ARE YOU DEAF? ANY HEAD NOISES?

ALL CASES OF DEAFNESS OR HARD HEARING ARE NOW CURABLE by our new invention. Only those born deaf are incurable. HEAD NOISES CEASE IMMEDIATELY.

F. A. WERMAN, OF BALTIMORE, SAYS:

"I have been entirely cured of deafness, thanks to your treatment. I will now give you a full history of my case, to be used at your discretion. About five years ago my right ear began to ring, and this kept on getting worse, until I lost my hearing in this ear entirely. I underwent a treatment for catarrh, for three months, without any success, consulted a number of physicians, among others, the most eminent ear specialist of this city, who told me that only an operation could help me, and even that only temporarily, that the head noises would then cease, but the hearing in the affected ear would be lost forever. I then saw your advertisement accidentally in a New York paper, and ordered your treatment. After five days, and at a cost of a few dollars, my hearing in the right ear was restored, and after a few days more, my hearing in the left ear was also restored. I thank you heartily and beg to remain, Very truly yours, F. A. WERMAN, 720 S. Broadway, Baltimore, Md."

Our treatment does not interfere with your usual occupation. Examination and advice free. YOU CAN CURE YOURSELF AT HOME at a nominal cost. INTERNATIONAL AURAL CLINIC, 596 LA SALLE AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.

Living Life Over Again.

During a terrific storm a few years ago a ship was driven far out of her course, and, helpless and disabled, was carried into a strange bay. The water supply gave out, and the crew suffered agony of thirst, yet dared not drink of the salt water in which their vessel floated. In their last extremity they lowered a bucket over the ship's side, and in desperation quaffed the beverage they thought was sea-water. But to their joy and amazement the water was fresh, cool and life-giving. They were in a fresh-water arm of the sea, and they did not know it. They had simply to reach down and accept the new life and strength for which they prayed.

CORNELIUS McINNIS, St. Peter's Bay, Dec. 23, 1901.—31

The dedication of the little Catholic Church at Gost, Herry county, Ky., a few weeks ago, witnessed a singular spectacle. After the church was finished and paid for it was seen that there was not enough money remaining to buy pews in time for the occasion. To the surprise of many, the trustees of the adjoining Baptist and Methodist churches offered to lend the seats out of those houses for the day. The offer was accepted, and the Methodist and Baptist brethren helped bring them over and place them.

One of the sincerest tributes that has been paid the Sisters of Charity is the fact that the Turkish Government has placed the city hospital in Jerusalem in their charge. Mussulmans and Christians are cared for with devotion. Close by is the mammoth hospital of St. Louis, in charge of the Sisters of St. Joseph. Praises was bestowed upon this institution in the recent report of the Turkish inspector.

Man, to day, heart-weary with the sorrow, sin and failure of his past life, feels that he could live a better life if he could only have another chance, if he could only live life over again, if he could only start afresh with his present knowledge and experience. He looks back with regretful memory to the golden days of youth and sadly mourns his wasted chances. He then turns hopefully to the thought of a life to come. But, he pauses, he stands between the two ends of life, yet thirsting for the chance to live a new life, according to his bettered condition for living it. In his blindness and unknowing, he does not realize, like the storm-driven sailor, that the new life is all around him; he has but to reach out and take it. Every day is a new life, every sunrise but a new birth for himself and the world, every morning the beginning of a new existence for him a new, great chance to pat to new and higher uses the results of his past living.

The man who looks back upon his past life and says, "I have nothing to regret," has lived in vain. The life without regret is the life without gain. Regret is but the light of fuller wisdom, from our past, illuminating our future. It means that we are wiser to-day than we were yesterday. This new wisdom means new responsibility, new privileges; it is a new chance for a better life. But if regret remains merely "regret," it is useless.

At the meeting of the St. Francis Xavier Alumni Sodality, New York that Rev. Father Halpin had withdrawn from the Society of Jesus and had become attached to the household of the Bishop of Savannah. Father Halpin is 54 years old and had been a member of the Jesuit Order for thirty-eight years. Withdrawals from the society are infrequent, and to secure his release Father Halpin had to secure the approval of the Pope as well as his ecclesiastical superiors in the order. He was one of the most distinguished preachers and scholars in the order in this country. He entered Fordham College as a scholastic many years ago, and eventually became vice president of the college. Later he became vice president of the College of St. Francis Xavier.

Out at Tampa, Kansas a few days ago a new Catholic church was dedicated by Bishop Hennessey, assisted by Father Podgorski and Father O'Farrell. A peculiar fact is that there is not a Catholic resident in the town of Tampa, yet the Catholic church is the only religious structure of any kind. Kansas is noted for strange things. A number of the faithful, however, live out of the town.

The Vatican Library, to which students only can be admitted after proving the serious nature of their investigations, and subject to the prefect's approval, presents a most characteristic and highly interesting aspect during the winter months. It is not unusual to see men of worldwide fame, such as Mommsen, Gregorovius, professors of our great universities, and dusky prelates from the East, pursuing their important studies, poring eagerly over venerable manuscripts, side by side with the hired amanuensis, patiently and wearily copying old codices and papyri for his daily bread.

Expecting that woman's suffrage will be passed in Australia, some Australian Catholics are hoping that Catholic women, including the members of Sisterhoods, will use their right to vote. In New Zealand, where they have woman's suffrage, at least one order of Sisters was permitted by the ordinary of the diocese to cast their vote, a booth having been put at the disposal of the convent, which registered forty votes—forty votes for the worthy candidate.

The Society of the White Fathers has recently published a report of the progress of its work. The total of its African missions, amounts to 65, served by 261 missionaries, 140 Sisters and about 1,000 catechists. There are 60,000 neophytes and 150,000 catechumens, 141 schools and 9,500 scholars.

It must become the revelation of new possibilities, and the inspiration and source of strength to realize them. Even omnipotence could not change the past, but each man, to a degree far beyond his knowing, holds his future in his own hand.

If man were sincere in his longing to live life over he would get more help from his failures. He realizes that he wasted golden hours of opportunity, let him not waste other hours in useless regret, but seek to forget his folly and to keep before him only the lessons of it. His past extravagance of time should lead him to minimize his loss by marvelous economy of present moments. If his whole life is darkened by the memory of a cruel wrong he has done another, if direct amends is impossible to the injured one, passed from life, let him make the world the legate to receive his expressions of restitution. Let his regret and sorrow be manifest in words of kindness and sympathy, and acts of sweetness and love given to all with whom he comes in contact. If he regrets a war he has made against one individual, let him place the entire world on his pension list. If a man make a certain mistake once, the only way he can properly express his recognition of it is not to make a similar mistake later. Josh Billings once said "A man who is bitten twice by the same dog is better adapted to that business than any other."

There are many people in this world who want to live life over because they take such pride in their past. They resemble the beggars in the street who tell you they "have seen better days." It is not what man was that shows character; it is what he progressively is. Trying to obtain a present record on a dead past is like some present-day mediocrity that tries to live on its ancestry. We look for the fruit in the branches of the family tree, not in the roots. Showing how a family degenerated from a noble ancestor of generations ago to its present representative is not a boast; it is an unnecessary confession. Let man think less of his own ancestors and more of those he is preparing for his posterity; less of his past virtue, and more of his future.

When man pleads for a chance to live life over, there is always an implied plea of inexperience, of a lack of knowledge. This is unworthy even of a coward. We know the laws of health, yet we ignore them or defy them every day. We know what is the proper food for us, individually, to eat, yet we gratify our appetites and trust to our cleverness to square the account with Nature somehow. We know that success is a matter of simple, clearly defined laws, of the development of mental people want large, guaranteed slices of life; they would not be satisfied with manna fresh every day, as was given to the children of Israel; they want grain elevators filled with daily bread.

Life is worth living if it is lived in a way that is worth living. Man does not own his life,—to do with as he will. He has merely a life-interest in it. He must finally surrender it,—with an accounting. At this New Year tide it is common to make new resolutions, but in the true life of the individual each day is the beginning of a New Year if he will only make it so. A mere date on the calendar of eternity is no more a divider of time than a partitioner of grain of sand divides the desert.

Let us not make heroic resolutions so far beyond our strength that the resolution becomes a dead memory within a week; but let us promise ourselves that each day will be the new beginning of a newer, better and truer life for ourselves, for those around us, and for the world.

During the last year the New York Society of St. Vincent de Paul made 47,582 visits to the poor. The society paid out in charitable work $58,013, besides distributing large quantities of fuel, shoes clothing and other articles. In addition the Particular Council, or central body of the society, expended $12,498.82. The society provides a two weeks' vacation for many hundreds of children in the summer and has decided to erect a building of its own for this fresh air work. Through the kindness of the Rev. Dr. Dougherty and the managers of the Mission at Mount Loretto, a site has been given on the shores of Prince's Bay, Staten Island, with ample playgrounds and bathing beach.

Mr. Mary Judge, of S. I. Lake, Utah, who had already given $10,000 to St. Mary's Cathedral, Salt Lake City, has also donated two magnificent memorial windows, to cost from $10,000 to $20,000. On Thanksgiving eve she sent to Bishop Scallan a letter in which she expressed a desire to establish a home for aged and infirm miners and a hospital where the unfortunate may receive proper medical and surgical treatment, to be conducted under the Bishop's management and control. So informed him that he might proceed with the necessary arrangements to that end and draw on her for all expenditures in connection therewith. Mr. Judge died in 1832. The institution will make no distinction in its work between Catholics and non-Catholics.

Among the statements credited to Cardinal Sialli concerning reform in Church music, we are told that he gave as one reason for the removal of the present florid music, that many pastors are convinced that the churches would be deserted if these were liturgical chant were substituted. We can hardly believe that Cardinal Sialli said this. If any such reason were allowed to operate against a needed reform, would we not be open to the criticism so often preferred against some Protestant Churches, that we seek to retain church attendance not by the authority of precept, not by the grandeur and sublimity of our service of adoration but by cheap and dimmy competition with the theatre and the concert hall, and that our church music needs reform can be attested by any attentive person. Take the "Kyrie," and note the fearful and wonderful music to which it is set and sung every Sunday. Realize the simplicity of the words; and square it if you can with the fantastic mass of flourishes, quivers and quavers, shrieks, groans and howls which our choirs enshroud those words in.

Pass. This is one of the results of the tunnelling of the Jurat-Simpton Railway, which is to be completed in two years time. The fine carriage road from Glys to Domo d'Ossolone, which was constructed by Napoleon, is very costly to maintain owing to constant avalanches; and when the post goes by railway it will cease to be used by the Dili-gences Suisses, which now in summer cross daily twice each way. By the rules of the hospitality, given to every traveller, and no request for payment is made. But Napoleon never foresaw that more tourists would abuse the privilege, and, although one's stay is limited to three nights, yet many appear to take advantage of the hospitality to secure an inexpensive way—and in the mountains. The Monks of St. Bernard, who took over the house in 1825, recognize that this is hardly a fulfilment of the original intention.

Your Nose

That is what you should breathe through—not your mouth.

But there may be times when your catarrh is so bad you can't breathe through it. Breathing through the mouth is always bad for the lungs, and it is especially so when their delicate tissues have been weakened by the scrofulous condition of the blood on which catarrh depends.

Alfred S. Yung, Haverhill, Pa., suffered from catarrh for years. His head felt bad, there was a ringing in his ears, and he could not breathe through one of his nostrils nor clear his head.

After trying several catarrh specifics from which he derived no benefit, he was completely cured, according to his own statement, by West Queen's Contested.

At a large and representative meeting of electors, from town and country, held in B. I. S. Hall in this city yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon, A. A. McLean Esq., K. C., was unanimously nominated to contest the Riding of West Queen's in opposition to Donald Farquharson, Esq., at the election for the House of Commons to be held on Wednesday January 15th. Mr. Farquharson and his organized were very anxious that there should be no contest; but that the ex-Premier should be allowed election without opposition. No doubt Mr. Farquharson in his old age and laden with political sins, would very much like to be spared the necessity of having recourse once more to the "human device," the political trickery and corruption by means of which he has managed to keep himself in public life for so many years. The political methods of winning elections employed by Mr. Farquharson and his party have become so notorious and so glaring that it is not to be wondered at that even he should be anxious to avoid the exposure. But the honest independent electors of West Queen's have a duty to perform, now that the constituency is thrown open. Mr. Farquharson comes forward as the supporter of the Laurier Government, that has proved false to all its promises and broken all its pledges. Laurier and his colleagues, when in opposition denounced the expenditures of the Conservative government; but when they obtained power they increased the amount of their expenditures to ten millions a year and have already added seven millions to the debt of the Dominion. In every other particular the Laurier Government have proved equally recreant to their pre-election pledges, and have prostituted every principle of political honor for selfish gain. This is the party and this is the government for which Mr. Farquharson stands sponsor, and on their record he asks the electors of West Queen's to vote for him. Mr. Farquharson comes before the electors, not only as the apologist of the Laurier Government; but as the exponent of the methods and the principles of the Provincial Government from which he has just retired. The Dominion and Provincial Liberal Governments are so bound up with one another and work together in such fashion in winning one another's elections, that they together must be held responsible for their joint political rascality. In this sense, Mr. Farquharson stands before the public loaded down with the political sins of the Local Government. The enormous debt of the Province, the huge deficits, the extraordinary taxation, including the unjust and obnoxious road act of last session, the duplicity in the matter of prohibition, and all the other oppressive and unjust legislation of the past ten years initiated by him, ardently supported by him, or fathered by him when he became Premier must be laid at his door. The Pineau episode, the Wise scandal, his unwarranted assumption of authority in releasing prisoners and the recent outrageous performance in connection with smallpox patients, stand out as memorials of his achievements in statecraft. This is the equipment with which Mr. Farquharson presents himself before the free and independent electors of West Queen's. Do they think it is such an entitlement to their hearty and unanimous support?

Mr. McLean takes the field as the opponent of Mr. Farquharson; as the opponent of the methods employed by Mr. Farquharson and his friends to win political support and debauch the electorate. His candidature is a protest against the political corruption practised by the Liberals on all occasions, as shown from time to time in our courts of justice. Mr. McLean is a man of first rate ability, a lawyer of eminent standing and a citizen of high character. He is a man of the people, he has sprung from the people and deserves the united and enthusiastic support of the people. He stands for clean government and clean politics and is the ardent opponent of the corrupt methods by which our Liberal friends are peculiarly ear marked. In the Legislature, Mr. McLean ably and strenuously fought for the people's rights, and vehemently opposed, at every stage, the unjust and oppressive enactments of the Farquharson Government. He is now before the electors of West Queen's as the champion of the people's rights and the opponent of political corruption and rascality. The electors of this riding have now an opportunity to place themselves on record against political rottenness and corruption, as exemplified by Mr. Farquharson and his friends, or in favor of clean and reputable politics and government by voting for Mr. McLean. Which will they do?

To our Subscribers.

It is not an agreeable duty to refer so frequently to the matter of paying subscriptions, and quite possibly those of our subscribers who always pay would just as soon not hear us growling so much. But the continued delinquency on the part of a very considerable number of Herald subscribers compels us to discuss the matter once more on the eve of the new year. What we now say in this connection is intended for the slow and uncertain payer; consequently our faithful and reliable subscribers who may always be counted upon to do their duty will take no part of this complaint to themselves. In the first place we beg to thank most sincerely all those who have paid for the year just ended and especially those who paid in advance for the year 1902. Our only regret is that the good example of these has not become contagious and pervaded the ranks of all our subscribers. In that case all amounts due would have paid by this time and we would be relieved of the disagreeable duty of referring to the matter at all. A number of those in arrears would pay, no doubt, if personally waited upon; but this is a matter that involves much time, expense and inconvenience and they should hardly expect it of us, when they are furnished with every convenience and facility to remit by mail. It is almost impossible to reach subscribers in all parts of the Province within a brief space of time, especially under such uncertain conditions of traveling as exist at present; consequently we trust all such subscribers will have the kindness to remit their respective amounts. Another class of subscribers embraces those who even when waited on do not pay; but who make fair promises, which they seldom or never fulfill. It is much to be regretted that there are such people among our subscribers; but, truth to tell, their number is not very large, and we are not without hope that even they will overcome their peculiar weakness and remit what they owe without further delay. There is a remnant made up of those who will not pay if they can possibly avoid it. We are keeping our eye on those and if they don't make some effort to reduce their indebtedness we will give them a surprise some of these days. Lastly, we wish to say a word to those subscribers abroad, who reside in different parts of Canada and the United States. Some of these have got into the way of lagging behind, a few of them for several years, and we hope they will take this warning to themselves and afford us the pleasure of hearing from them. The distances by which they are separated from us render a personal call on them impossible; but we sincerely trust none of them will take advantage of this circumstance to delay forwarding their subscriptions. Now we hope that all subscribers who have not yet paid will take these remarks seriously to heart, and if they think they can in any sense be applicable to themselves we expect them to act accordingly. We are in earnest in this matter and we expect you to be in earnest also. SOME APOLOGISTS of Mr. Farquharson would like to make the people believe that he has been sacrificing himself in the Premiership in as much as he was giving his time without salary. But referring to V. p. 253 of the Auditor-General's report, this item will be found. "Tug T. A. Stewart, 19 days in July, 22 in August, 25 in September, 25 in October, 26 in November, 7 in December, 3 in April, 26.3 in May, 26 in all 179.8 days at $25, $4,495.00." This tug is owned by Mr. Farquharson, and the amount above specified was obtained by him in the year 1900, for her services in connection with the dredge Prince Edward. An approximate amount has doubtless been received by him for similar services since 1896. From this it will be easily seen how Mr. Farquharson has been sacrificing himself. In addition to these large annual receipts, Mr. Farquharson and his sons have been feeding sumptuously at the Provincial Government crib, for many years. This is surely sacrificing with a vengeance. At a meeting of the Grit members of the Legislature, held on Thursday evening last, Hon. Arthur Peters was chosen Premier, instead Mr. Donald Farquharson who was expected to contest West mons. Mr. Peters is the fourth Grit Premier to take the helm since the formation of the Liberal Government in 1891. Mr. Frederick Peters was the first and after running the Province well into debt and otherwise legislating against the best interests of the people, he took his departure for British Columbia. He was succeeded by Mr. Warburton, who had himself snugly ensconced in a judgeship the very first opportunity. Then came Mr. Farquharson who has now retired to run for the Commons. Mr. Arthur Peters, no doubt, will follow the example of his predecessors and use the Leadership as a stepping stone for the purpose of scaling into some higher position. In all these changes the peoples interests are never for a moment considered. Each successive Leader uses his position as a warming place till he can take his flight to more congenial atmosphere, wholly regardless of how the people's business is looked after. How long more is this to continue; how many more Grit Premiers are going to walk over the people to places of security before the Province becomes bankrupt? The happiness of the Christmas season in Gloucester, Mass. was sadly marred by the news that two of the Gloucester fishing vessels and their crews will never return to port. The crew list of the schooner Iolanthe was given out last week, which meant the loss of that vessel and her crew of 14 men. Now it is the schooner Eliza H. Farquhar and crew of 7. This vessel left the Bay of Islands, Nfld., on Sunday, November 24, for Gloucester with a full cargo of salt herring. This makes over four weeks in passage, the distance being usually covered in one week, and it is the belief that she foundered in the gulf of St. Lawrence the day after her departure. All of the vessels that sailed before and after arrived home or have been reported and those vessels which sailed at the same time state that the voyage across the Gulf was terribly rough. All of the vessels leaving before or after have arrived or been reported and the vessel that sailed at the same time state that the voyage across the Gulf was terribly rough. John D. McKinnon, the captain was aged 49 years, a native of Grand River, P. E. I. who leaves a widow and five young children in Gloucester. CORPORAL James Morrison, late of the Royal School of Artillery, Quebec and a native of Georgetown, has been appointed Quartermaster Sergeant in the third South African Contingent. He also served with the first contingent in Africa, but having contracted enteric fever he was invalided home in January last.

for several years, and we hope they will take this warning to themselves and afford us the pleasure of hearing from them. The distances by which they are separated from us render a personal call on them impossible; but we sincerely trust none of them will take advantage of this circumstance to delay forwarding their subscriptions. Now we hope that all subscribers who have not yet paid will take these remarks seriously to heart, and if they think they can in any sense be applicable to themselves we expect them to act accordingly. We are in earnest in this matter and we expect you to be in earnest also.

A 'appy New Year to all. It's about time for the Examiner reporter to give that confectionery store a little "write-up."

The trial of John Donald for shooting Wm. Power was held in the Police Court on Thursday morning and the evidence of the witnesses taken showed that Power had entered Connolly's saloon and attacked a man named Jas. McCarron without any apparent reason and had threatened to knock the head of Donald and followed up the threat by hurling a spittoon at him. Donald then fired at him from the counter. The case was adjourned for a week. Donald was granted bail for $500. The bullet has not yet been extracted from Power's thigh.

FROM present indications, says the Pioneer, it looks as if the Northumberland were going to make a new record this year. There is yet no ice in the harbor to interrupt navigation and the steamer has continued to make regular trips to and from Point de Chese. We understand that it has been decided not to wait for the C. P. R. trains hereafter and at 5 o'clock in the afternoon. Although by this system the transcontinental mail is received a day later than formerly, the arrangement is more satisfactory in every way as the trains are allowed to depart on schedule time, thus avoiding unpleasant delays and disappointments to travellers.

A BRIDEWATER, N. S., despatch of the 29th ult., says: A very sad drowning accident shrouded the entire community here yesterday. Four boys who were skating on the LaHave, above Cook's mill, fell through the weak ice and were drowned. The boys names are Ferry and Merrill Rhodenhauser, aged 14 and 12 years respectively; Curry Hubley, aged 12, whose birthday was Christmas day, and George Bachman, aged 10 years. The boys were last seen at 11:30 a. m., and as they did not appear to dinner a search was made and their caps were found floating on the water. The bodies were grappled for and recovered at 2:38 p. m. Coroner March at once held an inquest, the result of which was a verdict of accidental drowning.

ANOTHER dreadful shooting affair occurred at Annandale, Lower Grand River on Christmas night, resulting in the death of Dennis Brown. It is alleged that the deceased, in company with four others, Thomas Blackett, Launching, Wm. J. Blackett, Wm. Tasill, Little Pond, and Thomas Brown, Little River, drove from Souris to Annandale and attempted to force an entrance into a boarding house kept by a Mrs. McNulty and succeeded by breaking in the door. The inmates tried everything possible to keep them out, and Capt. John Warren, a retired seaman, hearing the uproar, went downstairs with a revolver and entered the dining room where the intruders had taken possession, and asked for order. He was seized by some of the crowd and in the tangle, the revolver, a self-loading weapon was discharged the bullet striking Dennis Brown, who was standing some little distance away and apparently taking no part in the struggle. He was shot in the abdomen and died in great agony shortly afterwards. After they secured the revolver from Warren he says that he was badly kicked and beaten about the face and body but managed to escape upstairs. He surrendered himself the following morning to a magistrate and at his own request was driven to Georgetown and placed in the jail there, where he now awaits trial. The victim of the unfortunate affair was 20 years of age and leaves a wife and family.

In the election in York County, N. B. on Saturday last, Gibson, Grit, was elected by a majority of about 800 over Rev. Dr. McLeod Conservative. Mr. McLeod's loss seems to have been principally in consequence of a large number of his former supporters not voting, as his vote was about 900 less than in November 1900, while Mr. Gibson's vote was about 260 less than at the general election in November of last year. The total vote polled was less than that at the general election by over 1,100. Mr. McLeod's vote in 1900 was over one hundred in excess of Gibson's vote on Saturday.

A SAD case of suicide took place in this city on Monday morning. Mr. Neil Matheson for ten years a clerk in J. A. Gourli's drugstore Summerside, came to the city to try for a position on the Medical Corps which leaves shortly for South Africa. On Sunday afternoon he made application to Mr. C. D. Rankin druggist, asking him to use his influence with Major Johnson in regard to getting him a position on the Corps and handed Mr. Rankin a letter from Mr. Gourli, recommending him as a suitable candidate. Mr. Rankin promised to do all he could. On Monday morning he went into Mr. Rankin's store and asked a clerk for a needle and some carbolic acid to put on a sore finger. The clerk took him into the dispensing room and got him the acid and knowing him to be a druggist, had no thought of anything happening, and went out to wait on a customer. When he came in, Matheson said "Don't get excited, but call a doctor, I have taken two teaspoonfuls of carbolic acid." The clerk replied, "Surely you have not?" to which Matheson affirmed that he had and asked for olive oil and wine of ipecac which were at once administered. Two minutes afterwards Matheson reeled and fell into his arms and shortly afterwards became unconscious.

Dr. Kelly, H. D. Johnson and Alley arrived ten minutes afterwards and tried to restore consciousness, but without avail. The ounce of carbolic acid had paralyzed the heart, causing death in five minutes. Coroner Conroy, was immediately summoned and after ascertaining the facts, decided that an inquest was unnecessary and placed the body in charge of Messrs. D. McMillan and Harry Matheson cousins of the deceased, who accompanied the remains to Summerside. The deceased was the son of Mr. James Matheson, of Summerside, and was about 30 years of age. Why he committed the rash deed is unknown.

CENTURIES AGO.

BY FATHER RYAN.

[REPRINTED.]

'Twas night, a calm and silent night. Seven hundred years and fifty-three had Rome been growing up to might...

'Twas night, a calm and silent night. The clash of arms was heard no more. Mild peace held undisputed sway.

'Twas night, a calm and silent night. The conquered world in bondage lay beneath the rod of Roman might.

And tributes rich and tributes rare in ceaseless streams were flowing there.

And royal vassals came to pay their homage low to Caesar's sway. He sat upon his lofty throne.

That ruled the seas and ruled the land, And nations, with one loud acclaim, proclaimed his high immortal name.

'Twas night, a calm and silent night. The princely halls of Rome were gay. With glare of gold and streaming light.

With festive sound and grand display. And all was revelry and mirth for Romans high, of honored birth.

And there were slaves from every land, From Asia's soil, from Africa's sand, who, torn from country, hearth and home, stood there to serve the lords of Rome, Centuries ago.

'Twas night, a calm and silent night, Triumphant Rome, in outline grand, stood towering on her dizzy height.

Whose domes rose proudly to the sky. And every arch that spanned the way, mute emblem of victorious sway.

Had raised to grace a hero's name, seemed destined by great Rome to be— Her pledge of immortality.

'Twas night, that selfsame silent night, Far, far away from Caesar's home, was born the rival of his might.

His throne was not of gems and gold. Within a crib of straw he lies, who rules the Earth and lords the Skies.

He had no crown to show his claim, To noble birth, to royal name; But there he lay, to all unknown.

An infant babe—the Promised One—The Prince of Peace—God's only son— Centuries ago.

'Tis night, a calm and silent night. And where is Caesar? where his crown? And where is Rome? And where her might?

Her glory, riches, and renown? And where are now her marble halls, Her arches proud, her temple walls?

Where are her slaves, her conquests wide? Where are her monuments of pride? "Immortal" was her boasted name.

Where now is that "immortal" Rome, The Queen of Earth, great Caesar's home? The Rome of Caesar stands no more.

Her star has set. Her power was o'er Centuries ago.

'Tis night, a calm and silent night, And Caesar's rival reigns alone, With greater glory, wider might, Than decked his own proud pagan throne.

He has a crown and sceptre now; Before him nations humbly bow. He reigns. His name is Prince of Peace.

His sway of love shall never cease, Till all the nations, as a gem, Form one, peerless diadem, To crown the Babe of Bethlehem, Upon his throne of love.

PART II.

Quiet days and weeks monotonously passed. Mile, Gorse was still waiting for her money. Blandine was still faithful to her studies.

Then the drawing materials, the easel Blandine used, the picture she was at work upon, were removed and locked away.

And nations, with one loud acclaim, proclaimed his high immortal name.

'Twas night, a calm and silent night. The princely halls of Rome were gay.

And where is honest Nan Clough and what has she been doing all these years? Last we see. It is a month and more since the death of the princess.

"Well, all is settled, Daria. I must say good-bye, and God be with you," Nan is saying in rather doleful accents.

"Must it be so? Well, remember your promise to write, and always let me know where you are, and what you are doing, Ania Ivanovna."

"That will not be easy, Daria; for I must seek my brother, first of all, and I must work my way to do that, perhaps, in far distant places.

"What a wonderful thing that you should have seen that funeral! It sounds like a 'kaka-kaka' (romance or fairy tale.)

"Yes, it was strange indeed; but part of God's plan, may be, to draw me to a better way. Till now I have thought only of this world, of the house we lost, and the money we hoped to get.

"I will do what I can, Daria; but first my mother's charge. Rand is as good as dead."

"I pushed through them all, and saw the prelate or bishop, holding the old man's hand, and walking and bending over him.

"An' hoo are ye the day, Mrs. Crawford?" she inquired in breathless anxiety.

"Oh, I'm quite well, no, thank ye, Mrs. Burns."

"Quite well!" exclaimed the breathless visitor, "after me comin' a' this road to see ye?"

In the Clutch Of Consumption.

Don't neglect that persistent hacking cough till you find yourself in the clutch of Consumption. It's an easy matter to stop it now by taking

DR. WOOD'S NORWAY PINE SYRUP. This pleasant remedy heals and soothes the lungs and bronchial tubes, and cures lingering and chronic coughs when other remedies fail.

Mr. W. P. Cann, writing from Morpeth, Ont., says: "I honestly believe I would have died of consumption only for Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I have used it for years and consider it has no equal for severe colds and throat troubles."

MISCELLANEOUS. "You mustn't associate with chickens," said Mother Duck to her ducklings.

"Why not, mamma?" "Because they are not in the same line of business."

The essential lung-healing principle of the pine tree has finally been successfully separated and refined in to a perfect cough medicine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

"How do you know he loves you?" said Miss Cayenne. "He writes me such beautiful letters."

"Humph! That isn't love, That's literature."

British Troop Ointment is unsurpassed by any liniment of the market to-day. It is composed of healing, soothing and cleansing vegetable oils and extracts.

The Lawyer.—I really hope I don't annoy you with all these questions? His Client.—Not at all. I'm used to it. I have a very old son.

If a child eats ravenously, grinds the teeth at night and picks its nose, you may almost be certain it has worms and should administer without delay Dr. Low's Pleasant Worm Syrup.

Old Boarder.—What's for breakfast? Hope not ham and eggs again. Waitress.—No, sir; not ham and eggs this morning.

Old Boarder.—Thank the stars! What is it? Waitress.—Omelette.

Charles.—Did the tailor take your measure? Algy.—I think he did. He said I'd have to pay in advance.

Painters' Kidneys. The worst thing a painter has to contend with is the turpentine.

DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS will fix them up—take out the inflammation and congestion, give ease to the aching back.

Mr. J. Evanson, the well-known painter and decorator, 50 Oxford St., Toronto, Ont., said: "About eight weeks ago I was taken with an excruciating pain in my back over the kidneys. It was so bad that my wife had to apply hot cloths till the doctor came and gave me morphine."

He said the trouble was due to a stone passing from the kidney to the bladder. My water was loaded with a brick dust deposit and scalded on passing.

While in this condition I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and started taking them. It was not long before I got relief from pain and have been improving in health ever since. My urine is now clear and does not smart me, and I feel better than in years.

LAXA-LIVER PILLS. These little act easily and naturally on the system, clearing away all bile and effete material. Constipation, biliousness, dyspepsia, sick headache, heartburn, waterbrash—all disappear when they are used. Price 25c.
