THE SHIPPER'S UNION.

Adopt a New Resolution.

At a meeting of the Carleton County Shipper's Union held at Woodstock on Wednesday the 12th inst. the following resolution, which speaks for itself, was unanimously adopted.

WHEREAS: This Union was formed sometime ago for the purpose of raising the standard of Carleton County oats in the markets and recognizing the fact that a large percentage of the oats being shipped are unclean and much below the standard weight: and that we are of the opinion if such oats were re-cleaned and the light oats and foul seed taken out the same oats would go about the standard weight and would command a better price in the different markets.

THEREFORE, be it RESOLVED that in future we will make a difference of five cents per bushel in favor of re-cleaned oats that will weigh thirty-two pounds and upwards to the bushel.

This resolution was signed by D. W. Smith, C. L. Tilley, J. T. G. Carr, C. H. Taylor, J. K. Fleming, H. H. McCam, James McIaac, B. F. Smith, C. E. Gallagher, E. D. R. Phillips, John Bohan and F. E. McNally.

Lost At Sea.

The Atlantic liner "Mohegan" was wrecked on the Cornish coast, England, on Friday evening of last week. The cause of the disaster is unknown. There were 158 passengers and crew aboard and of all this only 50 were saved, 108 going down to a watery grave. The vessel was 67 miles out of her course.

Still another disaster is recorded from the British coast. The British ship "Blengfell" from New York was destroyed by a sudden fire off Margate, on Monday morning. Nine of the crew including the Captain and a pilot, were lost. The vessel was laden with naphtha and it is presumed that escaping gas became ignited, causing the fire.

Lansdowne Wedding.

A very pleasant wedding took place at the residence of George A. Campbell, Lansdowne, on Thursday, when Miss Maud W. Campbell and Chester Parlee were made one for life. The ceremony was performed by Rev. D. B. Bailey. The bride looked charming attired in green silk with trimmings of white chiffon lace. The presents were numerous and costly—a slight token of the esteem in which the bride and groom were held. They intend to reside in their new home at Bath. Miss Campbell will be much missed by her many friends here.—(Corr.)

William Huble and James Sutherland of this village are accused of violating the Scott Act. To day a number of witnesses will be examined before Police Magistrate Dibblee.

A MILD WINTER.

Is Predicted By The Old People.

The innumerable "signs" which are believed to portend a mild winter agree this season. Whether or not the old saws are infallible will always remain a question. But Indians and all woodsmen are commonly believed to possess foresight of the nature of the coming seasons, even as though endowed with a supernatural prescience.

An old gentleman who is somewhat of a weather prophet and nothing of a meteorologist, assures the ADVERTISER that the coming winter will be exceptionally mild. "In the first place," says he, "I have never known a severely cold winter to follow a season in which the corn husks were unusually light as is the case this year—there being almost an entire absence of 'silk' and very scanty outer covering to the ears. It has always appeared to me that nature economized thus only when she foresaw that the seed would not need very great protection from inclement weather. Hornets instinctively build their nests on low bushes—they have done so this season—when there will be a light snow fall. Strawberries and apple blossoms in October indicate a mild winter. And" concluding his remarks, "the goosebone does not indicate a single severe storm."

Liberal Association.

A meeting of the Liberal Association of Carleton county will be held in the Opera House, Woodstock, on Friday afternoon, October 28th, opening at two o'clock. All the vice-presidents of the county, representatives from the various local organizations, and the Liberals of the county generally, are earnestly requested to attend. Matters of grave importance to the party will be considered, and a number of interesting addresses will be delivered. Let there be a grand Liberal rally.

The mud season is upon us again; and how nice it would be if a few cart loads of coal cinders could be distributed in just the right places. This is something that could be done with little trouble and scarcely any expense.

That Injunction.

On Wednesday the case of Isaac B. Curtis vs. the Municipality of Carleton county and Patrick McAnna was argued before Judge VanWart. The court ordered the injunction made perpetual, restraining the defendants from proceeding with the erection of the jail.

Taylor's Millinery Opening

Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of the coming week C. Humphrey Taylor's millinery will be on an special exhibition, when prices and information will be gladly given. He has an expert milliner at the head of this department. Remember the dates—October 25, 26 and 27.

Letter of Condolence.

William Brooker, a young man of Riverbank, took typhoid fever about two weeks ago and died on Friday.

The following has been handed in for publication:

At a regular meeting of Wiggins L. O. L. No. 74 the following letter of condolence was adopted and ordered to be sent to the bereaved family:

East Florenceville, N. B.
Oct. 14th, 1898.

Mr. Wm. Brooker,
Riverbank, N. B.

Dear Sir:—Wiggins L. O. L. No. 74 wishes to extend to yourself and to your family the sympathy of its members in the recent bereavement you have sustained in the loss of your son William. Our lodge loses from its ranks a faithful member, regular in his attendance, and in his daily life a true and upright Orangeman. In his death we all feel a personal loss. In compliance with his expressed request he was committed to the grave according to our Ritual.

"We laid him in the sleep that comes to all,
And left him to his rest."

However severely we may feel our loss we know that it is infinitely less than yours. You miss the genial presence and strong support of a worthy son, upon whom in declining years you had learned to look with trust and hope. Only those who have similarly trodden the Vale of Sorrow can sound its depths.

"No mystic chain, no mortal art,
Can bid our loved companion stay;
The bands that clasp them to our heart
Snap in Death's frost and fall apart.
Like shadows fading with the day
They pass away."

Such is the destiny of all. Too soon alas we, also, will be summoned to join him in the great Beyond.

"There the tears of earth are dried;
There the hidden things are clear;
There the work of life is tried
By a juster Judge than here."

EDMUND W. SAUNDERS, W. M.
PERCY R. SEMPLE, R. S.

Quite a large number of Orangemen from Hartland attended the funeral.

Rockland Surprise Party

A few hours after their return from the F. B. General Conference at Sussex, Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Barnes were treated to a surprise party by the members of their congregation at Rockland and other places. There were about 60 present and the demonstration was occasioned through the fact that their pastor was about to leave them for new fields of labor. The appreciation of his and Mrs. Barnes labors was shown in a substantial way by the gift of a fine dinner sett and other things.

A very enjoyable time was spent and the following address was read:

To THE REV. J. J. BARNES.

Dear Friend and Pastor:—It is with deep regret that we, the members of the F. B. Circle of Rockland and Mount Pleasant, learn of your removal from us to another field of labor.

We have always listened to your carefully prepared addresses with pleasure; and your conscientious work has helped and encouraged us on our way.

We have learned to love you through your pastorate of five years, and cannot let this opportunity pass without giving some slight token and expression of regret for the loss we all sustain by the departure from our midst of yourself and family. A loss which is shared in not only by the church, but as well by the citizens of our community in which you have so long resided, enjoying the respect and confidence of your fellows.

The untiring zeal and energy which have characterized your connection with us entitles you to much more emphatic recognition than these feeble words of ours can express, but we would like to convey to you and your family the sincere appreciation which we have had during the past of the merits of your character and work, and which we now have with greater intensity and volume as we are brought face to face with the void which your departure to other fields will create.

Be assured that in going out from among us you and your family carry with you our highest esteem and regard as well as gratitude for what you have been to and what you have done for us.

We shall follow you with our prayers for your full restoration to health, and we trust that He whose servant you are, will grant you many years of active service in his cause.

For Mrs. Barnes we express our deepest regard and pray that she may be in the future as in the past your faithful co-worker.

We are loath to say "farewell" but in its utterance we would voice the prayers that we may all be permitted to meet again before that grand reunion around the throne of the Most High for which we should all strive to be prepared.

We now present you with this dinner sett and small offering.

Signed on behalf of the Circles,

MRS. BENJ. KENT.

Mr Belyea's Letter Should be Read by all Sufferers.

Gentleman:—In the winter of 1884 I was taken with a severe attack of neuralgia in the head and shoulders. Since then it became seated, and I gave up the idea of ever being cured. Have taken medicine prescribed by different physicians, but all to no avail.

Some three months ago I was induced to try a bottle of Paine's Celery Compound. Before I had taken half of it I began to feel better. Sleep, which in my early days appeared so refreshing, has in these years of affliction been made up of frightful dreams; but not so now, as the medicine began to have a telling effect on my nerves.

I have taken three bottles of this glorious medicine, and to-day I can say that it is the first time in eleven years that I have felt none of those piercing pains to which I had once been a victim. Let me say to any one who may read this testimonial, in this province or elsewhere, that if you discredit this statement, just write me and I will only be glad to inform you of what has cured me of neuralgia and a shattered nervous system.

Yours respectfully,

LEVERETT A. BELYEA,

NORTHERN LIGHTS.

Last night, the Northern heavens
Unrolled a vision fair;
A wondrous cloud of brightness
Seemed hanging in the air.
A sight, grand and majestic,
Of weird, unearthly light,
Fading almost to shadows;
Again, most dazzling bright.
A gentle, swinging curtain
That fairy fingers hold,
Swayed by the softest zephyrs
And edged with purest gold.
A moment thus, then heaving
Like waves of a starlit sea,
But changing in an instant,
And then it seemed to be
The pipes of a heavenly organ,
Played by an angel's hand,
While choirs celestial chanted
An anthem sweet and grand.
Again, it was a palace,
Bedecked with beauty rare,
Fashioned by unseen builders;
A castle in the air.
Thus never still but moving
In rhythmic waves of light,
Fainter and fainter growing,
It vanished from the sight.

American Opinions.

A high commission, composed of Americans and Canadians, is now sitting in Montreal to settle every matter of dispute that has ever arisen and is still unsettled between the United States and the government of the Dominion of Canada. There are many of these questions, and upon their amicable settlement much depends. The fisheries have always been a subject for disputes innumerable. American fishermen cannot fish within three miles of Canadian shore; can not buy bait in Canadian ports, nor land there for any purpose except refuge from stress of weather. The seal fisheries have caused a great deal of trouble and expense to both governments, and the tariffs imposed by the United States on Canadian imports have made ill feeling times without end. If this commission shall be able to settle upon a system of reciprocity, the friendship of the two nations will be forever firmly cemented, and our sister dominion become as one of our family. Once free intercourse is established between the two countries, we shall gain immensely, and the Canadians will receive benefits as great. England has no particular reason for hoping for reciprocity between Canada and this country, for it would hurt her trade with that country, but Canada has grown large enough to do about as she pleases in such matter, and is looking out for Number One. . . . While this country is developing and growing richer every year, we have on our borders an empire that is beginning to assume great proportions. This is the wheat fields of the Dominion of Canada, lying west and northwest of Lake Superior, and extend northward to Great Slave Lake. It is five hundred miles wide and two thousand miles long and there is no place on earth where wheat comes to such perfection. To the popular mind this country is a vast and cheerless wilderness, where everlasting winter abides, but such is not the case. It produces heavy crops, and the temperature is such that cattle thrive, and most of our vegetables that grow in our kitchen gardens come to perfection.

Cold Barns.

Those whose cattle barns are not warm to work in comfortably without an overcoat and mittens in the winter or even without any coat in ordinary winter weather may be sure they are not warm enough for the cows to do their best in, or for calves and young stock to grow rapidly without an extra allowance of heating food. Covering up cracks and seeing that windows and doors shut snugly will help some, but we remember when a boy and when cows were kept in a barn with unshingled sides and ends having to help line the walls back of stock with old boards and slabs nailed on the inside of the posts and stuffing this space between this lining and the outer boards with bog hay, so that no wind could come through. Taking out the old board slide window where the manure was thrown out into the yard and putting in a larger half window from an old building so that we had light enough to take care of the cows without leaving door or window open was another improvement, and all was done at small expense and but little labor, which were important considerations in those days to poor farmers, trying to do the best they could with what they had.—Boston Cultivator.

Information Wanted.

EDITOR HARTLAND ADVERTISER:
Since reading about the Road Machines I would like to ask our local representatives a question or two: Mr. Dibblee says the Machines sent here by the government were a cheaper and poorer machine. Mr. Smith says two of the machines sent by the government were the same kind as sold by McDonald, namely the Champion, and the price charged by the government was one hundred and eighty-five dollars. Who is right?
Second question—Mr. David Keswick, a wealthy lumberman resident of Hartland, built an abutment or wharf of five hemlock logs and a few rocks to protect his lawns from gullyng out by the spring freshet, and report says the government, or some of the representatives have paid or promised to pay him fifty dollars; is the report correct? The work is of a private nature and of no benefit to the public at all. Hoping to hear these matters explained, I am

HARTLAND, Carleton Co., N. B.

HARTLAND, N. B., OCTOBER 22, 1898.

The political atmosphere is darkly clouded but in reality there is "much ado about nothing." The differences at issue between the Local Government and the Opposition parties, are, to say the least, but petty; while they have been magnified by the party newspaper to such an extent that the honest voter is at a loss to know just where he is at. Two questions occupy the attention of the political gladiators, namely, double-priced bridges and Carleton county road-machines. Of the various letters with regard to the road-machine matter that of C. L. Smith, M. P. P. appearing in St. John papers of Wednesday evidently places him on top. He has conclusively shown that the two Richmond machines bought by Mr. Dibblee did cost $540; he shows that William McDonald sold three Champion machines for $600 and further that Mr. Emmerson sent two Champion machines to this county for which $185 each was paid. Again, Mr. Smith shows where Mr. McCain and he bought two Champion machines for Brighton paying $370 herefore. And all this in the face of Messrs. Dibblee and McDonald's statements that Champion road machines never had been, and could not be, sold to the province for less than $250 each.

Now that the injunction on the new gaol has been made perpetual, war is virtually declared. The good people of Woodstock seem unanimous in accusing Hartland of being the perpetrator of the trouble. Of course Hartland people can afford to let this idea pass as correct even while it is not, knowing as they do that the injunction is endorsed by a large proportion of the county at large. We presume that somebody is stuck for the money already expended. It certainly cannot be the county; and if it is Contractor McAuna, he has the heartfelt sympathy of the entire municipality.

Known of Here.

"Miss Elizabeth Stephenson, of Marquette, Wis., has been selected to christen the battleship, 'Wisconsin,' at San Francisco, on November 26th." She is the daughter of Congressman Isaac Stephenson. Mr. Stephenson, her father, was born near Hartland, of this county and is a first cousin of Mrs. Thos. Boyer, of Woodstock. He was here, not long ago. As rather a peculiar coincidence a Michigan paper comes also to hand giving a thrilling account of three young ladies being lost on Mount Vesuvius. One of them is the same young lady who is to perform the ceremony above referred to. She received quite a severe shock and a sprained ankle, and had to be carried to the hotel by guides.—Dispatch.

Victoria Co. Teachers' Institute.

Andover, Oct. 14.—The Victoria County Teachers' Institute opened here yesterday morning, with President Thomas Rogers in the chair.

F. B. Meagher was elected president, Miss Iva Baxter, vice-president, C. H. Elloit secretary-treasurer, and Miss Barker and Mr. Niles, members of executive.

President Meagher in addressing the meeting spoke of the poor attendance of teachers. There were seventy-seven districts in the county and only thirty teachers present. He thought the teachers of each parish should meet occasionally to discuss matters connected with their work. He hoped that in a few years the plan which was being tried successfully in other places would be in operation here, namely, several districts thrown into one, with a large school in the most central place, and the scholars carried to and fro by teams. He also regretted that the appliances in many schools were in a bad condition.

The papers read in the first session were: Current Events, by C. H. Elliot, and Nature Lessons, by Miss Louise Pickett. The afternoon session was occupied by papers by Miss Barker on Primary Geography, and Thos. Rogers on Weeds.

The second day's morning session was opened by a paper on Primary Arithmetic by Miss Iva Baxter, followed by an interesting discussion of the subject. Mr. Meagher read a paper on English, Miss Scott a paper on Fractions, and Mrs. Kelly on Recollection in the last session.

The institute will meet again at Grand Falls on the last Thursday and Friday of September, 1899.

Owing to a debt the enrollment fee was made fifty cents.

A public meeting held in connection with the institute on Thursday evening in Beveridge's hall was largely attended. The principal feature was a lecture by Prof. Dixon on Engineering. Recitations were given by Misses Barker and Baxter, and short speeches made by Senator Baird, Jas. E. Porter, M. P. P., and Geo. E. Baxter. The attractiveness of the meeting was added to by several musical selections.—St. John Sun.

A newspaper down in Maine, is telling of the death of a man through being struck by a railway train, adds that "it will be remembered that he met with a similar accident a year ago." it is to be hoped that the habit which he appears to have contracted will not become chronic.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Herold Frederic, the well known author and London correspondent of the New York "Times" died of heart disease on Wednesday. In 1896 he published a very strong book (Illumination; or the Damnation of Theron Ware), that created quite a furore in literary circles.

A basket sociable will be held at Mrs. Clark's residence, Avondale, Tuesday evening, October 25th. Tea and coffee will also be served. Proceeds for benefit of Baptist Church. Should the weather prove unfavorable will be held next fine evening.

The other day three large moose came into the village of Patten, Me. and ran the whole length of the main street. One got impaled on a barbed wire fence. The moose that F. H. Cook, of Massachusetts, killed on the Tobique is said to be the largest ever shot in America, outside of Alaska.

The Kincardine Agriculture Society held their annual meeting on Wednesday the 12th, inst. at their exhibition building. There was a large attendance of the members. The society bought some stock at St. John Exhibition. They were sold to the members and brought very high prices. They also voted money to purchase more for another year. Altogether the society is in a very flourishing condition.

Mr. Clark's mill at Avondale has lately been completely renovated by Messrs. H. M & H. P. Stevens, and now is in better condition for grinding than ever before. A new turbine wheel has been put in and the cleansers have been renewed, thus increasing the facilities for doing good work. The flour turned out from this mill already has a high reputation for general excellence.

On the Pullman car attached to the Atlantic express Saturday were three very small, bright and pretty children. They were Grace Quinn, John Felix Quinn and Frank Quinn, and the oldest was not more than five years. The three were journeying from Houston, Texas, without any attendant or nurse. They were happy and contented and apparently looked upon the stalwart porter as a capable guardian.—St. John Globe

Carleton County Court has been in session this week, Judge Hanington presiding. The case of Miss M. B. Sharp and the school trustees of Woodstock was heard and concluded. She entered action for $2500 damages for having been falsely imprisoned. After occupying the attention of the court for three days the jury brought in a verdict of $1.00 for the plaintiff. The case of Shaw vs. Stockford also was to be tried in the present term. It will be remembered that this case is one of assault and comes from Windsor.

An Engineer's Story.

Suffered The Pangs of Rheumatism For Years.

Was Reduced in Weight From 180 to 130 Pounds—His Friends Feared That Recovery Was Impossible—Now Actively Attending His Duties.

From the Milland Free Press.

Alexander McKenzie is one of the well known residents of Brookholm, Ont., where he has lived for many years. A few years ago it was thought that an early grave would be his; on the contrary, however, he is now stout and the story of his recovery is on the lips of almost all the citizens of that burgh. The writer, while visiting in the village could not fail to hear of his recovery, and with the reporter's proverbial nose for news decided to put to the proof the gossip of the village. The reporter visited Mr. McKenzie's home and was introduced to Mrs. McKenzie. Enquiry elicited the information that Mr. McKenzie was not at home, but when informed as to his mission the lady freely consented to tell the reporter of her husband's case. Her story runs like this: "Mr. McKenzie is 40 years of age, an engineer by profession, and is now on a boat on the lakes. About five years ago he began to feel twinges of rheumatism in different parts of his body and limbs. For a time he did not think much of it, but it gradually got worse until the pain was such that he was unable to work, and could not get rest at night. I would have to get up two or three times a night," said Mrs. McKenzie to try and relieve this intense suffering. Of course he consulted a physician who pronounced his trouble sciatic rheumatism. The doctor did what he could for him, but without giving any permanent relief. This went on for several years, sometimes he would be some better and try to work then the trouble would come on again and be as bad as ever.

He was pulled down from being a stout man of 180 pounds to about 130, and was so thin and miserable that all who knew him thought it would be only a matter of a short time until he would be in his grave. For four years did he thus drag along a miserable existence, until in the beginning of 1897 some one recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Tired of medicine, with some reluctance he procured a box and gave them a trial. Almost at once a change was perceptible, and as he kept on taking them, the improvement continued, and he was soon able to be about. By the time he had taken about a dozen boxes he was free from the slightest twinge of rheumatism, and as stout and strong as he had been before his affliction. So great is his faith in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills that when he left home to go up the lake for the summer, he took three boxes with him as a preventative against a possible recurrence of the trouble. Mrs. McKenzie was quite willing that this story should be made public, and believes that she owes her husband's life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

Rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, nervous headache, nervous prostration, and dis-cases depending upon humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., all disappear before a fair treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions. Sold by all dealers and post paid at 50c. a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont. Do not be persuaded to take some substitute.

A Clever Trick, says the Dispatch

A funny story comes from Hartland, at the expense of a Parish of Woodstock constable. It is said that the constable wished to arrest a certain party in Hartland, to give evidence in a Scott Act case. Armed with that little brief authority that the law gives a constable, our friend of law and order proceeded to the city of the north. He was informed that the party whom he sought boarded to one of the hotels in room No—. The custodian of the peace started for the room in question and without much difficulty got in. He handed out the warrant whereat the occupant of the room proclaimed in astonishment. "Oh! you have the wrong man. It's my brother you want." The constable made a profound apology. "The guest of the room was in a forgiving mood, and said he would show the constable the house in which the wanted one lived. So he took him out and pointing to a certain house said: "You will find him there." The constable profusely thanked the gentleman for his assistance in carrying out the law, and proceeded to the house pointed out thumped at the door till he made an entrance.

Alas! he found that he tried the wrong bird, and that he should have hung on to the party who so easily gulled him.

The arrest has not been made.

Why It Is Called She.

An Annapolis man has discovered the reason that a locomotive engine is called she, and his argument is that they wear a jacket, an apron, shoes, hose, and drag a train behind them; they have a lap, need guides, ride wheels, will not turn out for pedestrains, sometimes foam and refuse to work, they attract men, are very contrary, and it always takes a man to manage them.—Railway News.

False Report.

The report that the treasure of the Khalifa valued at £10,000,000, had been found and was being forwarded to Cairo, is without foundation. Equally baseless is the report that General Kitchener will resign the Sirdarship.

The oldest living graduate of Harvard, Dr. William L. Russell of Barre, who will cross the century line if he lives until October of next year, is still fond of walking and an expert at croquet.

A Boy's Day At Home.

BY ROBERT J. BURDETTE.

Master Bilderback had been home all day, confined to the house and barn by the rain, and excited by the prospects of unlimited fun during the long vacation. He was a blessing to his mother and sister, and his affectionate parent caught her death of cold by running after him in one stocking foot searching out the tender places in his nature and anatomy with a four and a half slipper. He tied one end of his sister's ball of crochet cotton to the fly-wheel of the sewing machine and the other around the tail of the cat, and by the time his mother had sewed half way down one of the long seams in Mr. Bilderback's new shirt, all but a few yards of that cotton was a chaotic mass about that fly-wheel and shaft, and the cat was waltzing in and out of the kitchen sprawling along backward, tail straight as a poker, fur up and eyes aflame, howling and spitting, and swearing like mad, and Mrs. Bilderback and her daughter climbed upon the table and shrieked till the windows rattled, while Master Bilderback, hid behind the clothes horse in the kitchen, lay down on his back and laughed a wicked gurgling kind of a laugh. Then he went out and jammed a potato in the nose of the chain pump and the hired girl went out and pumped till her arms ached clear down to her heels, and then told Mrs. Bilderback the cistern had sprung a leak and was dry as a bone. And then Mrs. Bilderback, declaring she knew better, went out and turned the wheel until her head swam and she gave up, and Miss Bilderback went out and turned till she cried, and then Master Bilderback, rather than go to the neighbor's for water, went out and fixed the pump and came in to be praised, and was duly praised with the slipper, for he had been watched. He put an old last year's fire-cracker in the kitchen stove; he insured a steady run of visitors for about two hours, to the great amazement of his mother and sister, by pinning a placard on the porch step, plainly seen from the street, but invisible from the front door "Man wanted to drive carriage; $35 and board." Mrs. Bilderback drew a sigh of relief when she heard Mr. B.'s step in the hall, informed her son that as soon as his father came in he should be duly informed of all that had been going on. A most impressive silence followed this remark, and the trio in the sitting room listened to his heavy breathing as he divested himself of his wet boots, and prepared to assume his slippers. Master Bilderback's face wore an expression of deepest concern.

Suddenly the silence was broken by a shout of astonishment and terror, followed by a howl of intense agony, and there was a clattering as of a runaway crockery wagon in the hall. The affrighted family rushed to the door, and beheld Mr. Bilderback cleaving the shadows, with wild gestures and frantic gyrations. "Take it off," he shouted and made a grab at his own foot, but, missing it, went on with his war dance. "Water!" he shrieked, and started up stairs, three steps at a time, and turning, came back in a single stride, "Oh, I'm stabbed!" he cried, and sank to the floor and held his right leg high above his head; then he rose on his feet with a bound and screamed for the boot-jack and held his foot out towards his terrified family, "Oh, bring me the arnica!" he yelled, and with one despairing effort he reached his slipper and got it off, and with a groan as deep as a well and as hollow as a drum sank into a chair and clasped his foot in both hands, "Look out for the scorpion," he whispered hoarsely, "I'm a dead man."

Master Bilderback was by this time out in the woodshed, rolling in the kindling in an ecstasy of glee, and pausing from time to time to explain to the son of a neighbour, who had dropped in to see if there was any innocent sport going on in which he could share, "Oh, Bill, Bill," he said, "you wouldn't believe; some time today, some how or other, a big blue wasp got into the old man's slipper, and when he came home and put it on—oh, Bill, you don't know."

Victor Hugo in Exile.

I live near the sea in a house built 60 years ago by an English privateer and called Hauteville House. I, a representative of the people and an exiled soldier of the French republic, pay droit de portage every year to the Queen of England, sovereign lady of the Channel Islands, as Duchess of Normandy and my feudal suzerain. This is one of the curious results of exile.

I live a retired life here with my wife, my daughter and my two sons, Charles and Francois. A few exiles have joined me, and we make a family party. Every Tuesday I give a dinner to fifteen little children, chosen from among the most poverty-stricken of the island, and my family and I wait on them. I try by this means to give this feudal country an idea of equality and fraternity. Every now and then a friend crosses the sea and pays me a visit. These are our gala days. I have some dogs, some birds, some flowers. I hope next year to have a small carriage and a horse. My pecuniary circumstances, which had been brought to a very low ebb by the coup d'etat, have been somewhat improved by my book "Les Miserables." I get up early, I go to bed early, I work all day, I walk by the sea, I have a sort of natural armchair in a rock for writing at a beautiful spot called Eirmain bay, I do not smoke I eat roast beef like an Englishman and I drink beer like a German which does not prevent the Espana, a clerical newspaper of Madrid, from asserting that Victor Hugo does not exist and that the real author of "Les Miserables" is called satan.—Letters of Victor Hugo.

THE MEDICAL PROFESSION

Recommend Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment.

Dr. C. M. Harlan, writing in the American Journal of Health, of February 19, says:—

"Among the proprietary medicines deserving recognition is 'Dr. Chase's Ointment,' compounded by THE DR. A. W. CHASE MEDICINE CO., Buffalo, N. Y., and Edmanson, Bates Co., Toronto, Ont., as a remedy for sores, eruptions, and skin diseases of all kinds, for which it has been used with marked success, and has effected remarkable cures in many obstinate cases which seemed to baffle the skillful medical attendant. The results were most favourable, proving the value of 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' as a curative agent in the diseases named. The manufacturers of the remedy are well-known as experienced pharmacists, careful and reliable, in addition to which we have made full examination, and find the article to be all that is claimed for it. It is not the practice of the medical profession to indorse indiscriminately the use of proprietary medicines, but while we condemn the bad and worthless, we are still more ready to indorse and recommend the remedy deserving the recognition. Neither the physician nor the responsible Journal of Health now refuses to acknowledge the claims of such proprietary remedies as 'Dr. Chase's Ointment,' which prove their virtues by curing where other agencies have failed. We know that 'Dr. Chase's Ointment' meets all requisitions of the highest standard of worth, that it will be held in high esteem wherever it is used, and consequently we indorse it to every reader."
