Clemenceau Lost Nomination.

French Premier Turned Down By Caucus--Bolshevik Armies Are Strongest in Europe -- Dublin Elections Favor Sein Fein--12 New Ships for Cunard Line-- Bloodshed in Black Republic.

CLEMENCEAU DEFEATED.

PARIS, Jan. 16. Premier Clemenceau went down to defeat at the hands of his countrymen today in caucus of the Senate and Chamber of Deputies to choose a candidate for the Presidency of the Republic. Clemenceau thereupon announced his withdrawal from the contest, and asked his supporters to cast their votes for the re-election of President Poincare. The Senators and Deputies after the caucus, in which Paul Deschanel, President of the Chamber, led the Premier by 19 votes, generally expressed the opinion that the vote eliminated from public life "the father of victory," Clemenceau being neither a Senator nor Deputy.

CLEMENCEAU WITHDRAWS.

PARIS, Jan. 16. Premier Clemenceau today announced that he would withdraw as a candidate for the Presidency of the Republic. He asked his supporters to vote for President Poincare for re-election.

WILL HOLLAND REFUSE?

PARIS, Jan. 16. The Supreme Council today approved of the text of the letter to the Dutch Government asking for the extradition of the former German Emperor. The general expectation in French circles is that Holland will refuse to deliver the former monarch.

NEW CUNARD LINERS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. The names and dimensions of twelve new Cunard line steamships now under construction were made public today. Six will take the places of an equal number sunk during the war and will perpetuate their names. Four will be named after ships lost in other wars, and two will have names used for the first time by the Company.

ROCKEFELLER CONFERENCE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. A conference with a large number of prominent Canadians representing institutional and geographical interests in the Dominion, will be held before the Rockefeller Foundation adopts its policy in connection with the aid to be extended the Canadian Medical Association from John D. Rockefeller's recent gift to the Foundation for its fight against disease.

BRITISH STEAMER STRANDED.

LONDON, Jan. 16. The British tank steamer Aureole, bound from New York for Copenhagen, stranded yesterday at Lister Farsund, Norway. The vessel is in a dangerous position with her engine rooms full of water. The crew are safe.

WILL LOSE THEIR JOBS.

TORONTO, Jan. 16. Two hundred and ten incumbents in 48 counties and districts of the Province, will be separated from their present salaries and positions under the Provincial Government by the wholesale reorganization of the Game and Fisheries Department, to be made in the near future by Hon. F. C. Biggs, Minister of Public Works.

TIME TO CHECK BOLSHIEVISM.

LONDON, Jan. 16. In an editorial dealing with what is called Bolshevism menace, the Globe says it is time people should recognize the peril with which civilization is menaced. The Bolshevism army is the strongest and most numerous in Europe. We must face the fact that Bolshevism by its very nature cannot remain confined to Russia, but must endeavour to spread over the whole civilized world. There is no occasion for panic, but an obvious need for wise and resolute statesmanship.

SINN FEIN WINNING.

DUBLIN, Jan. 16. Preliminary returns in municipal elections in Dublin show success for Sinn Feiners. Three Sinn Fein Commissioners were elected the first count, including Alderman Tom Kelly, now in prison in London, who obtained more than three times the necessary votes. Lord Mayor O'Neill, whose time expired, although running as an independent candidate, scored a record poll, due to the fact it was stated, that he supported Sinn Fein candidates in other sections. Results from country districts of Ireland indicated preponderance of votes went to Sinn Feiners, and it is considered certain that party, together with Labor, will have considerable majority outside of Ulster.

U.S.A. MARINES REPEL ATTACK.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16. American marines and Haitian Gendarmes yesterday repelled an attack on Port AuPrince, Haitian capital by force of three hundred bandits, more than half of whom were killed, wounded or captured after being pursued outside the city. The total casualties of the marines was two privates wounded, according to a report of the engagement received at the Navy Department.

STOLE THE BOOZE.

CHICAGO, Jan. 16. Spectacular robberies marked the early hours of prohibition here. In one, six masked men bound the Yardmaster and Watchman of the Pennsylvania Railroad, drove six train men into a shanty and took between $75,000 and $100,000 worth of whiskey from two box cars.

REDS OCCUPY NEW DISTRICTS.

LONDON, Jan. 16. All of North Siberia, beginning at Tulun, and all Lunsky district, is occupied by Red forces, and the Soviet Government exists everywhere in conjunction with Central Soviet in Irkutsk, say advices forwarded from Moscow by Wireless.

WANT SHIPBUILDING BOUNTY.

OTTAWA, Jan. 16. The granting of bounty to shipbuilding in Canada was urged on the Government to-day by a delegation representing returned men employed in shipyards throughout Canada.

WILL RELIEVE RUSSIAN INTERIORE POPULATION.

PARIS, Jan. 16. In an official communique issued tonight the Supreme Council approved of recommendations to relieve the population in the interior of Russia by giving them medicine, agricultural machinery, and other commodities of which they are in great need. This partial lifting of the blockade is described in an official communication as an exchange of goods on basis of reciprocity between the Russian people and the Allied and neutral countries, but through co-operative societies. These arrangements imply no change in the policy of Allied Governments toward the Soviet Government, says the communication of the Supreme Council.

A Brave Irish Girl.

On Wednesday, January 17, 1849, at Ballylunny, between Belfast and Carrickfergus, in the county of Antrim, on the north-east coast of Ireland, Grace MacVeogh, with her sister, suspecting an attempt to set fire to their stack-yard, kept watch till past midnight. Then, seeing one of the incendiaries applying a match to the haystack, she took such aim with an old blunderbuss as was possible in the dark, and discharged its contents into his head. She had the satisfaction of seeing him fall badly wounded in the yard. One of his companions approached to see what had happened, but was attacked by her with an old bayonet fastened to the end of a pole; and though he fired a pistol at her face, he was compelled to retreat to a car that was occupied by some others of his party, who all fled in haste from the farm. An alarm was instantly sent to the police at Newtownbreda, county Down, a village about three miles south-east of Belfast, but before they could arrive to search the body of the man first wounded, it had been removed, though his cap and part of his other clothing were found near to the spot where he fell.

Hangmen Want

More Pay.

London, Jan. 8.—England's public executioners, the hangmen, want their pay increased and their claim has been presented directly to the House of Commons by a member of that body, Augustine Hanford inquired whether the government knew it was paying the executioners no more than in previous days. A government representative replied that the matter would receive consideration.

Fashions and Fads.

A novelty plume fan was one of white and red plumes set crossways. Bright-colored hand embroidery appears on colored Georgette dresses.

Some frocks sacrifice the best part of their fronts to dainty vests. Coats of gray duvetyne have cuffs and collars of the same material in blue.

A smart new purse is a flat, oblong one of striped moire mounted in gold.

Garlands of fruit and natural colored flowers appear on the Paris frocks. The reappearance of white will probably bring back the lingerie blouse.

Shaded silk stitching is one of the new ways of ornamenting tailored dresses.

Ornaments of contrasting hair, dyed, have been accepted for the coiffure.

One now wears one's watch pinned to a ribbon at the side of the corsage.

Blue velvet darned with gray yarn is a favorite for coats of a novelty kind.

Beads of colored glass, of jet and of wool appear on gowns in great quantities.

Gray chiffon combined with monkey fur and silver lace is a striking combination.

An unstiffened hat of black satin is trimmed with a drooping black pheasant feather.

The short-sleeved frock, when worn with a fur set, may be transformed into a street dress.

BOY SCOUTS' COLUMN.

WOLF CUBS ENJOY A TREAT.
 The Wolf Cubs of the Gower St. Troop of Boy Scouts enjoyed a treat on Thursday afternoon. There were forty-two Cubs present at the Roll Call. After having some games which included Skin-the-snake and a Club Race between two pairs of sixes, they were served with cake and cocoa, as much as they could eat, and Wolves—especially young ones—are fairly hungry in winter. A Christmas tree was on the platform, and shortly after supper Santa Claus arrived. He explained that his legs were worn off to the knees on account of his recent hard work, and that it was breaking in on his holidays to come at all, but he didn't want to miss the Cubs. He then distributed apples and oranges to all present, and was rewarded with the Wolf Cub yell in good style. Mrs. Squires, the wife of the Premier, was a welcome visitor, and was much pleased with the way the Cubs went through their drill and Calisthenics. Akela deserves congratulations on the success of the treat. The social closed with cheers for the young ladies who served and those who contributed the refreshments, for the lady visitor, for Akela (the Cubmaster), and for the Pastor of the church.

WHAT A BOY SCOUT DID.
 During the race riots in the city of Omaha, a few weeks ago, a twelve-year-old Boy Scout showed the results of his Scout training. When, for the time being, law and order had been cast aside in the community and the police officers were engaged in various parts of the city battling with gangs of men and boys seized with the mob-spirit, this twelve-year-old Scout stationed himself at a prominent street intersection and directed traffic. He stayed on the job all night and well into the morning. Traffic was tied up and congested in many parts of the city, but at this one corner it flowed along as smoothly as if an experienced traffic man was doing "point" duty. The lad in this case showed a lot more sense than most of his elders. There cannot be much wrong with the teaching which puts that kind of spirit into the boy.—Canadian Boy for November.

BOY SCOUTS AND THE PRINCE.
 During the visit of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales to Calgary an unrehearsed incident took place. On September 14th when on his way to the Country Club for lunch, the Prince was held up in his car by the 2nd Calgary Troop of Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs at the entrance to the bridge over the Elbow River. Their Scoutmaster after shaking hands with His Royal Highness, asked permission for his Troop to pull the car, in which the Prince was riding across the bridge. The Prince readily consented and so the boys took possession of it, pulled it across, and then cheered as the Prince drove away.

Children Entertained.
 The Daughters of the Empire entertained about 200 children of our Soldiers and Sailors yesterday afternoon at the Presbyterian Hall. His Excellency the Governor and Mrs. Harris were present. In addressing the children His Excellency impressed upon them the privilege they enjoyed in being members of the British Empire, and expressed the hope that they would always be loyal to King and Country. Capt. Fenn, R.N., impersonated Father Christmas, and presented each of the little ones with a gift. The entertainment was thoroughly enjoyed, and at the close three cheers for His Excellency, the President, members of the I. O. O. F., and Father Christmas were heartily given.

Entire Body Covered Doctors said it was Scrofula
 Would my few lines help some sufferer from skin disease? A year ago I was a fright, you could not put a pin on my whole body. I was tormented beyond words. I could not sleep. I tried several doctors. They said it was scrofula. Then Mrs. Elyer, of Brookvale, said, "Try D.D.D. It helped me and I think it will help you." I used two sample bottles and three dollar bottles. I have seen no sores or pimples for five months, thanks to your wonderful D.D.D. JOHN M. CLARK, Brookvale, N. B., Canada. Remarkable results have been accomplished by D.D.D. in healing all forms of skin trouble from pimples and blackheads to severe cases of eczema. It should reach your case too. Ask your druggist about it. Your money back unless the first bottle relieves.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

BRINGING UP HUSBANDS.

When women bring up sons, they ought to remember that they are also bringing up husbands.

So writes a letter friend. She says she was started on this train of thought by a sentence in a talk of mine in which I reminded the mother who wants to know whether she ought to rebuke her son's selfishness or bear it with leniency, that she ought to remember the years "his wife will have to struggle with this selfishness after the illusions of courtship have worn away."

I think my letter friend's suggestion is excellent.

Half Hour to Pick up After Him.

It reminds me of what I once heard a mother say. She had been picking up her son's room in the morning. He had dropped each thing where he had left it—payamas on the floor, shaving things scattered over the bureau, two neckties on a chair, a handful of matches, some papers and a leaky pouch of tobacco brown on the bureau, two or three magazines under the bed, pipe ashes carelessly spilled on the rug. She had to pick up all these things (and haven't named half of them) often working laboriously. She had to sweep the every article off the bureau so she could shake off the litter of loose tobacco from the cover. She had to sweep the rug.

She Thinks She can Stand It.

It's a shame for you to let Harry take you so much work," she scolded affectionately. "You ought to make him pick up after himself and be more careful."

"Oh, well," said his mother. "I may not have Harry but a few years now, you know he is getting to the marring age. I guess I can stand it."

"I suppose so," agreed the other woman.

Neither, apparently, thought anything about the other woman who would have to stand that selfish habit for 50 years, perhaps.

But What About the Other Woman?

You say the wife might break him off herself? But by the time he marries the habit is ten times harder to break than in his boyhood. Moreover, his mother has fixed the idea in his mind that it's a woman's business to pick up after a man. And, finally, to keep a man thinking you think he is perfect (the only basis of marital happiness with many men) and at the same time cure him of a fault, is a very delicate task.

Selfishness, a Prussian idea of the inferiority of women, disorderliness, lateness to meals, unmannerliness—these are some of the faults that the mothers of men owe it to the wives of men to combat in their boys.

Of course, no woman can feel a very warm feeling for the woman who is going to take first place in her son's heart. But put it this way—surely, no mother wants the other woman to say with reason:

"How I wish Harry's mother had brought him up properly!"

HARD BOILED WISDOM.

When once again we use our heads, and calm become, and thrifty, there'll be no room for noisy Reds, with theories wild and shift. The man who owns a house and lot, a garden in its season, has little use for ribald rot that seems to smack of treason.

The man who has a pansy bed, with tufted tips for a border, would see all agitators dead; he's strong for law and order. The clerk who has a bank account, the blacksmith or mechanic, is tired when freaks the rostrum mount and try to raise a panic. Upheaval is the worst of fakes though in gay rags they robe her; thrift is the medicine that makes a nation sane and sober. We blow the roubles left and right while daylight hours are sunny, and then we roar around all night and say we need more money. It isn't what we earn that counts when times are most distressing; it's what we save, in small amounts, that keeps the sheriff guess-

Household Notes.

Every growing child and every adult should spend at least one hour a day outdoors.

Always clear all ashes out of the fire before attempting to heat the oven for baking.

To make clear mushroom soup add the stems and skins of mushrooms to soup stock.

Give the baby freedom. Allow him to get dirty. It is his way of developing his muscles.

Sow grapefruit seeds in a fern pan and you will have a potful of pretty and vigorous greenery.

If some softening lotion is applied immediately after washing and drying the hands they will not chap.

Sunshine should be allowed to shine into the house regardless of the possibility of fading the cretonne.

A pinch of salt is an improvement to all puddings. This is often used in the beating up of whites of eggs.

Pudding moulds should not be more than three-fourths full, as room must be allowed for the mixture to rise.

If you drop soot on the carpet, cover it with a coating of dry salt before you attempt to sweep it up.

Turkish towels and sheets can be put into the linen cupboard without ironing, and much work will be saved.

A pinch of baking powder added to the flour when making pie crust will make the crust very light and flaky.

Send your magazines to somebody as soon as the family has finished with them so that there be no waste.

A pair of wristlets are handy things to have in one's outfit, probably preventing many a cold from exposure.

So many desserts can be prepared the day before they are used, thereby making less confusion of preparing for guests.

HEAVEN ON EARTH.

Here's the time of mirth and laughter Not in some far-off hereafter; Here's the land of smiling faces, Not in strange and distant places, Which perhaps we'll see to-morrow In a world where there's no sorrow— Here's the land when men are blest And where they achieve their best.

Think you when you've passed death's portals To the realm of the immortals, That your soul shall wake to gladness If in life it found but sadness; If it saw on earth no beauty, But went blindly to its duty, Missing all that makes life fair, Will it see the glory there?

Here in Heaven in the making Despite hearts that may be aching, And the cares that men are bearing, As the roads of life they're faring; Here are joys and merry laughter And the peace we want hereafter— We must learn to know them here, Not in some celestial sphere.

Rise above your cares and sorrows! Build on earth your glad to-morrows! Do not wait until life closes, Ere you stop to gather roses; Here, amid life's round of duty, Find its gladness and its beauty— Fit your soul for what awaits When at last Heaven swings its gates.

A WISE TRAMP.

He was one of those smart men who like to show their cleverness.

"Watch me take a rise out of him," he said, as the tramp approached. Then he listened solemnly to the tale of hard luck.

"That's the same old story you told me the last time you accosted me," he said, when the vagrant had finished.

"Is it?" was the answering question. "When did I tell it you?"

"Last week."

"Mebbe I did, mebbe I did," admitted the tramp. "I'd forgotten meeting you. I was in prison all last week."

MUTT AND JEFF

WE WONDER IF MUTT KNOWS THAT NAPOLEON'S DEAD?

By Bud Fisher.

Evening Telegram

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor C. T. JAMES, Editor

Saturday, January 17, 1920.

Will St. John's West Endorse Coaker?

"The country has approved of Coakerism, which is Unionism on the same basis as established by the Constitution of the Fishermen's Protective Union."

This assertion was made by Honorable William F. Coaker, Member of the House of Assembly for Bonavista, Minister of Marine and Fisheries and President of the Fishermen's Protective Union, in his address to the Supreme Council of the Union at its annual session held in Port Union on November 27, 1919, and was heard without protest by twelve members of the House of Assembly who were present. It, of course, stands to reason that not one of these twelve representatives, all of whom were not from districts where Unionism or Coakerism, if you like,—it is the same thing anyway,—had the biggest influence, could have had the courage to deny this boastful statement, because all twelve were directly under the thumb and disposition of the President, and dare not gainsay him.

Out of a Government of twenty-three members, elected in November last, Mr. Coaker controls, including himself, thirteen members, the other ten being split into two factions. Therefore the domination of the administration is in the power of the senior member for Bonavista, and ample proof has been offered since the Coaker-Squires-Warren party took over the administrative work of the Government, to convince the most sceptical that Coakerism rules the destinies of Newfoundland and his wish becomes law. Witness his insistence upon the keeping in operation of the iniquitous Fish Export Regulations, by which the whole foreign fish trade of the dominion is compelled into the hands of half a dozen men, who at present have sole direction of the export and sale of every cargo of fish shipped to Europe whether from the city or the outports. Witness also, the defiance of the judgment of the Supreme Court, which was overridden by the Minister of Marine and Fisheries ordering the Prime Minister and Colonial Secretary to revive the powers of the War Measures Act of 1914 in order that his will become law. Coakerism, Czarism, Bolshevism, all these are synonymous terms. The commercial destruction of St. John's is aimed at in the prohibition of fish shipments, excepting under such conditions defined by the recent proclamation. Exporters outside the combine have absolutely no fair play whatever, neither have they been allowed any protest. To get their fish away they must first submit to the will of the ring, and even then they may not be given permission to clear their cargoes.

In a free age, in a free country it is intolerable that such proscription of business should become the recognized law. Legitimate competition is killed instantly and monopoly comes at once into being, and threatens the inalienable right of men to live and move within the recognized law of the land. The law of protection in this dominion has been turned into the law of persecution, under which freemen and liberty-loving subjects of the British Empire have to bow, in order that the insatiable lust of power possessed by one W. F. Coaker be gratified. The old Blue Laws of the Puritans of New Haven were not more drastic and severe than the present Fishery Export Regulations of the Dictator of Newfoundland. The rigors of this Puritanical Code were felt by the whole of the New England colonies of the time, and numbers suffered because of their extreme severity. Newfoundland is suffering today under the Fishing Admiral regulations of the Government. St. John's city is suffering; the district of St. John's West know themselves. "Coakerism has been accepted by the country," pronounces the President of the Fishermen's Protective Union, but St. John's West is to have a voice in this matter ere it is finally consummated. The bare ipse dixit of Mr. Coaker does not satisfy the free and independent voters of the district which for ever has stood true to its old-time Liberalism, and on January 22 their repudiation of this doctrine will be conclusive and lasting. Coakerism will not be endorsed by the laborer, the tradesman, the mechanic and other wage-earners of whom the Coaker-Squires-Tory regime would make hewers of wood and drawers of water. "Who would be free, themselves must strike the blow." The blow for freedom against tyranny will be struck on Thursday next, when the Liberal-Labor candidates MARTIN and LINEGAR, the representatives of free men and true will poll the biggest vote ever recorded in the political annals of the district. Electors of St. John's West—

"Strike—for your altars and your fires; Strike—for the green graves of your sires; God and your NATIVE LAND."

Government Takes Back-water.

Permit for Export Given Smith and Shipman.

Permission which had been withheld, has been now granted Messrs. Smith and Shipman, Ltd., to export their codfish holdings, and to-day teams are busily engaged hauling the packages to the Red Cross dock for transportation by s.s. Rosalind. Thus has the vaunted boast of the Government that not a package of this fish goes through the Narrows, proved futile and idle. This is the third cold crack received by the Government within the past ten days. The first was the judgment of the Supreme Court that their November proclamation was illegal; the second their climb down to the Italian Consorzio, and now to cap the climax comes the real taking of back-water in granting the necessary permit to Smith and Shipman, a firm upon which, recently, the organs have been exhausting all their extensive vocabulary of vilification and vituperation, and almost taking solemn oaths that never, would they be allowed to ship a fish's tail from the port of St. John's. The organs, too, have been working overtime in an endeavor to misrepresent the position and status of Messrs. J. Aron and Company of New York, whose local agents are Messrs. Smith and Shipman. This, too, has culminated in failure. The following telegram from the New York head office to their St. John's representatives, give the lie to the repeated statement that Aron and Co. are agents for Consorzio: "We are not agents for Consorzio. While it is true we sell them 'fish, we neither are, nor have 'been their agents.' Consorzio has beaten the Government, beaten its price fixing, and has made its regulations as to prices of no account. And this is the Government which claimed to have absolute powers to dictate its wishes and demands to the world. How are the mighty fallen!

Liberal-Labor Meeting at Freshwater.

Candidates Enthusiastically Received.

Freshwater must be placed in the Opposition column. Last night the Liberal-Labor Party held a meeting there and laid before the voters facts which cannot be gainsaid, and proved beyond all doubt that the time to "Hang 'Er Down" was here. Mr. Neilson occupied the chair and the meeting was held at the house of Mr. Jenkins. Sir Michael Cashin was the first speaker and dealt with the fish problem, and the "blowing bubbles" stories of the present Minister of Finance. Sir Michael outlined the policy of the Opposition Party and compared it to that being offered as a policy by the Coaker Government, of which Messrs. Brownrigg and Squires were subservient members. Sir Michael proved to the satisfaction of all that the Coaker action in caving in to the Consorzio had lost thousands of dollars to Newfoundland, and proved that the "fish strangulation" regulations were a menace to the trade and good relations with the foreign markets. That Squires and Brownrigg permitted those things, and sanctioned the increase in the prices of flour, butter, kerosene oil, etc., the meeting strongly condemned, and as Sir Michael pointed out, there was not the slightest justification for the recent advance in prices. Mr. Linegar spoke next, and for upwards of half an hour held the full attention of the meeting. Mr. Linegar dealt with the labor problem, and how it affected Freshwater as well as the city. The insane policy of the Government had put hundreds of people out of employment in St. John's, and with employment gone and the purse small, Freshwater had to bear its equal share of depression. Mr. Linegar put the issue plainly before the audience, and their response was, "MARTIN and LINEGAR ON POLLING DAY." Mr. J. MacDonnell also addressed the meeting, and if the Government have any agricultural policy to submit to Freshwater, they better bring it along right away. Mr. MacDonnell did not deviate a point from the rights which Freshwater deserve, and his speech won the hearty approval of all. Mr. J. T. Martin, who is well known to the people of Freshwater, being called, spoke at some length, and to the nearest voters of the settlement proved without doubt that the vilification and personalities of Messrs. Squires and Brownrigg had no bearing on the political issues before the country, but were expounded with a desire and hope to choke the voters into submission to ring rule, and Coaker rule, and Squires' submission, that could only tend to serve Freshwater as it was serving the city. The Squires-Brownrigg policy, if submitted to, would bring ruin absolute on the tradespeople and laborers of St. John's, and consequently on the farmer. The milk farm and other farms promised by Dr. Campbell, was also dealt with, and Freshwater voters decided that it was not in their interests to vote for the Coaker combine, and on polling day they would mark their ballots for Martin and Linegar. Mr. N. J. Vinnicombe, M.H.A., for St. John's East, spoke briefly before the close. He urged the voters to unite with St. John's East in killing Coakerism and mob rule in St. John's, and establish once and for all time sound stable Government. The meeting closed with the National Anthem, and with Freshwater voters pledging themselves in favor of Martin and Linegar.

Voters of St. John's West. You have a sacred trust to perform on Thursday next, 22nd inst. The welfare of your home, your wives and your children is at stake. Your manhood and independence is on trial! By the right use of the Ballot Paper you can yet save your Country from Toryism, Coakerism, Squireism and Starvation. Six months after the defeat of the Tory candidates, Squires and Brownrigg, you will have a Liberal Government in power. With "magpaw" Gibbs, John Vincent O'Dea and Jim McGrath working for the Tories, you can easily count on the sure defeat of Squires and Brownrigg, as these three "worthies" are remarkable for being on the wrong side of politics. HANG 'ER DOWN LABOR. AND MARK YOUR BALLOT FOR MARTIN AND LINEGAR. Splendid line of Walking Sticks just opened at R. H. TRAPNELL, LTD.—Jan17,21

Coopers, Take Notice! With flare headlines of heavy black type the Advocate of yesterday, with crocodile solicitude, published for the benefit of all and sundry that "Smith and Shipman are importing coopers' stock for their casks." This statement has been proven to be entirely incorrect, for, upon enquiry, it has been ascertained that last fall Smith and Shipman sent to a new market, as a sample, ten 238 pound cases of specially prepared fish. Norwegian fish had already a large sale in this market, the article being put up in doweled cases of thoroughly seasoned lumber. Recently Smith and Shipman received an order for 100 cases of their product, and the packages being unobtainable locally, they were imported from a firm in Nova Scotia, which ships similar fish. Doweled cases can scarcely be termed coopers' stock, however, the coopers of the city should worry, for they will have easy times as far as work is concerned, if Messrs. Squires and Coaker are allowed their sway. The steamer Home has been sent to Port Union on a special trip and is now loading for St. John's a cargo of fish-drums and casks in which to pack codfish now awaiting preparation for shipment.

Our overdue line of Walking Sticks just arrived. Just the thing for our slippery streets. R. H. TRAPNELL, LTD.—Jan17,21

Squires' "Successful" Meeting.

Mr. Squires held a meeting at Top-kill Road last night. It was a "most successful" meeting—some 13 voters being present. Some amusement and fun was afforded those 13 men when one voter asked Mr. Squires about the $5000 alleged to have been received by him from the Reids. Needless to state Mr. Squires did not enjoy the fun. Oh, yes,—"was a 'successful meeting' and from the 13 electors present Mr. Squires will undoubtedly receive three or four votes.

Curiana.

On Tuesday, January 20th, ice permitting, the Polar Games for the H. D. Reid and Taylor Medals will be played, afternoon and night. This game will be of more than ordinary interest this year, as four curlers have put up four prizes for the sixteen curlers making the highest scores in the point game. The additional game will be played on the knock-out system therefore, the curlers are looking forward with pleasure to Tuesday, as with careful playing some large scores will no doubt be made, and all are anxious to get in the latter game.

Shipwrecked Mariners Arrive.

Capt. J. Petite and crew of the schooner J. Miller, which went ashore at Patras, Greece, and was afterwards salvaged by the Greeks, arrived by the Rosalind last night. The vessel left this port with a cargo of fish from A. H. Murray & Co., Ltd., on Oct. 24th, and made the run across in 24 days. When Cape Balcarai was sighted the weather became thick and the vessel struck a sand bar. Efforts to refloat her by jettisoning some of the cargo were made without avail, and in the evening the crew rowed ashore about one mile distant, and returned next morning. For five days they stood by the vessel but could not get the assistance of a tug so that they had to abandon her.

McMurdoo's Store News.

SATURDAY, Jan. 17, 1920. It has been said that the man who could invent or discover a sure cure for Rheumatism would die a millionaire. It is probably true that there is no specific for this painful and distressing complaint. But relief of pain can in many cases be quickly and effectually obtained by the use of Morlaw (Double strong) externally. Morlaw is not a liniment in the ordinary sense of the word, but a sort of fomentation—a much easier way of applying than by rubbing. You simply soak a flannel in Morlaw and use it night and morning, covering the flannel with a cloth steeped in water and wrung out. Morlaw never blisters or causes any undue irritation of the skin, but penetrates the deepest muscular structures and quickly relieves the congestion. It is equally effective for Lumbago, and has given excellent results in Bronchitis, Strains, Sprains, and Sciatica. Price (large bottle) 90c.

Inter-Church and Methodist National Campaign.

The Organizer for Newfoundland Conference, who is located in No. 2 Class room, Gower Street Church, St. John's, has received during the week quite a number of reports from the Circuits and Missions. Some are encouraging, others are a little on the gloomy side. This is to be expected in a colony like Newfoundland, where it is almost impossible for Ministers to come into personal contact with each other, and where, owing to several sets of circumstances, even mail facilities are so few, and so irregular. In the early days of Methodism Dr. Chalmers, who was of another Church, defined Methodism as "Christianity in earnest." The Spiritual Aims Campaign gives not only the members of the Methodist Church in Canada and Newfoundland the 20th century opportunity of living up to Dr. Chalmers' definition, but opens avenues along which the members of the other uniting churches in the Inter-Church Campaign may find inspiration and pleasant companionship. As far as the Methodist Church is concerned, the following scale of Spiritual Objectives has been adopted: Intercessors and Personal Workers, 50 per cent. of the membership in each congregation. Christian Stewards, 25 per cent. in each congregation. New members of Sunday Schools 25 per cent. increase in enrollment of each S.S. or organize a new school. Volunteers for Life Service, from which Ministers and Missionaries are to come, at least ONE from every congregation. In these objectives there is surely field enough for every kind of Christian worker, who is possessed by the Spirit of Him who said, "I must work the works of Him that sent me. The night cometh when no man can work."

The middle of January which is set for the beginning of Evangelistic work, finds the Ministers and Leaders on the Circuits and Missions engaged in seeking to extend the work of the Kingdom. Carbonar, Bonavista and Grand Bank Circuits have invited Mrs. Demarest, who was, under the blessing of God, so successful in St. John's last year, to conduct a series of Evangelistic Services in these towns. With so many engaged in Intercession for the spread of Christ's Kingdom in this Land, who can tell what wonderful results may not follow the efforts of the servants of God in answer to such Intercession? The prayer, "Oh, Lord, revive Thy work," is one that delights the heart of Jehovah, and He will "do exceeding abundantly above what we ask or think, according to the Power that worketh in us. Unto Him be glory in the Church by Christ Jesus, throughout all ages, world without end."—Amen. M. F.

Whistler was first to Paint the Night. Whistler was the first to paint the night, we are told in "The life of James McNeill Whistler," by E. R. and J. Pennell. The blue mystery that veils the world from dusk to dawn is in the color-prints of Hiroshige. But the wood block cannot give the depth of the darkness, the medium makes a convention of the color. Hiroshige saw and felt the beauty and invented a wonderful scheme by which to suggest it on the block, but he could not render the night as Whistler rendered it on canvas.

If the color-prints of Japan suggested the nocturnes, they are merely the suggestion. Whistler never imitated the Japanese in their technique. Their composition did impress him, their arrangement, their pattern and some of their detail. Often the very high or very low horizon, the line of a bridge over a river, the spray of foliage across the foreground, the golden curve of the falling rocket, the placing of the figure on the shore, the signature in its oblong panel, will show how much he learned from them. But these are details. He abandoned them within a few years, but he never gave up, he developed rather, what he always spoke of as the Japanese theory of drawing. He translated Japanese art—translate is the word—though he would have said he "carried on the tradition;" he adapted it to his own methods in painting the nocturnes. His idea was not to go back to the Japanese as being greater than himself, but to learn what he could from them, to state it in his own way, and to produce another work of art; a work founded on tradition no less than theirs, and yet as western as theirs was eastern.

To-day's Messages.

MUTINY REPORT DENIED.

PARIS, Jan. 16. Reports that the French naval forces and troops at Toulon have mutinied, have not been confirmed, and nothing relative to disorders there is known at Marseilles.

CORK ELECTION ROW.

CORK, Jan. 16. Three persons were wounded and a number of arrests were made in the course of yesterday's elections here, when former soldiers and members of the Sinn Fein party engaged in a fight at a polling place. The wounded, who were struck by bullets when firing began, were removed to hospital. The police finally quelled the disturbance after taking a number of Sinn Feiners into custody.

BOLSHEVS TAKE ODESSA.

BASLE, Jan. 16. Odessa the chief port of Russia on the Black Sea has been occupied by the Bolsheviki, according to newspaper despatches received here.

ABORTIVE ATTEMPT.

BERLIN, Jan. 16. Attempts of the Radical Labor leaders to provoke a general strike, yesterday, as a protest against the shooting of some members of a mob which stormed the Reichstag building Tuesday failed completely.

THE FIRST PROTEST.

PARIS, Jan. 15. The Council of the League of Nations received the first formal protest to be presented to it, almost before it came to being with to-day's initial session. The protest was from "the envoys of the elected Government of the Irish Republic" against "the unreal English proposals of an International League of Peace." No mention of the protest was made during the meeting of the council, but copies were handed to newspaper correspondents after they left the Foreign Office. The protest insisted that the League was incomplete, and declared that the United States stands out in indignation and repudiation of it.

NEW FRENCH PRESIDENT.

VERSAILLES, Jan. 17. Paul Deschanel was elected President of France by the National Assembly here to-day, in succession to President Poincare.

Mr. Cheeseman Has No Petition.

For Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—In your editorial of this morning commenting on the Fishery Regulation I have read the following words:— "Ask Mr. Cheeseman who is now in town with a petition in his pocket containing hundreds of names of his constituents asking to have these iniquitous rules set aside." For your information permit me to say there is no truth whatever in the above words.

Yours truly, JOHN T. CHEESEMAN. Jan. 16, 1920.

quires Supporter Turned Down.

Directors of St. John's East who supported the candidate of the three-Coaker party in the November election are loud in their indignation over the throw down of Mr. Carter, who ran on the Coaker ticket. Mr. Carter, it is said, promised the position of Solicitor of the House of Assembly and fully accepted the appointment. Some little while ago a friend of Mr. Carter told him that the position had been won elsewhere, which was quite true, appointees being the law partner Hon. W. R. Warren. Naturally Mr. Carter's friends and supporters regret this treachery and will now work for the West End Committee for the election of MARTIN and LINEGAR.

More Bungling.

If any evidence were needed to prove the blundering, bungling incompetency of the Government, it is furnished in the fact that the S. S. Kyle report this morning for North Sydney without taking all the foreign bills accumulating at the Post Office during the past few days. When the mail wagon reached the dock this morning the ship had sailed and the bills were brought back to the G. P. O. to remain another spell. That there needs to be a shaking up somewhere is patent. Merchants and others who had important letters in the over mail will be doubtless displeased with the "new system of progress" inaugurated at the Post Office.

Is It True?

It is said that one of the principals in a West End firm, which recently raised the price of flour at $15 by request of Mr. Squires, is to receive a salary in the Legislative Council as a reward for his acquiescence in keeping down the income. Next!

Agricultural Society Meets.

The Agricultural Society of St. John's and vicinity held its annual meeting at the British Hall to-day. The reports for the year were read by Secretary Butler and adopted. About 30 members attended the meeting. The report of the Secretary of the Agricultural Board showed that during the fall a number of bulls, lambs and other animals had been distributed. The election of officers for the ensuing year resulted as follows: Harry Cowan, President; Hy. Cook, Vice-President; P. G. Butler, Secretary; and a committee of ten others. A number of bound books on stock are being distributed by the Government and farmers may get them at the Agricultural Office free.

Dr. Campbell was at the meeting and stated that he was astonished to know that agriculture was a very close second to the fishery in the production of wealth in Newfoundland. He stated that the Government contemplated starting a model farm which would be run on a paying basis. Thoroughbred stock would be imported and sold to the farmers at auction. He stated that St. John's would be the centre and that it would be an "agricultural meadow" if they can pursue their policy. This model farm was to be the homing station for all Newfoundland, and that the outports would be served by having animals sent them for service, and returned. Mr. Wm. Wyatt here asked if the farmers were going to get any lime and recommended that Dr. Campbell would distribute laudatum to farmers who had horses subject to colic. A herd book where all cattle eligible could be registered is now provided for farmers desiring to register their stock.

At this juncture a political meeting seemed to be on the horizon, but some of the farmers objected. Mr. Henry Cook was the next speaker and he said in part that although the late Government spent quite a sum on agriculture he thought it was justified and though mistakes were made every new policy had had some faults. The past Government had helped the farmers and it was not fair to come down on them. Mr. G. V. Ross spoke and said he favored pure bred stock and hoped that Dr. Campbell would be able to fulfill his promises.

Dr. Campbell promised that thoroughbred cattle and agricultural implements would be requested entry in the country free of duty and that free service at the agricultural station, to be established, would be available.

Refineries Make Advance in Sugar.

Montreal, Jan. 9.—F. G. O'Grady, General Manager of the Atlantic Sugar Refineries, Limited, in discussing the sugar situation last night, stated that an advance of $2.50 per hundred had been put into effect yesterday over the former basic price of $21.00 per hundred, this bringing the price to $23.50 per hundred. This advance was occasioned by the increased price which it was necessary to pay for the raw material of the new crop, increased cost of refining and other items. With regard to the effect of the raise upon the consumer, Mr. O'Grady thought that the price mentioned by the Board of Commerce could be observed by both wholesaler and retailer, giving them an increased margin of profit, of which they were deserving, by reason of increased cost of handling. It was explained that the wholesaler buys from the refiner at a reduction of five per cent. on the quoted price. Then when sugar was quoted at $14.00, he paid $13.40, a margin of 60 cents per hundred, while with the new price in effect, this margin will be 72 and one-half cents.

Mozart's Musical Genius

There are many stories of the precocity of Mozart, but perhaps the following relating to a time when the child was not yet seven years old are less familiar than most and deserve to be told anew. One day Wenzl, who was an able violinist, came to Mozart's father to ask his opinion of six trios he had just composed. It was agreed that they should be tried. Mozart took the bass, Wenzl the first violin, and Schachtner, trumpeted the Archbishop of Salzburg, the second. But at this point the young Mozart begged so earnestly to be allowed to take this last part that his father at last consented to let him perform on his little violin assisted by the good Schachtner, who had interceded on behalf of the child. Up to this time the father had never heard how his son could acquit himself on this instrument, and was astonished beyond measure when Schachtner, laying aside his violin, declared that he was entirely useless. The child executed with equal success all the six trios.

After the first trial the young Mozart frequently made use of Schachtner's violin, which he admired much on account of the beauty of its tone. On one occasion the latter came into the house and found young Wolfgang performing to his father, and other hearers, on his own little violin, instead of the other. "What's the matter with your violin?" was the first remark of the child to the visitor, and he continued to play some trifling airs. Having then reflected for some moments, he said again, "Why did you not leave me your violin tuned to the same pitch as it was the last time I used it? It is half a quarter of a tone lower than this one of mine." The company at first laughed at his exactness, but the elder Mozart, who had on several occasions noticed his son's singular precision of memory, desired that Schachtner's violin might be brought, which was actually to be half a quarter of a tone below the other.

Why Does a Human Being HAVE TO LEARN TO SWIM?

It is strange, isn't it, that almost every animal, excepting man and possibly the monkey, knows how to swim naturally; others, such as birds, horses, dogs, cows, elephants can swim as soon as they can move about alone.

The trouble with man in this connection is that his natural motion is climbing. He has been a climber ever since he was developed from the monkey and, when you throw him into the water before he has learned to swim, he naturally starts to climb, and as a climbing motion won't do for swimming, the man will drown.

This climbing motion is as much of an instinct in man and monkeys as the instinct in dogs which causes him to turn around once or twice before he lies down just as his forefathers used to do ages ago when, as wild dogs, they first had to trample the grass before they could lie down comfortably.—From the Book of Wonders

BROWNRISS vs. MARTIN—A CONTRAST AND A SQUARE ONE.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—The supporters of Mr. Henry Brownrigg in the West End, are losing no opportunity to sneer at Mr. James T. Martin, and continually hold up Mr. Brownrigg as a very superior man, while they try to place Mr. Martin in a class far below him. This low-down game has gone far enough, and now the friends of Mr. Jas. T. Martin are going to resent it. If I am not mistaken, Mr. Henry Brownrigg, big and all as he is, will find after polling day that Mr. Martin is not the man that can be made little of without the workmen (to whom he has always been a neighbor and a friend) "taking it up for him." Who is Brownrigg that he should try to scoff at Martin? Brownrigg is the son of a father who had plenty of this world's goods, and did everything that was possible to force his son ahead in the world. Martin is the son of a poor man, and therefore had not the opportunity that Brownrigg had. How did they go along the round of life? Brownrigg left school and went to work at Gemmill's Foundry, but not liking hard work, left it, and got his father to start him in the Liquor business. Martin started out, served his time at the cabinet making business, and attended to his work so well, that in a few years he had a thriving business of his own, and became an independent man entirely by his own efforts. Both these gentlemen were elected to the Council, Martin being elected Deputy Mayor. Martin played the game to a finish in a manly, upright way, so much so, that there was never a man in the city but had a good word for him. Brownrigg, on the other hand, acted like a child, he got his back up and left the Council and the city to the winds, simply because some one high up in society, so he said, ignored him when the Prince came here. In passing, let me say that it comes with poor grace for Brownrigg or his friends to abuse Jas. T. Martin. For let me ask them would he be occupying the Honourable position of President of the Star of the Sea Society if he were the kind of man that Brownrigg and his friends are trying to paint him? Would he be elected by the electors of St. John's at the head of the poll in the Municipal elections, if the people had not implicit confidence in him? My reason for writing this is to give the young voter an opportunity to contrast the abuser and the abused. The older men know Jas. T. Martin as favorably as I know him. They know him as a man's man. This abuse of Jas. T. Martin by the Brownrigg clique will have one effect only. It will stimulate the workmen, the friends of Jas. T. Martin, to work even harder for him from now to Polling Day, yes, and harder still on Polling Day. This mean abuse of the Brownrigg clique means that they have struck below the belt, but we will strike back effectively with our ballots on Thursday next, and teach Brownrigg the lesson that it is a bad thing for an individual clothed in a little brief authority, to lose his head. There's an old saying—Never holler till you're out of the bush. And I don't think Mr. Brownrigg is out of the bush yet.

New workmen resent the insults flung at our old friend, Jas. T. Martin, by marking your ballots on polling day for James T. Martin and William Linegar. Yours truly, A WORKINGMAN. Jan. 16, 1920.

Joseph's Brethren.

The minister's class at the Kirk of Tobermory had been reading the story of Joseph and his brethren, and it came to the turn of the minister to examine the boys. The replies to all his questions had been quick, intelligent and correct. Such as: "What great crime did the sons of Jacob commit?" "They sold their brother Joseph." "Quite correct. And for how much?" "Twenty pieces of silver." "And what added to the cruelty and wickedness of these bad brothers?" A pause. "What made their treachery even more detestable and heinous?" Then a bright little Highlander stretched out an eager hand. "Well, my man?" "Please, sir, they sell him overcheap."

No Justification for Advance.

(Trade Review.)
FLOUR.

This week three large flour importers advanced the price of flour $1.50 a barrel over the price ($14.25) that has obtained here since last September. The opinion expressed by all except some of the flour importers is that this is not justifiable under the circumstances, and that as the large stocks now on hand in St. John's were purchased before the Canadian advance of $2.25 per barrel was made, the price should not be increased here, except, perhaps, 20 to 30 cents for carrying expenses, till the high-priced flour is imported. Business men will generally put up the argument, "We have to increase because we can't replace our stocks at these figures." We do not think that the argument is a sound one either in economics or in equity. They were making a living profit, we presume, in selling at $14.25 and $14.50, and there seems no excuse why the profit should be doubled or trebled because the flour next imported will be $2.50 or $3.00 dearer. The public will have no justification for grumbling when they have to pay three dollars more on new importations that carry the advance, but there seems to the ordinary man who is not importing flour, to be something radically wrong, nay, unjust, in having the large stocks of $14.25 flour now in the stores here advanced $3.00 without a more convincing excuse than the fact that the flour that will be brought in next month or the month after will cost $17.00. There is another argument that comes handy with the flour importers, viz., "We are justified in making the advance on low priced stock in hand because if flour declined and we had a large stock on hand we would suffer the loss and the public would have no sympathy and would leave us in the lurch and buy the flour from the dealer who was fortunate and wise enough to buy when the decline came, while the other dealer served the public by keeping flour on hand all the time, and if he did not do so the public would have no flour." While this argument is plausible, it does not justify advancing the prices here under present circumstances beyond a reasonable profit and time expenses.

KEROSENE OIL, TOO!

The price of Kerosene Oil was advanced one and a half cents per gallon last week by the Imperial and Standard. Low test in wood barrels that sold for 41 cents a gallon is now 42 1/2 cents. The wholesale price is 39 and 40 1/2 cents, and high test which was 42 is now 43 1/2. Great things in the way of cheap oil were promised the people, especially the poor, who have no other light, when these big companies were looking to get a footing here which amounts to practically a monopoly. It is a wonder to us that the trade who are merely the distributors for the Imperial and Standard, would be satisfied to go on as they are to-day as the handy men for these big companies and make nothing out of it themselves. The five per cent that they get for all the trouble must leave them in debt about one per cent. In the interest of the public it is time to have this oil business investigated. It is no benefit to the people of Newfoundland that J. D. Rockefeller has given a $100,000,000 for Colleges and Libraries.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—I have not before answered Mr. Foley's letter in the Daily Star as I did not wish to do so until I was in a position to present what I do to-day. Apart from the rubbish and personalities, Mr. Foley's letter (which was written for him by at least three different persons, each writing a portion, as proven by the three distinct styles of composition) there was but one statement worth noting. This was his reaffirmation of his former statement that, at the Workingmen's Party committee meeting at which it was decided to place one candidate on the Opposition ticket for the bye-election, there were 54 members present, and of which 42 voted in favor. Mr. Foley says, also, that he counted them. I made the assertion that there were one hundred members present.

Since Mr. Foley's last letter appeared in the Star I want to the trouble of securing the names of the committee-men who were at that meeting and voted in favor of the proposition. At least I secured most of them. There are twelve which I did not, and I do not include their names for the reason that, although I know them and COULD give their names, I have not seen them and had them sign. For example, I have not included the name of Mr. Naults, the Recording-Secretary of the N. I. W. A., who not only was present but spoke strongly in favor of the motion and gave Mr. Foley a spirited rebuke for his petty jealousy and spite.

Following are the names:—John Cadwell, James Murphy, Louis Ashley, William Dunn, William O'Toole, Morgan Long, Patrick Goodall, Dove Kennedy, John Goes, Patrick Bowdrige, Patk. McGrath, J. Neider, P. Woods, Jack Fagan, J. Fagan, James Holden, Ed. Kennedy, Larry Power, Martin Wickham, Stephen Angel, Samuel Madden, James Kavanagh, James Lundrigan, James McGrath, John Breen, Mr. Murray, Martin Dunfield, Mike Barry, Frank Walsh, Andrew McGrath, M. McGrath, Tom Sullivan, Samuel Tulk, Thos. Ward, Ned Ryan, James McGrath, Patrick Whittle, John Flynn, Frank Dalton, John Hurley, Ed. Ryan, (2) Joe Pittman, Geo. Griffiths, Will Griffiths, Ed. Rogers, John Furlong, W. Griffiths, John Walsh, Jim Ashley, Sam McPherson, Jim Gordon, William Noseworthy, Mike Malone, Harry Shaw, William McCannister, Gordon Williams, Joseph Marner, Mike Ryan, John Coughland, Jack O'Neill, Tom Fagan, Jack Fagan, Wm. McKay, Wm. O'Toole, John Courley, Patk. Kavanagh, William Rogers, Jos. Bird, Mr. Basha, M. Flynn, James Malone, Jr., Jos. Healey, Antonia Healey, Harry Healey, W. Kent, William Bennett, John Antley, W. Hickey, L. Moore, John Fagan (boller-maker), Thomas Dunphy, Aubrey Wight.

These are eighty-three solid, true-blue Laborites who comprised the bulk of the Workingmen's Party Committee and who are to-day FIGHTING supporters of William Linegar, the Workingmen's favourite. They were the fighters of the old committee and they are fighting even more and better on the present joint committee. Mr. Foley says that there were 54 present that night. Now whose word are we to take—that of Mr. Foley, the disappointed Laborite or that of the 83 staunch Laborites whose names are above?

However, this is not all. I interviewed Mr. Aubrey Wight, the Secretary of the Old Committee. He gave me this statement:

"I was at the meeting and counted the members that were there. Ninety-five voted in favor of the proposition and five voted against. Three others, Mr. John Squares, being one, stated that they were willing to go with the majority. There were one hundred and three in the room when the vote was taken. Just before the vote was taken a number of members left the room, knowing how the vote would go and knowing that their votes were not required to decide the issue. The members of the committee who were there on that night were the real, working members of our old committee, all others, with here and there an exception, being but nominal members."

No comment is required. Each man of the list above is prepared to take an affidavit and Mr. Foley is thus proven to be an incomparable fictionist.

Yours sincerely,
J. R. SMALLWOOD.

Motor Car and Motor Truck Owners.

I have a splendid equipment for general automobile work and can guarantee first class overhauling. Every engine tested under its own power before being put back in the car, thereby getting over the greatest enemy an engine can have, that is oil leaks. All oil leaks are detected and made right, consequently you can be sure of a good and lasting job. I also have a Hempel Cooper rebarbittng and reborng machine for crank shafts and connecting rods, which insure quiet running, as all bearings are in perfect line. With this equipment we can do work quickly and much more practical than heretofore.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

My Garage will be closed from March 10th until April 15th, as I am taking my entire Mechanical Staff on a visit to the Motor Factories with a view to giving first class service. Parties wishing to have their cars overhauled for the coming season would be wise to have them done immediately. For instance, parts may be found broken or worn and may not be possible to replace them here, in which case I can get them while away, thereby saving a lot of inconvenience and disappointment when the car is wanted. One thing is sure, cars that are overhauled in the winter months are given better inspection than those done in the rush season; so just call us up and we will get your car in and have it done right away. I have a supply of repair parts in stock. Room for about 50 more cars. Ford Trucks taken care of with despatch.

Royal Bank of Canada Enjoyed Greatest Growth of Any Year Since Bank Was Incorporated.

Annual Meeting Marked the Close of Jubilee Year— Steady Growth From Local Bank to International Institution—Sir Herbert Holt and Mr. Edson L. Pease Deal With Canada's Internal Problems and the Possi- bilities of Export Trade—Mr. C. E. Neill, General Manager, Reports on Expansion Enjoyed by the Bank During the Past Year—Pays Strong Tribute to Staff.

Montreal, Jan. 17.—(Special).—The shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada when they assembled for the annual meeting at the bank's office in Montreal, received reports which indicated that the past year had been the most prosperous in the history of the institution.

The meeting also marked the close of the Golden Jubilee year of the bank on this account the leading of the bank, in their address to the meeting, took to many of the features of the progress which the bank had achieved.

Growth of Bank.

Sir Herbert Holt, the president, stated that the report presented was the most satisfactory in the Bank's history and fittingly marked the Jubilee.

In the fifty years since our incorporation," said Sir Herbert, "we have grown from a local bank to an international institution with a steadily rising scale among the great banks of the world. Our paid-up capital has increased from $300,000 to $17,000,000, and our assets from less than a billion to over half a billion dollars. The only effective means of checking the advance rate upon which we have proceeded in recent years, but it is due to the prudence and vision of those early administrators who laid so solidly and broadly a foundation upon which we have built. In all periods of grave depression have never failed to pay a dividend once, and that 34 years ago we drew on our reserve. Without our reserve, our expansion would have been arrested. Our operations both at home and abroad to our credit. This expansion has proved itself not only to the bank, but to the Dominion. In 1919 our profits were 4 per cent. on our working reserves. Now, owing to the volume of business, we are affording increased returns on a return of less than one per cent. on total assets.

Canada Met Emergency.

During the year just passed, Canada again proved her ability to meet emergency as it arises. Our resources have been absorbed into civil without strain, our industries have been re-adjusted with little unemployment, and the unfailing care of our people to every call has been shown by the improvement in the last year. Over-subscription to the last loan. Despite an unfavorable harvest in some part of the West, our country is prosperous and the balance of trade continues largely in our favor.

Into a which have contributed to prevailing high prices are being gradually eliminated. Ocean transportation service will soon far exceed the pre-war period and stores will, as a result, become readily available. Industrial plants have been added to the army of workers has been added to the ranks of labor. Moreover, business is ultimately pay its huge bill by a corresponding output of goods. We shall then enter upon a period of greater supplies and keen competition. If prices fall in the future, we shall be able to meet the demand for day will then have great purchasing power. We should strive to produce to the limit our capacity while markets are open and exercise the most rigid control in order that our gains may be conserved.

How to Meet Conditions.

The Government is still discharging the heavy obligations arising from the war and the net public debt fast approaches two billion dollars. There are only two ways of meeting this responsibility: greater productivity and less extravagance. It is not spending or national borrowing power unlimited. It is an economic law, of which we have had a bitter experience following the Civil War, that all commodities in a period of prosperity and inflation during reconstruction which is succeeded by equal depression. For this reason the reaction in the future we should now be prepared, and it is the duty of the Government to set an example to the nation by abstaining from all unnecessary or wasteful expenditure. It cannot be too strongly urged, or too often repeated, that the best possible effort must be put in every direction if we are to meet the amount required for interest and the redemption of debt. It has been said that "Governments do not come outside that of the people, and that the wealth of a country that of an individual can only be built up by spending less than is earned.

The difficult times ahead, the nation holds a commanding position, and this is undoubtedly a great factor in our development.

advantage to Canada of the foreign branches of the Bank, and Mr. Pease also announced that it was the intention to follow the establishment of branches at Rio de Janeiro and Buenos Ayres by establishing at Sao Paulo and Santos in Brazil and at Bogota and Barranquilla, Colombia.

He also strongly recommended closer commercial relations between the Dominion and the British possessions on this continent, owing to the more favorable financial conditions that prevail in these colonies than in many of the European countries.

Exchange Situation.

The problem of exchange grows in perplexity. The prevailing rates give additional value to almost all our exports, but our immense imports from the United States are penalized. The return to parity may be a long and difficult process, depending in great measure upon European conditions and the course of American action. The only effective means of checking the advance rate upon which we have proceeded in recent years, but it is due to the prudence and vision of those early administrators who laid so solidly and broadly a foundation upon which we have built. In all periods of grave depression have never failed to pay a dividend once, and that 34 years ago we drew on our reserve. Without our reserve, our expansion would have been arrested. Our operations both at home and abroad to our credit. This expansion has proved itself not only to the bank, but to the Dominion. In 1919 our profits were 4 per cent. on our working reserves. Now, owing to the volume of business, we are affording increased returns on a return of less than one per cent. on total assets.

Production is Needed.

To keep production from falling off and to increase it, thus furnishing full employment for labor, is more essential now than ever. There is no encouragement to enlarge old industries and establish new ones when profits, if made, are to be specially taxed by the Government. The Secretary of the Treasury in reporting upon the effect of a similar impost in the United States, says that "in many instances it acts as a consumption tax, is added to the cost of production upon which profits are figured in determining prices, and has been and will, so long as it is maintained, upon the statute books, continue to be a material factor in the increased cost of living."

We are also co-operating in the movement in favor of closer commercial relations between the Dominion and the British possessions on this continent. These colonies form one of our natural markets, selling the things we need and buying the staples we have for export. The lowering or removing of customs barriers, and the inauguration of direct steamship communication, would result in greatly increased trade and lead to the speedy development of the agricultural, forest and mineral wealth of these colonies.

This being our Jubilee, the bank has prepared a brief history of the efforts made during the past fifty years to build up a sound and progressive institution, and to promote the commercial interests of the Dominion. A copy will be forwarded to each of the shareholders at an early date.

Features of Reports.

C. E. Neill, the General Manager, dealt entirely with the features of the annual report of the Bank and touched on some of the more important features of the expansion that had been enjoyed during the past twelve months. Mr. Neill stated that the record established showed the greatest growth of any year since the Bank was incorporated.

The total assets are $17,000,000, an increase of over $10,000,000 over the previous year, and it is of interest to know that no portion of this increase is due to the absorption of banks, as has been the case in some previous years.

The capital of the Bank has been increased $3,000,000 since our last Annual Statement, through the sale of 20,000 new shares at $150 per share to our shareholders, and 10,000 shares at $200 per share to the London City, Westminster & Parr's Bank. The Reserve Fund now stands at $17,000,000, as compared with $15,000,000 last year.

The regular dividends of 12 per cent. with an additional bonus of 2 per cent. were paid during the year, and a balance of $1,098,418.74 is carried forward in Profit and Loss Account.

Mr. Neill's desire to take this opportunity of commending the staff of the Bank. "I think I am safe in saying that from the highest executive officers to the newest junior there is the strongest possible feeling of loyalty to the institution, and this is undoubtedly a great factor in our development."

A Cogent Reason.

The inspector was examining the plans in geography, and, addressing a small boy in the back row, he asked: "Now, sonny! Would it be possible for your father to walk round the globe?" "No, sir!" replied the boy promptly. "Why not?" asked the inspector. "Because he fell down and broke his leg yesterday."

The Tory Gravediggers

Burying the Householders Beneath the Load of High Prices.

To the one man who, from motives of spite, and for his own self-interest, sticks to the Tory-Coaker Government in St. John's, there are hundreds who voted for the party last fall merely for the desire of the change, who now honestly admit that their judgment went astray. Instead of seeing Coaker merely as the flag end of the new party, they now find that he is supreme dictator, with a power greater than that once possessed by the Czar of Russia or the German Kaiser, and with his heels planted firmly on the necks of the toilers of St. John's. Bolshevism is now in full swing in Newfoundland, with Lenine Coaker in command to rule the whole Island for the sake of his own section of the country, and with Trotsky Squires out only for the sake of his $5,000 job, with thousands thrown in as extras, and therefore as long as these dollars flow into his coffers prepared to swallow all the Tory principles that Coaker puts in force.

Liberalism is now as dead as Julius Caesar in this once free and liberty-loving country, and the people in general must suffer as Coaker orders, or else fall back and be clubbed on the head for daring to resist him. Give him a prospective assurance for four years more of this tyranny and despotism, by electing Squires and Brownrigg, and then Wood-by for ever to the free rule that our ancestors struggled to obtain in their fight for responsible government. It was St. John's in the olden days that led the battle which drove surrogate rule from our Island Home and invented it in a body of independent legislators, who, by the principles of Liberalism and mutual agreement, kept the flag of Liberty untrampled and unsullied. To-day, however, the conditions are reversed, for instead of the rule of Liberty we have the rule of Tory tyranny and a one-horse Government, with Coaker as the jockey. St. John's East, thank goodness, is not to blame for this reversal from Liberalism to Toryism, for they said in no uncertain tones to Coaker last fall, as did the heroes of Verdun to their Hunnish opponents, "You shall not pass." Thus their immortal verdict of November will go down in history as a record of their far-seeing wisdom in keeping aloft the flag of Liberalism. Other districts, to their life-long credit, be it said, stood true and firm also whilst the signs are multiplying daily that there is tornado of discontent raging over the South and West Coasts carrying with it an earnest appeal that St. John's West will yet prevent the country from being engulfed in the cauldron of Tory-Coakerism. The District of St. George's must be proud of the foresight of its fearless representative, who made the first stand for Liberty and Freedom, and the right of the people of that noble section to a position in the councils of the country, in accordance with what was its true, rightful due, as against the Tory doctrine of putting into positions of commanding influence, candidates whom the people refused to elect. This Tory principle has shown its baneful effects already, for Shea or Campbell are responsible to nobody, and thus are mere rubber ball Councillors with whom Coaker may toy just as he pleases.

It is no wonder, therefore, that prices are soaring up higher and higher every day, for the higher they soar the greater and faster will grow the profits to the Tory campaign subscribers, who gloated after the election last fall, that they were the party who backed up Squires. All these Tory gravediggers then, are out for the purpose of burying the tolling masses beneath the loads that high prices will pile upon their backs, and which will cause every man who has to sweat for his living to go on trading beneath the burden until he sinks into a hopeless, wearying, and despairing position beyond which his footsteps can no longer carry him. The young man of to-day will find his earning power so rapidly diminishing, that there will be not only less for his own ordinary comfort, but less at his disposal to grant to his loving parents; the middle aged man with a small growing family around him, will be forced by higher prices, to deny his devoted little children much of the bare necessities of life, or to clothe them as he would like to see them clad, in a manner which their mothers would be proud of. His struggle to make both ends meet, will hasten premature old age, which will be reflected also in the silent troubles of the partner of his home, whilst his poor little children will not fail to notice the growing anxieties of their parents and will be forced themselves, long before they should, to go forth into the world to earn their living. The older man, who is now, along with his own help, being sustained also by those who are younger than himself, will soon feel the props withdrawn and will rapidly decline in sorrow to the end where the burden of high prices will be sure to drive him. The dismal outlook here portrayed, is visible already, but it can again be dispelled by the smashing up of the Tory ring that now rules the country. All other side issues must be forgotten in this one supreme necessity, and every voter in the city should concentrate his efforts towards breaking up this blasting outlook and saving St. John's from the graveyard blight that is now hanging over it.

We have intense faith in the belief that the intelligent voters of St. John's West will perform his manifest duty towards this end when polling day arrives, and we will back the intelligence of the True Liberal voter against the designs of the Tory clique who are endeavoring to force the Coaker nominees on St. John's West. No man in St. John's to-day will subscribe to the Tory principle that one man alone, and particularly W. F. Coaker, should rule this country, much less this proud city of St. John's, then why should any one expect any sensible voter to subscribe to this principle by marking his ballot for Squires and Brownrigg. The man who does so sinks his Liberalism at the bidding of a Tory dictator, who would stab him on the head next day, should he utter an independent phrase in defence of his rights. The voters of St. John's West are not going to stand for such a Tory principle, and therefore they will roll up not less than 4,000 votes for the Liberal-Labor candidates, true sons of the people, such as are MARTIN and LINEGAR, and not for such as Squires and Brownrigg, tools pure and simple, of the tyrant Coaker.

The German Plan.

Herr Mathias Erberger, the vice-premier of Germany, evidently does not know the Allied peoples well and, hence, has a poor opinion of their intelligence or he thinks that they do not know the Germans very well. This conclusion is compelled by Herr Erberger's statement before a huge mass meeting at Stuttgart when he said that Germans who had been guilty of "heinous acts" in the war would be prosecuted by a special German court "if Germany's enemies would furnish lists of those persons to the German Government." It would be a very satisfactory arrangement, from the standpoint of the German criminals, no doubt, were the Erberger plan adopted. Not many criminals anywhere would object very seriously to being "tried" by men who had shared in their guilt, and a "trial" of that kind is what the German vice-premier suggests. Does Herr Erberger really believe the Allies to be as simple as he implies? If he does, then, indeed, it is true that the Germans have not learned much from the war.—Sydney Record.

Nature's Greatest Washers

The sea washes the world—Pears' Soap washes its inhabitants!

For over a century, Pears' has been making its way round the world. Ask for it in your local store; it is there! From the Cape to Cairo, in the bazaars of India, throughout Australia, Canada, the U.S., and South America Pears' has made its way with civilization,—on merits!

Pears' Soap is transparent because it is pure; it is the most economical soap because it wears but does not waste. It cleanses and purifies the skin and freshens up body and mind.

"Pears"

is not heavily scented. Its delicate perfume comes from pure natural ingredients; the difference is important,—it means again that Pears' soap is pure.

Broken on the Rocks.

An appalling disaster occurred at the dreaded Bullers of Buchan, six miles south of Peterhead, on January 13, 1912. On Tuesday, the 16th, the mail liner, the "Wistow Hall," left Jarrold for Glasgow and immediately ran into heavy seas. When off the Longstone Lighthouse she was struck by a mountainous wave, which carried away the funnel and brought down the bridge, killing two of the Lascar seamen and breaking the captain's arm. The "Wistow Hall" drifted northwards, and early on Thursday morning she was in close proximity to the Bullers of Buchan. From the shore the vessel was seen to be labouring heavily, tremendous seas breaking over her, and every moment she was approaching certain doom. The lifeboat was launched, but despite the best endeavours of the crew, the huge waves prevented her being taken beyond the breakwater. Soon the "Wistow Hall" struck the rocks, and became a wreck. Efforts were made by the rocket brigade to cast a line over the vessel, but all attempts failed. Her boats had been all carried away the day before, but no boat could have lived in such a sea. The men were weak from exposure and hunger, having been without food or drink since Tuesday, as owing to the terrible seas which swept the deck, none of them dared to venture near to the forecastle for food of any kind. Several of the crew endeavoured to leap upon the rocks, but all were caught by the waves and carried out to sea. Then the vessel swung round and the whole of the crew of 57 men, with the exception of five, were swept away. A short time afterwards the five survivors were thrown into the surf, and with the aid of a number of willing helpers the captain, with a broken arm, and the other four, were dragged ashore. Two of the men succumbed to the terrible battering of the wind and waves. Only eighteen bodies were washed ashore. One large grave was made in St. James's Churchyard Cruden, in which thirteen Lascar seamen were buried together, the others being claimed by relatives and friends.

POINTS TO WIN FOR CARPENTIER.

London, Jan. 3.—The chances of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion to win in his proposed fight with Georges Carpentier, the famous Frenchman, will depend more upon Dempsey's "recreation time" than upon any superiority he may possess in weight and muscular power, according to a medical writer in the Evening News. In explaining what he means by "recreation time" the author says: "Briefly the 'recreation time' of a muscle, or set of muscles, is the measurable period which elapses between the impulse to act and its transformation into action. 'The differences in 'recreation time' are very great. A man with a practice to become the equal in this respect of another born with a small reaction time. Interwoven with this is psychological 'reaction time,' or quick and slow wittedness. 'If he is symmetrically formed, has the average amount of courage, a sound heart and lungs, and has mastered the art of boxing, a heavyweight of twelve stones (168 pounds) with a small physical and psychological 'reaction time' has sufficient muscular power to defeat a man with a fairly big 'reaction time,' whatever the latter's size and reach may be. There is not a shade of doubt that Carpentier possesses an abnormally small 'reaction time' physically and mentally."

LEWIS BEAT WELLS.

London, Jan. 5.—Ted "Kid" Lewis, of England, defeated Matt Wells, also of England, in the ring at Albert Hall to-night. Lewis had the better of the bout all the way, cutting Wells' face to ribbons and breaking his nose. Wells gave up the unequal struggle in the 12th round.

Two American fighters, Pal Moore, bantamweight, and Johnny Griffiths, welterweight, defeated their French opponents.

In what was to have been a 24-round bout Moore made Eugene Criqui quit in the 14th round, while Griffiths scored a technical knock-out over Francois Charles in the third round. Both Criqui and Charles declared that they had been left low.

During the evening Georges Carpentier, the European heavyweight champion, boxed a three-round exhibition bout. Joe Beckett, who recently was knocked out by Carpentier, entered the ring and requested another fight with the Frenchman.

Cured Him.

The late Sir John P. Mahaffy, Provost of Trinity College, Dublin, was brilliantly witty, and many of his good sayings are in general circulation. But he occasionally met his match. One of his encounters was with the late Dr. Salmon, Provost of Trinity before Dr. Trull. Mahaffy was one day inveighing against corporal punishment for boys, which he declared never did any good. "Take my own case," he exclaimed. "I was never caned but once in my life, and that was for speaking the truth." "Well," Salmon retorted caustically, "it cured you."—Buffalo "Commercial."

KILJOY CLUB MAY PREVENT LIGHTWEIGHT BOUT.

New Haven, Jan. 6.—An attempt may be made to prevent the championship bout scheduled here Jan. 16 between Benny Leonard, lightweight champion and Johnny Dundee, the challenger.

An organization known as the Kiljo Association has made efforts to hinder the bout, but it is thought that the contest will go through without a hitch in spite of their efforts.

Yale University is taking considerable interest in the bout in view of the fact that boxing has recently been made a major sport at Yale. Two Yale professors will attend the bout and turn in a report.

JACK DEMPSEY SURE TO FIGHT THIS SUMMER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 5.—Cabled and telegraphed offers are piling up so high in front of Jack Dempsey's front porch that the world's heavyweight champion will soon have to start a bonfire or tunnel his way out. They total more than a million and a half.

Jack Kearns cleared the atmosphere considerably when he gave out a straight from the shoulder statement. The champion's manager makes it quite plain that he is in no hurry to sign articles. The word from London that Georges Carpentier's managers will not allow their charge to appear in the ring against Dempsey before next November caused not the slightest ripple of excitement in Hollywood circles.

"We should worry," said Kearns in the beginning of his talk. "We have three European offers of $250,000 each for Dempsey to box Carpentier over there. This sounds like a whole lot of money, but to be perfectly honest, we are scarcely interested in the cables outside of the fact that they represent class. If nothing definite regarding a Carpentier match has been settled by next summer I mean to start a summer fight campaign in this country. By that I mean that Dempsey will take on all comers. We can make as much money in three or four easy fights here as we could going over to a strange country and taking a chance.

"I don't mean by this that we are not going to consider all offers to meet Carpentier. But I do mean that unless the promoters all come down on the ground and show us something we will take on all comers instead of remaining idle and waiting for other people to get busy."

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, Dec. 20.
SECOND SON COMING OUT.
 Prince Albert, second son of King George, makes a very unconventional debut. Presiding in London at the annual meeting of the Industrial Welfare Society, he joked with about him and puffed vigorously cigarette, except when talking. Robert Harfield was among the speakers at the meeting, and as he is the pioneer of more consideration of workers it is not surprising that he was one of the first to applaud Prince Albert's insistence on need to consider the intellectual of the workers.

WRENS "DEMOBBED."
 A sad moment for the wrens last week when the last of the lorries drove away from Stanhope Street, displaying in the air of sad triumph the lettered card which had adorned their wrens. All their papers were taken to the Admiralty. The wrens (the name, of course, is a colloquialism for Women's Naval Service) were completely disarmed, and the last of the wrens' door behind them, each other. "Well, goodbye; been a jolly time." The end of R. A. F. (otherwise the Women's Royal Air Force) came the week, and their commandant Helen Gwynne Vaughan is, returning to her old work as a university science lecturer. Dame Helen Furse has nothing to say about her plans for the future, but officers say that she has been engaged in administrative work since the outbreak of war to have a prolonged holiday. "Wrens" (the Women's Auxiliary Corps) do not expect to be demobbed for some weeks yet. Both "Wrens" and "Wrens" have formed their own associations of their own, and it is hoped to have a central organization of all the wrens' services. These services are allowed in future to wear their uniforms on ceremonial occasions.

BACK TO LIGHT OPERA.
 London stage is in a state of confusion. It is becoming more and more patent that the production of spectacles is a hazardous undertaking. So much money has to be put before the curtain rises that a success is useless to the producers. More money has been lost made in this way during the war and impresarios are growing more and more nervous at sinking money into spectacles. On the other hand, light opera seems to be a stable undertaking. "The Lilac" and "Monsieur Beaucaire" shown this, and during 1920 the and composer will come to town once more. The first will the Alhambra early in January.

SHAKESPEARE DISCOVERED.
 Shakespeare productions in the West-end of London theatres always comes by spurts—evidence, perhaps, of jealousy among actor managers who cannot bear to see a rival staging the "Bard" even if they have not put on a Shakespeare play themselves for years. However, that may be, the fact remains that in the week before Christmas we are to have "Hamlet," "The Merchant of Venice," and "Julius Caesar" at Convent Garden, The Court, and the St. James's respectively, followed by "Othello" at the New, and more "Hamlets" by other actor-managers. None of us can remember the time when three were inflicted on London at once.

U-BOATS' BALANCE SHEET.
 Contradictory statements have been published so often about the number and size of the submarines which Germany built during the war that it is quite a relief to get hold of the authentic figures. These show that 373 boats were built between August, 1914, and the Armistice, the total completed each year being—1914, 81 boats; 1915, 62; 1916, 86; 1917, 103; 1918, 81. In addition, 437 submarines were on order or building at the Armistice, but all these were scrapped shortly afterwards. Of the 373 completed boats, 203 were sunk in the war, 80 in 1918 alone. The majority of the U-boats were quite small, not above 850 tons. Vessels of this size voyaged far afield to America, the Eastern Mediterranean, and West Africa. Only 22 so-called "submersible cruisers" were built, the largest being the U-142, of 2,155 tons. She mounted two 9 in. guns and six torpedo tubes. The total tonnage of U-boats built during the war amounted to 208,044 tons, and they sank about 14 million tons of shipping; so that on an average every U-boat sank twenty times its weight in mercantile tonnage.

BRITISH FILMS BOOMING.
 The Americanizing of Britain through the cinematograph theatres is fortunately on the wane. In 1918 more than 90 per cent. of the films shown in this country were American, but during the past three months the proportion of British films rose to 25 per cent., and it is steadily becoming greater. In one theatre 75 per cent. of the 1920 programme will be British films. That is a wholesome and acceptable change. It is also a wonderful tribute to the vitality of the British film industry that it should be able, in so short a time, to make such rapid headway against powerful American competition. Its success is already having results which may in time be far-reaching. American companies, feeling their hold on the profitable British market slipping, are suddenly making the discovery that the beauty spots of Britain provide a better setting for pictures than any other part of the world. Consequently one by one they are invading this country and establishing London headquarters on such a scale as suggests that London may in time—and perhaps sooner than most of us expect—become the one producer said to-day—become the film capital of the world. British films, it might add, are now fetching three to five times the price of the average American picture.

QUAINT EVENING DRESSES.
 Evening dresses and fancy dresses are becoming strangely alike. One evening dress in black and white I saw at a dance the other night reminded me of a pierrette's costume. The small bodice of black was outlined with white. A white undershirt peeped out from a black skirt, made like the petals of a flower, tapering to points at the bottom, and adorned with black pom-poms. Another dress in green tulle had three rows of ruffles on the skirt, also ruffling round the top of the bodice and round the small sleeves. The effect was to make the pretty wearer like a Christmas cracker. Delicately-flowered silk dresses, puffed on the hips and showing cobwebby lace petticoats, where the silk is looped up at the bottom, are now worn at balls, which would do very well for fancy dress shepherdess costumes, if the wearer had a crook and a little headress.

AEROPLANE THAT FOLDS UP.

For $2,500 one can now buy an aeroplane which can be run single-handed, and when not in use folds up so completely that it can be put in an ordinary motor garage. It is a biplane and a single seater, being fitted with a self-starter, there is no need for the aviator to have some one at hand to rotate the propeller for him. He just takes his seat, switches on, and glides off as easily as a motorist. The Austin Whippet, as this admirable little runabout is called, is working well at Heston Aerodrome, which is on the north-western outskirts of London. It seems just the thing for farmers and ex-pilots who want to keep their hand in, and perhaps later on it may form the basis of the city man's air car when motoring becomes old-fashioned. It is 90 feet in length, weighs 580 pounds when empty, and with wings folded has a width of 8 ft. The engine is a six-cylinder 45 h.p. Anzani, which gives an air speed of ninety miles per hour and a landing speed of thirty-five miles per hour. In addition to petrol for a flight of 180 miles, oil, and pilot, it can lift sixty pounds of luggage, for which there is accommodation under the pilot's seat.

Why is the Sky Blue?

This question puzzled every one who thought of it for a long time. Even astronomers, the men who make a business of studying the skies, and other learned men, puzzled their brains about it and searched for the answer long ago, until finally as always happens, when a lot of people study a subject, Professor John Tyndall, a noted scientist of the last century discovered the answer. The explanation follows: All the light we have is sunlight, which is pure white light. This white light is made up of rays of light of different colors. These rays are red, orange, yellow, green, blue, indigo, and violet. It takes all of these different rays of light to make our white sunlight, and when you separate sunlight into its original rays you always produce the rays of light in the above colors and in the same order. This is only true, however, when the sunlight is passed through an object which does not absorb any of its rays. This is the arrangement of the different colors of light found in the rainbow. The rainbow is formed by sunlight passing into raindrops or vapor in such a way as to divide the sunlight into the different colored rays of light. When the rainbow is formed none of the rays are absorbed by raindrops or vapor through which the sunlight passes. Some of these rays of light are known as short rays and others as long rays. But when sunlight meets other things, besides those which make a pure rainbow, these other objects have the ability to absorb some of the rays of colored light, and they throw off the remainder. When these rays have been thrown off those which have been absorbed make many different combinations, and thus are produced all of the different colors we know, the various tints and shades of color, according to composition and size.

Now, then, to get back to the color of the sky, which is blue as we know. The sky or air which surrounds the earth is filled with countless tiny specks of what we may call dust—particles of solid things hanging or floating in the air. These specks are of just the size and quality that they catch and absorb part of the rays of light which form our sunlight and throw off the rest of the rays, and the part which has been absorbed forms the combination of color which makes the sky so beautifully blue. Sometimes you notice of course, that the sky is a lighter or darker blue than at other times. This difference is due to the kind and condition of tiny specks in the air at the time and to the direction or angle at which the sunlight strikes these tiny particles.

Royal Wreckage.
 The ex-Empress Eugenie, almost blind, is still strong enough to visit Paris, though past the age of 93. If great vicissitudes killed, Eugenie would long have passed away. Her experiences have included much that was brilliant, but more that was deeply sorrowful. She has been widowed nearly half a century, and forty years ago her son and only child was killed in the British campaign against the Zulus. She witnessed and was a striking figure in the French debacle of 1870-71, but also a spectator in the debacle of the stern and mighty power that overwhelmed France. Few have personally seen so many vast changes that time's whirlings can bring. Eugenie whose blood is a mingling of Spanish and Scotch, was a charming notability in girlhood, made an imperial marriage in 1853 to a monarch whose father was a brother of Napoleon and whose mother was a daughter of Josephine. That imperial splendor lasted eighteen years. Then soon came the long and lonely life in exile, but not a friendless isolation by any means.

Exiled Hapsburg Freed by War.
 There is only one member of the Imperial House of Austria, of the once mighty House of Hapsburg, to whom the war brings release from exile, all the rest being now refugees, with orders never to return. The one member to whom the order does not apply is Herr Leopold Wollinger, who seventeen years ago was Archduke Leopold Ferdinand of Austria, Grand Duke of Tuscany, Prince of Hungary and Bohemia, and Knight of the proud Order of the Golden Fleece, and brother of the notorious ex-Crown Princess of Saxony, whose matrimonial escapades and experiences brought her world-wide notice in 1902. Both were banished from the land of their birth and adoption, the Archduke chiefly because of his determination to live his own life, untrammelled by court conventions. He was transferred from one regiment to another, and after his exile from Austria, married Miss Adamovitz, one of the party who had helped the Crown Prince to escape. They were divorced a few years afterwards, and he then married the pretty daughter of a prosperous Silesian citizen. He tried to join up as a private soldier in the Austrian army on the outbreak of the war, but was refused. Now, however, he will be able to return and settle down in his old home at Salzburg.

Obeyed the Order.
 Mrs. N. was giving instructions to her new servant: "Before removing the soup-plate, Mary, always ask each person if he or she would like any more."
 "Very good, madam."

This fact brings up a question which you have not asked, but which would come naturally as the result of your first.

The New Humanity.

The spirit of the teacher can do much to inspire a hatred of hate and the prevalence of love. Anatole France, the kindly French satirist, has found occasion to speak without irony. Venerable in years, he has spoken with the ardor of youth, opening his heart to a congress of teachers at Tours.

He had inspiring things to say, though he took no more inspiring topic than elementary education. But he urged a change which would make this a higher education, vastly different from that which usually bears the name.

Mr. France told the teachers that the future would be for the most part what their spirit and their care would make it. "In developing the child you will determine the future," he said, and "in the social and moral disorder created by the war and perpetuated by the peace which has followed it, you have everything to do, everything to rebuild." He went so far as to say that they had to create a new humanity, awake a new intelligence if they did not wish Europe to fall into madness and barbarism.

"Burn all the books which teach hatred; exalt work and love; let us develop reasonable men, capable of trampling under foot the vain splendor of barbaric glories, and of resisting the sanguinary ambitions of nationalisms and imperialisms which have crushed their fathers." Work and peace are the two great goods which he extols. He would have the child taught to love peace and detest war. Primary education he would change from the ground up, in order to make workers, intelligent workers, holding as he does that there is place to-day in society only for these. And, above all, "make hatred hated."

They are wise words that this "old man eloquent" has spoken. His is not the only country that might derive benefit from the adoption of that higher education which he advocates.

Hearing The New Edison for the first time is like opening the blinds to the sunlight.

You expect to hear the familiar "talking machine tone."

Instead—there pours forth the voice, or the music of the instrument, in all its natural beauty—pure and full, and indistinguishable from the living artist.

When you choose an Edison RE-CREATION, you receive the actual voice of the artist or his masterly instrumental performance—nothing more, nothing less.

We know that when you select an Edison RE-CREATION, you are getting your full money's worth because we have proof.

Two thousand musical critics have endorsed our claim that

The NEW EDISON
 "The Phonograph with a Soul"

RE-CREATES the human voice and the music of human played instruments without the slightest deviation from the original.

"What the Critics Say", tells the story completely. Ask for a copy; and also for our beautiful new book "Edison and Music" when you come to hear the New Edison.
