Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XX.

WAIT here a moment. Look at the pictures and—anything else you like; I shall not be long," said Eva; and she went and knocked at the door of the den.

Sir Edward and Sidney Bassington were seated at the table. They had just finished a hand at ecarte. They were both flushed, as if they had been drinking—a couple of champagne bottles, both empty, were on the table—and Sidney was jotting down some memoranda in a gold mounted pocket-book.

He was a very different Bassington to the one we last saw. He had lost the timid, deferential air; and gone forever was the shyness and nervousness which had appealed to Eva on the first dinner at the Hall; and in

ANOTHER WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Gardiner, Maine.—"I have been a great sufferer from organic troubles and a severe female weakness. The doctor said I would have to go to the hospital for an operation, but I could not bear to think of it. I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash—and was entirely cured after three months' use of them."—Mrs. S. A. WILKINS, R. F. D. No. 14, Box 39, Gardiner, Me.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made exclusively from roots and herbs, a fair trial. This famous medicine for women has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and renewer of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It cures female ills, and creates radiant, buoyant female health. If you are ill, for your own sake as well as those you love, give it a trial.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, and always helpful.

their place was a confidence and self-assurance which were a bad exchange for his old modesty and self-depreciation. He had grown stouter, especially in the face—nothing fattens so quickly as champagne—and it was Mr. Sidney Bassington's favorite drink—and he "carried himself," as the French say, with an easy swagger which accentuated his lack of breeding.

"That's two-fifty since the last account, Rashleigh," he said, looking up from his pocket-book. "With the loan, that makes four thousand, six hundred, doesn't it?"

Rashleigh nodded.

"Daresay you're right, Bassington," he said. "You're a better hand at figures than I am. What devilish bad luck I get! I haven't won a tenner from you for a whole week. Never mind, my luck will change—it must. Hallo! Hush! There's someone at the door! It must be my sister. The cards—quick, man!"

They slid the cards under the cloth they had become adepts at this operation by this time—and Sir Edward sauntered to the door and opened it.

"Hallo, Eva, is that you?" he said, with an assumption of ease. "Bassington and I are having a drink after our labours. We have been doing a bit of horse-dealing—What is the matter? You look as grave as a judge?"

Eva had bowed rather coldly to Sidney Bassington, who stood, with one hand in his pocket, by the table.

"Such a strange thing!" she began. "I met a boy—a mere boy—who had just come from Australia. He had been robbed of nearly all he possessed—four hundred pounds! And he's such a nice, good-looking boy, Edward. And I've been to the police-station, and Mr. Stebbings can't help us, and I've brought him on here—"

"Mr. Stebbings?" asked Sir Edward, reaching for a cigarette.

"No, no—the boy. His name is Bell—Ronald Bell—and he hasn't a friend in England—he is quite a stranger, and helpless—"

She paused for lack of breath; and Sidney Bassington, who had been regarding her with a bold and scarcely veiled admiration, cut in with a sneer: "A fit subject for the workhouse or a lunatic asylum, I should say, Miss Rashleigh."

Eva winced, and seemed to shrink

Indigestion, Bad Color, Pale, Fatigued. Those oppressed by Palpitation and Heart Pains will find interesting facts in this Article.

The following letter is printed with the hope that it will show a clear road to health to those who suffer the pangs of indigestion and weak stomach.

"Just so. I agree with Sir Edward, Miss Rashleigh," cut in Sidney Bassington. "I'm afraid you have been imposed upon. It's quite a common kind of trick, a sort of confidence dodge. Better send him to the workhouse or the county gaol; they'll know how to deal with him."

Eva turned upon him with an indignation which was rare with her. "You are quite mistaken, Mr. Bassington," she said, her beautiful eyes flashing. "The boy is—his honest and true. I am sure of it; and I believe every word he says."

"Well, all right, Eva," said Sir Edward. "Where is he? Let's have a look at him."

"He's in the hall," said Eva.

"Cottie was not only in the hall, but near the door, which Eva had unwittingly left ajar, and she had heard every word with her quick ears: the girl could have heard a pin drop in the middle of a thunder-storm. Eva went out to her and saw her standing before a picture with her face scarlet and her eyes flashing.

"Will you come and see my brother, Sir Edward?" said Eva.

"No, thanks; I don't want to," said Cottie, resentfully. "He wanted to ward unflinchingly; her shoulder was turned to Sidney.

"How do you do?" said Sir Edward in his bright, and, alas! lovable voice—the voice which drew women to him as by a magnet—and the smile which, to those who warmed under it, recalled the lines, with the alteration of the pronoun:

"Though to his share a thousand faults may fall; Look into his face, and you'll forget them all."

"How do you do? So you've been in trouble, youngster, eh?"

Italian Wanted for Murder in Maine, is Arrested in Canada.

St. Marie, March 22.—Gleuseppe Stefani was arrested at the Canadian Soo to-day on the charge of having murdered Angus Grant in a saloon at Millinocket, Me., two years ago. It is said he made a full confession.

Bangor, March 22.—The police of Bangor and Millinocket have been looking for Gleuseppe Stefani since Oct. 27, 1907, when he shot and killed Angus Grant in the shack of Fred Pelucchi in that part of Millinocket known as Little Italy, but never got trace of him.

Both men were laborers in the employ of the Great Northern Paper Company at Millinocket, and Sunday, Oct. 27, 1907, Grant and two companions went over to Little Italy searching for liquor.

Stefani volunteered to show Grant where liquor could be found. They had some drinks at Pelucchi's, and then Grant said he wanted to buy a gallon of whisky. That quantity of liquor was not to be had at the shack, but Stefani volunteered to go and get it, and started out, Grant at his heels.

Stefani turned and asked Grant why he was following, and a quarrel ensued. Suddenly Stefani, so witnesses say, turned and shot Grant through the head. Stefani disappeared and no trace has since been found of him, although the whole of the northern country was searched for weeks. Stefani has worked in Millinocket for seven years and was known as a bad man. He left there a wife, child, mother and sister. Grant left a wife and child.

Peers Who Would Rather be Commoners.

"Oh, Johnny, you'll find it mighty dull here!" was the veteran Lord Brougham's greeting to Lord John Russell, when that eminent statesman was promoted from the storm and stress of the Commons to the serene atmosphere of the House of Lords. And so true was Lord Brougham's gloomy prediction that Earl Russell declared, not long before his death, that he had been as good as dead for sixteen years—ever since he made his last speech in the Lower Chamber. "If I hadn't been a fool," he added, "I should have lived and died a commoner."

On the very day on which the late Earl of Shaftesbury took his seat in the House of Lords, after many years' experience of the Commons, he wrote in his diary: "It seems no place for me. A 'statue gallery'; some say a 'dormitory.' Full half a dozen peers said to me, 'within as many minutes, you'll find this a very different place from the House of Commons. We have no orders, no rules, no sympathies to be stirred!' Shall I ever be able to do anything? But God has willed it, and I must, by His grace, do my duty."

Warming Nova Zembla.

His lordship's foreboding were amply justified; for, a little later, he wrote, "One of the most striking effects to me, on removal from the House of Commons, is my absolute ignorance of the political movements, thoughts and facts of the day. Everything of importance revolves round the centre of the Commons' House. Unless you be there to see it, hear it, feel it, you get it at second-hand, and then only half."

A few days later he wrote, "The difficulties of the House of Lords seem to thicken as I survey them. Everything must be done between five and half-past six, or you will have no auditory; consequently there is an unseemly scramble for the precedence, and a terrible impatience after you have got it."

Only once the earl, who had cut quite a notable figure in the Commons, succeeded in rousing his fellow-peers from their lethargy. One of his speeches actually stirred them to applause; and in his surprise and delight Lord Shaftesbury wrote, "My surprise knew no bounds; I had warmed Nova Zembla!"

Even Beaconsfield found his vast energies paralysed in the sleepy atmosphere of the Upper Chamber. To a friend who congratulated him on his elevation to an earldom he said, with a pathetic smile, "Yes, but political extinction is rather a heavy price to pay even for an earl's coronet. Do you know," he continued, placing his hand impressively on his friend's shoulder, "I would barter all the coronets in the world for ten years more of the fierce delights of the Commons."

All House of Commons Men.

And the late Lord Salisbury's opinion was precisely the same. "I had fifteen years in the Commons," the great statesman once declared, "towards the end of his life, and every year of them was worth all the long years I have spent in the other place." And such instances might be multiplied almost indefinitely. "Indeed," as a noble Duke said in the recent election campaign, "it is no exaggeration to say that there are a hundred men in the present House of Lords who would gladly sacrifice some of their dignities for the privilege of exchanging the sleepy air of their own Chamber for the vital atmosphere of the House of Commons."

And, after all, it is quite intelligible that a noble legislator who has not outlived his enthusiasms should thus sigh for the arena of the other House, where his talents could at least have full play.

In a Chamber where, as a rule, no business is done until half-past four, and frequently ends within half an hour; where the audience consists of a few languid and bored peers, sprinkled over a desert of empty benches; and where the most eloquent oration has no warmer greeting than a faint laugh or a murmured "Hear, hear!" Pitt himself would have lost heart, and the eloquent tongues of Burke and Sheridan would have soon lost their magic.

"Anti-Sosh."

Sir George Reid, the first High Commissioner of the Australian Commonwealth, who has been paying this country a visit, and who was nicknamed "Anti-Sosh" by the Sydney Bulletin because of his uncompromising attitude towards Socialism, was born 65 years ago in Renfrewshire. He was taken to Australia by his parents when quite a child, and ultimately became a barrister, building up one of the most lucrative practices in the Commonwealth. The heckler does not stand much chance with Sir George. "If you were my husband I'd give you poison!" shouted a woman Socialist at a political meeting. "Madam," replied Sir George, suavely, "if I were your husband I'd take it."

Italian Wanted for Murder in Maine, is Arrested in Canada.

St. Marie, March 22.—Gleuseppe Stefani was arrested at the Canadian Soo to-day on the charge of having murdered Angus Grant in a saloon at Millinocket, Me., two years ago. It is said he made a full confession.

Bangor, March 22.—The police of Bangor and Millinocket have been looking for Gleuseppe Stefani since Oct. 27, 1907, when he shot and killed Angus Grant in the shack of Fred Pelucchi in that part of Millinocket known as Little Italy, but never got trace of him.

Both men were laborers in the employ of the Great Northern Paper Company at Millinocket, and Sunday, Oct. 27, 1907, Grant and two companions went over to Little Italy searching for liquor.

Stefani volunteered to show Grant where liquor could be found. They had some drinks at Pelucchi's, and then Grant said he wanted to buy a gallon of whisky. That quantity of liquor was not to be had at the shack, but Stefani volunteered to go and get it, and started out, Grant at his heels.

Stefani turned and asked Grant why he was following, and a quarrel ensued. Suddenly Stefani, so witnesses say, turned and shot Grant through the head. Stefani disappeared and no trace has since been found of him, although the whole of the northern country was searched for weeks. Stefani has worked in Millinocket for seven years and was known as a bad man. He left there a wife, child, mother and sister. Grant left a wife and child.

Cured His Rheumatism In Three Weeks.

James LeB. Johnstone, a prominent member of the Citizen's Band, of Chatham, writes:

"I contracted Rheumatism by exposure, five years ago, and was ailing for two months and in great pain all the time. I got Father Morrissey's No. 7 Tablets and took them for about three weeks, when the Rheumatism all left me and I have had no return of the pain since."

Father Morrissey's "No. 7" Tablets

have cured thousands of this terribly painful disease.

Rheumatism is generally brought on by exposure, but is really caused by Uric Acid in the blood. This Uric Acid is an irritating poison, formed from the waste matter of the body. The kidneys should remove it, but when they fail it poisons the blood, and, settling in the joints, causes Rheumatism.

"No. 7" Tablets clear out the clogged-up Kidneys and stimulate them to perform their task of filtering the Uric Acid out of the blood. When this is done the Rheumatism simply and naturally vanishes.

"No. 7" Tablets cost 50c. At your dealer's. 28

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

'Good house-keepers are not good homemakers,' said a prominent club woman in a lecture recently. 'The house-keeper's eternal war against dirt,' she went on, 'makes her a slave and makes martyrs of her family. She has an idea that when she dies St. Peter will ask her how many pairs of socks she has mended or how many buttons she has sewed on. She does not know that it is better to be cheerful and sympathetic, the comforting home-maker, than to have kept the house in such immaculate order.'

Trade Relations Between the United States and British North America

In discussing this subject, the artificial frontier between the two countries must always be borne in mind. It cannot be efficiently guarded and high duties would always be modified by wholesale smuggling. An Assured Success.

We congratulate Capt. Abraham Kean on the notable record he has established this spring. To bring in 49,000 prime young seals with 260 men within 20 days is a great achievement worthy of the good ship Florizel, a sturdy crew, able officers and a capable commander. We congratulate the owners, Messrs. Bowring Bros., on the remarkable success of the steamers of the fleet which are already in port. This firm have already three steamers in port discharging, one with the record of first arrival, and the other with a record for the number of seals and weight of fat. This success must be especially gratifying to Mr. John Mann, on whose shoulders the chief burden of management has rested for some time.

Other firms whose prospects do not look so bright as those of Messrs. Bowring on this season's catch, will doubtless remember that the voyage is not over yet, and that if they do not obtain bumper trips for all their steamers, there are seasons yet to come in which it may be their good fortune to get the cream of the voyage. In the aggregate the season's catch is going to be an excellent one, which will doubtless give a good send off to the summer fishery. The success of this season's seal fishery is already assured.

But well we know a brighter home Where sweeter spring-time roses bloom, And angels with extended hands Await our boy beyond the tomb.

At Pansy Theatre, Mechanics' Hall, Next Week.

As will be seen from advertisement elsewhere, the above aggregation will open a special engagement with the Pansy Theatre, Mechanics' Hall, commencing Monday night, and continuing all next week. Mr. Archer, the King of the Wire, and Messrs. Moore and Burt, the versatile sketch artists, singing and dancing comedians, will be seen in many farce comedies. See Foxey, the champion high diving dog of the world.—The company has also brought with them the latest up-to-date pictures, which alone are drawing packed houses in the states. A special feature of this show will be the exceptionally low prices, viz. 5 and 10 cents. This is undoubtedly the cheapest show in the city for such an addition. The dog Foxey, has been a great drawing card in the States. The stilt creature will ascend the top of the Mechanics' building at the word of command and will dive below. A glance at the programme will show that it only needs to be seen to be appreciated. Bennett's Band will be the orchestra.

The S.S. FLORIZEL ENTERS PORT WITH 49,000 SEALS.

Capt. Kean Breaks the Record for Number and Weight of Harps—Ship Receives Hearty Welcome—Reports of the other Ships.

CAPTAIN A. KEAN, OF THE FLORIZEL.

Dressed gaily with bunting and sitting very low in the water, the S.S. Florizel, Capt. Abraham Kean, commander, entered port at 4.10 p.m. yesterday, and as the mammoth seal harp cleared the Narrows and shaped to berth at the piers of her owners, Messrs. J. S. Munn, F. W. Hayward, John LeMessurier and others of Bowring Bros., the crew assembled on the forecastle head burst into stentorian cheers; the detonations of a number of rockets sent up from the ship could be heard over the city and the tootings of the whistles of the Viking and Algerine were answered by the ear-splitting shrieks of the giant ship's siren, and the cheers of the people who lined the wharves on the North and South Sides of the harbor front. Employees of Ayre & Sons used several rifles in a feu de joie for the home-coming of the sealer, which was escorted up the stream by a fleet of steam launches and a regular flotilla of motor and row boats. Messrs. J. S. Munn, F. W. Hayward, John LeMessurier and others of Bowring Bros., firm climbed on board the big ship before she berthed, and when Captain Kean announced with pardonable pride that he had broken all records and had 49,000 prime harps on board, the congratulations he received from these gentlemen and others were very flattering and certainly were well deserved. The Press representatives were quickly on board, and after paying their debts to the successful commodore, he kindly gave the following account of his historic voyage to the frozen floes of the North. Before speaking to the reporters the captain had the following very warm message of congratulation placed in his hands:

"To Capt. A. Kean, St. John's. Heartiest good wishes on your splendid success and that of Capt. Joe.

"Sd. (Rev.) DR. MURPHY, Bonavista, April 1st, 1910.

The following gentlemen were passengers on the ship: Messrs. Eric Bowring, H. Winter, H. Outerbridge, C. P. Ayre, Gerald Harvey and Capt. Wm. Winsor, M.H.A. To return to the captain's report: The Florizel left St. John's at 6 p.m. on the 12th March, and led from the start and in passing Cape St. Francis, the ship took a course E. by N., and at 9.30 p.m. was seven miles off the Barracks of Fogo in a solid jam of ice, and on the 13th (Sunday) had the Bellaventure in her wake. At 11 a.m. that day a wireless was received from the Eagle stating that she was making good progress from N.E. to E.N.E. with the Newfoundland and closely by. She reported also having passed several seals, old and young, and burnt down at 7 p.m. 52 miles N.N.E. of the Punks. Monday, the 14th, broke with rain and fog, which cleared as the day progressed, and at 6 a.m. those on the Florizel saw two whitecoats, and at 9 a.m. another was described on the ice. The ship then shaped her course N.N.E. and saw no more seals, but numerous low holes could be seen in the ice warranting the conclusion that she was in the neighborhood of a big patch. The Eagle then wired that there were good prospects, and at 2 p.m. the Bellaventure was sighted 20 miles away to the S.W. On Tuesday, the 15th, the fog which prevailed from midnight cleared before a S.S.W. wind, and the Bellaventure and Beothic came in from the S.W. and passed by in a northerly direction, butting their way through the flow. The Florizel then steamed ahead and soon led both ships, but so heavy was the jam that she, though by far the most powerful of the fleet, only got through 5 miles of ice, but at 9.30 that night kept steaming until 10 o'clock Wednesday morning, the 16th, when she slowed down. All that day the ship had heavy butting to do, as the ice was in big sheets, and when she turned down she was 76 miles S.E. by E. of Belle Isle in the Straits. She had another message from the Eagle that evening reporting the proximity of the seals, and all on board anticipated keenly the probability of hitting the big patch on St. Patrick's Day. That day was unobscured in with fog and S.E. wind, and at 7 a.m. the ship's position was 37 miles north of the northern Grey Islands. Her course was then changed to the S.E., in which direction she steamed until 11.30 a.m., when she ran into the patch of young harps which all were anxiously waiting to strike. Then the lust for blood was observable amongst the crew, and it needed no second bidding to get them over the bows shortly after daylight. Thousands of plump whitecoats covered the frozen surface of the ocean and the men engaged in killing with a will. At 8 a.m. the following was received from the Eagle: "Eagle believes in wireless. Well done, Marconi!" Most of the seals killed that day were hauled on board. On Friday, the 19th, a N.W. wind blew with much frost. The ice was very heavy and hard to steam through, but it could not greatly impede the big ship, and 27 seals were picked up. The Eagle reported for 2,000, stating that the Algerine had 4,000, and the Bellaventure and Bonaventure steamed in from the eastward. The Florizel stowed down that day 15,000 seals. Sunday, the 20th, she was engaged picking up pans and hoisting the seals on board, and up to that time the ship had picked 29,000, while the Eagle had 12,000 on board and 100 pans to her credit. The Beothic was then alongside the Eagle and the Bonaventure 7 miles to the N.E. of her, with the Newfoundland in stern. Late that evening the Florizel went off to a lot of seals which had been previously killed, and took on board 4,000. Monday, the 21st, saw all hands at killing and panning, and the Eagle reported two watch crews from the Newfoundland on board for the night. The Eagle reported the Bellaventure with 30,000. The Florizel panned 12,000 that day. On Tuesday, the 22nd, two watches from the Eagle boarded the Florizel, and that ship panned 3,000 that day. The rest of the crew were engaged picking up seals, and 4,000 were put below decks by dark. The Bellaventure and Beothic were at work in the same ice, and that day saw 10,642 snow-below and 6,900 on deck. Wednesday, the 23rd, the crew were killing and hauling all day, and accounted for nearly 8,000 seals, also picking up 7 pans. This day 16,000 seals he total stowed away. Thursday, the 24th, the wind blew hard from the N.W., and the ship was butting through the ice all day, and heavy was the ice that she only could force one mile through it, and only 200 seals were killed, while 20,942 was he number reported stowed to date. The ship's position this day was 51.4 north and 52.42 west. On Friday, the 25th, the other ships of the fleet were ascertained to be in the seals, and the Eagle reported the Newfoundland doing well. Two men from the Bellaventure boarded the Florizel reporting her for 35,000 and with 23,000 on board. Up to that day the Florizel had 29,000 in the hold. The men were engaged doubling up pans and hauling seals all of Saturday, the 26th. The Eagle reported speaking the Aurora, and her news was that the Adventure and all the wooden fleet were clean. The Florizel had 28,122 stowed away that day with 4,000 on deck. The Eagle reported for 12,000 below, 5,000 on deck and 100 flags on the ice. On Sunday last, the 27th, there was very thick weather, and at 2 p.m. the Adventure steamed into the ice and only reported for 2,000, but the rest of the wooden fleet were reported doing fairly well. That day the Florizel reported for 29,232 stowed down and 7,000 on deck. Monday, the 28th, saw the crew out killing and hauling, and 3,000 harps were placed hors de combat. The Eagle that day reported for 27,000 on board and the Aurora did a good day's work. The other modern ships were in sight and their crews could be seen at work. That day the Florizel had 35,269 stowed below with 2,500 on deck and 80 pans on the ice. Her position was then 50.32 N. lat. and 52.34 W. long. On the 29th the crew were again busy killing and hauling. All the old ships were in sight except the Neptune, and the Beothic was steaming to the eastward. The Eagle reported for 20,000 on board and 5,000 on the ice. At 8 p.m. that day Capt. Kean telegraphed the Eagle: "All records beaten, 42,430 stowed, 1,000 on deck and 40 flags on ice." The Eagle promptly replied: "Congratulations from Eagle's crew. We have 20,000 stowed and 5,000 on ice." Wednesday, the 30th, all were engaged hauling and stowing in the forenoon and at 3 p.m. the last pan was finished. At 5.30 p.m. a steamer was seen in the distance burning, and getting a message from the Eagle on Thursday, the 31st, the Florizel steamed towards her and took off the crew of the Iceland, which had been crushed by the ice and went to bottom. The Florizel left the ice at 7 p.m. and reported the Eagle up to that time with 25,000 seals on board and everything pointing to the probability of a big trip of fat for the ship. Captain Kean, with his splendid ship the Florizel, now holds the record for the greatest number of seals ever brought from the icefields, and certainly must also have the greatest weight of fat. The late Hon. Capt. Blandford held the banner up to this year, as in the spring of 1888 he brought the Neptune to port with 41,983 seals; value for $101,125.72, and the gross weight of which was 874 tons, 2 cwt., 26 lbs.; net, 844 tons, 12 cwt., 1 qr. Her crew of 392 men shared $119.55. We heartily congratulate Capt. Kean on his success and this unique achievement in the annals of the sealfishery. It is thought the ship's seals will at least average 48 lbs., and this would give an approximate weight of 1,050 tons, and a value of about $94,000, so that her crew of 295 men should share from $125 to $130 each. It may be interesting to note that on the ship there are 33 tons of flippers, averaging each at 1 1/2 lbs. weight. The Florizel reports the Eagle with 25,000; Aurora, 9,000; Ranger, 3,000; Newfoundland, 22,000; Bellaventure, 40,000; Bonaventure,

18,000; Adventure, 3,000; Beothic, 28,000; Diana, 3,000; Erik, 3,000 and Bloodhound, 3,000. Capt. Kean is hopeful that the wooden ships and the Adventure will yet pick up fair trips of young and old hoods, especially if fine weather prevails. We have in

Nerves at High Tension

Slight extra strain means collapse—Restoration obtained by using D.R. A.W. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD

The successful men and women are often of the high-strung nervous type—keen and active—but with too little reserve force.

A little extra worry and anxiety and snap goes the nervous system. Weeks and months are often required before energy and vigor are regained.

Rest helps, so does fresh air and exercise, but the blood must also be made rich and red by use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food.

Mr. Wm. Branton, Victoria St., Stratford, Ont., writes:—My nervous system seemed all unstrung. I could not sleep, had no appetite, my digestion was poor and I had jerking of the limbs. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food helped me and I continued until I had taken twenty-four boxes. This treatment has made a radical change in my condition, building up the system and strengthening the nerves." ## With the Highlanders.

Last evening the Newfoundland Highlanders held their annual "At Home" in the British Hall. About 200 persons attended and the event was a grand success.

A concert was rendered at 8.15 in which selections were given by Messrs. Mawer, Tuft, Rendell, Strang and Kilpatrick; Miss Elsie Herder and Miss J. Strang. Tea was served after the entertainment.

At 10 o'clock a dance programme of waltzes and lancers was taken up. The music was furnished by the C. L. B. Band in the usual good style. We congratulate the Warrant and Non-Com. officers on the successful manner in which the programme was carried out.

OBITUARY.

We regret to record the death of Mr. Ernest Snow which occurred yesterday after a long illness. Deceased who was a member of the C. L. B. was only 21 years of age, and was the youngest son of Mr. John Snow and Mrs. Mary Snow. Deceased worked on the Evening Telegram for several years and was liked by all the employees for his amiable disposition and obliging manners. He was a prominent member of the football team of the C. L. B. and helped to carry off the honours of the championship on St. George's Field last season. The funeral will take place to-morrow from the residence of his parents, Cookstown Road. The C. L. B. Battalion will attend the funeral. The Telegram extends its sympathy to the sorrowing parents.

I. O. G. T.—The annual tea and concert under the auspices of Onward Lodge which was held in the Oddfellows Hall, last evening, was a great success. The splendid programme was rendered faultlessly by the various performers. Where all did so well it would be impossible to make any invidious distinction, and possibly disturb the musical sensibilities of "Cherubino." Notwithstanding the many court attractions, the committee are to be congratulated on the success of their efforts.

MEETING POSTPONED.—The meeting of the N. T. A. St. John's Branch, is postponed till Saturday next, at 8 p.m., in the Presbyterian Hall.

A MARK TWAIN STORY.
 Mark Twain, says "Lippincott's," once received a letter from his brother, who complained that he was afflicted with a boil and the jumping tooth-ache at the same time, and inquired if he had ever heard of a worse combination.
 "No," wrote the sympathetic 'Mark,' "and I can imagine only one that might be worse—that would be to have inflammatory rheumatism and St. Vitus's dance at the same time!"

Backache Suffering

A wonderful medicine is this man's description of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.
 Mr. Fred. Gummer, Lillies, Ont., writes: "I can honestly say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are a wonderful medicine. For six weeks last fall I could scarcely walk around for pains in the back and legs, and was almost completely unfit for work. Though I tried several medicines I got no better. I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and bought five boxes. After I had used three boxes, I was greatly improved and by the time I had them all taken felt as well as I ever did. I would advise anyone suffering from kidney disease to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.
 "We have also used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for bad colds and sore throat and would not be without these medicines for anything."

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Breadmade from contains more nourishment than any other, because it contains the greatest amount of gluten, the health-giving nutriment of wheat.
