Toronto, making the division two years on circuit and four in college, met with the support of the delegates, and was adopted by a large majority.

Rev. Dr. W. A. Gifford, professor at Wesleyan College, Montreal, emphasized that young men must have a preparatory course before they take up theology, and pleaded for one year on the circuit and five years in college.

"We must have an educational ministry," he stated, "and one that has, first of all, the time to carry on a teaching ministry and give them adequate preparatory training for that ministry. Education will not guarantee piety, good sense or intellectual constructiveness. He must have adaptation. Such a weapon as he has must be polished for use."

CHOSEN ASSISTANT VICE-PRESIDENT OF GRAND TRUNK LINES

D. E. GALLOWAY.

G. T. R. ANNOUNCE NEW OFFICERS

Appointments Approved by Vice-President and General Manager W. D. Robb.

MONTREAL, Oct. 11.—In official circulars issued today, and approved by Mr. W. D. Robb, vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk, the following appointments are announced:

Mr. D. E. Galloway to be assistant vice-president, Grand Trunk Railway System.

Mr. C. G. Bowker to be operating manager, (and assume the duties heretofore performed by the vice-president in charge of operation), on lines east of Detroit and St. Clair Rivers.

Mr. C. E. Manning to be assistant operating manager, lines east of the Detroit and St. Clair Rivers.

The officers concerned in these important changes are railway men of wide experience, who are well-known both in Canada and the United States.

Mr. D. E. Galloway, who has been promoted to be assistant vice-president, was born at Crief, Ontario, in 1882, and entered the services of the Grand Trunk Railway at Hamilton on February 1, 1901. The late Mr. Charles M. Hays appointed Mr. Galloway to be his secretary in November 1904. As secretary to Mr. Hays, Mr. Galloway was placed in close touch with the affairs of the Grand Trunk System and its subsidiary companies during the railway's most striking period of development. After occupying the position of secretary for several years Mr. Galloway was appointed by Mr. Hays in October, 1911, to be assistant to the president. This office he has filled under two succeeding presidents, Mr. E. J. Chamberlain and Mr. Howard G. Kelley.

Mr. C. G. Bowker, who becomes operating manager, lines east of Detroit and St. Clair Rivers, joined the Grand Trunk as dispatcher at London, Ontario, in 1900. He was promoted to chief train dispatcher and trainmaster, serving at various parts of the system, and in 1909 was appointed assistant superintendent of the Stratford division. A year later he became superintendent of the St. Thomas division, and in 1913 he was made general superintendent of eastern lines. In that capacity Mr. Bowker handled during the period of the war the heavy traffic that was carried by the railways to the ports of Montreal, Quebec and Portland, making an excellent record as a transportation officer. In 1918 he was transferred to the Ontario lines of the system as general superintendent, a position which he has occupied until his present appointment.

Mr. Charles Manning, appointed assistant operating manager, began his railroad career with the Great Western Railway at Bristol, England. In 1883 he entered the office of the mechanical superintendent of the Grand Trunk at Montreal, and in 1898 became chief clerk in the motive power department. He was appointed assistant to the vice-president in charge of mechanical departments of the railway January 1, 1917, and assistant to the vice-president in charge of operation in May, 1920.

SIR MONTAGU ALLEN IS PLACED ON TRIAL

Former President of Defunct Merchants Bank Faces Serious Charge.

MONTREAL, Oct. 12.—Sir Montagu Allen appeared before Chief Justice Decarie in the court of special sessions here today on a charge of having, as president of the defunct Merchants' Bank of Canada, been guilty of negligently signing a return of the bank's affairs, that of October, 1921, which was alleged to have contained false statements.

Evidence by officers of the bank and by the trustees of the stock was given by the firm of Thornton Davidson & Company, which involved the bank in a loss of $5,000,000, was heard and covered much of the ground gone over in the hearing of the charge against the former general manager, D. C. Macarow. There was nothing very new except a point brought out by counsel for the defence to the effect that Sir Montagu had not been paid a salary which would indicate that he had been supposed to devote all his time to the affairs of the bank. This amounted to $6,000 per annum and was a part of a sum voted annually by the shareholders to be split up between the president and directors, according to the evidence of J. M. Kilbourne, secretary of the bank. The case was adjourned until tomorrow.

Point Edward's "Grand Old Man" Celebrates His 82nd Birthday

Special to London Advertiser.

SARNIA, Oct. 12.—Marcus Aurelius Hitchcock, the "grand old man" of the village of Point Edward, today celebrated his 82nd birthday, and a number of friends assisted. Mr. Hitchcock started his career as an individual fisherman of Lake Huron when he was 9 years old, and he is still carrying on, taking the good seasons with the bad and the rough weather with the smooth, and keeping young. He has taken more fish from the blue water of Lake Huron than any fisherman alive. Hale and hearty, the first severe frost of the winter will find this veteran of the '40s on his old-fashioned pair of skates. Mr. Hitchcock has a record as a life-saver that few can equal. He commenced to save life when he was 14 years old by snatching from death two lads who drifted into the deep water of St. Clair River from the American side, and his total of lives saved from drowning is now fourteen. One of the two lads he saved from the St. Clair River was Norman Atkinson, brother of Obrien Atkinson, a prominent lawyer of Port Huron, who still lives to shake Mr. Hitchcock by the hand when he makes his periodical trip to visit a circle of old-time friends in Port Huron. Mr. Hitchcock comes from a family noted for longevity. There were eleven children, and of these eight surviving, four are in their 80's and four in the 70's. The parents did not lack originality in the choice of names, for, in addition to Marcus Aurelius, there were Julius Caesar, Benjamin Franklin, Cyrus Denmark, Diedema Rosette, Theodore Wellington, Euphemias, Ophelia, Melissa, James Alexander, Appolus Napoleon and Samuel Lake. The old gentleman can tell many interesting stories of his career from the time he first sailed his father's fishing boat at 9 years of age.

HAMILTON MAN VANISHES FROM MONTREAL HOTEL

HAMILTON, Oct. 12.—Mrs. T. W. Brown returned to her home here this morning from Montreal, where she had gone to endeavor to clear up the mystery of her husband's disappearance in that city on October 2. The belief is that he met with foul play, and that robbery was the motive, as he was known to have had a large sum of money on him. He left here September 27 for Montreal, and a day or two later asked his wife to forward some money. On October

2 he left the Queen's hotel in a taxi-cab and has not been seen since. He left all his effects there and evidently intended to return. It is stated that a blood stained cap identified as his was found on the river bank. Brown was formerly a hotelman in this city.

GUELPH AGGIES OPEN COLLEGE SEASON AGAINST WESTERN SATURDAY

Joe Beckett Reverses Matters With Technical K. O. of Pittsburg Dentist

COACH REID TO CHANGE HIS LINE FOR FARMERS

Inter-Collegiate Rugby Made Great Hit Last Season and Record Crowd Is Expected

COLLEGE football will open its season here tomorrow afternoon at Tecumseh Park, when Western U. enters the Guelph Aggies. They also entertain the idea that the Farmers are due to lose a game tomorrow.

At first O. A. C. demurred about filling the engagement, owing, it is said, to the fact that the dates for the schedule were picked without their having a representative present when the program was being drawn up. However, Dr. Young of Western made his flying trip to Guelph yesterday and reported his mission successful on his return last night, and the game goes on as scheduled.

Inter-collegiate football, with its university campus background, helped to create a big following last season, and this year interest in rugby is still greater, so that a record crowd may be expected.

The Western cheer contingent will be on hand to stiffen the morale of the Purple and White when they need it with a brand new list of selections, vocal and verbal.

Will Switch Line.

Coach Reid will switch his line for the opening effort tomorrow, and believes that it will be a much stronger machine against Aggies that he was against Varsity a week ago. The half line will remain intact, with Traynor doing most of the punting. The big fellow is going well this year, and in Cowley and Rice, Reid has rounded out a dangerous scoring machine.

Western right now surely has condition, and they proved regular mud-horses last night when they stuck it out in a pouring rain over at Tecumseh Park, hoping for a mix-up with the O. A. C. team. The latter, however, were not allowed to take the field by Coach Rowan, though the storm was to the time of twenty when the storm was at its worst.

The mud bath yesterday was another example of the kind of spirit that is running through the Western this year, and which is bound to count in their future games. It takes nasty weather to make rugby players nasty, and Varsity caught the local warriors in a summer vacation mood last week, owing to the weather they had to train in.

Guelph Aggies are always noted for their avowedness, and Coach Forman will probably try out some heavy line men tomorrow, but it won't bother the Purple and White as much as a week back. The O. A. C. has lost four good players of last season's squad in Edwards, Hoffman, Henshall and Claus, holes it will be hard to fill. A light workout will be held by Western this afternoon.

CHATHAM TENNIS CLUB SEEKS COURTS SITE

CHATHAM, Oct. 12.—The Chatham Tennis Club has appointed a special committee for the purpose of meeting the Elmwood Golf and Country Club to secure permission to use a section of the grounds for the purpose of building tennis courts. Tentative plans for lawn tennis for 1923 indicate that a general revival of the game will take place.

WINS NEWS AERIAL MAIL TROPHY RACE

Nelson Captures Prize With Average Speed 105.1 Miles Per Hour.

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Oct. 12.—Piloting a heavy Martin Transport, driven by 400 horsepower Liberty motor, Lieut. Eric H. Nelson of Montclair, N. J., won the Detroit News aerial mail trophy race for multi-motored planes here today. He covered the 240-mile triangular course at an average speed of 105.1 miles an hour.

The Detroit Aviation Country Club race, flown over the same course, was won by Lieut. Harold H. Harris, one of the two army entrants, in the "Honeymoon Express," equipped with a 400 horsepower, twelve-cylinder motor. Lieut. Harris averaged 135 miles an hour in this event, which was for light commercial planes, finishing four laps ahead of C. S. Jones in a Curtiss Oriole, who averaged 110 miles an hour.

A stiff northwest wind blowing at the tails of the big planes in the Detroit News made necessary abandonment of the original plan of starting all of the craft together. Consequently, the planes, each weighing five tons and having a wing spread of 70 feet, took the air one after the other. Lieut. Nelson's plane being the last to cross the starting line. The transport began at once to overhaul all the other racers. All but one plane entered in the two events finished. James N. Johnson in a Vought V.L.-7, was forced down in the fourth lap when dirt fouled his carburetor.

GLOUCESTER BOAT, HENRY FORD, WINS

Elizabeth Howard of New York Leading When Accident Puts Her Out.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 12.—The racing fishermen of the United States fleet, competing for selection as a challenger to meet the Canadian champion, Bluebonnet, had it out today in the first installment of the elimination tests, and the Henry Ford, out of Gloucester, won.

For a time in the early stages of the 40-mile race it appeared that New York was in a fair way to gain the challenger honors, when Elizabeth Howard, leading from the metropolis, showed her heels to the boats of Boston and Gloucester. But a broken mast, which she was unable to mend, caused her to withdraw to seek repairs. The little Yankee, out of Boston, finished sixteenth, and the Gloucester, out of Gloucester, finished first.

The L. A. Dunton, another Boston boat, finished last, 21 minutes after the Yankee. The official time for the race, 30 miles of which was over the open sea, and which was contested in varying conditions of light breeze and lighter air, follows: Henry Ford, of Gloucester, Captain Clayton Morrissette, 5:31:26. Yankee, of Boston, Captain Michael J. Brophy, 5:47:13. L. A. Dunton, of Boston, Captain Felix Hogan, 6:30. Elizabeth Howard, of New York, Captain Ben Pine, disabled.

POSTPONED UNTIL SATURDAY. The subcommittee of the American Fishermen's race committee which has charge of the elimination races, to select this year's challenger for the international trophy decided tonight to postpone until Saturday the second race of the elimination series.

"WOSSA" ADOPTS SOCCER PROGRAM

Early Start Aim in Hockey This Season.

At a full meeting of the W. O. S. S. A. executive to be held over the week-end, a complete soccer program, embracing the whole area governed by the organization, will be submitted and the schools notified of their groupings immediately.

Outdoor basketball for girls has also been included in this year's program. This will also be mapped out. Much of the preliminary work in connection with "Wossa" this year has been completed, and already a big meet of all schools is billed for May 19 as a definite date.

Baseball tournament will be held here during Easter week. The cultural side of the W. O. S. S. A. has not been neglected, and dates have already been set for the oratorical contests, the preliminaries for next week of Feb. 9 and the finals to be completed by Feb. 23.

A new residence rule has been adopted by the association, and it states that all competitors or participants competing in any activities of the W. O. S. S. A. must be residents of Ontario. The executive also decided to affiliate with the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, and thereby to operate with the promoting of a program of activities throughout the schools.

Also passed upon an important eligibility rule which now reads as follows: "That the age limit for competition in the W. O. S. S. A. shall be the age of the competitor on his twentieth birthday prior to Jan. 1 of the school year involved."

The committee hopes to get the hockey season away earlier this year, and groups will be asked to finish their schedules at least a week sooner than was the case last year when the finals dragged almost into aquatic season.

AUBURN'S NINE CAPTURE TITLE IN MUDDY MIX

BLYTH, Oct. 12.—Although the weather in anything but propitious for the final game of the Maitland League was played today between Blyth and Auburn at Westfield. There was a fair attendance, considering the miserable weather and the poor article of ball due to the cold and wet. The game ended in a draw, 1-1.

FOUR GRID CREWS WORK OUT IN POURING RAIN

O. R. F. U. Squad Holds Signal Practice in "Y" and Want Big Turnout Tonight.

While the crowds up town scurried for cars and cover in the late yesterday afternoon downpour, over 50 gridiron gladiators over at Tumush Park—all sizes and shapes, but with only one determination—were mudlarking around in the slippery grass and on sand in the late baseball diamond. Four teams, Western University, Central College, First and Second, and Askin Street.

Elks, who will play Woodstock College first after the Western-O.A.C. game Saturday afternoon, provided the usual spectacle that showed London at its brightest in its new role as a suddenly-discovered center of rugby. The rainbirds scattered, as they usually are around the field, and forced to congregate in the grandstand owing to the rain would look like a big crowd at the Bay City ball park. They watched the aquatic maneuvers from cover to cover. The O. R. F. U. squad, partly in uniform, with practice called off, added to the crowd which gathered while Elks and Central College Second muddled it up and down the field, covered from head to foot with soft, greasy earth and gathering grass on every down, as well as weight. Elks muddled it up with a heavy day with the Second, and didn't find out until after the little half-hour session was over that it was not Elks they were tearing to pieces.

The members of the O. R. F. U. and Western were disappointed at the postponement of their workout against each other, but Coach Rowan wisely decided not to risk his men in the slippery going, especially in view of the fact that they are short on combs and many pounds.

They were ordered instead for a signal drill, and for 7:30, the whole squad turning up and putting in a stiff two hours' work. Another drill followed, and today, with a light workout on the side.

Coach Rowan has a pretty fair idea of the men he'll send in at Wallaceburg, but the whole squad will be taken down, and everybody will get something to do.

Gilles, Dennis, Charters, Goodwin and Richardson are almost sure to follow the coaches in which the choice will be made, with the unselected going into the line.

WHITE SOX EVEN UP CITY SERIES

Alexander Is Faced by Rookie and Finally Beaten.

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—The White Sox evened up the series with Cubs today by taking a pitchers' battle, 4 to 3. Each club now has won two games. The veteran Alexander was opposed by the rookie "Dixie" Leverette, who held his own until the sixth inning, when he began to weaken.

The Sox then started their uphill fight, and Alexander, who had been tight, began to loosen up. He was finally driven to the right which was good for two runs, and the Sox won. Hooper to third, and Sheely shot a hot grounder over third base, which sent Hooper home with the winning run.

The score: R.H.E. Cubs..... 101 001 000-3-10-10 White Sox..... 000 002 101-10-10 Alexander and O'Farrell; Leverette and Schalk.

SHUFFLIN' PHIL DOUGLAS BEATS UP HIS WIFE

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 12.—Shuffling Phil Douglas, erstwhile star pitcher for the New York Giants, who was banished recently from Ontario, was placed in the city jail yesterday on charges of disorderly conduct. He was charged with beating his wife, who is his second wife, and they said, declared Douglas had beaten her.

Arresting officer W. J. found Mrs. Douglas suffering with both eyes blackened. Officers quoted her as saying she had been beaten in the presence of her two children. Douglas, with his family, arrived here, he formed here, recently from Florida, where he was said to have completed the season with a semi-professional league team.

John Callaghan, Liberal, stands for the administration of the liquor traffic as it is handled in Quebec and British Columbia. Addressing the joint nomination meeting today, he said temperance was a religious principle, a cardinal virtue that could not be advanced by legislation.

It was humiliating to see the churches going to the state for legislation to promote something they should do themselves. "I submit that the Ontario temperance act is unconstitutional, it is un-British and it is un-Christian."

Colonel John A. Currie, the Conservative nominee, declared that drunkenness and crime had increased under the Ontario temperance act. Therefore, there must be something wrong with the act. He would not say what his solution would be. The Quebec system, he said, had some bad features.

Chiefly, the colonel stands as a public ownership candidate.

U.S. PRODUCE PRICES DROP 2 PER CENT DURING MONTH

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Producers of the principal crops in the United States were paid an average price of two per cent less for their products in September than in the previous month, according to figures compiled today by the department of agriculture. The level of prices for meat animals decreased 2.4 per cent from Aug. 15 to Sept. 15, the department statement shows. The September decrease on crop prices compares with an average decrease for September of 4.5 per cent over a ten-year period, but in the case of meat animals the ten-year average for the month shows a decrease of only 1.2 per cent.

They'll Call It the Battle of the Atoms When These Two Doughty Boys Meet.

WILDE.

The yellow peril is a real live issue here, now that Pancho Villa, Filipino, holds the America flyweight title. Wilde is still undisputed champion of the world at his weight, though in his last appearance he was knocked out by Joe Lynch, to whom he conceded many pounds.

If the two meet it might conceivably be Wilde's last fight, because the Fighting Atom is getting to the stage now where Father Time is liable to take a hand.

OGDEN ALLOWS BUT 2 HITS TO ST. PAUL

Orioles Are Within One Game of Minor Title.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Oct. 12.—Jack Ogden hurled superb ball for the Baltimore Orioles today, letting St. Paul down with two hits, and the International League champions climbed to within one victory of the minor league championship title, defeating the Saints by 3 to 1.

Today's victory gave the Orioles four games to the Saints' one in the little world series. Several sixth games is scheduled for Saturday, both teams wishing to take a day off on "Friday, the 13th."

A Baltimore win on Saturday will give them the series. It was the first game of the series in St. Paul, the previous contests having been played in Baltimore, and the Saints lived up to the expectations of the home fans by starting line winners.

In the second inning a walk and two singles gave the Saints the first run of the game. In the first of the third, however, the Orioles' clouted Martin Ogden had eleven straight putouts. The game was several minutes long, the mercurial Ogden allowed the 50-degree mark, and the crowd shivered in overcoats.

The score: R.H.E. Orioles..... 005 000 000-5-7-0 St. Paul..... 010 000 000-1-2-5 Ogden and McAvoy; Martin, Sheehan and Gonzales.

TY COBB HITS FOR ONTARIO WOODS

Montreal, Oct. 12.—Ty Cobb no sooner found himself free as a result of the ending of the baseball season than he jumped for the Canadian north woods, where fish, fowl and fur called to his love of "out of doors."

He is turned up one morning last week at Metagama, Ont., and after having outfitted, made his way up the St. Lawrence River to look up some mineral deposits in which he is interested. Moore and his party are going into the woods from this point are looking forward to getting their full quota of moose with little difficulty.

McGUTCHEON CUP.

Maple Leafs vs. Army and Navy. Grand Trunk vs. W. O. R. St. Andrews vs. R. C. R.

Grand Trunk and W. O. R. will stage their battle tomorrow afternoon at the Height, kicking off at 2 o'clock. The last time the two met the soldiers were winners, 2 to 0, but the railway men hope to reverse this decision on Saturday, and will put their strongest line-up on the field in the attempt.

The Grand Trunk line-up will be: Knowles, goal; Brewer, Crimman, backs; Thorne, Askew, Astler, Lawrence, McLaughlin, Evans, Green, Beardsall, forwards; Gladly, reserve.

R. C. R. and Scots kick off at 2 o'clock. The last time the two met the soldiers were winners, 2 to 0, but the railway men hope to reverse this decision on Saturday, and will put their strongest line-up on the field in the attempt.

The team to oppose the R. C. R. will be: Adams, Wilson, and Croft; Russell, Knight and Whitlaw; Johnstone, Morgan, Dicks, Holt and Owen; MacFarlane, Ross, MacIntosh, Souther, Peables.

All players of the W. O. R. are requested to attend a meeting at the armories at 8 o'clock tonight. Some business is to come before the meeting.

FINISH TRAINING.

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Billy Mike and Tom Gibbons, St. Paul pugilists, finished training today for their fifth round match tomorrow night at Madison Square Garden.

Should Mike win he will be matched to meet Harry Wills, champion of the negro heavyweights, according to the promoters of the Mike-Gibbons battle.

This Morning's Weather Decides Fate of School Meet At Queen's Park

181 BOYS AND GIRLS ARE ENTERED IN ALL EVENTS

If Postponed, Meet Is Likely To Be Held Monday or At Earliest Next Week.

One hundred and eighty-one schoolboy and schoolgirl athletes will take part in this afternoon's first combined field and track meet of London secondary schools at Queen's Park if the weatherman has turned over a new leaf and sends some sunshine and a cold drying wind along. The state of the weather at 3 o'clock this morning decides whether the meet will be held.

If rain prevents the holding of the meet today, it will most probably be staged early next week, possibly Monday, though no official announcement has been made on this point by the committee.

Yesterday afternoon W. T. Lawrence looked over the Queen's Park track and found it in good condition, but as much rain had fallen afterwards, the committee were dubious at a late hour last night.

The contestants are:

Fan Who Solved "Pop" Bottle Mystery Was Given Tickets and Fare to Series

WHITEY WITT AND THE POP BOTTLE.

JAMES P. HON, a salesman for Morris & Company, packers, traveling out of St. Louis, was the luckiest fan in the world series.

While thousands of fans all over the United States were scrambling for world series tickets, Hon was handed a complete set on a silver platter by Ban B. Johnson, president of the American Baseball League, accompanied by a personal check for $100, including round-trip transportation between St. Louis and New York and Edward Moran, president of Morris & Company, granted him leave of absence, with full pay, to attend the world series games.

It came all about by Hon solving the "pop bottle" mystery.

During the crucial series between the New York Yankees and the St. Louis Browns, Fielder Whitey Witt of the Browns was struck by a pop bottle and so injured that he had to be carried off the field.

Great indignation was expressed by fans and players all over the country, and great effort was made to find the supposed thrower of the bottle.

Hon, who happened to have a seat very near to where the accident occurred, solved the mystery in a letter to President Johnson, explaining just how the accident occurred.

Witt, running, stepped on the neck of the bottle, causing it to bounce up and strike him in the head.

Johnson was well pleased with this explanation that he sent Hon the tickets to the world series, his check and the transportation.

Meetings.

An exceptionally interesting evening was enjoyed by the members of Knollwood Park Mothers' Club on Thursday, when Mrs. Freida Stephen, president of the Girls' Canadian Club, spoke on the subject of "The Teen Age Girl in the Home."

"With the girls of today always looking outside their homes," said Mrs. Stephen, "it is most important to have the home very attractive. Emphasis was laid on the importance of kindness and peace in building up a home in which the family can live in happiness, regarding it as the best place on earth—the one where the most want to be."

Advice was also given with regard to the treatment of husbands, the speaker evoking laughter by her naive remark: "I have read that one kind word will keep a husband happy for three years."

Arrangements were made for a rummage sale to be held in the school on October 17, at 3 o'clock; Miss Tolhurst, principal, and Misses Belton and Scream, teachers, assisting a committee consisting of Mesdames Taylor, Robbins, Zwick, Waud and Dixon.

The program for the season, suggested by the Union Mothers' Club was read and so approved that it was decided to follow it as far as possible. Miss Tolhurst is acting as program convener of the November meeting, at which it was decided to ask Inspector V. K. Greer to speak. Poles were appreciated from Mrs. Redding and Mrs. Dixon, Mrs. Green-Wade acting as accompanist.

Much appreciation was expressed for the new piano supplied by the board, which E. W. G. Quantz was

"Music in the Home and in the School" was the subject of an interesting address given by Edgar W. G. Quantz, supervisor of music in the public schools, at the meeting of the Aberdeen Mothers' Club Thursday evening.

The club decided to give assistance in the purchase of a car for Miss Bertha Smith, to be used in Child Welfare work.

Plans selections by Miss Ruby Brown were greatly enjoyed. A dainty supper and social hour closed the meeting.

SOLDIER UNITS
PARADE SUNDAYTo Attend Unveiling of Cross of Sacrifice at Mount Pleasant Cemetery.Militia Detachments Will Form Up at Armories Before 3 o'clock.

Special orders are being issued by Brig.-Gen. W. B. M. King, C.M.G., D.S.O., colonel commanding, commanding military district No. 1, to the various soldier organizations of the city, as well as the active militia for the parade Sunday, October 15, to Mount Pleasant Cemetery, where the "Cross of Sacrifice," erected by the Imperial War Graves Commission, will be unveiled by the Hon. George P. Graham, minister of militia and defence.

The dedication of the memorial, a beautiful marble shaft in the form of a cross, will be one of the most outstanding military ceremonies seen in the city for some time, and an exceptionally large attendance is expected.

The review order parade of units and detachments of the permanent active militia and the non-permanent active militia stationed in London will form up at the armories before 1:30. The Army and Navy Veterans, the Great War Veterans' Association, the Veterans of 1866, together with the nursing sisters and all veterans of the war, will be present.

Arrangements are also being made to have a good representation from Westminster Hospital and Byram Sanatorium, and as many of the veterans as are asked to attend the services for the city's fallen.

Returned men in possession of uniforms are asked to wear same, with medals, while those not having uniforms will appear in mufti with medals.

The head of the column will pass the city hall at 1:30 p.m., and the route of march will then be: Dundas street to Wharncliffe road, Wharncliffe to Mount Pleasant avenue, and Mount Pleasant to the cemetery. The saluting point will be at Mount Pleasant avenue and Murdoch street.

At the cemetery representatives of organizations and individuals presenting flowers for the Cross of Sacrifice will assemble at the entrance to the central path leading to the monument, and will lay their flowers on the monument or graves when called. Following the dedication of the cross, the Royal Canadian Regiment will fire three volleys.

Last Post will be sounded by the buglers of the Western Ontario Regiment.

Mr. Sparks touched briefly upon the wonderful opportunities for Canadian wares in the east, remarking that in the period of four years he had introduced the goods of fifty Canadian firms in China.

TEACHERS HEAR
STAR LECTUREProfessor Kingston Gives Talk On Astronomy Before County Institute.Major Cowles, Provincial Attendance Officer, Speaks on Adolescent Act.

"Wonder Heavens," was the title of Professor Kingston's impressive lecture given to the teachers of the county at the Normal School auditorium Thursday evening.

In conjunction with his lecture the professor presented some slide views which were very descriptive. He spoke of the different universes in the United States and Canada, and the beautiful as well as useful observations which they held. Pictures were shown of the huge telescopes of the observatories, and of the one in Chicago, which had a lens measuring 40 inches across, the largest one in the world. By merely pressing an electric button this monster will turn in any direction.

In speaking on the sun, he pointed out that all light originally comes from the sun, but at night the sun reflects its light on the moon, hence to the earth. The sun has a very rough and rugged surface caused by many explosions, as well as volcanic eruptions, and is shot away from that body at the rate of 200 miles per second. One of the most remarkable of his views was that of all the planets in the sky moving at their proper rate of speed.

Selections on the planets, and all that are called for in winter trade. The cooler weather of the last few days has been a boon to the fur trade, and some of the houses are having a little more than they can do to get their orders filled. Orders in some lines that were received earlier in the season had not been all cleared up by the time the weather turned cold, and the fall orders that are wanted at once pile up on top of the earlier ones, there are busy times.

Several of the wholesale houses are doing a large business with stores in surrounding districts. The trucks, these vehicles calling two or three times a week in many cases. The dealer in furs is fairly small quantities, and putting it up to the wholesaler to carry the larger stock.

The speaker also pointed out that the wholesaler is able to keep his stock more to his liking, and is sure that it contains just about what he can sell, and in this way his shelves do not become loaded with old lines or too much of any one thing.

On Local Market.

There was a good demand for hay on the local market on Friday morning, and eight loads brought to the city were soon sold. Farmers say the roads are poor, and the hay is in good demand, and this is the reason for the supply of hay being in good demand. The prices quoted were $14.00 per ton.

Oats were much in demand, but only three loads were offered. This is considered a good supply, as this grain has been unusually scarce for some time. The prices paid for today's offerings were $10.00 to $11.00 per cwt.

The Belgo Paper Company Limited
25-Year 6% Bondsare in our opinion a sound investment because—

- 1 The business now owned by the Company has been in continuous and successful operation for twenty-two years, during which time it has, by private capital and investment of earnings into the business, become one of Canada's largest manufacturers of newsprint.
- 2 The management under whose direction this excellent progress has been made will continue to actively direct the Company's affairs.
- 3 The present issue of $1,500,000 is secured by a First Mortgage on fixed assets totalling $18,000,000. The amount of bonds that can be issued under the Mortgage is limited to $3,000,000.
- 4 Average annual earnings for six years ended July 31st, 1922, amounted to $950,000, or more than ten times interest required by this issue.

As the available amount of these bonds is limited, we suggest that you order promptly, preferably by wire at our expense.

The Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal

The magnitude of this enterprise will be understood when one notes the following work, previous to actual construction:—

Excavation 4 steam shovels and 150 men employed taking out 70,000 cubic yards of material.

Caissons 318 caissons sunk to average depth of 35 feet (from the street level). These caissons went down to an average depth of 8 feet in bed-rock.

Foundation 3,138 cubic yards of concrete were poured into the 318 caissons together with 92 tons of reinforcing steel. 4,092 cubic yards of concrete were also used in the basement, using 103,806 square feet of forms.

Water Supply In addition to the city mains and municipal supply, the hotel has its own water supply, which is a great economy from a well sunk 805 feet. The supply pipe is 10 inches in diameter. The capacity is 8,200 gallons an hour, thus insuring an adequate supply of water for fire prevention as well as regular consumption.

Steel Work The steel work was an immense undertaking. 4,486 tons were erected and finished in four months.

Fireproofing All column steel work was fireproofed with terra cotta blocks, and the floor steel was fireproofed with concrete; consequently the fire hazard is reduced to a minimum.

Stone Work 50,000 cubic feet of cut stone were used and 55 men employed for six months in laying it. The base work is of Benedict Granite. The first two storeys and the two top storeys are of Benedict Light Buff Stone.

Brick and Hollow Tile Work In exactly six months 1,963,000 bricks were laid and 144,000 square feet of hollow tile installed. For five months 130 men were employed in brick work alone and 40 men on the Hollow Tile Work.
