14. If I then—The Master lost no dignity, authority or power, by His condescending love. He was truly great, in that he stooped to necessary humble work when others refused to do it. Re-freshing water is God's own word spok-en in love (Eph. 4; 15.) This is the spir-itual restoration which can only be done in the spirit meekness (Gal. 6; 1.) Readiness for service is too often lackring in many who profess to be his disciples. The Master sought to uplift others, and he is our example of true greatness. Christ did nothing from selfish motives. He ever had in mind the glory of God and the worth of immortal souls.

NEWFOUNDLAND

Fishery Dispute May be Referred to the Hague.

Washington, April 20.-The British and the United States Governments are planning tu submit to the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague the task of interpreting the Newfoundland fisheries treaty of 1818. The ratification of the general arbitration treaty recently negotiated between the two countries will be necessary before The jurisdiction, but this ratification is predicted in well-informed quarters.

In settling this controversy, The Hague tribunal will have to decide whether state or colonial laws and regulations shall be permitted to interfere with the terms of a treaty. This latter question has recently confronted the American administration in the Japanese school question in California.

That under the treaty of 1818, Americans were granted the same fishing rights in Newfoundland waters as British subjects, is the American contention The Tritish view of this question is that Americans were given such rights only as British subjects then, or at any subsequent time should possess. To accept this view, the American rights would be subject to change at the will of Newfoundland expressed in the en-actment of local regulations.

Bradstreet's Trade Review.

Montreal: Another advance sample of spring weather has not been without its efect, and for a while increased sorting orders in some lines of wholesale trade seemed to point to renewed activity all along the line. But that trade has again fallen off slightly, and the volume of business is about that of a week ago. Spring rail freights have gone into effect and the movement of heavy goods has been large. The wholesale trade is still waiting on warm weather, the movement being light. A late Easter has further put oif buying. Cotton mills have not yet put out price lists, nor will they do so until the demand is brisker. The hardware movement is moderate, although there is more demand for pig iron for delivery on the opening of navi gation here. Groceries are fairly active, with prices generally firm.

Toronto: Little change is noticed in the volume of business moving here. As the season advances sentiment seems to improve and a big sorting up business is beginning to be expected. Country trade is only fair, and there will be little improvement until the roads are in better shape and seeding operations are completed. Produce is coming forward freely and there is a general tendency towards are in prices in prices. towards easiness in prices. Wools are dull and inclined lower. Hides are quiet Gen. Stoessel has constructed a little wooden platform outside the barred window of his cell, and at mealtime always slightly firmer tendency. Leather is steady with a moderate demand. Hogs and provisions are firm.

Winnipeg: Trade prospects continue to improve. While there has been no de-cided warm weather yet, the sorting trade has been fair and there should be a real improvement with the first dehid-ed signs of spring. Vancouver and Victoria: There is a good normal tone to all lines of trade Provincial industries generally are showing greater activity.

Quebec: Business shows little improvement over that of the preceding week, climatic conditions are not favorable and it is anticipated no change is likely until warmer weather sets in, Hamilton: Business continues to show slight improvement. The retail demand is more active and the sorting trade has a better tone. Local industries are mostly fairly active, although there is hardly the rush of this time last year. Collections are feir and in contact accounts.

London: Wholesale and retail trade London: Wholesale and retail trade has been helped by warmer weather, al-though no settled improvement can come until spring is still more in evidence. Ottawa: Trade has shown considerable improvement during the past week.

A Guelph despatch: Speaking at the Canadian Club banquet here last night on the subject of "Labor and Capital," Mr. Cy. Warman, the wellknown writer, expressed himself strongly against the continual and unongly against the continual and un-baiting of capital. Two things, he said, were necessary to make a nation, and these were capital and labor. Either was utterly helpless without the other. There were some men in America who were rich out of all rea son, and the wealthy were wasteful and sometimes arrogant and oppressive, but there was a growing tendency on the part of the political upper crust and the social under crust to crust and the social under crust to rate all railway officials as a semi-criminal class, who were happiest when hunting along the line which separates the land of lawful things from the land of things unlawful. BOMB EXPLODED.

Twenty-Eight Families Thrown In Panic by Black Hand.

New York, April 20,-Agents of the dreaded Black Hand late this afternoon exploded a bomb in the hallway of a tenement house at Twelfth street and Second avenue. There were twen-ty-eight families in the building at the time. The stairways were blown out and the panic-stricken people were cut by flying debris, but no one was seriously hurt.

The bomb was set to punish an Italian banker who occupied the base-ment for a business place and lived with his wife and seven children upstairs. He had refused to give up $500 to the Black Hand and had been threatened.

The people in the house had no warning. The concussion shook the building. Many reached the street via the fire escapes.

A great crowd gathered in the streets and the reserves of the Fifth street station had to club their way through

HORTICULTURALIST AT VIC-TORIA PARK HAS MADE TESTS.

And the Buds De Not Develop in the Greenhouse-Trouble Seems to be in the Bark.

Mr. Roderick Cameron, horticulturist at Queen Victoria Park, Niagara Falls, has been testing peach buds, by develop-ing them in the greenhouse, and he writes as follows about his observations: In looking at the trees the buds never looked better than they do this spring, but in starting them in a greenhouse I find that the buds develop only about half way, and then drop all but a few. I also find that there is something wrong with the young branches, the fruit-bearing wood

The disease, or whatever it may be called, acts as follows: A ring, uneven in size, forms round the young twigs about a quarter of the way up from the old wood. The bark round this ring shrivels and feels sponger, and in reold wood. The bark round this ring shrivels and feels spongy, and in removing the outer bark I find that the inner bark or cambium is brown and dead, and the sap is prevented from flowing up past the above mentioned rings. From here up the bark, for the want of sap, begins to shrivel, and the buds loseen and drop to the ground. buds loosen and drop to the ground.
As far as I can see there are none of the buds injured by frost. The injury is in the bark of the young wood, and my own belief is that the wood was not properly ripened last fall, and the frost has injured it during the winter. I also find that the varieties that I proved to be hardiest for several back are the tenderest this year. hardiest varieties in former years were the late varieties, particularly Elberta and Longhurst; but this year they are the tenderest and less productive. early varieties show up best in this

The following is the finding: New Prolific, one-third of the buds sound; opened. Early Crawford, a fifth of the buds sound. Yellow St. John, from young trees, three per cent. buds sound. The Globe, about one per cent. of the buds sound. Yellow St. John on old trees three per cent of buds. of the buds sound. Yellow St. John on old trees, three per cent. of buds sound. Elberta, from old trees, about one per cent. of the buds good. Wheatland, hardly one per cent. of buds sound and the wood in this one wors in transand the wood in this one more injured that the rest. Jaquis Rare Ripe, three per cent. of buds sound. Fitzgerald, about one per cent. good buds. Niagara, about one per cent. good buds. Garfield badly injured and few buds. Golden padly injured and few buds. Golden Drop will produce a good crop. Elberta from young trees, about five per cent. good buds. The Sneed, a quarter of the buds sound. Triumph, about three parts of the buds good.

of the buds good. of the buds good.

My observation leads me to think that the peach trees should be pruned that the peach trees should be pruned as soon as the wood is made, so as to force the formation of flowering buds on the base of the young wood that is more apt to be ripened before winter begins. The flowering buds are generally very few on the base of the young shoots. They develop from the centre of this wood to the top, and when pruning in the spring the flowering buds are cut away, or they may be injured, as I stated above, by freezing the undeveloped wood. This statement the undeveloped wood. This statement should not be taken for all peach farms, as soils will make a wonderful difference.

AWFUL CRIME

Poisoned Child by Order of the Mother.

Chicago, April 20.-Francesca Nicolozo yesterday declared that the death of Mary Renda, eight years old, who died several days ago under suspicious circumstances, was caused which he had placed in the flour at the suggestion of the girl's mother.

No object is known for the alleged crime, except that Mrs. Renda was angry with her husband, who desired to move from their present residence, while she wanted to remain. She threatened to have revenge unless he consented to abandon his plans, and it is thought by the police that she poisoned her daugh-ter to revenge herself on her husband. Nicolozo was a friend of the Renda family, and declared yesterday that the woman asked him to buy the poison and, after he had done so, requested him to mix it with the flour. When this conficient was all the thorough in confession was read to the woman in the presence of Nicolozo, she made a vicious attack on him, and it required the full strength of two polices officers to drag her away.

A BOY STABBING CASE.

Earle Cooper, of Embro, Seriously Wounded by a Companion.

Woodstock despatch: Farla Copper a fifteen-year-old Emoro lad, was serious-ly wounded a day or two ago by one of his comrades. Cooper was standing in front of his father's shop, when the lad came along and asked him if he wanted to fight. Cooper said that he did not, but that he was not afraid.

The other boy then raised his hand, it is alleged, in which he had an open jack-knife, and struck Cooper in the breast. The blade penetrated an inch and a half, just above the heart. The lad bled very profusely, and his condi-tion is somewhat serious.

BANISH PIMPLES AND ERUPTIONS

Everyone Needs a Tonic in Spring to Purify and Build Up the Blood.

If you want new health and strength a spring you must build up your blood ith a tonic medicine. Indoor life during the long winter months is responsi ble for the depressed condition and feel-ing of constant tiredness which affects so many people every spring. This condition means that the blood is impure and watery. That is what causes pimples and unsightly eruptions in some, others have twinges of rheumatism, or the sharp, stabbing pains of neuralgia. THE RELATIVE VALUES OF CASEIN AND FAT

Bulletin No. 156, from the Wisconsin experiment station, describes "A Simple Test for Casein in Milk, and its Relation to the Dairy Industry." At the outset we would say, once for all, that it seems to be another case of "I told you so." The conclusions reached by the author of the Bulletin are the same as those we put forward about 15 years ago. This we put forward about 15 years ago. This seems quite a long time to wait before one's views on an important question are accepted by others, but it is at least some satisfaction to know that the truth will out in some cases before a man shuffles off this mortal coil. If we could see a few men repenting because of the she said nothing, and proceeded to lay the breakfast of cold pork, meal cakes and coffee on the table of rough deals stand they took in this controversy fifsupported by trestles.

Neville saw that she had been crying, but she had dried her eyes, and was now simply gravely shy.

His sally was not very successful. She look ed at him intently, her lips moved as if she were about to respond, but no sound came, and he ate his breakfast cepted.

man who buys the milk.
"In the milk of individual cows there is certainly no definite and constant relation between the amounts of fat and

"On the basis of cost of production, it is a fair assumption that it has caused the feeder as much to produce a pound of casein as a pound of fat. The proteins to which casein belongs are proteins to which casein belongs are nitrogen-containing bodies, and are the farmer's most expensive nutrients. When the farmer sells casein he is selling nitro-gen; but when he sells fat he sells his gen; but when he sells lat he sells his cheapest source of nutrients, the air and water. It appears that there is some-thing irrational and unbalanced in the relative commercial values of these two products. From the farm point of view, the sale of casein represents a greater agricultural drain than when the fat is sold, and from this viewpoint alone it would appear that these two milk constituents should at least have a closer commercial value."

With all of which we heartily agree with all of which we hearthy betty the find persons talking and writing as if the value of milk for all purposes depends upon the fat contained. We trust that the management of our fairs will not concede any more points to those who are continually clamoring for the placed on milk fat. those who are continually elamoring for more value to be placed on milk fat. For butter production fat is undoubtedly the constituent of milk which determines its value, and for butter making, fat is its value, and for butter making, fat is, all that we need consider. But the making of butter is a comparatively small industry in the Province of Ontario. The great bulk of the milk is used directly as a food, or is manufactured into cheese. All public tests, based on production, should take into consideration that that the bulk of the milk are the fact that the bulk of the milk produced in Ontario is used for the manuduced in Ontario is used for the manufacture of cheese. To place too much importance on the fat alone is more or less an injustice. This is not written in a controversial spirit, nor with the object of "hitting" anyone, but with the hope that those responsible will see the a controversial spirit, nor with the operation of "hitting" anyone, but with the hope that those responsible will see the justice of the foregoing, and not cater any further to the "fat" cry.

The writer goes on to say: "One animal may yield a milk containing 2.7 per cent. casein and 6 per cent. fat, while another produces a milk of 2.7 per cent. casein and 4 per cent. fat; and still another a milk carrying 3.5 per cent. casein other a milk carrying 3.5 per cent. casein and 6 per cent. fat. Expressed in anand 6 per cent. fat. Expressed in a cother way, we have milks where, for every 100 pounds fat, there may be anywhere from 40 to 73 pounds of casein. Surely it is clear that, for cheese proceedings of the control of t duction, a milk carrying for every 100 pounds of fat 73 pounds of casein, would yield more cheese than one containing but 40 pounds of casein."

"Bon't appear as if she knows," said Meth. "Says her father wasn't a digger; seems as if they was just on the hunt after anything that turned up." After a pause, and in a husky, cautious voice: "She've got something strung round her neck, a small parcel. Seems as if she set mighty store by it, too. The workingman in Great Britain has found most expensive forms of foods. The workingman in Great Britain has found Canadian cheese at sixpence a pound the very cheapest muscle-former he can buy. He may not know much about the chemistry of food, but he knows that cheese "keeps up his muscle" better than any other food, considering cost, hence he buys and eats cheese in large quantities. If he could not get it at sixpence he would be willing to pay more, but none can blame him for getting it as cheaply as possible. We look for the time when farmers will be ready to pay as main for cheese as for prime cuts of beef. It would pay to have the food value of Canadian dairy products demonstrated we king in Manchester, Eng., and at other points.—Prof. II. H. Dean.

THE STAGES OF LIFE.

Day gers Which Threaten Every Human Being.

The question, "What is life?" has been sked many times, but it has seldom been answered in the manner chosen by a Parisian medical man in the French Journal of Health.

He has defined life in terms of disase, and his analysis proceeds thus:

First year—Infantile complaints and secination.

Second year—Teething, croup, infantile holers and convulsions.
Third year—Diphtheria, whooping cough and bronchitie.
Fourth year—Scarlatina and mening-

Fifth venr-Measles By now, he says, half the children are lead. The others live on as follows:

Seventh year—Mumps.
Tenth year—Typhoid.
Sixteenth year—Chlorosis and spinal rritation. Eighteenth year-Neurasthenia

Twentieth year-Cephalagia, alcoholsm and vertigo. Twenty-fifth year—Marriage (included mong the diseases).

Twenty-sixth year—Insomnia (proba-let) the first baby).
Thirtieth year—Dyspepsia and nerous asthenia Thirty-fifth year—Pneumonia. Forty-fifth year—Lumbago and failing

Fifty-fifth year—Rheumatism and Sixtieth year—Amnesia, loss of teeth, Sixty-fifth year—Amblyopia, deafness, seventieth year—Apoplexy.

Seventieth year—Amblyopia, deafness, general debility, loss of tone in the directive organs, gouty rheumatism.
Seventy-fifth year—Death.

Dear Sir.—In the winter of 1905 I was laid up with La Grippe and unable to to get relief from several other patent medicines. I was convinced by several of my neighbors to try St Regis Lumbago Cure, and I can thankfully say it was the first thing that gave me immediate relief. Since that time I have never been without it in my house, and cannot speak too highly of it, especially for children, as it will break up a cold at once. I have also found it a sure cure for lame back.

Indigestion

Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not in itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, Heartburn, and Indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific Nerve sickness—nothing else.

It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach nerves, alone brought that success and favor to Dr. Shoop and his Restorative. Without that original and highly vital principle, no such lasting accomplishments were ever to be had.

For stomach distress, bloating, billousness, had breath and sallow complexion, try Dr. Shoop's Restorative—Tablets or Liquid—and see for yourself what it can and will do. We sell and cheerally recommend

STARVED TO DEATH

The following story of the horrible ruelty of an Elmsley township farme is related by the Smith's Falls Record The farmer lives or rather did live only two or three miles from Smith's Falls and had thirteen head of cattle, eleven cows and two yearling, two horses and colt and a pig. He was not a prosperous farmer and not only was his farm mortgaged but so was all his stock. Like many others in this section he had a poor hay crop last vear and feed was scarce. A few days ago when he was in town and when told it was reported he was going away he laughed and denied it. The next day he and his sister who lived with him left and it is said have gone to Da kota. When the holders of the chattel mortgage heard that he had gone, they made an investigation which disclosed one of the most revolting stories of man's inhumanity to dumb animals that has been heard for many a day. When they drove to the farmhous there were no si ns of life about the place, and while this was unusual there was nothing about it to indicate the terrible condition of things they were yet to find. It was on going to the outbuildings that the dreadful happen ings of the past few days were revealed to them. In one stable they found six cows lying dead, five more cows and two heifers on the barn floor, two horses in another place and the colt and the pig in another. All were dead. The bodies were little more than skeletons and their protruding bones and emaciated forms told a story of slow starvation. Six of the cows were lying fastened to the bales, the colt had climbed into the granary evidently in quest of something to eat but of food of any kind there was not a particle to be found around the place. The dumb brutes had been shut up in the build

> Hard Times in Germany. (Montreal Witness.)

Much has been said of the tremendous strides Germany had made in technical education, manufacturing and commerce, during recent years. English writers have shown how in many lines the products of German mills and looms have supplanted those of the United Kingdom in neutral markets and even in the British market at home. During this period of prosperity population increased as it does in all countries at times of industrial expansion. Since the war with France, Germany has been transformed from an agricultural and military into a manufacturing and commercial nation, the process causing a transfer of population, as in England, from the rural districts to the great city centres of industry. Everything went well so long as markets could be found for German goods and the cost of living was cheaper than in the countries with which Germany competed. But a change was sure to come, as the Kaiser foresaw and endeavored to provide against by his efforts to establish colonies, create mercantile marine and its natural complement an efficient navy. Having adopted the protective system, and being hedged about by nations with tariffs equally exclusive, Germany soon began to realize her limitations. She was turning out liaving adopted the protective system, and being hedged about by nations with tariffs equally exclusive, Germany soon began to realize her limitations. She was turning out more goods of all kinds than she could sell At the same time the cost of living was advancing and made more costly by the import duties on foodstuffs from abroad. The result has been that the glut of over-production has been follewed by reduction of wages, and the industrial classes in cities find they can no longer dispose of their fabor for sufficient money wherewith to purchase the necessaries of life.

Germany is now entering on the same conditions which existed in Great Britain at the time when the agitation began for the repeal of the corn laws. These conditions are lack of employment for the masses, increased prices for foods, warehouses filled with unsalable goods and capital locked up or sunk in vast national and industrial works and enterprises undertaken with the idea that sunk in vast national and industrial works and enterprises undertaken with the idea that good times would last indefinitely. How these conditions effect the working people of Berlin is shown by the pathetic tales of poverty recently published. In the first week of December, according to official statistics, no fewer than 11,947 children attending the primary schools, under the conweek of December, according to official statistics, no fewer than 11,947 children attending the primary schools, under the compulsory education law, went without breakfast, and had no prospect of a meal at midday or evening when they returned home. About half this number received a meagre portion of food from the Children's Canteen Society, a charitable organization; the remainder were reported actually starving to death. Such a horrible state of affairs in one of the grandest and wealthiest capitals of Europe could not be permitted, and the city had to provide the means for feeding the little ones slowly perishing for want of food. Never was there a more striking illustration of the lack of balance in the modern industrial system that results from so-called protection. The natural economical forces, restricted and perverted in their operation, recoil upon the weakest first by conskening the toilers to idleness and their children to starvation. The fabric of German industrialism is thus shown to be resting on a rotten foundation. Nor can there be any hope of permanent improvement until there is a complete change. The feudal system by which the land is held in large estates must be abolished, and the soil placed within reach of those who are able and willing to cultivate it, and import dutles on foodstuffs must be removed. Precedom is absolutely necessary to professerity in these days of world wide competition. It may prove necessary to professerity in these days of world wide competition. It may prove necessary to professerity in these days of world wide competition. It may prove necessary to go further and lighten military burdens stop the waste of capital in permanent, unproductive works, including nalaces and battleships. There can be no more monstrous wrongs than is made evident it warehouses stacked with goods and granaries bursting with food, while millions of human being are in want of covering and children are starving for lack of enough sustenance to keep body and soul together.
