SUGAR PRICE AGAIN RAISED

Commerce Board Approves Refiners' New Price.

Retail Price Limit 26 Cents Plus Freight.

Ottawa report says: In an order issued by the Board of Commerce this afternoon, approval is given by the Board to the action of sugar refiners in fixing prices at twenty-four cents per pound. It is also provided that the sale of granulated sugar at a price higher than 26 cents per pound plus freight, if any, will be held by the Board to have been made at a price which includes unfair profits.

The order states that where sale in small quantities are demanded and by reason of currency limitations it is impossible to make exact payment for sugar in exact conformity with the provisions of the order, then if the demanded sale is of one pound and the price, in exact conformity with the order is 26 and 1-4 cents or less, the sale, if made, shall be for twenty-six cents, but in such case the dealer may refuse to sell one pound and may require purchase of four pounds, whereupon the price shall be one dollar and five cents for four pounds.

The same rule will prevail in regard to two-pound and three-pound sales.

The order proceeds: "Where the demanded sale is of one pound and the price, in exact conformity with the provisions of this order, is 26 and one-half cents or less, but more than 26 1-2 cents, the dealer may refuse to sell less than two pounds and the sale price for the two pounds shall be fifty-three cents. Where the demanded sale is one pound and the price in exact conformity with the provisions of this order is 26 3-4 cents or less but more than 26 3-4 cents the dealer may refuse to sell less than four pounds, and the sale price for four pounds shall be one dollar and seven cents. And generally, where small quantities are sold the dealer may adapt his price charged to currency conditions by marking down the price and not marking it up, the whole notwithstanding anything in this order contained.

"That while retailers' prices are as aforesaid, sales of granulated sugar by wholesalers thereof at a price so high that a retailer of such sugar will be unable to resell such sugar at twenty-six cents per pound plus freight and at the same time realize thereon, freight paid, a margin, spread or gross profit of two cents per pound, will be held by this board to include an unfair profit.

"Provided, however, with respect to transactions in sugar, had previously to the date of this order, the liability of all persons, firms and corporations for criminal or other consequences with relation to sales or purchase of sugar shall remain and be effective."

LANDING PLACES FOR AIR FLIGHTS

Being Marked Out Across the Dominion.

And Routes Charted, Coast to Coast.

Ottawa report says: Landing places will shortly have all been marked out for cross-country air flights in Canada, after which time it will be an easy matter for an airman to leave, say Halifax, and have his route charted through to the opposite side of the Dominion, with landing places marked on his map at distances of about 50 miles apart, so that he will know where to strike for if a forced landing is imminent. Captain Drummond, of the Air Board staff, has just completed a survey of the country between Winnipeg and Sudbury, locating suitable airfields and landing sites to be charted for cross-country flying. In seeking the locations, Captain Drummond traveled by Canadian National Railways to Hearst and then by Grand Trunk. The landing places are marked along these lines of railway which will be followed by airman for their first attempt.

It is expected that flying will be in progress at all four of the Air Board's stations in Canada by the middle of August. The station at Vancouver is now in course of construction, and machines are on their way. Mechanics are on the ground at Morley, Alta., and machines for use there are going forward at once. Bonville hangar will be opened next week, and Camp Borden is already the scene of some military flying. Classes at the latter camp will begin as soon as the necessary regulations have been approved by the Cabinet Council.

NANSEN IS HOPEFUL.
Copenhagen, July 21.—Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, who was sent to Russia by the League of Nations to negotiate for the repatriation of foreigners in Russia and Russian prisoners abroad, said yesterday on his arrival at Helsinki that he met with great courtesy from the Soviet Government, and that he believes the proposal for exchange of prisoners will materialize shortly.

Emily Thomas, ten years of age, was drowned in the Saskatchewan at Edmonton.

TURKEY WILL SIGN TREATY

Constantinople, July 20.—Turkey has decided to sign the peace treaty, to-day officially.

The Turkish War Office was advised to-day that the vanguard of the Greek army had entered Adrianople.

FLAX PULLER MAKES GOOD

In Test at Jeannette Creek, Near Chatham.

May Mean Great Industry to Canada.

Chatham report: For the first time in the history of Canada a flax-pulling machine was tested out in actual operation this afternoon. The test was pronounced by the experts in attendance as highly satisfactory in every respect, and a great impetus to the flax-growing industry in Canada is predicted as a result of the introduction of this long-sought-for farm implement.

The demonstration was under the supervision of R. J. Hutchison, chief of the Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, who has spent the greater part of the last two and a half years assisting to perfect a machine which would successfully harvest a flax crop, and thus eliminate the immense amount of hand labor hitherto required, and which has been the one obstacle which has prevented flax growing from becoming one of the principal industries of Canada.

Major G. G. Ommanney, chief investigation engineer of the C. P. R., was present to watch the demonstration in the interests of the western flax growers. He stated that the machine on exhibition would undoubtedly be capable of successfully pulling the western flax.

It will mean a saving of a hundred million dollars a year in the West where at present all the farmers get from the flax is the seed, the fibre being destroyed in the cutting and harvesting of the crop, and finally burned. The lack of labor in the West will make the new machine a god-send to the Western farmers. It assists Canada to capture the flax markets of the world. Before the war Russia had between six and eight million acres of flax, supplying the world with an estimated 460,000 tons of flax. This supply has been cut off, creating the opportunity for Canada to make a bid for this trade. It is an export trade, as the great bulk of the flax goes to Ireland for the manufacture of linens.

ULTIMATUM TO RUSS SOVIETS

Must Stop Any Advance Into Poland

Or Trade Negotiations Will End.

London report: The British Government's reply to the note of Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, of Soviet Russia, regarding an armistice with Poland will be despatched to-night. It intimates that if the Russians advance further into Poland all negotiations for trade between Great Britain and Russia will be broken off.

Paris, July 20.—Referring to Premier Lloyd George's ultimatum to Soviet Russia that, if the armistice proposals were not accepted, Great Britain and her allies would defend Poland with all their forces and in every way, Premier Millerand told the Chamber of Deputies to-day: "France will keep her word, as I am sure Great Britain will be faithful to hers."

The Premier reminded the deputies that General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik commander in South Russia, had achieved striking successes against the Bolsheviks, and had installed a Government that recognized the obligations of the preceding Russian Government, and had won the sympathy of the population by agrarian reforms.

CAMELS BATTLE IN CITY STREET

Muskegon, Mich., report: Several thousand women and children were thrown into a panic when two camels fought until one was killed during the Bernese Circus street parade here to-day. Spectators dashed for safety as the animals fought with hoofs and teeth. Grant Robertson, their trainer, was thrown from one of the animals, and is in a hospital with a broken leg and other injuries. Attendants attacked the animals with clubs, but were unable to stop the fight.

LET BERGDOLL ESCAPE.
New York, July 21.—Lieutenant-Col. John E. Hunt, commander of the Castle William Prison at Governor's Island, to-day faced an open trial by court-martial here, charged with responsibility for the escape of Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, millionaire draft evader, of Philadelphia.

AMERICAN FLYERS ENROUTE FROM NEW YORK TO ALASKA.

The eight American airmen who are making the longest flight ever attempted on this continent—from New York to Nome, Alaska. The upper picture shows a line-up of the six machines and the lower shows the crew. A great part of the flight will be over Canadian territory.

Allies Determined to Protect Free Poland

London cable says: Premier Lloyd George, addressing the House of Commons to-day said the Soviet's answer to the Allies regarding peace with Poland was incoherent, ambiguous, and propaganda largely intended for home consumption. So far as he could understand, however, the Soviet Government indicated its willingness to negotiate direct with Poland.

The Premier asserted that an independent Poland was essential to the whole fabric of peace, and that the Allies were resolved that they must arrest the destruction of Poland and the march of Bolshevik armies through Polish territory. If the Bolsheviks over-ran Poland they would be up against the German frontier, and Mr. Lloyd George said this would furnish Germany a great temptation, with her millions of trained men.

It would be a cheap way, according to the Premier, for Germany to get out of her obligations. "I only ask the members to think whether it might not have the effect of depriving the Allies of the fruits of the dearly-bought victory," Mr. Lloyd George added.

ALL POLAND IS SWARMING TO REPULSE THE BOLSHEVIKI

Over Half-Million Answer Call, Amid Scenes of Great Enthusiasm.

Warsaw cable says: (By Associated Press.)—It is estimated that more than a half million responded to the call of the Polish National Council of Defence for troops. The war spirit is dominating Warsaw newspapers. The people generally believe that an armistice would not necessarily mean peace.

Processions of short-trousered students and uniformed recruits to-day marched beside clerks and middle-aged men from the shops and fields. The marchers went through the streets singing patriotic songs, and headed by military bands women tossing flowers profusely. Military mass was celebrated, with thousands unable to enter the church where the ceremony was held. Society women spoke from tables, automobiles and street corners, selling war loan bonds. The newspapers appeared in full pages of pictures urging recruiting.

Kozminski, the Socialist leader, issued a long appeal calling upon the workmen to join the colors and serve at the front. While contending for a just peace, Roboznik declared that Poland's independence was endangered by invaders at the country's gates.

During the demonstrations, airplanes flew over the city, dropping pamphlets which stated that there was no news of acceptance of the armistice, and that Warsaw was continuing preparations for war.

U.S. FALLS BEHIND

Britain Outstrips Her in Ship Building.

London cable: Total tonnage now building in the United Kingdom exceeds the amount under construction in the United States by 1,672,000 tons, according to returns published to-day by Lloyd's Register of Shipping. The aggregate amount now under construction in Great Britain is 3,578,000 tons—the highest amount ever recorded.

Much comment has been aroused in shipping circles by these figures, says the London Times. But it adds, the failure of the United States to maintain its lead in shipbuilding was expected, since the intensive construction there was chiefly a war measure.

SECRECY AT THE NATIONS COURT

In Certain Cases, May Be Observed,

Although Publicity is to Be Rule.

The Hague cable: Secrecy may envelop the proceedings of the High Court of Nations in certain cases, unless the League of Nations Council changes the plans which already have been virtually approved by the Jurists' Commission in drafting the plan for the tribunal. In the main, the sub-committee of the jurists has decided to follow the five-power plan submitted by the five neutral nations for the proceedings of the high court, but has inserted a clause providing that, while generally the arguments before the court shall be public, one of the parties may demand that these be held in secret, and that the court shall have direction in certain cases involving some special diplomatic interests.

All decisions, however, are to be read at public sessions. In the event that a charge is brought by one party before the court, the other interested party and all the members of the League of Nations are to be informed of it. While some of the jurists think this means that publicity inevitably will follow, there is no official provision to give the press or the public access to briefs or complaints.

FRANCE PREPARES TO PAY.
Paris, July 20.—The Ministry of Finance will send a representative to the United States within a few days, with reference to the payment of the French part of the Anglo-French $500,000,000 loan, it was learned to-day.

D. G. Kurta and his 12-year-old son Donald were drowned in the Kootenay River near Nelson.

RAIL AWARD MEANS A BIG RATE BOOST

Chicago, July 20.—Union railroad men are not satisfied with the wage award made to-day by the United States Labor Board. They are debating whether they should accept it "as the best they can get under the circumstances" or reject it and strike to enforce their demands.

As soon as the award was granted heads of the unions went into session to consider it. They adjourned two hours later to meet with the separate craft who are still in session, and will continue their discussions during the night.

Another meeting of the union chiefs will be held to-morrow, when they will go over the opinions of the men as expressed at to-night's sessions. After that meeting an official statement will probably be issued, setting forth the opinion and position of the union.

The unions had completed in advance their plans to do one of three things after they had seen the award: 1. Accept the award. 2. Call a referendum vote of the men. 3. Call a general strike.

The brotherhood heads have been empowered to call the strike if they see fit; but there is a tendency on the part of these men to act cautiously.

Railroad executives have announced that they will accept the award. They will look to the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant an increase in rates sufficient to overcome the swell in the pay-rolls.

PUBLIC TO PAY THE SHOT.
Washington, July 20.—The American public, in increased freight and passenger rates, will be compelled to pay the $600,000,000 increase in pay granted the railway workers by the United States Railway Labor Board in its award handed down in Chicago. This was made clear to-day, when it became known that the Interstate Commerce Commission take into consideration labor costs on the railroads in figuring the necessary increase in rates to give the roads a 5% per cent return on their capital stock, as provided in the Act.

This will necessitate the commission's granting such increases in both freight and passenger rates as will include the $600,000,000 award, which must be added to the operating costs of the railroads.

WILL AFFECT CANADA.
Winnipeg, Man., July 20.—Two hundred thousand railway workers in Canada will benefit to the same extent as United States Railway employees by the award announced in Chicago to-day, it was estimated by one of the highest railway officials.

ELEVEN MURDERS IN NINE DAYS

Sinn Feiners' Heavy Toll of Irish Police.

Cause of Train Riots is Explained.

Belfast cable: Eleven members of the Royal Irish Constabulary were shot dead between July 11 and 19, and with the burning to-day of the Carronagh Court House the third court house in North Donegal has been burned within a week.

The object of the burning of these buildings has been to try to prevent the trial of Joseph O'Doherty, Sinn Fein member of Parliament, who has been charged with soliciting for the Dail Eireann, the Irish Republican Parliament.

No Dublin metropolitan policemen have been killed since April 20, the men of this force now being unarmed while on duty.

THE TUAM TROUBLE.
Dublin cable: The official report of the rioting at Tuam received at Dublin Castle says that after the murder of the two policemen, a party of police and military went to Tuam. The police got out of hand on seeing the bodies of their dead comrades. Shots were fired and houses burned. The police allege that they were fired upon.

The policemen killed were Constables Carey and Burke. They were shot dead when returning from the Galway Assizes by a party of four from forty to fifty armed men who had blocked the road and felled trees and waited in ambush until the car in which Carey and Burke, a sergeant and another constable were riding, came in sight. Observing the obstruction, Carey and Burke jumped off the car and were shot and killed instantly. The two others alighted and fired upon their assailants until their ammunition was expended. They were then overpowered and relieved of their rifles, blindfolded and ordered to return to Tuam.

The police and military became active shortly afterwards.

RESTORE STOLEN MONEY.
Dublin cable: Fearing a raid by Sinn Feiners, military forces to-day secured a large quantity of money belonging to the Unionists and in which quantities of shells and munitions cases were stored.

Other developments of the day included the visit of a clergyman to the offices of the Great Southern Railway for the restoration to the road of £1,700 removed from a pay train in County Limerick April 2. He said the police had rounded up the thieves, and if informed of the exact amount stolen probably would be able to recover the remainder.

CANADA'S FALLEN SOLDIERS NOT FORGOTTEN IN ENGLAND.

A JEWEL IN THE ROUGH

He did not speak of it, not even to his foreman, Denbigh, the man who was accustomed to manage his own affairs and rarely took counsel with any one. He was one of those men who are born with the gift of governing others. He was an organizer, an administrator, by nature. Had he been born to a throne, his kingdom would have been well governed and ruled, and rarely if ever scolded with other nations; and the same spirit that would have ruled a kingdom showed itself here in the ruling and management of his seven hundred feet of ground.

He never bullied, never swore; no one had ever seen him in a passion. He gave his orders in a pleasant, friendly way; his manner was quiet, even to gentleness, but he had a way of getting those orders invariably carried out that was hard to analyze. If he said a thing was to be done, it was done, and no one knew of an instance where it was not. He never countermanded an order, and never receded from a position once taken, even if in his own heart he recognized later it was an unwise one. But the forethought and caution, the deliberation in decision that were his by nature, made the occasions on which he regretted an order very seldom, and if such there were, no matter the order stood. He himself looked upon his word as irrevocable, whether given in promise or command, and instinctively all who came in contact with him looked upon it in the same light. The men, when they made engagea fortnight or more when Talbot found, late one afternoon, some of his tools broken, and this, combined with other work he had to do in town, decided him to go down that afternoon and return the following day before daylight failed. He got ready, locked up his house, and called upon Stephen to say he was going. Stephen looked quite surprised—Talbot went to town so seldom—and then began to chaff him upon his motives and intentions.

"As it happens, I'm going about some mending of spades," Talbot returned.

"Are you sure it's not the breaking of hearts?" Stephen laughed back from the fire by which he was sitting. "Well, you'll see Katrine, anyway. Tell her."

"My dear fellow," interrupted Talbot, impatiently. "I'm not going to see her. I shall have as much as I can do to be back here before midday to-morrow," and he went out before the amazed Stephen could say another word.

"Going down-town and not going to see Katrine! Why, he must be mad!" ejaculated Stephen, mentally. "Wonder what his own girl's like, anyway?"

Then he tossed himself back on the rug and looked at a little postage stamp photograph Katrine had given him of herself, which he had stuck on the fly-leaf of his Greek testament.

The following morning, before it was fully light, found Talbot toiling up to the west gulch on foot. He had had an early start, and he wanted to be back before the men began work, and the air hung round one and against one's cheek like a sodden blanket in the dusky dawn. It took him over three hours to make the distance, and when he reached his cabin he felt chilled through. All his muscles were stiff and dumb from the long climb. He felt a longing to sit down and rest and get a little warmth kindled in his half-frozen limbs. The first thing that encountered him at the main door, which led into the block composed of his own cabin and the tunnel, was a sheet of smooth ice, only an inch deep perhaps, but gazing over the level ground from where he stood to his own door. He saw at once what had happened—the waste water from the workings had been diverted from its proper outlet, and had simply run freely at its own will over the level ground. Talbot's face darkened as his eyes rested on it. It was Marley's business to see that the egress for the water was kept free and unblocked with ice, and only yesterday he had given him orders to attend to it. It was the second or third time he had returned to find the entrance to his own house almost impassable. Crossing over with difficulty the frozen stream, he looked into his cabin. There was about a foot of muddy water and ice covering the floor and floating his slippers and some pairs of socks he had left by the hearth. The fire was out, and the lower part of the stove filled with mud and water. The bed was completely soddened, the blankets and quilt dabbled in the water. He did not go beyond the threshold. After a minute's survey he turned and walked down the tunnel leading to the shaft where he knew the men were working.

"Marley!" he called down the shaft. "What is it?" came up from below in a surly tone. "You have allowed the waste to run into the tunnel again, and my cabin is flooded."

"Well, clean it out then!" "I think that is your business," answered the dry, cutting tones from above. "Come up at once and see to it."

"I'm not going to swab out your blasted, dirty old cabin!" shouted

Marley, hoarsely, from the bottom of the shaft. "Do it yourself!" A strange look came over Talbot's quiet face. It whitened and set in the darkness. He knew his men were gathered about Marley, listening to what passed, and this open defiance of his authority, this public insult before them, angered him excessively. He made his answer very quietly, however, only his voice was peculiarly hard, and the words seemed to drop like ice on the men standing listening below.

"I allow no one to speak to me like that here," he said. "This is the last day that you work on the claim."

"I'll work here as long as it suits me," retorted Marley, with an oath. "You can't turn me out."

"We will see about that," returned Talbot, in the same even, frigid tone; and he turned away from the pit and walked back to his flooded cabin.

He found Denbigh had arrived there. It was close to the luncheon hour by this time, and he was doing what he could to get rid of the water. He looked up, and saw at once from the other's face there had been some unusual incident.

"What's up?" he inquired, standing still, with his mop in his hand.

"That fellow Marley is making all the trouble he can," returned Talbot. "I have just told him he has got to get out, that's all."

Denbigh's face fell.

"I think it's a bad job," he remarked after a moment. "You know what a desperate devil he is. He would kill you, I believe, if he had to give up his work."

"Well, he has been trying to boss this business for some time now," returned Talbot, "and I am tired of it. To-day he finished with a gross insult before a lot of the men, and it's time, I think, to show him and them who is boss here."

"Couldn't you overlook it?" replied Denbigh, tentatively, with a scared look on his face.

"I have no wish to," replied Talbot coldly. "There is bound to be trouble some time. It may just as well come now as later."

THE MAN WHO WINS

Is Always Full of Life and Energy—Failures Are Weak and Bloodless.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy.

The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women, plump and attractive, by improving their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and note their speedy, beneficial effect.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Is time a friend or foe? There are many considerations which have led me to regard it as an arch-enemy. "I have read in the lore of the long ago

That the symbol of our life below Is a boat, with palsied men to row, And a blind man at the rudder."

How such pitiful fatalism as that must take the joy out of life! And yet, men through all the years have thought of Time as the master mystery, the inexplicable riddle, the phlox elusive, puzzling and perennially perplexing. Bergson has devoted a volume of his philosophy to the relation of Time to consciousness. How little most of us understand about it! Past and future can only exist for you in your present consciousness, yet even as you try to form the idea the present becomes the past and the future becomes the present. Men have designated Time as the great divider, separating us from our friends, breaking up one by one all our family circles, no matter how happy. Benjamin DeCasseres sings:

"Time is the scavenger of space Gathering up dead worlds And used-up dreams On his hook of the hours. Ransacking them into his bag Oblivion Which he lugs through the boulevards and by-ways Of the universe."

And yet a deeper, truer vision persuades us that Time is not our enemy, but a real friend. It is the great teacher and healer and revealer—a wonderful gift of God. Itself the biggest of mysteries, it yet solves our riddles, dissolves our doubts, dissipates our troubles.

And how often we come to the hard places, the obstacles that seem insurmountable! But we rise next morning to find the problem is easy. Let patience have her perfect work, and time will do the rest—if we only learn to labor and to wait.

Then time is a wonderful physician. History proves that time will change your attitude, dull the edge of pain and gradually remove the sting of bereavement.

Time cures, too, our unripeness, awkwardness, inexperience. Some may say younder callow youth is hopeless. But wait—after a while he develops. Time does its work, he becomes a leader among his fellows. Often it is "only a question of time." Business men know the value of "extension of credit."

False theories of doctrine and duty must also stand the test of time. The advance of truth may make religion seem a thing outworn and obsolete, but time says: "Be not afraid." Men may hasten to the very foundations of the rock of ages but time goes on, and these foundations remain unshakable and impregnable. Let us trust God to keep watch and take care of His own.

Thank God, too, for the way time removes the dissensions and discords of earth, breaks down the shameful spite fences men have builded, and causes old feuds at length to die. How some hat to think about the passing of time! But how much better to value it now than to cry out like Queen Elizabeth with her dying breath, "Millions of money for one hour of time." Richard Baxter used to say that he "preached as never sure to preach again, and as a dying man to dying men." That is not only the way we ought to live. "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

Men may hasten to the very foundations of the rock of ages but time goes on, and these foundations remain unshakable and impregnable. Let us trust God to keep watch and take care of His own.

Thank God, too, for the way time removes the dissensions and discords of earth, breaks down the shameful spite fences men have builded, and causes old feuds at length to die. How some hat to think about the passing of time! But how much better to value it now than to cry out like Queen Elizabeth with her dying breath, "Millions of money for one hour of time." Richard Baxter used to say that he "preached as never sure to preach again, and as a dying man to dying men." That is not only the way we ought to live. "So teach us to number our days that we may apply our hearts unto wisdom."

Time does its work, he becomes a leader among his fellows. Often it is "only a question of time." Business men know the value of "extension of credit."

False theories of doctrine and duty must also stand the test of time. The advance of truth may make religion seem a thing outworn and obsolete, but time says: "Be not afraid." ## THE MAN WHO WINS

Is Always Full of Life and Energy—Failures Are Weak and Bloodless.

Some men seem to have all the luck. If there are any good things going these men seem to get them. They make other people do their will—they are leaders. If they are business men they are successful; if they are workmen they get the foreman's job. They have the power of influencing people.

The same thing is true of women. Some have the charm that makes men seek them out; others are always neglected. But this is not luck. It is due to a personal gift—vitality. Men and women of this sort are never weak, puny invalids. They may not be big, but they are full of life and energy.

The whole thing is a matter of good blood, good nerves and good health. Everyone would wish to be like this and the qualities that make for vitality and energy are purely a matter of health. By building up the blood and nerves, sleeplessness, want of energy, weakness of the back, stooping shoulders, headaches and the ineffectual sort of presence which really comes from weakness can all be got rid of. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made many weak, tired men vigorous and healthy, and many pale, dejected girls and women, plump and attractive, by improving their nerves. If you are weak, ailing, low-spirited or unhealthy, try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and note their speedy, beneficial effect.

You can get these Pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Is time a friend or foe? There are many considerations which have led me to regard it as an arch-enemy. "I have read in the lore of the long ago

That the symbol of our life below Is a boat, with palsied men to row, And a blind man at the rudder."

How such pitiful fatalism as that must take the joy out of life! And yet, men through all the years have thought of Time as the master mystery, the inexplicable riddle, the phlox elusive, puzzling and perennially perplexing. Bergson has devoted a volume of his philosophy to the relation of Time to consciousness. How little most of us understand about it! Past and future can only exist for you in your present consciousness, yet even as you try to form the idea the present becomes the past and the future becomes the present. Men have designated Time as the great divider, separating us from our friends, breaking up one by one all our family circles, no matter how happy. Benjamin DeCasseres sings:

"Time is the scavenger of space Gathering up dead worlds And used-up dreams On his hook of the hours. Ransacking them into his bag Oblivion Which he lugs through the boulevards and by-ways Of the universe."

And yet a deeper, truer vision persuades us that Time is not our enemy, but a real friend. It is the great teacher and healer and revealer—a wonderful gift of God. Itself the biggest of mysteries, it yet solves our riddles, dissolves our doubts, dissipates our troubles.

And how often we come to the hard places, the obstacles that seem insurmountable! But we rise next morning to find the problem is easy. Let patience have her perfect work, and time will do the rest—if we only learn to labor and to wait.

Then time is a wonderful physician. History proves that time will change your attitude, dull the edge of pain and gradually remove the sting of bereavement.

Time cures, too, our unripeness, awkwardness, inexperience. Some may say younder callow youth is hopeless. But wait—after a while he develops. Time does its work, he becomes a leader among his fellows. Often it is "only a question of time." Business men know the value of "extension of credit."

False theories of doctrine and duty must also stand the test of time. The advance of truth may make religion seem a thing outworn and obsolete, but time says: "Be not afraid." Men may hasten to the very foundations of the rock of ages but time goes on, and these foundations remain unshakable and impregnable. Let us trust God to keep watch and take care of His own.

Masqueraded as Man for Five Months in Travelling Around Country.

Mrs. Ivy Nasur, 21 years old, of Columbus, O., photographed in the Harlem Prison, N.Y. city to-day, where she is being held charged with masquerading as a man. Mrs. Nasur was arrested at 24th St. and 2nd Ave. by two detectives who noticed something peculiar in her appearance. She was accompanied by her five-year-old son. She told the court she left her husband five months ago, taking her son with her. Having difficulty finding work in travelling as a woman, she adopted male attire. She had less difficulty getting along this way, she added. An entry in the diary found on the young woman told she had travelled more than 700 miles with only 10 cents in her pocket. The diary also told of how she had worked as a bell boy in a Buffalo hotel, as a bus boy in Cleveland, and as a waiter with Barnum & Bailey's circus. She told the magistrate she was tired of travelling about and wanted to go home to her parents in Columbus. It is said the young woman's husband lives in Detroit. A woman probation officer is investigating Mrs. Nasur's story and will try to arrange to send her back to Columbus.

GO WEST, YOUNG MAN GO WEST

Take Horace Greely's advice, of "Go West, and grow up with the country."
 Harvest time is at hand. The Canadian Pacific Railway will inaugurate their first Farm Laborer's Excursion, on August 9, followed by a later one on August 16. The abnormal crop conditions of Western Canada this year call for an army of harvesters. Not only the enticing wages that will be offered have to be considered, but the harvesting of the wheat from the view of a patriotic Canadian must be taken into consideration. It is estimated that between 30,000 and 40,000 farm help is necessary to gather the grain. In order to facilitate the harvesting, the Canadian Pacific Railway, has provided special trains to Winnipeg, and beyond, giving excellent connections to harvest fields and are prepared to handle any number desiring to take advantage of the cheap rates in effect.

The rates to Winnipeg will be, $15 with 1/2 cent a mile from Winnipeg to destination the same fare applying on the return to Winnipeg and $20 from Winnipeg to originating point.

In the past, the Canadian Pacific Railway, has provided superior service, and with a view to keeping it's record better than ever. No change of cars between east and west on the C.P.R.

The presence of male birds in the flock during the summer months has a decidedly detrimental effect upon the quality of eggs and poultry producers lose many thousands of dollars annually through the presence of partially incubated and bad eggs in the produce they market. Reports are now being received from all parts of the country of the number of partially incubated eggs appearing in current receipts. Producers do not realize that it is unnecessary for a fertile egg to be placed under a broody hen to cause the germ to grow; a temperature of seventy degrees is sufficient to start incubation. If the heat is constant the development of the chick will continue, but if it ceases or is intermittent, putrefaction at once sets in and the egg becomes bad. Such eggs have no place or value in shipments, and should they get to the consumer the consumptive demand immediately falls off.

The male bird is not essential in egg production, his usefulness is over when the supply of fertile eggs for the season has been secured. The hens will lay just as many eggs when the male bird has been removed and the eggs will be more suitable for consumption, packing or storing. Further there is a distinct financial gain to the producer who markets infertile eggs, because the best trade in many cities offers a premium of from one to five cents a dozen for infertile eggs.

Then there is the question of feed. It costs money to feed poultry, and with feed at its present value, the consumption of feed by males kept for no particular purpose is a serious economic waste. The reason for this is that the best prices for live and dressed fowl prevail in the spring and early summer. During the summer the price declines, and by the early fall when many producers decide to market their male birds, a lower price than prevailed in the spring has to be accepted; the producer thus losing the amount per pound the market has declined plus the value of the feed consumed by the birds during the summer months. This financial loss takes on a more serious aspect when it is coupled with the amount charged back by the wholesaler for the bad and partially incubated eggs that have been marketed.

Farmers and others selling eggs for market should, therefore, need no urging to kill off, dispose of, or at least remove the male birds from the flock after the breeding season.

A new edition of a map of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta giving the number of quarter-sections available for homestead entry in each township with the boundaries and offices of government land agencies has been issued by the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Interior. This new edition clearly indicates all railways, forest reserves parks and Indian reserves, also the land which has been reserved for soldier settlement purpose. The size of the map is 24x36in, and the scale 35 miles to one inch.

The importance of the new edition at the present time is apparent to prospective settlers, officials of banks, railway companies and land agencies in fact everyone interested in the development of land in the Western provinces. A copy of this publication which is known as the "Small Land Map of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta," may be obtained free of charge by applying to the Superintendent of the Natural Resources Intelligence Branch of the Department of the Interior, at Ottawa.

THOUGHTS

Life and Business

There is better market for smiles than frowns.

The highest form of salarismanship is nothing but service.

The only influence worth having is the influence you yourself create.

The wages of idleness is demotion.

There is no higher rank than that of worker. No title can ever make a loafer a noble-man.

There must be output before there can be income.

Defeat is often a spur to victory.

The best reward is sense of worthy achievement.

Good times for all can only be the product of good work by all.—B. C. Forbes, Forbes Magazine.

Christ Church Guild Meeting

The monthly meeting of Christ Church Guild will be held in the Sunday School room on Thursday August 5th at 3 p.m.

The fellow who isn't fired with enthusiasm is apt to be fired.

Excess is an arch enemy of success.

If top-notch effort yields you no happiness, there's something wrong either with you or your efforts. Sit down and do some analyzing.

After all, you've got to give full, fair value. Or you won't last.

Carelessness and failure are twins.

The most valuable "system" is a good nervous system.

Saving is having.

If you have half an hour to spare, don't spend it with someone who hasn't.

Don't simply see how you can "put in the day." See how much you can put into the day.

Never contrive to make it easy for your concern to get along without you.

Make sure the prize you chase is worth the price. If you cultivate your talents you always find an opportunity to use them.

When in a fix, sweating will get you farther than swearing. Let mules do the kicking.

Honking your horn doesn't help so much as steering wisely.

Don't expect poor work now to lead to brilliant work hereafter.

You have no idea how big the other fellow's troubles are.

It's all right to aspire to control others, but have you begun with Number One?

Notice that two-thirds of "Promotion" consists of "Motion."

EGG LAYING CONTESTS

The Dominion Experimental Farm will conduct a second series of egg-laying contests, beginning Nov. 1, 1920, to continue for 23 consecutive weeks. The names and locations of the contests will be as follows:

Canadian contest—Experimental Farm, Ottawa, Ont. Provincial contests. Prince Edward Island Egg-Laying Contest—Experimental Station, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

will accompany each shipment which he paid, and the entry papers returned before the next shipment will be forwarded.

FACE COVERED WITH PIMPLES

Hard and Awfully Sore. Itched. Cuticura Heals.

"I had never had a pimple and then my face became covered. Later on the pimples became hard and awfully sore, and they itched so that I could not rest one moment. I had to scratch so that at last I thought my face was poisoned."

LAYER CAKES AND FILLINGS

It should be remembered that in mixing the batter for a layer cake it should not be made too rich, as most of the fillings impart a decided richness to the finished product, and if it is too rich in itself it is apt to be sickish from over-sweetness.

CREOLE COOKERY

Away down in Louisiana real old Creole cookery may still be found. Cookery that is governed by economy and simplicity—except on special occasions, when the menu becomes elaborate, but prohibition will put an end to even that.

LOST BREAD

"Lost bread" is made by stirring one pint of milk, two well-beaten eggs, adding a little salt and sugar if desired together. Cut six slices of white bread and soak them in a few minutes in the custard, then fry in a generous amount of melted bacon fat.

MOLASSES PIE

Molasses pies are quickly made—and quickly eaten—way down South. Take one pint of molasses, beat into it three eggs and one large spoonful of butter. Four the mixture into a plate lined with rich crust, and bake.

PORK AND APPLE PIE

Fork and apple pies—good thick ones—are made in this way. Line a deep pan with crust, cut some nice fat pork very thin and slice some apples. Place a layer of apples in the plate, then a layer of pork. Sprinkle each layer with salt, pepper and sugar. Have three or four layers and let the last one be apples. Sprinkle sugar and spice over the whole, cover with a top crust and bake an hour.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE

The Great English Preparation. Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood, cures all forms of nervous debility, mental and brain worry, dizziness, loss of energy, palpitation of the heart, falling memory, etc.

Early Irish Culture

The evidences of early and medieval culture in Ireland are a multitude of beautiful things, classics of literature, but likewise wonders of creative art. Thus at Cong Abbey, where sleep many of Ireland's ancient dead, and among them Rory O'Connor, the last king, there is an exquisite cross with gold traceries and delicate beauty of silver and copper and enamel and bronze, a proof of the civilization built up within Ireland long before the Normans crossed to her shores. Such instances might be multiplied.

Silks and Satins

Of summer silks the Oriental silks are chiefest. The pongees from China are sturdy, cool and practical—their uses go from undershirts to outer-shirts, from men's shirts to shirtwaists, and from motor coats to riding breeches.

Wives and Mothers of Canada

Stratford, Ont.—"I am very enthusiastic in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic for expectant mothers. I have had experience both with the 'Prescription' and without it, and am in a position to know that there is a vast difference. I was never nauseated or sick at all with my 'Prescription' babies but I was extremely uncomfortable with the others and my suffering was greater when I had not taken the 'Favorite Prescription'. I shall always take pleasure in recommending it to expectant mothers."

COULD NOT SLEEP

Halifax, N.S.—"I was in a run-down, nervous condition for over two years, had been treated by several doctors and only found temporary relief. I could not sleep at night my heart palpitated so, and I was almost afraid to close my eyes. Being persuaded, I wrote and stated my symptoms to the Medical staff at Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N.Y. I was advised to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with the 'Favorite Prescription' and the 'Pleasant Pellets'. I did so with the very best results. I could sleep and became my natural self again. I certainly recommend Dr. Pierce's medicines to all sufferers, for they have done for me what doctors failed to do and they have saved me doctor bills, too."

A CHINESE IDEA

And It's Not Such a Bad One, At That.

It is, except in China, as far from A to B as it is from B to A. Many travellers have commented upon the apparent lack of the knowledge of distances across the country or between towns exhibited by the Chinese. If at one town they inquired the distance to the next they were perhaps told twenty or thirty miles; but upon arriving to learn that the distance back to the starting point was estimated at twenty-four miles, and that the cost of journeying back was correspondingly greater than the cost of the journey hither. This peculiarity extends also to travel by river, the distance upstream being greater than that downstream. The confusion which has thus arisen has been incomprehensible to foreigners.

Yet the Chinese method of measuring is not altogether illogical. The unit of measurement is not with the Chinese a unit of length, but a unit of energy. He measures a distance, not by the actual space passed over, but by the amount of physical energy required to cover the space.

His wage is based on a unit of energy, which is the amount it would take to carry a given load—one picul (133 pounds) one li one level ground. If the road is down hill the distance is regarded as less than the actual linear distance, because it is supposed to take less energy to travel in that direction, or as the Chinese puts it, "The li are short."

It naturally follows that, travelling in the opposite direction, the road being an ascent, a greater expenditure of energy is necessary. "The li are long," and in order to get a fair compensation for their work the carriers must see that the distance and the corresponding charges are increased. This way of estimating the distance makes the Chinese system of measurement seem simple and even rational.

THE MISERY OF BACKACHE

Removed by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Meaford, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for backache, and I also had a female weakness, and I felt dizzy and nervous, and was without energy. I had to force myself to do my work, and was always tired. Saw a Pinkham advertisement which induced me to take the Vegetable Compound, and my back gradually stopped aching and I felt lighter in spirits. I am recommending the Vegetable Compound with pleasure to all I meet who complain as I did. MILDRED BROOK, Meaford, Ont."

Woman's Precious Gift

The one which she should most zealously guard is her health, but she often neglects to do so in season until some ancient peculiar to her sex has fastened itself upon her. When so affected women may rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a remedy that has been wonderfully successful in restoring health to suffering women.

Tight Lacing

A New York lady while visiting in the west had some experience with a cyclone. While asleep at a friend's, the house was blown down and the lady pinned to the earth by a raft. It was supposed she was crushed, but when they dug her out she opened her eyes and sleepily murmured: "Jane, I feel a little uncomfortable; unfasten my corsets."

DR. WARD The Specialist

79 NIAGARA SQUARE, BUFFALO, NEW YORK. Men, Are You In Doubt

As to your trouble? Have you some skin eruption that is stubborn, has resisted treatment? Is there a nervous condition which does not improve in spite of rest, diet and medicine? Are you going down hill steadily? ARE YOU NERVOUS and despondent, weak and debilitated; tired mornings; no ambition—lifeless; memory gone; easily fatigued; excitable and irritable; lack of energy and confidence? Is there falling power, a drain on the system? Consult the old reliable specialist.

SYMPTOMS OF VARIOUS AILMENTS.

Weak and relaxed state of the body, nervousness, despondency, poor memory, lack of will power, timid, irritable disposition, diminished power of application, energy and concentration, fear of impending disaster or misfortune, drowsiness and tendency to sleep, unrefreshing sleep, dark rings under eyes, loss of weight, insomnia. Dr. Ward gives you the benefit of 29 years' continuous practice in the treatment of all chronic, nervous, blood and skin diseases. The above symptoms, and many others not mentioned, show plainly that something is wrong with your physical condition and that you need expert attention.

Men, why suffer longer? Let me make you a vigorous man. Let me restore your physical condition to full manhood. Don't be a weakling any longer. Make up your mind to come to me and I will give the best treatment known to science—the one successful treatment based on the experience of 29 years in treating men and their ailments.

Dr. Ward's Methods Unrivaled, Thorough and Permanent. Do you realize that you have only one life to live—do you realize that you are wasting most of that life by ill health? A life worth living is a healthy life. Neglect of one's health has put many a man in his grave. I have been telling men these things for many years but still there are thousands of victims who, for various reasons, have not had the good sense to come and get well.

SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson V. Aug. 1, 1920. DAVID BRINGS THE ARK TO JERUSALEM. 2 Sam. 6: 11-19; Psa. 24: 7-10. Commentary—1. The Ark Removed From Kirjath-jearim (1 Sam. 6: 1-11).

6-10. The rejoicing suddenly ceased as the ark reached the threshing-floor of Nachor, a few miles from its destination. Either because the oxen tumbled or the road was rough, the ark seemed to fall and Uzzah reached out his hand and touched it to steady it. This was unlawful and he was stricken dead by the hand of the Lord.

11. The ark profaned. Upon David's accession to the throne of a reunited Israel, a two-fold task awaited him. First to establish the worship of Jehovah in the place chosen above all others to put his name there; and second, to extend the kingdom to the bounds embraced in the promise.

12. The ark brought into Jerusalem (6: 12-19). The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom—Obed-edom had devoutly performed a sacred duty in receiving the ark of the covenant into his home and caring for it.

13. The ark brought into Jerusalem (6: 12-19). The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom—Obed-edom had devoutly performed a sacred duty in receiving the ark of the covenant into his home and caring for it.

14. David danced before the Lord—From the most ancient times, both among the Jews and other nations, dancing formed a part of the ceremonies of religious processions and festivals, but the performers were usually a band of females.

15. The ark brought into Jerusalem (6: 12-19). The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom—Obed-edom had devoutly performed a sacred duty in receiving the ark of the covenant into his home and caring for it.

16. The ark brought into Jerusalem (6: 12-19). The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom—Obed-edom had devoutly performed a sacred duty in receiving the ark of the covenant into his home and caring for it.

17. The ark brought into Jerusalem (6: 12-19). The Lord hath blessed the house of Obed-edom—Obed-edom had devoutly performed a sacred duty in receiving the ark of the covenant into his home and caring for it.

one of David's. It appears to have been written to be sung on this occasion. It is full of spiritual significance and it presents an exalted view of Jehovah. The thought throughout is reverential. God is the proprietor of the earth and all that is in it.

Questions—Where had the ark of the covenant been for many years? What great religious movement is described in this lesson? Describe the removal of the ark to the house of Obed-edom. How long was it there? Describe its removal to Jerusalem. What expressions of joy were made? What parts of Psa. 24 indicate that it was written for this occasion?

PRACTICAL SURVEY.

Topic.—Making religion central. I. The ark profaned. II. The ark a blessing. III. The ark removed.

I. The ark profaned. Upon David's accession to the throne of a reunited Israel, a two-fold task awaited him. First to establish the worship of Jehovah in the place chosen above all others to put his name there; and second, to extend the kingdom to the bounds embraced in the promise.

II. The ark a blessing. The signal expression of Jehovah's jealous care for his honor and its symbol stayed for a time the execution of the cherished purpose. After the breaking forth at Perez-uzzah, the ark was hastily carried aside into the house of Obed-edom, where it rested three months. The name signifies "obedience," and in this lies the secret of blessing. The mere presence of the ark was not of necessity a benediction. It might prove a curse, as in the case of the Philistines, who were glad to rid themselves of its presence and with valuable presents, returned it to its rightful possessors.

III. The ark removed. David prepared for the final transport of the ark with a care suitable to the awful lesson received. There were no oxen or wagons in this second procession. The priests and Levites sanctified themselves for the sacred task. They "bare the ark of God upon their shoulders with the staves thereof" (1 Chron. 15: 15). David's joy on this second occasion expressed itself in ecstatic demonstrations. Without the warmth and fervor of enthusiasm religion is but formality. A passion of love accompanies the spirit of Jesus. There is nothing undignified in the grand Amen of hearts moved with gratitude and delight. There are always critics, who would suppress all religious fervor. Michal was a true daughter of Saul. When the ark was brought into the citadel of Zion, Psalm 24 was sung. All interests, individual, domestic, social, and civic, find their security in true religion. W.H.C.

RED HOT JULY DAYS HARD ON THE BABY

July—The month of oppressive heat; red hot days and sweltering nights; is extremely hard on little ones. Diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and cholera infantum carry off thousands of precious little lives every summer. The mother must be constantly on her guard to prevent these troubles or at they come on suddenly to fight them. No other medicine is of such aid to mothers during the hot summer as is Baby's Own Tablets. They regulate the bowels and stomach, and an occasional dose given to the well child will prevent summer complaint, or if the trouble does come on suddenly will banish it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

EDISON'S MESSAGE.

Sends Telegram for Imperishable Record.

New York, July 7.—Gripping a telegraph key for the first time in 19 years, Thomas A. Edison sent a message to posterity to-day from his home in Orange, N. J. The rattle of the instrument as it clicked off the inventor's message was inscribed on an imperishable phonograph record and placed in the archives of the Historical Association here. The message was sent directly to a committee of the old-time telegraphers, and was: "Amid the activities of a busy life, full of expectations, hopes and fears, my thoughts of early association with my comrades of the dots and dashes have ever been to me a delight and pleasure. I consider it a great pleasure to record in Morse characters on an indestructible disc this tribute to my beginnings in electricity through the telegraph, and with God speed to the 'fraternity throughout the world.'"

Of Our Heroes Who Fell Overseas.

Ottawa, July 7.—Emphatic denial is given to a statement appearing in certain Canadian newspapers to the effect that no more photographs of soldiers' graves would be supplied to relatives owing to a shortage of funds supplied for that purpose by the Red Cross and other patriotic organizations. At the Militia Department it was explained to-day that a Canadian photographic staff is still maintained overseas. Every Canadian grave in France and Belgium is to be photographed and copies of the photograph in each case will be sent automatically to the next of kin through militia headquarters at Ottawa.

To date, it was further stated, approximately four thousand photographs have been taken and it is hoped that shortly the relatives will be supplied with photographs in every case where a grave exists. Owing to the small staff employed and weather conditions on the continent, however, the work must proceed slowly.

WASTE HEAT.

(Bay City Times-Tribune.) One ton of coal ought to heat your house all winter. It should provide twelve and one-half times as much energy as man has as yet been able to get from it. The average efficiency of coal for heating, whether to keep folks warm or to be transmitted into power, is only 8 per cent, combustion engineers say. And this after at least three centuries of more or less constant research and endeavor to make the crystallized heat of the sun work harder.

St. Ambrose the Fearless

St. Ambrose, one of the most able, fearless and transparent men that ever graced episcopal authority, was the John Knox of the early church. This man who dared openly to rebuke his sovereign for his sin and heresies has had few successors in any age. Chrysostom, Luther and Knox come readily to the mind, but Ambrose stands almost unique in this, that he not only reproved, but he punished, and brought the greatest emperor since Constantine "to the stool of penitence." He is paralleled only by Hildebrand and Becket.

Ambrose, a noble youth of the Roman Empire, had been appointed governor of Milan at the age of 34, and that very year, A.D. 374, an event occurred that changed the whole current of his life. Archbishop Auxentius died and the See of Milan became vacant. It was an age of factions, heresies and tumults and the sudden death threw the whole city into the wildest excitement. The emperor wisely declined to interfere with the election. Rival parties could not agree on a candidate. A tumult arose. Ambrose had at that time little interest in the issue except to keep order and prevent bloodshed. It was for this purpose that he went to the cathedral church, where the election was going on. His appearance produced a momentary calm, when a little child cried out, "Let Ambrose, our governor, be our bishop." That voice, regarded as a voice from heaven, was at once caught up as the slogan of the distraught and deadlocked assembly. The people caught the words and shouted with great enthusiasm. "Yes, let Ambrose, our governor, be our bishop."

The event was an index of the times, and shows the enormous stride the church had made as one of the greatest institutions of power when it is recalled that Constantine had seen the blazing cross only sixty years ago. It was thought a greater honor to be a bishop than a governor.

That Ambrose was a layman and not even baptized at that time seemed to be no bar to the office. The history of the times is eloquent of the post to be found in it. Selected, not because of his learning fact that he was the ablest man for or eloquence, but because he was just and virtuous, he nevertheless became eminent as a theologian and was one of the most eloquent defenders of the early faith. Charity allied with poverty was the great test of practical Christianity in those days, and Ambrose met it by scattering his princely fortune among the poor. But it was in the Arian controversy which involved the divinity of Christ and raged for a hundred years, that he achieved undying fame. It is said of him "that he contributed more than any man who preceded him to raise the power of the bishop as one of the controlling agencies of societies for more than a thousand years. The Empress Faustina was an open advocate of this sect, and her son, Valentinian, a sympathizer and patron. Ambrose did not shun the conflict and danger. Into this struggle between principles and principalities he threw himself with reckless abandon; he, a defenceless priest, defied a powerful emperor with an army at his back. He successfully resisted Caesar on his own ground, and resisted him, too, not as a martyr, but as a conqueror. He made the bold claim that in all spiritual matters emperors were subordinate to bishops, not bishops to emperors. And what was the response of the empress, who ruled in the name of her son? The haughty and insolent priest should be exiled, should be imprisoned, should die. But he seeks the shelter of his church and prays to Almighty God. His friends in large numbers resolve to stay with him—die with him, if need be. The soldiers surround the spacious basilica in battle array, but dare not enter. Why? Because the church had become a sacred place and "they were afraid of the wrath of Faustinus or Valentinian." What a striking example of the power of ideas. They lay siege to the place, however, to starve him out or frighten him into surrender. Then it was that the resources of this wonderful man appeared. Day after day, night after night, he stuck to his post. He preached and the people prayed and sang Psalms. History tells us that in that long protracted meeting was instituted the beautiful antiphonal chant of Ambrose which was sung in all the churches and cathedrals of Europe for over a thousand years.

At last there were signs of rebellion among the soldiers. They hated the job to begin with, and were tired and disgusted. Moreover, a new spiritual power was felt even among them. Finally Ambrose conquered, or it would be more proper to say the ideas of Ambrose conquered. But the empress was a woman, and if we are to believe the poet, "Hell hath no fury like a woman scorned." She renewed the attack again and again, and on each succeeding occasion she met a more and more humiliating defeat. At length, fearing absolute mutiny among the soldiers, the court became alarmed; but it was not until the officers of the palace sided with the bishop that the crestfallen and defeated monarch said in words of bitterness: "I perceive that I am only the shadow of an emperor, to whom you dare dictate my religious beliefs."

Three English Institutions.

Wherever the sons of Britannia may roam, three great and unmistakably English institutions set them apart from other races and creeds: Tea in the afternoon, handkerchiefs pushed up the sleeves and "dress" for dinner.

FIRE ON LYNCHERS.

N. C. Machine Gunners Kill One, Wound One.

Greensboro, N.C., July 7.—One person is reported to have been killed and another wounded at Graham, N.C., to-night, from a machine gun company of the North Carolina National Guard on duty at the county jail here, where three negroes are held on charges of having attacked a white woman. Reports received here from Graham to-night said the shots were fired by the machine gun company when a crowd in the darkness approached the jail. Threats of lynching had caused Governor Bickett to order the company to Graham, with instructions "to shoot straight if an attempt on the lives of the prisoners is made."

WEST NEEDS RAIN

Or Prairies Will Lose 15,000,000 Bu. Wheat.

Winnipeg, July 7.—If a heavy rain does not fall in the next ten days, the prairie provinces will lose 15,000,000 bushels of wheat. More than 500,000,000 bushels of wheat have been lost in the three provinces from a lack of moisture since 1916.

This statement was made by Robert Magill, secretary of the Grain Exchange, to-day, at the Kiwanis Club. Mr. Magill urged the Kiwanians to start a movement to investigate the water supply of the wheat country. "Europe in the next 12 months must depend upon the North American continent for its wheat," he said, "and the only country to-day with high-grade, hard, spring wheat is the Dominion." "Where is the price of wheat going? Well, it cannot go down much. The world, you know, is short on wheat and very long on paper money and credit. Canadian farmers this year will make fine profits for all the wheat they harvest."

300,000,000 BUSHELS

Calgary, July 7.—Three hundred million bushels is the estimate at present placed upon the wheat crop of the three Western Provinces by J. M. Cameron, General Superintendent of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Pacific Railway, who returned to Calgary this morning after a close inspection of some portions of the Province. Alberta's quota, he said, would be somewhere about seventy million bushels.

Soldiers Walked On Diamonds.

Two detachments of British troops literally walked on diamonds for a week or so during a trek they made in Southwest Africa during the war days. The march was through a famous gem field, and at every halt the Tommies sought for precious stones, many really valuable ones being found.

A Bank Account For Your Wife

More and more, are the wives of today running their homes on a business basis—systematically and efficiently. Many wives have a monthly allowance for household expenses. This, they deposit in a Savings Account in The Merchants Bank—settle bills by cheque—and thus have an accurate record of bills paid. Such a business-like method also gives a woman the feeling of happy independence in having a bank account of her own.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend.
