DALHOUSIE GRADS PROMINENT IN NEWFOUNDLAND NEGOTIATIONS

First Dance October 22

Friday, October 22, is the date set for the first Council dance of the year. Featuring the premier appearance of the 1948-49 version of the Dal Orchestra the dance will be held in the gymnasium and will be preceded by the Freshman Show. Admission, according to custom, will be by Student Council card, but this year due to a requirement that the orchestra be paid, there will be no free refreshments.

The orchestra, this year under the direction of Les Single, features many of last year's Collegians plus several new additions to bring it up to its full 15 piece strength.

Doors open for the Frosh Show, this year rumored to be a minstrel production, at 7:30. Dancing will be from 9 to 1. In charge of arrangements will be Ross Hamilton, well known Divinity student from Pine Hill.

Delta Gamma Meets Monday

Delta Gamma, Dalhousie's largest sorority, will hold its first general meeting of the current year on Monday evening, October 18 at 7:30 p.m. at Sheriff Hall. As everyone knows Delta Gamma is the organization on the campus to which every girl automatically belongs.

Plans and ideas will be discussed concerning dramatics, debating and all other social activities pertaining to Delta Gamma. There will be an election of officers to the 1948 executive and the general agenda for the year will be drawn up.

Refreshments will be served by Delta's efficient social managers, and all girls, particularly freshettes are urged to attend.

CROSS WILL REPRESENT SODALES

The first annual meeting of the Dalhousie debating society took place Wednesday evening in the Art's building. The society discussed the coming Maritime Inter-collegiate Debating League conference. Donald Cross an active debater and secretary of the society will represent Dal.

The main business of the conference will be the following questions; whether or not the Maritimes should enter a Dominion League? How will the Maritimes be financed for a Dominion debate? What will constitute a debating team?

Warner Broadcasts On Trans-Canada Network

Opportunity knocked and Don Warner, former Dal law student, opened the door Wednesday evening at 9:30 p.m. Warner was heard on the Canadian network from coast to coast last Wednesday evening when he performed on John Adaskin's talent show, "Opportunity Knocks."

Warner's successful career in Halifax is well known to Haligonians and Dalhousians alike, who were entertained by both his Sextet and 15 piece orchestra.

Taking the last guest spot on the programme, Warner successfully ended the programme with a vocal chorus of "Shine" and "Lazybones," accompanying the former with a trumpet solo. His self-styled jazz singing was the hit of the evening.

While attending Dalhousie Law school Warner gained campus prominence with his band at the many social events and dances held at the University. Haligonians will remember him as the maestro who supplied the Nova Scotian supper dances with strains of melodious harmony on Saturday nights.

"Progressive-Conservatives Take Definite Stand Against Communism" States Bill Cox

By Valerie Cato

"The Progressive-Conservative party takes a definite stand against Communism," said Bill Cox at a meeting held by that party on Wednesday evening. He went on to add that no other group has expressed itself so strongly on the question, citing as examples both the Liberals and C.C.F.

The National Convention of the Progressive-Conservative party, which was held from Sept. 30th to Oct. 2nd, was a fine sample of spontaneity and freedom of speech. It had none of the rehearsed atmosphere of other conventions, and at informal meetings was more like a college pep rally than a serious politician's gathering.

The term Progressive-Conservative is not, as one might think, a contradiction in terms. The party is conservative in that it holds steadfastly to certain fundamental principals in the government of the country. But it is also progressive because sees the need of certain reforms if the nation will advance with the rest of the world. There were several industries established in the last Conservative government, among them Imperial Oil, which has been an invaluable asset to the Maritimes.

The election of George Drew as head of the party was really only the climax of what most people had regarded as a certainty from the beginning. Drew was the ideal man for the job. Although the others were admired for certain characteristics, it was Drew alone who had the real ability.

Although Drew is a native Torontonian, it was not from there that he got his votes. In fact, his party lost three seats. His list of achievements for Ontario is a long one. Because of his efforts, Ontario now has the best educational facilities in Canada. The provincial government takes up to 50% of the cost of education and in the very small places, even as high as 95%. He brought to Ontario 25,000 skilled immigrants and instigated an air immigration scheme which he was forced to abandon, owing to the lack of co-operation of the Canadian government.

According to Mr. Cox, who had the opportunity of talking to him for over three hours, Drew is an excellent man. He is easy to talk to, although a little shy. As most of us know, he is very good looking. As a matter of fact, the only objections his opponents have to him are that he is handsome and a native of Toronto. At the convention, about 80% of the men were under 45, and with Drew to lead it, the party stands a good chance of being reorganized with vigorous and enthusiastic members.

The platform upon which the Progressive Conservatives hope to win the next election is a long and varied one, ranging from free enterprise to the adoption of a national flag as soon as possible. Although what he said about the various resolutions was, of necessity, quite brief, Mr. Cox wanted it understood that many, in fact, most of the resolutions adopted were to the point, not just general ideas.

The resolution committee, which met two days before the Convention, encountered little difficulty with the majority of the plans submitted to them. Any objections to them were given a hearing. Several ideas for the Maritimes came up, and certain of them were given a separate section. No decision was reached on the freight rates question, but it was suggested that the situation be looked into.

"The Progressive Conservative party is no longer going to be everybody's friend, but will take such steps as will gain it steadfast friends and some enemies," was the final point made by Mr. Cox.

Dean V. C. MacDonald Is Delegation Advisor

"Glory, Glory to Dalhousie".

That song might well be the provincial anthem of Canada's tenth province, provided Newfoundland ever becomes our tenth province.

When the plane carrying the Newfoundland delegation arrived in Ottawa, where the confederation talks have been held, it looked like "Old Home Week" for Dalhousie, according to one well-known newspaperwoman.

Cull Elected Engineering President

Dalhousie's Engineering Society held its first meeting yesterday for the appointment of officers for the 1948-49 term. Bert Cull, well known football player, was elected President of the Society, while John Lindsay was elected to the post of Secretary-Treasurer.

One of the main points of discussion at the meeting was the annual Engineer's trip to one of Nova Scotia's industrial centres, but as yet nothing has been definitely decided. The meeting also dealt with the question of the finances of the Engineering canteen, which is now open for the sale of cigarettes, cokes and chocolate bars.

The meeting was informed that there is now a memorial picture of Professor Copp, a late lecturer at Dalhousie, hanging in the lounge as a tribute to his popularity.

Various other officers were elected at the meeting, among them the team managers and the Gazette reporter.

Vincent C. MacDonald, Dean of Dalhousie Law School, and a gold medallist, who graduated from Dal is advisor to the Newfoundland delegation.

Heading the delegation is Hon. J. A. Walsh, K.C., LL.B., a Dal grad and gold medallist.

Phillip Gruchy, CBE, vice-president of the Newfoundland newspaper company at Grand Falls is also a gold medallist graduate as is John B. McEvoy, K.C., LL.B. Two other Dal grads who are well known in Ottawa are F. Gordon Bradley, K.C., LL.B., and H. G. Pudester, one of the official advisors. Another is Gordon A. Winters.

On hand to meet the delegation were Hon. C. J. Burchill, Canadian High Commissioner to Newfoundland and graduate and former lecturer of Dalhousie Law School, and Dr. A. R. MacKay, outstanding former faculty member at Dalhousie, who now holds an important position in the Department of External Affairs in Ottawa. Dr. MacKay was professor of Political Science when he taught at Dalhousie.

WAR MEMORIALS

At this time of Thanksgiving it might not be out of place to recall the glowing reports of the form which our war memorial was to take in 1945. It was generally agreed that more plaques would not do; that something more lasting, substantial and useful was needed. The student forums recommended students' unions, residences and swimming pools.

The matter assumed proportions of such importance that it was placed on the ballot for the Council elections in 1946. The students voted down a swimming pool or a rink, and chose a residence as the War Memorial Dalhousie should build. The result was announced with great eclat, and then the students, feeling that they had done their duty in indicating a preference, forgot all about it, and so the matter rests.

THE EMPLOYMENT SERVICE

The problem of student employment has been a moot point around Dalhousie for some time. The University purported to have an agency which would place graduating students and, in some cases, find summer positions for undergraduates. This, however, was always rather uncertain; if an employer asked the University to find men for him, a notice was put up to that affect. It never amounted to much more.

The Vets' Association had an excellent bureau for a couple of years, and the present Personal Services began as the private enterprise of a couple of law students. These were adequate for veterans, but were not intended to be a general agency through which any student could find a job. The Council supplied such an agency this summer in the Personal Services, now operated by them. Now, a student can get a job of some sort at any time. Indications are that this organization will eventually take over the placing of graduates in positions as well.

This would be an excellent move; what is needed is not a body which will receive and pass on circulars seeking employees, but a body with some initiative, which will look for positions and take some trouble to find what they want.

THE CLOCK PICTURE

Last week the Gazette received a letter from Professor Theakston's office which, among other things, pointed out that the cut which the Gazette ran of the new time clock in the Gym was of a clock of a totally different design to ours.

Checking back to discover the origin of the cut, it was discovered that it was received late last year from the Players Advertising department, as the type of clock which we could expect. With a limited budget for cuts, in any case, the Gazette could probably not afford a new one of the clock.

For the benefit of those who feel that they were deceived by the picture, be it known that anybody can see the actual, real and genuine clock by going into the Gym and asking the caretaker there to point out the article, which he will be only too pleased to do.

Council Will Review Shirreff Outhouse

The Gazette learns from a reliable source that the Council will pass upon the matter of a workmen's outhouse, which appeared to be on the steps of Shirreff Hall early one morning.

Details are not yet known, but the cost of carting the thing away is an item for which the Council is responsible, and the members will be called upon to approve the expenditure at the next meeting. Details will appear in a later Gazette.

Frosh Show Next Week

The Glee Club plans to hold the annual Frosh show next week, at the first Student Council dance. This year the performance will be in the form of a Minstrel Show of sorts.

Wednesday, Oct. 13—Up betimes, much displeased that President Otto has sent me, indirectly, a communication of his displeasure with my diary. I resolved last night that I would in all things try to displease him, but as I have learned this morning that he has the ear of the Governors, I shall try to be pleasant toward him, although it is a hard thing.

Visited the Gym Inn where I did meet Willsdaughter, and we discussed the recent competition with the redmen from the central Canadian colony. He did tell me much of the celebrations following the contest, saying that the indians truly went on their ceremonial warpath. Much said of activities in organizations frequented by Greek tradesmen, with braves Birch, Greenwood, Young and Paul Wilson having a rare time. Most highly exhilarated was Chief William Davies, whose famous last words, it is said, were; "Neber hab such a woderful tibe." He did recline in a sitting position through the night, in a tepee on South Street.

Joining me later was Malcolm Rooster-Gale, speaker of the house of reaction, who did tell me much of the old game of English rugger, played by gentlemen, he says, and I remarked wittily that it was indeed most gentle and sweet game, and pretty, too, as my wife has said, with the men wearing little pants.

Here we spent the day, observing with some distaste, the sickening affection of the athlete Shroud Windward, and a young lady come lately to the college on the hill, who enjoys Christmas mightily.

We drank a great deal of wine, I too much, and Mr. Rooster-Gale, from Hantsport, till he could hardly go. So home and to bed, leaving my companion in a ditch, which reminded him of Hantsport, he said, it being mighty muddy.

Thursday, Oct. 14 — Did hear great alarums this morning of a dastardly plan. Persons at the Lady Hamilton, where I had my morning draught, said that a group of three insurgents had planned out to "do in" a dog, named "Petah", property of a professor on the hill, called, jokingly, Burning Martini. The day had been set, they said, and the little brown beast would be hanged by the neck, with a great rope, on the flagpole mast at the college on the hill. They have sent him a warning that if they do not pass their examinations, they will carry out the plot.

Did chide them for their seeming childishness, at which one did say they are serious.

My wife and I this morning to the Paynter's, and there she sat the last time, and I stood by and did tell them some little things to do, that now her picture will please me very well, and after her, a little black dogg sat in her lap and was drawn, which made us very merry.

My greatest trouble, I do see, is, that I have for this last half year been a very great spendthrift in all manner of respects, that I am though I hope I am worth waht I afeard to cast up my accounts, think. I have newly taken a solemn oath about abstaining from dancing parties, and wine, which I am resolved to keep according to the letter of the oath which I keep by me.

Friday, Oct. 15 — Waking this morning out of my sleep, I did with my elbow hit my wife a great blow over her face and nose, which waked her with pain, at which I was sorry, and so to sleep again.

Did hear today that communications ith Marmalade Hovel, where live the ladies, etc., of the college

MacCORMACK ON GERMANY

Our train arrived in Hamburg station shortly after midnight. The rain pelting down on us through the skeleton roof reminded us that we were in Germany.

We spent a comfortable night in one of Hamburg's few remaining hotels and the following day drove by bus to Ploen. Our route took us first through the ruins of Hamburg (60% destroyed), thence through the beautiful countryside of Schleswig-Holstein.

After a four hour drive we arrived at Schloss-Ploen. The 17th century castle is situated on a commanding height overlooking a spacious lake. Below and to the rear is the medieval town of Ploen.

We Canadians were the first students to arrive at the castle. The German students were delayed about two days because of the currency reform. The reform, the most important economic change in the Western zones since 1945, had left all German with only forty new marks—about $13.00. The German students lacked even train fare.

This emergency was met by Gordon Campbell, hardworking I.S.S. Secretary. A special bus was chartered which roamed all over Western Germany picking up German students en route.

Meantime, the students from other nations were arriving, continuously, until all the Scandinavian countries, Finland, Holland, Belgium, France, and England were represented.

The burning question at that time was, "What about Eastern Europe?" The most strenuous efforts were made by the executive of the I.S.S. to obtain students from the East, with no success. There was some hope of Polish students coming, but that hope, too, was finally abandoned. The Polish government did, however, extend an invitation to five Canadians to visit Poland at the conclusion of the Seminar. One Canadian did take advantage of this offer.

There were 130 students on the Seminar, and the ancient castle was our home for six weeks. There was a regular syllabus of lectures under the capable direction of Dr. Marcus Long of Toronto's Philosophy dept. The lectures were Canadian for the most part but we listened also to English, French and German professors most notable of which was Lord Lindsay, Master of Balliol College, Oxford.

The theme of the Seminar was "Trends in Modern Thought" and we were treated to talks on everything from atomic physics to Existentialism. Afternoons were taken up by discussions on international affairs, political and economic trends, philosophy and religion. Most important, of course was the rich international atmosphere in which we lived.

English was the official language and was no problem to the European students. Many of the Germans sported the best Oxford and BBC accents. The brutal truth is that the Canadians suddenly found themselves looking a bit frantically to their subjunctives.

Med Notes

During the past school year it was noted, by many students and without doubt by members of the faculty, that many who used the Medical and Dental Library really misused it. Certain students turned sections of the library into a virtual pig pen. This general atmosphere along with other major incidents probably prompted the strict rulings recently imposed by the Library Committee. We, the students, now see the error of our ways and are now certainly ready to co-operate with the Library committee. For those who wish to study there, the Library should be open, during the hours they wish to study. Where is our Medical Society executive? What are they doing to further the dire need of the students? Thus far we have been unable to get into the library at night. However, we understand that Jack Quigley knows all about library keys.

We would like to take this opportunity to commend the executive of the Medical Society for the excellent program they have outlined. We do hope they have the "wim, wigor, and vitality" with which to carry their dreams to reality and wish them every success. We are very pleased, indeed, to learn that Dick Groom has already procured several good films and speakers for our meetings this winter.

This column extends a sincere welcome to Caroline Coghill (Queens) and Cliff Hopmans (Toronto) who have joined the third year class. We understand that Miss Coghill adds greatly to the visual comfort of that class.

We are looking forward to the proposed softball game between the two fraternities. It should prove to be an interesting game and we hope to present the highlights to our readers.

Considerable excitement has been caused by two elderly members of the second year class namely, Femur and Merryman desperately trying to regain their lost youth by violently robbing some of the local cradles. Do be careful boys!

Next Week—Whither Dal Med School.

Dal Dance Band Reorganizes

By BOB MacDOUGALL

Awake Dalhousians, the spirit of music is running amok again at Dalhousie. Since our own Don Warner left Halifax many and loud have been the moans heard around Dal. Warner, now struggling in the musical wilderness of Toronto, created a never-to-be-forgotten band at Dal. Stepping up to capably fill his shoes now is Les Single, sax star of the old band. The new band is being reorganized around a nucleus of former members and it is intended that many novelties will be featured, the band being well endowed with wits of this type. Novelties are being assembled by Bob Smith, a jokesmith of note.

Les Single, the leader, is a very accomplished musician, having had wide experience around Montreal, his home town, and in Halifax. Les plays tenor sax and a super clarinet. Vocals will be handled by Maynard Taylor with novelties by Bob Smith and Clive Shaeffer. Something new will be added in the person of a female vocalist, tryouts for which are being held.

Dalhousians will look forward to the debut of this new combination which is to be at the first Student Council Dance, Oct. 22 (night before the annual trip to Acadia). Something new in arrangements is being promised by pianist Joe Poirier. Notable is the fact that the orchestra is concentrating primarily in filling the musical needs of the college. Bookings can be arranged by contacting Les Single at 3-2233. The new line-up will be: Trumpets Archie Croll, Don Ritchie, Bill MacDonald; Trombones; Clive Shaeffer, Johnny Bustin; Saxes: Les Single, Bob Rankine, Ernie Heighton, Lloyd Peach, Ted Rowntree; Guitar: Dean Naugler; Drums: Gerry Peckham; Piano: Joe Poirier.

I went to my chamber of sleep in the afternoon, and in a while I waked with the noise of the rayne, having never in my life heard a more violent and wet shower; and then the cat was locked in the closet and kept a-mewing, and leapt upon my cloak hanging there, and pulled it down, and tore it, and I could not sleep.

Did hear much that the International Students Service, which is ever prodding and pushing on the campus, has been disgruntled by an article in the Spectator (old version) which said that student contributions had paid for a trip to the Old World for two students, which they say is not true. The money, they said, was raised by a special contribution, — but as one remarked—it still had to be subtracted from the whole total of the funds, didn't it?

The Campus Roundup

by Windy O'Neill

For the second week in a row, the weatherman played tricks on the Dal Tigers. Rain spoiled both the opening of the League, a week ago, and a potentially great game against the McGill Intermediate Redmen. Even so, there were thrills galore for the thousand odd fans who braved the uncertain weather at the Wanderer's Grounds.

The Dal team put on a superb show against the highly rated Montreal team, playing a tremendous defensive game, featured by the tackling of Paul Lee and Don Woodward. The latter seems to have really found himself on switching from quarter to end — in our opinion there isn't a better end in the league.

Big Bob MacDonald was the most outstanding man on the field. His determined plunging from his position of second man on the end run shook the Molson's out of the Montreal tacklers — it was he who made the runs that set up Dal's touchdown.

Regardless of what the ubiquitous Halifax wet-blankets may say, the team sent to play Dalhousie was the second best that McGill could muster. Coach Davies of the Montreal team said that, in many cases, the cutting from the first team to the second was done by a flip of a coin.

Bussiere, a sweet triple-threat man and outstanding for the Reds, was the last man cut from the Senior squad. Al Cagney, the 200 lb. end was coach of last year's McGill Meteors.

Shorty Fairhead quarterbacked two games for the Senior squad this year. Dawson Tilley and Ron Wilson who, also, were standouts on Saturday spent the early part of the season with the McGill first team.

The Redmen showed a well-drilled, experienced team which might have given the Tigers a real football lesson on a dry field. However, the Tigers found the wet field very much to their liking and played a superb game, fighting all the way, growing stronger every minute, after getting over their early-game jitters.

A fumble, in the first two minutes of play on the McGill 20 yd. line cost Dal a touchdown that could have caused an upset. The Tigers also had some bad luck on a faulty decision by the officials (who otherwise handled the game excellently) which set up the Redmen's second touchdown. Dal tried a quick kick on the second down, the ball hit a Tiger line-man, bounded over the line and was recovered. The referee gave the ball to McGill on our 10 yard line, and they scored a touchdown shortly after.

By the rules, Dal should have been given a penalty and a loss of the down, which would give them the third down and the Tigers could kick out of danger.

Anyway, we learned a lot of football and found where our weaknesses are. The most sadly lacking thing is adequate plays. Most of our plays are obsolete — the end run is the only play that is really dangerous to cause the opponents any concern. If the Tigers are going to beat the Navy, there will have to be some hipper-dipper added—stealing a few of the McGill plays would help.

The Tiger's tackling is excellent but the blocking leaves much to be desired. If we had not played a team the calibre of McGill, these things might have remained dormant but against the Redmen, they stood out like Jane Russell.

Burkhart's Boys have a week to cover these rough spots and it should be a classy, confident team that takes the field against the powerful Navy squad, for what will no doubt prove to be the game of the year in the HFCL.

The McGill boys went home talking to themselves about Maritime hospitality and the good time they were shown. We may have lost a little money because of the rain but what we gained in good will and publicity can't be bought.

NOTES: LIEUT. JOHNNY WATERS, one of the officials, made a fine gesture by turning over his fee to the War Memorial Fund. MAYOR GEE-HERN came through magnificently giving the boys a box of chocolates each, bi-centennial pennants, and literature of our fair city. He also offered the Montreal boys a personally conducted tour of the city.

In order that the McGill team could stay over, some McGill alums led by MR. HARRY MCKEEN, MAYOR AHERN and the Dal Student's Council chipped in to defray the expenses. Dynamo JACK BOUDREAU did a great job on publicity in spite adverse circumstances. DON BUSSIÈRE, a first year McGill med student said he would like to see Dal play a return game in Montreal—we're told its not out of the question.

Last year there were seven regulars on the Western Champion aggregation attending that Medical School — it's been a long time since we've had representation on varsity teams from the Dal school. St. Joseph's up in New Brunswick have a Canadian football team and have expressed the desire of playing a Dal Intermediate team on their home grounds.

Rugger Team Suffers Defeat

Old Rival Hand Tigers First Defeat of Season

Amid mud and slime the Dal English Rugger team suffered its first defeat in two years, at the hands of their old rivals, Acadia, by a score of 6-0. The game was played at the Wanderers Grounds last Wednesday, on a field that had been soaked by two days' rain. The Tigers, last year's provincial intermediate champions, lacked that scoring punch and initial drive that would have brought them sure victory. The team played hard throughout and were on Acadia's goal line on four different occasions, but were unable to capitalize on any of them.

DAL STRONG

The game opened with Acadia kicking off to Dal. From that moment it looked like the Tigers game as they immediately pushed within ten yards of their opponents goal. The scrum was completely overpowering that of Acadia's, and heeled the ball out on six consecutive occasions. Despite the masterful play of Bill Morrow in the quarter slot, the backs could not penetrate the consistent tackling of the red and blue. The team tired and had to retire to center field.

Acadia took advantage of the situation and moved within scoring position. Then on a beautiful run by Steeves the Wolfville boys hit pay dirt. The try taken by Meynell who failed to convert. Dal again came to life and sparked by the running of Farquhar and Laphen, they moved on down the field. While they were again in scoring position the half ended with Acadia leading 3-0.

Dal showed a new life in the first minutes of the second half but this soon faded. Some of the boys showed a definite lack of conditioning and couldn't keep up the pace. Acadia, going through the loop holes moved down the field and after three attempts, Morrison of the red and blue went over, just between the posts. Meynell again failed to convert the try. The remaining part of the game was spent around center field as neither team put on any show of team work. The game ended with both teams walking on each others heels.

NEW LIFE

This was the first game the Tigers have played this year, and with many new men participating the students were not expecting a revival of last years spirit. But this new material is good. Monty Seegar, Malchum MacLeod, Laurie Nightingale and Ted Grayston were standouts in the game. Now that the team has a coach, apparently one of the most experienced rugger players around here, the team will definitely go places maybe even farther than last year.

The outstanding men for Dal were Bill Morrow, Fred Laphen, Alex Farquhar and Gerry Gurdory. For Acadia they were, Steeves, Morrison, Harding and Roach. The referee was Flecher Smith.

The line up for Dal was: full-back, Seeger; wings, M. MacLeod, T. Grayston; inside backs, L. Nightingale, A. Farquhar; three quarter men, F. Laphen, B. Morrow; heelers, G. Gurdory, B. Grant, E. Kinsman; and tail-ups, B. Archibald, M. DeLory and D. Nickerson.

Annual Golf Tournament To Be Held

The Dalhousie annual golf tournament will be held this afternoon, Oct. 15th., at the Halifax Golf and Country Club according to an announcement made by Peter Doig, the acting manager for the tournament. Entries will be received up until starting time at 2.00 o'clock.

Last year the tournament was held for the first time. The winner was Roland "Tim" Timothy, with Eddie Crowell and Peter Doig coming second and third respectively. This year all three will be back in competition, and some of the best golf in the province should be exhibited.

Along with these old timers there will be the addition of two new comers. George McLanders, one of the most outstanding juniors to come out of the province of Quebec, and Bennie McCallum, one of the up and coming juniors of our own province will hit the fairway as a possible threat to the championship.
