Discontinue "Automatic Boosts" In Teachers' Pay

TRUSTEES URGE INCREASES ONLY ON MERIT BASIS

Decision Is Made by Committee at Special Friday Session.

NINETY TEACHERS PRESENT

Many Radical Changes in Soldiers' Schedule Are Anticipated.

Automatic increases at the commencement of each year for London school teachers are to be but memories of the historic past. The London Advertiser was informed Friday morning that such shall henceforth be discontinued is the opinion of the salary committee of the board of education, which met again in special session Thursday evening to consider a new schedule for public, Collegiate and Technical school teachers.

Evidently following, consistently the recent suggestion by Trustee Rev. A. A. Bice that all outsiders be barred unless sent for, the gathering was held in camera and press representatives who arrived at the meeting were given to understand in no uncertain manner by Trustees Bice, Langford and Silverwood that their presence was not regarded with any great enthusiasm.

Trustees Thomas Rowe and Edwin Smith maintained a strict non-committal attitude. At the invitation of the trustees, Mayor J. Cameron Wilson attended throughout the meeting. It is explained that as the mayor, since his election has interested himself particularly in all matters pertaining to salaries of civic employees, he was asked to be present for the general discussion, in order that he might understand fully that the trustees were exerting every effort in order that a new scale of wages be prepared that would be fair to both the teachers and the public.

Also according to an invitation to be present a delegation of teachers six in number, four female and two male were also present to pass opinion on a tentative scale that had been suggested by the committee. It was announced at noon, Friday that the public school teachers expressed every satisfaction with the proposal as it affected them, while the Collegiate Institute teachers held that the trustees should consider their case further.

They were asked, it was explained to send representation in order that any complaints or suggestions might be heard now before a schedule is set as to render it impossible for any teacher to say later that "such and such was not done or was done," etc., etc.

No definite action was taken Thursday night, the greater part of the time, from 7 p.m. to midnight, being occupied with the reception of the delegation. The trustees believe that three or four secret committee meetings will yet be necessary before any comprehensive report will be ready for the final approval of the board.

It is certain that no report other than progress will be submitted at the regular meeting of the board on Tuesday next. That a special session will be held to discuss the salaries of teachers alone is the likely procedure.

CALLS PAROLE BOARD A JOKE

Hamilton, Feb. 3.—Magistrate Jelfs said today that every few days he received communications from the minister of justice asking information about prisoners whose worship had been suspended.

"The parole board is a travesty of justice," said his worship. "The members of the board have to earn their salaries so they go out and dig up cases for consideration."

"Often prisoners secure release by their own unsupported request," he said.

CARDINALS VOTE BUT POPE NOT YET ELECTED

Two Ballots Taken by Members of Sacred College.

HOLD SECRET SESSION

Guards Enforce Orders That Only Privileged Pass Portals.

Rome, Feb. 3.—Voting for the election of a pope to succeed Benedict XV was begun by the conclave of the sacred college today. Two ballots had been taken up to one o'clock this afternoon, on neither of which any cardinal received a sufficient number of votes to elect.

Majestic stateliness attended the solemn immuring in the Vatican today of the Sacred College, comprising for the moment 53 cardinals.

Every detail of the sacred rites were observed, and although the time fixed for the closing in of the cardinals was 3:30 this afternoon, so long was the ceremonial that darkness had already enshrouded the huge Basilica of St. Peter's and the Vatican palaces before, and were finally barred and bolted, and the preliminaries completed for the great task of the election of a new pontiff.

53 cardinals present in Rome are now in the Vatican. Even Cardinal Marini, who is suffering from influenza, was conveyed there this morning. He did not participate in the ceremonies of the afternoon, but remained in bed, resting preparatory to the work of the morning, when the first ballot will be taken.

At the huge bronze doors surveillance of the persons passing within was of the strictest nature. A giant German-Swiss sergeant of the guards allowed nobody to enter unless provided with a white pass, issued by Prince Chigi, marshal of the conclave. To the insistence of those furnished with passes of a different type, the sergeant gruffly retorted in Italian with a strong German accent: "Here I command; you cannot pass."

Two privates stood at attention ready to execute any order he might give. The conclave's isolation from the outside world was carried out with full ceremonial. Shortly after lunch the cardinals met in the Pauline Chapel, where "Veni, Creator" was sung; a procession then formed, led by Cardinal Vannutelli, dean of the Sacred College, passing through the Sala Regia to the Sistine Chapel, where the ceremony was concluded.

The cardinals entered the Sistine Chapel, and behind closed doors the oath was taken to maintain secrecy. Prince Chigi had meanwhile left his official residence and proceeded to the major domo's apartment in the Sistine Chapel, where he was admitted into the presence of the cardinals. There, with his staff, he took the oath to maintain secrecy and the absolute closing-in of the conclave, under pain of excommunication.

Pray For Wisdom Is Ford Creed!

Solomon's prayer at the dedication of the temple.

which I have builded, is called by thy name.

44 If thy people go out to battle against their enemy, whosoever thou shalt send them, and shall pray unto the Lord thy God, saying, "We have sinned, and have done perversely, we have committed wickedness;"

45 Then hear thou in heaven their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their cause."

46 If they sin against thee, (for there is no man that sinneth not,) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, so that they carry them away captives unto the land of the enemy, far or near:

47 Yet if they shall bethink themselves in the land whither they were carried captives, and say, "We have sinned, and have done wickedly, we have transgressed against thee, O Lord our God, we have disobeyed thy commandments, and we have not hearkened unto thy voice: we have carried away captives, and thou hast delivered them to the enemy, so that they carry them away captives unto the land of the enemy, far or near:"

GIVES POINTERS TO MIDDLESEX FRUIT GROWERS

Joseph Nickel of Wyoming Addresses London Branch of Ontario Association.

PRUNING AND GRAFTING

Recommends Careful Cultivation As Vital To Production of Apple Orchard.

The regular meeting of the London branch of the Ontario Fruit Growers' Association was held on Thursday afternoon, when Joseph Nickel of Wyoming gave an address on "Pruning and Grafting."

Mr. Nickel has spent the whole of his life in the work and study of fruit-bearing trees, but specializes in the culture of the apple tree. The reason that the apple industry was not as thriving as it should be in counties surrounding London was that the people did not take the interest to study the question as thoroughly as other branches of agriculture, he said. "As a general thing, the orchard was neglected, and often abused, receiving no cultivation whatever. Another reason was that many of the orchards were very old, and the cost of new orchards was almost out of the question, so high were the prices of trees."

To Raise Own Trees.
To overcome the high cost of this, the speaker said that it was a very simple matter for a grower to raise his own at very little expense, and outlined the method of procedure, which was much interested his audience, who took advantage of the occasion to ask questions on the subject of raising their own trees.

"To be a success as a fruit grower he said it was almost necessary for those engaged in the work to be 'fruit men' in every respect. In order that the members might understand the method of grafting thoroughly, Mr. Nickel gave several demonstrations exactly how it was done, explaining every move, and giving the reasons for doing so. Regarding the grafting was required, the speaker said that was a very important item in grafting, and gave a recipe for making it, which was taken down by all present.

The cultivation of the orchard was stressed by the speaker as being as essential as pruning or spraying, each operation being necessary for the best results.

Renovating old orchards was explained, and also "dormant" trees that had grown too high.

Should Be Barreled.
A resolution was sent by the London fruit growers to the agricultural committee of the chamber of commerce, requesting that body to approach the city council with a view to stopping the sale of apples in the London market in bags. It was argued that the fruit is bruised in the bags coming into the market, and that it hinders the sale of the good fruit that is put up in a more expensive manner, and therefore costs more to purchase. It is thought that the measure, if adopted by the council, will induce people to produce a better class of fruit, and to handle it in a more satisfactory manner for the consumer.

REVIVES JUVENILE COURT QUESTION

Ed. Lance Addresses Lions at Noonday Luncheon.

Ed. Lance, secretary of the Soldiers' Aid Commission, addressed the members of the Lions' Club at their weekly luncheon Thursday. During the course of the address the speaker referred to the fact that a new era had dawned for the boys of this community in that the various mens clubs had taken up the matter of looking after boys who had not had an equal chance with their companions. People were beginning to realize that an ounce of prevention was better than a pound of cure and were directing the course of their actions along these lines.

The speaker claimed that all boys should have wholesome play and time to devote to it. They should also have all possible education and be free from the necessity of working for their maintenance. Boys on the street were subject to all kinds of temptations that the parents were not always aware of.

The subject of establishing a juvenile court in London was taken up by the speaker, who said that the city would be saved the amount of money that it cost to operate it in not having to pay for maintaining boys at the industrial school.

The function of the juvenile court was to diagnose the condition under which a youth was living and then to see that the condition was improved and the boy or girl prevented from going astray again. Industrial schools or reformatories did not make a boy better nor did they tend to make the boy go straight in the future.

The secretary of the club read a report from the committee appointed to assist the day nursery, showing that all the money voted had been spent and that more was necessary. The further amount was voted to the nursery at today's meeting.

POPULAR PLAYERS THRILL AUDIENCE

Prove Comedy "The Girl He Could Not Buy" Worth Seeing.

Sparkling comedy, dispersed freely throughout, and an absorbingly dramatic plot is the sum and substance of the popular players' latest vehicle "The Girl He Could Not Buy." What the plot lacks in originality the play makes up in genuine wit and humor. Thrilling action keeps the audience intensely interested during the whole performance. It may be safely said of this performance that there is not one dull moment. Special mention must be made of the very clever way in which a climax is brought about at the end of each scene.

Duncan Penwarden departs from his usual type of hero roles, and makes a very convincing villain. London audiences are well acquainted with Mr. Penwarden's splendid acting, but he has never done anything quite so clever as his final speech in this play, when his villainous plans are foiled and he leaves the stage disgraced.

Miss Gustin, in the title role, again demonstrates that she is capable of giving a whole-souled interpretation of the most difficult roles. As Hope Nelson, the girl who could not be bought, no better variety of acting could be asked for or received than Miss Gustin presented.

Ricky Secrest as Flip Edwards, "the kind of salesman who could sell a razor to a bearded lady who had one of the best roles in which he has yet appeared. His speeches are all in the lighter vein, and keep the audience. He is ably supported by Rosa McDonald as Kitty Burns, who in the language of Flip, has "some line." It may also be said of Miss McDonald that seldom has she had a part which displayed better her great talent.

WILL TO PROVE BOON TO LONDON MEDICAL MEN

Testament of Late Dr. Meek Provides For Erection of Pathological Laboratory.

CITY TO GET BENEFIT

Victoria Hospital and Western University Research Problems To Have Attention.

The terms of the will of the late Dr. Harry Meek, which has just been filed for probate, provides for endowments that are of general public interest. His generosity reflects the intense interest which Dr. Meek always took in matters connected with medical education and research.

The estate, which amounts to a substantial sum, is left under the care of the Canada Trust Company as executor and trustee, for the sole benefit of Mrs. Meek during her lifetime. Eventually the entire estate, with the exception of one-half of the proceeds from the sale of the residence on Queen's avenue, is to be set aside for the establishment of a pathological laboratory for the benefit of Victoria Hospital, and to further research in the medical department of the Western University.

The plans for the establishment of the laboratory will be under the direct supervision of a special board of three persons, namely, the chairman of the board of governors of the Western University, the chairman of the board of trustees of Victoria Hospital, and the dean of the faculty of medicine of the Western University.

Board To Have Power.

The laboratory will be known as "The Hamilton King Meek Memorial Laboratory," in memory of their son. The board is to have authority and power to use any portion or all of the principal set aside for the laboratory for building or maintenance purposes, and to designate what portion shall be used for the building, and also for the endowment fund.

Provision is made that the laboratory is to be located near Victoria Hospital and the Institute of Public Health. If satisfactory arrangements can be made with the latter, it may be established within the institute, or in a nearby building to be under the control and direction of the Institute of Public Health.

The chief pathologist controlling the laboratory must be a graduate of a recognized medical school in Canada or the United States, but not necessarily a licentiate of the Ontario Medical Council. He must, however, devote his full time to laboratory work. It was Dr. Meek's desire that the pathologist be a full-time teacher in medical school work in the medical department of the Western University.

Must Meet Approval.

The appointment of the person selected to fill the position must meet with the approval of the executive committee of the faculty of medicine of the Western University.

One-half of the proceeds from the sale of the family residence is to be set aside and held in trust as a fund to aid the teaching of obstetrics in the medical school of the Western University. The distribution of this fund is also to be under the direction of the special laboratory board. They also have power to use the whole fund or any portion of it, either for equipment or endowment in the obstetrical department.

Dr. Meek was for a number of years a member of the faculty of the Medical School. His beneficence in endowing these two departments of the Western University is a pledge of his faith in the future of this institution.

The will, which was made in August, 1918, names the Canada Trust Company as executor and trustee.

CITY ORANGEMEN TAKE NO ACTION

Have Not Indorsed Ministerial Stand Against Catholic School Plea.

There are no indications at present that the London Orange lodges will make an effort to line up the Ministerial association in an effort to have petitions, which urge upon the government the rejection of the Catholic separate school plea, presented in the Protestant churches.

No reference was made to the separate school question at the conference of H. C. Hockin, head of the lodge in Ontario, with the county masters of Ontario, held in London on Jan. 31. The meeting dealt entirely with organization matters.

According to the Rev. M. Kelly the matter has been presented neither to the executive of the alliance or to the general body, though this does not obviate the possibility that such may be done.

REV. G. YOUNG GOES TO IPPERWASH.

Rev. Geo. Young of Chalmers Presbyterian church has accepted a call from Ipperwash, one of the leading congregations in the presbytery of Hamilton. A special meeting of the presbytery was called for 11:30 Thursday morning to confer concerning the matter.

Mr. Young has been officiating in the city for the past four years, coming to Chalmers Presbyterian church from Owen Sound. He has been extremely well liked by his congregation and much regret is felt that Mr. Young is to leave the city.

BURY EXPLORER IN SOUTH GEORGIA

LONDON, Feb. 2.—The body of Sir Ernest Shackleton, which is now at Montevideo, Uruguay, will be taken back to South Georgia Island to be buried there, according to the Daily Mail. This decision the Mail attributes to Lady Shackleton's deference to what she believes would have been the explorer's wishes.

Shackleton left no instructions respecting his burial, but relatives and friends, the Mail says, feel that it would accord with his desire to be laid at rest at the gate to the Antarctic.

Shackleton's grave, therefore, will probably be beside the English church at Gryvicken.

CHINESE GOVERNMENT NEEDS MORE FINANCES

Peking, Feb. 2.—The government's new year financial settlement was very inadequate to its needs. Its sole resources, the proceeds of an issue of treasury notes, underwritten by two government banks, are 6,000,000 taels with which to meet the enormous total of back salaries due government employees. Thousands of government employees are being paid only with promises, and foreign employees with worthless checks. The treasury notes already are discounted at 40 per cent.

URGES GREATER

CHECK DISEASEDr. H. W. Hill Delivers Interesting Lecture at Public Gathering.

DEPENDS UPON CITIZENS

Director of Institute Declares
90 Per Cent of Diseases Are Preventable.Dr. H. W. Hill, director of the Institute of Public Health, was the lecturer for the Western University Extension Department at the Public Library, Thursday evening.The subject of the lecture was
"The Abolition of Infectious Diseases."About 50 years ago, said Dr. Hill, a very prominent French doctor pointed out that all diseases contracted by germs could be avoided, and that in time the medical profession would be able to cope very successfully with preventing these diseases from spreading and becoming epidemic.Nearly 90 per cent of diseases were contracted through germs that were passed on from person to person, part of the other 10 per cent were due to improper diet and the rest were cancer, diabetes, etc.Comparing the death rate, due to diseases and to the death rate due to the war, the lecturer said that for every 14,000 persons who died every year, as a result of war, 100,000 died
every year as the result of disease.
These figures were based on Canada alone.Fever Cases Reduced.
Referring to what had been done by the medical profession towards eliminating infectious diseases, the lecturer said that during the last fifteen years typhoid fever had been reduced to 10 per cent of its former prevalence on the North American continent, while yellow fever had been reduced to the extent that there were only very few cases where the disease could not be controlled, and there were no cases in South America. These diseases were being narrowed down every year until it was the hope of the profession that it would soon be impossible for anyone to have the disease.If the medical profession were given the support, they should have,
the people, reporting all infectious cases instead of only the severe ones, the situation for stamping out these diseases would be much better.Assisting to Abolish Germs.
There are four bodies of people who are assisting to abolish the disease germ—the technical expert, who carries on experiments and research work and who is usually working years ahead of his time; the government, which gives assistance to the experts; private organizations, such as the Rockefeller Foundation, and the educationalist.
It is to the latter class that the medical profession look for most results, because by means of it the people are educated along the lines of prevention.After the lecture, Dr. Hill allowed a considerable amount of time, for the answering of questions, which was quickly taken advantage of by those present.FIRE DESTROYS EAST

HEAR ANNUAL REPORT

Librarian Landon Declares Past Year To Have Been Heaviest in History.Mr. W. H. Winnett was elected chairman of the public library board at a meeting of the board Thursday night. The annual report presented by the librarian, Fred Landon, showed that the past year had seen the heaviest demands made upon the library in its history. The number of enrolled borrowers at the end of the year was over 21,000, and the total circulation of books in 1921 was 348,- 565. Over 100,000 of these were taken out by boys and girls.The reference department was used by more than 21,000 people, who came for definite information. The records of the department show that hundreds of addresses, sermons, debates and speeches of all kinds were prepared at the public library. The mounted pictures were drawn upon for a total of more than 1,700, being used by teachers, artists, lithograph-ers, etc. The library now has nearly 6,000 mounted pictures properly classified and available for public use.In the children's department the activities included the holding of forty story hours, thirty meetings of two girls' reading clubs, and many talks on books and reading to mothers' clubs and like organizations.
Story hours are being held this winter
at the main library and at the two eastern branches.A feature that is gradually growing up in the public library work of the city is the course of free lectures, now being given for the fourth winter, in co-operation with the university. The library board believes that it is within its work to promote lectures of this kind in its building,
and that for almost every lecture
there is a capacity audience, indicates that the lectures are appreciated.It is hoped that when a new library is built in London it will include a small lecture hall capable of seating 150 to 200 people for just such lectures as are now held in the children's room in the evenings.
Sympathetic reference was made at the meeting by the board to the death of Dr. C. L. Campbell and the following resolution, moved by E. C. McCann and seconded by Dr.
A. O. Jeffrey was carried by standing vote:"That the members of the public library board have learned with deep regret the death of Dr. C. L. Campbell. As mayor of the city Dr. Campbell was a member ex-officio of the public library board and took a deep sympathetic interest in the winding up of its work."From time to time the library received from him gifts of books, papers and manuscripts, dealing with the earlier history of London, a subject on which he was recognized as an authority.
"His death is a loss to the city to which he gave generously of his time and thought. He was a worthy citizen and a good friend. To his widow and family the members of this board would extend their sympathy in the hour of bereavement."DISCUSS WAYS TO

was devoted almost entirely to discussion of ways and means of making the church a greater power in the community and increasing the attendance.As a step in this direction resolutions were passed to the effect that the ministers receive the whole-hearted support of the clergy, and that a study be made of the social and spiritual needs of the community; that practical methods be adopted to interest non-churchgoers;
to provide a healthy social life for young people; to make every department of the church as efficient as possible, and to bring about a better understanding and closer bond of brotherhood between members of country churches and those in the city.One of the foremost speakers of the afternoon was Col. C. M. R. Graham, who stressed the fact that the church was the greatest influence for good in every community, and as everyday life advanced with modern methods, so must the church also advance, in order that it might wield
the necessary power.Rev. W. R. McIntosh announced the fact that the program of the will be under way the last week in campaign.Amongst the lay delegates who addressed the meeting were R. F.

This One Didn't Find Relativity; He Finds Liquor You Have No Right to Possess!AS CONCEIVED BY CABR.
"How do you do it?" I asked Izzy Einstein.
Thus began the first unauthorized interview with Attorney-General W. E. Ramey's champion "rum hound" now on a "short visit" to the Forest City.
"I don't like that—I'm no rum hound," protested Izzy. "I'm a special O.
T. A. officer."
"All right then. To what do you attribute your phenomenal success as a liquor hunter?"
"Three reasons," said Izzy. "First, I don't drink. Second, I haven't got big feet. Third, I've got a nose for liquor."
"What! You don't drink?"
"Certainly not. You don't know much if you think any real 'dry officer' drinks.
None of us do. We wouldn't have our jobs if we did. If you drink you haven't a chance."
"What's that about big feet—a joke?"
"Gosh, no! It means we've set a new style in detectives. All sleuths are supposed to have big feet. We fool them!"
"You never taste it?"
"Oh, sometimes we touch our tongues to it, but most of us just can't drink even pure whiskey. We hold it to our mouths and then slip it through a funnel into a small bottle in the vest pocket. That's the evidence.
It saves the dry agent's stomach."
"How many individuals have you arrested for selling liquor since the O. T. A. went into effect in September, 1918?"
"About 700."
"You never tell good liquor from bad liquor by smelling it?"
"Sure that's easy."
"You're lucky," I told him.
"Do you have trouble buying a drink
—for example, in a second-story apartment, where you're not known?"
"Sometimes. But it's usually easy if you play your part right, although I must admit bootleggers in your city apparently have taken a vacation since the first night of my arrival here in your city."

IZZY USES MANY DISGUISES

Just what the secret is I couldn't discover.
Izzy uses as many disguises as Philo Gubb, the correspondent school detect-a-ke.
He was a college boy, with a skull cap, the other day in a town of more than 70,000 not less than 100 miles from London. And he's been a truck driver, a waiter and a musician—with his son's violin under his arm.
Now in ending this unusual and entirely mythical interview, it is impossible to follow custom by describing the person interviewed. It is only describe him partly by saying he has two eyes that see most things, a keen nose, lips that rarely touch liquor—and his feet aren't big.
"You never taste it?"
"Oh, sometimes we touch our tongues to it, but most of us just can't drink even pure whiskey. We hold it to our mouths and then slip it through a funnel into a small bottle in the vest pocket. That's the evidence.
It saves the dry agent's stomach."

PINE LAWN HOUSESReal estate dealers throughout the city who are trying to sell houses owned by the housing commission, have received a list of the prices at which they are to sell the Pine Lawn houses.There are twenty houses in this area to be disposed of and the fixed price will bring a return to the city of $67,730 and with the commission
deducted, a net return of $65,810.
This will show a loss of $3,359 on the twenty houses and as the statement of costs on which the above figures are based was prepared a year ago,
there is at least one year's interest on the whole to be added to the loss.It was found necessary to prepare a list price of the houses in the Pine Lawn area inasmuch as the extras which are to be added in each case varied. The commission fixed the price on the houses at $5,100 for four rooms and $3,300 for five rooms.
Some of the houses are stucco and some are frame, but a difference is to be made in their selling price.
Among the extras being charged against some of the houses, it is to be noted that fencing comes high in some cases, one five-roomed house taking $250 for fence. This house cost the city in all $4,167 plus interest and is to be sold for $3,649. It is now rented and it is believed that the present occupant will purchase it.
The Garfield avenue houses will be sold at a fixed price of $4,560 as they stand. There are sixteen of them to be sold.MEMBERS OF REVISION parts of the city this afternoon prior to rendering their decision in some appeals which were entered when the court sat on Wednesday afternoon.

Property on George street and Victoria; Onn property, Duchess avenue, and Ridout street, the site of the old Blackfriars mill, will be visited. The appeals in these cases have been many, and the court felt that a personal examination was desirable before a decision was made.The appeal on the Ridout street property is based on the ground that this property is not suitable for building purposes. It is on the west side of the river and falls away rapidly from the street level down to the river.Obituaries

ATTEND TORONTO MEETING

The annual convention of the Ontario Automobile Dealers held in Toronto was concluded Thursday, with the election of the officers for the coming year. Frank McLachlin of London was chosen as treasurer of the Ontario association. Mr. Mc-Lachlin and Wilfrid Hodgins represented London's automotive dealers at the convention. Mr. Hodgins addressed the delegates to the convention Wednesday.Two stirring addresses were delivered to the dealers on the last day of the convention, one from T. A.
Russell, general manager of the Overland Company, and one from F.
I. Fox, general representative of the Ford Company. Both speakers, in their addresses, voiced a keynote of optimism, the same optimism that was characteristic of the convention in general, regarding the present business outlook.Urged Co-operation.
Co-operation amongst dealers was the one means whereby business conditions could be brought back to a normal basis, was the opinion of both Mr. Russell and Mr. Fox.The convention passed a resolution, after hearing G. A. Kingston, commissioner of the government's compensation, urging that through the legislative committee, representations be made to the government, asking that the risk to dealers be removed from clause eleven of the workmen's compensation act. Clause eleven

the matter of injured workmen.Co-operation between motor car dealers and the police as a means of better protection to car owners, was the suggestion thrown out by Mayor
C. A. Maguire of Toronto, who spoke to the dealers Thursday afternoon.
The problem of the used car was dealt with by Claude Pierce, one of the largest used-car dealers in the United States.By special arrangement, the film

siderable comment among the dealers when shown at the convention, will while there are certain states which have "Blue Sky Laws," they have not proved altogether satisfactory, and that the selling of fake stock is a very difficult matter to legislate against. He goes on to say, however, that the office of the minister of finance would welcome any further suggestions that Mr. Clarke may have.There are hundreds of people in this city alone, said Mr. Clarke, who have lost a lot of money and said nothing about it, whereas if they took the trouble to write to the authorities they might succeed in getting protection for the future.This matter was the subject of a

RESIGNS PASTORATE AFTER FIFTY YEARS

The annual meeting of the Southern Congregational Church was held on Wednesday evening, and in spite of the disagreeable weather a goodly number was present. The church has just ended one of its most successful years in all the branches of its work. The reports from the various departments all showed a favorable advance. The officers for the past year were practically all re-elected.
During the course of the meeting,
the pastor, Rev. W. H. A. Claris, tendered his resignation, to take effect in May. Mr. Claris has spent 50 successful years in the Christian ministry, 29 years of which have been given in the service of this church.
The pastor opened this church in one of the hardest parts of the city at that time, and has brought it to its present state of prosperity.
At the close of the meeting the ladies of the church provided a splendid lunch for all those present.

CLAIM ULSTER PROTESTANTS TO DEFEY ORDER

Correspondent Asserts Border
Unionists Will Resist Change in Boundaries.

ALLEGED "TRICK PLAYED"

Belfast Populace Indignant; Blames Downing Street for Favoring Sinn Fein.

LONDON, Feb. 3.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, declared in a statement issued this morning that he had been told by Michael Collins, head of the Southern Ireland Provisional Government, at their conference in Dublin, yesterday, that Collins had received a promise of bringing into the Irish Free State almost half of Northern Ireland, including Fermanagh, Tyrone, large parts of Antrim and Down,
and Londonderry city, Enniskillen and Newry. Sir James said he had suggested to Mr. Collins a week's adjournment for consideration of the situation regarding the boundaries between Ulster and Southern Ireland, but that Collins had replied the differences separating them were so wide that postponement would be useless.

LONDON, England, Feb. 3.—Sir James Craig, premier of Ulster, who conferred yesterday in Dublin with Michael Collins, head of the provisional government of the Irish free state, was on his way to London early this morning. He was quoted as saying he would probably await the shown there at "the trick played by Downing street upon the northern province by leading Premier Craig to believe the question was merely adjustment of the boundary line, while it turns out that by the Irish delegation's agreement with Lloyd George, large territories are involved."

The correspondent declares that the Protestants in the border counties are resolved to defy the mandate of any government proposing "to hand over their brethren to the tender mercies of their hereditary enemies."

Dublin Papers Hope For Peaceful Outcome

Dublin, Feb. 3.—Commenting on the conference here between Premier Craig of Ulster and Michael Collins, the Freeman's Journal says it would have been a miracle if an adjustment were reached in a single afternoon.

"Yet somebody expected a miracle,"
the newspaper adds, "for we were told a serious situation had arisen."

"We trust this does not mean that the whole pact between the north and south is imperilled, for, although the north hitherto has reaped the main advantages, it would be unfortunate were the quarrel renewed over conditions. There is no reason why the truce status should not be maintained, even if the free state has to fall back on the treaty for settlement of boundaries."

"Mr. Collins' willingness to depart from the arrangements provided by the treaty was due to his patriotic aspiration to prove that these matters can be settled best by Irishmen without British interference."

Says the Irish Times: "Further discussions ought to be arranged, and if an early agreement is not reached the whole question of boundaries ought to be postponed for submission to a conference between the first government of the free state and the northern government.
The solution may be slow, but we refuse to doubt that statesmanship, working in an atmosphere of goodwill, can find it."

"War with Ulster will mean a rigid fixation of the present boundaries, peace with Ulster will readjust
them."

DEATHS TOTAL 25 IN GATES MINE DISASTER

Gates, Pa., Feb. 3.—Twenty-five miners lost their lives in the explosion which wrecked a part of the Gates mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company yesterday, according to an official announcement today. Twenty-two bodies have been recovered.
The other three are buried under a fall of slate, and cannot be reached from the entries in which rescue crews have been working. Rescue teams have been sent early today to the Edenborn mine and expected to work their way through old workings to the section of the Gates mine affected by the explosion.

CONDEMNNS INCLUDING RUSSIA AS DANGEROUS

Paris, Feb. 3.—The note prepared by Premier Poincare, defining the conditions under which, from a French viewpoint, the international economic conference at Geneva should open, declares the inclusion of soviet Russia might be fraught with considerable danger unless the allies agreed in advance on a common attitude toward the soviet delegates. M. Poincare considers the agenda for the conference, as arranged by the allied supreme council at Cannes, too vague. It must be made clear, he says, that article two, labelled "Establishment of European Peace on a Solid Basis," must not in any way effect existing treaties; for example, must not serve as the pretext for repealing the Silesian or reparations questions.

The note, if not already dispatched,
will be sent at the earliest date.

ANNUAL "BLESSING OF THROATS" HELD

Celebration of Feast of St.
Blaise Held in Catholic Churches.

The annual "blessing of the throats," a practice which marks
the celebration of the feast of St.
Blaise took place Friday in all the Catholic churches of the city. After mass in the morning and during the afternoon, priests were present in the churches and the usual large crowds were on hand. The blessing will be bestowed again in the evening.

The pious practice of blessing the throats is an old one handed down through centuries. St. Blaise was Bishop of Sebaste in Armenia in the fourth century. His numbers among the church's martyrs.

There is a tradition that before becoming bishop he was a physician and when presiding over his episcopal see was credited with the power to heal bodily ills. When in prison awaiting death, it is said that a boy, in danger of choking to death, was taken to him and he relieved him.

It is believed by many that this latter incident is the foundation of the widespread devotion, which is accorded him as the patron of those afflicted with throat trouble, evidenced by the crowds which have their throats blessed on his feast day.

Candlemas day, which falls on Feb. 2, is being observed in the local Catholic churches, on Sunday, February 5. Anglican churches in many centers, as well as Lutheran, also keep this event. On this day the candles used on the altar during the year are blessed. On the same day is commemorated the presentation of the infant Jesus in the temple and the purification of the Blessed Virgin. It is said that there are records of this event being celebrated as far back as the fourth century.

OUTLINES GROWTH OF EARLY MUSIC

F. L. Willgoose Delivers Instructive Talk at Women's Music Club.

An informal talk on classical music and the manner in which the different composers developed this art, by F. L. Willgoose, who arranged the program, was a most interesting and informing feature of the fortnightly recital of the Women's Music Club, Thursday evening in the Normal School.

Dealing particularly with the sonata form, Mr. Willgoose pointed to Hayden, Mozart and Beethoven, as the outstanding figures associated with this form of composition. Touching upon the culmination of different schools, he drew attention to the manner in which the vocal contrapuntal had culminated with Palestrini, and the culmination with Bach at the polyphonic school.

Beethoven brought the classical school to a head while the romantic school reached the greatest height with Chopin and Wagner.

"So far as the modern school is concerned," said the speaker, "there is no use speculating as to when and with what composer it will culminate. It may be soon. It may not be for two hundred years—then something new will be exploited."

Mr. Willgoose, among several violin numbers played a group of folk songs, a Scotch lament, and an old country dance to show how the classical schools had arisen from the germ of folk songs.

The program throughout was kept to the classical composers in a delightfully consistent manner. Miss Edythe Vann, soprano, sang Mozart numbers; Miss Nettie Jones, who has a pleasing contralto voice under excellent control, gave a charming interpretation of song by Pergolesi; Iva Smith delighted with two dainty Bach numbers; a gavotte and gigue from the French suite; Miss Laura Kirkwood played the first movement of the Emperor Concerto, Beethoven, with Thomas Martin at the second piano.
Mr. Willgoose played the Handel sonata in A, with Mr. Charles E.
Wheeler at the piano, and also the famous Bach Air on G string.

GIVEN TEN YEARS FOR ROBBING BANK

Simon Seniloff Sentenced for Bank of Hamilton, Toronto, Burglary.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—Simon Seniloff, one of three men convicted of robbing the Bank of Hamilton at College and Ossington avenues last year was today sentenced to 10 years imprisonment by Mr. Justice Riddell in the assizes. In imposing sentences his lordship said: "Your accomplices were sentenced to life imprisonment because they were too dangerous to be at large and the more I reflect and the more I know of them, the more firmly I am convinced that they should never be turned loose on the people of Canada."

"But you are different: you have a wife and family; you have a good trade at which you can earn an honest living and have done so for years. You have lost the savings of years of hard work; you have found that crime does not pay, and I have no fear of your attempting such an offence again."

"It is therefore unnecessary to confine you for life, and I am able to make effect to the recommendation of the jury. The sentence of the court is that you, Simon Seniloff, be imprisoned for the term of ten years in Kingston penitentiary and that you be then discharged."

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

PUZZLED OVER ITALIAN POLITICAL SITUATION

Rome, Feb. 3.—The Italian political situation has become exceedingly perplexing as the result of the resignation yesterday of the cabinet of Premier Bonomi. Now that the Bonomi government is out, there seems to be no one eligible for the premiership who is able to command a working majority in Parliament. Although the name of Former Premier Giolitti, who preceded Bonomi in office, has been strongly advanced, the strength of his support is not deemed dependable. Dur-

these are now understood to have

RECOVER 6 MORE DEAD FROM MINE AT GATES

Gates, Pa., Feb. 3.—Six more dead were brought to the surface from the shaft of the Gates mine of the H. C.
Frick Coke Company, early today, making the total 22. All the bodies have been removed to a mortuary at Masontown. Belief was expressed by mine officials that the toll may mount higher, as there may be other miners, apart from the three or four men yet unaccounted for, who were killed by an explosion in a section of the plant yesterday. Reports indicated last night that there were at least 30 men in the section at the time of the explosion, all of whom could be accounted for with the exception of three or four men.

No hope was held out for the miners who could not be found, but work continued energetically throughout last night and this morning by parties digging at slate and coal falls in an effort to recover the remaining bodies.

The cause of the explosion is undetermined.

Corsets were designed in the sixteenth century.

A Better Way Than Diets and Exercise For Reducing

Diets and exercise are sometimes helpful for reducing. But they are inconvenient and unpleasant, and usually produce only temporary results. Then, too, they are merely corrective measures. A better way is to aid the digestive organs to turn food into muscle, bone, and sinew, and not into corpulent tissue. This method allows you to eat many kinds of food which others eat and does not require strenuous exercise.

Thousands have found that Marmola Tablets give relief from obesity in just this way. Marmola Tablets are made from the same formula as the famous Marmola Prescription. If taken after meals and at bedtime, they retard the development of fat by helping the digestive system to obtain full nutriment from food. When the accumulation of fat is checked, reduction to normal, healthy weight soon follows.

All good drug stores the world over sell Marmola Tablets at one dollar per box. Ask your druggist for them, or order them direct and they will be sent in plain wrapper, postpaid.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD, TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Is Sign You Have Been Eating Too Much Meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, so you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach aches, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water seeps and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.—Adv.

DEAD MAN FOUND ON FARM MAY BE WAR VETERAN

Inquest Is Opened At Brantford Following Gruesome Discovery.

BODY BADLY DECOMPOSED

[Special To London Advertiser.] BRANTFORD, Feb. 2.—The badly decomposed body of a man was discovered in a barn on the Bow Park Farm yesterday. The body was fully clad. The features were undistinguishable, due to the fact that one side of the face had been eaten away by rats. Nothing was found on the body to indicate who the unfortunate was. It had apparently been lying under a pile of straw since June or July last summer. The body is that of a man probably over 50 years of age. In one of the pockets a young girl's photograph was found, presumably a daughter. There was also an old purse containing two cents, a jackknife and a comb. Two baggage checks, marked "Toronto," and dated in June last year, would indicate the man might have come to his death in some manner about that time. One of the baggage checks was dated "June 26," and the other "June 21," both bearing the 1921 date line, and the man's suit was marked with the number 573402. He was attired in black and brown striped overalls. A pair of black socks, and heavy tan boots encased his feet.

Inquest To Be Held. Mr. C. A. Moffatt, manager of Bow Park Farm, was told of the discovery by one of the men employed on the farm. Just how the man came to his death is a matter of conjecture. The theory is advanced that heart-failure was the cause. June and July, it will be remembered, were months of intense heat, and it is possible that the man, who may have been a vagrant, died in the barn from the effects of heat prostration. Following his visit to the farm, Dr. Fissette, coroner, decided upon an investigation, and this morning a preliminary inquest was held in the undertaker's rooms, where the jury viewed the remains and adjourned until the evening of Feb. 9. The jury members in the meantime will be conducted to the spot where the body of the man was found, so that the inquest can be as thorough as possible. They were to visit the farm under the direction of Dr. Fissette this afternoon.

Members of the jury are as follows: George Stinchcomb (foreman), John Henderson, Thomas Rowen, William Boles, Gordon Sisson, John Henderson, James McArthur, C. Bowden, W. W. Young and Charles Clayton.

Might Be Stratton. A man by the name of H. Stratton had been assigned to work at Bow Park Farm some time ago. It is stated that Stratton came from Toronto, and was an Irishman. Stratton went out to the barn some months ago early in the morning, and it is reported that he has not been seen since. At the time the authorities at Bow Park thought that he had applied to the employment bureau. This was shattered, however, when the officials of the employment bureau were questioned on the matter, as he had not been near. Mrs. Stratton came from Toronto to see if the employment officials of this city knew his whereabouts, but as there was no information to be gleaned she returned to Toronto. Stratton is described as an Irishman, returned soldier, and with a heavy crease down the side of his nose. It is thought that this might be the man whose body was found at Bow Park Farm yesterday.

STRIKE TIES UP BERLIN TRAFFIC

BERLIN, Feb. 2.—The strike of the railwaymen late this evening had virtually tied up all passenger and freight traffic. The authorities were unable to procure the necessary auxiliary staff that had been promised them, and only two trains left Berlin during the day, one for Hamburg and the other for Hanover.

Hundreds of foreigners are marooned here. Delays to trains or entire stoppage of service have been reported from all sections. In the Essen, Elberfeld, Munster and Erfurt districts traffic is at a complete standstill. The strike has extended to Cassel and Chemnitz.

Traffic between Berlin and Leipzig has been stopped, and Berlin's city and suburban lines are at a standstill.

BOARD OBJECTS TO HIGH SALARIES

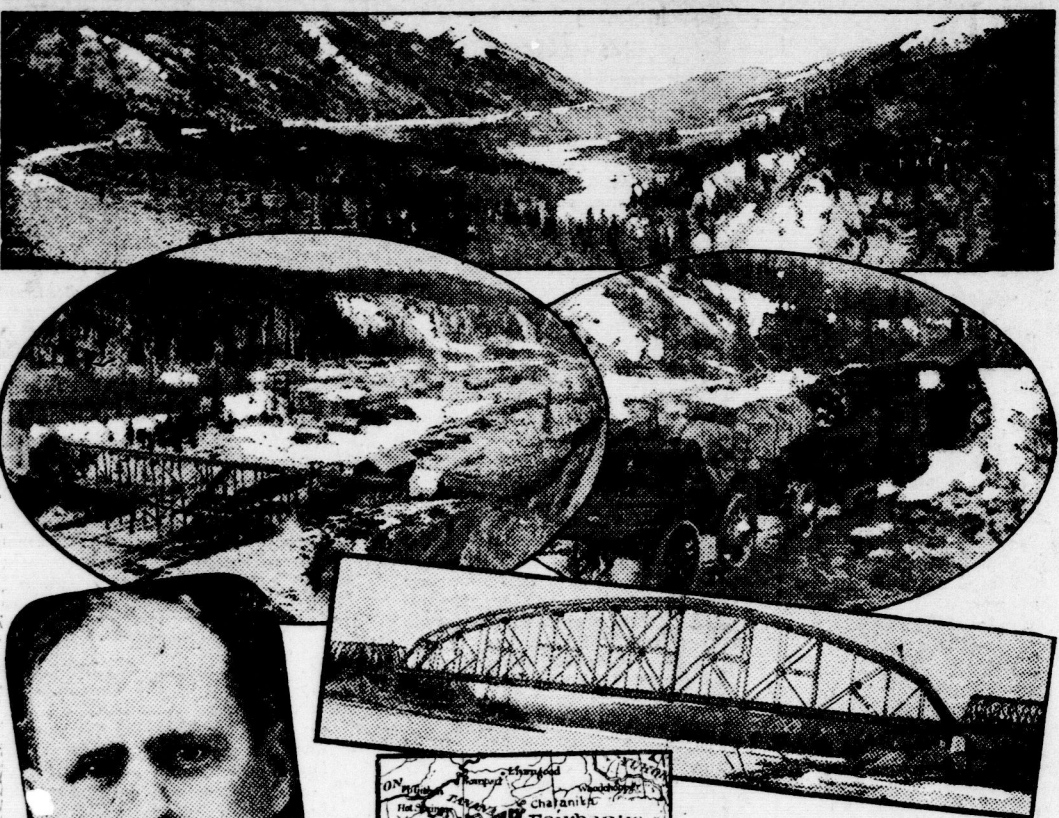

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—Attorney-General W. E. Ramey's efforts to fix Toronto up with a staff of magistrates are not receiving harmonious co-operation from the Toronto board of control, who decided today to consult the city solicitor on the question of the validity of the latest appointment of a woman at a salary of $3,500.

The board also objects to paying $7,500 to Magistrate Jones, whose appointment was recently made permanent. Mayor Maguire said immediate action was necessary, as he understood it was proposed by the attorney-general to introduce legislation which would put the city out of court on the question of magisterial appointments.

2 SLAYERS PAY PENALTY IN CHAIR

OSSINING, N. Y., Feb. 2.—Harry Givner and Floyd Sloyer, convicted murderers, were put to death in the electric chair in Sing Sing Prison late tonight. Givner was convicted of having tied Mrs. Lizzie Niznik of Yonkers, N. Y., to her bed and turning on the gas, thereby causing her death by asphyxiation, and escaping with $10,000 worth of liberty bonds.

ALBERTA HOUSE OPENS SESSION

EDMONTON, Feb. 2.—(By Canadian Press.)—The fifth session of Alberta's fifth Legislature was opened this afternoon with a Farmer government and a Farmer majority in the house. The speech from the throne did not depart from precedent. It referred to the retirement of the Duke of Devonshire and the appointment of Baron Byng of Vimy as governor-general of Canada; touched upon the unemployment situation, and announced in that connection that legislation would be introduced to create a bureau of labor, in order that the problems concerning wage earners throughout the province might receive the proper consideration.

The conditions in the southern part of the province, the speech promised, would be dealt with in the report of the survey board recently appointed by the government. A policy of economy in administration was outlined, but considerable development in the way of railway and telephone extension would be undertaken. Legislation would be submitted providing for a public highway system. Attention was to be given, it was said, to the marketing of farm products.

UNCOVER 7 MORE BODIES AT GATES

GATES, Pa., Feb. 2.—All hope for the miners imprisoned by an explosion in the Gates mine of the H. C. Frick Coke Company here today was abandoned at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when rescuers came across seven bodies in the workings affected by the blast. Nine bodies had previously been brought to the surface. Checking the workmen believed to have been in the mine, officials said the men still unaccounted for had probably perished.

The railroad runs from Seward to Fairbanks — 467 miles — and has branches to coal fields which make a total trackage of 539 miles. The cost was approximately $56,000,000.

Work during the winter months brought many hardships. Supplies had to be carried by tractor and truck through heavy snows, over forest lands and through streams. There were few roads—the gasoline conveyances made their way along.

All of Alaska is looking forward to the formal dedication, when United States President Warren G. Harding with most of his cabinet is expected to be present, as well as thousands of people from all over Canada and the United States.

Scott C. Bone, governor of Alaska, and Lieut.-Col. Frederick Mears, head of the Alaskan Engineering Commission, and builder of the road, are in Washington today, making plans for the big event.

The railroad will make vast changes in Alaska's commercial affairs. The Yukon River will still be a factor, but time, distance and expense for interior transportation will be cut considerably.

The big coal fields at Manatuska have been reopened and coal is already starting toward the Pacific Coast, where there is a big demand for coal at reasonable prices.

Several choice farming districts, isolated by lack of transportation, are now able to dispose of products.

Last Spike To Be Driven On Bridge At Riley Creek.

WILL COST $56,000,000

[Special To London Advertiser.] ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 2.—

Alaskan Railway, talked of for two decades, and under construction for six years, is tentatively scheduled for completion on Feb. 14. The last spike may be driven before that time. This last spike will, on completion day, be driven into place on the bridge at Riley Creek, near McKinley National Park, by one of the track layers. Later, some time in the summer, it will be replaced by a golden spike when the formal dedication of the railway will be celebrated.

The railroad runs from Seward to Fairbanks — 467 miles — and has branches to coal fields which make a total trackage of 539 miles. The cost was approximately $56,000,000.

The big coal fields at Manatuska have been reopened and coal is already starting toward the Pacific Coast, where there is a big demand for coal at reasonable prices.

Several choice farming districts, isolated by lack of transportation, are now able to dispose of products.

A flour mill has been opened at Fairbanks to supply people who heretofore had to send thousands of miles for this product. Other plants to supply local markets are also springing up.

And, in the meantime, Governor Bone is working to have all the Alaskan governmental agencies in the national capital co-ordinated and put under one head. He also wants liberal mining and land laws to aid in colonizing the area opening by the railroad.

Work Is Difficult. To Col. Mears is given much of the credit for the big construction job. He made good despite his base of supplies being 2,000 miles distant, and the fact that the field was too snowbound for track work five months of each year.

When President Wilson appointed the Alaskan Engineering Commission in 1914 to build the railroad, he named Mears, on the recommendation of Major-General Goethals, Panama Canal builder. Mears had risen from location and construction work to head of the entire canal zone railway system.

CONSTIPATION BAD HEADACHES, FAINT, DIZZY SPELLS

Constipation is one of the commonest ills of mankind, and one too often allowed to go unlooked after, until some serious complication sets in. A free motion of the bowels daily should be the rule of everyone, then there will be no constipation, sick or bilious spells, dizziness, heartburn, coated tongue, foul breath, sour stomach, floating specks before the eye, jaundice, water brash, etc. Keep the bowels properly regulated by the use of

MILBURN'S LAXA-LIVER PILLS, and you will enjoy the best of health.

Mrs. Frank Wilsey, R. R. 2, Belmont, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with constipation for nearly two years. I had bad headaches, faint and dizzy spells, and would bloat terribly. I was nearly discouraged, for I had tried so many things that gave me no relief. My mother got me a box of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and told me to give them a fair trial. After I had taken one or two I felt much better and continued their use. Now I have no faint and dizzy spells and am gaining nicely. I would not be without Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills for the world."—Adv.

URGES EXPANSION OVERSEAS TRADE

WINNIPEG, Feb. 2.—There was a big job before the National Dairy Council to put Canadian dairy products on the map and let Canada be known as one of the greatest exporting countries for dairy products in the world. D'Arcy Scott, secretary-treasurer of the council, told delegates assembled in convention here today. The council, he said, must work hard to develop all the foreign markets possible.

Mr. Scott advocated the advertising and selling of Canadian butter in England on a co-operative basis, and said that when Canadian standards of butter were established, and they had compulsory grading for export, the council should take over the handling of all butter shipped from this country to overseas markets. Under Mr. Scott's plan a co-operative selling branch would be established under the control of a competent sales manager who would go to England to boost Canadian butter.

EXPLOSION KILLS MAN; 3 INJURED

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Feb. 2.—One man was killed and three injured in the township of Edwardsburg, near the village of Cardinal today by the accidental discharge of dynamite cartridges, which were being tested by Royal Reid, 35 years old, in the woodshed of his home. Reid received such injuries that he died shortly afterwards, while George Johnston of Prescott, a companion, received injuries about the head and side and was brought to the general hospital here. Mrs. Reid and a small daughter were also slightly injured. All three will recover.

Reid and Johnston are supposed to have procured the dynamite cartridges to make use of in fishing in the St. Lawrence. The victim of the accident leaves a wife and five children.

PICK LEMIEUX SPEAKER

King Promises Prompt Attention To G. W. V. A. Plea For Economic Aid.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(By Canadian Press).—The appointment of Dr. Milton Massey and E. D. Stouffer as commissioners of the port of Montreal was officially announced tonight.

OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—(By Canadian Press).—Parliament will be summoned to meet on Wednesday, March 8, it was announced following this afternoon's meeting of the cabinet council, which lasted until after 7 o'clock in the evening. The first day's business will be limited to the election of a speaker, while the formal opening, with the delivery of the speech from the throne will take place on Thursday, the following day.

The choice of Wednesday and Thursday as the opening days of the session is understood to have been made because of the fact that there are so many new members coming into the house this year. A very large number will be strangers to Ottawa and also to the parliament buildings, and it was felt that by meeting on Wednesday and adjourning, probably Thursday night, until the following Monday before the debate on the address in reply to the speech from the throne is begun, these new members will be given a chance to get settled in lodgings, and also to become acquainted with their locations in and around the parliament buildings.

Monday, two days earlier, had been favored by some cabinet members as the opening day.

Not Yet Named.

The names of the mover and seconder of the address have not yet been announced.

The new speaker of the Commons will be Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, member for Gaspé, as announced by the prime minister some time ago. There will also be a new speaker of the Senate, but it is understood that no selection has been made for that position yet.

Recommending the immediate establishment of a board to receive evidence relating to the needs of ex-service men in Canada, preparatory to a parliament inquiry on the subject and the inauguration of an expert investigation to determine what steps may safely be undertaken to effect improvement in methods of credit control, with a view to restoring normal business conditions, were made to Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King here this afternoon by R. B. Maxwell, president of the Great War Veterans' Association, and C. G. MacNeil, Dominion secretary-treasurer.

Submit Suggestions.

The representatives of the ex-service men submitted suggestions for the relief of unemployment through the widening of the scope of the government departments dealing with the problem.

Mr. King received the suggestions with sympathy and promised immediate consideration. Messrs. Maxwell and MacNeil advanced the argument that the present serious unemployment was an aggravated recurrence of a condition which had distressed the country for three successive winters. They admitted that relief was not to be expected from immediate consideration. Messrs. STILL HOPE FOR BULLOCK'S RETURN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 2.—(By Canadian Press).—State department officials indicated today that efforts were still afoot to secure the extradition of Matthew Bullock, colored, North Carolina, from Canada.

Considerable pressure is being brought to bear on officials connected with the office of solicitor of the state department. This branch of the state department is handling the matter.

Officials declined to make any statement as to the procedure to be adopted in asking that Bullock be returned to the United States on the ground that to do so would be to his advantage.

ELGIN ASSOCIATION TO SIFT MANY PROBLEMS

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 2.—The fourteenth annual meeting of the Elgin Municipal Association will be held in the court house next Thursday, the secretary, W. C. Caughell, clerk of Yarmouth, reported.

The meeting this year promises to be the busiest on record, as several important questions have been listed for open forum discussion. In addition, addresses will be delivered by Warden Emerson McTaggart of Malahide; County Engineer Fred A. Bell on "Drainage," and Reeve J. R. Teeple of Yarmouth on "Organization for Highway Improvement." The president, D. W. Graham, assessor of Aldborough, will open the meeting.

A luncheon will be served in the council chamber at 12:30 o'clock, when several prominent outside municipal officers will be guests. A special invitation is being extended Judge Duncan C. Ross, Elgin County's new justice.

REPORT AUTO REVENUE SHOWS BIG INCREASE

TORONTO, Feb. 2.—The revenue from automobiles in the province for the year ending Dec. 31, was almost $3,000,000, which is about $1,000,000 more than the previous year. This is due to increased fees. The number of automobiles was almost 182,500. This represents an increase of about 25,000 passenger cars and 2,000 trucks.

Bonomi's Italian Cabinet Quits When Discontent Reaches Climax

ROME, Feb. 2.—The cabinet of Premier Bonomi, which took office early last July in succession to the Giolitti ministry, presented its resignation to the Chamber of Deputies this afternoon.

The cabinet decided to resign, when, at a cabinet council this morning, it developed that important groups in the chamber, upon which the government had counted for support, had passed over to the Opposition because of objection to various of the government's policies.

The causes which combined to induce the majority in the chamber to withdraw its support from the Bonomi government were of both foreign and domestic origin. Many deputies had expressed disappointment over the failure of the Italian delegates at the Washington conference to have Italy included in the four-power Pacific treaty, and there was disappointment over Italy's being excluded from the Anglo-French treaty, which was drafted during the recent meeting of the supreme council at Cannes, but which has not yet been consummated.

There were also expressions of dissatisfaction over the official recognition of the death of Pope Benedict XV, through the visit of Minister of Agriculture Mauri to the Vatican, and through the half-masting of flags on public buildings.

WILL ERECT $10,000 STATION IN GALT

Valuable Corner Purchased by Niagara Falls Company.

[Special to London Advertiser.]

GALT, Feb. 2.—Robin Hood Service Stations, Ltd., Niagara Falls, with branches in various Ontario cities, have bought the valuable corner lot at Queen and Walter streets from the Galt Gas Light Company, on which they will erect a $10,000 service station of an ornamental design.

City Engineer D. Black reports having issued two building permits during January, amounting to a value of $9,100.

Rev. Alexander Torrie, B.A., of Toronto, has opened a series of revival services at the First Baptist Church.

A small fire occurred during the night in the G. T. R. station at Hespeler, due to an electric wire coming in contact with the telegraph wires. The blaze burned itself out, but the telegraph service was put out of commission.

Preston and Bartles, carpenters of Hespeler, built a three-roomed house there in eight days' time, and 64 hours of actual labor.

N. E. Palmer was elected chairman of the Galt Parks Commission at its inaugural meeting this afternoon.

OFFERS LONDON HOSTELRY STOCK

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—An offering of $1,000,000 8 per cent preferred stock of Canada Hotels Limited is announced by R. N. Rosenbaum to finance the construction of the Lloyd George Hotel, London, Ont.

This hotel is to be one of a contemplated chain throughout Canada, the prospectus mentioning Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec, Windsor, Three Rivers and Kitchener as prospective sites.

The London hotel's cost is placed at $1,550,000, while those for Toronto and Montreal are placed at $6,800,000 and $5,000,000 respectively.

WANTS CONTROL OF CAR NUMBERS

ST. THOMAS, Feb. 2.—So that additional funds might be secured for the erection of road signs and general improvements to the highways of Elgin County, efforts will be made next year to have the issuing of motor licenses placed in the hands of the St. Thomas and Elgin Motor Club.

One Million $1.00 Packages Of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets To Be Given Away Absolutely FREE

as explained below to prove to you what they will do—Every Reader of this Paper is Entitled To This Great Free Offer for Five Days

These are guaranteed to be the genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets prepared from the original formula of Dr. Catrin of the Faculty of Medicine of Paris. They positively contain no drugs in any form.

This Will Often Quickly Help You Increase Your Strength and Energy, Put On Pounds of Good Firm Flesh and Round Out Your Face and Figure If You Are Weak, Thin or Emaciated Due to Causes Explained Below

HUNDREDS of thousands are taking Yeast Vitamine Tablets. They may be just what you need to increase your weight and energy and give you that good firm flesh which you may have so long desired. The fact that you may have taken Yeast Vitamine Tablets, mixed with drugs, without obtaining results would not prove that our Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets (pure and unadulterated) would not help you.

A small tablet which contains drugs might not contain a sufficient quantity of Vitamine to do you much good. Therefore, no matter what you may have tried without obtaining results, we advise you to get a free $1.00 package of our Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets from your dealer today. Try them for ten days and watch the results.

Research Committee (composed of eminent physicians and scientists) would seem to show that no matter what quantity of food may be taken, if such food is deficient in Vitamine, you gradually lose flesh and become thin and weakened, while a much smaller quantity of food, rich in Vitamine, quickly produces good firm flesh, and increases weight, strength and energy.

provided your blood contains a sufficient quantity of oxygenated organic iron to enable you to assimilate your food properly. Without organic iron both food and Vitamine are absolutely useless, as your body cannot change inert, lifeless food into living cells and tissue, unless you have plenty of organic iron in your blood.

Blood examinations by physicians all over the country have shown that an enormous number of people are deficient in hemoglobin or iron content in the blood stream, and this is often the real underlying cause of thin, emaciated, weak and run-down condition and it is for this reason that thousands of people may take Vitamine without obtaining results. It is not the fault of the Vitamine, but it is the fault of your blood. Organic iron takes up oxygen from your lungs, this oxygenated organic iron unites with your digested food as it is absorbed into your blood, and it creates tremendous power and energy. Without organic iron in your blood, your food merely passes through your body without doing you any good. Therefore, in practically every case where Vitamine are necessary, organic iron is also necessary.

Forcuntis scientists tried in vain to produce organic iron. At last the problem was solved, so that you may now obtain pure organic iron from any drugstore under the name of "Nuxated Iron," which is ready for immediate absorption and assimilation by the blood the moment it enters the system.

If you merely wish to gain greater strength, energy, vigor and endurance we recommend that you take Nuxated Iron only. DO NOT TAKE VITAMINES UNLESS YOU WISH YOUR WEIGHT INCREASED up to what a person should normally weigh. We do not claim, however, that Vitamine will put flesh on everybody. Some people are naturally thin and will probably remain so in spite of Vitamine and everything else. Those whose menst consist principally of meat-soups, white bread, meats of various kinds, fish, potatoes, tinned fruits and vegetables, are likely to suffer from under-nourishment and a weakened physical condition due to a deficiency of both Vitamine and Organic Iron, no matter how much they eat, and in such cases both Vitamine and Nuxated Iron should be taken. Always take Yeast Vitamine Tablets before meals and Nuxated Iron after meals. Arrangements have been made with the druggists in this city to give every reader of this paper a large $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets absolutely free, with every bottle of Nuxated Iron that you purchase. Be sure to take only Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets with Nuxated Iron. Do not be misled by imitations which often contain drugs.

Insist on Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets, pure and unadulterated, prepared from the original formula of Dr. Catrin, of the Faculty of Medicine of Paris.

If as a result of faulty metabolism you feel tired in the mornings, restless at night, if your flesh is soft or flabby; if your eyes lack luster or your lips are pale; if you feel the need of more pep, vigor and energy so that you radiate magnetism, force and power, purchase an original package of Nuxated Iron, get a free $1.00 package of Yeast Vitamine with it and make this test.

start and test your strength and endurance on a gymnasium testing machine, then again after ten days and see for yourself how much you have increased in weight, strength and endurance. It is often remarkable what an astonishing difference it makes in a person's appearance to round out face and figure with a few pounds of good firm flesh, and it is often equally surprising what a tremendous amount of pep, vigor, force and energy a little more oxygenated organic iron will give a person whose blood is deficient in this music-like substance.

FREE $1.00 COUPON

This coupon if used within one week entitles you to one regular $1.00 package of Genuine Yeast Vitamine Tablets, absolutely free with each bottle of Nuxated Iron that you purchase. If your dealer does not have our Vitamine tablets he can easily obtain them for you from any wholesale house. Cut out this coupon and present it to your dealer today.

CHAPTER IS SMALL, BUT DOES BIG WORK

Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E., Raises $5,849.

During the past year the Campbell Becher Chapter, I. O. D. E., a little band of 30 women, all active workers, has raised $5,849.55 for the various worthy objects to which untiring service is given. This splendid record of financial activities was reported enthusiastically received when it was presented by Mrs. Harry Bell, treasurer, at the annual meeting of the chapter Thursday afternoon, held at the home of Mrs. Gordon Edgcombe, Colborne street. The large amount was achieved by holding a couple of charity balls, running the tea room at the motor show a year ago, an ice cream booth at the Western Fair, selling score cards at the ball park, and other means.

With the exception of $157, a donation of $2,500 has been paid to furnish a room in the War Memorial Children's Hospital.

A new undertaking of the past few months has been the adopting of "little sisters," daughters of men who have given their lives or been permanently incapacitated in the war, to afford these girls the advantages of secondary education. Seven in all have been adopted, six by the chapter, and the seventh by one member, who undertakes the entire responsibility.

"Little Sistering" Fine Work.

The first month of the experiment of "little sistering" has just come to a close, and the members of the chapter were unanimous in their opinion that this is not only the most interesting, but one of the most vitally important pieces of work they have undertaken.

Numbers of layettes, each containing some fifteen articles, have been given mothers who otherwise could not make such provision for their wee babes. At the present time, about 30 of these layettes are cut out, all ready to be sewn up.

Plans are practically completed for the tea room at the motor show next week when it is expected the cook book, now on the press, will be on sale.

The election of officers resulted in the return to responsibility of the efficient and resourceful regent, Mrs. F. J. Greenaway, and the capable treasurer, Mrs. Harry Bell. Other officers elected for 1922 are as follows: First vice-regent, Mrs. Arthur Keene; second vice-regent, Mrs. Ralph Slater; secretary, Mrs. E. N. Hart; assistant-secretary, Mrs. Arthur Wiley; Echoes secretary, Mrs. Claude White; educational secretary, Mrs. W. T. Clark; standard-bearer, Mrs. B. Hookway; Mrs. C. S. King presided during the election.

A resolution of sympathy was moved to the honorary-treasurer of the Municipal Chapter, Mrs. C. L. Campbell, in the death of her husband, Dr. Campbell.

Following the business, tea was served, Mrs. E. N. Hart and Mrs. Ralph Slater doing the honors.

Covets Centre For Girls' Work

Provincial Girl Guide Commissioner Impressed by Facilities of Hamilton Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. F. P. Betts, Ontario Provincial Commissioner of Girl Guides, who recently attended the meeting of the provincial council in Hamilton, was very much impressed by the fine Young Women's Christian Association Building in Hamilton, in which the meeting took place.

"I covet such a building for London," she says. "It would be a great thing, not only for the Y. W. C. A., but for London as a whole. It would provide a wonderful centre for all girls' and women's clubs, and also for conventions meeting here. Our guide gathering was held in a beautiful little auditorium."

"After it was over, I remained until 7 o'clock, and had an opportunity of seeing all through the building, with its fine swimming tank, gymnasium and other up-to-date features. I think it is a pity we cannot have the gymnasium tank privileges here for our girls, as well as for our boys. It is just as important that the girls should learn how to swim as the boys, in view of the many casualties that occur every year."

"I had dinner with the staff in the dining-room, a spacious room, decorated in a most dignified and attractive way. We sat at a round table, centered with flowers. The whole atmosphere of the place was delightful. I only hope the day will soon come when we will have such a centre for girls' and women's activities in London."

HAS DRAMATIZED LITTLE WOMEN

One of London's most popular young girls, Miss Jean Waugh, who has been especially well-known for her patriotic and social welfare work, is appearing in a new role in the near future, that of dramatist. Friday evening, Feb. 10, in St. Andrew's Hall, the Polymath Club of the Y. W. C. A. is presenting the charming story of girl life, "Little Women," by Louisa May Alcott, "Ideal girls, but very human." Of special interest in this connection is the fact that the dramatization of the book for the purpose has been made by Miss Waugh, the clever young leader of the club.

Previous to the scenes from "Little Women," a pageant is to be presented, "The Secret of the Ideal Girl's Life."

Owing to the lack of accommodation for rehearsals at the Y. W. C. A. clubroom, "Lenmore," King street, Miss Waugh has been offering the hospitality of her home to the members of the caste for their practices.

Cynthia Grey's Was Unfailing Friend To Order

MISS THE OLD FACES.

Dear Miss Grey—It is some time since I wrote to the Mail-Box. What is the matter with all the old readers? I don't see many letters in the Mail-Box.

We had a box social at a neighbor's house last week, and made $14.70, which we sent in for sick children. We intend to have another one soon and send the proceeds in for the Mail-Box fund. Did the cake arrive all right? I hope you enjoyed it. I sent a couple of parcels in to Mother of Six and had a letter from her. Well, Miss Grey, I hope you can keep warm these cold days. Find inclosed mite for hospital.

CANAAN.

I hope your next box social will be equally as successful, especially when you are going to be so good as to send it through our fund. I enjoyed the Christmas cake, which went towards making up my thirteen varieties. Thank you for remembering Cynthia.

PINE LIMB OFFERS COAT.

Dear Miss Grey—Here I am again. I can stay just a few minutes. I hope you are quite well, Miss Grey, and that you are settled down in your new office. Moving is no fun, is it? I am pleased to hear that Tip is getting along so nicely, and hope she will soon be quite well again. I also had a letter from Pine Limb. She said if the Box-ite who wanted a coat good enough to wear to a country church would write to her, and send postage, she would send her one. Miss Grey, inclosed please find two songs and recitations, and some poetry. If "One in Want" would like to get some reading or any one else, I will send some if they send the postage. I could also supply "One in Want" with old sheets, if she is still in need of them. I received your letter, Elgin Lass.

ELGORA.

I hope the Boxite who wanted a coat will see Pine Limb's offer, and send for it. Thank you very much, Elgora, for sending in the songs and recitations for Mail-Box use, also for offering sheets and reading matter.

LONDON M. P. TO SPEAK AT ANNUAL MEETING

Frank White, M.P., is to be the speaker, and his subject, "The Value of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. Work to the City," at the annual meeting of the Young Women's Christian Association on Monday evening, Feb. 13, when the public will be given an illuminating glimpse of the manifold activities of the association.

Reports will be presented to the various departments, industrial extension, physical, girls' work, travelers' aid, religious education, etc., which have enjoyed healthy activity and gratifying growth.

The board will be elected at this meeting, probably with very few changes, excepting the filling of three vacancies. The election of officers will not take place until the first meeting of the new board, the following Wednesday, Feb. 15.

So far, no decision has been made with regard to a general secretary to succeed Mrs. J. R. Henderson. The president, Mrs. C. B. King, has been in communication with Miss Marjory Ford, Dominion secretary, and several trained workers have been under consideration. One, regarded as especially desirable, has not yet made her decision.

GLADYS CANBEE.

It is interesting to hear from the old members, isn't it Gladys? Thank you for expressing your kind sentiments towards our Mail-Box corner. Your household hints are very useful ones and I am sure the housewives will be all clipping them for their scrapbooks. Many thanks for the hospital mite. Isn't our funds growing rapidly?

ENGAGEMENT RINGS.

Time was when a half-hoop of diamonds was considered the height of feminine bliss! Now half-hoops are too dreadfully old-fashioned! It must be all the way round or nothing! A circle of diamonds set in platinum, tiny pearls or emeralds put in with diamond dust are quite the smart and fashionable thing!

THINKS VISITS OF OLD FRIENDS JOLLY

Dear Miss Grey—May I have a few flower seeds? Any kind except hollyhocks will do.

Isn't it jolly to see old friends visiting the Mail-Box? There are almost a page full every day. To my mind the Mail-Box is much more interesting than continued stories. Here are a few hints that I have just learned from a friend:

To remove grease spots from silk—lay a blotter under the spot and then drop chloroform upon it. Silverware may be cleaned by being left in a dish of sour milk for a few hours.

A rusty nail stuck in a plant dish will destroy worms.

The bride wore a navy suit with hat to match, white fox fur and a corsage bouquet of Ophelia roses, lilies-of-the-valley and pansies. The ceremony was conducted by the groom's brother, the Ven. Miss Isabel Cringan acted as bridesmaid, and the groom was supported by his brother, Mr. Gerald Carlisle of Windsor. Dr. and Mrs. Carlisle will reside at 26 Guestville avenue, Mount Dennis.

An excellent program has been provided by the committee in charge.

Lambeth Cheerio Club.

An event much enjoyed on Wednesday evening by residents of Lambeth and district was an entertainment given in the community hall under the auspices of the Cheerio Club, several prominent London artists taking part. These included Mrs. Arthur Brickenen, reader; Mrs. W. B. Wortman, lyric soprano; Ted Bottoms, baritone, and Miss Lenore Coughlin, pianist. Andrew McLaughlin, violinist, of Lambeth, revealed much talent in his contribution to the program. After the concert, which was given in aid of the welfare work of the club, the artists were entertained at supper at "Edel-tour," the home of Dr. G. A. Routledge and Mrs. Routledge, by the club members.

POLLY AND PAUL AND PARIS

CHAPTER XII.—The Arrival At Paris.

By Zoe Beckley

POLLY lay, hot and sobbing, upon her bed for a minute or two after she heard the door close.

"Paul... Dear, kind and tender, what had she done to him? Sent him away in a fit of hysterical weeping over Violet Rand's cattish attack!

The cry had done her good. She was able to reason now. After all, had Violet been more catty than she herself? How silly to be jealous... She, Polly, had probably seemed prudish and bridle and small-town. It had been a temptation on Violet's part to pique her. Perhaps she had meant no harm.

Polly heard someone at the door and quickly hid her face. A disfigured face in the pillow. She heard Paul's step—felt something indescribably warm and soft and furry pressed against her neck. A tiny purr... It was too much. Polly sat up, all smiles, and held out her hands for the wee thing.

"I know that 'ud fetch you! Ever see such a cute kit? Violet Rand borrowed it from the purser's cat and sent it with her apologies and friendly greetings."

A few days later they landed at Cherbourg, or rather were put ashore by the liner onto a tender which ran alongside and took them to the dock of the first foreign city Polly had ever seen.

She was thrilled at the strangeness and novelty of the old world town—the workmen in their baggy curoys and blue smock blouses, the two-wheeled carts loaded with shining copper milk cans—fishing boats with russet sails, dog-drawn wagons heaped with gay-colored vegetables—peasant women with kerchiefs, caps and voluminous skirts, sweeping the streets, and tending fish-stalls.

Polly was supremely happy. All her doubts and fears had been resolved. She was more than ever in love with her husband. She was friendly enough with Violet Rand. Paris was before her. The whole world sang...

They dined on the train going from Cherbourg to Paris. How cunning it all was—the blue-kerchiefed serving maids, the wonderfully succulent food, the delicate wine warming the blood without befuddling the intellect, the long thin loaves of French bread, the strange language all about her—which Paul spoke so fluently, and to her was such a mystery.

Like a golden cloud floating always above her was the thought of Paris. A city of light and life, of joy and luxury! Polly approached it with tremors of fascination and the humility of the foreigner who has dreamed of it, but never dreamed of attaining it...

The train drew in at last to the Gare du Nord. The compartment doors were thrown open, everybody scrambled out.

Surely some golden fairland awaited just ahead! Streets of light filled with dancing, singing people—super-beings, who "understood life" and did everything they pleased.

They came out into a dimly-lighted, vast and ugly station. A damp, faintly stinkish smell tainted the air. Crowds of people, looking much like people everywhere, rushed about, finding taxicabs, scolding porters. The place was draughty and dark and hideous.

"Paul! Oh, my darling—is this Paris?"

"Wait!" said Paul, and Polly didn't know whether he meant wait while he struggled with the formalities of the luggage room or until she should see the real Paris.

They got into their cab.

Through a few dark streets they sped. Polly seeing nothing that gave clue to the individuality of the city she had dreamed of. Then, without warning, they turned a corner with the furious speed of the Paris taxi, and emerged into a broad white-lit boulevard lined with gay cafes where people sat at little tables upon the sidewalk and an air of joyousness pervaded all.

Something in the atmosphere said, "Work is over for the day—let's enjoy ourselves!"

Polly clutched Paul's arm.

"How wonderful, dear! I love your Paris!"

"Wait," said Paul again, kissing the hand on his sleeve. "It's all before you."

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

SPICE CAKES

SPICE cakes have a strong appeal in cold weather. Just the smell of a house that has had a spice cake baked in it is a welcome.

These recipes are for both plain and fancy cakes. The first cake might be used by itself as a dessert.

Spice Cake.

Four eggs, 1½ cups brown sugar, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 2½ cups flour, ¼ cup butter, 1 cup sweet milk, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt.

Cream butter and beat in sugar. Add one whole egg and the yolks of three whole eggs. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add alternately with milk to first mixture. Turn into a buttered and floured dripping pan and bake half an hour in a moderate oven. Let cool slightly and cover with the following frosting:

Frosting.

Three eggs (whites), 1½ cups brown sugar, 1 cup milk, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt.

Beat whites of eggs on a big platter with a whisk till stiff and dry. Roll brown sugar on a molding board till free from lumps. Beat sugar into eggs and spread on cake. Put in a hot oven to brown.

Spice Cake.

One and one-quarter cups brown sugar, 1 cup sour milk, 1 egg, 1 teaspoon soda, ½ cup butter and lard mixed, 1 teaspoon soda, 2 cups flour, 1 cup seeded raisins, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves.

Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg well beaten. Mix and sift flour and salt, cinnamon and cloves. Sift over raisins. Add half the sour milk to first mixture. Add dry ingredients to first mixture.

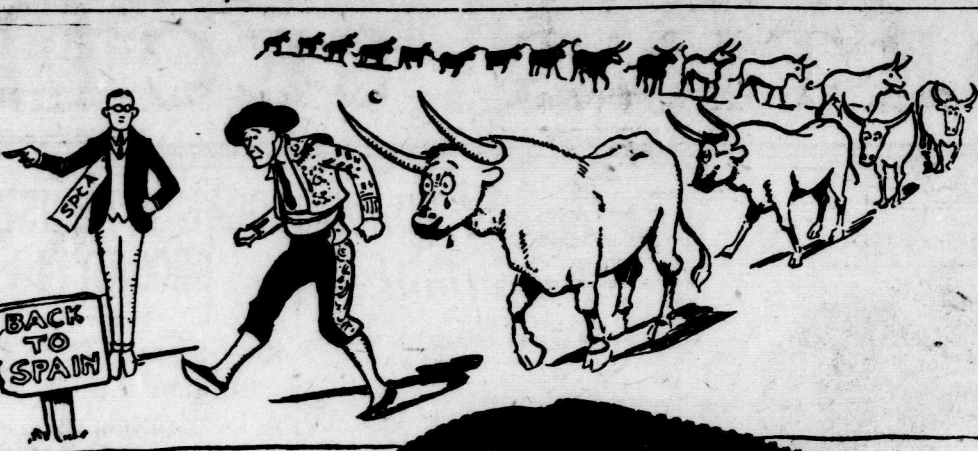

OFTEN a cork is the handiest thing to have around and yet the hardest thing to find. This is in spite of the fact that you pull many corks out of bottles in a week's time.

A small box, labeled corks, will come in handy if you put these pulled-out corks in it, and find a place for it on the pantry shelf. Also a cork that is a bit too large may be pressed smaller by rolling with a knife.

Back To Spain For Charlot And His 17 Bulls

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals has put the skids under Charlot Molina's 17 fighting Spanish bulls.

Also under Charlot. And under Charlot's ambitious plan to fight a bull in Madison Square Garden and in a Montreal "arena."

Charlot is disconsolate. He wailed, gesticulating after the manner of the bull ring, "I bring-a de fine 17 bulls."

"They are wonderful—undefeatable. Except, of course, by me. 'We have been told in Spain that the American sport is always throwing the bull.'"

But They Won't Let Him. "Let they weel not let me do him. It is sad."

"Sad!" waving his hand. "Sad!" shaking his fist.

"Five thousand dollars a week it cost me for these 17 bulls—they eat so much and sleep so long. It is terrible. I can't afford him."

"But I got me a lawyer now. He will show them!"

A hurry-gurdy outside began playing the Toreador Song from Carmen.

"The whole world knows about me," Charlot smiled. He raised his voice again. He was not going to be downed by anything—grand opera or the S. P. C. A.

"It must be that this society considers me the 'animal' I am insulted."

ter. Stir into first mixture and drop from the spoon into little patty pans. Bake in a hot oven for fifteen minutes. This cake batter will keep for two weeks on ice and can be baked as needed.

Lightning Cakes.

Three eggs, 1 cup sugar, ¼ cup melted butter, 1 cup milk, 1½ cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon vanilla, ¼ cup chopped nuts, sugar, butter, cinnamon.

Beat eggs very light. Beat in sugar. Beat in butter which should be cool. Stir in half the milk, add the flour sifted with baking powder, salt and cinnamon. Add remaining milk. Pour into a buttered and floured pan. Sprinkle with chopped nuts, sugar and cinnamon and dot with bits of butter. Bake in a slow oven for 45 minutes.

How Spinning Top Teaches Science

Spinning objects that show scientists how the world moves. Anna Pavlova in a whirling dance, a spinning top and (left) the gyroscope compass in use.

BY HERWARD CARRINGTON.

THE spinning top, regarded by most as a toy, has enabled scientists to solve many puzzling questions in astronomy and even to prove that the earth revolves on its axis.

All spinning bodies have peculiar qualities. If you throw a coin into "heads" or "tails."

But if you give the coin a rapid spinning motion when you throw it upward, it will come down always in the same position in which it was thrown.

Further, all spinning bodies tend to stand on end.

Take an egg, lay it on its side and give it a rapid spinning motion—it will soon stand on end and begin spinning like a top.

Spinning bodies in rapid motion resist any pressure from without. If they are hit in a north and south direction, they immediately react by wobbling in an east and west direction.

Point to the North Star.

All spinning bodies when free tend to point to the north star.

This principle has been used in the gyroscope.

Many gyroscope compasses now are in use. By this means, the actual revolution of the earth can be detected.

Here's the experiment: Set an electrically-driven gyroscope spinning and allow it to assume its natural position with the aid of two freely revolving metal rings in which the gyroscope is set. One of these rings is marked with a series of finely etched lines at measured intervals.

A microscope also is used. A series of fine wires is stretched at stated intervals across the end of the microscope opposite the eyepiece, so as to constitute a fine grating.

When the top is observed through the microscope, the marks etched on the ring of the gyroscope will appear to move slowly across the grating lines on the microscope.

The top will seem to be swinging or revolving very slowly.

But what actually happens is that the top remains stationary while the microscope, the observer, the room and the whole earth slowly are revolving around it!

That's how spinning tops have enabled us to solve many astronomical problems and to understand more accurately the movements of heavenly bodies—particularly of our earth and other planets around the sun.

The top shows us that if the earth stopped revolving, it would fall at once into the sun and we should all be burned alive.

CHARLOT MOLINA.

It is to prevent cruelty to the animal that they say I cannot fight the bull.

"Yes, they must think me the animal. 'For how could I be cruel to the bull—with a red scarf? That was all I asked to use.'

"I would not kill the bull—ah, no! 'But I COULD kill him! I am the bull killer—king of the matadors. I have killed one thousand bulls in my lifetime.'

"It is so sad!"

Charlot's a Dude!

Charlot pulled out a handkerchief and—

Dusted his shoes.

"I have to be so careful. I have to keep up my appearance."

"But where will I go from here? 'Canada? It is so cold there. Maybe I'll have to—but the bull—he won't like it. None of him will."

"He like it the south. I fight him in Dallas, Texas, and Los Angeles. Just an 'exhibition,' but the people go wild. And why not?"

"Have not my queen—the queen of Spain—applauded me? She have! Many, many times."

"But here they have the society. 'Maybe my lawyer, he fees them. 'If not—' 'It is veery, veery sad!'"

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS.

NATURE'S SCHOOL

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

Here we are now, at the gate of Mother Nature's school.

A QUEER thing happened when Buskins and the Twins arrived in the strange new country above the clouds on their dandelion parachutes. The little dandelion parachutes (or seeds) suddenly became alive and Nancy and Nick saw that they had kind bright faces, and arms and legs and feet.

"Will you please excuse us now," said the little seeds. "We are going to Mother Nature's school and we are afraid that we'll be late."

"Oh, yes indeed!" said Nancy politely. "Go right along. I'm sorry if we've kept you. And thank you for bringing us."

"That's all right," they answered, hurrying off.

"We're going to visit your school," said Buskins, "and if you are late, I'll tell Mother Nature all about it." Then to the children, "I'll tell you more about this place as we go along. You see, Mother Nature has a school here for the little seeds that fly, so they'll know how to grow. Many of the seeds have wings, you know, or something just as good, that they can fly with like your parachutes. The dandelion seeds are only one kind.

"There are also the thistle seeds, the milk-weed seeds, and the seeds of many kinds of trees and flowers. Some other seeds fly in a different way. They have jiggers on them and stick to the bird's wings and feathers. When the birds fly, the seeds hang on until they come to a place where they wish to grow, then they drop off."

"But here we are now, at the gate of Mother Nature's school. Come on, let us go in. I'm sure we are welcome. Mother Nature isn't easily disturbed and she'll be glad to see us."

Buskins opened the gate and they all walked into a large garden where little seeds sat in rows and a beautiful fairy sat at a desk.

CHAPTER XIV.

The warden handed him a ticket back to Denver, and with it a stereotyped little lecture of platitudes. Sanders walked slowly out of the office and through the door in the wall that led back to life. He was free. Tomorrow was his. All the tomorrows of all the years of his life were waiting for him. But—

As he stood in the dry Colorado sunshine his heart was quite dead.

From one place to another Dave drifted. His stubborn pride, once dead, let him live under false pretenses, in part to a bitterness that had become dogged defiance, kept him out of good places and forced him to do heavy, unskilled labor that brought the poorest pay.

Yet he saved money, bought himself good, cheap clothes, and found energy to attend night school, where he studied stationary and mechanical engineering. One day he smiled grimly and began to pack. When he left, the expressman took his trunk to the station. The ticket which Sanders bought showed Malapi as his destination.

At the junction he took the stage for Malapi. Already he could see that he was going into a new world, one altogether different from that he had last seen here. These men were not cattle-men. They talked the vocabulary of oil. They had the shrewd, keen look of the driller and the wildcatter.

A branch line of a transcontinental railroad was moving across the desert to tap the new oil fields. Houses rose over-night. Mule teams jingled in and out freighting supplies to Malapi and from there to the fields.

"Dave! Where in Mexico you been, old alkali? We been lookin' for you everywhere."

"In Denver, Bob."

Sanders spoke quietly. His eyes went straight into those of Bob Hart to see what was written there. He found only a grin and a joyful welcome, neither embarrassment nor any sign of shame.

"But why didn't you write and let us know?" Bob grew mildly profane in his warmth. "We didn't know when the government was goin' to act. Or we'd 'a' been right at the gate, me or Ed Crawford."

GUNS, PASS BOOKS

EDITED BY CARR. THE MAGGED EDGE. By Harold MacGrath. Doubleday, Page & Co.

THIS is the type of story that the so-called "highbrow" will label arrant rubbish, and he who is less particular will hail as a very excellent tale. It is a very excellent tale. From its opening pages in Canton, ancient city of strange peoples and stranger customs, to its closing ones on McClintock's South Sea Island, the reader's attention is held, his curiosity aroused, and he is kept wholly engrossed. What more could one ask of the romantic sort of novel? It is an intriguing plot, and the settings boast more than a hint of atmosphere.

One follows with interest the development of naive Ruth Enschede, daughter of a peculiar missionary, and ignorant of the world and its ways. All she has known is of the South Sea Island where she was born, a knowledge that has taught her nothing that pertains to big cities or even small towns. Read of her in the midst of strange Canton and Adventure. Adventure with a particularly large capital A! And besides the development of Ruth there is the mystery of young Spurlock, alias Taber, to unravel.

The story is so good, and so very entertaining, without the aid of heroics, that it is a pity Mr. MacGrath resorts to melodrama at the close. One's intelligence and credulity feel somewhat cheated and insulted at the final chapter. But it is typical of Mr. MacGrath, so his faithful admirers will suffer none of this injured feeling. But as the tale is rather better than most of its predecessors by the same author, one wishes he had avoided the cheap glamor that tinges the last score of pages.

ROMANCE.

ROMANCE OF THE RESCUE. By Denis Mackail. Houghton Mifflin Company.

A LIGHT and diverting touch that at times suggests W. J. Locke and at other times brings to mind the comedy of P. G. Wodehouse is to be found in "Romance to the Rescue," by Denis Mackail. The book is a delectable bit of droll foolery throughout, with just enough of a serious touch to provide the proper balance and rescue the theme from descending into the realm of low comedy. Consider a theme in which a beautiful woman, separated for a score of years from her actor-husband, writes a play and sends it to an agency to place. Consider the agency placing that very same play with the actor-husband. Consider a callow youth of 19, down for a vacation from Oxford, who possesses the same name as the nom de plume which the beautiful lady put on her play. Consider him being rushed into service and posed as the playwright.

Now mix up with this theme a dozen amusing characters, including actors, a famous novelist, a delightful but mysterious young woman, the firm of Brisker & John—ticket speculators—and several others. Add some minor complications—the novelist's love plot, the mysterious young woman and the desire of the actor-husband to gain a position in parliament—and the concoction is complete.

Mr. Mackail displays a mighty deft hand throughout. His situations rapidly pile up crescendo style. His characters are developed in a clever manner. His prose is light and joyous, constantly sparkling with laughable lines. Although the author views his subject for the major part from the pleasant tower of humor, he is at heart a romanticist. Indeed, it is to be suspected that all humorists are romanticists, in spite of the psychoanalysts, who insist that humor is the outbreak of a dark and impendable melancholy. Anyway, Mr. Mackail believes in the triumph of all the old desirable things—such as the vindication of true love and the happily-ever-after finish.

He was free. Tomorrow was his. All the tomorrows of all the years of his life were waiting for him. But—

As he stood in the dry Colorado sunshine his heart was quite dead.

From one place to another Dave drifted. His stubborn pride, once dead, let him live under false pretenses, in part to a bitterness that had become dogged defiance, kept him out of good places and forced him to do heavy, unskilled labor that brought the poorest pay.

Yet he saved money, bought himself good, cheap clothes, and found energy to attend night school, where he studied stationary and mechanical engineering. One day he smiled grimly and began to pack. When he left, the expressman took his trunk to the station. The ticket which Sanders bought showed Malapi as his destination.

In the early morning Dave turned to rest his cramped limbs. He was in a day coach, and his sleep through the night had been broken.

At the junction he took the stage for Malapi. Already he could see that he was going into a new world, one altogether different from that he had last seen here. These men were not cattle-men. They talked the vocabulary of oil. They had the shrewd, keen look of the driller and the wildcatter.

At Malapi Dave descended from the stage into a town he hardly knew. Everywhere oil dominated the place.

A branch line of a transcontinental railroad was moving across the desert to tap the new oil fields. Houses rose over-night. Mule teams jingled in and out freighting supplies to Malapi and from there to the fields.

Up the street a team of half-broken broncos came on the gallop. From the backboard stepped lightly a straight-backed, well-muscled young fellow.

"In Denver, Bob."

Sanders spoke quietly. His eyes went straight into those of Bob Hart to see what was written there. He found only a grin and a joyful welcome, neither embarrassment nor any sign of shame.

"But why didn't you write and let us know?" Bob grew mildly profane in his warmth. "We didn't know when the government was goin' to act. Or we'd 'a' been right at the gate, me or Ed Crawford."

CHAPTER XVII.

The warden handed him a ticket back to Denver, and with it a stereotyped little lecture of platitudes. Sanders walked slowly out of the office and through the door in the wall that led back to life. He was free. Tomorrow was his. All the tomorrows of all the years of his life were waiting for him. But—

GUNS, PASS BOOKS

EDITED BY CARR. THE MAGGED EDGE. By Harold MacGrath. Doubleday, Page & Co.

THIS is the type of story that the so-called "highbrow" will label arrant rubbish, and he who is less particular will hail as a very excellent tale. It is a very excellent tale. From its opening pages in Canton, ancient city of strange peoples and stranger customs, to its closing ones on McClintock's South Sea Island, the reader's attention is held, his curiosity aroused, and he is kept wholly engrossed. What more could one ask of the romantic sort of novel? It is an intriguing plot, and the settings boast more than a hint of atmosphere.

One follows with interest the development of naive Ruth Enschede, daughter of a peculiar missionary, and ignorant of the world and its ways. All she has known is of the South Sea Island where she was born, a knowledge that has taught her nothing that pertains to big cities or even small towns. Read of her in the midst of strange Canton and Adventure. Adventure with a particularly large capital A! And besides the development of Ruth there is the mystery of young Spurlock, alias Taber, to unravel.

The story is so good, and so very entertaining, without the aid of heroics, that it is a pity Mr. MacGrath resorts to melodrama at the close. One's intelligence and credulity feel somewhat cheated and insulted at the final chapter. But it is typical of Mr. MacGrath, so his faithful admirers will suffer none of this injured feeling. But as the tale is rather better than most of its predecessors by the same author, one wishes he had avoided the cheap glamor that tinges the last score of pages.

AWARD WIDOW OF AUTO CRASH VICTIM $1,450

Jurors Find Verdict in Favor of Mrs. Martha Hardiman.

FULL CLAIM WAS $7,000

North Dorchester Must Also Pay $200 to Frank Scattergood.

A settlement of $1,450 for Mrs. Martha Hardiman, and $200 for Frank Scattergood, was reached over night in the $7,000 action brought by Mrs. Hardiman against the township of North Dorchester. Mrs. Hardiman's husband, Joseph Hardiman, was killed on the night of Aug. 30, 1921, when an automobile owned by Mr. Scattergood, plunged into a gully at the side of a road near Dorchester.

When court opened before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith at 10 o'clock Friday morning, counsel announced that they had reached an agreement on the case, which was commenced Thursday afternoon. As a result of this agreement, the mortgage on the plaintiff's house of $300 will be paid off; $300 goes to Edward William Hardiman, a son, who was born in 1903, and $150 to Gertrude H. daughter, born in 1905. Mrs. Hardiman will receive $700.

J. M. McEvoy, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, and F. H. Curran for the defence.

Lacked Guard Rails.
Luther Pinnegar, a farmer, living in the vicinity of the accident, stated that if a car got off the beaten track, it would sink into the soil. There was about eight feet of loose soil over the pipe running beneath the road. There were no guard rails up at the time of the accident. He never thought the place was safe without a railing. The last railing was a wire one.

The night of the accident Mr. Hardiman had motored past his place and left a milk can he had borrowed. The wife of the witness had gone to the door and had heard screams. She called to witness, and he and his son had rushed to the scene of the accident. The car was turned over in his opinion, Mr. Scattergood and Hardiman and his son underneath. Mr. Hardiman died shortly after witness pulled him from beneath the car.

Was Industrious Man.
Mr. Pinnegar stated that he knew Hardiman as an industrious man, that about 53 years of age, and farmed seven acres.

Richard Pinnegar, son of the previous witness, said that the car had turned off about five feet before going over into the gully. The centre of the road, in his opinion, was the only safe place for traffic.

PLANS UNION OF GARAGE WORKERS

Representative of International Organization Visits London.

Plans for union organization were outlined by several local motor mechanics and garage workers in session at the Labor Temple, Thursday night, at which gathering attended Harry Kerwin of Toronto, grand lodge representative of the International Mechanists.

Representative Kerwin explained that organizations had been created in Hamilton, Brantford and Toronto, and had resulted in great success. He felt that directly the local workmen were aware of the immense educational value attached to this union they would lose little time in becoming identified with it.

Once the men are organized, it is proposed to hold special educational classes in the Labor Temple in order that the workers may learn something concerning every type of car on the continent. The speaker pointed out that the various firms would be only too pleased to co-operate in every way and would send demonstrators to the city.

The grand lodge representative also touched upon the question of wages and working conditions, and warned the men that they should guard against a gradual return to the old days of 55 to 72 hours a week. He referred to certain places in the eastern provinces where men were now employed 60 hours a week, and in one place in particular, in Quebec, 72 hours.

Another meeting will be held at an early date to complete organization.

COMMENCE SUIT OVER PURCHASE OF FARM LANDS

Harry Stabler Brings Action Against Thomas Robinson.

DISPUTE ABOUT COTTAGE

Vendor Alleges Mistake in Including Dwelling in Title.

The action of Harry Stabler against Thomas H. Robinson, over the ownership of a cottage, which the plaintiff claims he was entitled to when he bought a 44-acre farm from Robinson in August, 1919, for $9,000, is being heard before Chief Justice R. M. Meredith at the court house.

Stabler asks for the conveyance of the lands, and that no further payment be required until the amount found to be the value of the property has been given credit for by the defendant.

Mr. Stabler the first witness called Friday morning told of the agreement being made with Robinson and that it turned out later that Robinson was not the owner of the cottage on one corner of the farm which is situated over the Vauxhall bridge. Witness had to release the cottage. Witness had to release the cottage. Witness had to release the cottage.

E. S. Hunt, assessor for Westminster Township, declared that he would hesitate to give $6,000 for the property without the cottage.

Andrew J. Henderson, father-in-law of Stabler, and a former assessor of East Nissouri, stated that $6,000 would be a fair market value for the farm.

"It was a gentleman's residence at one time," remarked the judge. "You wouldn't think so to look at it," rejoined Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Stabler, recalled to the box, said that 15 acres of the land was along the river bank and subject to floods. He did not buy the land for speculative purposes.

John G. Anderson, for the defence, told of the agreement being prepared in his office from papers brought there by Mr. Robinson. Stabler had never claimed at any time that he had purchased the Alway cottage. He thought a fair value of the property would be $9,000.

John Robinson, tenant before Stabler bought the place, said that the plaintiff never claimed he had purchased the cottage. He, too, valued the land at $9,000.

Henry Fisher purchased the cottage in April, 1920, Stabler had told him a "good time after" the purchase, not to pay any more money on it.

Thomas Robinson declared that he had sold the cottage in 1902 to his wife and Agnes Alway, sisters of his wife. He had told Stabler about the mistake in the deed given and wanted plaintiff to sign a quit claim deed and Stabler refused. Witness had never intended the Alway property to be included in the sale.

Cross-examined by H. H. Bartlett, witness did not know that his wife had given John Robinson a five-year lease. He admitted that his wife had issued a writ against him, claiming to be the owner of the land.

When showing Stabler the property he did not say one way or the other that the cottage was included in the purchase price.

Pat Walsh valued the property at $10,400.

T. G. Meredith, for defence, and T. H. Bartlett for plaintiff.

ODDFELLOWS AT FUNERAL WILL NUMBER 300

Prominent Members of Order To Honor Dr. Cl. T.
Campbell.

GRAND OFFICERS COMING

Services To Be Held Sunday Afternoon in St. Paul's Cathedral.

The funeral services of the late Dr. Cl. T. Campbell, to be held under the auspices of the Independent Order of Oddfellows at St. Paul's Cathedral at 2:30 o'clock Sunday afternoon, promise to be very largely attended. Members of the local Oddfellows lodge to the number of about 300, will attend in a body, as well as many prominent members of the order from distant parts. Meeting at the Oddfellows' Hall, Richmond street, at 2 o'clock, the members of the order will proceed to Queen's avenue, lining the street on either side from the residence of the late Dr. Campbell, where services will be conducted by the Rev. Denny Bright, curate of that church. It is probable that Rev. Walter Cox of Toronto, a prominent member of the I. O. F., will also be present to assist at the funeral.

March to Cemetery.

From the church the funeral procession will proceed to Mount Pleasant cemetery where, after the grave service has been read by the minister, the Oddfellows will conduct their own service for the dead. Leaving the church, the funeral procession will be headed by the ministers, closely followed by the patriarchs militant, all in their regalia. The Assembly Officers and Rebekas will come next in the procession with the subordinate lodge members following. They in turn will be followed by the Grand Lodge and Grand Encampment officers, the Sovereign Grand Lodge officers, public officials such as mayor and council members, the cortege and pallbearers and lastly the mourners.

Many local tributes have been sent in from different cities of Canada and the United States, where the late Dr. Campbell was well known on account of his prominence in the I.O. O.F.

Joined Order in 1867.

As an oddfellow, he leaves the record of a remarkable career. On September 18, 1867, he joined Dominion Lodge, No. 45. He entered the Grand Lodge in 1870 and the Grand representative to Sovereign Lodge from 1875 to 1892, becoming deputy grand sire in 1892, and serving as grand sire during 1894 and 1895. He was also a member of Victoria Rebekah Lodge, No. 1. At the time of his death, Dr. Campbell occupied the position of senior past grand sire.

Dr. Campbell also achieved prominence in the Masonic Lodge. He was past master of Tecumseh, No. 144. A. F. and A. M., and past grand regent of the Royal Archmason.

SENTENCED TO 3-YEAR TERM

Enoch Shaddock of Parkhill Pleaded Guilty to Crime.

Enoch Shaddock of Parkhill was sentenced to three years in Kingston penitentiary when he appeared before Judge Macbeth at the court house on a charge of attacking his daughter Clara on April 1, 1920.

A warrant for Shaddock's arrest was issued, but he could not be found by the police. Provincial officer Arthur H. Palmer learned at a late hour Thursday afternoon that Shaddock was on a farm in west Kent County, and motoring out to the farm house Palmer found Shaddock in bed.

Later in the evening Shaddock was brought before Squire W. H. Chittick, acknowledged his guilt and was sent for trial before Judge Macbeth. The prisoner will be escorted to the penitentiary within the next few days.

WANTS CITIZENS TO DISCUSS TAXES

Ald. Ashplant Sees Food
Reflection in Fixed Assessments.

While Ald. H. B. Ashplant has offered no definite proposal or presented a motion calling for the breaking of the annex agreement, whereby the 15-mill rate as fixed applies to the assessment of factories, for the general as well as the school tax, he is continuing to advance reasons why some action should be taken.

In his latest statement on the matter he suggests that the subject should "provide serious reflection for those organizations as the chamber of commerce, the social service council, the Minister Association, the church brotherhoods, etc., not to mention the department of justice, city hall administration staff, Victoria Hospital support, Western University support, board of works maintenance costs, relief of the poor.

"Take the faculty of Western University also, and let these good citizens figure out the contribution to the university expansion, which is benefiting many of our industrial annex. It must be borne in mind that the 'general tax' of less than $30, paid for the full year, as in the report on record, has to provide for, and cover the following expense over and above the school charges: viz:

Fire protection, police protection, department of justice, city hall administration staff, Victoria Hospital support, Western University support, board of works maintenance costs, relief of the poor.

Under the provision of the federal act, the Dominion veterinary department inspectors look after the various herds supplying milk to the city. Cattle placed in the re-actor class, that is, those afflicted with tuberculosis, are slaughtered and the Dominion compensates the owner. The Dominion will carry on these tests for two years and then hand it over to the local board to be continued.

GIVES FARMERS RADIOPHONE TALK

Washington, Feb. 2.—Secretary Wallace, using a wireless telephone in his residence here last night, addressed a meeting of farmers and men interested in allied industries at St. Paul, Minn. He told them the department of agriculture was preparing to give the farmers more help in the marketing of their crops and more information on prices and adjustment of production to demand. Expressing gratification that he was the first secretary of agriculture to address by wireless a group of farmers a thousand miles away, Mr. Wallace predicted it would not be long before "individual farmers everywhere can install receiving sets at small expense and get frequent daily reports from the principal grain and live stock markets, weather forecasts and other important news."

AGRICULTURAL ACT LIKELY TO BE REDRAFTED

Federal Instruction Measure
May Undergo Revisions
by New Government.

GIVES ONTARIO $200,000

[Special to London Advertiser.]
Ottawa, Feb. 2.—The agricultural instruction act sponsored by Hon. Martin Burrell, and put into effect over nine years ago, expires within the present year, and it will be for the new government to decide whether it will be re-enacted at the coming session of parliament or not. The act provided for the expenditure among the provinces for purposes of agricultural instruction on a basis of population.

Receives Largest Grant.

Ontario has been receiving the largest amount, over $200,000, while there has always been some difference of opinion as to the advisability of federal aid to provinces for instruction for all purposes. Liberals, in opposition, did not offer serious objection to the act especially inasmuch as the amount was distributed on a pro rata basis, and without interference on the part of the federal authorities as to how it should be disbursed.

It is for the present government to decide whether the aid in question shall be continued in its present form or discontinued or whether there shall be a modification or even an expansion of the scope of the measure. Should the assistance be withdrawn certain activities in every provincial department of agriculture in the Dominion will be crippled or retarded.

Suggest Co-ordination.

It has been suggested in connection with the reconsideration of the act that an attempt be made for the co-ordination of dominion and provincial activities in connection with the improvement of the agricultural industry and for the elimination of certain duplications in live stock, seed distribution, etc., which at present exists.

It is obvious that the new government will not be willing to simply build upon the foundation laid down by a preceding administration without first investigating the working of the act in all of the provinces and canvassing their needs and requirements.

The act is a rural act. It may very well be that if it is renewed the distribution of monies may be based not upon total but upon rural population.

KIWANIAN HEAR WINDSOR SPEAKER

Gordon McGregor Congratulates Promoters of Motor Show.

Gordon McGregor, vice-president and general manager of the Ford Motor Company of Windsor, was the speaker at the Kiwanis luncheon Friday. Mr. McGregor is here assisting with the automobile show which is to be held in London next week, and said that London and Windsor were the only places in Ontario which put on a really good automobile show, and were to be congratulated for their courage in undertaking it. If business was to be had in any line, there was only one way of getting it and that was to go out and get it.

J. B. Hay, district governor gave a report on the International conference held in Chicago last week, and announced that the Canada-America week would be held in April when representatives from the Canadian clubs would visit and address American clubs and vice versa.

The international convention of the Kiwanis clubs will be held in Toronto this year, and it is expected that about 10,000 people will be present. The convention will take place in June.

Friday was automobile day at the club and the members presented a list of numbers besides providing the speaker and the "silent booster" of the occasion.

INSPECTORS TO APPLY TUBERCULOSIS TEST

The federal government has supplied the local board of health with the full details of the scheme to test cattle for tuberculosis, and this afternoon the local board will take steps to introduce this scheme here.

Under the provision of the federal act, the Dominion veterinary department inspectors look after the various herds supplying milk to the city. Cattle placed in the re-actor class, that is, those afflicted with tuberculosis, are slaughtered and the Dominion compensates the owner. The Dominion will carry on these tests for two years and then hand it over to the local board to be continued.

SMALL ATTENDANCE ON CITY MARKET

Potatoes Sell at From $1.50 to $1.65 a Bag.

There was a small attendance on the local market on Friday. Only two loads of hay were offered for sale. One brought $17, and the other $18.50 per ton.

Potatoes are in fair demand and are selling at $1.50 to $1.65 per bag. Dressed hogs are bringing from $15.50 to $16 per cwt.

The heavy snowfall of Thursday night was partly responsible for the light attendance at the market. It will probably also affect Saturday's market, as the snow is not packed down by traffic in the meantime. Farmers report the snow is many feet deep, and nearly impassable in places.

TORONTO STOCKS.

Toronto, Feb. 3.—A series of odd lot sales served the purpose of swelling the list of stock traded in on the local exchange this morning, but total sales did not reach any great proportions. Price changes were small, but bank stocks showed renewed signs of strength.

Hamilton advanced 1/2 to 170, and Imperial selling at 166, half a point above yesterday. Toronto Railway at 66 1/2, down from 67 1/2 last night's close. Brazilian was 1/4 up at 30. War loans dull.

MUTT AND JEFF.

I AIN'T HEARD FROM MUTT SINCE HE'S BEEN AWAY! I HOPE HE AIN'T SICK!

PARDON THIS INTRUSION, MRS. MUTT, BUT HAVE YOU HAD ANY WORD FROM YOUR HUSBAND?

YES, I GOT A LETTER, JEFF!

MAY I ASK WHAT KIND OF A LETTER IT WAS?

CERTAINLY! IT WAS A LOVELY LETTER! MUTT STARTED IT: "MY PRECIOUS TREASURE," AND ENDED BY SENDING "LOVE."

SO HE CALLED YOU HIS PRECIOUS TREASURE! A LETTER LIKE THAT DESERVES AN ANSWER!

QUITE SO! I WROTE AT ONCE—

I STARTED MY LETTER: "MY PRECIOUS TREASURE," AND ENDED WITH, "SEND ME TWENTY DOLLARS."
