RESENTS CHARGE

Claims Object Not To Coerce Ulster, But To Fulfill Duties.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Sept. 30.—Prime Minister
MacDonald moved the second reading in the House of Commons today of the bill providing for the creation of an Irish boundary commission without the participation of Ulster. In making the motion the premier declared it was the essential duty of every government to fulfil its obliga-tions. He said he resented the charge that the government's move was an attempt to coerce Ulster.

Mr. MacDonald contended that whatever government might be in power would find no other possible course than the one he had been purticular.

suing. After reviewing the events leading up to the Anglo-Irish treaty, a vital part of which was the ad-justment of the boundary between Ulster and the Free State, he said that the important machinery for the boundary adjustment was faulty and that in consequence the whole legislation was jeopardized. The govern-ment was now seeking a remedy for original defect.

Herbert Asquith, former premier, and Liberal leader, declared that the Liberals would give the Irish bill their hearty and undivided support. WOMEN and THE HOME where the husband "hauls the freight," and the wife sits in the pillows?

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

The Man Whose Wife Is Nothing But a Great Expense to Him-Should She Call Her Fiance or Wait In for Him?-The Intellectual Appeal.

I refer specifically to the husband making over $3,000 yearly. To put it another way: What is there in marriage for a way what is there in marriage for a way way. another way: What is there in marriage for a man making over $3,000 The present-day woman considers there is no "double standard" does as she pleases-wants it all-and gives nothing but expense. You have many times written about the poor subordinate, and why he should not marry without being able to afford the luxury. Why should the man UNABLE TO UNDERSTAND.

I have advised the very poor man not to marry until he could afford the luxury of wife and children, just as much for his own sake as for the woman's, because I believe that no man is more miserable than he who sees those he loves suffering for the things he cannot give them, and who is hounded at every step of the way by the bill collector.

As for the wife who sits in the pillows while her husband "pulls the freight," who takes all and gives nothing but expense, she is so small in number as to be almost negligible. I know thousands of women in all parts of the country, and in my vast acquaintance there are only one or

The great majority of wives are industrious and thrifty, and anxious to help their husbands get on in the world. They work as hard, keeping house and taking care of their children, as their husbands do. If this were not true, there would not be happy and prosperous homes everywhere; there would not be clean, well dressed children going promptly to school of a morning; the death rate among children would not steadily go down, for houses are not kent by magic: children are not washed and dressed automatically. It takes work, and plenty of it, to keep a household a going concern,

As to what the man gets out of marriage, whose wife does not have to cook for him with her own hands and make his shirts and give him the personal service that poorer women have to give their husbands, that depends pretty much on the man and what he demands of a wife. There is love, for instance, the faithful love of a wife that follows a man through good and ill fortune, and that makes of her arms a refuge to which he can flee when all the world turns against him; the love that cherishes him in sickness, and goes with him down into the valley of death. There is companionship that makes her the one pal of whom he never tires.

Most well-to-do men in America get their social position and friends out of marriage because it is women who run and rule society. Many men get an invaluable press agent in their wives, many other men find wise counselors in their wives, and many, many men make of their wives the shop windows in which they display the visible tokens of their success to

Furthermore, this is to be said-a man picks out his wife himself, and if he does not get what he wants, it is his own error DOROTHY DIX.

Should I stay at home evenings and look for him, or should he tell me when to expect him? Is it my place to call him up on the telephone to find out when he is coming when he doesn't make a date? AN ANXIOUS LOVER.

I think that the young man does not love you, that he is tired of the engagement and is trying to force you to break it. Certainly a man is a poor and indifferent lover who is so casual about coming to see the girl to whom he is engaged.

What this young man needs is a good snubbing. Don't be afraid o administering it. If he cares for you at all, you will make him realize it by letting him see that he is not necessary to your happiness and that you can get on perfectly well without him. If he is tired of you, let him go. Better a thousand times to lose him now than after you are married.

Dear Dorothy Dix-I am a woman past thirty in love with a married man who is not yet twenty-five. We first met on the intellectual plane, where I cou'd help him with his studies, while his wife was busy cooking beefsteak. We are disconsolate, for it is the first love of my life. His wife does not know, and how are we to tell her?

Why tell her at all, Julia, for your love episode will be a brief You are past thirty and he is not twenty-five. Some pretty young girl will soon meet him on the youth plane, and then it will be good-night for you. Do not despise the wife who broils beefsteaks. Farmer Brown's Boy Sets a Trap, Baited With Meat, For Unc' Billy Possum

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.
It will be a good thing for Unc Billy Possum to be kept a prisoner for a while," said Farmer Brown's Boy, talking to himself. "It will be the back porch there all day; but as soon as it becomes dark he will come out. A steel trap set just inside that hole under the porch would be sure to catch him. But I won't set one No, sir, I won't set one. Steel traps are cruel things. There's nothing I know of more cruel than a steel trap. I know what I'll do: I'll set a box trap just in front of that hole. A box trap will catch him without hurting him. I'm afraid that box trap I made to catch Peter Rabbit is too small, so I'll make another."

He hunted around until he found the right kind of a box, and then he Farmer Brown's Boy baited the trap made it into a trap. It was made so that one end and the top, which were nailed together were held up by a row morning I'll be the most sur

To this was fastened the bait. A couple of bricks were put on the top. Anyone trying to get the bait inside the trap would make the little stick to which it was fastened move. This would set free the little stick to which it was fastened and the weight of the bricks would make the lottle stick to which the string was fastened, and the weight of the bricks would make the top and end drop and close the box up. Farmer Brown's Boy baited the trap with a piece of meat. He felt sure that the smell of that meat would be more than Unc' Billy could resist. Late in the afternoon he set the trap in front of the hole under the porch. "There," he said, "I guess this will do the trick. LOEW'S FEATURE SCORES TRIUMPH

GOOD VAUDEVILLE

This week's bill at Loew's exceeds any features of the past. Mary Pickford in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall" is one of the best pictures ever screened in Loew's. The movie patrons of London, who crowded the theatre last night thought so too. True, the picture has been seen here before, but at prices away beyond the ordinary film fan. There has been no increase in the regular Loew price. Coupled with this romantic story of the days of Queen Elizabeth are three mighty fine vaudeville acts, as well as Loew's news events and a short comedy.

The picture will play Loew's all this week. The vaudeville program changes on Thursday. Space will not permit of a resume of Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall. Mary Pickford, although she is quite grown up, in this her latest screen triumph, is still the Mary that we never missed seeing fire, six and seven years ago. It is understood that Mary will make just one more picture before retiring from the bright lights of screenland, and if this be true no person should miss the opportunity of seeing her as Dorothy Vernon.

"Delivered At His Residence"

If there is any reasonable doubt about government selling increasing the consumption of liquor in the homes, the provisions now in force in Manitoba should clear the matter up.

Dealing with the matter of delivery of liquor purchased at the government stores, the regulations state:

"A permit holder living within the limits of a city or town in which there is a government livered at his residence only, and the commission pays the delivery charges."

CREMATION.

Against the custom of cremating the human body after death the prejudice seems to be lessening.

A conference on the subject was held by distinguished men of science, religion and other walks of life, recently in England. Bishop Gore spoke in favor of cremation and his remarks were interesting not only because of their intrinsic force, but because of his position as a prelate in the Anglican Church.

According to him the only really logical contention against cremation was that it destroyed means of ascertaining whether a person had died by poisoning. From a sanitary and utilitarian point of view the advantage of cremation could not be denied. The strongest position against it is that of sentiment. The Catholic Church carefully excludes theological grounds from those upon which it is prohibited. The chief motive is a reverence for immemorial custom. The Christian idea of the resurrection of the body does not in any way mean the preservation or reconstruction or recovery of the material particles of the present body, although this idea is implied in the phraseology of the Nicene Creed. The movement in favor of cremation is a part of the movement of sanitation and science against sentiment. Sentiment always holds in connection with the dead and it is very difficult to resist, yet the problem of disposing of dead bodies in large states is constantly growing more acute. Those in favor of cremation depend upon logic, while those opposed to it are governed by sentimental reasons.

The conflict between logic and sentiment is universal and covers every phase of human progress. It takes time to accomplish any reform, especially when opposition to it is entrenched in

As far as the resurrection of the body is concerned, it would be as easy matter to gather the materials from the air, or from whatever place they have been scattered, as it would from the ground. Beside this, the fact that the particles of matter from the dead body go, in time, to the construction of new bodies renders a literal adherence to a bodily resurrection very difficult.

Just what the resurrection body will be is not known. It will be some sort of clothing for the human soul, but the matter had probably best be left where the Scriptures put it, which was that "There is a spiritual body and there is a natural body." There can be no doubt, however, that cremation is the most

Fighting Senators Bring Washington First American Flag In Forty Years

Victory Over Boston Sox Gives Washington Club Only Pennant In History

Rise of Team Under Stanley Harris, in Majors Only Five Years, and Manager For First Time, One of Game's Brightest Achievements.

MEET GIANTS FOR WORLD'S TITLE

New York, Sept. 29.—Washington today clinched the first pennant it has won since breaking into big league baseball, exactly forty years ago, and the flag bearer of the American League will flight it out with the New York Glants, four-time National League champions, in the world's series, starting next Saturday at the capital city.

By defeating the Boston Red Sox this afternoon the Senators brought to a climax one of the most spectacular diamond campaigns in the history of baseball, and accomplished the downfall of the New York Yankees, once proud world's champions, who tonight repose irrevocably in second place, two and a half games behind the leaders.

Washington's rise this year under the aggressive leadership of the 28-year-old Stanley Harris, a major leaguer only five years and experiencing his first managerial test, is one of the most dramatic achievements in baseball annals. This fighting youngstar will meet one of the greatest strategists of the game when he takes the field against John McGraw, gray-haired "master mind" of the Giants.

Sharing the glory of Washington's triumph with Harris are Walter Johnson, one of the greatest pitchers of all time and Clark Griffith, now president and former manager of the club. In his eighteenth season Johnson has been the mainstay of the team's twirling corps, and will realize a lifelong ambition to pitch in a world's series.

WELLINGTON ST. BRIDGE MAY BE OPENED MONDAY

Work on the Wellington street pavement is going on as quickly as was hoped for. General traffic has not been able to use Wellington street bridge across the Thames yet. This was pointed out by the mayor today, but expectations are that paving operations will be sufficiently far advanced by the end of the week to open the bridge to motor and other vehicular traffic.

President, Mr. I. F. Hellmuth, K.C.

THERE has never been in Ontario a more popular cause than the Moderation League's fight against compulsory prohibition. Moderation League's fight against compulsory prohibition.

No political party has ever had as large a following.

Indications are that on the 23rd of October next the largest poll this Province has ever known will be cast

These indications also point to the overwhelming defeat of compulsory prohibition.

But between now and 23rd October much has to be done to make this victory a certainty.

Money and service are urgently needed.

The canvassing and registration of voters, the organizing of meetings, and publicity cost large sums.

The Moderation League of Ontario needs the help of every citizen who desires the life of his Province to be characterised by temperance and toleration.

Bonds will be sold, the proceeds of which are to be used to enable the League to carry on the campaign.

Buy bonds yourself and get your friends to do likewise.

Bonds are in denominations of $1.00, $5.00 and $10.00.

Your pleasure in the victory will be made the sweeter in proportion to what you yourself have done to achieve it.

Do not let the other fellow do it all. Besides, your help is imperative.

Clip off and mail the attached coupon. Any money you send will be spent in your own district.

Aspirants For Presidential Chair Put Finishing Touches On Campaign.

Associated Press Despatch. New York, Sept. 29. - With the presidential campaign throughout the United States swinging into its last stages, leading candidates were busy today putting the finishing touches on their plans for intensive drives in various sections of the country. John W. Davis, the Democratic

John W. Davis, the Democratic candidate, began preparations here today for the last big offensive in his campaign to return to his party the control of the federal government. That offensive will cover three general fields, the east, the middle west and several of the border states. It will be inaugurated next Wednesday in Maryland, and will end with a rally in New York City on the night of November 1. of November 1.

Senator Robert M. La Follette was senator Robert M. La Foliette was busy at Washington mapping out the route and speaking points for an in-tensive campaign tour that will carry him to the Pacific coast. The major question as yet undecided is whether the third party, or "independent" can-didate, will make a swing through the eastern states and New England before starting the western tour or reserve that for the latter stages of the campaign.

Meanwhile President Coolidge, Re publican standard-bearer, has given no indication that he is considering any change of his program for par-ticipation in the campaign. This has consisted so far of conferences with party leaders who have called on him, and deliverance of occasional speeches. In none of these has he mentioned directly the campaign, election or More Fire Hydrants Suggested -Ladder Truck Needs Repairs.

St. Thomas, Sept. 29.—Fire Chief John Mittrella, who succeeded Chief Henderson early in September as head of the local brigade, made his first repeat to the fire committee of the city council at their regular meeting this evening. In order to make the system efficient, Chief Mitrella made recommenda-tions to the committee, some of which re classed as immediate requirements and some which could be treated as a recommendation from the committee of 1924 to the one of 1925. His report reads as follows: The fire hall should have a business phone as well as the present line, which should be used for alarms Chief Mitrella is endeavoring to make some arrangement that tele phone operators will record the number from which the alarm is phoned

A brass sliding rail should be supplied at once. It will be installed

Owing to the necessity of looking after the ambulance, and with ar occasional man on sick leave and holidays, the force is under-manned. More hydrants are needed. The chief was instructed to make a rechief was instructed to make a re-port stating the exact locations. Of 1,000 feet of hose tested recently 400 were found to be defective. The committee prepared a recommendation to the next committee, suggesting that a yearly system of replacing a per-centage of the hose be adopted. The fire hall is in need of painting and repairing, while the roof is leaking badly. An estimate of ex-penditure will be supplied by the engineer.

The present motor hose wagon has not sufficient power and the chief recommends the purchase of another piece of apparatus. Recommended to the 1925 committee.

The new hook and ladder truck needs some general repair work which the Bickel people have agreed to do if the truck is sent to Woodstock at once. The committee thought it advisable to have the repairs tended to.

The committee authorized the purchase of 1,000 inspection cards for use in the work of inspecting the business houses.

CONTROL SCORED.

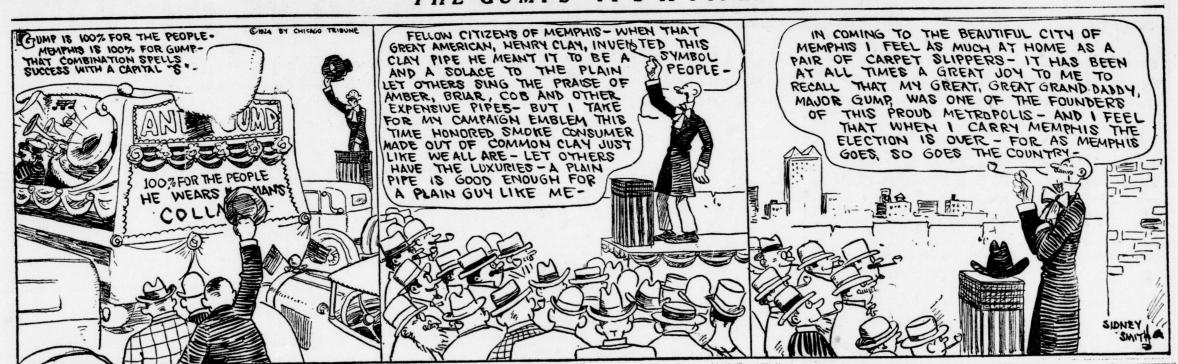

Special to The Advertiser.
Strathroy, Sept. 29.—A large crowd
f electors filled the Methodist church last evening to hear Rev. W W. Peck of Vancouver explain how the sale of liquor through government stores worked out in British Columbia. The meeting was held under the auspices of the local tem-perance forces, and was the first o several that have been arranged to discuss the coming plebiscite.

Rev. Peck was an entertaining speaker, who without exaggeration or bombast concisely explained what a miseroble failure, from the temper-ance point of view, the British Columbia regulation was. Government control, he claimed, was a misnomer, as once a province had passed from a prohibition area, such as Ontario was at present, to a wet area, as it would become under government control, then the government controlled nothing, neither exportation importation or transportation of
