STATES THAT MAYOR BLOCKED THE PROPOSAL BY DISAGREEING

City Engineer George Wright, who is at present in Muskoka for his health, has been informed of the strictures passed on his depart.hent by the special investigation committee, and today forwarded his reply to The Advertiser. In it, he makes certain direct charges against Mayor Graham, who is accused of interfering with the department, and refusing to allow the engineer to carry out certain changes in the method of putting down the walks that would have prevented the contractor from taking Yerkes, 2b. 4 0 advantage of the city. This his worship refused to allow, Mr. Speaker, c. f. ... 3 0 Wright claims, and the present condition of affairs is largely due | Lewis, I. f.4 | 1 | Gardner 3b.3 | 0

Mr. Wright uses plain language in his letter, and recounts Wagner, s.s. ... several instances of alleged interference. The appointment of Carrigan, c. ... 2 Mr. Robert Logan as ward foreman of Ward 3, against the recommendation of Engineer Wright, is cited as an example.

The letter is as follows:

To the Editor of The Advertiser: I am advised by friends of mine in London that since I have been in Muskoka, many and varied are the remarks and aldermen, and while I am willing to take all the blame that may be coming to me or my department, I feel it is a duty to myself and my many friends in London that certain statements be contradicted, and that a little light be thrown on the subion Mayor, Graham should be the last one in the council to misrepresent the facts, and to publicly, through the columns of the press, advise me what my action should be.

City Engineer Wright, as announced ! in the companying etter, has ten-dered is resignation, and it will be considered at the next meeting of the city council,

The letter was received from him in Muskoka by Mrs. Wright, and forwarded to Mayor Craham at noon. In it he states his reasons, and they are given as follows:

Oct. 8, 1912. To His Worship the Mayor, and Members of the City Council Gentlemen,-Owing to he conditions said to exist in my department, and to the fact that the management is said to be very lax, I cannot do other, in justice to you and my ... Applications for the position will be called for at once, it is said. The aldermen have no man in sight for the position at the moment.

Some of them are in favor of placing former City Engineer Graydon in charge temporarily. He is conversant with the routine of the office, and could handle the busines, until such a time as the new engineer is named.

AMUSEMENTS

A most amusing play is to be presented at the Opera House tonight when Francis Wilson's gloom dispel-"The Bachelor's Baby" with Etienne Girardot is to be the offering. This play is said to bristle with wit teem with humor, and to possess epigramatic sentences of a keen and irresistibly appreciative type. The story is that of an old bachelor, who, in his single blessedness abhors children, and treats them with anything but pleasantness. He suddenly becomes a guardian of the daughter of his deceased brother; he refuses to receive her, but the youngster somehow meets him and with childish charms effectively captured the bachelor's heart. A play that contains a story of this nature must necessarily abound in laughter-producing situations.

"The Spring Maid" Holds Records. Few operettas have played in this country to as many thousand musiclovers as has "The Spring Maid," which comes to the Grand on Saturday night for its second visit. When the company, headed by Gene Luneska and J. H. Goldsworthy, which will be heard here, opened its season at Atlantic City the second week in August, it celebrated the one thousandth perform. ance of the operetta in this country alone. After the phenomenal success of, "The Spring Maid" at the New York Liberty Theatre three seasons ago, Werba and Luescer yielded to the demands for the operetta from all parts of the country, and within a few months three organizations were singing "Two Little Love Bees," "How I Love a Pretty Face." "Day Dreams," and the score of other gems with which the opera abounds, one organization playing the Pacific Coast for fifteen months without a pause, the company to be seen here covering the eastern territory, and the third the Central States. Seats now on sale.

has a musical play been put on the stage in such an elaborate and artistic manner. The delightful music of "The Pink Lady," by far the best that Ivan Carvil has composed, is immenseley popular and C. M. S. McLellan has written a book that bristles with fun. The New York and London company will be seen here. Seats tomororw at 9 a.m. It is many a long day since a musical play has met with such a high degree of favor as "The Pink Lady." Like a celebrated breakfast food, there is a reason—in fact, several reasons. Reason 1: Ivan Caryll's exquisitely beautiful music. Reason 2: An unusually entertaining book replete with irresistibly funny situations. Reason-but there are so many more such as the exceptional cast, pretty girls galore and a production that has been rarely equalled for beauty and then there are the costumes fresh from Paris and a lot of other features.

DEMOCRATS ARE SURE TO CONTROL HOUSE

Fall Election Also May Give Them Majority of Members of Senate.

Washington, D. C., Oct. 9 .- Whatever ise may be the result of the November elections, it is practically assured that the Democrats will control the House by an overwhelming majority, and probably also the Senate.

Even some of the Progressive Republicans serving in Congress are likely to be defeated. They can be saved only with regular Republicans who have declared for Roosevelt only by a landslide for the colonel. Mr. Taft is giving no help to the congressional candidates of his party. Indeed, they have indicated their view that he is a burden to them by their refusal, its most insteads. in most instances, to support him.
In order not to antagonize the Taft Republicans, these candidates have adopted an on-the-fence attitude, and they will make every effort to prevent dislodgment until after the polls are closed next Democrats Full of Confidence. The Democrats Full of Confidence.

The Democrats have a majority of 68 in the present House of Representatives, and the Republicans, including the Progressives, control the Senate by a majorof seven.

There is not a state where the Demo-crats believe they will lose a member, and in many states they expect to gain. This expectation is based on the action of the Progressives in putting up candidates, who, it is believed, will cut more heavily into the Republican than the Democratic

ON OPERATING TABLE

In certain states, such as Kansas, for example, the Republican candidates must be for Roosevelt or the Progressives as in the case of Representative Campbell, will run a candidate of their own. The Taft forces are endeavoring to get as many voters to cast their ballots against the Roosevelt candidates as possible, and that this method of warfare may be effective, they practically have become allies fective, they practically have be ome allies

South Gives 117 Members.
The Solid South surely will be represented by Democrats, which means that 117 members of that party will obtain seats at the capitol. Thus more than one-fourth of the House has no chance of being other than Democrat. The Demo-crats expect to make gains also in Mis-souri, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and in the New England and far Western States.

The Democratic leaders are not anxious to have too big a majority. It is not conducive to good government to have a heavy preponderance of members of one party, since the inevitable result is usually to assure the adoption of the program assure the adoption of the program of the leaders, owing to their ability al-ways to obtain a majority of the cauminority has not the time to examine the details

Four Progressives at Polls. Four Progressives at Polls.

Of the sixteen Democrats whose seats in the Senate will become vacant on March 4 next, every one will succeed himself or his successor will be a member of the saying that no nation quarrels with the same party. Only four Progressives are candidates for the Senate—Borah of Idaho, Norris of Nebraska, Dixon of Monana and Kenyon of Iowa. Borah is anti-Taft, but has not publicly proclaimed his support of Roosevelt. Norris is strongly for Poosevelt. Dixon

Norris is strongly for Moseven. Black is Roosevelt's campaign manager. Kenyon is for Taft. Borah probably will be reelected. The Amalgamated Copper Company expects to beat Dixon. Norris has pany expects to beat Dixon. Norris has a good chance of victory, and Kenyon has a fighting chance.

The Republicans will have great difficulty in winning in the struggle for seats from Oregon, where Senator Bourne, a Progressive, was beaten for the nomination by a standpatter; from New Jersey and from Colorado. It looks as if they will be successful in electing Republican sena-tors from New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Kansas, South Dakota, Minnesota, Deli-Kansas, South Dakota, Minnesota, Delt-ware, Wyoming, Michigan and Rhode Island.

Curtis and Stubbs Fighting.

In Kansas, Senator Curtis, the present incumbent, is fighting Gov. Stubbs, who is a Progressive Republican and who wen the primary nomination.

Senator Warren is practically assured of continuance in the Upper House, as are Senator William Allen Smith of Michigan.

Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, and In Illinois the Democrats believe they have a fighting chance, but this is based more on the hope of a Democratic landslide than upon any real indications.

It will be necessary for the Republicans to lose only four seats to give the Democrats control of the senate. OPENING OF PARLIAMENT

London, Oct. 9. - Joseph Devlin, member of Parliament for West Belfast, has written a statement on the meaning of the Ulster covenant. He

"It is meant to throw dust in the eyes of the British people, to bluff them into the notion that the first consequence of the enactment of home rule will be the preparation of Carson and his followers to rebel against the authority of the Irish Parliament and the armed revolt of Ulster against any attempt to enforce the authority of that Parliament in that part of Ulster where Carson's supporters have the

"It is an attempt to overawe imperial Parliament and to prevent the concession of the constitutional de-mand of the Irish people for home Recalls Former Threats. "Public opinion is too well informed and enlightened in England now for any such attempt to succeed.

"The Ulster ascendancy party's members have made similar threats in the past, which came to nothing. They threatened civil war if Catholic emanipation was granted in 1829; they hreatened to kick the Queen's crown into the Boyne if the Protestant Church in Ireland was disestablished, and on practically every occasion of reform their threats have been repeated. These proved to be only idle words, and there s no reason why the present threats should prove otherwise.

"Civil war in Ulster would mean civil uin for those responsible.

Guaranty For Protestants.

"The home rule bill provides for the ontinued representation of Ireland in he imperial Parliament. The control of the army and navy, and the collecion of taxes has been inserted in the bill to meet the fears of the Protestants and guarantee them protection against persecution or annoyance on ccount of their religion, and this is a ountry which has a record for toleration that is absolutely unique.

"There is no reality behind the covenant. In Belfast the Unionists themselves make it a subject of jest and Who are the Corsonites going to fight? There is no enemy except the King and Parliament, to which they are never tired of proclaiming their loyalty, and a contest between the British army and Carson's braves is too absurd to imagine. Home Rule Bill Accepted.

"The present Government has a maority of over one hundred. It was returned twice in 1910, with a clear mandate for home rule. The bill has been accepted by the Irish party and people as a final settlement of the Irish difficulty. It has been hailed with delight and approval by all the selfgoverning dominions of the British Empire. In two years it will pass into law whether the lords like it or

"There is no reason why the present Government should not last the full term. Not a vote has been lost at the by-elections on the question of home cus held on important legislative proposals; and the majority of the caucus binds every member of the party.

This means also a lack of that complete analysis of the various measures considered, for the reason that a small minority has not the time to every the condemn the bigoted brigade from

"It is not improbable that the Unionist leaders will advise the Ulster the saying that no nation quarrels with its own bread and butter, and the saying has an application to the Ulster question.

"The meaning, then, of the Ulster covenant is bluff. The probable result will be a flasco.'

SEES HAND OF STEEL BEHIND ROOSEVELT

Wilson Declares the Big Corporation Is Backing the Progressives.

Pueblo, Col., Oct. 8. - Governor

Woodrow Wilson, in a speech made here today, charged that the United States Steel Corporation "is behind the third-party program in regard to regulation of the trusts." Corroborative Senator Knute Nelson of Minnesota, and evidence of that assertion, the gover-senator Richardson of Delaware. nor said, was coming to him every day. "It is a very interesting circumstance," said Governor Wilson, "that the United States Steel Corporation is behind the third-party program as regards the relation of the trusts. Now, I den't want to say that to prejudice you, because I am not here to indict anybody. I am perfectly ready to admit that the officers of the Steel Corpeartion think that is the best thing or the United States, My point is that these gentlemen have grown up in the atmosphere of the things that they of Parliament will be an- themselves have created and which the law of the United States has so far attempted to destroy. And they now want a government which will perpetuate what they have created." The governor said he had been asked as he got further west to put a "punch" in his speeches, and "hit the other fellow." He declared that he was not interested in persons, but issues. "What difference does Mr. Taft's record make to me?" said the governor, "What difference does Mr. Roose velt's career make to me? What difference do my own attainments make in the face of the tremendous issues? who have passed the allotted span by tell you I can't afford to think of Mr. Taft and Mr. Roosevelt in thinking of

> The governor attacked the platforms of the other parties and digressed once to say: "I call it the third party because I will not concede to it the exclusive title, 'Progressive.'"

SERVICE IN ST. PAUL'S

London, Oct. 3. - Arrangements have been made by Lord Strathcona, the instance of Premier for a service to be held in St. Paul's Cathedral here on Monday next, commemorative of the one hundredth anniversary of the death of General Sir Isaac Brock, and of his services to the empire. PREPARING FOR THE THANKSGIVING DINNER

Few people give more than passing thought to the amount of planning and preparing (apart from the fattening of the turkey) that is going on for months in view of coming events, or what may be termed or better known as feast days, as well as a time for thanksgiving. Thanksgiving Day, Christmas and Easter are three periods which almost entirely influence, if not govern, the designing, manufacturing and sale of linens, particularly of the higher order, such as are imported by this store from the world's greatest makers in Ireland—such household names as John Brown and Ireland Bros., whose stamp is sufficient guarantee for any housewife who has ever used a piece of such linen.

THE THANKSGIVING LINENS ARE HERE—And today we will list a few of the higher grades, which are as a rule the first to be selected, as many are exclusive sets and not duplicated except by special order. See this assortment while complete.

Fashions All Black Suitings and Coatings for Indorsed and accepted by every authority on style, blacks are making an exceptionally strong run for first place this season. The all-black Coats and Suits are more popular now than in many years, the materials shown having strong influence in their favor, the sharp Whipcords and Diagonals being particularly smart.

smission through the mails as

If the Balkan States persist in their attack on Turkey in spite of warnings from the powers, there is doubtless a method in their madness all the same. Serbs and Bulgarians had to fight in desperation themselves in 1876-7 before Russia came in. Greece fought and suffered for years before help came. The Bulgarians particularly can count on popular sympathy in Russia as a moving force not to be altogether ignored even by the Czar's bureaucracy.

The pet name of the Bulgarians in Russia is "the little brothers." A mixed Slav and Asiatic race, they speak are like the Russians, half oriental, half and belong to the same religion.

It is true that the present warmth of sympathy has not been uninterrupttonomous Bulgaria, and put on the airs patriot party of the new principality, pendence with their products. headed by the famous Stambulov, resented and resisted Russian meddling, causing such strained relations between the big and little brothers that the first Prince of Bulgaria abdicated in 1887 the present ruler, Ferdinand, who celebrated his 25th anniversary perhaps by a rift in the continuous trend of Bulgarian politics was so pro-

THE TRANSFERABLE VOTE.

The recurring election of minority candidates in British constituencies, where the progressive vote is divided between the Liberals and Laborites, has strengthened the demand for a change in the electoral machinery. Postmaster-General Samuel, in a speech at Hartlepool, after the Midlothian election, held out a prospect of the adoption of the transferable vote as an alternative to the present system. In Germany, when a candidate fails to secure a majority of the vote polled on the first ballot, the two candidates in the lead go to a second ballot. This plan lends itself to log-rolling and wire-pulling. In the second ballots in the last election to the tory, and a moral one as well. Reichstag, Liberals supported Conservatives, and Conservatives supported Liberals, according to local exigencies. As Mr. Samuel said, the second ballot leads to intrigues between the parties, and sometimes to very unholy alliances after the first ballot, besides doubling the disturbance at each general election. He preferred the transferable vote, by which any elector could express his first and second choice at one balloting. In the Midlothian election the transferable vote would have worked out in this way: at the end of the first count it would have been clear that the issue lay between Mr. Hope, Conservative. and Mr. Shaw, Liberal, the Laber candidate, Mr. Brown, running third with time, and it would be noted how experience and not merely upon that and after it had been considered by the leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the public may wish to give will be in leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the public may wish to give will be in leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the public may wish to give will be in leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the public may wish to give will be in leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the public may wish to give will be in leaving him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him on account of the methods top, have this work marked when the him of the methods top, have the him of the methods top, have the him of the method top, have the him of the method top, have the method top top, have t many supporters had put a "2" against the name of Shaw, and how many had put a "2" against the name of Hope. But of wedding bells and diamond rings. unless the relations between the Liberal and Labor parties improve in the meantime, they will be fighting each other in scores of constituencies in the next election, and their mutual enemy, the Unionists, will profit accordingly.

THE WHEAT GROWERS' LESSON. The United States exported only 4-5 per cent, of its wheat crop last rear against 41 per cent. in 1901. Last year, too, it imported 25,000,000 oushels of wheat, or more than a third of the exports.

In a few years the United States will be importing more wheat than it exports, and the excess of imports will grow rapidly and continuously. The bulk of the imports would be supplied by Canada unless a tariff preference were given to Argentina and other wheat-exporting countries, which would not be so short-sighted as to refuse a free exchange of natural products with the greatest food-consuming country in he world

With an excess of imports, the price of wheat in the United States will progressively incre unless the a Slavonian language closer akin to tariff is lowered or abolished. [Canadian Press.]

London, Oct. 10.—"The whole matter of the Panama Canal bill, together with the views of the legal advisers to the British crown on the subject is under consideration by the cabinet," was the reply today of Sir Edward Grey. British secretary of state for foreign affairs, to a question in the House of Commons.

W. A. S. Hewins asked whether the British foreign office had received any definite reply to the representations made to the United States and whether the Desister Government was making any British Government was making any further representation.

Sir Edward Grey said: "In informing the United States of Great Britain's in-

ENGLAND AND GERMANY

By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

It is curious how nations change in their attitude towards each other during the course of time: Today England is interested in Germany because she fears her as her rival in manufactures and world power. England fears Germany, because she feels that the educational system of her rival is enabling her to produce not only skilled artisans, but skilled scientists, manufacturers, and soldiers. In the last analysis of the causes which have made Germany forge ahead so rapidly during the last quarter of a century cannot her success be ascribed to her patient experiments in industrial chemistry? Those plodding scholars of Germany, the most tireless, the most exact scholars in the world today, have done wonders in enabling the manufacturers of the Kaiserland to compete successfully in the markets of the world. Exact science, then, is Germany's strongest asset.

It is this fact that strives us as being so curious when that in the sixteenth century, in the days of Mariowe and Shakespeare, Germany was almost a terra incognita to the people of England. It is true that Protestantism had been "made towards its close, England had become the aggressive Protestant country, Germany the reactionary. So little was known of Germany that it stood for the word mystery. No interest was taken by the majority of Englishmen in Germany's political events, and all the interest that was taken in the Rhineland was because it was the country of magicians and necromancers. All the wild, unscientific, super-Germany. It was the cesspool in which the yellow journalist, the pamphlet menger of the spacious days of great Elizabeth, fished with greatest success. For instance, the celebrated the employ of the city a little more story of Dr. Faustus, he who entered into that eternally interesting hargain with Mephistopheles, came from Germany. Faustus was a real doctor, who ers, and of whom all sorts of hairaising stories were told after his death. The "Faustbuch," published his resignation is accepted. long after his death, was eagerly read charges made against Mayor Graham in Germany, was translated into English in 1592, and proved an inspiration the matter more thoroughly, and it its stories into his great drama. But other magicians, like Cornelius Agrip- expected that Mr. Wright will pa and Paracelsus, forefathers of the modern chemists of Germany, became equally famous as supposed trafficers with the evil one. Englishmen obtained their latest news regarding magic, alchemy, astrology and sorcery from the country of Dr. Faustus.

Imagine with what avidity the people of London must have purchased the news-sheets full of yellow memories from Germany, especially those pearing these choice titles: "A Bloody Tragedy Acted by Five Jesuits on Sixteen Young German Frows.

"Account of Executions of Two Hundred and Fifty Witches." "Strange Sight of the Sun and the

CITY ENGINEER RESIGNING

(Continued From Page One.) from my office on his motion at a meeting of the special investigating committee, and deposited in the office of the city clerk, to be used by that committee in checking up the work, and if these reports cannot be produced on application, I would like to know what has become of them, or on whose authority they have been withheld. This point can very readily be established and my statement regarding these reports found to be cor-Harassed With Complaints. During the construction of the walks n the business district, I was harassed daily with complaints from the contractor that the inspector was interfering with the men, and stopping the complaints with the foreman in charge; these complaints and conditions existed until the work was stopped by the inspector on account of poor cement, with the result that not foot of walk was laid that night,

The mayor had been plaining about the progress of work, and the amount of torn up ahead of the cement walk to enable the water commissioners to make the necessary repairs to their water services, before the concrete could be put in, and as I was getting very poor satisfaction from the manner in which the work was progressing, I went to the mayor, explaining condition of things, and advised him that I was going to take the contract away from Mr. Anthistle, and do the work by day labor. This seemed to be satisfactory, and I bought materials and prepared equipment to go on with this work. I advised the mayor that I had everything in readiness to start construction when I was informed by him that I could only undertake the downtown streets, Mr. Anthistle was to be permitted to the outside work.

This change was absolutely necessary for the reasons that the mayor refused to have all the work done by day labor, and the contractor refusing to continue with Mr. Rymill. The mayor and committee were not consulted on this matter, as I had by a former resolution of council full control over the placing and hiring of all inspectors, and it is on this ground that I have stated "the mayor knew nothing of the change until after it was spector and instructed him to lay his made," and I assumed all responsibility for the change, and while the result of the change had been far from satisfactory the daily reports turned in by the inspector show that sufficient had been raised, and he has been placed materials were being used, and the fact that so many imperfections and poor when in my opinion he is not worth a ward foreman) half the amount who when in my opinion he is not worth (as a ward foreman) half the amount which he is now receiving. Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for two minutes. Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (fifty cents' worth) in a 16-ounce bottle, then add the Sugar Syrup. It keeps perfectly. Take a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

This is just laxative enough to help cure a cough. Also stimulates the appe-tite, which is usually upset by a cough.

The taste is pleasant.

The effect of pine and sugar syrup on the inflamed membranes is well known. STUNNING FULL-LENGTH WRAP

One of the great masters of coat and wrap fashioning is Bernhardt, whose striking styles are eagerly sought by women who wish distinctiveness in dress. This beautiful wrap is among the handsomest of the season's styles, and may be made up in velvet, broadcloth or any coat material that lends itself to the style. The feature of the fashion shown—a very new notion—is the one-sided trimming, which may be lace, brocaded silk, velvet, fur or anything else which harmonizes with and sets off the material.

This wrap is turquoise blue. A heavy band of ratine lace, dyed to match the wrap and placed over black satin to throw the pattern into relief, constitutes the trimming.

Pretty Cushion Covers

lomely Materials Often Give Splendid Results, With Little Work

There are many ways of making a retty cushion cover. Squares of inex-ensive tapestry or silk are easily procured, while for applique, remnants of good cloth are invaluable. A soft shade of dark green is a good background, while design can be cut from various colored cloths or fabrics and then applied. This s always a quick method of embroidery, as the edges only require covering with cord or silk to make all neat. Elaboration can be given by "working up" the design when desired, such as the addition of a little shading, or working veins to the leaves. A few touches of this kind do away wiht any appearance of flatness. A cover for a garden or river cushion can be envolved from linen, and a floral design is easily made by appliques of linen upon it, these outlined with fine string, while the stalks can be made from several rows of coarser string couched closely together. Ordinary string upon stringcolored linen is harmonious, and a design of lilies (the flowers cut from pink satin touched up with silk and the edges covered with a string outline, the leaves of green silk or linen being treated in the ame way) is wonderfully handsome. The needle-woman will be surprised at the eally splendid results to be obtained from such homely materials, and will find it very fascinating work. Some designs lend themselves more easily to this kind of

How to Transfer

Here are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material Perhaps the easiest way is the "win

With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. considered most attractive. It is used in various ways in connection with the fine handkerchief linen or batiste of which the pillows are made. A simple way is to use wo bands of the lace across the pillow finishing the edge where the material is joined with a casing through which colored ribbon is run. A great many women make christening presents of these lingerie or baby pillows, crocheting the filet lace for the purpose and then making the dainty little pillow by hand. Animal motifs are very popular for the baby pillows. Among the animals which are crocheted for this purpose are rabbits, ducks, bees, chickens, roosters, cows bats, swans, deer, dogs, butterflies, peacocks and owls. For a baby's pillow one of these animal or bird motifs is crocheted in either a square or oblong design. The design is large in comparison with the size of the lace square on which it is used. It almost fills up the square, It is set in the centre of one side of the pillow and sometimes a little casing for the ribbon is run around it. The square designs are also used in the centre of the round pillows. When the design is oblong t is set in an oblong pillow. An oblong design has usually more than one figure In one of these lace oblongs meant for a small pillow there is a tree at one end, then an archaic cow and then a little squat bush. Another smaller oblong has three chickens, one chicken in the middle full face and the two others on either side of this one in profile. A wider oblong has two doves facing each other with their bills meeting. The chickens, rab-

And after the mother had gone the little daughter never forgot her promise. Each morning and evening she took the mirror from its hiding place, for she, too, kept it among her precious things, and looked into it long and earnestly. There she always saw reflected the bright and smiling vision of the lost mother. Not pale and sickly, as in her last days, but young, blooming and beautiful, as she emembered the young mother of long

of the trials and difficulties of the day, how sorry she was for her faults, and how much she wished to correct them; and every morning she asked encouragement for the coming duties and problems of the day. So every day the little Ayesa lived in her mother's sight, striving still to please her as she had done in her life-time, and careful to avoid whatever might pain and grieve her.

Her great joy was to be able to look into the mirror every night and say Dear mother, I have been today what you would have me be." And when the nother smiled and seemed to speak to her Ayesa felt almost as if she still held her mother in her arms.

Now the father wondered what the little girl did every day when she went to her room, and he could hear her talking to the mirror, and one day he asked her the reason of her conduct. "Father," said the little girl, "my mother comes to me every day in this mirror, and I can look at her and talk to her. This is what she wished me to do and I have never failed once to obey her." And the father could not bear to tell his little daughter that the image she saw was only the reflection of her own sweet face, becoming more and more like that of her mother every day by constant sympathy and association. And, whether the little girl ever found out the true secret of the mirror, the old Japanese tale does not tell. But one sometimes wonders if the Matsuyama mirror would not play its part as well in the life of Ayesa even if she never found out its secret. [The End.]

Mathewson Was Unable to Beat Stahl's Men, But He Held Them to a Tie Score By a Game Exhibition of Pitching.

Boston, Mass., Oct. 9.—Today's game, one of the best ever played in a world's series from the dramatic standpoint, and positively the worst technically, resulted in a tie at six runs for each club, after eleven innings of thrills, tumping and mechanical imperfections. The stickler for accuracy in fielding, in base running and in thinking, would call it a bad ball game; the ordinary fan, who cares nothing for technique just so the general effect is pleasing, will tell his grandchildren about it when all of the players who appeared today are gray hair, doddering old men. As a vehicle for purveying excitement the contest never has been equalled in a series for the championship of the world, and it was the heaviest hitting game, summing up the batting of both sides, that ever has been played in one of these post-season imbroglios. Courage and determination on both sides served to effect a lot of fielding flaws and a battle that would have been a massacre had either side's grit failed for a moment, was kept close all the way, and finally ended a tie because neither club knew when it was beaten. Boston started out with an advantage of thre: runs, these being scored in the very first inning by a combination of three hits and an error. This early in the day, it looked as though Mathewson, New York's pitcher, was to be the day, it looked as though Mathewson, New Forks pitcher, was to be butchered or else driven to the bench to escape this fate. In the face of this very discouraging start, however, "Big Six," as game a man as ever wore a uniform, settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that uniform, settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that uniform, settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and for the remainder of the game was so steady that the local two settled down and settled dow the hardest sort of work

Gave Colilns Early Lead. Collins, the big left-hander, has done such good work for the Boston club this season, given the fine lead in the first inning, could not hold his advantage, and the eighth had to quit. Charlie Hall Substituted. In the face of this crisis, Collins was taken out, and Charlle Hall, the hoarse-voiced Mexican, substituted. The new-comer caused Merkle to foul out, Carrigan making the catch. With two down, Boston's infield moved back, and the fans took new hope. "Buck" Herzog was the next batter and, with one strike ca'led, he elevated a foul that fell just on the edge of the row of field boxes on the first base side of the plate. Bill Carthe first base side of the plate. Bill Carrigan, in whose dictionary the word 'fear' does not appear, dashed to the fail of the box, leaned over and got his Fletcher mitt under the ball. For a moment the sphere seemed about to stick in the it was time to yank the shortstop out and pocket of the glove, but it bounded out and Herzeg had another lease of life.

Starts Cheering Afresh.

Duffy Lewis started the cheering afresh when he caught one of Matty's curves squarely on the nose and lined it to the centre field palings. Snodgrass happened to play this ball nicely off the boards, so Lewis made but two bases. Then came the most brilliant fielding play of the the most brilliant fielding play of the game, when Larry Doyle went into right field, speared Gardner's hot bounder with ed the game.

Matty Should Have Won.

On the merits of the play, New York ought to have won, there is no denying that. Errors were responsible for five of that. Errors were responsible for five of the six Boston runs, Fletcher being the particular sieve and butter-fingered expert of the afternoon. The official scorers give the New York shortstop only two errors, yet it would be no more than justice to Mathewson to charge him with four. Lewis' muff was the only error charged against the Red Sox, but there were a number of bad plays made and several good ones left unmade, and Duffy's malfeasance, as it prevented his club's winning, was as unfortunate as the various kieles and fumbles charged to Fletcher and reasance, as it prevented his crub's will reason and said he came from out of sinces, and fumbles charged to Fietcher and town.

The official forecaster was not nearly others, seeing that it accomplished just much as two of them, possibly a base more on a clear field. All three of the Gotham triples and the two that adorn the Hub side of the score as well, were certain home runs on a park with a long centre field, the extemporized fences here stopping them after they had got beyond the rear of the outfielders, and were travelling too fast to be overtaken. Small Score Surprising. Considering the fact that each club got eleven safeties, including an unusually large percentage of extra bases, and that there was much loose play, it is surpris-ing that the score did not reach double figures. The only thing that averted a per-fectly prodigious count was that there always was some batter on each side who ould be depended on to fall down in a inch and kill the rallies. With all due credit to Captains Wagner of Boston and Larry Doyle, the rival field leader, for some wonderful plays, there was one big hero this afternoon, and his name is Christopher Mathewson. They were saying before the game that "Big Six" is all in, and that the Red Sox would knock his shoes off if he dared go on the mound against them. It is true that he was found often and hard, but the nerve and cunning that made him one of the greatest pitchers the game ever knew still were in evidence, and he looked considerably more Times without number the great veteran pitched himself out of holes; again and again he refused to be rattled by the horrible playing of Fletcher and others who were supposed to be support-ing him but who really ought to have worn the home uniforms so helpful were efforts to the Red Sox. Anyone who will glance at the columns in the box score where hits and total bases are recorded, can see for himself that the batsmen of both sides had a gala day. Three of New York's two-baggers and one credited to Boston were drives into the left field stand, but all of these doubles would have been worth just as doubles would have been worth just as evenly matched good and bad playing yesterday, the crowd today was smaller and gathered more slowly than that of resterday. There was much uncertainty over the

would be good tomorrow.

Players Wanted Postponement.

Managers McGraw and Stahl, in common with nearly all their players, were ready to greet the announcement of a postponement with satisfaction. Darkness ended yesterday an exhausting struggle, and was hard on the pitchers. New York has two pitchers who need to rest. Tesreau, who was knocked out of the box in the opening game of the series in New York on Tuesday, and the one-time redoubtable Mathewson, who finished redoubtable Mathewson, who mission yesterday's game under a severe mental and physical strain. He said today: "It was the hardest game I ever played. I certainly felt 'all in' when it was over."

Mathewson's failure to win—this man ner of phrasing the result was most fre ner of phrasing the result was most frequently voiced by the Boston players—was a blow to McGraw's plan. "I did expect Matty to win for us," he said. "I haven't used him for nearly a month, and I was sure he could come through.
But he did not lose, we did not lose, and the moral victory belongs to us. The

With one game tucked safely away, that won with Joe Wood pitching at New York Tuesday, Boston pitching at New York Tuesday, Boston has to win only three games to succeed to the championship. But Stahl has used up four pitchers in two days. Collins. Hall and Bedient figuring successively in

LECURES ON TRAINING FOR SABBATHTEACHERS

Principal Waller Ad sses Anglican Instructors on Efficiency.

Rev. Principal Waller, of Huron College, addressed a meeting of Sunday school teachers of the Anglican Church Wednesday night in St. Matthew's Church, East London, in behalf of the teachers' training course, which has been inaugurated recently by the Anglican Sunday school commission.

The object of the course, as explained by Principal Waller, is to nave more efficient Sunday school teachers, and to gain this end a regular program of subjects have been described for teaching and discussion thereon. The course is open for all Sunday school teachers and all who may desire to become teachers. The clergy of the Anglican are now concentrating their efforts to open up a class in a central location. The principal has had a preparatory class under his direction for some time which was interdenominational, but this class will be dropped by the Anglicans when the teacher training course has been started.

been drawn up, were renewed with ex-tra vigor last night. Under the coaching of Captain Borland, Manager Stevens and the coach, the 18 men who turned out were put through one of the best prac-tices of the season. Although rain fell from 5 o'clock until dark the practice was not called until it was too dark to see the ball on a short pass Season Opens Saturday, London opens the season at home on Saturday against the recently-organized Sarnia team, but the locals are not taking it easy by any means during the practices, as it is understood that several players of exceptionally good calibre have located in Sarnia during the summer. have located in Sarnia during the summer. On the Saturday following the hardest game in the district will be played when the university boys will meet the Petrolea outfit on the oil fields. That this game will be the stiffest of the season is without doubt, and the locals will put oil" crew on their own stamping grounds. In all probability a special train will be arranged for on the try to Petrolea and a large crowd of rooters. will accompany the team if such is the case. No game is scheduled for the Saturday before Thanksgiving, but on the holiday afternoon the locals will demonstrate to the natives of Sarnia how the game should be played. The last game for the locals will be played on Saturday, Nov. 2, with Petrolea as the prospective victims of the "Rah Rah" The committee that drew up the schedule appears to have had a hunch that this is London's year, and as a result have arranged that the university club's games are played off first, so that the home and home games with the win-ners of other groups can be arranged without the loss of any time.

The Probable Line-Up. The Probable Line-Up.

The team that will represent the club in the first game has not yet been announced, but there will be a number of changes in the line-up. The back field in all probability will be composed of "Dick" Whetter at full, Capt. Borland at centre half, Judd at left half, Mac-Queen at right, and Eddia McKer at the came will the agmes will be entertained greatly by the efforts of the songsters.

The last hard practice of the week will be held at Tecumseh Park tonight at 5:39, and everyone is urged to attend, as the team will then be selected. A signal practice and chalk talk will be held to-morrow night, but as yet the arrange—ments have not been completed.

The practices of the Western University football squad, which have been lagging for the past few days on account of the fact that the schedule had not help a lot in rounding out a championhelp a lot in rounding out a champion-ship team. Whetter has played with the Montreal A. A. Intermediate fourteen and with the Port Arthur team. Judd was with Woodstock College for the last two or three years, and Borland and MacQueen played the same positions on the Winnipeg Tigers last year when that team won the Intermediate championship

Line Not Yet Picked. The line is causing the officers the most trouble, but the trouble is not in getting men but to pick out the best players from the large number of can-didates. The scrimmage on Saturday will likely be composed of McKinnon, cen-tre scrim, with Laird and Hogg on either side. The inside wings will be Chivers and Raymond, middles Stevens and Rowan, while Chatto and Steele will look after the outside positions. This team, without doubt, will be one of the best that has represented London for a long time. But, a Connie Mack stated last fall, the strength of a team depends upon its substitute, and the locals are strongly fortified with excellent spares. Ardiel, Little, Wrenn and spares. Ardiel, Little, Wrenn and Campbell are all showing up well and will have to be reckoned with before the team is finally selected.

A Rooters' Club.

One rather disappointing feature the practices is the apparent lack of in-terest taken in the team by the students of the Medical School. Only one of the of the Medical School. Only one of the players, Laird, is a student at that institution, but it is understood that "Bill" Avery is organizing a strong rooters club at the school, and all the members when they join have to swear that they will accompany the team on all the trips during the season. Some of the spring poets at the school have been encouraged to break forth into verse, and the spectators at the games will be entertained

Washington, D. C., Oct. 10.—Exports from the United States to Canada are now averaging $1,000,000 a day. Three years ago they averaged a half milion dollars a day, and a dozen years ago they averaged a quarter of a million dollars a day. The August statement of exports, just completed by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce shows that the value of merchandise exported to Canada from the United States during the 244 days tically $244,000,000, or to be more exchandise exported to Canada was $120,ports to Canada having thus doubled corresponding period of 1900 the value sion. of our exports to that country was $67,500,000, or an average of a little more than a quarter of a million dollars a day.

This large growth in the exports to Canada in recent years—an increase along. of practically 100 per cent. in three years—occur chiefly in bituminous coal, automobiles and other carriages, manufactures of iron and steel, lumber, corn and unmanufactured cotton. Comparing the exports in the fiscal year 1912 with those of 1909, bituminous coal shows a growth of over $10,-000,000—from $15,826,019 in 1909 to $26,017,402 in 1912; lumber of the class STILL SHORT A JUROR 000,000-from $15,826,019 in 1909 to designated as boards, deals, joists, etc. from $11,796,333; and corn from $3,432,-081 to $6,568,671. Of iron and stee manufactures as a whole, the exports to Canada increased from $31,454,764 in 1912, notable increases have occurred in steel rails, which advanced from $745,835 to $3,369,894; structural iron and steel from $1,585,137 to $5,150,353; electrical machinery from $590,152 to $1,869,761, and typewriters from $353, 237 to $944,600. Scientific instrument and apparatus, including eletrical appliances advanced from $1,742,564 to $3,700,937 and agricultural implements $3,700,937 and agricultural implements from $2,313,556 to $6,347,082, the chief charles Becker, charged with the margowth under this head occurring in exports of plows, which increased from of 100 talesmen reported for examination. $792.829 in 1909 to $1,760,045 in 1912. Complete Nervous Breakdown Left Mr. Black an Invalid—Cured by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Henry Black.

What a helpless mass of flesh and bone the human body is, once the nerves become exhausted. Extreme weakness comes over you, and you lese control of the limbs. The next step is paralysis.

You will be fortunate if, like Mr. Black, you get the building-up process in action before it is forever too late. By forming new, rich blood Dr. Chase's Nerve Food carries new vigor and energy to every organ and every member of the human body.

Mr. Henry Black, 81 St. Catherine street east, Montreal, Que., writes :-"The wonderful results I obtained from the use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food constrain me to write this letter in order that others who suffer from nervous exhaustion and weakness may use this medicine with equally satisfactory results. As the result of overwork I became completely exnausted, and was unable to work for fourteen months. As I am the father of a family, these were sad days for me, but after I had used six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I had improved so greatly that I continued the treatment until I was completely restored to health and strength. Hospital Auxiliaries Discuss Many Practical Matters in Convention, [Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, Oct. 10.—Delegates from a number of auxiliaries to hospitals in Western Ontario towns and cities were present at a convention held in St. Paul's Church today. The delegates who arrived in the morning were treated to an automobile sightseeing trip about the town, which however, was marred to some extent by the rain. On their return to the church they were entertained at dinner by the local auxiliary and later in the afternoon a reception was held at the home of Mrs. McKay, King street west. At the business session many phases of hospital work that comes within the scope of auxiliaries was discussed.

No Reduction on Domestic or will be no reduction in domestic lighting, and he takes a different position from Mr. Pocock. He claims that street lighting is very high in order to make up the deficit from domestic lighting. He takes the ground that each department should stand on its own foundation, that domestic lighting, street lighting and power should cock, of the water commission, that each pay its way. In order to meet competition with the London Electric, domestic lighting was reduced to a figure below cost, and the street light-

Sheriff D. M. Cameron has suspended Night Watchman Archie Graham, pending an investigation that will be conducted by the inspector of prisons, Dr. Bruce Smith, to whom all circumstances of the death of Alexander Hammer were forwarded. The verdict returned by the jury exonerated all the jail officials from negligence but the sheriff is compeled by his instrutions to forward the irumstanes of all suh ases to th edepartment at To-

The officials at the jail are incensed over the statement made to The Advertiser by Mr. August Hammer on Wednesday, in which he stated that the night watchman was asleep, and if he had been attending to his duties, his brother would not have been able to commit suicide.

The only evidence upon which to base this allegation was a statement men who killed Herman Rosenthal, made at the inquest, when the watchman admitted that he might doze off sonal reason for them to desire his pany opened negotiations with the for a few minutes during a night, but death. Ald. Bennett objected to this method of procedure, claiming that the grounds should be leased by tender, senthal's gambling house, financed by giving any person who desired an opportunity of making a bid.

Mayor Graham denied that the grounds had been leased to any company, claiming that he had merely carried on negotiations.

However, the Erie Company, it is said, have a different idea of the matter, and if reports are to be believed, they claim that they have already obtained a lease of the grounds, and will hold the city to the agreement. It is claimed that a letter is in the possession of the solicitor of the company from City Clerk Baker, confirming the deal. On the strength of this, the company ordered a great deal of machinery, which has been and is now being installed on the beach. City Clerk Baker denies that there is any agreement between the city and the Amusement Company. "They have no such letter, with the city seal attached," said the clerk, "If the company can produce an agreement, I would like to see it." Mr. J. T. Green, St. Thomas, solici-

MR. NEELY REPLIES TO TEMPERANCE PEOPLE

Issues Statement in Which He Refuses to Commit Himself in Any Way.

Mr. George W. Neely, ex-M. P. P., the Conservative candidate in the coming by-election in East Middlesex, has forwarded his reply to the questions ask ed him by the temperance party or Saturday last. The letter is sent to Prof. James H. Bowman, and in it Mr. Neely refuses to subscribe to the propositions submitted by the advocates of temperance. Mr. Neely poses as a temperance man, however. His reply is as follows:

'Dear Sir,-In reply to the propositions re temperance submitted by you and Rev. Mr. Spence to me the other day, I may say that on account of be ing very ill, as I was when you were onversing with me, and am still, that delayed my answer until now. "While not wishing, specifically, to subscribe my signature to propositions and questions asked by ou, there is nothing in your questions that I am not thoroughly in accord with, where the ways and means of bringing about the object of your desires are sane or rational. This knowledge being absent at the present time we hesitate to submit ourselves merey to a general statement.

Being a supporter of the Government now in power, and who must be responsible for all legislation transacted, propositions of an irrational nature may only be prompted by those in opposition, who, if they were in power, might modify them a great deal. Also, the principle is wrong for the man who may be called upon to use his judgment in enacting legislation to forepromise himself before knowing all the details in connection with the questions brought out.

"This is not given as a reason for not pledging myself to the definite statements which you submitted I lo not wish to parade or have my vir tues paraded before the public, but say, however, that I am heartily in accord, as my past will bear me out with anything that tends to promote temperance. Respectfully yours, "GEORGE W. NEELY." "Dorchester, Oct. 9, 1912."

Rescued Shipmates Who Fell Overboard.

SARNIA BRANCH OFFICE, Office hours, 9 a.m. to 9:30 a.m., 8:30 p.m. to 1:00 p.m.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Oct. 10. - Two men employed as deckhands on the package freighter Lakeport were rescued from drowning in St. Clair River last night by the heroism of Charles O'Connor and fell into the water. O'Connor promptly sprang in after him and had no sooner succeeded in getting him safely aboard again, when another member of the crew, whose name is not known, fell in, and was nearly drowned before O'Connor reached him, and after a hard struggle managed to keep him up until help arrived.

The Sarnia City, one of the tugs belonging to the Reid Wrecking Company, went aground yesterday. The tug was bound down towing one of the Imperial Oil Company's barges. Three boxes of real, ripe strawberries were brought here today by Mr. C. L. Yates. The berries were grown on the farm of James Yates in the vicinity of Blackwell, and are all second-crop growth. Only a week or two ago samples of raspberries were shown here which were grown on the Indian reservation, also second-crop production.

NEW BOAT COMING. [Special to The Advertiser.] Sarnia, Oct. 10. - A new boat has been added to the fleet of the Imperial Oil Company. The vessel is called the Iocoma and was built in the old country.
