SEEDING DELAYED.

Central States Farmers Hampered by Dry Weather.

Washing, Sept. 30.—The weekly crop bulletin of the agricultural department says: Except on the Atlantic coast, where rains have fallen, the week has been exceptionally dry, and upon the whole very favorable for maturing crops and gathering in. Like the preceding weeks, however, it has been very unfavorable for germination of sown grain, as well as for fallowing and seeding, which is much delayed generally throughout the central and western and in some of the southern states. In Nebraska, however, a large acreage of wheat has been sown, much of which is up and doing nicely. In the Atlantic coast states the conditions have been more favorable for fall seeding and satisfactory progress has been made. The frosts of the early part of the week proved injurious to late corn in portions of Ohio, Kentucky, Pennsylvania and New York, but further west no serious injury is reported, and in some states cutting is nearing completion.

Increase in the Earnings of the C. P. R.

Statement of President Van Horne Regarding the St. Lawrence Bridge.

Sir Wm. Van Horne, president of the C. P. R., denies the report from Quebec that the C. P. R. would build the proposed bridge across the St. Lawrence there.

Both Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk securities are higher in London, and the advance is due to no other cause than the repeated expansion in the earning power of the two roads.

During the past eight months the increase in Canadian Pacific net earnings is nearly a million dollars, the net profits within that period being $5,555,550, and the gross earnings, $14,653,531. This is one of the most satisfactory statements yet issued, and it speaks eloquently of the prosperous condition of the country's business.

The full statement of gross and net earnings of the C. P. R. for August and for the eight months of the year is as follows: August, 1897, gross earnings, $2,212,148; working expenses, $1,277,797; net profits, $1,034,351. Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1897, gross earnings, $14,653,531; working expenses, $8,465,851; net profits, $5,555,550. In August, 1897, gross earnings were $2,212,148, and from Jan. 1 to Aug. 31, 1897, there was a net profit of $5,555,550. The gain in net profits over the same period last year was $1,034,351, or, in other words, $1,034,351 more.

At the eastern terminus of the Canada Atlantic Railroad from Rouses Point, N. Y., to Swanton, Vt., and the extension of the line west from Ottawa to Exeter, by which it is proposed to open a new trunk line between the Great West and New England points, it is stated that a line of steamboats will be run from Chicago to Parry Sound, and the Canadian Pacific Atlantic line will connect with the Central Vermont and the Boston and Maine Railroads.

Must Get Out of Business Ruts.

Sir Richard Cartwright, Dominion Minister of Trade and Commerce, has just received from the British Colonial Office a valuable report on the trade of the British Colonies and foreign competition, compiled from material supplied to the Right Hon. Joseph Chamberlain by the governors of the various colonies. From this report it is shown that the percentage of foreign to British imports to the colonies rose from 25.79 in 1884, and 24.57 in 1893, to 31.50 in 1894. The report is reassuring in so far as it shows that the bulk of the foreign imports is in low classes of "shoddy" goods, which it would not pay the British manufacturer to produce. It is pointed out, however, that the "finish" of these goods is far superior to the finish of British cheap goods. The British manufacturer gives better quality, but neglects finish. To make his cheaper goods externally more attractive would be the best means of combatting competing trade. In the best qualities of goods the British manufacturer retains his supremacy, but, Mr. Chamberlain says, "the colonist has a great weakness for cheapness at the expense of durability."

Instances are recorded where the British manufacturer has driven out all competitors. In Gambia, the French make of sacaton cloth has been entirely superseded by the British; in the Straits Settlements, Glasgow handkerchiefs defy the world, though Japan is trying to cut in; and Sheffield razors of all grades are preferred; Nettlefield (Mr. Chamberlain's firm) monopolizes the screw trade at Hong Kong; British candles have "put out" German at the Cape; in cocoa, Fry is beating Van Houten in Fiji; in Victoria, British brass ware has displaced Austrian.

There is one feature of the report which must greatly interest Canadian manufacturers and merchants as well as those of the motherland. From all the colonies are sent statements that the closer study of the wants of small customers, the giving of longer credits, and the superior packing of goods, puts much trade into foreign hands. British manufacturers, trading on their prestige, have been contented to produce their wares and place them on sale, taking chances as to whether or not they were fully meeting the demands of customers. Competing nations, like the Germans, on the other hand, not only study the requirements of their customers to the minutest details, but send travelers all over the world looking for new markets, with orders to get the trade at all hazards. In this age of competition, we must all produce what our customers desire, and market our products—whether of the farm or the workshop—in the best of shape. Canada, under the new preferential trade arrangements, is bound to be a better customer for British wares than she has been in the past, and in return we are assured of an ever-increasing market for Canadian products of the farm, of the forest and of the workshop in the motherland. When we remember that of the $500,000,000 worth of food products imported yearly by Great Britain, Canada has been sending but 7 per cent, the field that is opened up for producers is a very inviting one. Let it be taken possession of by the most effective methods available. Let us produce the best and market it in the best possible shape.

West Lambton.

The Liberals of West Lambton did a good day's work on Wednesday. They met in a representative capacity, 300 strong, and selected a popular and able candidate for the ensuing Provincial general election. Mr. Charles Mackenzie was nominated by a very large majority, but for personal reasons he declined to re-enter public life, and a strong resolution of regret was expressed thereat. Then on the second ballot, Mr. F. F. Pardee, of Sarnia, was chosen, the declaration being received with the greatest satisfaction. Mr. Pardee is a son of the late Hon. T. B. Pardee, who to the day of his death was a power in the administration of affairs in Canada. The Liberal candidate is a popular young man, of marked ability, and there are the brightest of prospects for his success. The convention very appropriately renewed its confidence in the Provincial and Dominion Administrations and in the Federal representative of the riding, Mr. Lister, M.P. The address by Hon. John Dryden, Minister of Agriculture, was a feature of the gathering.

If Dawson City is burned down, as is reported, the troubles of the Klondike miners during the ensuing winter will be greatly augmented. Those of us who have resisted the craving for gold will have the consolation meanwhile that if we possess less of that valuable commodity than some of the adventurous spirits who are roughing it in the Yukon regions, we will have infinitely greater comfort, and much better prospects of getting through the winter of 1897-8 alive and well.

The Next Pan-Anglo-Confederation—Why Not in Canada?

The London Church Bells speaks with favor of the suggestion that the next conference of Anglican bishops, probably to take place in 1907, should be held on this continent. It admits that to the English mind such a proposition is "a little startling," but sees no reason in the nature of things against it, if any substantial benefit is likely to result.

Why not arrange to have the gathering in Canada? This year, the Dominion has been the scene of the annual gatherings of the British Association for the Advancement of Science and of the British Medical Association. The visit of these hundreds of noted old country men of eminence in their callings has been of great benefit to them, and will have permanently good effect on the Dominion. Nearly all of these visitors have seen Canada for the first time, and they have been astonished and delighted with the boundless resources and magnificent climate of the Dominion, and have expressed the most optimistic views with regard to our future. Let the leaders of the great Anglican body of the Motherland follow the example of the scientists and medical and surgical experts. They will witness in Canada much that will interest them and help them in the settlement of the great problems that are constantly coming up for solution in the crowded Motherland. A visit to Canada would give the English bishops enlarged views as to many things pertinent to their calling and its relation to the world at large.

It seems to be settled that in return for the help given her in recent troubles with the Abyssinian monarch, Italy has handed over the town of Kassala, which was fortified by the Egyptians when they held the Sudan, to the Government of Great Britain. The Mahdi drove the Egyptians out of the territory, but an Egyptian garrison, under Mudir Ahmed Bey, resisted a siege of Kassala for twenty-two months, and only surrendered after the food and ammunition were exhausted. In violation of the terms of the surrender, the Mudir was killed, and many of the townspeople were massacred. In 1894 the Italians took possession of Kassala, and have held it since. Its surrender now shows that the Italians are no longer anxious to engage in African conquest. Their experience with the Abyssinians has been dearly bought.

POETRY AFTER POISON.

Japanese Gazette.
One of the most pathetic epigrams ever erected is that placed over the spot where Mr. Carew lies buried at Yokohama. It was prepared by his wife, who is now in prison, convicted of having poisoned him: "In loving memory of my husband, who died October, 1896, aged 43 years. Twilight and evening star, And one clear call for me; And may there be no moaning at the bay When I put out to sea; A little trust that when we die, We reap our sowing, and so, 'Good-bye.'"
No name. Simply a veiled tragedy. Some sorrow, regret, yearning, resignation, penitence, let us hope, are all mingled in this last distich.

QUALIFYING AS A TORY LEADER.
[Toronto Telegram.]
When Col. Whitney says that every day since he started his campaign the mail has brought him scores of letters from sympathizing Liberals, he either forgets the length of time he has been on the stump or is rapidly acquiring the disregard for truth which marks the eminent politician.

BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW.

[Woodstock Sentinel-Review.]
The Toronto Telegram, after trying in vain to find good reason to support them, seems to be thoroughly disgusted with the campaign policy of Mr. Whitney and his henchmen. It says that "dealing out sledge-hammer blows and abuses just small enough to endanger the existence of a township council," is a tactic which only a man who has been the policy of the opposition leaders. But, after all, isn't Mr. Whitney really worthy of sympathy? When large abuses don't exist he has never early to rest content with small ones.

The October Atlantic is the 40th anniversary number, and a remarkably fine issue. Soldon is a more delightful literary menu presented than in this issue which marks "with a white stone" the 40th milestone of a great periodical's existence. The number opens with a paper on "Two Principles in Recent American Fiction," by James Lane Allen, a study of the masculine and feminine principles and their relations to each other. Every name upon the cover page is one well known in contemporary literature, and the list includes Brunelle, F. Hopkinson Smith, T. B. Aldrich, Henry M. Stanley, Geo. Kennan, H. D. Sedgewick, Helen Hunt, E. C. Steadman, whose offering is a bit of charming verse, Miss Jewett and Miss Wiggin, the latter contributing the opening chapters of a new serial, "Penelope's Progress." Editors and publishers alike are to be congratulated on this memorable number. (Boston: Houghton, Mifflin & Co.)

The October number of the Cosmopolitan offers, first, an illustrated article on the Spanish rule in the Philippines, that rich and populous archipelago which Spain is so anxious to keep isolated from the civilized portion of the earth. The paper prepared by D. C. Worcester and Frank S. Bonrus, is very interesting as exemplifying the beauties of Spanish rule. Grant Allen contributes his seventh paper on modern college education, in which he informs us how utterly superfluous Latin and Greek are from the point of view; J. B. McPherson writes of the field of Gettysburg, where for three days the blood of a nation ran in the balance. H. H. Boyesen describes Norway's great glaciers; Julian Hawthorne, visiting India as this magazine's special commissioner, writes of England's rule in that country, and Julian Gordon offers a story, illustrated by B. West Cleveland, Edgar Paxson, who recently made Aaron Burr the hero of one of his novels, presents a sketch of him as "A Romantic Wrong Doer." In this number. (Irvington, N. Y.: The Cosmopolitan.)

U. S. POLITICS.

Massachusetts Republicans Denounce Bryanism—Roger Wolcott Nominated for Governor.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 30.—Embodied in the platform of the Republican State Convention, of Massachusetts, adopted yesterday, are the following:
"We recognize the importance of extending our commercial relations, and recommend the careful study of our consular service, that its efficiency and dignity may be increased. We would secure a safe and high citizenship, and therefore urge that the laws of naturalization and immigration be so improved that our gates shall be promptly and tightly closed against all who are too ignorant to understand or too vicious to appreciate our institutions and laws."
They declare that any man who is capable of assailing the foundations of credit and commerce by an adherence to Bryanism and the Chicago platform, or who maintains a guilty silence when they are assailed, should be considered as unfit to hold municipal office or to administer state or federal functions.

Governor Wolcott was placed in nomination by acclamation. George Fred Williams was nominated as the Democratic candidate for governor.

BEDSIDE WEDDING.

Little Widow Lifted a Giant Off a Fence on Which He Was Impaled, and Married Him.

Owensboro, Ky., Sept. 30.—John D. Mercer, of the Owensboro police force, while gathering peaches, slipped from a ladder and fell on a fence. One of the pickets entered his groin. The shock stunned him, and he lay impaled upon the picket.
Mrs. Sallie Thompson, a widow, who lives next door to Mr. Mercer, came to his rescue, and although he is 6 feet in height and weighs about 200 pounds, and she is rather small, she lifted him off the fence and carried him to the house. The wound will prove mortal.
Mercer and Mrs. Thompson were to be married tomorrow, but as the wound is so dangerous, it was decided to have the wedding at once. As soon as Mercer recovered from the operation Rev. B. B. Grosfield was called in and a license procured, and, as Mrs. Thompson sat at the bedside holding Mercer's hand, the ceremony was performed.

After Eighteen Years

Gov. Sprague and His Daughters Are United.

The Young Ladies Forbidden to Write Him—Miss Fortia Took Matters Into Her Own Hands.

Washington, Sept. 30.—After a separation of 18 years, during which they have not looked upon each other's faces, during which no word has passed between them, former Governor and former Senator William Sprague was reunited with his two daughters, Miss Fortia and Miss Kitty Sprague, on Thursday. The meeting was pathetic. The young women threw their arms about their father's neck, and tears rolled down the old gentleman's face, nor could he control his features.
These two young women are daughters of Mrs. Kate Chase Sprague, daughter of Chief Justice Chase. When the youngest "war governor" of all the states, one of the handsomest men in the country, and worth millions, they were not happy together, and divorce followed.

Then the three daughters, Ethel, Fortia and Kitty, were placed in their mother's care. Their father married again. His daughters have vanished. As the daughters grew older their mother restrained their position, indicating, directly or indirectly, their father or with any of his relatives. Miss Kitty, who has long been an invalid, but it became necessary for her sisters to earn their own living.
Miss Ethel attended the Lyceum School of Acting here, and became a member of Richard Mansfield's company. Miss Fortia obtained a position in one of the government departments here. She soon learned that she was unable to manage herself without her mother's assistance, and she determined to break the long silence between herself and her father.
She wrote and asked him to come to Washington. Her father received the letter at his home at Narragansett Pier last week. He brought with him his second wife, the woman who has taken the place of his daughters' mother.

Miss Fortia and Miss Kitty met him at the 10:30 a.m. train. Miss Fortia, instinctively recognizing him, threw her arms around his neck. "Oh, father," she cried, "I'm so happy, I'm so glad to see you!" She held him in her arms, and long looked into his face.
"No," she exclaimed, "you do not look cruel!" and again she embraced him.
Nor was Miss Kitty's greeting less loving. The "war governor," who was, caressed each. It was with difficulty he restrained his composure. Then he presented his wife to his daughters. Miss Fortia and Miss Kitty were all driven to Miss Fortia's home.
Miss Fortia and her wife are going to Europe in a few days. It may be that, if their mother is angered by the meeting, Miss Fortia and Miss Kitty will accompany their father and stepmother.

Dear Sirs: I have been sick for nearly two years and have been doctoring with some of the most expert doctors of the United States, have been bathing and drinking hot water at the Hot Springs, Ark., but it seemed every thing failed to do me good. After I saw your advertisement I bought your Pills, and have nearly used two boxes, been taking one bedtime and one after breakfast, and have done me more good than anything else I have used. My trouble has been with the liver, and since I was all yellow, I had sleep, drowsy feelings, felt like a drunken man, pain right above the navel, like as if it was bile on top of the stomach. My bowels were very constipated. My mouth and tongue were most of the time, Appetite fair, but food would not digest, but settle heavy on my stomach, and some few mouthfuls of food come up again. I could only eat light food that digests easily. Please send "Book of Advice." Respectfully, E. J. ZALGO, Hot Springs, Ark.

BREAKFAST—Melons. Farina, sugar and cream. Corned-beef hash. Muffins. Coffee.

LUNCHEON—Eggs with tomato sauce. Celery sandwiches.

DINNER—Cream of rice soup. Baked cod-potato stuffing. Lima beans. Cucumber salad. Apple pie. Cheese.

Cut the recipes out and paste them in a scrapbook.

Eggs, with Tomato Sauce—Boil six eggs hard; cut lengthwise and lay in a dish; cover with tomato sauce; stand over hot water about ten minutes.

For the Sauce—Cook slowly one pint of tomatoes, with a slice of onion, a bit of parsley, two or three cloves, and a bay leaf, for fifteen minutes; then strain. Melt a tablespoonful of butter; add a tablespoonful of flour, then the tomato and stir until it thickens; add also a half-teaspoonful of salt and a half-teaspoonful of pepper.

Celery Sandwiches—Take the tops of young celery; wash carefully; cut between thin slices of bread that have been spread with mayonnaise dressing.

Cream of Rice Soup—To one quart of clear stock add one cup of rice, a dash of onion and a sprig each of parsley and celery. Boil one-half hour and put through a sieve. Scald one and one-half cups of milk and add to the strained rice, with a heaping teaspoonful of salt and a quarter teaspoonful of pepper. Just before serving add half a cup of cream. If you haven't the cream, two tablespoonfuls of butter makes it very tasty.

Baked Trout—Have a trout weighing about four pounds. Moil three pointing toes, good-sized ones; mash with two tablespoonfuls of butter, a teaspoonful of onion juice, a saltspoonful of salt and a half-saltspoonful of pepper. Stuff the fish with this, sprinkle with salt and pepper, and put in dripping-pan with two tablespoonfuls of butter, six tomatoes and half a cupful of water. Bake in moderate oven fifty minutes. Serve with the tomatoes and slices of hard-boiled eggs.

Cucumber Salad—Slice three cucumbers and one onion and let stand in ice water one hour. Lay them on crisp lettuce leaves and serve with French or mayonnaise dressing.

Apple Pie—Rub together one scant cupful of flour with two tablespoonfuls of lard and one of butter and a saltspoonful of salt. Wet with just enough cold water to make a stiff dough. Roll and line a deep pie tin. Have some apples sliced thin, and have plenty of them—the pan should be heaped. Half a cupful of sugar is usually enough to sweeten the apples. Grate nutmeg over this and dot small bits of butter all around. Lay the upper crust over them; wet the edges and press together. The top crust should be perforated in the middle. Bake in a moderate oven 45 minutes.

The cheese, to be very appetizing, should be grated and laid in a dish on a dainty dolly.

THERE is not a more dangerous class of disorders than those which affect the stomach and bowels. Nullify this danger with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—a pulmonary of acknowledged efficacy. It cures soreness and lameness when applied externally, as well as swelled neck and crick in the back; and, as an inward specific, possesses most substantial claim to public confidence.

people in the good work. The programme was good and varied, and interesting throughout. It consisted of selections by the choir and quartets, as well as a solo by the junior pastor, Rev. T. A. Steadman, which were all well rendered. These were interspersed by recitations and addresses from some of the local brethren and three reverend gentlemen, J. E. Millyard, of Malahide, A. E. Lloyd, of the First Methodist Church, London, and T. A. Steadman, of Iona. The church was suitably decorated. The pastor, Rev. Mr. Henderson, ably filled the chair. The proceeds of the services in thank offerings amounted to about $37.

THE QUAIL SEASON.

Many are under the mistaken impression that the quail season opens tomorrow. The season really begins on Oct. 16.

SUSPICIOUS DISAPPEARANCE.

Charles Elliott, of Byron avenue, a middle-aged man, has left the city under suspicious circumstances. He borrowed money right and left before going, and to some gave in return notes which are now believed to be forged.

While in charge of a bankrupt stock in the East End, belonging to a local wholesale firm, he raised money by mortgaging the stock which he declared on oath to be his own. He redeemed this mortgage shortly afterwards by money which he had borrowed from his relatives in London township.

A HEARTY FAREWELL.

Quartermaster-Sergt. Kennedy and Sergt. Burke were given a hearty send-off and presented with well-filled purses last night by the non-coms. of Wolseley Barracks. A large number of their civilian friends also assembled at the barracks to aid in making the occasion enjoyable. Speeches, eulogistic of the departing officers, were made and responded to, and songs were sung in great variety. Messrs. Vurley and Kennedy, who have been ordered to New Brunswick, have been among the most popular non-coms. at the barracks for years.

CHANGES AT THE MARKET

Market Gardeners May Have Movable Tables at the West Side of the Bazar.

The fire and light committee of the city council met last night, with Ald. McCallum (chairman), Olmstead, Hunt, Draneay, Stevely and Taylor, Secretary Bell and Chief Roe present.

A petition was received from Mrs. George Cartledge, Mrs. Whitaker and a number of other market gardeners, asking permission to erect tables at the west side of the market bazar. It was claimed that the tables would be a great benefit, not only to the vendors, but also to the buyers.

On motion of Ald. Taylor, the request was granted, on the condition that the tables be movable, and that they are taken away at the close of the market. The petitioners will erect the tables at their own expense.

Mr. John McNeil, chairman of the board of managers, referred to the past year's work of the bazar, and said that the market clerk's office was not in proper condition, and suggested that the rear part of Inspector Bell's office be devoted to the market clerk's use, but action was deferred until the next meeting. Mr. Wilkins will be provided with a cap labeled "Market Clerk."

Tenders for electric motors to operate the fire alarm system were laid over until the next meeting, as were also the return of Mayor Little from Winnipeg.

THE HORSMAN CASE

Hearing Postponed Until October 8—The Charge Amended.

Edward Horsman, of the Grigg House, charged by T. F. Kingsmill with obtaining goods with intent to defraud, was in court this morning, with his solicitor, as to meet the charge.

County Crown Attorney James Magee, addressing the court, said Mr. Chisholm wished a postponement for a few days, to enable him to bring witnesses from other places.

Mr. Meredith, for defendant, objected to any postponement. When a man undertakes to lay a criminal information against a citizen, he should be prepared to go to the end of the law, and a meeting of Mr. Horsman's creditors on Thursday, and if this case were not disposed of by then, other courts would be very serious effect upon the result of the meeting.

Mr. Chisholm amended the information, so as to bring under another section, by adding the words, "with obtaining goods for fraudulent purposes."

Magistrate Parkes granted a postponement until Oct. 8. Bail was renewed for Mr. Horsman's appearance.

Two vagrants, William and James Moore, were allowed to go.

The City Water Supply.

The New Springs Will Add 700,000 Gallons Per Day.

The Price for the Griffith Property $8,500—The Sherry Property to Cost $3,000—A Storage Pond.

The postponed meeting of the water commissioners was held yesterday, Chairman Cowan, Mr. Judd and the officials attending.

The chairman announced that Mr. Griffith, of Byron, had at last agreed to accept the offer of the commissioners, made two years ago, for his property on the north side of the river at Byron. The price is $8,500, to be paid in a lump sum or in four annual instalments, at 4 per cent interest.

Engineer Moore said that the Griffith springs would yield about 25,000 gallons per day. The mill pond on the property would be turned into a storage pond.

The board secures everything on the property, excepting the mill. Mr. Griffith agrees to assume half the responsibility for any damages that may be caused to adjacent property by the board's action.

The chairman reported that the purchase of the Sherry property on the north bank, would be consummated a few days. The price is $3,000, to be paid in three annual instalments. The Ward property is to be acquired by arbitration.

The new land secured by the commissioners on both sides of the river is expected to add from 600,000 to 700,000 gallons per day to the city's water supply. The springs will all be tapped by next summer.

The board's receipts during the quarter ending Aug. 31 were $34,671 26, of which $16,246 21 was in water rates, and $17,990 25 in bank balances. After expenses a balance of $13,845 25 was carried over.

During the week ending Monday, 17,292,090 gallons of water were pumped. There is 10 feet 6 inches of water in the reservoir.

REV. MR. TALLING AGAIN HONORED

Presented With an Address and a Standard Dictionary by His Congregation.

Rev. Mr. P. Talling, B.A., the retiring pastor of St. James' Presbyterian Church, was again surprised last night at the weekly prayer-meeting, and presented with an address and a beautiful "Standard Dictionary," handsomely bound in morocco.

The attendance was one of the largest ever seen at a prayer-meeting in the history of the church. Mr. Talling read Psalm xxiii, and spoke of it as his mother's favorite and associated with his boyhood days.

The address was read by Rev. D. C. Johnston, and was highly eulogistic of Mr. Talling's efforts during the past seven years as a diligent and devoted pastor of the people. His official connection with the Saturday early closing movement and the more recent effort to provide hospital accommodation for the sick and suffering was an excellent proof of this. In the work of the Ministerial Association and the Christian Council he had taken a prominent part. His labors had been greatly blessed among the young people, and the gratitude and harmony that had prevailed in the congregation and between Mr. Talling and his brother ministers had been noted by all.

The address referred to Mrs. Talling in the most affectionate terms. As the efficient president of the Ladies' Aid and other works, her services had been faithful and cheerfully rendered. It was signed on behalf of the congregation by Rev. D. C. Johnston, clerk of the session; Hugh Omond, superintendent of the Sunday school; and Neil McNeil, chairman of the board of managers.

In reply to the address, Rev. Mr. Talling said it made him feel a sort of humility at receiving so much more than he deserved, but it was only another evidence of the sterling character of the people among whom he had labored. He did not suppose there was another church in Canada where the congregation gave so much in proportion to their means towards the preaching of the gospel. They gave an average of $42 per family, and there wasn't a rich man in the church. He referred to the many presents given him, and said: "I cannot tell you, dear friends, how much I regret leaving London, with its pure water, its clean journalism, its faithful police force, its splendid educational privileges and nobly-manned pulpits. He regretted to sever his connection with the university, the Baconian Club, the London Presbyterian Council, the Ministerial Association, and above all, St. James' Church. He would look back upon the seven years spent here with pleasant memories.

Rev. A. Stuart spoke of Mr. Talling in high terms. He commended the step the pastor was about to take, and wished he had done the same thing himself in his younger days. Times had changed since then, he said, when pastors occupied pulpits for 20 or 40 years. As a general rule now long pastorate were not the best for the people.

The meeting closed with the singing of "God be with you till we meet again."

EAST END CHICKEN THIEVES

Caught in the Act, but Escaped—Made a Large Haul.

Chicken thieves were prowling around the East End yesterday morning, and made some very daring steals.

The chief losers were Messrs. Marshall Smith and Alfred Allan, of Queen's avenue, east of English street. Mr. Smith was awakened by a noise in his coop, and on getting up saw a man dragging some of the fowls to the side-pur.

Mr. Smith gave chase, but the thief jumped into a democrat wagon, in which a companion was seated, and the two drove off. Other coops were raided with less success than the two mentioned, but the scamps secured a large number of birds.

A Little Below the Average—The Jury's Presentment.
