COUNTING THE COST.

LONDON, April 10.-In an editorial this morning on the subject of Great Britain securing the payment by Nicaragua of the demanded indemnity of $75,000 by collecting the customs duties of that country, the Times says: "If we are compelled to collect the customs, Nicaragua will presumably have to pay the cost of collection in addition to the indemnity. She will find it cheaper and less troublesome to settle with us forthwith. Her efforts to excite America's jealousy have failed. LONDON, April 10.—The Standard's Berlin correspondent says: I learn from a Chinese source that there is reason to doubt the present optimistic expecta-tions of peace. Japan has not abated her excessive demands, especially as to the cession of part of Manchuria, to which China will on no account assent.

The Central News correspondent in Shimonoseki says there was a two-hour conference between the Chinese and Japanese negotiators. Li Hung Chang was present with all the other mem-bers of the Chinese mission. Of the Japanese negotiators only M. Matsu, Minister of Foreign Affairs, was present. He has the influenza.

THE ARMENIAN INQUIRY.

The Stories of Turkish Atrocities Pronounced to be Gross Exaggerations.

LONDON, April 10.-A special from St. Petersburg says it is learned from a well-informed Ottoman source that the international inquiry at Sassoun will probably be concluded in six weeks. The Turkish Government persists in regarding the statements of alleged massacres as greatly exaggerated by English and Armenian political agencles. Nevertheless, it is fully disposed to grant everything in the way of legitimate guarantees against the recurrence of such outrages, and to punish any Turks who shall have be proven guilty. The Turkish Government is persuaded that the Armenian question can be peacefully settled. Russia will maintain the impartial attitude which she had hitherto adopted. She is resolved to help in bringing to light the facts, but she will keep aloof from complications.

MANCHESTER, April 10.-The Guardian says that a number of Conservative members of the House of Commons met in London on Monday to hear a statement from Senor Ximenez, the Spanish traveler, who has recently been making a tour of Armenia. Senor Ximenez denied the existence in Armenia of anything like the widespread outrages which are reported to have taken place. All of the Turkish soldiers engaged in suppression of the revolt were regulars. They massacred men where they met them in armed resistance, but did not at any time attack women and child-ren. The total number of Armenian Christians killed, he said, was less than Commoner Kerrell, who has just returned from Constantinople, was present. He denounced the stories of atrocities in Armenia as unfounded, and accused the Turkish agent of a prominent London daily of having acted in bad faith in having sent the reports to his paper.

A WAITING GAME.

Li Chang Will Take the Limit Before Conceding Jap Demands

A Washington dispatch says: The Japan-China armistice closes in ten days, so that it is anticipated by officials and diplomats that the final terms of peace must be near at hand. It is stated, however, by a diplomat of ex-perience with the Chinese and Coreans that it is characteristic of them not to meet an emergency until the last day. It would not be surprising to officials if Li Hung Chang pursued this policy, taking the full ten days before yielding to all of Japan's demands.

It is agreed on all hands, including Japanese and Chinese officials, that the independence of Corea will be one of the terms of peace. This brings out the curious fact that the United States is the only power which has heretofore recognized Corea's independence, and has received a diplomatic delegation from that country.

CHARGED WITH ARSON.

Suspicious Circumstances That Led to the Arrest of Isaac Schaffer.

TORONTO, April 10.—Isaac Schaffer was arrested today on a charge of arson. Schaffer, it is claimed, is the man who set fire to No. 26 and No. 28 Front street west on the Wednesday after the Simpson fire. On that occasion a mysterious fire was discovered in the building partly occupied by Rittenberg & Schaffer, by some of the other ten-ants who returned after 7 o'clock.

It transpired that the Rittenberg people were the last people in the building. The fire was clearly incendiary, and occurred at the foot of the staircase leading up to the premises occupied by Schaffer & Rittenberg.

The next suspicious circumstace was the discovery that the suspected people were carrying $5,000 insurance on about $1,200 worth of stock. Then came the sudden departure of Saml. Schaffer and Moses Rittenberg for parts unknown, and the knowledge of the fact that they had sold their stock and left with the proceeds.

The arrest was made today, because the police believed Schaffer was about to leave the city.

THE WESTON MILLS FAILURE. TORONTO, April 10.—The financial statement of the Weston woolen mills concern shows nominal assets of $332,-2000, including $210,000 in real estate and plant, and liabilities $87,000 less. The mills are closed up and the concern will no doubt, be wound up. The Canada Permanent and Union Bank are the heaviest creditors, the claim of the bank amounting to $101,000.

HIGH COURT AT CHATHAM. CHATHAM, April 10.-The High Court of Jistice opened yesterday, Mr. Justice Street presiding. The case of Mount vs. Emery was first tried without a jury. The case hinged on a question of fac. The plaintiff, Mrs. Mount, alleged that she had lent her daughter a sum of noney—$2,000—and sued to recover the same. The defendant, Mrs. Emery, aleged that the money was given her-$1,000 as a gift to herself, and $1,000 to bld in trust for her sister. The grand juy returned a true bill against J. E. Povell, a Blenheim merchant, for incendiarsm.

The Canadian inland revenue which accrued during March, amounting to $591,024, shows a very considerable decrease as compared with the corresponding month last year. A Sault Ste. Marie dispatch says indications point to an earlier opening of navigation than was anticipated, and it looks as if a boat may get through by the 25th or the 27th of April. At Newcastle the funerals of the late Canon Brent and Asa E. Wallbridge, the young man who met his death on the 18th from gas inhalation while in Toronto, were largely attended on Wednesday. The annual entire horse show at Guelph was held on the market square Wednesday afternoon. It was well attended, some classes being very largely represented. A few of the winners are booked for the Toronto horse shw.

The case tried at Hamilton of Taylor vs. the Oddfellows' Benevolent Assoclation, a suit for $500 on account of permanent injuries sustained by plaintiff, the jury at the assize court returned a verdict on Wednesday for plaintiff for $514 and costs.

THE UNIVERSITY TROUBLE.

Editor Tucker Appears Before the Commission.

TORONTO, April 10.-The committee appointed by the Local Government to inquire into the University trouble resumed this morning, and Mr. J. A. Tucker, the editor of "'Varsity," who was suspended from the institution for refusing to apologise for articles appearing in that paper reflecting upon the University council, was placed in ned, his case being first proceeded with.

In the cross-examination of this witless, Mr. S. H. Blake, counsel for the University authorities, sought to prove by statements of Mr. Tucker that his conduct as editor of "'Varsity" had been responsible for the whole trouble, and that his change of tone from one f admiration of the faculty to one of disbelief in its efficiency, was not consistent with honest consideration of intesesting papers were read.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 10.-Cremation services have been officially declared by Masonic authority not to be Christian burial. The question arose over the making of arrangements for the funeral of the late Charles H. H. Reisser, a restaurant keeper. It had always been Mr. Reisser's wish to be cremated, and his family decided to follow his wishes. Mr. Reisser was also a Mason, and the question was at once raised whether under Masonic law this would be a Christian burial. The matter was referred to the grand maser of Pennsylvania, who is Judge Arnold, and he promptly rendered a decision that services at a cremation were not Christian burial under Masonic law. The family, therefore, decided to abandon their original intention. The funeral took place today, and the Masonic organization attended in a body and performed Masonic rfites. The body was then plaed in a vault for

The war or revolutionary movement, he said, was growing rapidly, and is undoubted-ly extending over the whole island, and the Spanish recognized the fact only Mr. Neill declared that the reporters of the Havana papers sent twice a day to the Governor-General's palace, where the war news was detailed to them after having been edited by the Governor-General. The Scrap Bag.

I was looking at a copy of "Vogue" the other day, with all the grand New York dames therein depicted in their evening gowns, cut straight across, to show the shoulders, huge gigot sleeves, and full skirts. It struck me that the feminine world is looking now as it must have appeared to Thackeray when he strolled across the stage of life, actor and critic in one. I was moved to get out "Vanity Fair" and examine the quaint wood cuts, designed by the I had always thought them mighty queer, until within the last year or so, but was now pleased to find that Becky Sharp, tete-a-tete with Jos. Sed ley, whom she is instructing in the art of skein-winding, and entangling at the same time, is quite a la mode; while Miss Swartz, the rich woolly-haired mulatto from St. Kitts, in a picture representing her in the drawing-room cf the Osbornes, has quite a fashionable appearance, though her skirts are somewhat more like a balloon than ours at present. However, next year will find us enormously increased in width, I've no doubt.

Superstition is a defect of the intellect, a relic of heathenism in our blood, which we should be at as much pains to eliminate as we would a penchant for bull fights. I admire the Count de Lesseps' firmness of mind as shown in the following: The late Count de Lesseps never seemed to lose sight of the education of his children, even in the smallest detail. NEW YORK, April 11.—The impression is general that a marriage is to take place in the not far distant future between Mrs. Samuel J. Colgate and Count Adelbert Von Sierstorpff. ORIGIN OF EASTER.

Disputes Which Arose in the Early History of the Church.

The observance of Easter is connected with the history of Christianity itself. And while there has never been any difference of opinion among Christians as to the general observation of the festival, in the early church the Asiaties kept the feast on the day of the Jewish Passover, while the Western Christians observed it on the first Sunday after the Passover.

Hence arose a great dispute in the second century, and Victor, the Bishop of Rome, excommunicated those churches which did not keep it on the Sunday. The controversy was brought before the council of Nice, in the year A. D. 325, and it was decreed that Easter Day should be kept on the Sunday following the Jewish Feast of the Passover, which Passover is kept on the fourteenth day of the Jewish month Nisan. At the same time, to prevent all uncertainty, it was made a rule of the church that the full moon next to the vernal or spring equinox, should be taken for the full moon in the month Nisan, and the 21st of March be accounted the vernal equinox. Consequently, Easter Day is always the Sunday following the full moon which falls on, or is next after, the 21st day of March.

The day is still known as Pascha in the Eastern church, as well as in the various churches in Europe, the English title of Easter being probably derived from the old Saxon word "Oster," spring. Some scholars have suggested that it had its origin in the word Eastre, the name given to the Anglo-Saxon goddess of the dawn. For the church took the pagan philosophy and made it the buckler of faith against the heathen. She took the pagan Sunday and made it the Christian Sunday. And she took the pagan Eastre and made it the Christian Easter .-[Buffalo Inquirer.

City Will Close Down

As Soon as the Work in Hand Is Com-

Heads of Departments Go to Brantford and Toronto.

With About 40 Men-The Rest (About 149) Will Be Thrown Out of Employment.

A thunderbolt from a clear sky could not have caused as much surprise and consternation as the announcement which gained currency in East London last evening that the Grand Trunk shops situated in that feiters do not counterfeit bills of some portion of the city would close down short.

ly. The 180 workmen was usually home merrily enough, even when working ing powers.

In various sections of Canada, the land initiating fraternity knowly. The 180 workmen who usually troop serious faces, discussing the situation and the order tacked up on the stop bulletin so that even he who ran might read. It was the greater number would be thrown out of ments all received orders to report at other shops in the Grand Trunk system, this made matters look even gloomier, giving as it did an air of finality to the order.

The news spread—as ill news can—at a rapid rate. Shopkeepers were informed of it by the men as they dropped in for their evening papers on their way home. As all are more or less dependent on the trade of the car shops employes, it was bad news for the Compound.

These hints a of all were the wives and families of the men.

THE ORDER IN DETAIL.

An "Advertiser" reporter called at the residence of Capt. Kerr, the superintend. ent, last night, but Mr. Kerr, preserving the even tenor of his way, had gone to prayer meeting. However, from unqu. tionable authority it was ascertained that the shops would close down as soon as the work now in hand is completed. No new work will be attempted, and it is thought that it will take until June I to close out. About 40 of the present staff will receive employment at Brantford and Teronto. The men who will go to Toronto will be painters and carpenters, while machine hands and blacksmiths will go to Brantford. Forty out of

THE TRANSFERS. Capt. Kerr, the superintendent here. came from Brantford a few years ago and occupied a large house at the corner of English street and Queen's avenue. He will go back to Brantford and assume charge there. Mr. Walsh, the Brantford superintendent, will be moved to Toronto. Wm. Lewis, foreman painter, 701 Queen's evenue, goes to Toronto.

Jeremiah Loughlin, foreman carpenter, 936 Dundas street, goes to Montreal. McClure, foreman cabinetmaker, 639 Lorne avenue, goes to Brant-

John Phillips, foreman machinist, 504 Quebec street, goes to Brantford. Charles McWood, chief clerk, 711 Queen's venue, goes to Brantford. Henry W. Freeland, assistant clerk and timekeeper, goes to Toronto.

IT WAS EXPECTED. The order followed the arrival in the city yesterday of Mr. MacWood, car superintendent, Montreal. The reason given for the change in railroad circles is the Grand Trunk's desire to reduce expenses. While to the "rank and file" the order was a surprise indeed, to Superintendent Kerr it was not. The matter has, it appears, been under discussion for some time, and Mechanical Superintendent Wallace, of Montreal, was up here a few weeks ago, in regard to the proposed change.

This order does not include in its scope the men employed in the light repair shop down town under Mr. Treleaven. This department does only superficial repairing and light work and will be undisturbed. About 35 men are employed in this shop.

A BIT OF HISTORY. It is over twenty years now since the car shops were established here, the majority of the men coming from Hamilton, which city shed many bitter tears over her loss. At times as many as 500 men have been employed here, but about ten years ago the fire occurred that marked the beginning of the decadence of the shops in London. The burned-out shops were never rebuilt, although overtures were made by the city, even to the extent of offering a bonus of $100,000, which the citizens voted for a year or so ago. Still the shops were not rebuilt, and gangs of men continued to move away until the order of yesterday came. Rival towns clamored for the prize, but failed to get it, and now in view of the reduction-ofexpenses wave which is sweeping over the system it is not likely that any of them will.

Heartrending Details by a Special Correspondent.

Christians Roasted Alive by the Turks and Kurds.

The London Daily News says: We publish today a deeply moving letter from our special correspondent among the Armenians. It completes the damning evidence of Turkish guilt in the recent massacres, and this by the confessions of a Turkish soldier whose statement our correspondent has taken down from his own lips in the presence of witnesses. It is circumstantial; it gives dates and times and places; and it constitutes the most awful revelation of flendish wickedness to be found even in the annals of the Ottoman race. The preliminaries of the massacres in the neighborhood of Moush, though they are full of horrors, seem insignificant beside the account of the closing scene of the butchery. For days and weeks the Turks slowly worked their way through the doomed villages, sending in the Kurds to do the rough work of murder, and themselves only cutting off the fugitives as they tried to escape. The soldier admits that they roasted the wretched inhabitants death by setting fire to the woods in which they had taken refuge. He admits that they spared neither sex nor age as the fugitives came in their way, and that women and little children fell in one impartial massacre as they were met on the roads. Yet all this, awful as it is, was but a bloody prelude to the closing scene, the "Massacre of the Pit of Ghelie Guzan." Hemmed in on all sides some hundreds of Armeniansmen, women and children-at length came in to surrender, with their priest at their head. The priest was the first victim. The Turkish colonel charged him with having blinded the people and ordered that he should himself be blinded in his tuln. His eyes were immediately prised out with a seldier's knife, and his torments were brought to an end with the bayonet.

The refugees remained, and the Turkish commander took thought for them. He fed them, as they thought in mercy, and while he fed them, he ordered his men to dig two big trenches which were to form their grave. When the trenches were ready the soldiers were told off into butchering parties, and at nightfall for a whole week or ten days, one party or another was marched off to the trench. As they reached the rendezvous they found batches of the poor people waiting for them, and they then and there murdered every single soul with the bayonet. This, as we have said, went on day by day, until nearly every fugitive who had entered the valley in the hope of quarter was slain. The remnant were saved by the arrival of the Pasha from Moush, who thought it time that the slaughter should cease. This is the great Massacre of the Pit, the account of which has been confirmed from two independent sources, a contemporary's and our own. Our correspondent's confirmation is most complete. His knowledge of Turkish has enabled him to take the testimony of a Turkish soldier engaged in the butcheries whose remorse testifies to the extraordinary nature of this deed of horror. It is evident that in this narrative we are in the presence of a deeply meditated and ruthlessly executed crime, which rivals even the horrors in Bulgaria nineteen years ago. There has been nothing like it, to our knowledge, in modern history. The unanimity of Europe in its demands for the punishment of the murderers, and for the means of preventing all possibility of a repetition of their crime, must be of the same unexampled nature. The ordinary calculations of diplomacy can have no place in the deliberations of the Powers in this crisis of the fate of the Armenian nation. MAY MARRIES A CHINAMAN. WILLIAM BARRY MONDAY NIGHT. A large audience will undoubtedly attend the performance of Billy Barry in his great success "The Rising Generation" at the Grand on Monday night from the fact that theater goers here can depend on him to furnish something pretty good in the way of entertainment. His play has an established reputation as "a good thing, well pushed along." Telling as it does, the story of the rise in life of an Irish laboring man, it strikes a popular chord on its first appearance-and the impression is lasting. Mr. Barry is one of the most capable delineators of what might be called refined Irish eccentric comedy on the stage today, and in "the Rising Generation" he has the assistance of a well balanced company to bring out all there is in the piece. There are a number of specialties introduced, and as they are all well rendered they generally prove one of the features of the per-

ROSE COGHLAN FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

The Coghlan company may truly be described as polyglot, since Mr. Chas. Coghlan speaks and writes French; Mr. John T. Sullivan speaks German, French and Spanish, to say nothing of his native Irish; Miss Coghlan speaks French fluently, as does also Miss Lynne, and Mr. Courtenay Thorpe is well known as one of the most accomplished linguists on the English stage. The bill at the Opera House on Saturday night will be devoted to the comedy drama "The Modern Duchess," in which Miss Coghlan will be seen as the wife of a younger son of a duke. She is a woman with a past record, and at one time in her career was a burlesque actress. There are many strong situations in the play as well as many that contribute to the amusement of the audience. One scene is especially amusing and it is in the second act. Here the neroine meets some of her former acquaintances, and they make right merry, sing songs and dance and have altogether a jolly good time. There are many good parts in this play which are capitally acted by Miss Coghlan and her company.

"IN OLD KENTUCKY." The realistic comedy-drama, "In Old Kentucky," was produced last night before a splendid house, and the performance merited the patronage. It is realistically descriptive of life in Kentucky, and is embellished by appropriate scenery, a horse race and some novel mechanical effects. The staging is very good indeed. "In Old Kentucky" good indeed. abounds in rollicking humor, and though it smacks of the stables and introduces live equines in a race, there is no "horse play" about it. It has touches of true romance and the moral flavor is palatable. The company is an excellent one. The famous Pickaninny Band made a hit, and the whole piece gave the greatest satisfaction.

SHUTTING DOWN THE G. T. R. SHOPS.

The contemplated closing down of the Grand Trunk car shops in London, foreshadowed in our news columns today, is an event which will cause general regret in the city. There are no better mechanics in their respective lines, or more respected citizens, than the employes of the car shops, and in their present trouble they will have widespread sympathy.

For a long time past the Grand Trunk Railway, in common with other lines in the Dominion, has felt the depression in trade which has prevailed throughout the country, aggravated as it has been by the collection of taxes amounting to several hundred thousands of dollars a year on its coal and raw material. The first fruit of these hard times was the establishment of short time in the shops and in other parts of the company's system at various points. And now we have the announcement that the condition of business in the country is such that the shops in this city must be shut down for an indefinite period.

It is to be hoped that a change in the condition of trade will soon be effected, and that the depressed condition of affairs may speedily be replaced by such prosperity as will warrant the company in once more reopening the car shops here. Indeed, Londoners will gladly welcome the day when the G. T. R. Company will see it to be to its advantage to concentrate its car shops at this most central point in its system, as provided for in the bonus bylaw passed by the citizens some time ago. We are certain that General Manager Seargeant and his assistants at headquarters would be only too glad if the business of the railway warranted the running of the shops here, with an increased number of hands, instead of requiring a prolonged shut-down. But the company, like the workmen and the general public, must take things as they come until a change for the better is brought about.

"THE LAND OF THE MORNING."* At a time when the eyes of the civilized world are cast on Japan, and when the record of the nation in its combat with a country ten times its size in territory and population is the wender of could be nothing than the charm-"Japan, the Land of the Morning," which comes to us from the pen of Rev. John W. Saunby, B.A., formerly of London West. Mr. Saunby does not write as some authors have done, after a hurried visit to the Orient, and a Cook's tourist guide book knowledge of the people and their unique surroundings. As a missionary of the Methodist Church of Canada, he spent a number of years in Japan, and being a keen observer, he has gathered together material which has proved most valuable in his entrancing penpictures. He describes the four islands of "The Hokkaido" (north country), Hondo (the mainland, where Japanese

(the Four Provinces), and Kiushiu (Nine Provinces). These four famous islands of this Sunrise Land, he tells us, are the cradle of a people as ancient as the Britons, the home of a civilization which had reached its noonday when Columbus sailed westward to reach the far east, and the theater of a political panorama intensely fascinating in its utter uniqueness, and all the more so because of being so long veiled in obscurity from the eye of the great western world." The author comments on the scenic attractiveness of Japan - mountains clad with the greenest of verdure and variegated wild flowers are in sight everywhere, and waterfalls and dashing rivers come dancing down their hillsides to the sea. But there is a dark side to the scene, and that is the knowedge that the whole of the islands are of volcanic origin, and that in their bosoms the internal fires are by no means extinct, nor can scarcely be said to be slumbering. Here is Mr. Saunby's picture of them:

"Hardly a day passes but that in some sart of the empire earthquake hocks terrify the inhabitants, shocks terrify the inhabitants, not so much by what actually occurs as with the thought of what may possibly befall them the very next instant. In hundreds of localities hot springs gush forth incessantly, and here and there the active volcano sends up its black cloud of incense to the sky. Death-dealing earthquakes and volcanic eruptions are still frequent enough to make a deep sense of security in the stability of the earth beneath our feet an utter impossibility."

The climate of Japan is varied, being largely influenced by the Gulf Stream of the Pacific and the monsoon. Of the odd effects of the monsoon, when it blows from the northwest (from the steppes of Siberia), turning the heavy rains into snow, the author gives this description:

"Many of the towns in the prefecture (province) of Niigata, where these heavy snowfalls are of yearly occurrence, present a very peculiar appearance. Over the sidewalks of all the streets is built one long-continued veranda, which is only broken at some of the principal street corners. The use of this veranda is not at all evident, except one visits the town in the winter time, when it becomes quite evident. The snow, completely saturated with moisture, falls so quickly and in such quantities as to endanger the roof of every house in the town. Then the people turn out and shovel it off into the streets below, there being no place else to put it. The streets are so narrow that they soon become filled right up, even level with the very roofs themselves. The veranda then becomes the only thoroughfare through which the people pass from house to house, and from street to street. And when they come to the intersections of streets they simply tunnel through until they strike the veranda on the other side. Of course, at such times, almost every occupation ceases except that of shovelling snow, and the people crouch around the little fire boxes in their cheerless rooms, waiting for the brighter days of the coming spring time."

This occurs in a latitude farther south than the city of New York, while on the eastern slopes of the same island scarcely a flake of snow is seen during the whole season. "The mountains here stopped the clouds and robbed them of their moisture, and now the same wind, clear and cold, sweeps down over those eastern plains, chilling the very marrow in one's bones."

Mr. Saunby gives a very brilliant account of his visit to the great volcanoes of Japan and of the Japanese social life. In the rural districts the population all live in villages, and every available foot of land is brought into cultivation, and where water is scarce, carefully irrigated. Here is a country

"No lonely country roads are these, where only a single man or two at the most may be met every half-mile. Here all day long the people form an almost unbroken procession, so that we have a good opportunity of studying humanity. Of course, the farmer is on the road as well as in the field. Seldom have we seen one with both a horse and wagon. If he has a horse, he does not ride it. He puts a load on the horse's backas much as it can carry—and then a load on his own back proportionately as heavy as the horse has, and, companions in toil, together they trudge along to market. If he has only a wagon he loads it up, hitches up his wife on one side and himself on the other, while the children push behind, and so the merchandise is taken to market. Nor s this an unusual sight. Every day along the great highways, scores and scores of these freight-laden, man-propelled carts follow each other in a snail-like procession." Myth and tradition, upon which the history of this remarkable people is largely built, are attractively set forth by the author. Ancestor worship, leading up to a most stringent obedience to the fifth commandment, and to looking upon the Emperor as the father of the whole people, is almost universal, and to this honoring of parents Mr. Saunby traces the fulfillment of the fifth commandment promise in the history of this people. Says the author: "For twenty-three centuries the Empire of Japan has stood and never once toe, and during those twenty-three centuries only one dynasty, consisting of one hundred and twenty-three emperors, has sat upon the throne. If we mistake not, history furnishes no parallel to this in the case of any other nation in the world."

A remarkable feature in the history of Japan, Mr. Saunby points cut, is the fact that neither through their original religion of Shintoism, nor from any other cause, have the people shown the least faculty for originating a high type of civilization among themselves. Inventive genius is almost entirely lacking among the Japanese, but they display the faculty of imitation and the power of assimilating to a remarkable degree. The evolution of the people is thus set forth in this work "Japan, therefore, owes her present advance of civilization to three great waves of influence, and strange as it may seem, each of these has come from The first of a different continent. these, the story of which we are now telling, came from Asia, and poured in through the gateway of Corea. second came from Europe in the sixteenth, and the third from America in the nineteenth century. If we should also say that one of three great religions has accompanied and reinforced each of these great reformations, we would not be far astray. Buddhism came with the first, Roman Catholicism with the second, and Protestant Christianity with the third. The first second long have water mark and spent their force, and can now be studied and justly estimated in the light of history. The third is now gathering force and impetus, and is sweeping over the land. But the end is not yet. If we may infer anything from the signs of the times, it bids fair to equal and even exceed, in its tremendous results, both of its

On the development of Buddhlism and the promulgation of the Christian faith by the Jesuit apostle the author enlarges. He also details the work of the Dutch traders, who, to aid in getting a monopoly of Japan's trade, lied about the object of the Christians, and caused terrible persecution to be extended to those who professed the Christian faith. A chapter is also given to the "Daybreak," the arrival of the United States authorities in 1852, the opening of Japanese ports to trade by the influence of our neighbors, and the subsequent remarkable development of the nation. The closing chapter gives an interesting account of the rise and progress of modern Christian missions in Japan, and particularly those conducted by the Methodist Church of Canada. From start to finish of this handsome volume of 302 pages, there is not a dull chapter. It will be much sought after by those wishing to know all about Japan as it has been and as it is at the present day.

-The first number of the Lindsay Daily Post is to hand. It is a live resume of the news up to the hour of going to press in the afternoon. The Lindsay Post has always been a good newspaper since it was established by Mr. Chas. D. Barr, and his successors (the Messrs. Wilson) are bound to keep up the record. Their enterprise deserves ample recognition by the business men of Lindsay.

THE NEW BRITISH SPEAKER. But for the opposition of Mr. Chamberlain and his friends, Mr. Leonard Courtney, who has had much experience as chairman of committee, would have been elected Speaker for the Imperial House of Commons yesterday in succession to Hon. Mr. Peel, retired from ill-health.

Mr. Courtney's experience was such as to fit him for the position, and the fact that he was a Liberal dissident should have commended him to Mr. Chamberlain and his Conservative allies. But it was found that Mr. Courtney was personally objectionable to the member for Birmingham, and the candidature of Sir Matthew White Ridley, a Conservative, was advanced.

Then the Liberal leaders resolved to Mr. William Court Gully, Q.C., M.P. for Carlisle, was selected. He was elected by a small majority, much to the chagrin of the Birmingham dictator.

The new Speaker is a native of London, having been born there in 1835. He was called to the bar in 1860 and became Q. C. in 1877. Nine years ago he was elected M. P. for Carlisle, and in 1892 he was re-elected. He is a strong Liberal. It is now many years since a Conservative sat in the Speaker's

REDUCTION OF TOLLS.

The Ontario Legislature has reduced the rate of tolls on toll roads considerably this session. The change does not affect London very much, as we have only one toll road in Middlesex county -the Proof Line-but the decrease will be of material benefit to people in many other parts of the Province, where they are so benighted as to continue the expensive, unsatisfactory, medieval system in its entirety.

We observe from the Toronto press that a delegation called upon the Ontario Government on Tuesday for the purpose of protesting against the reduction of the tolls. Among others who protested "City Solicitor Meredith" of London is named. Mr. Meredith must have protested in his private capacity, for he could have no mandate from the City Council to protest against toll reduction. Nine hundred and ninety-nine citizens of London and residents of Middlesex county in every one thousand are doubtless in favor not only of toll reduction but of toll gate abolition. One good effect of the new measure will probably be the early arrangement of a bargain between the authorities of the county and the Proof Line road owners whereby toll gates may be abolished.

MERE CHANGE OF OCCUPATION NO REMEDY.

Mr. Meacham and Dr. Ryerson, two members of the Conservative Opposition in the Ontario Legislature, sugbe got over by providing should not be prisoners employed at broom making, but at printing. This, they would remove their "competition with free labor." The argument is worthless. No matter what prisoners are employed at they compete with free labor. Surely printing is just as "free" as the making of brooms. If prisoners are not to be kept in utter idleness, they must be employed at something that will enable them to pay back to the taxpayers of the country, at whose expense they are kept, at least a portion of the money so expended. The difficulty of their competition with those employed outside cannot be satisfactorily adjusted by suggesting that their present occupation of broom makers should be dropped, and that of printing-a craft already hard beset by difficulties-taken

UNITED CHOIR CONCERT

Fully 2,000 Persons to Participate-The Proposed Programme.

Will Probably be Held in London on

London will probably be favored with a monster musical event on July 10. On that date it is proposed to hold a concert by the united choirs of Western Ontario, such as has been held in Sarnia in the past two years. Mr. C. A. Winters, a well-known musician of Waterloo, Ont., has already started to push the scheme, and as he was in the city for a few days, asked the members of the City Council to meet him in the City Hall last night and talk the matter over. Unfortunately No. 3 committee met, and several of the aldermen not on that committee were engaged in other business which prevented them attending. Ald. McCallum, Carrothers, Callahan, Brener, Wm. Heaman, Armstrong and J. W. Jones were present. Mr. Winters was accompanied by Principal Kirk, of the Hamilton road school, and Mr. Roselle Pococke, instructor of the Choral Society. Ald. Carrothers was chosen chairman.
Mr. Winters, in addressing the aldermen on the project, stated that the first attempt to hold a united choir concert was made three years ago. The concert was held in Goderich, and was fairly successful. The following year Sarnia was chosen, and about 1,200 singers participated. The event drew 3,500 people to the town. Sarnia had it last year again, but there were 1,500 in the concert, and 5,000 people attended from points throughout Western Ontario. London had been selected by vote for this year in preference to Sarnia, Galt and Goderich. The expenses of last year's concert were $1,400, and Mr. Winters thought this was too great a risk for any person to bear. Sarnia had given a guarantee of $250 last year to insure against loss in case of unfavorable weather, and also furnished the use of the rink and driving park free of charge. July 10 falls on Wednesday, and Mr. Winters stated that it was proposed to hold a concert on the previous evening in the main building at the fair grounds. On Wednesday from 1:30 to 3 o'clock, the choirs, which will be about 2,000 strong, will render a number of hymns and anthems, and selections will be given by the Waterloo Band. In the main building during the balance of the afternoon the competition between mixed choruses takes place. The class A choruses will number from 40 to 60 voices; class B, 20 to 30 voices, and male choruses, 20 to 30 voices. The judges will be chosen by a disinterested person, and in the competitions the choirs will go by numbers, to prevent any partiality being shown. The decisions are to be handed to the mayor and announced at the evening's cencert. Mr. Winters also expects to arrange an excursion to Port Stanley on the following day. He concluded by asking a guarantee for the sale of 2,000 tickets at 25 cents each.

The proposition was thoroughly discussed, and the aldermen were unanimous that 2,000 tickets could be sold without any trouble. The choirs would also be granted the use halls, booths and other buildings, and Ald. Carrothers was sure the W. C. T. U. would have no objection to granting the use of their hall for the convenience of the visitors. The evening's conference resulted in Ald. Armstrong, Mr. Kirk and Mr. Pococke being appointed a committee to do what they can in promoting the affair. The City Council may be approached on the matter in Monday next.

TRAP AND TRIGGER.

SHOOTING AT LIVE PIGEONS. The only event at the London Gun Club tournament yesterday afternoon was the live pigeon shoot. This was the first shoot of the kind on the programme, and it naturall created keener interest among the sports and spectators, too. Two hundred and forty dollars in cash was guaranteed, and there were 24 marksmen anxious to get a share of it. Charles Damon was one of them. If not personally acquainted with him, nearly every person has read of Damon. Damon is better known as "Left-Handed Charley," who for several years gave exhibitions of shooting at the Western Fair. He is now engaged as a traveler for the Burgess Gun Company, of Buffalo. N. Y. He reached town during the day and went to the tournament. Damon, however, can't shoot pigeons as well as dimes, nickels, etc., and was beaten in the match by Parker, of Detroit (who used a Winchester repeating shot gun), although he received the same money. Six prizes were offered. Three of $50 each and three of $30 each. Parker, with nine birds out of a possible ten, took first money; Damon, with eight, second. Third money was equally divided between Scane, Charles (C. S. Hyman), Graham and Wolfe, who secured seven each; fourth money was divided between Cantelon, Rapley, Bates, Red- 25 cents per barrel in the last week. Mack and Winfield, with five each; and Tyro, R. son, Berghoefer and Evans, with four

The shoot was conducted in a very systematic way. The cages in which the pigeons were placed and from which they were released by the pulling of a rope, were set about 30 feet from the marksmen's stand. The competitors were divided into squads, and in rotation were called out. They were on each appearance allowed two birds and two shots at each, and if the pigeon dropped within a certain district marked out, one was tallied to the score. If, however, the pigeon was only wounded, flew out of the district and dropped, the shot was lost. Considerable trouble experienced at times with the birds. Instead of flying when released from the cage, they would start to feed, but once frightened into flight they were in great danger of their lives. Several men prowled in the vicinity of the grounds all afternoon and took chances at the birds which safely escaped from

The following are the scores, the figure 1 showing when the bird was brought down on the first shot, 2 on the second, and the cipher designating the lest shots:

The Price Still Going Up The Contagion Reaches Glasgow.

PITTSBURG, Pa., April 10.—Oil is still on the boom. The Standard raised their from $1 27 to $1 37. This is an advance of and $1,000 re-vote for dredging in 25 cents per barrel in the last week. In the Oil City exchange at $1 50.

The cause of the excitement is admitted to be exhaustation of the known mine schools in the northern district; fields for what is called Pennsylvania oil. The price is expected to keep steadily rising during the summer and some producers are sanguine enough to believe that 1895 will Paine's Celery Compound Makes Them Well.

After Suffering for 18 Years the Great Spring Medicine Cures Mrs. G. H. Parker.

Eighteen years of intense suffering, disappointment and anxiety!
Failure after failure with doctors and worthless medicines made life sad and dreary for Mrs. G. H. Parker, Winona, After some persuasion, Mrs. Parker was induced to give Paine's Celery Compound a fair and honest trial.

What happy, grand results! Such a victory over suffering! Complete cure and renewed health! The following is Mrs. Parker's unsolicited testimony: "I have been a great sufferer from neuralgia for nearly eighteen years; these sufferings at times were so bad that words would fail to describe them. After having tried every known remedy, and different physicians, and receiving no help I was persuaded to try your Paine's Celery Compound, which I have been using for the past four months. I am happy to say that I am now a different woman and completely cured. I can recommend your Paine's Celery Compound to all my friends, for it has been worth hundreds of dollars to me."

The Old Story Every Time. John L. Simpson, a prominent merchant of Chatham, Ont., writes in February, 1895: "La grippe left me with chronic throat and bronchial trouble, attended with a cough which defied all remedies until I struck the new medine, Pine-Malt; that gave me immediate register. I here testify to the great mediate relief. I here testify to the great merits of the new medicine. Other persons in Chatham bear like testimony." In chronic cases and in incipient consumpsion, ask druggists for Pine-Malt and Hypophosphites instead of plain Pine-Malt.

> SITTINGS OF THE HOUSE. Three sittings of the House were held today, and the order paper will be two or three pages shorter tomorrow as a result of the work done. 'The slaughter of the innocents" is the term applied to the sum-mary expunging of tardy bills and motions from the order paper which happens in the dying days of the session. In half an hour this afternoon about a dozen notices of motion and twenty bills were withdrawn by rueful promoters who found that they had no chance of seeing their measures obtain

In the afternoon a belated debate gave some life to the proceedings, Mr. Whitney moving an amendment to a motion to go into supply on the subject of education. The amendment was the formal expression of the Conservatives' contention, which has rather frequently been heard this session, that the high schools get too much of the grant and the public schools too little. Mr. Whitney supported his amendment in a very moderate speech which, however, possessed the cardinal weakness—as Mr. Ross pointed out—of suggesting a reform without show-ing what means should be taken to effect it. Mr. Ross made an effective reply, showing that the high school grant has increased 30 per cent in the last ten years, while the high school attendance has increased 186 per cent, whereas the public school grant has increased 34 per cent and the public school population 7 per cent. Further, in 1887 the high school grant was $9 03 per pupil, and now it is about $64 38 per pupil, and the fees have been increased sevenfold. Dr. Meacham was the only other speaker, and the debate closed with a division which stood 48 to 35, the Patrons, with the exception of Messrs. Pardo and MacPherson, fighting the Government.

This debate, the clearing of the order paper by the wholesale withdrawal of belated bills and notices of motion, and the passage through committee of the whole of the supplementary estimates, formed the business of the afternoon. IN THE EVENING.

In the evening session the railway aid resolutions were passed, among the railways to be helped being the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway, which gets a re-vote of $2,000 a mile for the sixteen miles between Tilsonburg and Port Burwell.

Hon. Mr. Bronson inserted some amendments in his Electric Railway Bill, giving mechanics employed on a company incorporated under the bill a lien for 30 days' wages, and imposing for violation of the Sunday traffic

THEY MAY GET MARRIED

PRINCESS MAUD OF WALES AND THE PRINCE OF NAPLES.

Gossip Which is Agitating the Capitals of Europe Just New-Imposing Gathering of Royalties in Northern Italy-Princess and Prince of an Age.

When the prince of Naples arrived in Rome early in March from Florence, the assertion was again made by his entourage that he would shortly be married to Princess Maud of Wales, and it was also announced that the arrival in Rome of the prince of Wales and other members of the British royal family could soon be expected.

For at least four years past much interest has been taken in the question as to whom the prince of Naples, who is the heir apparent to the Italian throne, would be likely to marry. His name has been linked with that of all the eligible princesses in Europe, and the affair has operated to divide Roman society into several parties. One section, the first to appear, wishes for a marriage with Princess Clementine, of Belgium, youngest daughter of King Leopold II. Another large party hopes for an alliance with an English princess, because of the friendship existing between the two nations and the good feeling of the two reigning houses one for the other. A third agitates for Princess Feodora, of Schleswig-Holstein, sister of the empress of Germany, in order to consolidate the alliance with that country. A fourth wants a marriage with Archduchess Maria Annunziata of Austria, to popularize the Austrian alliance. which still has in Italy many opponents. According to others the prince will look to the east, and marry Princess Maria Maddalena, fourth daughter of King

Goerge of Greece, born in Athens in 1876. For the last few months, however, rumor has pointed persistently in the direction of Princess Maud of Wales as the prince of Naples' future bride. The report that an engagement was pending was revived by the Giornale, but the New York Herald's special correspondent at Rome was authorized at that time to contradict the statement. Now, once more the subject is brought up, and is connected with the forth-coming visit of the prince of Wales to Florence. There will be an imposing gathering of royalties in Italy during the course of the spring. Queen Victoria soon leaves for Florence. A special correspondent at Venice announces that Emperor Francis Joseph, Emperor William and King Humbert will meet in the spring on the broad waters of the Adriatic. Possibly also the prince of Wales may be there. The occasion of the royal gathering will be the maneuvers of the Austrian fleet off Spalato. Emperor Francis Joseph goes for that alone; Emperor William will, in any case, be at Abazzia, where the empress intends to spend two months; the prince of Wales will be at Florence on a visit, and King Humbert will be on his way to Venice for the international art exhibiton. The prince of Naples is the only son of King Humbert of Italy, and was born in 1869. He is said to be liberal and progressive in his views, and enjoys the reputation of being a scholarly and thoughtful young man. Princess Maud is the youngest child of the Prince of Wales. She is just fifteen days younger than the prince of Naples.

THE EMPEROR OF GERMANY.

There is a marked difference between the latest picture of Emperor William, which is here reproduced, and those of an earlier date. His face has acquired a sternness of expression, and indicates a fixity of purpose which his countenance upon his succession to the throne did not wear or express.

A Hero in More Ways Than One.

A very pretty anecdote is told of Lord Nelson, the hero of the battle of Trafalgar. Besides being a great commander and a brave man, Nelson was one of the truest of friends, and while he was as fond as all other remarkable men of the praise which good and heroic deeds merit, he knew so little of jealousy that he always wished others to have their meed of praise as well as himself.

Presented to King George III. of England at one of the royal levees, his Majesty congratulated the Admiral upon his tremendous victories, closing with a few sympathetic remarks about the Admiral's loss of his arm. Nelson bowed his acknowledgments, and then, turning about, presented his friend and companion in many hot fignts, Captain Berry. "The loss of my arm, your Majesty,"

he said, "is not so great as you might imagine, for here is my right hand."-Harper's Young People.

MAN WITH THE TIN CAN. Where the High Tax System of Canada

Reaches Him. A Former Conservative Merchant Makes

Some Revelations In a letter to the Guelph Herald, which very foolishly asserted that the tariff did not injure the man with the tin can, Mr. G. B. Ryan, merchant, of that city, who up till recently had been a Conservative, writes: "Now as to the man with the tin can: First you seem to think that the man with the tin can was going to the train. It was quite evident that you were not at the meeting, or you would have brown that I was on my way to have known that I was on my way to the train, and met the man going to his

"As to the tax on his hat. You say that it is not 30 per cent. In that you are quite right, I acknowledge that I made a mistake. I should have said from 38 to 40, as that is what it actually is, with the retailer's profit added to the duty. If you still doubt as to this, just call on Mr. Thos. Heffernan and ask him if 30 per cent is not the duty that every merchant who has imported hats this year has paid. And if your claim is just, that hats can be made better and cheaper in Canada, what need is there for the tariff, and why do you not join hands with those who advocate its removal?

As to his linen collar, the present retail price for these in Guelph is 15, 20 and 25 cents. The duty is 25 per cent, and 25 cents per dozen (see collector of customs for corroboration). We claim that if this was removed, we would sell the same goods at 40 per cent less than these prices. If this be so, then who pays the duty?

"His jacket, 30 per cent. You seem to think the jacket the man had on was a knited wool garment. If such was the case, it would have been so much the worse as the duty on knitted jackets is 35 per cent. What he did have on was a jacket made of brown denim, the duty on which is 30 per cent, or, with the retailer's profit on this, about 38 per cent. His pants were made from cottonade, and the duty is the same. These two articles were made by the great cotton combine, who by the assistance of the tariff have been able to extract of the tariff have been able to extract from the laboring man enormous profits, and by such extortion as this have grown fabulously wealthy, all taken out of the pockets of the public by the assistance of the tariff.

"You say: "The clothing of the wife and children of the man with the tin can is not taxed. The cotton produced in Canada is as good and cheap as it can be produced anywhere else." My can be produced anywhere else.' My answer to that is, if such is the case, why the need of a protective tariff averaging about 30 per cent, and why

Resurrection of the Dundas Center Church Corner Stone.

Laid on May 17, 1869, by Rev. W. M. Punshon.

The Papers of that Date-Interesting Documents and Manuscripts.

Since the razing of the Dundas Street Center Methodist Church walls the janitor, Mr. Hall, has been searching for the corner stone. This morning he was rewarded by finding the coveted stone and its precious contents at the southeast corner of the building. On removing the stone a glass jar, ordinarily known to housewives as a quart selfsealer, was found in the cavity. It was removed without damage, and Rev. E. B. Lanceley took charge of the find. The jar contained a copy of the Daily "Advertiser" of Saturday evening, May 15, 1869. It was yellow with age and musty as the tomb. In it was the following notice in reference to the stone lay-

"Services in connection with the laying of the corner stone of the Wesleyan Church in course of erection on Upper Dundas street will be held tomorrow and Monday. At 10:30 tomorrow the Rev. John Bredin will preach in North Street. In the afternoon at 2:30 a mass meeting of the Sabbath school children and friends will be held, when addresses are expected from Revs. Wm. Punshon and Bredin, and in the evening at 6:30 Mr. Punshon will preach. On Monday at 10 a.m. the foundation stone of the new church will be laid by our dis-tinguished visitor, and in the evening at 10 o'clock a tea meeting in aid of the funds of the new building will be held in the basement of the North Street Wesleyan Church. This very attractive programme will no doubt draw a large attendance at each of the several services and meetings mentioned."

There was also a copy of the London Fre Press and Daily "Western Adver-tiser," as it was known then, of Monday morning, May 17, 1869, containing the following programme of services in connection with the ceremony: "At 10 o'clock this morning the memorial or corner stone of the new Wesleyan Methodist Church to be built at the corner of Dundas and Maitland streets will be laid by the Rev. A. Morley Punshon, M.A., president of the conference. The Rev. J. Elliott, ex-president of the conference; Rev. W. Briggs, Rev. J. H. Bishop, and the Rev. John Bredin are also expected to take part in the services.

"The following is the order of arrangements. "Hymn 737, page 666, Wesleyan Hymn Book "Reading, Psalm xlii., and part of I.

Peter, chapter 2 to verse 10. "Prayer will be offered. "The manuscript to be deposited in the bottle will be read, and the documents, coins, etc., placed therein.

A copy of the Daily Prototype and at all drug stores at 25 ontario Express of Monday morning, five boxes for a dollar. May 17, was also among the documents. John Siddons was proprietor and publisher.

The coins found in the bottle were: One cent, mint of 1859; 10 cents, mint of 1858; 5 cents, mint of 1858, and 20 cents, mint of 1862. The other documents found were a plan of preaching appointments for the London city circuit, 1869; a Wesley-an missionary notice of the Canada Conference, minutes of the Wesleyan Conferene, Canada, 1868, and a copy of the Christian Guardian of May 12, 1869. The latter was edited by Rev. Dr. Jeffers and contained a leading article on "Romanism in Its Changed Circumstances."

The only other document was a written one, and proved to be the most interesting of the find. Who the writer was there is nothing to show. It read as follows: "The Rev. W. Morley Punshon, M.A. laid the corner stone of this church to take rearring. Tod can on the 17th day of May, in the year of do any harm, by doing away reign of her Majesty Queen Victoria; his Excellency, the Rt. Hon. New and Murderous Missile - Pierces Steel Before Exploding. WASHINGTON, April 11 .- Two important ordnance tests took place at the naval proving ground, Indian Head, yesterday. A 13-inch semi-armor piercing nickel steel shell passed through nickel steel plate seven inches thick without exploding the large charge of powder it carried. A test of percussion fuses was also made to determine at what distance the shell would explode after passing through an obstruction. In this test a screen was erected in the river and rows of stakes about six feet apart were driven behind it. The shells passed through the screen successfully and burst ten or twelve feet on the shore side, just about the distance the department desired. One of the same king of snells was also fired through a steel plate two inches thick, bursting Canadian's Suit for $10,000. DETROIT, April 11.—The trial of the suit of Robert Findley, of Hamilton, Ont., against the Chicago and Grand Trunk Railway Company, was taken up by Judge Fraser yesterday. In the terrible railway accident of Oct. 20, 1893, at Battle Creek, where 29 persons lost their lives, Mrs. Findley was killed. Her husband sued the company for $10,000 damages, claiming that negligence of the employes caused the loss of life. Before the plaintiff had introduced any testimony Judge Fraser decided that the suit was im-properly brought. The plaintiff was a resident of Canada and had no right to take out letters of administration in Wayne ccunty. If he desired to commence suit in Michigan he must administer his wife's estate in the county in which she was killed. Verdict was directed for the defendants.

"Oh, yes, I'll be good. I've promised. Papa gave me a most awful lecture about you this very morning. He says if I'm not good with you, he'll send me away to the very strictest school he can find. And I'm to copy you in everything, and try to be like you. That's what he said—oh, and he was sorry he couldn't be here, but he had to go to Edinburgh, and I'm glad!"

"Molly, should you say that, dear?" "I can't help it; I am very glad. Papa is so grave and so awful. We are much more lively when he is out of the way. Even Uncle Ralph enjoys himself when papa's in Edinburgh. He lets Bertie off half his lessons, and goes to sleep in the afternoon. Will you come down to the schoolroom, dear Miss Raeburn, and shall I show you where to put your hat and cloak?"

Stella was led off by the chattering Molly and found it rather difficult to induce the young lady to settle down to her books that forenoon. At twelve o'clock the two were to have gone for a walk, but a dash of heavy rain against the windows put walking out of question. So Molly proposed to show her new friend over the house, some parts of which were very well worth seeing; and Stella willingly agreed to anything that her pupil suggested.

Torresmuir was partly an old and partly a new building. The older portion was built of thick and solid stone; the tower at one end was of masonry which seemed as if it would defy the flight of time for centuries so cunningly had the great stones been welded together. This tower was little used except by Mr. Ralph Kingscot, who, as Molly informed Miss Raeburn, occupied two placed," said Molly, with a learned air.
"When you leave the newer part of the house you go throught this long gallery-a passage - it is only a passage, after all; then you come straight into the Octagon room, which Uncle Ralph has made into a regular curiosity shop; then straight from the Octagon room into his sitting-room, which looks out on the hillside and down towards the Braan. This winding stair, in the little away from home. Saturday was 'a whole space between the Octagon room and the holiday; but as the day proved still and sitting-room, leads up to Uncle Ralph's bed. fine, Molly and her brother (who was quite room that nobody ever uses; and above that there is a roof where one has a most beautiful view—but | begged that she would join them in an does not seem to care about our coming farther than the Octagon room—if so far. It is a great shame," said Molly, in an aggrieved tone, "because the towns of the banks of the different leave to the banks of the different leaves. aggrieved tone, "because the tower would make such a nice little retreat for Bertie and me. One can't hear a single sound from these rooms in the new part of the house. But Uncle Ralph keeps us out."

"He has grown fond of the rooms, I daresay," said Stella.
"I don't think he is very fond of anything," Molly answered, with a curious touch of cynicism in her fresh young voice, "but it is convenient for him, I daresay, to be able to go in and out just as he likes. There is a little door from his sitting-room into the garden, and papa never knows when he is out after midnight or not."

Stella thought this sort of conversation undesirable, and changed it by asking the names of certain curiosities which were ranged in glass cases on some side tables in the Octagon room.

"Pretty, aren't they?" said Molly, carelessly, as she ran over the names with the air of one who had often rehearsed them previously; "but this is the most curious thing. Do you see that empty case?" Stella looked, and observed that a large morocco case lined with velvet stood empty under a glass shade.

"There's a story about it," said Molly.
"I remember when it used to hold a stone a beautiful crystal, I believe, sparkling with all the colors of the rainbow. It was in the days before mamma died," and a sudden shadow came over her merry face. "Was it stolen?" Stella asked, to break the pause that followed. "That's the odd part of it. Of course it was, but there was no way of finding out how or why. Just before mamma died it disappeared. And you have no idea what a fuss the old servants in the house, and even papa himself, made about it. It was

"Was it valuable?" "Not a bit, I believe. Only-do you re member a piece of poetry called 'The Luck

"Yes; Longfellow translated it from the "Well, there was just such another old story about this stone and our family. It depth, 3,300 feet. was said to have been brought from the East by one of our ancestors: and as long as it was in our possession we were to be lucky in every way, and when it went the luck was to go too. And now it has gone!" And the luck remains," said Stella,

"I suppose so. But I don't know. Nothing has gone right since—nothing. Of course, it has nothing to do with the stone; I a I not so stupidly superstitious as poor old Jean, our nurse, used to be; but stillever since—we have been unhappy—I don't

The tears were filling Molly's beautiful hazel eyes. Stella looked sympathizingly at her and took her hand, meaning to give le advice respecting her ng the happiness of her ruption occurred. The inner door of the Octagon room, leading to the staircase, flew open, and Mr. Kingscott made his appearance. He paused, as if in surprise, at the sight of the two girls, and Stella, who had not seen him before, glanced inquiringly at Molly. But Molly pouted, frowned, threw back her mop of ruddy golden hair, and did not seem inclined to

"I must introduce myself, as my niece does not seem inclined to perform the office for me," said Ralph Kingscot, showing his white teeth in a smile which Stella found singularly unpleasant. "My name is Kingscot, Miss Raeburn-I think I have the pleasure of speaking to Miss Raeburn?—and I have the honor to be Miss Molly's uncle as well as the tutor of my nephew, Bertie, Our office should bring us together. We must have something in common, must we not?"

dignified.

"So you have been looking at our poor little curiosities?" said Kingscot, easily.

"And has Molly been explaining to you the loss of the luck of the house?"

"It can't be explained," said Molly, almost rudely. "Nobody knows."

"And nobody ever will know," said her uncle, in a mocking tone. "Nobody will ever know—unless the Luck of the House comes back again, and that will not be in

Edenhall, as the poem says." "I believe you've got it!" cried Molly, so savagely that Stella stood aghast. "Perhaps you stole it and hid it away—on purpose to vex papa!"—She bit her lip, and the tears again dimmed her flashing eyes. "You would not mind-you know you don't care whether things are right or wrong. I've heard you say so-if only they are pleasant

"Molly dear, you must not speak in that way," said Stella, in alarm. "I hope you will excuse her, Mr. Kingscott"—— Ralph Kingscott gave a short laugh and turned on his heel. But the momentary whitening of his lips, the keen, steel-like glance that he shot at Molly from out his narrow dark eyes, showed that her shaft don't envy you the task of encountering Poor Stella did indeed at that moment feel as if her task were likely to be heavier than she had anticipated. She tried to talk seriously, and yet gently, to her pupil about her behaviour, but Molly turned rather sulky at the first hint of reproof, and did not recover her good humor until late in the afternoon. Mr. Moncrieff stayed for some days in Edinburgh, and Stella had thus no opportunity of consulting him, as she wished to do, about the plan of study which Molly was to pursue. After the first day or two, rooms, one above another, in this part of she found the girl tolerably easy to manage the building. "You see, it's very awkwardly | The great difficulty lay in the fact that, while Molly had the physique of a woman, she had the spirits, the thoughtlessness, the waywardness of a child. Stella had rather a startling example of the difficulties which were to be encountered in dealing with such a character soon after her introduction to

Mr. Moncrieff was still as much enamored of Miss Raeburn as was Molly herself) came to her lodgings and save when the rights of fishing and boating were let to summer tenants of the houses, the young Moncrieffs had always been allowed to disport themselves as they pleased about the waters. At present, Molly, who had met with the name of the Admirable Crichton in her lessons, was anxious to show Stella the very place where that prodigy of learning had been born; and it was with this laudable object in view that she at last persuaded her teacher to join her for the day.

THE BRAVEST BATTLE.

The bravest battle that ever was fought. Shall I tell you where and when? On the maps of the world you'll find it not; 'Twas fought by the mothers of men.

Nay not with cannon or battle shot, With sword or nobler pen; Nay, not with eloquent word or thought From mouth of wonderful men;

But deep in a walled-up woman's heart—
Of woman that would not yield,
But bravely, silently bore her part—
Lo! there is the battle field.

No marshaling troops, no bivouac song, No banner to gleam and wave. But oh, these battles! they last so long—

From babyhood to the grave!

TRAMPING FOR A PURPOSE.

An amusing story is told of the late Prof. Henry Morley. Some years ago, when the "slumming" boom was occupying general attention, he was accosted one day by a peculiarly emaciated and ragged individual, who solicited aid in moving terms. Prof. Morley, who was never proof against such petitions, responded with a silver coin.
"Thank you, Prof. Morley, I'm much obliged," said the man.

"You know me, eh?"
"Yes. I attended your lectures in King's College in 1860." "Dear, dear! I'm sorry to see you in this state." "Not at all, my dear professor. I am doing some articles for my paper, and the editor insists on my making my researches in character. Will you dine with me tonight?" And he handed him a card bearing a well-known name.

LAY DOWN ON THE TRACK. NEW LONDON, Conn., April 10 .-- An unknown woman and baby were killed at Mystic today by an express over the Providence road from Boston. As the train neared Mystic the woman, with the child in her arms lay down on the track. She had first crossed to the water side, as if intending to go to the river, but seeing the train coming she turned and placed herself before it.

Why will you allow a cough to lacerate your throat or lungs and run the risk of filling a consumptive's grave, when by the timely use of Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup the pain can be allayed and the danger avoided? This syrup is pleasant to the taste, and unsurpassed for relieving, healing and curing all affections of the throat and lungs, coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc.

The fact that Hood's Sarsaparilla, once fairly tried, become the favorite spring medicine, speaks volumes for its excellence and merit.

L. C. I. HOCKEYITES BANQUET. The members of the Collegiate Institute Hockey Club, together with a number of their teachers and invited guests —in all about 50—spent a very jolly time last night in Kent's lunch parlors, Dundas street. It was the first banquet of the club, and the members turned out well. In fact, there were enough for six or seven hockey teams, and everyone was brimful of schoolboy fun. Mr. C. B. Edwards, of the teaching staff, was chairman. On his right sat the principal, Mr. Merchant, Mr. S. J. Radcliffe and Mr. O. J. Stevenson; on his left, Mr. R. A. Gray, D. E. Galbraith and W. C. Ferguson. Mr. Claude Brown, one of the pupils, acted as vice-chairman. When the referee blew the whistle the teams lined up for an attack on the refreshments, and when he called time the latter were completely vanquished. The toast list was introduced by Mr. Edwards with a very suitable speech. The list brought a good many to their feet in turn, and each spokesman was greeted with the usual query, "What's the matter, etc.?" or "He's a daisy." Some of the pupils' responses were very creditable indeed, while the staff related many amusing incidents which tickled the boys immensely. The toast list and those who responded was as follows: "Canada, our Country," D. E. Galbraith, W. J. Reid and R. A. Gray; "Our School," Bert Beal and W. C. Ferguson; "The Staff," F. W. Meredith and O. J. Stevenson; "Literary Society," S. J. Radcliffe and D. H. Arnott; "Our Club," R. T. Mason, G. P. Mac-Laren and S. H. McEvoy; "Visitors," H. L. Pavey, J. Westervelt and J. Meredith; "The Ladies," R. Gillespie and A. T. Essery. During the evening J. Meredith, James McKendrick and V. Colwell favored with instrumentals, and J. Watt, W. C. Ferguson and R. Kippon with songs.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE SALE. Some time ago the London Mechanics' Institute directors received tenders for the sale of the building, it being the intention to go out of business, now that the free library is a certainty. One tender, made on behalf of the Conservative Association, offered $18,000, which was the amount of the mortgage held by Mr. Alex. Harvey; the other was by Mr. Harvey, who offered $18,010, and got the structure, subject to confirmation by a special meeting of the members of the institute. Desiring to upset the decision of the directors, the agents of the Conservative party got together nine-teen citizens and obtained for them as many tickets of membership, paying 50 cents each for them, so that they could prove a voting power which they knew sets with bevel plate mirrors for $9, $11 and $12? They are the delight of everyone that sees them. 127 King street, opposite Market House. they were without in the usual order of things. In the meantime the city solicitor had been consulted, and he declared that the sale to Mr. Harvey could not be carried out, as it was understood that he was a director. He recom-mended that the property be put up at auction. Then Mr. Hellmuth sent another offer of $18,400 on behalf of his Conservative friends. When these facts had been laid before the meeting, the question of who were or who were not members at that meeting came up. An old and new list of subscribers was produced. The new list was a paper headed in this fashion: "We, the undersigned, severally subscribe our names as members, requiring the maintenance of the Mechanics' Institute at London, and have severally paid the sums set opposite our respective names."

The sum was 50 cents in each instance and the list included: Wm. J. Knott, T. W. Edwards, C. Colerick, Robt. W. T. W. Edwards, C. Colerick, Robt. W. Frank, J. M. Ryan, Joe Percival, W. A. Dillon, J. A. Tanner, T. E. McNamara, Chas. McMillan, R. M. C. Toothe, Jas. Crawford, Wm. A. Reid, Thos. Cousins, Barthwaite Crow, W. F. McNamara, D. Sweeney, and W. W. Evans.

As the directors had practically closed.

As the directors had practically closed the institute some time before by calling in the books, and ordering that no more books should be given out, Mr. Talbot Macbeth and Col. Lewis argued that those men, made members only that day, could not vote.

Other members who were present and who had always paid $1 and sometimes $2 as membership fees were: J. A. Roe. R. Hannah, John Shopland, A. O. Jeffery, F. W. Daly, Thos. Partridge, Geo. Taylor, John Hargreaves, W. J. Saunby, J. I. Anderson, and G. H. Warbur-

Mr. Toothe moved that the members disapprove of the sale to Mr. Harvey, and Mr. James Crawford seconded. It was then shown that the 50-centers had no right to vote, the bylaw fixing that members should be of good moral character and must pay 5 shillings of

"That's $1," said President Scarrow and Mr. Toothe retired into the hall and arranged the financial consideration, paying the legal $9 50. The motion to put up the property to auction in 30 days was carried, and the meeting adjourned.
