WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and auocessful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as socreely confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally seedless, and that no woman, except in rure cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will sure you right in the arrivacy of

Dr. Pierce's treatment will care you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription" has pured hundreds of thousands, some of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dore to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secreey. It will bear examination. No sloohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some anseruptions medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't erife with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. Y. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

Mounted Procession. The little town of Langholm, in Jumfriesshire, still maintains the custom of riding the marches. A cornet is elected to be the leader of a cavalcade of horsemen - a troop which will sometimes number as many as seventy. The crier of the fair makes a quaint proclamation in the market place, standing on horseback, and surrounded by the other horsemen and a great crowd which comes in from the country far and wide. The proclamation tells those who ride the marches that they may take their fill of good whisky, which will make them sing, whilst those who in any way disturb or hinder the riders are warned that their "lugs" will be nailed to the "tron" with a big nail. Then the procession is formed. The ornet carries the town's flag in front of him, and he is followed by the orsemen, some of whom carry symbolical articles like a monster thistle, a spade adorned with heather, a ley-bannock with a herring nailed across it. Following the horsemen are several hundreds of children carrying heather besoms, each of them having been previously presented with a threepenny piece. When the time for the beating of the bounds comes round at Barn staple the mayor has to pass under an arch of sticks. The arch is formed by two rows of beaters forming a lane and crossing their sticks in the centre, just beside the bridge. As the mayor and corporation have to cross the bridge they must perforce go un der the arch. This passage is ac companied by a great deal of chaft laughter and joking. Seldom Object.

The custom of "heaving" is carried on at Easter in some parts of Lancashire, Cheshire and North Wales. Two men or two girls join hands and skip through the streets. The first person they meet is lifted in the air and kissed with much gusto. On Easter Monday the men do the "heaving," whilst the girls enjoy themselves in the same way on the following day. On the Tuesday they swarm into the streets in pairs, merrily singing, "Heave 'em, kiss 'em, and fine 'em sixpence." Generally the maidens are well able to assert their rights, and the men folk seldom object to being "heaved, kissed and fined."

A very curious custom is observe at St. Ives, in Cornwall. Dr. Robert Wild, who died in August, 1678, bequeathed £50, the interest of which was to be expended annually in six Bibles, not exceeding the price of 7s 6d. each, which should be "cast for by dice" on the communion table every year by six boys and six girls o the town. For nearly 250 years this singular custom has been observed but the practice of throwing the dic on the communion table has long discontinued, and the raffling takes place at a table erected at the chancel steps .- Tit-Bits.

Curious Coincidences. It may be remembered that some days ago we published a message which conveyed the intelligence that taunting England with the labour disturbances which were dislocating trade throughout the British Isles, and asked whether she had not enough to do with her domestic concerns without meddling with foreign affairs. This expression apparently expressed the sentiment of the German Government, for we find Germany prompt to take advantage of the embarrassments caused Germany in Morocco, which took the their honeymoon trip yesterday evenform of the seizure of the port of Agadir and the claim to political and trade predominance in the surrounding country, curiously coincided with the threatened international shipping strike, which only came off in part, and which strangely enough affected only British and Dutch ports, and left German ports undisturbed and Ger-

Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills

Dear Sirs :-"My age is 18. My friends and relatives had been very anxious about me as the Doctor had told my mother that my blood had gone to water. He said it was too late now he could not do anything for me.

I saw your Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills advertised, and purchased two boxes. I have only taken your pills for a short time but have improved so very much and the progress is so wonderful that I cannot praise them too highly. They have done so much for me. They work like a dream. I have told my friends all about your Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic Pills, and told them they should not be without them."

Yours truly, ANNIE M. GATES. We have hundreds of similar testimon ials from people who are thankful for the benefits derived from the use of these pills-people who firmly believe that they would never have lived if they had not heard of Dr. Bovel's Iron Tonic
