

CONFLICTING NEWS GIVEN ABOUT THE BIG NAVAL FIGHT

Russians Claim Germans Retired; and Others Say That the Russian Ships Withdrew Before a Superior Fleet.

By Special Wire to the Courier. London, July 3.—Details of the naval battle between Russian and German cruisers in the Baltic yesterday apparently were lost in the fog which enshrouded the scene of the engagement. The official story of the action from Petrograd claims that a Russian cruiser squadron drove a German cruiser ashore, but all unofficial reports agree that the vessel which met disaster was the nine-layer Albatross. Petrograd claims that the German vessels retired before the Russian attack, while unofficial accounts of the engagement declare that Russia's warships had to retire before superior numbers after a battle lasting half a day. The submarines of the allies had their innings yesterday. From Athens it is reported that a Turkish troop ship was sunk in the sea of Marmora by a British submarine, while Petrograd claims that a Russian submarine obtained a heavy bag of merchant ships in the Black Sea. London again has been encouraged by the report from General Sir Ian Hamilton, commander-in-chief of the British land forces operating against the Dardanelles, stating that the French troops also have advanced until the An-lo-French line on the Gallipoli peninsula is almost straight. This report is countered by the claim from Constantinople that the British were forced back into their original positions. Activity along the western front again has subsided with a check to the latest strong German attack made by the forces under the German crown prince in the Argonne. The Austro-German armies are steadily advancing on the east front, with Field Marshal Von Mackensen drawing near Lublin, which might be termed one of the outlying defences of Warsaw.

BRITISH RELIEF PARTY IN THE FAMOUS "PLUG STREET" WOOD

MARCHING BACK TO THE TRENCHES THROUGH "REGENT STREET"

In this picture, drawn especially for this newspaper, the New York Herald and the London Sphere, a relief party is shown marching along Regent street, from the wood of "Ploegsteert," which some time ago became known to the Tonnies, and subsequently to the official despatches, as "Plug street." They are marching along the narrow footway made of small branches closely placed together upon bigger transverse beams. The men carry back with them from their billets their various personal belongings. Advancing with the party is a lieutenant, map in hand. The men are in no immediate danger, as a long line of sandbags, a little higher than a man, provides sufficient defence. Above the height of six feet the slender trees are scarred with marks where the bullets hit them a glancing blow. Sometimes a man will turn his head to follow, as it were, the track of a singing bullet through the air. On the extreme right is a sandbag shelter.

BRITISH SUBMARINE SINKS SHIP CARRYING TROOPS

LONDON, July 3.—A British submarine in the Sea of Marmora on June 26 sank the Turkish transport No. 42, which was full of troops, according to the Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company.

POPE CONDEMNS THE MARTYRDOM OF THE BELGIAN ECCLESIASTICS

Not an Interview But Merely Some Personal Feelings of the Pontiff as He Expressed Them to Mr. Ferdinand Laudet.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, via London, July 3.—An account of a visit paid to Pope Benedict last Monday by Ferdinand Laudet, director of the review Hebdomadaire, who formerly was secretary of the French embassy to the Vatican, is published by The Figaro. While M. Laudet does not pretend that the purport of his reception at the Vatican is an interview, he quotes the words said to have been used by the Pontiff, after being told by the journalist of the impression caused in France by Louis Latapie's interview with his holiness printed by La Liberte.

When he mentioned neutrality, M. Laudet says, he was interrupted by the Pope with the exclamation, "Oh that France would understand well that this neutrality is not indifference. I love France as I did fifteen years ago and I have remained the same."

PRAYS FOR PEACE. The Pope referred to his efforts in behalf of a French mother who wrote him regarding her son who was a prisoner in Germany and told of sending a modest sum to France for his liberty.

"I have prayed for peace," the Pontiff is quoted as saying, "having no other concern than to implore the Lord to restore tranquility to a world thrown into disorder. You speak to me of the cathedral at Rheims, which the Germans continue to attack. But when the beginning I directed the cathedral a rehabilitation of Cologne to express my complaints to the emperor and to ask him to spare religious edifices in a future. The reply has been the best would be done. If this principle has not been kept what can I do about it, I have done all I have been able to do in this and many other things which France ignores."

"You ask me if I condemn in principle the atrocities committed in principle, is not sufficient. I condemn them concretely. Everybody knows that Germany has committed some atrocities, but I cannot specify reproaches as some would have it because I have not the necessary elements."

PTE. C. GILLEN

Brantford boy with "Princess Pats."

At the sound of the Angelus, Pope Benedict withdrew. M. Laudet asserts with the words: "In any case I condemn highly the martyrdom of poor Belgian priests and so many other horrors on which the light of heaven has been thrown. I await only the occasion to convince France of my sympathy."

BELGIAN SHIP SUNK

London, July 3.—The Belgian steamship Boduognat was torpedoed and sunk to-day by a German submarine. The crew was landed at Falmouth.

The Boduognat was a steamer of 1,441 tons gross and was built at Sunderland in 1909. She was 250 feet long, 38 feet beam and 17 feet deep. The Boduognat was last reported at Port Talbot, England, on June 12. She was owned by the Antwerp Shipping Company.

J. P. MORGAN IS SHOT AT GLEN COVE

BRITISH AGENT Wounded, But Not Seriously--Shots Fired by Unknown Man.

By Special Wire to the Courier. New York, July 3.—A later statement issued by the Morgan firm said that two shots were fired at Mr. Morgan and that both had taken effect.

A telephone message received from Glen Cove stated that the man who shot Mr. Morgan had been captured. The second statement issued by the Morgan firm reads as follows: "Two shots were fired at Mr. Morgan, both of which took effect. Details regarding wounds have not yet been received at the office of the firm. A statement from the doctor will be given out in about an hour."

Except for the fact that Mr. Morgan had been shot, such members of the Morgan firm as were in town were without details of the shooting nearly two hours after the time it was said to have occurred. The rumor of the shooting reached Wall Street soon after the opening of the Stock Market, and was current on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange before it reached the office of J. P. Morgan and Company. The Market, which opened irregularly, shaded a point on the rumor, and remained practically stationary after the news was confirmed.

LATER. New York, July 3.—J. P. Morgan was shot, but not seriously wounded, by an unknown man at his home at Glen Cove, L.I., at 9 o'clock this morning.

An announcement issued by J. P. Morgan and Company here reads as follows: "J. P. Morgan was shot by an unknown man, presumably a crank, at his home at Glen Cove, at 9 o'clock this morning. The physicians advise that wound was not serious."

The first news of the shooting was received at 10:30 o'clock at the office of Sheriff Pettit of Nassau county at Mineola. The sheriff immediately despatched men to Glen Cove to investigate the report.

Details of the shooting were lacking at that hour. It was reported in Glen Cove that the man who shot Mr. Morgan, secreted himself in the Morgan home last night.

HOW IT HAPPENED. New York, July 3.—The man, who shot Mr. Morgan, came to Glen Cove this morning on the 8:53 train, hired an automobile and went to the Morgan home on Martinecock Point. He rang the bell and when the outer answered called for Mr. Morgan. He said that he was an old friend of Mr. Morgan, but was refused admission to the house.

SWISS PREPARE FOR TEUTONIC VENGEANCE

Rome, July 3.—Swiss troops have been massed on the Austro-German frontiers owing to the closing of the Swiss-German frontier by Germany and that country's refusal to explain the reason. It is feared that the German action is a prelude to a protest against the proposed imposts through which it is intended to cut off supplies from Austria and Germany. Germany evidently has decided to resort to reprisals and possibly to the violation of Swiss neutrality, since the Spanish ambassador at Rome has been asked to look after German interests in Italy in case of a rupture between Germany and Switzerland. Germany's interests here are now in charge of the Swiss minister.

ITALIANS OCCUPY VILLAGE

Tolmino on the Isonzo Taken Under Austrian Fire.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, July 3.—The Italians have occupied the village of Tolmino, on the Isonzo, north of Gorizia, according to a Rome despatch to The Herald. The Austrians are still holding neighboring fortifications and are bombarding the village. Italian heavy artillery has been brought up and mounted for use against the forts.

Tolmino, the key to the Isonzo valley, has been considered by the Italians indispensable in their operations in that district. It is protected by strong, natural and artificial defences, and is said to have been garrisoned by 30,000 Austrians.

FAMINE STRICKEN Udine, July 4.—Large numbers of refugees from the Isonzo district have flocked to Trieste and Gorizia, according to reports received here. Trains bearing Austrian wounded are said to pass through those places several times a day.

Food for the civil population of Gorizia and Trieste is reported to be scarce. There is no bread, but the communes distribute daily small quantities of maize flour. Petroleum is lacking, and those persons whose homes are not equipped with electricity are compelled to remain in utter darkness at night.

No newspapers are permitted, and the only news provided is that contained in official statements which are posted on bulletin boards.

GERMAN WARSHIPS DAMAGED

Arrive at Kiel Showing Signs of Heavy Shell Fire From the Baltic.

London, July 3.—Fragmentary reports have been received in London of a naval battle which took place yesterday morning in the Baltic between Russian and German warships. The latter appear to have suffered very severely.

A Copenhagen despatch states that two pre-Dreadnought German battleships—the Wittelsbach and one of the Kaiser class—have returned to Kiel in a badly damaged condition, the latter ship having sustained many shatters below the water line. The battleships mentioned are about 13 years old. Each carries four 9.4 inch guns and has a speed of 18 knots. From Stockholm comes the information that the German mine-layer Albatross has been lost. She was chased by four Russian cruisers, and ran ashore to escape capture. Twenty-one of the crew of the Albatross were killed and 27 were wounded.

Reuter's Copenhagen correspondent reports that the scene of the capture was off the Island of Gothland, directly across the Baltic from Windau, where a German squadron was defeated a few days ago in an effort to cover the landing of troops in the Russian province of Courland. According to the Copenhagen despatch, messages from Gothland state that gunfire was heard from there last night, and that a naval action took place at 6:30 yesterday morning within sight of the harbor of Ljuga. The warships later steamed north, and at 10 o'clock four cruisers were seen closely engaged near land.

From Petrograd comes a report, forwarded by Frederick Reuter to the Daily News, that a German cruiser of the Magdeburg type was sent to the bottom during the engagement. The Magdeburg carries 12 4-inch guns, has a speed of 27 1/2 knots, and is practically identical with the famous light cruiser Karlsruhe. The report also comes by way of Copenhagen, in a despatch from Petrograd to the Politiken.

Strong Ottoman Effort in the Achi Baba Region a Total Failure--Captured Positions Round Off Previous Advance of Allied Front.

London, July 3.—An official statement given out by the British government last evening announces the capture of certain trenches in the Dardanelles operations which complete the capture of that part of the Turkish line gained by the French on June 21.

Sir Ian Hamilton, commanding the allied land forces, in his second official despatch of the week reports the repulse of a vicious counter-attack by the Turks, who were bent on recovering the lost ground south of the fortified hill of Achi Baba and the strong position at Krithia, which the British have for some time been attempting to envelop. The British forged a bit forward last Monday, and the following day, after sapping and mining, launched a counter stroke with the bayonet. This was crushed, while the French forces operating on the right in Kereves Dere valley, toward the east coast of Gallipoli, advanced and captured an important system of trenches known as the Quadrilateral. The battle ground was covered with Turkish bodies after this action.

Despite the hard fighting ever since the landing on April 25 the Franco-British expedition only lately has achieved anything notable toward strengthening its hold on the tip of the Gallipoli Peninsula, Achi Baba being a small Gibraltar, bristling with machine guns surrounded by barbed wire and terraced with trenches. This is the reason why an allied progress is hailed with great satisfaction in England.

Cannot Tolerate Such Violation Say Italians

By Special Wire to the Courier. Rome, via Paris, July 3.—Commenting upon the reported movement of Greek bands towards Berat, Albania, which is a part of the hinterland of Avlona, the Giornale d'Italia says: "Italy cannot tolerate such a patent violation of the conference at London in a part of Albania directly affecting Italian interests. Either an official or unofficial advance in that direction assumes from an Italian point of view, greater gravity than the Serbian and Montenegrin occupations of Elbassan, Tirana and Scutari."

FARMERS?

Why Metallic Roofing and Shingles are not as durable as "Brantford Slates"

BRANTFORD ASPHALT SLATES FOR HOUSES AND BARN!

We are making colored and plain Asphalt Slates suitable for roofing of any class of building, particularly Farmers' Buildings.

— SPECIAL OFFER —

We are making a special offer to roof the first house or barn in your locality at about cost price and guarantee its lifetime for ten years against leakage.

Electricians will tell you that Asphalt, from which Brantford Asphalt Shingles are made, is an excellent insulating material, and does not deteriorate when exposed to the elements; it being acid, salt, alkali, rust and corrosion proof, and is not affected by them. Galvanized Iron is subject to these agents of destruction and is subject to other enemies, viz., rust and corrosion from the inside of a barn, produced from the heating of grain, moisture from the cattle, and is also subject to the elements from without, both working to its ruin at the same time—in other words, condensation is causing the destruction of Metal Roofing and Shingles, while Asphalt Slates, which are impervious to these enemies, retain their wearing qualities indefinitely. Therefore—"BRANTFORD ASPHALT SLATES" are, in the end, the cheapest Roofing material you can buy, and, as they are now made, the most attractive in appearance, as well as being waterproof and practically fireproof as applied on a building.

— LOW PRICES —

We have succeeded in producing them at about the same price as wood shingles. Let us figure with you at once. There is no reason why the farmers of our country should put up with leaky roofs when we have acres of materials we can supply quickly—at moderate prices.

"ROOF-LEAK" PAINTS

These splendid materials for re-coating roofs, made by us, will be found useful and effective in extending the lifetime of your old roof—put up in 1-2-3-5 gallon cans, and may be had at your Hardware store.

The second payment of $40 per cent will be made. Carried.
Moved by A. G. Montgomery, seconded by J. H. Spence that the old galleries be cleaned out, and proper manholes where necessary be constructed on same, so that this work can be carried out efficiently, manholes to be about four hundred feet apart. Carried.
A list of monthly accounts passed. Meeting adjourned.

Negotiations For New War Loan in States

New York, July 3—Negotiations were reported today to be in progress between officials of the British treasury and a group of New York bankers represented by J. P. Morgan and Company, and others, for the flotation in this country of $100,000,000 British war loan. Reports disagree as to the nature of the proposed loan.
In some sources it was described by a part of the great British war loan of $5,000,000,000 recently authorized, while in other quarters it was said that the loan to be floated here would be a separate one bearing an interest rate of five per cent. It was understood that the offering would be increased to $300,000,000 if the bonds were well taken up by American investors. Bankers believe that the loan will mature in ten days.
It is thought that the British government will free from income tax all British loans subscribed for in foreign countries. Unless this was done, it was said, there could be little hope that the issue would be popular in this country.
Proceeds of the loan, it is said, will be left in America to be drawn against by the British Government in the purchase of war munitions, food stuffs and other supplies in the United States. It was the belief here that Henry P. Davison, of J. P. Morgan and Company, who sailed for London some time ago is working out the details of the proposed loan with British bankers.

Intiation of the Knights of Columbus

Thursday, July 1st, was a gala day in the history of the Brantford Knights of Columbus, it being the occasion of the exemplification of the second and third degrees of their order.
The Knights and the candidates assembled in their club rooms and then marched in a body to St. Basil's Church, where solemn high mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Cassidy, assisted by Rev. Father Doyle as deacon and Rev. Father Dermody as sub-deacon. The music during the mass was rendered by the Knights of Columbus choir, under the direction of Deputy Grand Knight Woodcroft of Hamilton.
The Very Rev. Dean Brady, D.D., welcomed the visiting Knights to the city, and then delivered a very able and eloquent sermon, taking for his text "God is wonderful even in His saints," and explaining therefrom the good works which were being done by the Knights of Columbus in Ontario and in our own city.
After luncheon the candidates were assembled in St. Basil's Young Men's Club, where the second degree was conferred by Grand Knight John J. Farrell and officers of St. Thomas Council, assisted by J. P. Power, M.A. of Toronto. Immediately afterwards the third degree was exemplified by Past State Deputy Daniel O'Connell and staff of Peterboro.
The assembly then repaired to the banquet hall of the Masonic Temple, where a sumptuous repast was served by Caterer Crumback, assisted by the daughters and sisters of the Knights.
The degree work was under the supervision of District Deputy Leacock of Toronto, who at the close of the day expressed his appreciation of the manner in which the degrees had been conferred and the hospitality extended by the Brantford Council to the visiting Knights.

Protest at Violation of Neutrality

By Special Wire to the Courier.
London, July 3—The Stockholm correspondent of Reuters Telegram company states that the Swedish Minister to Petrograd has been instructed to protest against the violation of Swedish neutrality involved by Russian warships firing on German warships within Swedish territorial waters.
A division of Swedish torpedo boat destroyers has been sent to intern the German mine-layer Albatross. According to the Stockholm correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company the Albatross went ashore at Iserikikan, near Kathammarsvik. Twenty-one members of the mine-layer's crew were killed and seventy-one wounded, the survivors being landed at Kathammarsvik. The engagement occurred between Oest-garns and Faroe when the Russians attacked the Albatross. The German Baltic flotilla came almost immediately to the mine-layer's assistance and after a heavy exchange of gun firing the Russians retired slowly northward.

THE COURIER

Published by The Brantford Courier Limited, every afternoon, at Dalhousie Street, Brantford, Canada. Subscription rate: By carrier, $3 a year; by mail to British possessions and the United States, $2 per annum.

Saturday, July 3, 1915

THE SITUATION. From the standpoint of the Allies, the most satisfactory news continues to come from the Dardanelles. The fighting in this region is the most difficult of all, and even the mere landing of troops was effected under conditions which seemed almost insuperable. It was, of course, only the guns of the warships which made a foothold at all possible. The Turks have always been noted for their fighting qualities, and they are manifestly equipped with the most modern weapons. Germany has been attending to that. Following hard on the ground recently taken by the British forces comes the announcement that the French have also captured six lines of trenches and have still further completed their hold upon an important position. The losses of the foe were very heavy, and the truth must now be coming home to them that the final result, although laborious, does not admit of any question.

NOTES AND COMMENTS. About now Turkey's bone of that name must be wishing it hadn't. There is not much of a gallop in those operations on the Gallipoli peninsula. An exchange has a trenchant article on "Table Manners." To the list might be added that it is bad form to use a sponge in taking soup.

HE RESIGNS. It is announced that Mr. Garland, M.P., has sent in his resignation to Mr. Speaker. He should have done so long ago. The member for Carleton is one of the two men read out of the party in the House of Commons by Premier Borden because of their connection with war contracts. It was, of course, a painful duty which the Premier had to perform, but, like the man he has always proved himself, he did not hesitate for a moment. Garland's offence was that he used a clerk as a stool pigeon in connection with war supplies, and he added to that lapse by continuing to hold his seat after his leader had publicly told him that his conduct had not been compatible with his position.

Six Lines. that on the afternoon of June 29 hostile columns moving west from North Achil Baba and south from Kilid Bahr towards the Turkish right flank indicated that the enemy was preparing for a counter-attack against a position we captured on the previous day. During the evening two mine galleries in front of our right centre were blown in, after which the enemy subjected the trenches to a heavy rifle and machine gun fire for two hours. After a lull and another outburst of fire a determined attack was made against the left of our position with the bayonet. This attack was repulsed with a heavy loss to the enemy.

FRENCH FORCES ADVANCED. To the east the attack was pressed closer under a heavy artillery fire but finally was checked about 40 yards from our parapet. Bomb attacks and intermittent shelling continued, but no further general attack was made, and at 6.30 a.m. the French moved out and by 7.20 a.m. had taken a strong system of entrenchments immediately in front of the left centre of the line called by the French the Quadrilateral.

TROUBLES OF A WAR CORRESPONDENT. There was a time when the newspaper man had some official standing in a modern war. He was "on the strength" so to speak—half-officer, half layman, on good terms with general and private alike. But new and terrible weapons have swept the recorder of battles from the field; vast fighting fronts and new strategy which an incautions 'par' might reveal. And that 'par' might also mean the downfall of a nation.

THE PREMIER INVESTMENT. One of the well-known investment houses of Toronto, Messrs A. E. Ames & Co., states that in an experience extending over a quarter of a century, there has not been such a wide interest in Government and Municipal investment as at the present. Discriminating investors of all classes, such as insurance companies, or man may communicate with a newspaper under the extreme penalty of martial law. And any outsider, any hanger-on must know the risk he runs. The pressman must be shot as a spy of the most dangerous kind.

More courteously but quite as firmly, the French staff said the same; and the Belgian government cleared out all the correspondents at the urgent bidding of Sir Edward Grey.

But has this treatment killed the recorder of war? By no means. Our leading papers have free-lance staffs scudding here and there in powerful cars; interviewing civic officials, the wounded in hospitals, the stray spectators of battles—casting a net in fact, over the whole area of war and sifting all that seems good. Strange to say these men are doing better work than ever before. Their haul of "color" facts and narratives is far wider than when they left official reporters, limited to 50 words or so at the day's end, and that at the mercy of fagged operators and a military censor, who cut out all the hot stuff, and made a tepid mess of work for which life, limb and liberty had been freely risked.

It is the bare truth that modern armies hate and fear the newspaper man in their midst. Nor is this to be wondered at. The general's one aim is secrecy, and the correspondent's publication—wide and swift as telegraph and wireless can take it. It is for this reason that the present corps of men employed to gather war news, have censors in their own editors, who often submit despatches to the war office and alter them on patriotic ground.

J. P. Morgan. The man then pressed a pistol against the stomach of the butler who screamed and pushed his way past him into the hall. Mr. Morgan was approaching the front door through the hall when he was picked up by the trouble was. The answer was a shot which took effect in his hip. Mr. Morgan staggered and fell into a chair. The butler, once the assassin's hand was turned from the brass coal hod from the fire place and brought it down on the assailant's head, but too late to prevent a second shot.

BECKER WILL PEACH ON THE OTHERS. Will Make a Disclosure That Will Involve Six Heads.

DAMAGE WAS ONLY SLIGHT

Russian Official Report on Result of Naval Action.

By Special Wire to the Courier. PETROGRAD, July 3.—via London 10:36 a. m.—The Russian naval squadron in the Baltic gave battle to five German cruisers and a flotilla of torpedo boats off the east coast of Gothland on July 2, one German cruiser was beached, other warships were put to flight, according to an official statement issued today by the Russian admiralty under date of July 2. The damage to the Russian cruisers the statement adds, was insignificant. "This morning (July 2) along the parallel of the Ostergarn lighthouse on the east coast of the Island of Gothland, our cruisers encountered in a fog two of the enemy's light cruisers and some torpedo boats and engaged them in battle. "At nine o'clock in the morning a German cruiser badly damaged lowered her flag and ran ashore. The other cruiser and the torpedo boats fled. "At ten o'clock our squadron encountered the armoured cruiser, Roon, one light cruiser, and one torpedo boat and renewed the battle. "At 10:30 o'clock the enemy began to retire towards the south. During the retreat the enemy was joined by another light cruiser. This vessel was attacked by our cruisers and fled. At 11:30 o'clock, the pursuit ceased. "After the battle our squadron was unsuccessfully attacked by submarines. "The damage to our cruisers was quite insignificant."

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

Rheumatism depends on an acid in the blood, which affects the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive process. Hood's Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and improves the digestion. Don't suffer. Get Hood's today.

BRANTFORD MEN KILLED IN ACTION

Three Deaths are Confirmed Officially—Pte. Podd, Ellis, and Huggins.

The official casualty lists, published at Ottawa last night, contained for the Fourth Battalion, under the caption "Killed in Action" three names—PTE. T. H. PODD. PTE. F. A. ELLIS. PTE. GEO. HUGGINS. Of all cities in Ontario, whose losses by death are published in this list, Brantford is by far the most severely hit. Pte. T. H. Podd was an ex-soldier of the Royal Garrison Artillery, who resided while here at 78 Gilkinson St. and was a single man. He was employed at various different plants throughout the city during his term of residence here, and was also a member of the Dufferin Rifles for fourteen months. On the call for recruits he was one of the first to enlist, his service of 8 years in the regular army being a strong recommendation. No relatives reside in the city, so far as could be learned, Podd being an Englishman. PTE. FRANK A. ELLIS. A Brantford boy who gamely enlisted and determined to take his part in the big war. He was reported in the big war. He was reported in the big war. He was reported in the big war.

BRITISH TRADE UNIONISTS

Dismisses a Suggestion of Sympathy With German Unionists. London, July 3.—The trade unionists of Great Britain today dismissed with contempt the suggestion that a vote of sympathy be given to their German fellow unionists in trade at the annual conference of the federation now in session at Derby. "Drop such sentimental bosh," was the prompt demand made by Ben Tillett, the fighting head of a number of leading unions. "This is a scrap," he added, "and must be fought out in that spirit. Whoever heard of two prizefighters stopping in the middle of a fight to kiss each other." One of the other delegates declared: "British workmen, whose sons are at the front are so bitter on account of German outrages that they would hardly be content with anything less than the wiping out of the German people." Some trade union delegates who were in Germany in 1914, said that they found the German workers in full sympathy with their government; that they had openly boasted that "when the great war came Germany was going to crush France and then England."

PRIZES OFFERED

Here is a Free Chance for Courier Readers. Residents of this city, and especially the readers of this newspaper, have been invited to enter a contest to be conducted by the Northern Navigation Company. The prize winners will be guests of the steamship company on delightful lake trips. All that is necessary is to select a name for a newspaper which is to be issued daily on the Noronic, Huronic and Hamonic, the three palatial steamers of the Northern Navigation Company's fleet which makes trips from Sarnia, Ont., to Duluth throughout the summer. The person who sends in the best name before July 31 will be given a ticket for a cruise from Sarnia to Duluth or from Duluth to Sarnia and return, if the prize winner lives in the Duluth territory. The second prize will be a free trip from Sarnia to Fort William and Port Arthur, or from Port Arthur to Sarnia. The third prize will be a trip to the Soo from Sarnia or from the Soo to Sarnia and return. The prize winners will be under absolutely no expense, berths, meals, entertainment and side trips being furnished without cost, in the same manner as furnished all purchasers of cruise tickets. The newspaper which is to be issued daily on the levianth lake steamers will contain general information in regard to the cruises through Lake Huron and Superior, and the various places of interest which will be passed or visited each day. Each day's program will be out-lined in the publication which will be issued early every morning. It is suggested by Henry T. Ewald, of Detroit, advertising manager of the Northern Navigation Company, to whom all contestants should address their answers, that the proposed name for the newspaper should be indicative of the route traversed by the three steamers. "While Indian names are not barred," said Mr. Ewald, in making an announcement of the contest, "I think it would be better to select a title that will give an idea of the delightful cruise, and one that is easily understood, if Indian words are to be used."

"Look at this collar I am wearing. Notice it is ironed on both sides. Wonderful little machines iron it, mould it, and shape it so that the tie will slip easily."

"And this shirt. Notice how smooth and soft it is. Brantford Laundry have been doing all my collars and shirts for months. The little hand laundry 'round the corner used to satisfy me, but the Brantford Laundry has laundry work down to a science."

"They sew on buttons and do mending. Your collars and shirts are all carefully wrapped."

H. Ballantyne, who has undertaken to complete the work by Sept. 1st.

Two thousand feet above the level of the sea, the highest point in Ontario, the air is rare and pure. Splendid fishing, canoeing and boating. Good hotel accommodation at the Highland Inn; also at the log cabin camp hotels in Smoke Lake and Island Lakes.

FINANCE COMMITTEE REPORT. This report was read by Mr. Bentham, and it consisted of a number of accounts. The report was carried.

ADVISORY BOARD REPORT. The technical advisory industrial committee met last Monday in the Collegiate Institute. After the minutes had been read and passed, the committee recommended the payment of accounts amounting to $66.64. The visiting committee reported that the classes had been satisfactory till the end of the term. It was reported that fifty letters had been sent to the parents of boys leaving the public school, explaining the object of the industrial classes, and some applications had been received.

The committee appointed to enquire into the possibility of extension, reported that the Brant Ave. Methodist Church would sell their property adjacent to the school grounds. The following resolution was passed: "That at the Collegiate, the committee had been confronted with the question of overcrowding at the re-opening of school, since the occupation of B. C. I. rooms for the industrial classes, which were intended for the teaching of academic subjects, and to prevent crowding or disorganization of school, the board of education recommended to offer $250 for the property adjacent to the school grounds, and also endeavor to secure the ends of two lots adjoining the church and school properties in order that the committee consider the erection of a suitable building for industrial and technical purposes."

In view of the fact that the question of increased accommodation is imperative, the members of the committee who are not members of the board, stated their willingness to be present at the next regular meeting of the board to express their views. Secretary Bunnell brought up several accounts from teachers who had presided at the lower middle school examinations at the collegiate.

The chairman stated that there were some of them pretty large. He asked if the act stated the exact amount to be paid. Mr. Kilmer said that the act clearly defined the amounts. Dr. Gamble thought that the salaries paid to the teachers had presided during their own time. Mr. Lane thought that several were too high from a public standpoint. He thought that some other provision should be made whereby the people could control the matter themselves.

Mr. Bentham asked if it could be arranged to allow the teachers to preside during their regular paid time. Both Mr. Andrews and Mr. Bentham thought it advisable to pay the salaries as ordered by the act. Inspector Kilmer stated that the Department at Toronto had drawn his attention to the fact that the schools should be closed on the King's birthday.

Mr. Lowes said that these protests should be sent in to the Board and they would request the Department to govern the matters. Both Mr. Andrews and Mr. Cole were of the opinion that it was not the fault of the Department but of the trustees, as they are only interested in their own school. Mr. Armstrong said that the trustees should remedy this serious matter and asked how many times the average trustee inspected the schools, these men who are supposed to have educational work at heart.

The chairman said the trustees had been visiting the schools enough lately. Secretary Bunnell informed the Board that the County account for instruction in the Collegiate for the past term was now due. Mr. Burt explained how the matter stood, stating that county were always slow in paying their share. Mr. Bentham pointed out that about $800 was still due the Board from the county.

Inspector Kilmer explained that at the opening of next term promotion would make it necessary for over 100 children to be taken from the hill, and this would necessitate the opening of King George School. Mr. Cole asked if the arrangements regarding the new school could be left in charge of the advisory and management committees.

Mr. Andrews pointed out that it would be best to postpone the discussion of this matter. Mr. Harris the gentleman who had appeared to explain the matter, would attend the meeting of the two committees. Mr. Bunnell suggested that the Building and Grounds should consider the question of placing seats in the new school.

Mr. Lane thought that there was nothing to be gained by letting the matter slide for awhile. It would be occupied up to one or two rooms of the limit. Inspector Kilmer said that he had the names and addresses of all the school children in the city. With this list one boundary could be fixed up alright. It was decided to make the meeting for the Advisory and Management Committee next Wednesday night.

LABOR CONVENTION

To be Held in City of Vancouver—An Urgent Call for Delegates to be Sent.

The following circular has been issued by the executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada: Ottawa, Ont., July 2, 1915. To the Officers and Members of Provincial Federations of Labor, Trades and Labor Councils, National Trades Unions, Federal Labor Unions and International Local Trades Unions in the Dominion of Canada Greetings:— Fellow Labor Unionists and Brothers.—The thirty-first annual session of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will convene in the Labor Temple Building, City of Vancouver, Province of British Columbia, beginning at 1 o'clock, Monday morning, September 20th, 1915, and will continue in session from day to day until the business of the convention has been completed.

The annual meeting of the Congress held last year in the City of St. John, N.B., can be considered as one of the most successful in the history of its career. It was in the centre of the Maritime Provinces and afforded opportunities for those who resided along the Atlantic coast to become better acquainted with the progress and work of the congress. This year it is the turn of the Pacific coast and consequently the City of Vancouver, B.C., has been selected as the meeting place for the convention of 1915. Thus in the two years the labor interests at the two extremities of the Dominion find ventilation for their requirements and interests through the ever expanding influence of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

The particular attention of affiliated organizations is called to Article III, Section 2, governing the introduction of Resolutions, which reads:—

"Section 2.—That all resolutions for the consideration of the Congress shall be received by the Secretary-Treasurer not later than ten days prior to the opening of the convention at the opening session of the Congress. Resolutions submitted contrary to this section, can only be introduced and dealt with by the Congress, on a two-thirds vote of the delegates present. The executive shall appoint a Committee on Resolutions from the credentialed Delegates and said committee shall meet at least one day prior to the opening of the convention for the purpose of considering all business submitted to them."

The forthcoming convention will be perhaps the most important in the history of the Congress. Many legislative questions of vital interests to labor in Canada will be discussed and decisions arrived at. In addition a great number of pressing difficulties arising out of the gigantic struggle in Europe will face the delegates for consideration and decision. The industrial situation in Canada is much different at the time of issuing this call than when our last convention was held. At this convention policies of great moment to the working class in Canada will have to be outlined. Among the many subjects for consideration which need our continued attention are:

- 1. The conditions arising from unemployment in the industrial centres in Canada.
2. Dominion and Provincial legislation affecting labor interests.
3. Enforcement of the misrepresentation and monetary clauses of the Immigration Laws all the year round.
4. The proposed 8-hour Labor Bill.
5. Workmen's Compensation acts in various provinces.
6. Amendments to the Industrial Disputes and Investigation Act.
7. Fortnightly payment of wages on all railways.
8. Proposed amendments to Dominion Elections Act, including: (a) the abolition of the $200 deposit now exacted; (b) the making of election day a public holiday.
9. Old Age Pensions and all the issues that are therewith connected.

Repeatedly the attention of organized labor has been called to the fact, year by year the opponents of labor in this Dominion increase steadily their efforts. Labor must put forth greater efforts not only to conserve what has already been obtained, but to obtain that which is desirable. Greater efforts, closer application, stronger organization is absolutely necessary to meet the ever growing activities of our opponents. This difficult period is the time when Labor should make greater efforts than ever in the interests of those who toil. The time to elect your delegates is now at hand. Do not delay. Needless to say that the very dearest interests of the workers demand that the most intelligent and business-like members be chosen as delegates. Now, before was the cause of Labor in greater need of the concentration of all it has of brains and intellect to look after its interests. The immediate election of delegates and the election of the most efficient will be a real service to the International Trades Union Movement.

Fraternally yours, James C. Watters, President. Fred Bancroft, Vice-President. P. M. Draper, Secretary-Treas. Executive Council, Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

JEWS SERVING BRITAIN. London, June 23 (correspondence of the Associated Press)—Between 7,000 and 8,000 of the Jews serving with the British colors have registered their names at the Jewish chaplains' department in London, and perhaps as many more have enlisted who have failed to register. The Jewish roll of honor from the list of British slain is published weekly in the Jewish Chronicle, and a Jewish recruiting committee brings in from fifty to sixty fresh enlistments a week.

Even the Jewish ministry has also been organized for the war, contributing about a dozen chaplains to attend to the spiritual needs of the Jewish soldiers in the front. The senior chaplain, the Rev. Michael Adler, is now in France, but the machine he created is running smoothly. His assistant, S. Lipson, is now in charge.

The United Kingdom, he says has been mapped out into areas, which have been placed under nine Jewish assistant chaplains appointed by the war office. The function of these chaplains is to get into touch with their co-religionists in the ranks arranging services for them and look after their welfare generally. They also visit the Jewish wounded in the hospitals.

The young Jews are enthusiastic according to Chaplain Lipson who tells of one who quit his job in Brazil and travelled to London to enlist.

STARTS TO WORK. London, June 24—(Correspondence Associated Press)—Lord Northbury, former Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, has taken employment as a fitter in an aeroplane factory in a London suburb. He will put in thirteen hours daily at his work.

At the same time, Lady Northbury has begun work as a waitress in a soldiers' coffee canteen at Euston Station.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

MOTIVE FOR CRIME IS NOT CLEAR

Hamilton Police Suggest Insanity as the Cause of the Crime.

Hamilton, July 3.—Shooting occurred yesterday at the residence of Dr. Victor Ross, King St. East, as a result of which Dr. Harry Williams, aged 40, and Hedgewood H. Holmes are dead. Dr. Williams was killed outright and Holmes died later in the hospital. Holmes called twice the day before and yesterday, and asked for Dr. Williams, who was in charge of Dr. Ross' practice while the latter is serving on the staff at Gravenhurst Sanitarium, and both times the physician was out. When Dr. Ross went north seven months ago Dr. Williams and his house was taken by Mrs. W. Clark and her two daughters, Dorothy Allison and Frances, Williams renting one front room as an office and surgery.

When Holmes called to see Williams, Miss Dorothy Clark answered the door bell on each occasion. As the doctor was not in Holmes and Miss Clark yesterday afternoon engaged in conversation, in the course of which Holmes said he had three brothers at the front, and would be there himself were he not a "T.B." from Gravenhurst.

Yesterday morning at 10.30 o'clock he returned and found the doctor out. Miss Clark again answered the ring, and he said he would step into the surgery and wait for Dr. Williams to return. Shortly after 12 o'clock the doctor arrived, and Miss Clark heard them greet each other with, "Why, hello, Abbi, how's tricks?" and "Hello Doc," both then walking into the surgery. Dr. Williams closed the door and Miss Clark went out into the kitchen with her sister Frances. Fifteen minutes later three shots rang out in rapid succession. The Clark girls ran into the surgery, where they found Williams with blood oozing from a wound in his left temple, lying on the floor in the north-east corner of the room. Directly inside the door Holmes was on his back on the floor, blood welling from a hole in his right temple. In his outstretched right hand was a Savage automatic revolver. Holmes was breathing heavily and seemed to be in great agony.

The police were notified and Detective Shirley hastened to the scene. Drs. Harper, Jones, Simpson, Coady, before they had reached the house Williams had expired. Holmes was taken to the city hospital. He was identified by a card found in his pocket. Coroner Simpson will hold an inquest.

Hepworth Holmes died at the city hospital at 8.45 last evening without regaining consciousness. The bullet entered his head and went straight through. The theory that the police have to-day is that Holmes developed a temporary form of insanity, not uncommon in tubercular patients. He applied to Dr. Williams whom he had known at the Gravenhurst Sanitarium for relief, and not being satisfied with the treatment, turned his revolver on Williams. Dr. Williams was regarded as a specialist in tubercular troubles, and it is said he himself was a hopeless sufferer from "Bright's" disease. He was a grandson of the late Bishop Williams, formerly general superintendent of the Methodist Church in Canada, his home being in Allansford, Ont. Dr. Victor Ross arrived home last evening. Dr. Hopkins, coroner, who saw the bodies of the victims, is convinced that Holmes is the man who a year ago tried to sell him stock in a restaurant proposition. Holmes at that time claimed he had been connected with Childs Restaurant Companies.

BOMB THROWER'S DANGEROUS JOB. Sergeant Maurice Juven, of the 10th French Infantry regiment, who had been fighting since August 5, and being wounded on May 7, was sent to the Paris "Hotel Dieu" to be treated for a shell splinter in the right eye, has had some interesting experiences of trench warfare, says the London Daily Mail.

"I was made sergeant and one of the bomb-throwers of my company," he said. "It is not the pleasantest task to be a bomb-thrower. At the beginning we experimented with many sorts of bombs, but found most of them too risky for the thrower and the men in the trench behind him. I remember one cold day having a very nasty experience with one of these bombs. It was cold and raining and I put the sack of bombs in a little recess in the side of the trench to be out of the wet. I suppose I must have been half asleep when the sentinel gave the alarm that the Germans were moving to the assault. The lieutenant and the men came crowding up into the gallery, and the former shouted out, 'Hurry up with the bombs, Juven.' 'I handed my tinder briquet to the sentinel, and pulling out a bomb tried to get the fuse to light. I had to blow on it for two or three seconds before I saw the red glow running along the cord. I then jerked back my hand to throw the bomb, when, to my dismay it slipped out of my half frozen fingers and flew back into the trench behind me. I shouted a warning, but there was no need; the men had all bolted to cover behind the nearest re-entrant angle. So when the flash and roar of the explosion came only three men were still near enough to be hurt. They were bowled over and cut about by flying stones and gravel, but were not seriously hurt. We had no time to think much about them either, for the Germans were about to make a stiff attack, and for the next hour I was busy throwing bombs in their direction, but fortunately without making any more mistakes."

Boy Knight Notes

Each week sees something new in our work. The last one has certainly been one of surprises in every way.

The League game on Thursday morning between the Boy Knights and the Maple Leafs was a good one. Both teams looked and played well, and the behaviour of the young men on the field was all that could be desired. While victory crowned the Boy Knights' efforts, the Maple Leafs put up a splendid game, and their efforts are to be commended.

The afternoon game was also a good one. Manager Reynolds and his team are to be congratulated on winning both of the opening games. As a pitcher, Workman was splendid and Freeborn was right there with the goods at all points of the game.

A goodly number of Boy Knights paraded to the park with the Brant C Band, which certainly looked quite classy in their new uniforms. The musical programme rendered by them was also good. An interesting programme of sports was also run off, the following being leaders in various ages: Long Jump, R. Ladd, J. Ratchell, Van Stokes, Norris, A. Willis, F. Keithley; hop, step and jump, J. Ratchell, Van Stokes, Catridge, E. A. Willis; one mile, C. Finch, orris, C. Attridge, J. Mew art; quarter mile, H. McCormack, K. Vansickle; three-legged race, J. Ratchell and C. Finch, J. Stewart and Van Stokes. The rain kept away the crowd, but a good time was spent by all present.

We expect to have a great success with our Pot Pourri on the 15th. The Brant C Band will be present; the program many attractive features will be presented that should be worthy of patronage. Every boy should work his hardest to make it a success.

How the Foreign Legion Fights

By all accounts the attack on the German entrenchments between Bethune and Arras furnished as hard fighting as any in the war. Among the troops that took part in it were the 4000 men of the Foreign Legion. Alexandre Paiget, a young Swiss volunteer, recounts his experiences in a letter to his family.

"Our artillery," he writes, "had made a clean sweep of the barbed wire entanglements. In the first German trench we found nothing but corpses. The second, third, fourth and fifth lines took to flight, and we followed them with the bayonet. They surrendered by scores. I myself pursued two of the enemy. As soon as they saw my bayonet they cried, 'Kamerad, pardon!' and threw down their rifles at my feet. I was about to run them through (for we had orders to spare none) when my lieutenant called out to me to let them go. They may think themselves lucky. "As I was clearing a German trench I fell in just where four mitrailleuses were posted. Their trenches are deep, and I picked myself up with difficulty. On we went. The pursuit lasted an hour and a half, and in that time we covered 1-2 miles. At last the Germans reached a crest and opened a hot fire on us. We were in a bad position, being 400 yards from the rising ground. Forward! was the cry. It was terrible. Our corporal fell dead. All my friends, Joly, Spaetic, Meister, Johnson (a Swiss of English extraction) dropped wounded or killed. I knew not which until later.

"We were now only ten in line, but we kept on. Soon I was left alone with the lieutenant. He shouted to me to jump into a shell crater full of water. I did so. The water reached up to my ribs. I remained in that position for three hours. The lieutenant dropped dead three yards away. Four other men managed to reach the same shelter as myself. A fifth was shot just as he was jumping in.

"We dared not move. Our fellows were making a flank attack, and we were between a French and a German mitrailleuse. I could see the Germans fleeing by ten or a dozen at a time. "At 8 o'clock in the evening we crept back. A captain told us the remnant of our company were 400 yards to the rear. He might well say remnant. Of the 250 men of the company only 50 remained."

WAR IN THE CLOUDS ARTIST DESCRIBES AERIAL TACTICS AGAINST ENEMY AEROPLANES

2 Companies Hold Position Five Days Without Relief

Heroism of Assaulting Party with Mission to Capture a Chapel—Only a Handful of Wrecks Left, but They Captured the Chapel.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] PARIS, July 3. How two companies of French infantry took a chapel defended by German trenches and held their narrow strip of captured ground for five days under a continual fire from German artillery is related in a letter published in the Figaro of recent date. The letter was written by the officer commanding the party, who was one of the handful who remained when they were at last relieved. The appalling gruesomeness of modern warfare is told in thrilling phrases in this recital of a heroic act. Parts of the story have been edited by the French censor, but enough is left to give a graphic description. It is as follows:— "There was much agitation upon the plateau. The order had been given to my major to take the chapel at all costs. My company has the honor of being designated as the attacking company, and I am sent to reconnoitre the point of departure. "The chasers who man the trenches from which we are to leave look at us with interest, because we are going to give the final blow, and because every one is sure that the chapel has been mined and that the storming company will be blown up with it. "I give my last orders, then the whistle signals and we start off on the run. For two hundred yards, a great distance in an attack of this kind, we run through shell holes at points of height. We take three trenches that are not heavily defended. But by the time we arrive at the chapel half the company is down behind us, for we made the trip in the cross fire of three machine guns. "My sub-lieutenant, a cashier of the Bank of France in times of peace, but a lion on the battlefield, at the head of ten men, jumps into the little trench that surrounds the chapel and drives out two German sections. We have taken the chapel, but it has been a hard task; then my lieutenant signals to Captain X's company. Without an instant's hesitation he leads his company behind mine, through the captured trenches. He joins me and is killed just as he shakes my hand. I take command of his company as well as mine, and throughout the night a savage struggle takes place. "The positions we occupy are in the form of a spoon, the captured trenches form the handle and the chapel the large end.

French Hospital in Champagne Country a Haven for the Maimed

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] PARIS, July 3. An interesting glimpse into the French military hospital at Epervain is afforded by Robert de Lézard in the Figaro. "The hospital is admirable," he writes. "The wards are clean and spacious, the buildings are surrounded by a fine park where convalescents are strolling about. "All the patients praise the hard work of the sisters, the vigilance of the military surgeons and the paternal care of Dr. Veron, of Epervain, who spends his entire time there. I met him hurrying to perform an operation. "You must excuse me," he said, "I have a great amount of work to do this morning. I think I can save this poor chap. It makes me happy." "The windows open upon the garden. Through the windows one can follow the battle raging beyond Rheims, fifteen kilometres away. It is what interests them. They talk of nothing else, their sufferings are forgotten. They express their regret at not being out there in the trenches, under the shells. "Under the beautiful trees are two smaller buildings. One is for the tetanus cases, nearly all Germans, who seem more affected by tetanus than are our men. The other is the nursing home for the German wounded. She troubles them, roundly with her tongue. "Oh, the bandits! The bad men," she says, but she sits up for three whole nights with a little Bavarian lieutenant, and she did other deeds of extraordinary self-sacrifice for other German patients so that one cannot judge of her kindness exclusively by what she tells herself."

Frenchman Joyous in the Trenches Pities His Friend in City Office

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] PARIS, July 3. In a late issue of the Echo des Trenches, a journal published in the trenches of Northern France, two letters appear which reflect the sentiments of a couple of French soldiers in an amusing yet very striking manner. The first letter is from a reservist who has not yet had a chance of smelling powder at close range. He is fretting over his unengaged occupation, and unbecomingly himself to comrades on the firing line in language like this:— "Surely we are feeling the effects of the war all the time here at the rear. We don't get fresh fish more than twice a week. The canteens no longer serve any 'smiles,' and we have to retire at one o'clock every night. Such tyranny! I am attached to a military field office and am working hard. But oh, what a fate! When the troops at the front need anything, we get a requisition. Perhaps we say in reply that it cannot be met because no official has been sent on the requisition blank. Then we are asked to forward some of those requisition blanks, and again we reply that this letter demand will receive no official attention on account of not having been made according to prescribed regulations."

The extensive use of aircraft by the belligerent Powers has brought into being many new rules for the carrying on of aerial warfare. It has been found that the only way effectively to deal with enemy aircraft is to attack them in the air and not by shooting at them from the ground with anti-aircraft guns. The above drawing has been prepared for the London Sphere and this newspaper in order to show some of the more decisive situations which are constantly arising during the air contests along the firing lines both in France and Russia. The fast scouting tractor biplane has proved a very successful type. Owing to its great climbing powers and to its speed it is able to rise above its opponent and take aim from above and behind. Its marksman can then hit the pilot and observer and so the more vulnerable parts of the enemy machine. When this is the case the enemy is so placed that he has to turn fire, which is generally admitted to be a most difficult operation. While the tractor biplane cannot fire directly ahead owing to its propeller being in the way, the pusher machine cannot fire directly behind for the same reason; but with a gun mounted in the nacelle it can have a clear range of fire at any machine for some distance ahead. A favorite trick of both friend and foe is to bank round for a spot where it is known that friendly anti-aircraft artillery is posted and draw the pursuing machine down to within point blank range of these guns. The Russians have recently been using the giant Sikorsky biplanes, which are driven by two 200-horse power Canton-Unné engines and can carry sixteen passengers. With this great weight lifting capacity these huge machines can mount a fairly heavy gun or can be utilized for carrying bombs heavier than anything ever carried during a flight by aeroplanes before.

AFRICAN TROOPS BELIEVED SATAN WAS HIDDEN IN GAS CLOUD.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] BRUSSELS, July 3. The terrible effects victims suffer when overcome by the fumes emitted from the gas bombs used by the Germans is narrated in a vivid article written by Dr. Max Muller and published in the Neue Zürcher Zeitung. The physician gives an account of his trip to the front in Flanders, where he was enabled to study the condition of patients who had been asphyxiated by the bombs. Numerous soldiers had just been brought to the hospital at Zuydcoote. The men were placed in different wards, according to the treatment required. Those who had been wounded by bullets were placed in one section, while the others, who had been overcome by the fumes, rested in another ward. Each day the latter needed different and more careful treatment until the crisis was over. "While in a convalescent state one of the soldiers told the physician of the battle fought on the evening of April 22. British territorial troops and a contingent of North African soldiers were a few hundred yards from the German trenches when suddenly they saw large clouds of yellow-green fumes approaching. In a short time the clouds were directly overhead, and the men in the trenches began to cough. Their eyes became inflamed as the cough became more violent. After a few moments the blood rushed to their heads and many of the men dropped as if dead. "Crawling on their hands and knees, some of the men were able to drag themselves to a point where a breath of fresh air was available. Every breath, however, after poisoning. Two of the deaths were due to tuberculosis. Those who do not die a short time after being asphyxiated reach a crisis after suffering five or six days. Then there is a quick rise in temperature and probably inflammation of the lungs. The patient continues to be feeble some times for a long period, his face showing distinct signs of congestion. "An interesting story was told by one of the officers in an ambulance at Malo-lez-Bains, which is about one kilometre nearer Dunkirk. A gray-bearded captain suffered for five days after an attack made by the Germans with gas bombs, despite the fearful thirst and vomiting. Only after his strength had left him did he consent to be taken from the front to a hospital in Malo. There he remained to be treated by the specialists. The deadly effect of the gas poisoning is observed to be greater on the African

HOW WAR PRISONERS ARE TREATED IN GERMANY

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] BERLIN, July 3. In Germany there are now more than one hundred camps for prisoners of war. Each forms a little community by itself and is detached from the world outside by high palisades. The population of a camp may be from 15,000 to 20,000. Usually a landsturm captain is in supreme charge, having under him a staff of subalterns. The prisoners are divided into battalions of 2,000 men each. The strictest military discipline prevails, and marked distinction is made between captive officers and ordinary soldiers. Within the encampment each battalion has its own reservation, enclosed by a wire fence. Every such section has a kitchen, canteen, bath house and separate quarters generally. Inspection of the prison camps is made at regular intervals by officials of the War Department, who inspect the sanitary and other arrangements. In the dormitories a space of nearly eight feet square is allowed for each prisoner. Bread is apportioned daily for every man and other foodstuffs similar to those served to soldiers in the field to a value of fifteen cents per diem. Physicians are attached to the camp. The number of letters received and despatched at one of the smaller encampments was 55,221 in a single month, according to a recent official report. This does not take into account the registered packages and mail parcels which pour in at the camp post offices daily, containing food, clothing and other articles intended to increase the comforts of the prisoners. A force of clerks from the censor's bureau assists the camp officials.

ROUMANIA CERTAIN TO ENTER WAR

Vulnerable Points Along the Boundary Have Been Fortified.

[SPECIAL DESPATCH.] LONDON, July 3. Roumania's entry into the conflict is considered just as certain as Italy's was. Every hour that passes brings the decisive moment nearer and it is understood it may now be only a matter of days when she will give the war word to her military commanders. They, as well as many of her statesmen, have been fretting with impatience and if it depended on them would have taken the plunge long ago, but Roumania has had to proceed carefully and the counsels of prudence have prevailed. "For Roumania is vulnerable. There is a tender spot in her back and she has had to establish a line of defence work of which the outside world has not heard. Her oil and anthracite fields have had to be protected. "Roumania is the Pennsylvania of Europe. Her petroleum makes the finest illuminating oil produced in Europe, the finest in the world, the Roumanian asset. Her anthracite coal ranks with that of Pennsylvania, and Germany and Austria feel greatly aggrieved about Roumania's oil. They had counted on fighting the war with it. "Many of the oil fields of Roumania were financed in Germany. The German government two years ago decided to establish a holding company, known as the State could sell oil or its products. This ostensibly was a blow dealt to the American companies. But it had other reasons. Roumania was counted on. German companies, which now had the official backing of the government, had solid interests in Roumania, and with this entering wedge there would be a way found at the opportune moment for Germany to take control of the Roumanian output. "Sided with France in 1870. The Kaiser's Ministers knew that in a war with France the sympathies of the people of Roumania would be with France, but that did not cause them much concern. They remembered that in the war of 1870 with France the people of Roumania had rioted and attacked German property and their German Prince, later King Charles had offered to resign. They also remembered that when the French lost the Roumanian anti-German feeling subsided and probably reflected that other nations, like many individuals, show an inclination to go with the winning side. And if Roumania was really to side with they would make another Belgium of it. They counted as absolutely on the resources of Roumania—her oil and her wonderful richness in all the more desirable metals—as if they had been in their own territory. "But they counted without General Joffre and the fighting spirit revealed at the Marne. And that has been reflected in Germany's calculations about the sources of oil, gasoline and metals. "In the event of war the first blow the Teuton allies would deal to Roumania would be a dash for her fields of mineral resources. And the configuration of Roumania's territory lends the opportunity for many a dangerous drive. "Roumania Open to Attacks. Roumania, generally speaking, is crescent shaped, and Austria-Hungary fills the hollow of the crescent. The upper part, running roughly north and south, is the old province of Moldavia, the lower, from east to west, Wallachia. There is a third province, to the east, the Black Sea, the Dobruja, but it is not of great importance. Austria-Hungary's deep salient into the hollow of Roumania gives to the Teuton allies a choice of points to strike from. "How a general with the special talent of von Hindenburg would deal with Roumania, with that entrant angle to work from and with, as objective, the choice of one or more of the rich wells and mines of Bacau, in Moldavia; Buzau, further south; Prahova and Dimbovitza, in Wallachia; and then the English-owned anthracite beds of Gorgui, out near the bluntest western end of the crescent Roumania has had to take her precautions, and while apparently busy with problems of another nature, such as the reaching of agreements with the Balkan States, this putting of her own borderland in condition to meet the prospective invader really is what has kept her occupied to date. She now has practically completed the task. "Who regard to the Balkan States, it may be noted that Roumania would like the rest of the world to observe that she is not a Balkan State. She herself is quite generally has been so classed and she did not renege. Now she thinks the time has come to put the matter right. All who may desire further information on the subject will be supplied with it by the Roumanian Geographical Society in Bucharest in the form of a monograph printed in French. Roumania would not be understood as considering it in any way derogatory to be classified as a Balkan State. She simply wants to have her position as one of the Latin nations recognized, and, indeed, geographically her territory does not fall within the Balkan peninsula. "More Latin Than the Italians. The Roumanian language admittedly is one of the Romance group, and in great many of its words are closer to the form of the pure Latin than are corresponding words in English, despite the enormous infusion of classical words, has remained Saxon. And the patriotic Roumanians declare that in the future their language will be more and more Latin. "Just as the Germans have been eliminating foreign words and since the war began have been throwing out French menu terms and English 'five o'clock tea' and 'sport,' and so forth, the Roumanians have been eliminating Latin words such as 'piano,' 'addagio,' 'con amore,' so the Roumanians have been eliminating Latin words that are not of Latin origin. This, as a matter of fact, is a new process, with which the Roumanian people is a much disputed point, as indeed it is even with the French, Spanish and Italians, but for all practical purposes in this connection it is language, with customs, manners and institutions that counts far more than blood.
