INCORPORATION IS ENDORSED

At the Town Hall on Monday evening there was a representative meeting of the ratepayers to consider the matter of incorporation. On motion E. J. McCollom was called to the chair and A. D. Colwell was elected secretary.

A copy of the bye laws of the town of Grand Falls was at the disposal of the meeting as a model on which to build the corporate structure.

To bring the matter properly before the meeting M. L. Hayward moved, seconded by W. D. Keith, that this meeting proceed with the matter of the incorporation of the town.

Frank Hagerman spoke strongly in favor of the motion, claiming it would be a great benefit to the place and make our town what it ought to be—one of the best on the St. John river.

Frank A. Aiton suggested getting into action with incorporation in view. W. D. Keith read a letter from J. M. Keefe, town clerk of Grand Falls, favoring the incorporation project. Mr. Keith was not in favor of saddling a large tax on the people, but thought incorporation would be a benefit in more ways than one. Rowdism, which is now rampant, could be subdued under the new regime, our streets and sidewalks would benefit by having our taxes spent for our own use. He was strongly in favor of the scheme.

Dr. Curtis said one benefit would be the reduction of the cost of collecting the taxes. They would be embodied in one bill and one man would collect them, whereas now it is done in four operations.

M. L. Hayward instanced the work that is being done on our streets this year as an example of what would be done under incorporation, when we spent our money in our own way. Peddlers and others who compete with our merchants would be compelled to pay a license fee towards the upkeep of the town.

A. L. Baird favored the project. L. E. McFarland could not see much benefit without a lot of expenditure.

The vote being taken the motion was carried unanimously. R. W. Cameron moved, seconded by Frank Hagerman, that the present boundaries of the present school district be the boundaries of the incorporated town. This was carried. It would comprise an area of about four square miles.

On motion of M. L. Hayward, seconded by F. A. Aiton, a committee composed of W. D. Keith, R. W. Cameron, A. L. Baird, Frank Hagerman, Dr. Curtis and A. D. Colwell was appointed to secure signatures to a petition to the legislature for incorporation. Carried.

A. W. Kyle moved, seconded by Howard Adams, that the meeting adjourn for two weeks, when it would again convene to hear the report of the canvassing committee.

Dr. Curtis moved an amendment, seconded by C. E. Allen, that the meeting adjourn to meet at the call of the committee. This carried.

The canvassing committee will get to work at once.

Annual School Meeting

The annual school meeting was held at the school house on Monday, with a fair attendance. E. C. Morgan was elected a trustee in the place of J. T. G. Carr who retires. A. L. Baird was appointed auditor.

The meeting authorized the trustees to raise $2200 more this year than last year for the purpose of opening a new department, making four rooms. This extra money will be used to make the necessary repairs and pay the salary of an extra teacher. The repairs will be started at once.

It was decided to place the tuition fee to non-residents at $15 instead of $8.50 as at present. This would only cover the cost.

A resolution was passed authorizing a petition to the government to pass legislation to prohibit non-residents of the parish from coming to the school and getting the benefits without paying tuition fees.

The year's business showed a balance on hand of $330, with a delinquent list of about $200.

Dr. Elizabeth Secord Passes Away

Dr. Elizabeth C. Secord, the first duly qualified and registered practising lady physician in New Brunswick, if not in all Canada, passed away at her home, Farmerston, Tuesday evening at the age of 72 years. Dr. Secord had been in failing health for some years, but her indomitable spirit and vigorous constitution stood her in good stead and the inroads of disease true to the life principles of the sufferer, were resisted to the last.

Dr. Secord has an extensive family and personal connection in different parts of the province and news of her death brings a sense of sorrow and of regret that the life work of this great hearted woman is finished. Dr. Secord was formerly Miss Smith, a daughter of late D. Smith, Blissville, and taught school before her marriage to the late John Secord, of Norton. Left a widow in early middle age she conceived the idea of becoming a doctor and studied at Keekuk Mich., in Dublin University and in the leading London hospitals. In the face of somewhat bitter opposition she was registered as a certified physician in New Brunswick in June, 1883, and since that time up to the last few months she has practised the profession she loved. She practised first at Fredericton Junction, then at Norton, later removing to Farmerston and wherever she went she made devoted friends, bringing as well the gift of healing to many an ailing one. She kept in step with the advance of medical science, always possessed the courage of her convictions, and commanded the respect of fellow practitioners. She was an earnest Christian worker, being prominently identified with the old Free Baptist church and later with the United Baptists and the Women's Missionary Society. The great sorrow of her life was the death of her only son soon after he had completed a brilliant college course, but she did not allow this to interfere with the great purpose of her life, which was to bring health to the ailing and comfort the distressed in soul.

Dr. Secord is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Henry Hartt and Miss Olive M. Smith, of Carleton county, and two brothers, Daniel E. and William Dell, of Blissville. Mrs. L. R. Webb and Mrs. Luther B. Smith, of the west side, are nieces. Stanley K. Smith, city editor of The Daily Telegraph, is a nephew of the deceased.—Times

How to Live Long

Many ailments find their beginning in a torpid, sluggish condition of liver, kidneys and bowels. As a matter of fact you can add years to the length of your life as well as comfort and happiness by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills to keep these organs regular and active.

65TH BATT. PICNIC

The 65th Battery's Field Day which was to have taken place at Connell Park Woodstock on Monday, was held in the Armoury on account of rain. Considering the conditions under which it was held the affair was a great success, netting nearly $400, which will more than equip the 65th Battery's Bugle Band with drums and bugles. Numerous articles of every description were donated by the merchants and private individuals of Woodstock, which were sold or auctioned.

The following members of the 65th Battery were winners of articles varying from a bag of flour to a 25-mile ride in a Briscoe automobile, McLeod, Kidney, Bingham, Morrell, McKay, Estabrooks, Durea, Corey, and Done-more. The private individuals to win prizes were Owen Kelley, H. T. Stevens, H. B. Durost, D. F. DeWitt, C. J. Jones, J. Rankin Brown.

Daniel Y. Campbell of Lakeville, (65th Battery) held the distinction of winning the 25-mile automobile drive for four people in one of the new Briscoe cars, which was donated by Phillips, Estey & Co. The prize was awarded for a lifting competition which was judged by Dr. McLean and Logie Ross. Mr. Campbell succeeded in lifting a rear wheel of the Briscoe car when loaded with thirteen of Woodstock's finest young ladies, or a total of about 1500 lbs., in addition to the weight of the car. A couple of the other Battery men had made the lift with 10 of the young ladies. Mr. Campbell in a very patriotic manner, immediately offered his prize for sale by auction for the benefit of the Battery as did many of the buyers and winners of the various articles. Mr. Campbell in this way netted the Battery $16. Mr. Stairs of Lower Southampton was the buyer. After the sale the Briscoe agents were allowed to make a demonstration in the Armoury of their irreversible steering gear, which permitted their car to run in a circle minus the driver. The car carried three young ladies in the tonneau, who rode quite confidently in their handsome self-guided car. The Briscoe is manufactured by the Canadian Briscoe Motor Co., Brockville, Ont., which is affiliated with the Carriage Factories Limited.

Captain John H. Evans, Lieut. J. C. Barrie and Sergt. Dorey were in charge at the Armoury, and deserve a great deal of credit for bringing the day to a successful conclusion.

F. P. Stockwell, factory superintendent of the Canadian Briscoe Motor Co., was in Hartland last week and interested large crowds by letting his car drive itself, going about a narrow circle, exactly in the same track, as many as 50 times without any person in the car.

Prize-Winners in Grand Falls School

The school closed last week for the summer vacation. The advanced department closed on Tuesday at noon, as the principal, J. K. Higgins, attended the provincial institute in St. John. The closing exercises were held Tuesday morning. The trustees' prize for general standing was won by Frank Burgess of Grade VIII. In the other departments the closing exercises were held on Tuesday afternoon, and were well attended. In Miss Fraser's department, prizes were awarded to Bernice McLaughlin and Elizabeth Barker; in Miss Burgess' department, to Beatrice McCracken, Emma Martin; in Miss McCluskey's department, to Eva Powers, Lena Powers and Rose Wood. In the primary departments, the children were given a treat of ice cream.—Telegraph.

WHAT CATARRH IS

It has been said that every third person has catarrh in some form. Science has shown that nasal catarrh often indicates a general weakness of the body; and local treatments in the form of snuffs and vapors do little, if any good.

To correct catarrh you should treat its cause by enriching your blood with the oil-lact in Scott's Emulsion which is a medicinal food and a building tonic, free from any harmful drugs. Try it.

Vol. VIII. JULY 12, 1916 No. 5

POTATO GROWERS, ATTENTION!

The shortage in the potato crop last year throughout America, was due largely to late blight. This disease was more general than usual, on account of the wet season. The possible potato crop in New Brunswick for 1915 was reduced approximately twenty-five per cent. or 3,000,000 bushels, owing to the conditions, and unless potato growers practise thorough spraying, a still greater loss is likely to occur during 1916 if the present heavy rainfall continues. Undoubtedly the heavy rains of June will also encourage the disease, even though fine weather should prevail from now on.

Late blight is an infectious disease, caused by a fungus which attacks and destroys the foliage, and also causes a very destructive rot of the tubers. The spread and development of this organism may be held in check by spraying with Bordeaux mixture five or six times during the growing season.

Last season, demonstration spraying experiments were conducted on farms in different sections of the province, which showed that the yield could be more than doubled by spraying to prevent foliage diseases.

Now is the time to adopt preventive measures if the best results are to be obtained; indeed, if the potato crop is to be benefited to any great extent, growers should start spraying immediately, or when the plants are from six to eight inches high. Good results can be obtained by spraying later, but "the early bird gets the worm". Spraying should be continued at intervals of ten days or two weeks, until five or six applications have been made.

Several strengths of the solution have been recommended, but either of the following have given good results:

4 lbs. of Copper Sulphate,
4 lbs. of Lime (freshly slaked),
40 gallons water,
or the same formula, using six pounds of copper sulphate, has been recommended by some experimenters.

Separate stock solutions of the lime and copper sulphate will keep indefinitely and may be made-up at the beginning of the season, but the Bordeaux resulting from the mixture of the lime and copper sulphate, will not keep and should be made up only as needed.

Stock solutions:

(A) Dissolve considerable copper sulphate (sufficient for the season) at the rate of one pound in a gallon of water.

(B) Slake the lime and add water to make a milk of lime, equal to one pound in a gallon of water.

To make the required mixture dilute four gallons of the copper sulphate solutions up to twenty gallons, and four gallons of the milk of lime (after stirring up) to twenty gallons and mix these two diluted solutions in the spray tank. Apply at the rate of one to two barrels per acre, depending on the fineness of the spray and the size of the tops.

More detailed information may be obtained by writing to G. C. Cunningham Dominion Plant Pathological Laboratory, Fredericton or by writing to the Department of Agriculture Ottawa, for Circular No. 10, "Late Blight and Rot of Potatoes".

Centreville News

Crops are looking fine in this section. Grass will be a better crop than we have had for years. Grain is also good. Potatoes have a fine start and can now stand a lot of dry weather. Bugs are numerous, but the farmers now can easily combat them. With plentiful spraying a large yield is now assured.

Rev. H. Penna, the Methodist preacher, has been transferred by the conference and Rev. J. B. Champion and family have arrived. Mr. Champion preached a very acceptable sermon to a large congregation Sunday afternoon.

A party have gone fishing to the Miramichi; Miss Annie West, graduate nurse, is home for her holidays; Miss Damie Burr is visiting in St. John; Miss Kathleen O'Hara, teacher at Four Falls, is spending her vacation at home.

Gunner Thos. Jones is here on sick leave. He had the misfortune to be accidentally hit by a base ball and came very near ending his career.

Rex Baker has a nice concrete cellar completed and will build at once. The Howard White barn, so called, has been sold and is being torn down. The barn has always been an eyesore and everybody is glad to see it disappear.

Strawberries are very plentiful and there is great competition among the middle aged ladies to see who can pick the most. As far as we can find out, Mrs. A. C. Gibson is ahead of the game so far.

Mr. Kirk has the contract to put a cellar under the Cormier house and finish it inside.

The government is running a machine at A. O. H. Margeson's for pulverizing lime rock to be used for fertilizer. D. H. Cronk-hite is the able manager. They are now grinding for the Florenceville Agricultural Society.

No agricultural show here this fall, as the government could not afford to come over with the usual grant.

Automobiles are now very common in our village. Auto parties are numerous. Customs regulations recently posted have had the effect of stopping a great many Americans from visiting us. We people along the border cannot see the necessity or wisdom of issuing regulations which tend to prevent a friendly intercourse with our near neighbor.

Election talk in Carleton has died down since the Carvell shown at these meetings has certainly put a damper on the aspirations of the government to have a Minister of Public Works from this county. It was very amusing to read the garbled report of these meetings sent to the Standard by the special correspondent from Hartland. It shows to what straits a party is reduced when it has to procure scribes to write up such glaringly false reports. The meetings need no better advertisement. The great interest shown at these meetings by men of both parties has frightened the government supporters and the Standard report was considered necessary to offset the influence. The special correspondent does not show his old time smartness, for it took him nearly two weeks to gather data for his report. He would do much better "making up verse" or writing law points for a farmer magazine.

We wish to thank Mrs. George

Campbell of Stickney for so generously entertaining the members of our Red Cross at her home on July 6.

Mrs. Campbell has two sons in khaki across the seas, so one would truly understand her interest in Red Cross work.

We also wish to thank the visitors who helped so willingly financially, the sum of $12.20 being taken in on that day.

We will meet again in the afternoon of July 20 at the home of Mrs. Charles Ebbett.

Ethel M. Ebbett,
Secretary.

Tompkins-Ebbett

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Tompkins was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday afternoon, June 28, at 3:30 o'clock, when their second daughter, Nora Grace, was united in marriage to Willie Ebbett of Peel. Rev. E. C. Jenkins tied the nuptial knot in the presence of near friends and relatives of the families concerned. The happy couple stood beneath an arch of green, intertwined with white daisies. The bride was beautifully attired in a gown of white crepe de chene silk with shadow lace trimmings and bridal veil caught up with white roses and maiden hair fern. She was attended by her sister, Miss Lydia Tompkins who was dressed in pale blue. The groom was supported by his brother Earl.

The wedding march was played by Mrs. Harry Tompkins. Following the ceremony a sumptuous supper was served. The bride was the recipient of many useful presents. They will reside in Peel. All join in wishing them many years of happiness.

Porter-Ingraham

On Wednesday, June 28, at high noon, the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Ingraham, Southampton, was scene of a happy event when their daughter, Eliza Anne, was united in marriage to John Miles King of Weston. As the wedding march was being played the bride and groom entered the room unattended, the bride being given away by her father. The ceremony was performed by Rev. M. H. Manuel of Florenceville, in the presence of about seventy guests.

Mr. Porter is a successful farmer of Weston and the bride a popular teacher. Many dainty and useful gifts betokened the esteem in which they are held. After the wedding feast the young couple left amidst varied expressions of good wishes for their home in Weston.

ENGLISH AND FRENCH ARE ONE IN CANADA

Official Eye-witness Mopeful Over Outcome of Present War in Cementing Union of Ancient Foes

Sir Max Aitkin, writing as official eye-witness with the Canadian Forces, argues from history that British and France, English and French Canada are forever united. He closes with eloquent reference to Crecy and Joan of Arc. Sir Max says, in part: "Empire is not inconsistent with liberty; none the less the reconciliation of French Canada to the Empire was one of peculiar difficulty because of the secular antagonism between Great Britain and France. In Europe we have fought feudal France and monarchical France and the republics of France and imperial France. Times out of number our ancestors, whose blood still flows red in our veins and whose thoughts dominate our thoughts struggled fiercely against each other at Crecy, Blenheim, Minden, Busaco and Waterloo; and far beyond the European empire the conflict extended, from the plains of the Ganges to the mouth of the Mississippi."

But we always fought each other as plain men and brave men should. Even Napoleon, who is sometimes credited with the invention of many modern Prussian doctrines, was a strict observer of the rules of war. With the Anglo-French Alliance vanished the last great obstacle to a thorough union of the two races of the Dominion.

Ancient Wars Unite Us

We come back to the poet for the reason why the two great Western races of Europe are reconciled. Kipling seizes at once on the battles of long ago as the very reason for our mutual liking. "When did you refrain from us or we refrain from you? Ask the wave that has not watched war between us two. Others held us for a while, but with weaker charms, these we quitted at the call for each other's arms."

The very differences of the races both in the new world and the old afford ground for an eternal attraction, and it would be difficult to say whether the French admire more that which was done at Ypres by the Guards Brigade and again by the Canadians than the British Empire respects the heroic defence of Verdun. We have known each other's faults so long that we are ready to accept each other's virtues. The French mind is logical and passionate; the English restrains its natural ardor under a show of indeterminism. We have admired French literature as much as France has admired our political system.

On Historic Ground

"Eager towards the known delight equally we strove; each the other's mystery, terror, need and love," but the poet is not prepared to acquit the two nations of those crimes which they have shared together when we burned Joan of Arc. "Pardoning all necessity no pardoning will efface, that undying shame we shared in Rouen's market place." The links of history are, indeed, more intimate between the two races than between any other; but how many people realized it when the British army advanced, to overthrow the Germans on the Marne, from the wood with the significant name of Crecy, or when the recruit goes down from his base camp at Rouen and looks at the statue of Joan of Arc in the square.

INVENTED LEE-ENFIELD

Canadian Made Greatest Discovery Which German Stole

It is not generally known that the Lee-Enfield rifle was invented by a Canadian, the late James P. Lee, of Galt. In an article in the Reporter of that city, the former editor, Mr. J. P. Jaffray, tells the story of Lee. As a boy he doted on firearms, and as a young man went over the border and started a gun factory in Milwaukee. During the Civil War he made the Lee carbine for the Northern cavalry, and after the war joined the staff of the Remingtons at Ilion, N.Y., where he designed a number of sporting rifles. He evolved the "magazine" system of loading and perfected it during a vacation in Galt and made other improvements still in use. He went over to London and had his weapon adopted by the War Office. Mr. Jaffray says: "In the Remington and Hartford shops, where Mr. Lee constructed his gun, there worked at the time one Mauser and one Krag. Both these men stole the Lee inventions, and other foreign Governments were quick to secure them. But the Lee-Enfield is still the best of the lot, according to all accounts. And it was an old Canadian boy—an old Galt boy—who placed it in the hands of the British soldier." The Lee-Enfield has been remodeled more than once since James P. Lee perfected it. The short life of to-day is probably a great deal lighter than the original design, but the working principles of it are substantially the same.

"A FARMER'S MISTAKE"

A Short Story, but True

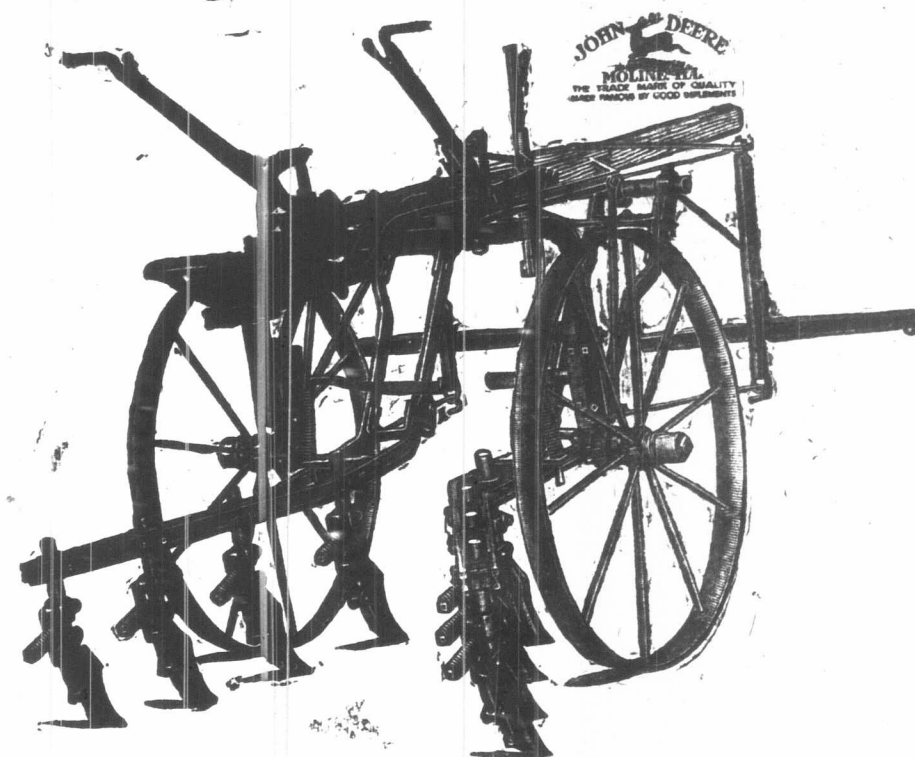

He lived within ten miles of Florenceville and he bought his Vitriol, Paris Green, Ammonia and Haying Tools without first getting S. W. Smith's prices—and he had a telephone in his house, too. Later, his neighbor, who did not make the same "mistake," told him what he got these goods for at Mr. Smith's. Then the farmer who forgot to use his phone felt very bad, for he found he had lost money by his mistake, and he promised himself never to make that mistake again whenever he wanted to buy anything in general merchandise.

FEATS OF CANADIANS

Artillery Officer's Ruse—Pats Fought to Last

General E. W. B. Morrison, of Ottawa, former editor of the Ottawa Citizen, and later in command of one of the artillery brigades at the front, has written to Mrs. Morrison of the Ypres battles of June, 1918, as follows: "After our troops retook the ground that had been temporarily lost, they found at one point the bodies of a big sergeant-major of the Mounted Rifles and two men of the Princess Patricia's. Around them lay the bodies of twelve Germans killed with the bayonet before they had been done in."

"The Germans showed more decency than on former occasions, notably not firing on stretcher-bearers. One of our men was wounded and captured, and the Wurttembergers gave him a cup of coffee, and said to him, 'cheer up, old man, you'll be over in England in a few days.' This probably alluded to the valiant accounts then in circulation regarding the naval battle. However, the wounded Canadian watched his chance and slipped in the bush and got away from his captors. He was caught again, but again escaped, and returned safely to our lines."

"A young Ottawa boy named Bruce Hill, who came out as gunner and had since got a commission, distinguished himself by remaining in his forward observing position after the Germans had charged past, and kept up communication by telephone with his battery for several hours, until the wire was cut by shellfire. He waited until dusk, and made his way back, carrying his telephone instruments with him."

CANADA WASTES BREAD

Lessons of Thrift Must be Taught, But How?

A Canadian woman writes: Two pictures came to my mind. One that was published in the daily papers showing blockade conditions as they exist in Berlin. A scene in the street market where bread is sold under short rations by the German Government, each purchaser being compelled to produce his bread ticket before he can buy. The other is a mental picture, deep in mind's eye. I looked from the balcony of a friend's apartment the other day into the alley below. Here were strewn great chunks of stale bread, the refuse from someone's garbage tin. How typical this waste of bread. What are we to do that we may educate these naturally wasteful individuals? There is no excuse for the waste of a crumb of bread. The thrifty housewife knows a thousand ways that stale bread may be utilized. She who knows no more of domestic economies than that she will permit the throwing out of stale bread, must be taught the principles of domestic economy.

BATTALION OF INDIANS

Ojibways and Iroquois Buried Hatchet in 114th Malmindamda

Lieut. Cooke of the Indian Department, Ottawa, recruiting among the Indian Reserves, found that the old feud between the Ojibways and the Iroquois had gone. They are ready and willing to fight alongside one another in defence of Canada and the Empire. The hatchet has been buried deep. An effort was made to form a complete Indian battalion but for the fact that recruiting officers have been busy amongst the tribes and have picked them up for several regiments. However, the most of the Indian volunteers gathered together at Cayuga, Ont., trained with the 114th Battalion. The movement to have an Indian battalion started with the Haldimand Rifles, an old and highly thought of Indian regiment. That battalion established a detail on Manitoulin Island where they recruited amongst the Ojibways of the island and along the north shore.

The whole community is saddened by his death which is the first casualty among the Kilburn boys who have donned the khaki and gone out to fight for King and country. All mourn with the bereaved family the loss of one of our soldier boys.

Boy Killed at Fort Fairfield

A fatality marred the Fourth of July celebration in Fort Fairfield when Jean Rameau, a six year old boy, was almost instantly killed as a result of an accident on a merry-go-round. He was playing with another lad and was knocked off his seat. His arm shot underneath the running board and was caught by a wire hawser, which tore it from its socket and in addition forced his head so hard against the flooring that his skull was crushed in. The boy was a bright fellow and a general favorite in the town.

The Fort Fairfield Review says Wallace Noddin, a married man, formerly manager of the town farm in Presque Isle, was very seriously injured this Wednesday in an automobile accident on the Caribou road, some distance from Presque Isle. An outstanding feature of his life was his big-hearted sympathy for those in trouble. The funeral services is being held today, his pastor, Rev. J. D. Wetmore, preaching the sermon.

An Argument for Incorporation

Late last night, in the vacant space at the rear of the Keith & Plummer building, there was a heap of rubbish that had caught fire and was smouldering away, throwing out a cloud of smoke.

One of the tenants to the north of the post office got suspicious and investigated. When stirred up there was a nice red bed of fire just being fanned into a blaze by the southwest wind that was blowing. If not discovered in time the burning paper and stuff would have been blown directly among the wooden barns and dwellings north of the post office and a real spectacular fire would have been the result. Under incorporation these dumps would not be permitted, nor fires allowed to be built promiscuously along the water front as at present.

Another nuisance that should be put down would be the emptying of animal and fish offal on the river bank in the rear of the dwellings just above the post office. At present it is nobody's business to prevent this menace to the public health.

Hartland Red Cross Society

Dear Editor: I have received from Lady Tilley a letter calling attention to the great necessity of keeping up supplies of shirts, socks, etc., for the Canadian Red Cross, and wish to state that our local Society has on hand materials for work, but as many of the members have not been attending our weekly meetings lately we find it impossible to get the material made into garments. We have some fifty members on the roll, but our average attendance is not over ten. I would earnestly ask that the ladies will give this their close consideration, as the war is still in progress and constant supplies are in greater demand than at any previous time.

On behalf of our boys.

Maine Boy Killed After Baseball Game

Benedict, Me., July 4—Henry Guttermuth, aged eighteen years, who was struck in the back of the head by a heavy sled stake in the hands of a companion, Ross Bushey, aged sixteen, is dead. On Friday evening, the boys were playing ball and an altercation arose over a baseball mitt, which, however, young Guttermuth took good naturedly. Both had stopped playing and were walking to the house without speaking, when, suddenly, Bushey was seen to stoop, snatch a heavy sled stake, used in the game for a bat, and deal his companion a crushing blow from behind. Guttermuth fell to the ground, but as several friends reached his side was able to regain his feet and, supported, to walk to the house. There, however, he lost consciousness.

In the excitement following the assault, Bushey escaped and went to Patten where he was arrested. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bushey of Patten and is known as a boy whose fits of temper have often led him into quarrels. It is said that he drank. Bushey was held in $2,000 bonds and placed in Houlton jail.

Hartland Department Store!

After 40 years serving the wants of this community we feel in a position to serve our customers well. We have had long experience in buying and have learned where the best goods are most cheaply obtainable. We have also learned that the best goods are really the cheapest, and we value our reputation for carrying good lines, the standard lines that others have built and held their reputation on. This is offered the people of Hartland and vicinity as a reason for buying at this store—you get first-class goods and you don't pay more—oftentimes not so much—as elsewhere.

We would urge farmers to make their purchase of without delay. The former will soon be unobtainable and Paris Green—Berger's, the best—will be higher. Save money or entire disappointment by buying now. Haying Tools are in stock at prices not much higher than last year.

We have a splendid line of

especially of Yachting Shoes, just the thing for summer. Prices on footwear are higher than formerly, but we are making a little less profit, conserving the interest of our customers.

There's no gainsaying that our Groceries and Family Supplies are carefully chosen, chiefly with a view to pure, fresh food. And in all things we strive to good service—prompt and obliging service.

J. T. G. CARR

P. S.—We pay good prices for Butter, Eggs, Berries, etc.

SUMMER FOOTWEAR

BUTTER WRAPPERS!

The cost of Vegetable Parchment from which Butter Wrappers are made has more than doubled in price since the war started. Previous to August all this paper used in America was imported from France and Germany, where it was made by secret process. Since the war the source of supply is completely cut off and the only imported butter paper available since has been the stock that was in hand at the time.

An inferior quality of parchment is now made in the States and imported into Canada under a duty of 37 1/2%.

Needless to say the price of Butter Wrappers has gone away up. Plain wrappers today cost only a mere trifle less than the printed ones the law requires.

Fortunately we have still on hand a good supply of the imported stock. This is 8x12 inches in size and will wrap a flat or a square brick. The American wrappers are 8x11 and not large enough to wrap a flat brick.

Our prices are as follows:

100 printed "Dairy Butter,"	30
500 " " " "	$1.20
100 printed "Dairy Butter," and with maker's name and address,	.50
250 ditto,	1.00
500 ditto,	1.50
1000 ditto,	2.50

Wrappers will be sent prepaid anywhere within Carleton or Victoria Co. on receipt of price.

We can also supply the trade with imported wrappers at less cost than wholesale grocers are doing.

WHY CONSCRIPTION?

Not far from the city, in a humble little cottage by the country roadside, lived a little old wrinkled woman, all alone. It was late at night, but in her chair she sat rocking, rocking, rocking and thinking of the "only lad", the soldier boy who was "somewhere in France" tonight. How strange it was she could not sleep tonight; and yet she must be tired, for has she not worked hard all day in her little garden? The farm had been worked on the "share" since "Andy" had gone to war, over a year ago. It was late in the night, but sleep would not come, for a strange feeling possessed her. So she rocked and rocked and rocked. A knock came to the door—a small boy handed her a yellow envelope. She adjusted her glasses and with trembling fingers signed her name. She had half expected it. "Andy" would not come home again—"Andy" was killed in action. She took down from the mantle-piece the picture of a broad-shouldered young man of twenty or so in khaki, and holding it to her breast with the telegram she sobbed and rocked. The night wore on. She heeded not the passing of the hours.

She thought of the family across the way with the well kept farm and the two big strong young men who had recently invested in an auto for Sunday pleasure. She thought of the many other families in the neighborhood whose sons had not yet heard the "call". And she was old and a widow and alone. She thought of the interest on the mortgage, that could not be paid. How unfair it all seemed. She had done her share, she had given her boy to the King. The great war was still raging. Would it ever end? Perhaps it would end more quickly if all the young men were compelled to go and do a share, or did her son have to go to fight for the whole neighborhood? So she thought and murmured over and over again, "it is not fair. It ain't a fair law."

"Old Mrs. MacPherson has gone crazy," said one of the boys across the road at breakfast the next morning. "As Jim and I were coming home in the car from the dance early this morning we saw a light in her house. Thinking it strange, we went to see what was wrong and looking through the window saw her crying and rocking, with a paper held against her breast, guess it was the notice Uncle George had sent her about her mortgage being overdue. She must intend to dispute his claim, for she was crying over and over again to herself: 'It is not fair. It ain't a fair law.'"

To Commemorate Commencement of the War

His Honour, the Lieutenant-Governor has received a communication from Henry Cust, Chairman of the Central Committee for National Patriotic Associations, London, which reads as follows:

"You will remember that on the 4th August last, meetings were organized throughout the United Kingdom, the great Self-Governing Dominions, the Colonies, the Crown Colonies, and the Dependencies, at which and identical Resolution was passed, affirming the determination of the Empire to carry the War to a successful conclusion. These meetings are held with the direct approval of the Prime Minister, and the Secretary of State for the Colonies; and by the kindness of the Governments and Authorities throughout the Empire, the success achieved was very great, and the result most impressive and invigorating.

I have consulted the Prime Minister and Bonar Law as to whether these meetings should be repeated on the coming 4th of August. They are both very strongly of opinion that this should be done, and see no reason why the words of the Resolution should be altered. May I therefore ask for your goodwill and active co-operation in the furtherance of this undertaking? As the long and unflinching endurance of the Empire is more and more severely tested, a visible demonstration of its changeless resolution victoriously to achieve our high and solemn purpose, will be of equal power and value in the faith and purpose of our own fellow-citizens and in the eyes of hostile and neutral countries."

The Resolution which was moved at the meetings throughout the Empire on August 4, 1915, and which it is proposed to have adopted at meetings on the 4th of August next, and which meets with the approval of both the Prime Minister and Colonial Secretary, reads as follows:

"That, on this the second anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting of the citizens of Hartland records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in maintenance of those ideals of Liberty and Justice which are the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

It will be necessary for each community to make such arrangements for the celebration of the day as they think most fitting. His Honour expresses the hope that the City and County officials, as well as many other prominent men, will take an active part in endeavouring to make this a success, and especially that the leaders of the different religious bodies throughout the Province will hold such religious services as they consider most fitting for impressing on the public the useful and solemn lessons of this terrible war.

J. BACON DICKSON,
Private Secretary.

Carlie News

The rainy weather continues, but judging by the appearance of the crops throughout the country all is well. However, we hope fine weather will greet haying time, that the abundant crop may be secured in good order. Owing to there having been no frost wild strawberries are plentiful, while report says that the blueberry crop is going to be exceptionally good this year, which always means that large crowds from all over the country will flock to Cloverdale during blueberry time.

Reports have been afloat from time to time that certain parties here have purchased new autos, but each in turn have proven false. Until the farmers have aided "all" of the traders in town to buy their autos there will not be many farmers driving cars. Every holiday brings cars full of sports from town, to catch and fish from our stream and enjoy themselves generally, while every old farmer looks up from his hard labor in the field as the cars pass and tries to remember what special day it is. He never thinks of taking a holiday, nor will he until Tommy at the front and the fam- ily at home are supplied with bread, and then he will be so old he won't know how.

Supreme Court Judgments

The Supreme Court at Fredericton on Friday last dismissed the appeal of John D. McLaughlin against a judgment which was rendered by Judge McKeown in a case tried before him without a jury at Andover, in which McLaughlin was the plaintiff and Earlin M. Tompkins was defendant. It was an action of replevin brought by McLaughlin by which he took possession of certain logs being cut on a lot on the Blue Bell tract for Donald Fraser & Sons. McLaughlin had a quitclaim deed of the lot from Tompkins who had applied for it to the Crown but has not got his grant. It was claimed by the plaintiff that Tompkins, under a contract that they had for cutting 100 m. of lumber off this lot for the plaintiff, had no right to cut any lumber for any other party. Judge McKeown decided that he had and that the plaintiff should fail in his action and should pay to the defendant the value of the logs replevied and also $182.00 damages. The Supreme Court sustained this finding. C. H. Elliott and T. J. Carter, K. C., for the plaintiff, Alex. Stratton and W. P. Jones, K. C., for the defendant.

In the case of McCain Produce Co against A. C. Lund the decision of Judge Carleton was sustained and the appeal dismissed. This was a case where the defendant had given to A. A. Rideout a promissory note payable to McCain Produce Co. for Rideout's accommodation and Rideout got value for it from the plaintiff company. It was contended for the defendant that he was not liable because no consideration passed directly from the plaintiff to him. Judge Carleton decided that he was liable and was sustained by the Supreme Court. This case was important because there were a number of others where a similar defence is set up and this was a test case. Jones & Jones for the plaintiff. M. L. Hayward for defendant.

Tired and Discouraged

Mrs. Warren Randles, Rotherham, Kings County, N. B., writes, "I have three small children and had to stay in the house all winter. So when spring came I was all run down doing all my work and looking after the children. I felt all tired out, and looked on the gloomy side all the time. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and the results were most satisfactory. I feel fine now, and am recommending the Nerve Food to others."

Eighty-five thousand satisfied owners against unproved claims and rosy promises.

You judge a man by what he's done—not by what he says he intends to do. Judge a motor car the same way.

Eighty-five thousand and more Canadian built Fords have "made good" in actual service. Since 1904 this sturdy, economical car has stood the test—not only in Canada, but throughout the British possessions.

Every passing year has seen Canadian Ford sales mount by thousands of cars—because, under almost every conceivable condition, the car has proved itself a splendid all-around utility.

It has sold on its record for dependable and economical performance—not on the rosy promises of its makers.

The man who selects a Ford is backed in his judgment by more than eighty-five thousand satisfied motorists in the Empire.

Aroostook Ratepayers Hold Indignation Meeting

An indignation meeting was held in the Union Hall, Aroostook Junction, on the 28th. at 7 p. m., by the ratepayers.

The meeting was called to order, and Mr. R. W. Demmings appointed chairman, C. S. Gains acting as secretary. The chairman explained that the object of the meeting was to discuss the lowering of the valuation of the Maine and New Brunswick Power Co by the county board of valuers, and the consensus of opinion was that the reduction of valuation by about 33 per cent, was illegal.

The meeting decided to obtain the services of a legal adviser to see what steps should be taken in the matter, as it is understood generally that the present valuation is not more than 10 per cent. of the market value of the power plant at Aroostook Falls.
