Watches!

Our sales this year have been larger than last, although there has been more competition. A good many who have purchased trashy watches are waking up sorry, and the reaction will have the effect of creating a better demand for reliable goods.

We have no fault to find with honest competition so long as right goods are sold but do think the sale of dishonest goods ought to be prohibited.

Items of Interest to Catholic Readers In the Magazines.

Cardinal Wiseman.
(From the Sacred Heart Review)

An ex-Anglican, a woman, contributes to the current issue of the Catholic World a very readable paper entitled "Personal Recollections of Two Cardinals," and dealing with Cardinals Wiseman and Newman. She writes enthusiastically of both those lamented prelates, who, in her view of their characters, had this in common, at least, that they dwelt and lived upon an intellectual platform so high that it lifted them above the trivialities of life. She mentions Wiseman's well known aversion to business matters as evidence that there was in his make up nothing of the Anglo-Saxon to whom business details are always dear; and she says that a sure way to have invited a snubbing from the first archbishop of Westminster was to go to him and announce that you had come to consult him on business. The only way to get him interested in such matters was to begin with something else, and work around, by whatever openings that presented themselves in the course of conversation, to the point it was desired to reach. With regard to spiritual matters, however, Wiseman was always ready and even eager to enter into discussion. And of his general conversation this writer says that, whether it turned upon art, music, science or history, it always possessed a rich charm, for the Cardinal had a seemingly inexhaustible fund of varied information, and his manner was never in the least pedantic. Many touching stories of the Cardinal's simplicity of character, his love of children and his deep spirituality are interwoven in this article; and especially edifying and illustrative of his noble character is the brief passage wherein his closing hours upon earth are described. "He had been singularly patient throughout his illness," says this writer, "accepting as a daily penance his perhaps it was given, who had never rightly understood him before, to recognize on his death-bed the nobility of his character, the blamelessness of his life, and the high degree of union with God to which he had attained. It was remarked at the last that he had made more acts of love and confidence than of contrition. For him school days were over, and he was going home for an eternity of holidays."

Cardinal Newman.

It would not be easy to find two men occupying such prominent places as Wiseman and Newman did who had greater characteristic dissimilarities. The former, was, so to speak, all warmth and effusiveness, the other frigid and reserved. Hence it is not surprising to learn, as this article asserts, that when they first met, Wiseman did not seem quite to know how to meet the Oratorian's distant manner. Yet, dissimilar as the two dignitaries were in many ways, they had their points of resemblance. "In the broad outline of things," says this writer of their Eminences, such as the extension of the Church in England, devotion to the Church in general, and zeal for the glory of God, the aims, hopes and wishes of both cardinals were the same; and they were also alike in the high moral atmosphere in which they breathed. I had never known two characters so entirely free from every vice as these two were. Imperfections there might be in them—a certain high and mighty intolerance of bad taste in Newman, a childish petulance in Wiseman—but nothing more." If Wiseman was less ascetic than Newman, she tells us, in another place, he was not the less as full as the Oratorian recluse of the love of God; and she draws another contrast between the two men when she writes: "To be self-conscious and shy with him (Wiseman) was to lose one's opportunity. In this he differed from Newman, who always seemed to resent being drawn out. Newman was the keener as well as the more fastidious intellect. Of narrower and far less varied tastes, the great Oratorian could talk excellently well when he was interested, but it was less easy to interest him." Two such characters could not, of course, be expected to agree upon all points; and Wiseman and Newman were no exception to the rule. As this article puts it, they were too like and too unlike for perfect understanding to unite them always and on all occasions.

Catholic Chicago.

Another very readable paper in this magazine is the one which Kathryn Prindiville contributes to

The Faith of a Convert.

In the article, "Two Centuries and a Half in Longmeadow," by Julia M. Bliss, which forms one of the chief features of the current New England Magazine, mention is made of the conversion to the Catholic faith of Eunice Williams, a sister of the first Orthodox minister of the town, who had been taken captive by some Canadian Indians when they descended upon western Massachusetts, and was brought by them to Canada on their return home. There Miss Williams embraced the Catholic faith and married. Some years afterwards, on the invitation of her ministerial brother, she revisited Longmeadow, where the Orthodox people made a great deal of her, and tried to induce her to remain and abjure her Catholic faith. The good lady declined to do either of those things, but went back to Canada and her husband. The writer of this article, who seems to think that all the Christianity and civilization of those days was scooped up in the Orthodox meeting-house of Longmeadow, speaking of this decision on the part of the convert in question, says that she "turned away forever from civilization and the true knowledge of the Christian faith!" Still another narrowness of view is not, perhaps, surprising if what this writer says of the Protestant religious history of Longmeadow be true. For she tells us that the Orthodox church was situated in the established village of the village. One minister of it was commonly called "the bishop of Longmeadow," and the town, we are told, was "blessed with singular religious unity" of the Protestant kind, of course. Still, evidently to our writer's regret, "in recent years a chapel was erected for the Roman Catholics." As a matter of fact, there are two Catholic churches now in Longmeadow, one in the eastern and another in the western part of the town.

The Chained Bible.

In the paper which appears in this issue of the Catholic World on "The Stewardship of Rook and God Reading," Rev. M. W. Holland, who describes in it the admirable ways wherein the Church has always labored for the diffusion of good and the suppression of evil literature, makes an allusion to that chained Bible which some of our Protestant friends, with more anti-Catholic zeal than learning or discretion, at times try to turn into an argument against the medieval Church. After alluding to the fact that most of the books in the Middle Ages were produced by the monks, who transcribed copies of them, Father Holland says of an individual monastic transcriber: "I saw the chain of brass with which he bound his treasures to the pillar, lest the world might rob him of all he loved. I heard the universal applause that the world of scholarship involuntarily paid to such superhuman devotion to learning. But the hoarse hiss of a handful of incompetents in history has been directed against the Church and the monk because of the chain, forthwith. Do you condemn the pharmacist who chains his village directory to his counter, and lays it open for your use?" This reverend writer also mentions the invitation the Holy See sent the Catholic John of Gutenberg, after he had made his great invention, to come to Rome and reside there, as one evidence of the Church's friendliness towards the art preservative. He also points out that before the dawn of the century which witnessed the Reformation, one hundred and ninety presses, put in operation by Catholic influences, were sending out their products, as additional evidence of the same fact; and the first book to issue from each press, adds he, was the Book of books—The Word of God.

The Philippines Again.

You can hardly take up any American magazine these days without finding in its pages something about the Philippines. The current Scribner's has an illustrated paper, "Manila and the Philippines," from the pen of Isaac M. Elliott, who, like the generality of writers upon these Pacific islands, unwarrantably blames the monks who are laboring there, for many of the governmental abuses which are alleged to exist in the archipelago. Despite the fact, however, that, without apparent cause, he holds those ecclesiastics accountable for things with which, in all probability, they have had little, or nothing, to do, this writer acknowledges that the influence of the Church in the Philippines has been beneficial in many ways to the people. "It has been," he writes of the Church, "the civilizing factor, and has built schools and churches all over the islands where the poor as well as the rich are always welcome." This admission devoted all his private means to alleviating poverty and wretchedness in Cadix, and at his death he had scarcely a single coin. All had been given away.

Signor Filippo Vannutelli, a near relative of the two Cardinals, Vincenzo and Serafino Vannutelli, died recently at Genoa, near Rome, leaving all his fortune, amounting to half a million of lire (about £20,000), to an asylum for the blind.

The Rome correspondent of the Liverpool Catholic Times writes: "I am in a position to assure you that in spite of the announcements which have appeared in several usually well-informed papers, the Archbishop of St. Paul will not leave the United States on his intended trip to Rome before the termination of the present war."

The Archbishop (Anglian) of York delivered a curious and characteristic address to his clergy on Tuesday, going through the process of "sitting on the fence." He does not like the name Protestants, but he praises the Protestants of the "Reformation," though stating to renounce Protestantism, he claims to be Catholic; he repudiates services of a distinctly Roman character, and yet he declares they are services outside the prayer book which may be lawful, but not expedient; he draws a distinction between private prayers for the dead and public prayers; whilst stating that it is harmless in itself, for "it has absolutely no meaning in the sense in which it is employed," he deprecates the use of the word Mass, and asks Anglicans to give it up, "even at the cost of much regret and self-denial."

Mrs. Saint Ignace, Ursuline nun, of Burlington-on-Mer, has just celebrated her one hundred birthday. The venerable religious is still hearty and in full possession of all her faculties.

Rev. Sister M. Boniface, superior of the Sisters of Notre Dame, Amsterdam, Netherland, will celebrate the silver jubilee of her religious profession in the coming month.

Two English Benedictines have just received the degree of bachelor of arts from Cambridge University, being the first Catholic ecclesiastics to obtain a degree in course from either of the two great English universities since the Reformation. They are much older than the ordinary undergraduates, and took the degree under the new arrangements made for advanced students.

Cardinal Prisco, the new Archbishop of Naples, for whom the Holy Father has quite an especial esteem and regard, as he proved by personally officiating at the ceremony of his consecration, has received a splendid gift from the Sovereign Pontiff, consisting of a magnificent peacock cross, inlaid with precious stones.

A Nervous Toronto Woman Walked the Floor During the Night for Hours at a Time—She Makes a Statement.

TORONTO, ONT.—"I was troubled with nervousness. It was impossible for me to keep still and if the spells came over me during the night I had to get up and walk the floor for hours at a time. My blood was very poor and I was subject to bilious attacks. My feet would swell and I was not able to do my own housework. I treated with two of the best physicians here but only received relief for a time. I became discouraged. One day a friend called and advised me to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. I laughed at the advice but I was prevailed upon and procured one bottle. Before I used it all I began to feel better. I took several bottles and also several boxes of Hood's Pills. Now I can eat and drink heartily and sleep soundly. Hood's Sarsaparilla has entirely cured me and also strengthened me so that I now do all my own work. I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla to all sufferers from nervousness, weakness or general debility." Mrs. H. F. PARK, Dr. Cass Street.

Progress of the War.
SINCE our last issue little or no fighting seems to have taken place between the forces of Spain and the United States. There are some reports of skirmishes in the vicinity where American troops were landed and of the capture of one small place or two; but these reports are not confirmed. Although but little actual fighting seems to have been going on the preparation for the advancement of troops and everything incident to hostilities appear to be advancing. In the meantime peace negotiations are on foot. On Tuesday of last week, the 26th ult., the French ambassador at Washington waited on the President of the United States and on behalf of Spain made a prolix speech. The proposition of the French ambassador was taken into consideration by the President and by him submitted to his Cabinet. The matter engaged the attention of the President and Cabinet until Saturday, when a reply embracing terms of peace was given to the Ambassador of France, for submission to the Spanish Government at Madrid. Following are said to be the terms submitted by the United States: Cuba to be free, Porto Rico to be ceded to the United States, one of the Ladronez (probably Guam) to be ceded to the United States as a coaling station, all Spanish forces to be withdrawn from India and the appointment of a commission to settle the details of the government of the Philippines. Advice from Madrid, dated the 2nd inst., say that when the council met for the purpose of discussing the terms, a despatch was sent to Washington for further explanation of some difficult points. A Madrid despatch of the same date says that some modifications of the original terms have been obtained from Washington. Meagre as the information is on this point it is sufficient to show that peace negotiations are going forward. From the outline above given, it will be seen that one of the conditions is that Cuba is to be free. That would seem to mean that the country is to be handed over to the Cubans to establish a government of their own. That is, indeed, the ostensible object of the war on the part of the United States. But it is now evident to the United States authorities themselves, that the Cubans are not fit to be entrusted with the government of a civilized country. The latest advices from Santiago emphasize this fact in a striking manner. The Cubans, with their troops, are clamoring for entrance into the city, while on the other hand, the Spanish merchants and foreign residents dread such a possibility. We feel sure that the handing over of Cuba to the insurgents will be the most disagreeable to Spain; but poor Spain is conquered and has no friends, therefore she must submit to it. "It may be that "Free Cuba" may simply be a blind on the part of the United States. It will probably retain a protectorate over the island and after a time, on the pretext that the government is not properly conducted, rise in its might and kill off the Cubans and gobble up the whole country. Whatever shall be the final terms of peace, the United States is likely to have things about as she wants; for the great powers of Europe seem to be looking coolly on, and letting might have full sway.

On Friday afternoon last, a meeting of the Liberal members of the Provincial Legislature took place in the Assembly building, for the purpose of receiving the resignation of Mr. Warburton as leader of the party, and choosing some one else to succeed to the Leadership. Hon. Mr. Warburton president. It is said the meeting was quite an animated one. Two names only, we are informed, were presented to the meeting; those of Hons. Donald Farquharson, and Hector C. McDonald, Attorney-General. After the merits of both candidates for the Leadership had been dwelt upon a vote was taken. All voted except Mr. Wise, and Mr. Farquharson was declared elected by a majority of one. It is said that Mr. Wise, in the event of voting, would have cast his ballot for Mr. McDonald. This would have made a tie and thrown the responsibility of the casting vote upon Mr. Warburton. This it appears was not desired. The choice of Mr. Farquharson was afterwards made unanimous. Mr. Warburton tendered his resignation of the Premiership, to His Honor, the Lieut. Governor on Monday and recommended Mr. Farquharson as his successor. Mr. Farquharson has been in the Legislature for 25 years and was for a time, a member of the Executive in the Davies Government. He was also a member of the Peters Government. He is an ardent partisan, and is credited with economical views. His certainly succeeded to a position of things that will afford him ample scope for the exercise of this quality. His Liberal predecessors in the Premiership have sunk the Province so deep into debt that it will tax the ingenuity of Mr. Farquharson or any one else to improve matters. We have not heard whether or not Mr. Farquharson has formed a Government, or what the personnel of the Government is.

On Thursday evening last a special meeting of the Board of Trade was held for the purpose of hearing an address from Sir Louis Davies on public questions of importance to the Province. Sir Louis, of course, took credit to himself and his political friends for having voted $180,000 for a new winter steamer. He incidentally remarked that a contract had been given to Mr. John White, of O'Leary, to supply a boat for the use of the Department of Marine and Fisheries in inland waters. Perhaps Mr. White, who has hitherto been an ardent partisan, had of late been disposed to kick, and it was all at once discovered that a boat was wanted for the marine department. On the matter of cold storage, Sir Louis confessed that, regarding the $5,000 vote, the tenders received were not satisfactory, but that the arrangement was made. He thought, would some nearer the desired end. Regarding dissatisfaction in the matter of telegraphic service, he said the whole matter had been forwarded to the headquarters of the company in London. Finally he referred to the Southern Railway, and the grant that had been made for the survey. The question of a bridge across the Hillsborough was put forward as the greatest difficulty. Whether such would be simply a railway bridge or a combined railway and traffic bridge was the crucial point. The Dominion Government, he said, would not contribute towards the building of a traffic bridge, whatever it might be regarding a railway bridge. If a combined bridge were to be built, the Provincial Government, he said, should bear the cost of the traffic portion of it. Now it is well known that the Provincial Government cannot, or should not in the present deplorable condition of its finances, contribute towards the cost of any great public work. It seems evident from all this that it will be some time before this railway business materializes.

Diamond Jubilee of St. Augustine's Church, Rustico.
St. Augustine's Parish, Rustico, was on the 29th July the scene of a grand celebration. The occasion was the Diamond Jubilee of the erection of the present church. An immense congregation gathered together to take part in the celebration. There was a very large representation from Hope River, as this parish till recently formed part of Rustico parish. Many were present from Charlottetown and other adjoining parishes. The church, under the direction of the good pastor, was decorated with great taste for the occasion. The immense collection of beautiful and rare natural flowers that adorned the altar and staves attracted much admiration. No one seeing the church in its festive garb, would imagine that it had been built 60 years ago. Strangers could not help to admire the well preserved appearance of the church, as well as the neatness of all the church buildings and surroundings. At 9.30, the altar boys and clergy, followed by His Lordship, Bishop McDonald and his Grace, Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, marched forth in procession from the sanctuary to the joyful strains of the Jubilee March, played by the parish band. The ceremonies of the Pontifical Mass were carried out with more than usual completeness and precision. The sermon of the Mass was his Grace, the Archbishop of Halifax, who is a native of the parish; and he was assisted by the following priests, nearly all of whom are natives of the parish, viz: Arch-Priest, Rev. F. X. Gallant; Deacon of Honor, Rev. D. B. Bell; Sub-Deacon of Honor, Rev. J. McNally; Deacon of Office, Rev. P. C. Oastler; Sub-Deacon of Office, Rev. P. D. McDonald; Master of Ceremonies, Rev. F. A. McDonald; Assistant-Master of Ceremonies, Rev. J. J. McDonald. His Lordship, Bishop McDonald, sat on his throne assisted by Dr. Murphy, V. G., of Halifax, and Mgr. O'Hill. Besides the pastor, Rev. F. A. McDonald, there were also present in the sanctuary, the Revs. Jas. E. McDonald and

D. J. Gregory McDonald. The past pastor of the parish still living was expected to be present, but was unavoidably absent. A sermon was given in French by Rev. F. X. Gallant after the Gospel, and one in English by Rev. P. D. McDonald after the Communion. These sermons were masterpieces of composition and eloquence and will be long remembered by those who had the good fortune to hear them. The choir directed by Mr. Jos. Donette sang the second tone Mass in parts in a most creditable manner. Dr. Gallant sang Millard's Ave Maria in his usual masterly manner. Mr. Blanchard, organist of the Cathedral, and a native of Rustico parish, presided at the organ. The organ was accompanied by several of the instruments of the band. After Mass, the Bishop and clergy were entertained at dinner by the pastor, Father Ronald. The people enjoyed themselves during the afternoon at a picnic on the church grounds. There were several amusements on such occasions and all returned to their homes delighted with the successful celebration of the Diamond Jubilee of their church.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The Irish Local Bill passed its third reading in the House of Lords with some unimportant amendments. The Montreal Factory of the Merchants' Linotype Co., was badly damaged by fire on Friday last. The loss is estimated at $100,000. The Berlin Reichsanzeiger announces that the Emperor has conferred the Order of the Black Eagle, set with brilliants, upon the Emperor of China. A gentleman from Truro is about to make an effort to raise $25,000, where-with to re-open the Pictou' boot and shoe factory.—Pictou Advocate. It has been decided to issue long service medals to commissioned officers of the Canadian Militia who have served for a period of 25 years. The Liberal papers ridicule the idea of a general election this year. But all the same a good many Liberal parliamentarians are getting into places where a general election cannot hurt them. A letter to the Bangor News from Berlin Falls, N. H., tells of the tragic death in that place of Daniel Jackson and John Neely, lumbermen. The men drank chloroform, which they thought to be alcohol, and were found dead in their beds. The crop reports from all parts were so unanimous in ascribing bountiful returns, from Manitoba and the North-west this season. The showers recently made great improvement. Harvesting will begin the second week in August. For one man to have erected during his lifetime the large number of 130 sawmills and 65 grist mills is certainly a record in this line, but this is said to be the number of such undertakings completed by William Chisholm, who recently died at Maryville, Antigonish Co.—New Glasgow Bulletin. A young woman of 19, who was at home when her father, James McDonald, died at his home quite suddenly on Saturday evening. He had been in the hay field during the day, and after taking his tea, laid down on the sofa for a nap and almost instantly expired. He was a man of robust health, and was highly esteemed in the community.—Yarmouth Herald. Revised returns of the recent general elections in Germany show that the Socialists polled 3,150,000 votes as compared with 1,760,000 in 1893. This was considerably more than any other party. The nearest approach to it was the vote of the Centre, or Clerical Party, which amounted to 1,833,000 as compared with 1,468,000 at the preceding election. A little boy met death at Ritey's Cove on Monday 29th, under very sad circumstances. Bertie, the 10-year-old son of Stephen Ritey, was playing with a bicycle and twirling one of the wheels, when his hand got caught between the wheel and sprocket and was badly crushed. A doctor who was summoned to attend the injured hand administered chloroform to the boy, who died while under the anesthetic. The little fellow was of very delicate constitution.—Hx Herald. Dabulo Casino, a full blooded Sioux Indian, stopped at Kilmory, Ind., while on his way home to North Dakota, from a visit east. While at the place named he became so freely and audaciously began to cheer for Spain and the Spaniards. A few patriotic palafaces quitted him in vigorous fashion, and some time must elapse before the doctor will allow the warrior to resume his homeward journey. It may be interesting to many persons in Charlottetown and elsewhere that the Canadian mail to Dawson City is to have closer connections. The Canadian mails are to be taken from the Canadian customs posts on the Dryas trail and thence to Dawson City every two weeks. On alternate weeks the American mail to Circle City from Juneau will pass through Dawson City. This Quebec papers are pointing out that when Mr. Tarte was in Opposition he delivered a speech in Parliament demanding that judges should be nominated by the bar instead of being named by the Government of the day and appointed for political services. Now, as the Montreal Gazette remarks, we have the Chouquette case. It is difficult to believe that Mr. Tarte would have proposed a reform. But he did. And like the rest of them, he does not intend to carry his reform into effect. The experience of the Le Rose children, who were lost for four days in the Blue Mountains back of Kingston, Ont., is a story of unusual sagacity as well as devotion on the part of a child. The 8-year-old girl kept a 6 month old baby alive all that time, by keeping a rag wet with water and burying it in its mouth. The joy of the parents in the recovery of their children was most demonstrative. They should be especially proud of such a little girl and so sturdy an infant. Murderer Martin Thorne is ready to give up his life to the law and manifest little interest in the effort being made by his lawyer, William A. Howe, to save his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life. Mr. Howe went to Albany to appear before the governor and ask clemency for him. The condemned murderer, however, does not expect that the governor will interfere with the death sentence. Thorne is resigned and says he would rather die in the electric chair than have to endure life imprisonment. The Mail and Empire in an editorial on the appointment of the Earl of Minto as governor general of Canada in succession to the Earl of Aberdeen, recalls the fact that this nobleman has already enjoyed a Canadian experience, he having been for two or three years military secretary to an earlier governor general, Lord Lansdowne, and says that the impression Lord Minto left in Canada was distinctly favorable to him. He was a pleasant and genial gentleman, as well as a good soldier, and his return as governor general to occupy Rideau Hall will be quite welcome. In Ballville, Ont., one day last week, Mrs. Joseph Henderson, of Bates Street, set her house on fire by accidentally upsetting a coal oil lamp. Finding escape by the stairs impossible, she took two children to the kitchen and dropped to the ground herself, and caught the children in her arms when they followed her. A neighbor then dashed upstairs through the flames, and saved the third child, which Mrs. Henderson in her panic had abandoned. Finally the house was extinguished without doing much damage, and Mrs. Henderson is left to wonder how she got in such a fright. Mr. Alex. McDonald, Big Intervale, Cape North, was suddenly and sadly bereft of the whole family about a month ago. On the 14th day of May, Beulah Agnes, a two-year-old daughter, died, after an illness of only one day. On the 18th, another child, John, died after an illness of five days the result of a cold with other complications. A few days later the only child left, and the mother was suffering from fever which overcame medical skill, and ended in death on June 6th. The baby died two days later. Mrs. McDonald was a young woman and highly esteemed.

An accident resulting in the death of one man and injury to another occurred at Dunfermline mines, Selkirk River, Halifax county, a few days ago. Four men were at work in a vertical shaft sinking with air drills. One of these drilled into the bottom of a previously blasted hole in which there evidently remained some unexploded dynamite. The blow of the drill set this in tearing away fragments of the rock surrounding the hole. Flying pieces struck two men at the drill, fatally injuring a helper and wounding a driller in the head. The driller was Sylvester Carroll, a native of Newfoundland. The helper, Edward Spencer, was a native of Buxton, Derbyshire, England. Some sensational cricket was witnessed in the Essex Gloucestershire match. The first innings stood 128 for Essex and 291 for their opponents; the former made 250 in their second; Gloucestershire had but 19 runs to win when the fifth wicket fell, Champlin, however, was caught without further scoring. Jersey and Weymouth scored the score to 145, or but three runs to win; the latter, however, was caught in the slips, Brown was bowled and Wright given out. L. W. Roberts joined Jersey in the 10th inning, but his 25 runs and 2 to wickets, Roberts made the 10, and then took an over from Mead. The exciting point came as Jessop, who had 18 (not out) faced Cartwright, who had already taken 7 wickets for 57 runs. The batsman never failed, and drove Cartwright to the boundary, winning the game for Gloucestershire by one wicket. Intense excitement prevailed.

Mail and Empire—Dewey's claim to undying fame is now placed on a solid foundation. An American investigator has found that the admiral is the thirty-third in direct descent from the Earl of Winchester, who was the most distinguished of the twenty-five barons who forced King John to sign Magna Charta on the plain of Runnymede, June 15th, 1215; and the thirty-third in direct descent from Alfred the Great. If Uncle Sam goes in for imperialism and establishes a throne, he will have a properly qualified king ready to fill it. Great is Dewey. A terrific thunder storm passed over the town of Antigonish on Thursday last, the lightning causing the death of John H. Orr, and injuring five other men. Lightning struck the Cape Ledge school building. Several carpenters who were engaged in building a new school building in close proximity to the Cape schoolhouse had secured shelter in the basement of the old building during the storm and received a terrific shock. One of the men, John H. Orr, of Weymouth, who was standing in the door, received the most direct effect of the lightning and died within six minutes after he was struck. The fellow workmen were badly shocked, but will recover. Mr. Orr was 59 years of age.—New Glasgow Bulletin. The breaking of two world's records and one season's record—marked the opening of the Grand Circuit race at the Glenville track, Cleveland, on Monday, 26th. The first event, the 2 1/2 mile, was the fastest race this season, and in the second race, the 2 1/2 mile, was the world's record for pacing mares was clipped from 2:05.3-4 to 2:05.1-4 in the first. In the next mile St. Albans, another member of the California outfit, reduced the mark for 4 year olds in competition to 2:04.3-4 going under the record two seconds. Separately the heats in the 2.18 trot were not marvellous, but collectively they form the fastest trotting race of the year. Two hundred cases of yellow fever are reported in the United States military camp at Jurgas, and the disease is spreading. Dr. Seann, the medical expert, says there will be 2,000 if the army is there two weeks longer. The camp at Jurgas seems to have suffered from want of proper care in the hurry of landing, as at other nearby points where troops are gathered, the disease has not appeared. It is doubtful in connection with any military expedition, such provision for medical care of the troops was made as has been the case with the United States army in Cuba. That disease has gotten a hold in the camps shows how difficult it is to keep it out rather than that the direction was wrong. Mr. Blair's Prediction Herald quotes Mr. Godfrey, late of the Bank of N. A., at that place, as to the probable gold output at the Yukon. Mr. Godfrey's information is to the effect that this year the output will likely not exceed $10,000,000 and may fall below that figure. This he attributes to the fact that many good mines have not been worked, the miners early in the winter having been driven out to Circle City by the fear of famine. He adds: "When the mines are thoroughly worked the output will be enormous." Already the government has collected $400,000 in royalties. It is very obvious that Mr. Blair was right when he predicted schemes of making McKenna's and Mann's a gift of between three and three quarters and five millions of acres of the gold lands of the Yukon, should become less popular than what it is. The situation that it is doubtful whether or not there is any large quantity of gold in the Yukon. Carleton is thoroughly exploited, and Mr. Blair, who has the Yukon railway scheme of his own, wants the country to know it.—Halifax Mail.

The wire had been knocked down by a runaway team the same afternoon. It was decided after a short discussion to adjourn until the next regular meeting, Monday 8th. People are preparing to attend from all directions. With a fine day, an immense concourse of people to witness the sports, the 17th is destined to be a memorable day. No one who can possibly attend should miss the gathering. A SHOCKING affair, the result of a row, took place in this city on Monday evening last. A man named William Proud, belonging to Loyalty Road, in company with his brother, had been in town during the day, and about seven o'clock in the evening was apparently on his way home, his brother and another man being with him in the wagon. As they were going along Spring Park road, near Boyle's gallery, they seem to have stopped and come in contact with five or six other men. After a little while they began fighting and the result was that William Proud was killed in the fracas. About midnight the police arrested four men in connection with the affair. They were Hughes, Carroll, Thorne and Trainor. A preliminary examination was begun before the Magistrate yesterday. On Monday day forenoon, and adjourned till today. Hughes was discharged, at the close of yesterday's evidence. In the meantime an inquest was held before Hon. J. C. Gentry, when the following verdict was returned by the jury: According to the sworn testimony of Drs. Johnson and McNeill, appointed to hold a post mortem examination on deceased, they are of opinion that the cause of death was

Liver Ills Hood's Pills

There has been some mystery in Halifax connected with a hurry order for a number of expensive coffins ordered to be shipped on the steamer Ellsworth which sailed on the 28th. This was cleared up later, when Manager C. W. McKee of the Western Union explained the object of this order and of the Ellsworth's expedition. The steamer has gone in search of the bodies of the wife and daughter of Hon. John Dillon of New York, with their nurse and maid, and the wife and three daughters of W. C. Perry of Kansas City, drowned from La Bourgeois. The Campaigns General Trans-Atlantic were asked to make a search for the bodies, but declined, whereupon these two gentlemen undertook the work of seeking the bodies of these members of their own families. If other bodies are found and examined they will be buried at sea and not left floating on the coast. The steamer will steam direct for the point where the bodies were last reported to have been seen, and will then cruise for a month, if necessary, in the prosecution of her mission, touching at Sable Island to see if bodies have drifted ashore there. George Clay of New York is manager of the expedition. He was familiar with the appearance of some of the victims of which the steamer is in search, and he is furnished with all available means of identification.

TOBACCO HEART.

HAVE you been smoking a good deal lately and feel an occasional twinge of pain round your heart? Are you short of breath, nervous, unbalanced, sensitive to colds and coughs, going through your arm and fingers? Better take a box of Hood's Pills and get cured before things become too serious. Here's what Mr. John James, of Caledonia, Ont., has to say about them: "I have had serious heart trouble for four years, caused by excessive use of tobacco. At times my heart would beat very rapidly and then seem to stop beating only to commence again with unusual rapidity. "This unhealthy action of my heart caused shortness of breath, weakness and debility. I tried many medicines and spent a great deal of money but could not get any help. Last November, however, I read of a man, afflicted like myself, being cured by Hood's Pills and Nerve Pills. I went to Roper's drug store and bought a box. When I had finished taking it I was so much better I bought another box and this completed the cure. My heart has not bothered me since, and I strongly recommend all sufferers from heart and nerve trouble, caused by excessive use of tobacco, to give Hood's Pills and Nerve Pills a fair and faithful trial." Price 50c a box or 6 boxes for $1.25, all druggists. T. Millburn & Co., Toronto, Ont.

Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper arrived at Montreal on Sunday from England, and appeared to be in the best of health and spirits. He stated that the Conservative leaders had arranged a vigorous plan of campaign in Quebec and the Maritime Provinces, but this had been abandoned on account of the Quebec conference. The Conservative party had no desire to do anything which would in the least degree impair the success of that conference by creating in the minds of K. A. United States representatives a feeling that the Canadian Commissioners did not have full confidence. He realized that no such opportunity of securing an adjustment of the affairs in dispute between the United States and Canada had ever before been offered. It was brought about by the position of the United States in the present war, and the sympathy evidenced by the English and Canadian people had done much to create a more friendly feeling, which would be manifested in a reception of the results coming from the Conference, if there were any results. The political outlook was promising, especially in the Northwest. He believed that in the next general election the Liberals would not have more than two supporters returned west of Winnipeg. Sir Charles will remain in Montreal for a few days and then pay a visit to Cape Breton, not having seen his constituents since the election.

The Catholic Church in the Philippines.

"The tyranny of the Church in the Philippines, and the large share of responsibility for the present troubles and disasters of those islands, which falls to the friars and monks of the various Orders, are pretty well taken as commonplaces in both the English and the American press."

"I wish to add some remarks about the Philippines, as here the Catholic missionaries are unusually active not only in the spread of Christianity and its civilization, but also in the geographical and ethnographical exploration of the archipelago."

separate villages in the region of the Rio Davao. In 1895 the status of the Jesuit missions was as follows: 213,065 souls, 17,638 baptisms of children of Christian parents, 2,973 marriages, 7,415 funerals, 8,238 baptisms of converted heathens.

"In the article Die Katholischen Missionen, Oscar Hecht gives the number of Christians in the Philippines as 3,500,000. This is incorrect. The flocks of the different orders were as follows: Calced Augustinians (1892) 2,082,131; Discalced Augustinians 1,175,156; Franciscans 1,010,753; Dominicans 699,851; Jesuits (1895) 213,065; Secular Clergy (1892) 967,294.

"It is difficult to estimate the number of heathens and Mohammedans; they cannot be under 500,000, nor can they exceed a million."

Mission Work in British Columbia. One must not imagine that missionary work among the Indians in this country is a very agreeable one, says Father Le Jeune.

"We possess fuller accounts of the Dominicans, who are occupied in converting to Christianity the Altimis, Apayao Aripas, Busyas, Bamaungis, Bungians, Calanus, Calingans, Calisangans, Dadyags, Gaddans, Ibablonos, Hilos, Longotes, Ipiyas, Iainays, Mayoyagos, Guingangs, and other Infugao races."

"But, however successful the evangelizing and scientific activity of the missionaries of the above Orders, they are far surpassed by what the Jesuits have done in the island of Mindanao in half a generation for the spread of Christianity and civilization, as well as for the geographical exploration of the second largest island on the Archipelago."

"How changed since then. The network of rivers in the great island are now very well known; whilst the legendary lake in the centre of the island, whence the Rio Grande was said to flow, and from which the whole island was supposed to derive its name, has now happily disappeared from our maps."

"The Jesuits can also point to very great results in their evangelizing labours. Most of the heathen tribes are now entirely or in part converted to Christianity, or at least settled around their missions. Even a tribe so obstinately refractory to civilization, owing to their unsettled and wandering life, as the Mamanas (who belong to the Negritos), can already point to Christian villages."

"Since the missionary car has been introduced only three or four times a year, he must endeavor to give them during the time of his visit as much religious instruction as possible, and this, of course, makes the time of the visit rather laborious for the missionary."

"In bicycling building to go below, which means a cheap quality—a risky purchase. We find this proved by the number of CHEAP WHEELS coming in for repairs after a few days run. Buy a reliable wheel—We have several agencies—Look them over."

Weak Kidneys. Always Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills. Mr. I. Patterson, Croft St., Amherst, N.S., makes the following statement: "Having been troubled for some time with distressing backaches and weak kidneys, I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They acted promptly and effectively in removing the trouble with which I was afflicted, and restored me to my old-time form. It is a pleasure for me to recommend them to others."

MISCELLANEOUS. The latest advertising novelty reads thus: I want C.U.B.A. Customer of mine.

THE WHEELMAN'S FRIEND. No bicyclist should be without a bottle of Hagyard's Yellow Oil. It takes out all stiffness and soreness of the joints and muscles. Relieves pain and takes down swelling in an instant. 25c.

Regular action of the bowels is necessary to health. Laxa Liver Pills are the best occasional cathartic for family or general use. Price 25c. Any druggist.

Hagyard's Yellow Oil cures all pain in man or beast; for sprains, cuts, bruises, callous lumps, swellings, inflammation, rheumatism and neuralgia it is a specific.

SCROFULA. "My little boy, aged 7 years and 15 months, was a victim of Scrofula on the face, which the doctors said was incurable. To tell the truth he was so bad that I could not bear to look at him.
