PEHOBSOUS MAN IS KILLED

Andrew Phelps is Run Over At Sussex CROSSING TRACK

Being Hard of Hearing He Evidently Did Not Hear Engine Which Was Backing Down - Badly Crushed, Death Likely Immediate

Sussex, N. B., Aug. 24.—(Special)—Another distressing accident took place at Sussex station today, a little before 12 o'clock. A man named Andrew Phelps, who lives in Pehobous, was killed by the engine of a Lutz special, which was backing down the siding near the main line. He had evidently been trying to cross the track to get on board the van of a train standing on the siding and did not notice the engine backing down. He was, it is said, quite deaf, and would not hear the engine.

HAS CONFIDENCE IN REPUBLICAN STRENGTH

Chairman of Congressional Committee Says Taft is Gaining Every Day

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Congressman W. B. McKinley, chairman of the republican congressional committee, visited western headquarters yesterday and issued his first statement regarding the outlook. Mr. McKinley said: "We have canvassed the situation in various states, and see no reason to change the opinion that the republicans will control the next house by a good working majority."

EX-POLICEMAN LAY DOWN ON TRACK TO LET TRAIN KILL HIM

Bellefleur, Ont., Aug. 24.—George E. Malouf, an ex-member of the local police force, has been placed under arrest on a charge of attempting to commit suicide. Malouf, whilst under the influence of liquor, lay down on the Grand Trunk track near his home and refused to move. He said he was waiting for the pilot engine to come down and run over him and it would then soon be all over. Sergeant Nathan and Policeman Corrigan responded to the call and had considerable difficulty in removing the ex-convict from the track and locking him up.

HERMIT KINGDOM HAS ONLY FEW MORE DAYS' EXISTENCE

Tokio, Aug. 24.—The text of the convention under which the "Hermit Kingdom" is annexed to Japan was communicated this morning to the representatives of the powers. The document was signed on August 22 and will be effective when officially promulgated on August 29 or August 30, when the independent existence of the little kingdom, the struggle for whose control started the Russo-Japanese war, will cease.

THE PLAN FOR EARLY CLOSING

Proposed By-Law and Petition to Mayor and Aldermen

General Idea is to Close All Stores at 7 P. M. Except on Saturday Nights, Christmas Time and Before Stated Holidays

The following petition backs up the early closing movement which is to be taken up by the bills and by-laws committee of the common council this evening— St. John, N. B., Aug. 24, 1910. To His Worship the Mayor and members of the common council of the city of St. John, N. B. We, the undersigned merchants of the city of St. John respectfully pray that your honorable body will cause to be ordained and enacted, such legislation as will accomplish the results below stated. Sec. I.—The shops in the city of St. John shall be closed at 7 o'clock in the evening on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, of each week, during the whole year, with the exception of the days indicated in sections two and three; the same shall remain closed until 5 o'clock in the morning of the following day. Sec. II.—The provisions of section one shall not apply to days preceding the following holidays, viz: Good Friday, Victoria Day, Dominion Day, and Thanksgiving Day. Sec. III.—The provisions of section one shall not apply, moreover to the days of the last three weeks of December of each year. (Continued on Page 6, fourth column)

FINED FOR SELLING LIQUOR TO INTERDICT

James Quinn Called on to Pay $10 - Lambert's Boast Was Not Substantial

In the police court this morning a fine of $10 was imposed on James Quinn, saloon-keeper, of Mill street, on a charge of selling liquor to an interdict. S. Ritchie appeared for Quinn, as well as for John O'Brien, against whom a similar charge had been made, but in this case, the matter was dismissed. Geo. A. Henderson prosecuted.

Fisherman Drowned

Vineyard Haven, Mass., Aug. 23.—While the steam pogie fishing steamer Montauk of Greenport, L. I., was sailing about ninety miles off Martha's Vineyard yesterday, James Walsh, a member of a crew, aged twenty-one, was washed overboard and drowned. The large fishing steamer was set several times in an effort to recover the body, but all endeavors were futile. Walsh was a native of Torbay, Newfoundland. News of the drowning was brought to Port today by the Montauk.

THE HOODOO

The Times new reporter met Mr. Carleton O'Hoo this morning and casually asked him what he was doing with himself this week. Mr. O'Hoo looked carefully around, walked to the corner and scanned the adjoining street, male certain that no one was lurking behind the nearest telegraph pole, gazed up at all the windows in the vicinity, and then tipped-to the new reporter, put his lips to his ear and said—"Sh-h-h-h!" "Aren't the police?" queried the new reporter. "What have you been doing?" Mr. O'Hoo gave another quick glance around, and replied—"You're a reporter. If I am seen with a reporter my reputation is gone. The mayor won't look at me. The aldermen will pass by on the other side. I can't afford to have that happen."

HEAVY TRAFFIC

Mr. Peter Binks says that the condition of Church street, between Prince William and Canterbury streets, is disgraceful. The gutter has moved over to the middle of the street. It is a short street and steep, and bears much heavy traffic. Mr. Binks says not only do trucks haul very heavy loads, but that only good men he sees there are loaded.

HASSAM REPORT BEFORE JUDGE RITCHIE TODAY

His Honor Will Visit the Places Where it is Said Lights Were Lacking

Robert S. Low, representing the Hassam Paving Co., was in the police court this morning to answer to a report made against the company by Police Constables Hanline and Hughes to the effect that they had allowed piles of paving stones to remain overnight in Church, North, and Union streets, without lights. He admitted that such was the case and Judge Ritchie struck a fine against him but it was not collected. His honor saying he would visit the places in question and then consider what he would do.

M. G. Teed Appointed Acting Recorder - Water Street Filling Left to Decision of Engineer - Ald. Jones' Report of Yesterday's Talk With Inspector

A special meeting of the common council this morning held to discuss various phases of the paving matter was quite lively and interesting at times. For about an hour the reporters were excluded while Alderman Jones read the report of the committee on the specifications for the paving of the Water street. He was not allowed to proceed with the work in the afternoon.

As a result of the meeting the engineer will be instructed to base on the paving of Smythe street being in accordance with the specifications and not allow the Hassam company to stop work on the southern end of Water street. In consequence of a petition sent in by business men in Water street, it was decided that the engineer should be empowered to allow certain spots to be substituted for pitch in filling in between the granite blocks.

after the evening meal, when you settle down in an easy chair for a good smoke, will be still more delightful if you have:

with all that rich, full flavor of the Havana, this unusual cigar is so mild that you can smoke the whole evening with pleasure.

The attempt has often been made to produce a cigar combining superior flavor—real Havana flavor—with the mildness usually found only in tasteless cigars. This time the attempt has been a brilliant success. Judge for yourself.

The fact that for over fifty years our experts have been specializing on cigars explains why we have been so uniquely successful in blending delicacy with a surpassing flavor.

FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE

ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S PLACE IN HISTORY

By Bishop John P. Newman

HUMAN glory is often fickle as the winds, and transient as a summer day; but Abraham Lincoln's place in history is assured. All the symbols of this world's admiration are his. He is embossed in song, recorded in history, enshrined in statues, cast in bronze, sculptured in marble, painted on canvas, enshrined in the hearts of his countrymen, and lives in the memories of mankind.

Great men appear in groups, and in groups they disappear from the vision of the world; but do not leave behind them a group. We speak of Gutenberg and his coadjutors, of Washington and his generals, of Lincoln and his cabinet; but when the day of judgment comes, we crown the inventor of printing, we place the laurel on the brow of the father of his country, and the chaplet of renown upon the head of the savior of the republic.

Lincoln stands forth on the page of history, unique in his character and majestic in his individuality. Like Milton's angel, he was an original conception. He was raised up for his times. He was a leader of leaders. By instinct the common heart trusted in him. He was of the people and for the people. He had been poor and laborious; but greatness did not change the tone of his spirit or lessen the sympathies of his nature.

His regard for personal honor was only excelled by love of country. His self abnegation found its highest expression in the public good. His integrity was never questioned. His honesty was above suspicion. He was more solid than brilliant; his judgment dominated his imagination; his ambition was subject to his modesty, and his love of justice held the mastery over all personal considerations.

Lincoln stands forth on the page of history, unique in his character and majestic in his individuality. Like Milton's angel, he was an original conception. He was raised up for his times. He was a leader of leaders. By instinct the common heart trusted in him.

THE ALBERT GATE MYSTERY

BY LOUIS TRACY

CHAPTER XII.—(Continued) He rose promptly, and accompanied the man to the foot of the staircase. There, near the elevator, he saw Edith Talbot, Lord Fairholme, and Sir Hugh Fitzmaurice, who were waiting for him.

"Now, who talks first?" Brett cried, once the door was fairly closed behind them. "I do," burst forth Fairholme. "My story will not take long to tell, and if I do not get it off my chest, I shall simply explode."

"We must not have any more tragedies," said Brett. "I am sure you will find the whole thing very interesting. I have a strong suspicion that you are not telling me the whole truth."

"I have much to say to each other," said the barrister. "I suppose you have secured rooms in the hotel?" he continued, turning to Miss Talbot.

"I am indeed glad to see you," said Brett, shaking Talbot's hand with demonstrative warmth. "I am sure you will find the whole thing very interesting. I have a strong suspicion that you are not telling me the whole truth."

"I have much to say to each other," said the barrister. "I suppose you have secured rooms in the hotel?" he continued, turning to Miss Talbot.

feet. That was where my prize-fighting butler came in useful. Before you could say 'Wink' he gave the man an uppercut that settled him effectively for the next minute. Almost with the same movement he caught the woman a slap over the ear that upset her nerves considerably. She had a revolver in her hand, too. It fell to the floor and Smith, your servant, seized both weapons.

"The ex-policeman called out—I do not think we are making any mistake, sir. They would not act after this manner if they were on the square."

"I must say it seemed to me that so far it was we who had been acting in an extraordinary way, but there was no time to waste. I had to get the man out of the room. My butler and Smith took care of the couple, your assistant and I hastily examined three rooms. They were empty save for a small quantity of furniture. The fourth door resisted our efforts, so, of course, we burst it open. And the first thing that met our eyes was poor old Jack lying on his back on the bed, and glaring at us in a way that made me think at first he was mad."

"I should think so," interrupted Talbot. "I would like to see your face if you were trussed up as I was—not able to speak a word—and a Frenchman going on in the passage outside."

"You were gagged," questioned Brett. "and your wrists and ankles were secured to the four corners of the bed, your limbs being distended in the form of an E?"

Fairholme glanced round admiringly. "Of course," he cried delightedly. "I knew you would guess it. That is the pleasant way these fellows get out of securing their prisoners."

"It is an awfully uncomfortable one," said Talbot. "My joints are still stiff at the mere recollection of it. I have lain in that way, Mr. Brett, for countless hours. Occasionally the brutes would allow me to change my posture, but the moment any one came to the door I was strapped to it in an instant and a gag slipped into my mouth. What used to make me so furious was the knowledge that only I got the chance of a second I could have broken that Frenchman's neck and escaped, but he and his wife always took such precautions that I never had the liberty to do more than reach with some difficulty the food that they gave me. However, I must not interrupt."

"I really have not much more to say," went on Fairholme. "You may be sure it did not take me long to release Talbot, and what do you think his first words were when he slowly sat up in bed and time if his legs would bend?"

"He said: 'Have they got the diamonds?'"

"I answered 'Yes.' 'But it was impossible,' he said. 'They could not have mastered those policemen. But they did! I replied and then there, before he would budge an inch, he made me tell him the whole story. Just as we went out, though Jack was hardly able to walk at first. It was Smith wrestling with the woman, who was a regular wild cat, and who would, even then, have done us any mischief in her power. She was nothing but a regular wild cat, and who would, even then, have done us any mischief in her power. She was nothing but a regular wild cat, and who would, even then, have done us any mischief in her power."

"Wait a little," said Brett. "How many rooms were there in the flat? I have accounted for four."

"I forgot," said Fairholme. "The place had six rooms. The small apartment in which Jack was confined was a sort of dressing-room, and the bedroom he had looked out into the well of the block of flats. They had carefully nailed the blind of this dressing-room, so that not even a chance puff of wind could blow it aside and reveal its secret to anyone in the flats on the opposite story or higher."

The policeman subsequently searched the place from top to toe, but he found nothing but the Frenchman's pocket."

"What was that?" asked Brett.

"It was a small piece of paste-board on which was scribbled, 'Monsieur Jean Beaudouin, chef Monsieur Henri de Lisle, 41, Rue Bonaparte, Paris.'"

"That is important," said the barrister. "Why did you not write it to me last night?"

A Richibucto School Teacher

Once a Dyspeptic—Now Well. Thanks to Father Morrissy's No. 11. Richibucto, N. B., Nov. 17th 1909. Father Morrissy Med. Co., Ltd.

I have been teaching school for upwards of thirty years, during the last twenty-five of which I have suffered seriously with stomach trouble, indigestion and dyspepsia.

I would get temporary relief from the use of them, yet the relief was only a matter of days, and with the relief I was known to the chronic dyspeptic mind.

Last year I had a most painful and disabling prostration, telling that my condition could no longer be justly attributed to my stomach, and I was under my charge. A friend suggested that I try Father Morrissy's No. 11 Stomach Tablets. I did so, and have continued to use them with the result that my stomach trouble is cured—my indigestion and dyspepsia are gone, and I feel as well as I ever did.

I have, thanks to the Tablets, been able to continue in my profession, and feel that I am once more enjoying my work and am able to give justice to the fifty-four pupils under my care.

Yours Gratefully, (Signed) MARY CRYSTAL.

Are you one of the many thousands who, like Miss Crystal, are prevented from doing their best work, or really enjoying life, by stomach trouble? If you are you cannot do better than send for—take Father Morrissy's No. 11 Tablets.

Each No. 11 Tablet, when dissolved in the stomach, will digest 1 1/2 pounds of food—a good, hearty meal—so that no matter how weak your stomach may be No. 11 Tablets will enable you to get the nourishment out of your food and build up your strength, while the stomach thus relieved recovers its vigour. VIGOROUS MANHOOD

Two "Health Belt Men" One 50 Years Old, the Other 30

CAN YOU PICK OUT THE YOUNGER?

I can show you how to recover your youth and how to keep it. A "Health Belt man" CANNOT grow old as you have great vitality. Weakness, Nervousness, Urinary and other conditions to be laughed at by the intelligent user of my great appliances. For it gives, in abundance, all that vim, vigor and nerve force which you experience a decided benefit; there is a great, mysterious force which gets right to work. No drugs to be taken; no conditions imposed except that dissipation must cease. Help nature that much; the Belt will do the rest. It takes the weakness and kink out of your back; it drives rheumatic pains away from all parts of the body; you will feel and look young and strong again; women and men noticing your physical change will be more attracted toward you on account of your new vitality and life; in two months you can experience the full vigor of perfect manhood, or you need not pay me. I will accept your case on the "No Cure, No Pay" plan, or if you prefer to pay cash, I will give you a discount.

Let Me Send You These Two Books Free

They fully describe my Health Belt, and contain much valuable information. One is called "Health in Nature," and deals with various ailments common to both men and women, such as rheumatism, kidney, liver, stomach, bladder disorders, etc. The other, "Strength," is a private treatise for men only. Both sent upon application, free sealed, by mail.

If in or near this city, take the time to drop in at my office that you may see, examine and try the Belt. If you cannot call, fill in the coupon and get the free booklets by return mail. They are better than a fortune for any one needing new vigor.

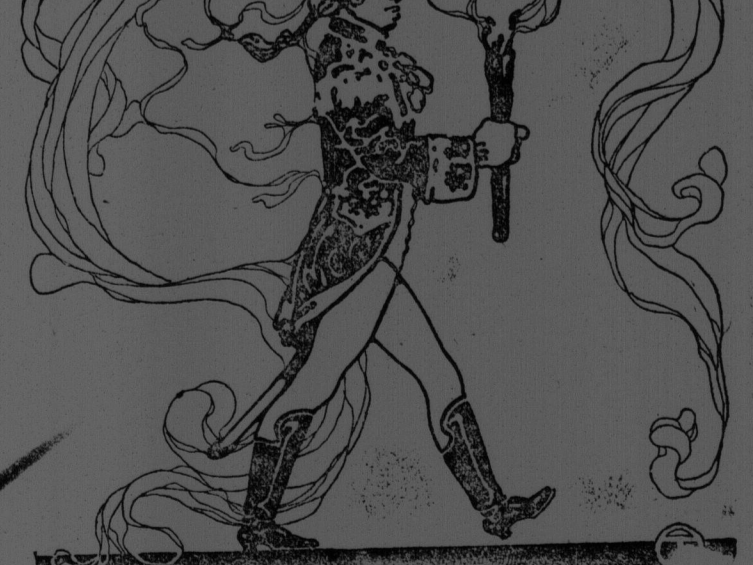

DR. E. F. SANDEN, 140 Young Street, Toronto, Ont. Dear Sir:—Please forward me your books, as advertised, free.

OUR YESTERDAYS Dark Yesterday? Ah, speak not so! Our yesterdays have faded in the night, Yet are they bright, And in the Memory still glow, The voices of those Yesterdays, Now hushed in silence, still resound In echoing roundings, That in the heart abound, The youth of other days now passed to That is not dead, As some have said, But with its light illumines our spirit page, The friends of Yesterday, no more Beside us as they were in days of yore, Still linger, in our spirit self, all glorious, A part of us, Held safe within where neither grief nor Can come to them again, Dark yesterdays! Call them not so— Possessions rather full of light are they, That sorrow cannot touch, and woe Can never take away! —John Kendrick Bangs, in Animals' Magazine.

MOTHERLY CARE. The judge of the juvenile court, leaning forward in his chair, looked scorchingly from the discreet and very ragged picannary before him, took the ample and solicitous for of the culprit's mother. "Why do you send him to the railroad yards to pick up coal?" demanded his honor. "You know it is against the law to send your child where he will be in jeopardy of his life." "Dead, judge, I don't send 'im; I nabber has sent 'im, 'deed." "Doesn't he bring home the coal?" interrupted the judge, impatiently. "But, judge, I whips 'im, judge, every time he brings home the coal! The rascal will be cax't set, 'deed, I do." The careful disciplinarian turned her undisturbed offspring, but kept a censorious eye for the judge. "You brim the coal brings, do you not?" persisted the judge. "Burns it—burns it—'ose I burns it, 'deed, 'deed, I has to get it out ob de way." "Why don't you send him back with 'im?" His honor asked inauspiciously as he rasped out the question. "Send 'im back, judge!" exclaimed the woman, throwing up her hands in a gesture of astonishment. "Send 'im back! 'W'y, judge, ain't 'yo jase done been told me I didn't oughter send my child to no such dang'rous and jeop'ardous place?" —Youth's Companion.

BOY SACRIFICES LIFE TO SAVE TINY CHARGE Seven-Year-Old Ben Goldman Crushed by Auto Guiding Youngster Across New York Street (New York American). A tiny boy of four stood on the edge of the roaring traffic in Second avenue at One Hundred and Sixteenth street yesterday afternoon. He seemed bewildered. The rumble of the many heavy drays, the clanging of the trolleys and the deafening overhead thunder of the "L" made him afraid. Once he started out a few steps from the curb, but he ran back again as an automobile truck sounded a warning horn. Across the avenue seven-year-old Ben Goldman was also standing on the curb. But Ben wasn't afraid of anything in Second avenue. He had been just around the corner at No. 323 East One Hundred and Sixteenth street, and the East Side tumult was the ceaseless accompaniment of his days. Ben saw the other little chap trying to cross the street, and, wriggling his way safely through the catarract of traffic, he said: "I'll take you, boy." "I am going," said the little fellow. "I'm scared to go." "Watcha taking 'bout?" exclaimed Ben, going to take care of yab? And, gripping the small stranger's hand, he started back across the street.

MARINE NEWS The schooner Odell, which was libelled at Calais recently, was sold at public auction Monday afternoon by United States Marshal Henry W. Mayo. The bidding was started at $50 and was gradually increased to $145, at which figure the vessel became the property of Capt. T. W. Hinchley, of Calais. The Odell was built at Bowdoinham in 1873, and built from Boston. She is 97.2 feet long, 26.2 beam, draws 7.5 and is 141 gross tonnage. Capt. Hinchley will repair the schooner and will probably use her in the coastwise trade between Calais and other New England ports. The schooner William L. Elkins, which will sail for New York with a cargo of latus, is at the Ledge taking on the balance of her load. ARCHBISHOP BOURNE GOES TO NIAGARA

Westminster Prelate, in Toronto, Speaks in Favor of Separated Schools—Crossed Ocean With Bishop of London

(Toronto Mail and Empire.)

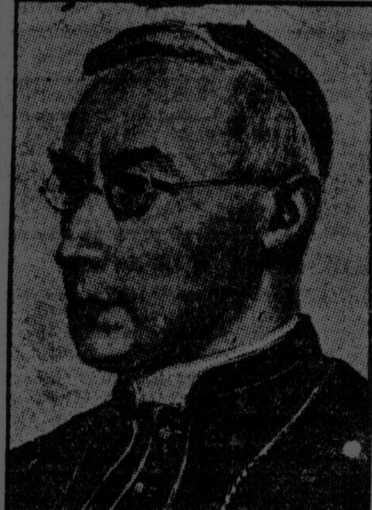

His Grace, Archbishop Bourne, of Westminster, London, the chief Catholic prelate of England, is staying at St. Michael's Palace for a day or two in the course of a tour of Canada before he attends the Eucharistic Congress at Montreal. He leaves today for Niagara Falls and from there will go to Winnipeg and the West as far as the coast. Yesterday morning he said his own private mass at 7 o'clock and then preached the sermon at the high mass held at 10:30 at St. Michael's Cathedral.

He took as his text, "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all these things shall be added unto you." Matt. vi. 33. The sermon was an argument in favor of denominational schools on the ground that spiritual training was of greater importance than a practical schooling. He said that man should not hold things material to be more important than the future life.

Therein lay the necessity of separate schools, as no secular training could be sufficient to guide people through the crises of life. In taking the most important steps it was the religious training of the youth, not the practical experience of later years, to which man should turn for guidance. His Grace expressed the opinion that it would have been a good thing for England had she remained under the rule of the Roman Catholic church.

In the afternoon His Grace, accompanied by Vice-Consul McNeill and the members of his party, made a tour of the city, visiting the various places of interest.

He has been accompanied since he left London on Aug. 12, by Monsignor Dutt, rector of the Holy College at Rome, and Rev. Arthur Jackman, his private secretary. These two clergymen were the joint secretaries of the first Eucharistic Congress in Montreal.

News of Chatham

The farmers here now about finished taking in what is said to be the biggest crop ever raised in this district. In spite of the wet weather very little hay on the whole was lost and now only the meadows remain to be cut.

Hay ranged in price last year from $10 to $15 a ton and a lot of it had to be imported at that. This year the farmers will be able to sell a larger amount, though the price will probably drop to $12 a ton.

Mr. Pouspore who had gone from here to report in connection with his dredging operations there, was called to Montreal Wednesday evening, by word of the sudden death of his father.

The Miramichi Auto Sales Co., have found their quarters entirely too small, and will build a new garage.

Very graceful in this loose garment, which is really a long strip of fabric tressed over the shoulders and caught in place with ribbons. These ribbons pass under the lace trimming at the back and catch the garment together in sleeve effect.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

"M. R. L. lived there," pointed out the lady with whom I was driving. "You didn't know him? Why, he was a real prominent man. When he died he had the greatest funeral I ever saw. The flowers were something magnificent. There must have been three or four hundred dollars' worth. It was a grand funeral. I wouldn't have missed it for anything."

And then a sigh.

Even into the valley of the shadow we carry the ceremony, the ostentation, and the money attitude of the world.

I think our fashionable weddings, to which we bid, not those few whom we really love and who love us, and to whom such an occasion really belongs, but all the curious gaping crowd of our acquaintance, who come as they would to a play or any other spectacle, are had enough, but to have funerals on the same plane is even worse.

But I would have the few of kindly hearts, who when misfortune comes, do not get away from their business—you know it's their very business season—but I told him we simply had to go to Mr. R.'s funeral. What would Mrs. R. think if we didn't? "A woman said to me the other day.

"What an insult to the dead man to carry formality and punctiliousness and ceremony even to the edge of his grave!"

I have written before of the cruelty and uselessness of a rowed almost past endurance, and doing no any possible good.

Today I protest especially against its formality and ceremony—the habit of regarding it as a function which must be attended by all the acquaintances of the dead man and his family.

I do not believe in the old idea that we honor the dead that way. If we really want to do him honor I think we can do it far better by trying to be a little kinder, a bit more forbearing, a bit less unkind to our fellowmen whenever we think of him.

I should like to see funeral services completely abolished and a simple commitment service left as the only burial ceremony, but if there are to be funerals, let them be attended only by a man's close friends who come spontaneously and not by obligation.

An unknown poet has expressed just my feelings on this subject. I wonder if they are yours?

When I am dead
I would not have the rude and gaping crowd
Around me gather, and loud lamentations loud
Of my virtues, and with vain regrets
Bemoan my loss, and leaving me, forget
But I would have the few of kindly hearts,
Who when misfortune comes, do not get away from
And oft by thoughtful deeds their love expressed;
When I am dead, no more, no less.

Daily Hints for the Cook

FRUIT PUNCH.
Juice of 6 oranges, and 1 cut in small pieces, juice of 5 lemons (if oranges not very sour), 12 can of pineapple and 3 bananas cut fine, and 2 quarts of water.

CREAM OF CUCUMBER SOUP.
Peel 5 cucumbers, slice and put into enough boiling water to cover. Cook until tender, rub through sieve, pour into saucepan and let it stand on back of stove where it will keep hot, but not boil. Have a cream sauce ready, made by melting two tablespoons butter in pan, stirring into it two tablespoons flour. Add one quart milk, salt and pepper, put over cucumber.

STEAMED CHOCOLATE PUDDING.
One-half cup sugar, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon butter, 1 1/2 cup milk, 1 cup flour, 2 heaping teaspoons chocolate, 1 teaspoon cream of tartar, 12 teaspoon soda. Steam one hour.

SCOTCH SHORTBREAD.
One-half pound flour, 1 1/2 pound unsalted butter, 2 ounces powdered sugar. Sift flour into bowl, rub in the butter smoothly, and add sugar. Knead well with the hand until soft enough to hold together. Form into a ball, press with the palm of the hand until half an inch thick and level the top, with rolling pin. Butter a sheet of note paper and lay on a sheet tin. Decorate the edges with the fingers. Bake in a slow oven until firm and pale brown.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES
FOREST WEALTH—USE AND DESTRUCTION

SENATOR EDWARDS, president of the Canadian Forestry Association, is on record as saying that if there had been no destruction of the forest, except by the lumberman's axe, Eastern Canada would be practically unbroken timber tract today. This is another way of saying that our forest wealth is not put through the mill and used, but is, for the most part, destroyed by fire. This destruction still goes on, but not with such deplorable rapidity as in former years. The waste which has taken place up to the present is illustrated in the pictures—seven times as much destroyed by fire as out for the use of man. It is but poor consolation to know that the United States authority who prepared the figures on which these pictures are based estimated that with a smaller area and a considerably greater cut, the United States has burned as much per square mile as Canada. Contrasted with this is the fact that, in such countries as France, Germany, and Switzerland, destruction by fire has been practically overcome, and the annual cut is no greater than the annual increment by forest growth. Also, as the forest is cultivated like other lands, the yield in these countries is much greater than in the untended woods of this continent. The annual growth per square mile for Switzerland is given as more than two and a half times that of Canada, and more than four times that of the United States. The Swiss forests are small, and being carefully cultivated, yield a greater growth than those of any other country. Russia, Sweden, and Finland, with less careful management, have growths comparable with our own, and in each of these countries as in Canada, the total cut does not equal the total increment by growth of the forest.

(Chatham Gazette.)

The farmers here now about finished taking in what is said to be the biggest crop ever raised in this district. In spite of the wet weather very little hay on the whole was lost and now only the meadows remain to be cut.

Hay ranged in price last year from $10 to $15 a ton and a lot of it had to be imported at that. This year the farmers will be able to sell a larger amount, though the price will probably drop to $12 a ton.

Mr. Pouspore who had gone from here to report in connection with his dredging operations there, was called to Montreal Wednesday evening, by word of the sudden death of his father.

The Miramichi Auto Sales Co., have found their quarters entirely too small, and will build a new garage.

TWO HUNDRED HEAR HENRI BOURASSA

Nationalist Leader Addresses Canadian Club on Racial Problem in Canada—Loyalty of the French Canadians

Nearly 200 members of the Canadian Club last night listened to an eloquent address by Henri Bourassa on the Racial Problem in Canada. The speaker was received with generous applause. At the close the audience was in three hearty cheers for the speaker. The president of the club, M. E. Agar, was in the chair and introduced the speaker. This evening, expressed his pleasure that so many members of the club were present. It might be that they would not agree with all that Mr. Bourassa would say but at least he would give them something to think about as there was no one who had given more attention to public problems than he.

Mr. Bourassa said he was glad to find himself at last in St. John in response to an invitation which had been often repeated. He had, he said, the advantage of having a bad reputation but then it was so easy to live up to a bad reputation and so hard to live up to a good one. Turning to the topic of the evening, he pointed out the forces which had made Canada a peculiar country. The population was British politically but the people were composed of different races. He did not need to remind them that the opening of Canada was by the French and that the territory was not the British won in the final struggle. The result of these long waged wars, not only in America but in Asia, was the treaty of Paris, under which France abandoned all her claims in North America upon the condition that England would respect certain laws. They knew that as well as he did, but it is worth while to go into the matter a little deeper to inquire into the character of the laws which were the same people as were to be no more the home of a conquering and a conquering race, but of two races united to build up the country. Another thing the fathers of confederation insisted on was a strong spirit of toleration on the part of the United States.

He would not go on, review the events which might be held to prove that confederation had not been carried out fully. He asked his hearers if they wished to keep Canada as a national unit in the British Empire. If so, the best way was not only to grant a full measure of toleration to their Roman Catholic fellow subjects but to encourage the French-Canadians to remain French and so teach them that Canada is a different country from the United States.

Some expressed regret that the French language was not eradicated. Others, more imbued with the spirit of British Empire, believed that it ought to be allowed to remain. There were some who held that the French element would gradually assimilate with the English. This question of the maintenance of the dual language was a vexed one. It was quite true that the English language was very largely used. This was no reason, however, why the French could not maintain their language in Canada as well.

Mr. Bourassa went on to speak of his experience during a visit to London in 1907, the darkest year of the Boer war. He did not seek to deny the right of Englishmen to differ from him as he believed the British Empire was broad enough for all races to keep up their traditions, provided they all unite in keeping the sacred fire of liberty. The French and Canadian appreciated British institutions, and sympathized with them.

A striking incident

This country was often said to be a British colony, but it was questionable if the majority of the inhabitants are or will be for a long time. He said that it was well, the speaker said, to remember that not twelve years after the flag of France had been hoisted over the British colonies against the crown. Sir Guy Carleton, the first Premier of the Province of Quebec, the first minister of the French-Canadian government, was a French-Canadian. He went on to speak of the trade with the English nation, and that it was in the empire idea, contending that it was from its very nature impracticable. He stated that Lord Charles Balfour's opinion was the best way to create an imperial navy was to ask the colonies to contribute. The best service we could do the empire was to defend our own territory. This was the position of the French-Canadian, and he contended it was a reasonable one. The idea of a parliament in which the colonies would have a voice he held to be unattainable. The diplomacy of the British Empire, in spite of some mistakes during the last 150 years, was unequalled by any.

In conclusion, Mr. Bourassa dealt with the immigration policy of Canada. He said that the United States during the time of their greatest influx of foreigners had not, in proportion to the native born, received one-fifth as many as we were doing now. He predicted that before many years Canada would be neither French nor British, but a totally distinct race. He urged that means should be taken to instill into the newcomers a love for British institutions, especially that of self-government.

TURKEY MAY SOON JOIN THE TRIPLE ALLIANCE

Interesting Developments are Promised in Politics of European Nations

London, Aug. 23.—The sea of international politics has been calm for months. Such changes as have been seen have been towards a placidity most ideal. Only within the past few days have evidences begun to appear of the work of strong undercurrents which promise developments of the first magnitude.

The conflicting elements are naturally centred in the Central European powers on one side and Great Britain, Russia and France on the other, and the object in view has been to decide into which scale Turkey shall be thrown. The manoeuvres and negotiations have so far advanced that it is asserted in well-informed quarters, which would be loth to admit it, that Turkey will join the Triple Alliance within a short time. This would imply an important change of sentiment on the part of the Young Turks.

German influence was predominant at Constantinople during the last year. Abdul Hamid's reign, but the new government eventually expressed its British sympathies, which it was supposed still survived. It was natural, perhaps, that the Porte should regard with some misgivings the entente reached by Great Britain and Russia, for the Turk still considers the Muscovite his natural enemy. The maintenance of the status quo throughout the whole Balkan peninsula was also an essential part of the policy. It is well known in diplomatic circles that a strong effort was made during the last year to induce Turkey to believe that the protecting powers, Great Britain, Russia, France and Italy, were wilfully careless of Turkish prestige and interest in that most turbulent island, a matter in regard to which Turkish susceptibilities are peculiarly sensitive.

Then within a few days Grand Vizier Hakkari Bey had a long visit at Maribod with Baron Von Aehrenthal, the Austrian foreign minister, and David Bey, the finance minister, was cordially received by the authorities at Berlin and Vienna. David Bey announced rather reluctantly that he wanted a loan of six million pounds, presumably to pay for battleships which Turkey was buying from Germany, but refused to give any guarantee. He said the pledge of the new government was security enough. The Ottoman Bank refused to advance the money unless it was secured by the national debt.

David Bey then got the cash on his own terms from the Credit Mobilier, but without in any way considering the French Government. The Credit Mobilier within the last year has been largely reinforced by German capital, and is entirely independent of the French Government. Turkey has also been encouraged to believe that with Austro-German guarantees, her continued existence, and other assistance, she can speedily gain local command of the sea in the Eastern Mediterranean, which harbours has been held by Greece.

Add to this Turkey's desire for long periods of quiet reconstruction, and it becomes apparent that the temptation to make a virtual alliance with the Central European powers, is strong. Such a move, however, would have other effects which are not reassuring. Russia would deeply resent it, and probably regard it as a fresh piece of treachery by Austria. Nevertheless, the Zar is in no position at present to give any active expression to his opposition.

Italy also will regard such a development as a new and bitter grievance against Austria, her nominal but best hated ally. Whether this feeling would be sufficiently strong to drive Italy into an Anglo-Russian-French combination is a matter of speculation. Such a Turkish union with Germany and Austria would cause deep cooperation in Great Britain, for its future effects in India and Egypt are unpleasant to contemplate, but with the present Government in power such a finger will be raised to prevent it.

THE FIREMEN AT TRURO

Truro, N. S., Aug. 23.—The town's 150th birthday and firemen's tournament was at last a reality and the streets tonight were thronged with the fire ladders in their blue uniforms. The first contingent to arrive were Sydney and New Abertons. They came in on the night train from Cape Breton. On arrival they formed up and, headed by their Highland Piper Band, they marched to their hotel.

This afternoon the Charlottetown and Miramichi corps arrived. This evening the New Brunswick boys arrived and the Artillery Band, of St. John, accompanied them.

Arches have been erected at different points in the town, but the one that catches the eye is the T. P. D. ladder arch at the junction of Young and Prince streets. It is made up entirely of ladders painted red and covered with bunting, flags and fire trophies.

Mayor Snowball of Chatham, has just launched a motor boat, with a speed of fifteen miles an hour.

Letter from Mr. Thomas to the Editor of the Times: Sir, Your readers are aware of the strong desire of the clerks of our city for free evening each day but Saturday, and the evenings preceding public holidays. Now I submit the statement that the granting of this privilege would be positively ruinous to business interests. This can only be done by a law making early closing compulsory. Such a law would be in the interests not merely of the clerks, but of the proprietors of small stores, who do not dare to close their places while any other stores of the same class are permitted to remain open. The small dealer argues, and with reason, that he does not keep his shop open after hours to catch business which comes by the door of the larger store which is closed, but to prevent his customers from drifting away if his shop were closed and other small stores remained open. Of course the proprietor of a store which commands a good trade, who keeps his store open after hours of his class are closed, is not a slacker business man, for there is such a thing as the "good will" of a business, which he builds up, and so comes to be recognized as a perk preying upon other business men, and his hired help as well.

It may not speedily reach the ideal condition at which our socialist friends are aiming, when every man will have a free section day, eight hours' work, eight for recreation, and eight for sleep—but if we have any human feelings, we will seek to give the clerks of our city the desired freedom.

If this question were submitted to a popular vote there is not a slacker opinion as to the result. Why should not our lawmakers be urged to put the will known size of the large majority of our citizens into effect. The self-enlarged small dealer will object and even after a law is in force will be as many as many of the slaves of the spiritism status were after their freedom was granted. But "eternity long enjoy their kind unto to bring this early closing movement to the statute books. The increased enjoyment of church privileges, social and technical schools will speedily prove the wisdom of such action. I remain yours truly, F. S. THOMAS, St. John, N. B., Aug. 22.

The Fastest Ship

The destroyer Swift is the fastest ship in the world. It was launched recently at Portsmouth, Eng. This ship, which has 1,800 tons displacement has a speed of 35 knots per hour. Her fire is fed by petroleum. The turbines give 30,000 horse-power, divided among four screws. The English admiralty has already realized 34 knots in the destroyers Cobra and Viper, and one of these excessively long boats broke in two upon a wave not long after she was launched. The minimum speed of the French torpedo boats averages about 31 knots.

Mrs. Elizabeth Greer, the oldest living show proprietor in the world, is still active in the business, controlling one of the biggest moving picture shows at present touring South Wales. Mrs. Greer was born in Chelsea, Eng. in a showman's van, in 1818, and has never known what it is to live in a house.

ROOSEVELT JOINS THE INSURGENTS

Utica, N. Y., Aug. 23—Theodore Roosevelt wound up the first day of his pilgrimage into the west by placing himself directly in opposition to Vice-President Sherman. Speaking today in the vice president's own country, he warmly endorsed State Senator Frederick Davenport, a staunch progressive, whom Mr. Sherman had said that he would not support. Mr. Sherman was out of town and did not see Col. Roosevelt.

Clippers Were Badly Beaten.
The Clippers base ball team, of this city, went down to defeat yesterday in Woodstock at the hands of the Woodstock base ball team, the score being 7 to 1 in favor of the home team. Peasley was on the mound for the winners and pitched a great game, only allowing two or three scattered hits off his delivery. McGovern twirled for the Clippers and was hit quite freely. The attendance at the game was large, the game being a satisfactory one.

Stahl Rank as Fielding Leader.
The names of twelve American League players figure in the much desired column of perfect fielding percentages, but only Jimmie Davis has played in more than a score of games, while most of them have been in very few games.
At the head of the list is Stahl, of Boston, really leads the fielding list as far as percentage is concerned, as he has played in 101 games, and 1071 putouts, 40 assists and made only 9 errors, giving him a percentage of .987.
In the same rank comes Stovall, of Cleveland, who has played in 101 games and made 1031 outs, with an average of .986, while Captain Harry Davis, of the Athletics, is only one point behind, though having played in one more game. Collins, the shifty second baseman of the Athletics, is on the record with flying colors. He played in 111 games, made 294 outs and 333 assists and only 4 errors, giving him an average of .983. "Rube" Oldring is only two points behind his teammates having had down centred field in 104 games accepting 150 chances and making 12 assists and 4 errors.
Stahl, of Boston, made the biggest jump so far as the regular daily players are concerned. Davis, of the Athletics, was formerly first, with an average of .991, but now Stahl, playing in fewer games and consequently with fewer chances of injury to his fielding percentage, has forced to the front and displaced others. Chase, of New York, too, has dropped off somewhat though Gendil, of Chicago, maintains an equal position of .990. Parent, of Chicago, has taken a step backward from .988 to .979. Many other noticeable changes have also occurred.

The Turf
Bangor Races.
Bangor, Me., Aug. 23.—With the usual first day attendance, good day and track, the Eastern Maine State Fair opened its 29th annual exhibition on Tuesday. The departments are well filled, and all exhibitors are satisfied. There were three events on the race card today, and in every one the Pine Tree Stables, Lewiston, showed a winner. Cabot took the green horse race in straight heats, Matule S. won the three minute trot in four heats, and in the principal event of the day, the 2:14 trot, the mare Brownets won a fighting race in fact company in four heats, besting out a field that had been regarded with great favor by the talent. Hayden had intended to start El Galo in this event, but that campaigner was not quite right, and the aged mare was substituted.
A Great Performance.
At the opening of the five days Grand Circuit Harness meeting at Yonkers, N. Y., yesterday, a new world record for three year olds was established by Colorado E. The colt is owned by George H. Eastbrooke of Denver, Colo. In the Matron futurity stake of $15,000, he won in straight heats in 2:07.14 and 2:07.34, the fastest work ever done by a three year old in the history of harness racing.
Port Egin Races.
Entry blanks have been issued for races on the Port Egin Speedway on September 15, under the auspices of the Port Egin Trotting Association. There will be a 2:17 trot and pace, 2:20 trot and pace, and 2:40 trot and pace. Entry blanks can be secured from the secretary in Port Egin.
The Montreal Races.
The following are the winners at the Delorme Park Races in Montreal yesterday.—Ed. Keck, Tender, Ned Carmack, Annet, Duvigne, Tannie, The Clown.

Healthy Happy Children

As everyday food for growing children, good bread and butter is much more wholesome than meat. It is lighter in the stomach, more easy to digest and furnishes every element of health and strength necessary for the growing child, provided the flour is rich in that fine quality of high grade gluten which distinguishes Ogilvie's

Royal Household Flour.

It is this rich nourishing element which makes children grow fat and happy when given plenty of bread made from this finest of all flours. Children thrive on it. It puts flesh on their bones and brings the rosy flush of health to their cheeks.

This is not so with bread made from inferior flours. It falls very far short of being whole food and fails to build up strong, vigorous growth. For the children's sake buy the best flour—Ogilvie's Royal Household. It counts for health and happiness. Best and most nutritious for pastry as well as for bread.

"Ogilvie's Book for a Cook," with 125 pages of recipes that have been tried and tested, will be sent free if you will send us your address and mention the name of your dealer.

THE STAR.
Tonight in the Star theatre, that cozy and popular little picture house in the North End, the professional laugh provoking comedy and the sentimental story that has been for years one of the most popular, and its dramatic version is still played by some of the best companies existing. This is Boote's Baby, the story of a wife and a big-hearted English officer. The Edison Company have produced this story in celluloid most elaborately. In addition to Boote's Baby, the Ranchman's Wooing will be shown, a very funny comedy, and a very dramatic picture showing the Shrimp Industry in southern waters and a very funny comedy called Her First Long Dress. Miss King in costume, will sing and there will be good music.

THE UNIQUE.
With two good, refreshing Vitagraph dramas, a Pathe educational, a laugh provoking comedy and the sentimental Sherman, those who visit the Unique today and tomorrow are promised an hour of enjoyment and pleasure.
Mrs. Barrington's House Party is the title of one of the Vitagraphs and is a drama of true life, directed with dainty comedy and aptly with complications. It is said to contain a clever plot and should prove a real success. The other, called The Passing Shadow, will be found to be a study of life with the abundance of human interest. Attention from beginning to end. Breaking Ice in Finland is a good subject for a hot day and will show the ice industry in and around the ports of Heligoland. Getting Even with the Lawyer will look after the comedy part of the bill as fittingly as any has a number expected please. An Indian feature, A Cheyenne Brave, is commencing.

THE GEM.
The vast and almost unhabitated stretch of barren wilderness lying on the north of Canada has this week furnished the scenes for a powerful romance at the Gem theatre, a drama with intensely strong situations and climaxes, and hundred of incidents of heart interest. The film is a late release from the Kalem studios, and is entitled The Perversity of Fate. The scenes are strikingly realistic, and the characters are very cleverly portrayed.
It is seldom that a comedy so true to life is presented as is seen in the picture called The Wooing O' T, a film of the type which made the Vitagraph Company famous, and one which is certain to create uproarious laughter. Two other film productions will be given, in addition to a new song by Prof. Titus, making altogether a splendid show.
Every child who can possibly do so, is asked attend the souvenir matinee on Sunday, as besides a fine programme of pictures, those who are present will be given souvenirs which will be used to them in school.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRES

The Maritime Oil Fields Company struck another good flow of gas in well No. 13, this week, at a depth of 800 feet. A party, including Hon. Geo. E. Foster, W. H. Thorne, Senator Wood, Hon. C. W. Robinson and Dr. Sanderson, visited the oil fields yesterday.
All the places of business in Moncton were to be closed this afternoon at 1 o'clock so that all might go to ball game in aid of the Campbellton sufferers.
Factory Inspector John Kenney has laid information against the Dominion Cotton Company and the State Heading factory in Moncton for employing children under fourteen years of age contrary to the factory act. The case will be heard before Magistrate Kay on Tuesday next.
Rev. G. E. Tobin was seriously injured on Sunday last at Mill Cove by being thrown from his carriage. His father, who was in the vehicle at the time, also had a narrow escape.
Fred Sullivan, a young man belonging to St. John, broke a leg in Halifax yesterday as the result of a fall. He was a seaman on the government steamer Aberdeen.
Mrs. Jack Quilley was granted a divorce in Ontario, Mich., from J. P. Cudway, son of the millstone packer. The hearing occupied only a short time in the afternoon.
A hope attached to an undertaker's wagon ran away in New York yesterday and plunged into the Hudson river. The driver escaped, the horse and wagon were rescued and a casket which floated from the vehicle was recovered after it had drifted down stream.
John T. McGuire, Patrick McGuire and Daniel Sheppard were arraigned in Bangor yesterday on charge of murdering William McLeod on Saturday last. All waived examination and were held without bail until the Friday court.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Ester Wood
Mrs. Ester Wood, widow of Charles H. Wood, died at 25 Brussels street yesterday. She was eight years and two daughters to mourn their loss. Their names are: Mrs. S. James E., William H., C. H., Mrs. T. of Middleton (N. S.); Mrs. E. H. and Mrs. Fred James, of Moncton. The deceased had been bright and cheerful to within a few days of her death and was seriously ill for three days only. She will be buried at Titusville. Besides her sons and daughters, she leaves two brothers, James H. Knight, of Colorado, and Peter Knight, of Grand Lake.
Henry Gay, alias McLean, escaped from the chain gang yesterday afternoon, while the men were at work on the Westmorland road. He was serving a four month sentence on a charge of drunkenness and begging.

FORMER MONCTON PASTOR IS HEARD FROM IN WEST

Rev. W.B. Hinson Gives Forceful Address at Christian Endeavor Conference in British Columbia

Rev. W. B. Hinson formerly of Moncton was one of the speakers at the Christian Endeavor Conference of British Columbia in Victoria recently. The colonist says:
The Rev. W. B. Hinson, of Portland, Oregon, delivered one of the most forceful addresses of the conference. In the course of his address he said, "Our business life is to serve, to see how to best serve, and to see how to longer serve. The unerving job of the unerving millionaire is to occupy the drawing room in the Pullman car above are both alike unevolving. The unerving job and the unerving millionaire represent the dress and the seam of our modern civilization. A selfish life is a disgraceful life and unless you are living a serviceable life you are living a selfish life. A third way of living there is none. In serviceable young people, you are connecting yourselves with all that which is most mighty and all that is best to be had in life. Have often noticed in the homes throughout the American continent the picture of Abraham Lincoln, but I shall be in Heaven or out of Heaven before I shall ever see the picture of John D. Rockefeller occupying a similar position, hanging in any home, yet John D. Rockefeller has more money than one thousand millionaires."
"Your business in life, Christian Endeavorers, is to do your duty and your duty in life is to serve. Whence came I and whither am I going is a question which Carlyle has asked, and happy is the man who adds 'Why am I here?' and the answer to this great question is 'I am here because I serve,' and it is the motto which should be taken to heart by all young people who have the supreme opportunity to serve. Service in the will of God is the best possible service which we can render."
"When we are serving according to the will of God all toil that is called secular becomes sacred, because it is done in the service of the Divine. Oh, I wish that we could lose those two words, 'sacred' and 'secular,' in the way in which they are now applied, for to all those who labor in the service of others and in the service of the Christianity all toil is sacred."

BAPTIST CONVENTION AT WOODSTOCK CLOSED
Woodstock, Aug. 24.—At the final business session of the Maritime Baptist association, yesterday afternoon, Rev. G. A. Lawson, presented the report of the finance committee. The churches are asked to raise $35,000 as follows: 30 per cent for home missions; 35 per cent for foreign missions; 15 per cent for Acadia University; per cent annuity fund; 10 per cent western missions; 4 per cent. Grande digue; 3 per cent ministers' aid.
The report also provided for the appointment of a general financial agent to assist the churches in the support of denominational work, and indicates a scheme to place all funds in the hands of one treasurer.
The committee on obituaries through the chairman, Rev. R. O. Morse, made suitable reference to Rev. Henry A. Carlisle, Rev. Frederick Demille Crawley, Rev. Sydney Weston, Rev. Walter C. Goucher, Rev. G. R. White, Prof. Warren M. Steele, Mrs. I. W. Carpenter, Mrs. J. C. Morse, N. A. Rhodes, E. C. Reid, Geo. H. Shaw, T. H. Parker, P. D. Howett, Fremant Cook, Alex. McIntyre and Samuel Simpson.
Rev. Dr. Colborn gave notice of motion to change the date of the convention to the first Saturday after October 15.
The evening session was devoted to foreign missions. Rev. W. V. Higgins presided and the following occupying missionaries, delivered short addresses: Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Glendinning, Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Archibald, Rev. Gordon P. Bars, Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Orchard, Mrs. W. V. Higgins.
On the conclusion of the evening session the convention adjourned to meet at the call of the president.
The convention spent the morning in discussing their foreign mission work. A new field has been acquired and an enlargement of the enterprise is anticipated. The report of the Foreign Mission Board reviewed the work of the year four new mission are to go to India this year. These are: Rev. Gordon P. Bars, of Dartmouth; Miss Lena Feist, of Lawrence, Mass.; and Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Orchard, of Fredericton. Five missionaries will return to India. Rev. and Mrs. W. V. Higgins, Rev. and Mrs. L. C. Archibald and Miss Helena Blackadar. The total income of the board last year was $35,714.70. The total expenditures were $28,782.73. The estimates for the year 1911 make a total of $48,660.00. This sum includes about $8,000 for the purchase of mission buildings from a British association. The support of Rev. Gordon Bars is undertaken by Rev. H. Y. Payant, of Westchester, N. S. The support of Rev. M. L. Orchard will be undertaken by the Brunswick street church, Fredericton.
In a horse-hitching contest at South Omaha, Neb., James G. Gallop of that city, hitched twenty horses in eighteen minutes, defeating Jim Tees of St. Louis, who had the reputation of being the best man in the west in that line.

LOCAL NEWS

Ground has been broken for the new school building on the Wellton lot.

The season for raspberries is now about closed and blackberries are now coming in quite freely.

The fine weather of the last two weeks has enabled the farmers to gather in their hay and having operations are now reported well over from sections come reports of a bountiful crop.

Toronto Globe—A large party of visitors from Toronto will attend the bicentenary of the Church of England at Halifax, and several officers and members of the Women's Auxiliary to Missions will go to St. John later for the meeting of the general board of the Women's Auxiliary.

In connection with the Campbell liquor case in Carleton, it has been published that S. J. Aide was the informant. Mr. Aide was witness, and a statement one while the information in the case was laid by Police Sergeant Ross.

On Monday evening last the members of Alexandra Minstrels descended upon the home of James F. Bond, Kennedy street, one of their happy brethren, who had lately joined the ranks of the Beneficials, and in honor of his marriage, made Mr. and Mrs. Bond the recipients of three handsome pictures and a silver tea set.

The presentation was made by James L. Robinson, who congratulated Mr. Bond on behalf of the members. A jolly time was spent with games and music.

The marriage of Robt. F. McConaghey to Mrs. Aida E. Bowers, daughter of Captain Edwin L. Fullerton, will take place at the parsonage of the First Reformed Presbyterian church, 40 Denis street, Cambridge, Mass., this evening at 7.30 o'clock. Rev. Samuel McNauger, will officiate. The bride will be attended. The wedding will be of a quiet nature, there being no invitations. After the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. McConaghey will leave for a tour of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. While in St. John, they will be the guests of Mrs. F. Watson, 20 Canon street. The groom has many friends in this city, who will be pleased to see him.

Well advanced in exhibition building Exhibitors getting along excellently—New Street Railway Track being laid

C. William Taylor, who has been supervising the erection of exhibits and other work under Manager Good's direction at the exhibition building, said this morning that from his many years experience similar labor of the show today is more advanced and much greater in every way than any previously held. Nearly all the important exhibits are well ahead with their work, others within easy striking distance of the opening day and those who have not yet commenced have plans well laid for a vigorous hustle particularly when the electricity is turned on for night work.

John F. Frost, of Hampton, is again to be superintendent of the live stock department and reported at the manager's office in the new building this morning. Mr. Frost has been closely following the various phases of the work in connection with this department and makes the claim that no fair plant in Canada exceeds that of St. John for the convenient, safe, weatherproof and modern exposition of animals. Several important live stock breeders accompanied Mr. Frost through the stalls and stables this morning and expressed themselves in accordance with the views of the superintendent.

One of the city street rollers is making a good job of the new live stock parking in front of the grand stand. This will be a hard smooth fifth-of-a-mile track, similar long for parade purposes and almost long enough for competitive trotting.

The St. John Railway Company have commenced work laying a new section of track around the corner from St. James street to Wentworth in a southerly direction. This will give them the advantage of a St. James-Britain street loop for exhibition time. It is understood Manager Hopper will have every available item of rolling stock on the job day and night during the show.

Whiskey in Suit Case SEIZED AT CHIPMAN

Capture Made on Train by Constable Abner Belyea—St. John Man Robbed of $10

Almer Belyea, police constable on the Transcontinental Railway at Chipman, seized a suit case containing whiskey from Dell Welton, who was on the late Saturday night train which runs through Chipman to Miramichi, when he was convicted of holding liquor within the ten mile limit, about two weeks ago.

A man named Belyea, from St. John, buyers working on the local bridge at Chipman, was robbed of $80 the other day. He placed the matter in the hands of the police at Chipman who traced it to a boy about fourteen years old and recovered the money. No legal steps were taken.

FUND FOR THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND IN CAMPBELLTON

The several congregations of the Church of England in the city are raising money in aid of the church and church people in Campbellton, as church, rectory and everything were totally destroyed, including all the furniture and clothing of Rev. Mr. Coleman, the rector. The bishop has issued an appeal to the diocese to contribute $5,000, as it will take all of that to rebuild the church and buildings. T. Carleton Allen, of Fredericton, is treasurer of the fund.

SOME BRUSHING UP TO MAKE THE CITY LOOK WELL

A Few Suggestions Made to the Times to Improve Appearances for Exhibition Week

From more than one source there come to The Times suggestions for improving the appearance of the city for the temporary benefit of the thousands who will visit here during the exhibition and in some of the suggestions, for the permanent good of St. John itself.

It has been already announced, in connection with the electric lighting scheme, for exhibition week, that strings of colored electric lamps will be placed along King Street. It is now suggested that, in addition to this, the large tree which overlooks the fountain and the main walk from the head of King street, be also decorated with red, white and blue lights placed here and there among its branches. It would be unique and the effect would be very pretty.

Of more permanent benefits is a suggestion that each of the whitewash be applied to the four or five fences along Sydney street near the exhibition buildings and which will be in view of everyone of the thousands who will go to the fair. Lime is not dear, a little will go a long way and certainly strangers will be given a better impression of St. John and its people if this work is done.

Again, many who come into the city will travel over the cantilever bridge, coming from western points. It was said to a Times reporter yesterday that these people would be given a much better first impression if the barns and outbuildings of Strait Shore homesteads were lightened up with use of whitewash.

Attention is also called to fences, some in tumble-down condition, in various parts of the city, including principal streets, which need looking after.

PYTHIANS TOMORROW WILL DECORATE GRAVES

March from Castle Hill Will Begin at 1.30 P. M.—Drill in Queen's Rink Tonight

Tomorrow the Knights of Pythias will hold their annual memorial services, when the graves of the departed members will be decorated. As there are eighty-seven graves to be decorated this year a larger quantity of flowers will be needed, but the knights are confident that their friends will be even more generous than in years gone by.

The members of the three local lodges will meet at 1.30 p. m. in Castle Hill, Germain street, where they will form in line and march via Germain and Princess streets to the corner of Chateaufort street and there take in the barouches filled with flowers. The march to the cemetery will then be resumed by way of Chateaufort, Union and Waterloo streets.

As in other years, the Queen's Rink has been secured for resting and preparing the flowers and donations will be received this afternoon and evening and tomorrow morning. Members of the committee will be at the rink to look after the flowers and will be glad of the assistance of their lady friends. There will be a drill in the rink this evening at 9 o'clock.

Glenwood Ranges Are Made to Wear

The Glenwood Ranges are made to stand all kinds of places, whether in restaurants where they have hot fires 24 hours a day or in private family where cooking is light, the Glenwood will do the work. Their construction is made of the very best material that can be found in a stove. They are all made interchangeable in the centres, which is a factor worthy of note. We make Cabinet Glenwood, Glenwood E, Modern Glenwood, Glenwood Cook. All these ranges have been tried and proved before putting them on the market and the hundreds that are being used in the city is evidence of what we say about the Glenwood Range is right. Come and see for yourself.
