CHAPTER XVIII.
FLIGHT AND PURSUIT.

"I'll come with you!" said Lord Edgar, eagerly; but Clifford Revel shook his head.

"No, do not," he said. "I don't want the man to know that you are interested in the matter—I don't want him to know your name, or anything about you. Leave it all to me, my dear fellow!"

And he took and wrung Lord Edgar's hand with a sympathetic heartiness that almost brought the tears to Lord Edgar's eyes.

"Half an hour or so," he called back, as Clifford Revel stood at the top of the stairs watching him as he strode away. Then he went in, and stood gazing out of the window thoughtfully.

"Not such a fool as I thought him," he murmured. "I myself could not have made the inquiries at the station with greater foresight. But what luck attends me! I meant my letter to throw an obstacle or two in the way, and it has actually separated them! I hate my lord, the marquis, but I respect and admire his astuteness. How did I manage it, I wonder? It was clever to frighten the girl away in a single day. I can fancy how he would play upon her truth and innocence and good faith! Well, my lord, you have played into my hands—I am obliged to you; we have been useful to each other. I have helped you to prevent a mesalliance in your noble family, and you have helped me to put off, at any rate for a time, the marriage of the man who stands between me and your title. Courage! Clifford Revel may be Marquis of Farintosh yet, and—his face softened—"and Edith Drayton shall be his wife!"

He stood for a few minutes rapt in this fair and precious prospect, then rousing himself, took a cab and drove to a small street near Bedford Row, and entering a house half composed of offices, half of dwelling-rooms, inquired for Mr. Bowen. He was shown up into a room on the first floor by a tiny servant-girl, where a man of an until I have done my work, and then I wipe the case out."

Clifford Revel nodded, and placed ten sovereigns before the man—he was too wily to use bank-notes on a scent mission; bank-notes have numbers.

"There is something to go on with; it will be sufficient to cover expenses, I expect. Good-night!" and with a cool, self-possessed nod he went out.

Mr. Bowen sat down again and looked over his notes, then he arose and got a peering and turned up the page containing the account of the Farintosh family; and studied it quite as closely as, and a great deal more rapidly than, Mrs. Drayton had done, thought a moment, with his stumpy pencil between his teeth, and smiled.

"Ah!" he murmured. "No crime; it's the young lady that's wanted. And not by Mr. Clifford Revel! No, there's somebody behind him. Yes, it is the young Lord Fane who wants her," and he put his finger on Lord Edgar's name. "Yes, it is an interesting case, Mr. Revel. Very!"

CHAPTER XIX.
WEALTH FOR LOVE.

AS Lord Edgar followed Clifford Revel up the staircase of Lady Debenham's mansion in Grosvenor Square he felt an intense distaste for the scene of gayety upon which he was entering, and only his promise to Clifford Revel kept him from turning back and going home to solitary brooding. He looked haggard and unhappy and completely preoccupied, so much so that those whom he passed looked after him with visible curiosity and surprise.

Clifford Revel, on the contrary, notwithstanding that he had been the cause of the trouble, looked as calm and self-possessed as if he did not know the meaning of an anonymous letter. Lady Debenham, who was a good-natured countess—or Clifford Revel would not have ventured to bring Lord Edgar without an invitation—welcomed the latter most amiably.

"I am very glad to see you, Lord Fane," she said, giving him her hand with a smile.

Lord Edgar murmured something in response, and made his way, with more or less squeezing, into the room. Why people who give parties of any description should ask just twice as many guests as the rooms will comfortably hold, and so subject the whole assemblage to misery and discomfort, remains a social problem which one despairs of ever seeing solved. Lady Debenham's was no exception to the foolish rule, and here, in the really magnificent salon, which would have held a hundred comfortably, were twice that number panting and often struggling for dancing-room in the warm June evening.

Clifford Revel whispered: "You'd better dance; take my advice." But Lord Edgar shook his head, and still more fervently deploring his presence, made his way to a less crowded part of the room, and, leaning against a pillar, watched the gay scene, and saw nothing but the sweet face of Lela, which hovered tantalizingly before his mental vision.

Clifford Revel had given him a tolerably truthful account of his interview with the detective, and Lord Edgar was absorbed in conjecturing how long the man would take to make his search successful when he was aware of a slight stir among the company, the stir that announces the arrival of some one of note and consequence, and, looking toward the end of the room, saw the sensation—if it is not too strong a word—was caused by the entrance of Edith Drayton.

Close beside her was a prince of the blood. It was a mere accident, of course, that they had arrived at the same moment, but it created a sensation, and Lord Edgar could see the heads of the dowagers drawing together, and heard the comments of one or two who were seated or standing near him.

"They said she would not come," he heard one old woman say. "She refused the duchess last night, and the Montmorency ball the night before; but I suppose the prince persuaded her."

Lord Edgar listened half-heartedly. He saw her sweep—she had the stature and grace which gave to her movements an imperial gait and gesture denied to smaller and shorter women—through the lane which they made for her, and the sight of her, while it filled him with admiration, added to his melancholy, for he reis the same all through—the last drop is as delicious as the first.

membered that she was a school-fellow of Lela's, and she recalled his darling.

She was tall, almost as tall as himself, and he, looking on at the dancing, could not fail to see her. He saw that the prince danced twice with her, and he noticed that Clifford Revel—notwithstanding the titled mob in the room—got a dance, and he would then probably have forgotten her—he was so full of Lela—but suddenly, almost before he was aware of it, she was at his side.

He turned and bowed, with his opera hat under his arm, but she held out her hand with a smile, and, perhaps not estimating this graciousness at its true estimate, he shook hands with her—there was not a man in the room who had done so, excepting himself.

"I did not expect to see you here, Lord Fane," she said, moving her fan to and fro and looking into his eyes with the smile which the prince, five minutes ago, had pronounced irresistible.

"No? Well, I didn't expect to be here," he said, in his blunt fashion. "My cousin, Clifford Revel, brought me."

She inclined her head. She saw, at a glance, the change in him, the haggard and anxious expression on his handsome face.

"Mr. Revel is a social benefactor," she said, with a smile. "It is a grand ball; is it not?"

"Yes—I suppose so," said Lord Edgar, trying to speak cheerfully.

"There seems to be a terrible number of people present; if that makes a grand ball, it is grand, indeed."

She smiled.

"That is ironical, Lord Fane. If you are ironical, I shall be afraid of you."

"I didn't mean it," he said, with his usual simplicity.

"You are quite right," she said. "There are a great number of people here. But have you not been dancing?"

"No," he said, sadly. "I haven't danced to-night."

She looked at him with a smile that died away gradually.

"All this bores you?" she said inquiringly.

"No," he answered; "I am not bored; but I don't feel inclined for dancing."

She sighed, and the fan, an exquisite example of Louis Quatorze, fell listlessly from her hand.

"How fortunate you gentlemen are! If you are not inclined to dance, you can remain motionless. We poor women must dance, whether we like it or not."

 Mr. Walsh commented on the vote for the Controller's Department, and took occasion to declare himself in favour of an amendment to the present prohibition law. He was not in favour of going back to the open saloon and bar, but would welcome changes in the present Act.
 The following bills were introduced and read a first time:
 An Act to give power to raise revenue by dues on ships entering Grand Bank for improvement of the harbour.
 An Act to amend the St. John's Municipal Act.
 Mr. Currie asked the following questions:
 To ask the Hon. Colonial Secretary to lay upon the table of the House a statement showing the number of miles of line that have been constructed on the Fortune Bay and Bonne Bay Branches, and how much money the contractor has been paid on account of each branch.
 To ask the Hon. Colonial Secretary to lay upon the table of the House a detailed statement showing: (a) amounts paid the Reid-Newfoundland Co. on account of Government Engineer's car from January 1st, 1917, to date; and (b) for what service said amounts were paid.
 Replies were promised to-day.
 The following bills were read a second time:
 An Act to prevent the Introduction or Spreading of Insects, Pests, and Diseases, destructive to vegetation.
 An Act respecting Second-Hand Stores.
 An Act to amend Chapter 52 of the Consolidated Statutes of Newfoundland, (Second Series) entitled, "Of the Central and Harbor Grace District Courts."
 An Act for the Protection of Domesticated Deer.
 An Act to Amend the Law relating to Merchant Shipping.
 The first gives the Governor in Council power to make such regulations as are deemed expedient to prevent the introduction or admission into Newfoundland or the spreading therein, of any insect, pest or disease destructive to vegetation.

The second makes it incumbent on keepers of second-hand stores to obtain a license from the Inspector-General of Constabulary, who can grant or refuse the same at his discretion.
 The third extends the time for making appeals in the Central and Harbor Grace District Council.
 The fourth deals with the protection of the reindeer.
 The fifth makes applicable some sections of the Merchants Shipping Act not now in force in this country, and makes it obligatory on owners of vessels to have a survey made before the ship puts to sea. The Bill is really the result of the recommendations in the Beverley enquiry.
 In reply to a question by Mr. Currie, the Prime Minister stated the Government was taking up with Lloyds the matter of the charge against their surveyor here in connection with the Beverley case, and that if they took no action, the Government would deal with it.
 The Hon. Min. of Finance & Customs gave notice that on to-morrow he would introduce certain resolutions relating to the extension and amendment of the Business Profits Tax Act 1917.
 The House adjourned until 3 o'clock to-day.

Motor Association Annual Meeting.
 With President F. W. Ayre occupying the chair, the Motor Association of Newfoundland held its annual meeting in the Board of Trade Rooms last evening. A large number of members were present. Messrs. S. D. Blandford and Reg. Harvey reported having interviewed the Minister of Public Works on the matter of road improvement. Mr. W. R. Warren pointed out that the Minister had little to do with the spending of road grants, this being left in the hands of the district members or boards. The Association could get the Government to have the system altered and to gain the sympathy of the district members in the matter. Mr. Woodford was kindly disposed toward the Association, and it was felt that he would help, as the member for Her Majesty's. Mr. Warren then moved a resolution to the effect that the Association pledge itself to see that the best system to secure the best roads be adopted by the authorities. Seconded by Dr. Campbell, the motion was passed. Hon. S. D. Blandford showed that there were special grants with which the Public Works Minister had a lot to do. Mr. R. Morris felt that it was time to ask the Government for a special grant for roads. The matter of badges to be displayed on wind shields was discussed, and it is hoped that all members will use them. The Secretary has a supply on hand. A motion was passed that the non-usage of badges will be considered a breach of the rules. Police I. G. Hutchings thought the idea of asking the Government for a special road grant was good; also that the matter of advertising the names and numbers of car owners for the benefit of those in outlying districts should be taken up with the Municipal Council. The tail lights as used at present are useless as means of identification. He had instructed the police to warn offenders on their first offence so as to give them a chance, but in a test on LeMarchant Road it had been found that 9 out of every 10 cars had the light out. A Municipal ordinance as to the numbers being clearly lighted up might remedy the trouble and the question should be seriously taken up. Mr. A. Soper referred to persons deliberately standing in the roadway and compelling motormen to stop, while the police made no effort to keep the right of way clear. Mr. Hutchings stated if the one obstructed would report to him of such conduct he would deal with the obstructor at once. The question of the street cars in Water Street running west on the right hand side instead of the left was also discussed, and I. G. Hutchings pointed out that he found this would cost the Reid Nfd. Co. thousands of dollars in altering their cars. He would do all possible to improve conditions under the powers granted by the Motor Traffic Act. The Chairman complained of people standing in the roadway at Rawlins' Cross and making no effort to get out of the way of motormen. The police had been instructed to pay special attention to loitering in this section. (The Assistant Secretary thought they might step into the Blue Puttee). The stopping of street cars at fixed points, for the avoiding of danger, by those alighting, from being run over by motormen, and the uniformity of numbers on cars will be taken up. An effort will be made to get every car and cycle-owner to become members of the Association. At present the membership is about 170.

Legislative Council.
 (Yesterday.)
 The Council met at 4 p. m. Several bills which were on the order paper for the last few days and passed committee stage Friday last, were given their third reading.
 The Committee Stage of the Tenant's Eviction Bill was taken up.
 Hon. Mr. Gibbs offered several amendments, dealing principally with the right of tenants and landlords. The amendments were of a character to protect both, inasmuch as they would provide for the landlord who owned only one house, and for the purchaser of a single house. The amendments also provided that the bill be in operation for one year from May 1st, and that it would only affect tenants paying rentals up to $200 a year.
 Hon. the President supported the amendments to the Bill, but thought that a select committee should be appointed with the probability of bringing in a newly constructed Bill that would suit all tastes. Since last meeting he had given some study to the English Bill, but did not want to delay the House in the matter at the present time. Sir Patrick told of a couple of incidents that had been brought to his attention where the rents had been raised without cause, and thought that if a Bill was framed the maximum rental should be fixed at $300, and that its application should be retroactive to January 1st, 1919. He also referred to the hardships that clerks and office help who were obliged to keep up to a certain standard, suffered through the increase of house rents. A new Bill, reconciling the various views, which could be best done in Select Committee, was the best solution of the problem.
 Hon. Mr. Anderson accepted the proposal of the Hon. the President. He wished to say that there were many good landlords and many bad ones; and many good tenants and many bad ones. He regretted that there were few wealthy landlords who went to the Churches and pray Sundays, and went to the "sharks" to have their "prey" Mondays. He was pleased with the solution offered by Hon. the President.
 The Select Committee, who will hold their first meeting this afternoon and report probably at next meeting of the Council, is as follows: Hon. Anderson, Gibbs, Squires, Bishop, McNamara, Mewa.
 At 5 o'clock adjournment was taken until 4 p. m. Thursday next.
Shamrocks Will Meet This Evening.
 A meeting of the Shamrock Baseball Club will take place in the Plandeaer office at 7 o'clock tonight, when a decision as to whether the club will continue its former place in the League or not will be arrived at. Every eligible man who identified himself with the club from its inception enlisted for active service. Four made the Supreme Sacrifice, two won commissions, and one was a prisoner in German hands. At present only a quartette of the players of 1914 are home. The meeting tonight will mean that if the Shamrocks retire from the league, the Callahan Bros, Power, Ellis, Scovfour and Hansant will add new strength to other clubs.
RECTOR TAKES UP DUTY.—The Rev. A. B. S. Stirling, who was recently appointed Rector of St. Mary's Church, South Side, takes up his duty as such on Sunday next, May 11th. Rev. J. O. Britnell succeeds him as Rector of Bay Roberts.

Their Plain Duty.

With the most important Municipal measure, in its history, perhaps, to come before the Legislature in the next few days, St. John's is short of representation in the lower chamber, there being but two members of the people's parliament to support the new City Charter when it comes up for discussion, the other (4) having demised or resigned their seats. There are however in the House, city residents, who are representing other districts, to whom the situation must appeal, and it is, consequently hoped that they will be as much interested in the debate on the Bill, of which notice of motion was given yesterday by the Minister of Militia, representing St. John's West, as though they were the sitting members for the city.

And not alone in the debate, in which it is confidently expected that they will participate but in the passage of the Bill it is trusted that their efforts will be centred. It is the plain duty of St. John's citizens, representing other districts in the House of Assembly to vigorously support any legislation having for its object the improvement of the Capital. It is no less the plain duty of the outport members to add their support to any measure of this nature, because in improving the city of St. John's, there will be created greater and better facilities for the numerous outport people who come into the city for business and other commercial work. Many harbor improvements are needed in order that outport shipping either loading or unloading may be expedited, and not delayed week after week because of the lack of adequate wharf and dock accommodation. St. John's has no public wharf suitable for the loading or discharge of vessels. That one addition would of itself be a great boon to outport schooner masters, but these things are by the way. Yet they relate closely to the interest which outport members of the House should take in general Municipal affairs.

There will be many advantages possessed by the City, if the new Charter of Incorporation receives legislative sanction, not the least of which will be, authority to engage in the work of erecting houses under the supervision and control of the Council. Every one recognizes that the crying need today is domiciliary accommodation. The housing problem has become a very acute one, one which demands immediate solution. Daily, requests for houses are being made by people intending to make their future homes in the city. But the inevitable answer is that there are none to be had. St. John's needs houses, better and more up to date houses than we have at present: houses built on the modern principles of scientific construction, both sanitary and comfortable: houses that have all the improvements necessary to make them models of hygienic perfection, and the carrying out of such a programme of construction must not be allowed to fail.

Therefore, if through the negligence of the Government, St. John's has not full representation in the House of Assembly to give support to the Bill now before it, the representatives of the other districts, irrespective of city or outport residence have their plain duty before them and it is to be hoped that they will measure up to the standard which is expected of them.

Obituary.

MR. GEORGE NEAL.
With great regret we announce the passing at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, of Mr. George Neal, the well-known Commission Merchant of this city. Mr. Neal left here by the Kyle on April 25th for Montreal to consult with medical specialists. He was a member of St. Andrew's church. Immediately upon arriving there he entered the Royal Victoria Hospital, and on Friday last an operation was performed. The patient seemed to have derived much good from this, but on Sunday night there was a change, and death came at noon yesterday. Left to mourn are his widow and seven children: Maud, Edith, attending the Ladies' College at Halifax, and Phyllis and Edith at home. George Neal was born in St. John's on Jan. 27th, 1865 and at an early age entered the employ of the late James Murray. In 1894 he launched into business on his own behalf, and through industry, knowledge of local affairs and keen study of foreign markets, established a trade in St. John's and throughout the country that grew to immense proportions. No more honest or enterprising business man was in the country. Apart from business he was affable, charitable and courteous. He was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, and also an active member of the Masonic fraternity, being Secretary of St. John's Lodge for a number of years. The body leaves Montreal to-day and will come here for interment. To the bereaved family the Telegram offers sincere sympathies and condolences.

EAST WABANA, Yesterday.
A sad accident occurred at Dominion No. 3 slope, this afternoon, which resulted in the death of Isaac Crann, of Trinity Cove, Placentia Bay. Crann and his partner were carrying out a drill from the face of a room after finishing the day's work, when Crann stumbled and fell backwards, striking his head against a foot wall, apparently breaking his neck and causing instant death. Crann was an unmarried man of the age of 24.

"The Woman on the Index."

A FINE PERFORMANCE.
A well pleased audience left the Casino Theatre last night after witnessing the performance of the Harkins players in the great melo-drama: "The Woman on the Index." The play is one dealing with vital enterprises of the secret service during the war period, and its presentation by the Harkins Company held the close interest of the audience throughout and won for them generous applause. Mr. Clay Cody, as Henri Delcasse, the clever iron-nerved plotter against the Allied cause, carried off the premier honors of the night. He gave a magnificent portrayal of a most difficult role. Mr. Harvey, Miss Dalton, Mr. Ross and Mr. Mann handled the other roles most effectively. "The Woman on the Index" will be repeated to-night for the last time and no one should miss the opportunity of seeing this really great play. Wednesday and Thursday nights: "The Gypsy Trail" in which Miss Dalton will sing the song of "The Gypsy Trail," and little Thomasena Hanlon will make her first appearance. Friday and Saturday nights "The Other Woman." There will be a farewell matinee Saturday at 2.30.

At the Majestic.

Herbert Brenon's big production, "The Eternal Sin," was seen at the Majestic Theatre last evening. This picture, which is brilliant in acting and strong in its message, is one portraying life in that most terrible period in history, "the Reign of the Borgias." A packed house testified to the interest taken in the picture, and the applause was free and spontaneous. Prof. F. J. King at the piano and Mr. J. F. Ross at the organ effects at the trap drum, were excellent and their musical renditions much appreciated. To-night the same picture will be repeated.

LAD TO REST.—The funeral of the late John Chate, one of the oldest residents of Petty Harbour, took place there yesterday afternoon and was attended by a large concourse of mourners, including Mr. J. R. Bennett, M. H. Inspector Bambrick, and others from the city. The funeral arrangements were in charge of undertaker N. J. Murphy.

SUCCESSFUL OPERATION.—Lecturers received in the city to-day from Mr. W. H. Herder who is now in hospital at Montreal, state that an operation was performed on his knee on the 24th inst. and was very successful. He was in good health and spirits and wished to be remembered to all his old friends in the city.

COULD NOT GO.—We understand that the Harkins Co., now playing in the city, were desirous of proceeding to Trepassey for the purpose of giving a play there. This was found impracticable, however, as there is neither hall in Trepassey big enough to accommodate a large audience.

Mothers who delight in keeping their children neatly and well dressed will welcome this Splendid Showing of Girls' Hats.

There is an attraction in their simple, youthful lines that can hardly be expressed. "Simply delightful," many mothers have said—and they are, in every detail. Material is of quality that you'll approve; colour in design is typical girlish, and there is a quaintness in the style and trimming effect which is altogether irresistible.

And yet, though so pretty, the designers have not forgotten to make them practical, and herein lies their greatest attraction. Mothers of girls should most certainly see this splendid showing.

Burning Witches.

A recent news item quoted by the "Literary Digest" from "Revista de Yucatan," published in Merida, Mexico, is to the effect that three old women were blamed for spreading Spanish influenza and burned at the stake as witches. The deed was committed by the followers of Cedillo, who is a rebel against the Carranza Government and a friend of the extremists in Mexico. The unfortunate old ladies were tortured until they finally confessed they were witches, when they were consigned alive to the flames.

Holiday Discussion.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held yesterday afternoon to get the opinion of the trade generally as to what day of the week is the most acceptable for the observance of the half and whole holidays. Pres. J. J. McKay, occupied the chair and a large gathering was present. A lengthy discussion took place. Among the speakers being Messrs. W. Monroe, W. White, J. C. Marshall, R. A. Templeton, G. Williams, Mayor Gosling, J. Maher, E. Bowring, F. W. Ayre, H. E. Cowan, D. Baird, Dr. Grievie and the chairman. The retailers generally favor Wednesday as the day for the half holidays, considering the amount of business done on Saturday nights, while the wholesalers approve of Saturday. It being pointed out that following the half holiday in the middle of the week employees are not so fit for work and that practically all cables from abroad are received early in the week, and a very large amount of foreign business has to be transacted on Wednesday. Moreover the outports would be better served by observing Saturday, as much freight is shipped by train and steamer on Wednesday. This further keeps many at work on this day, preparing the goods for shipment. A suggestion was made that all holidays be whole holidays, instead of half. It was finally decided that a committee of five representing general mercantile interests confer with a deputation from the Importers Association, and endeavour to arrive at a day that will be acceptable to all. The first holiday this season, a whole one, falls on Saturday, May 24th, Empire Day.

An exodus of Austrian Archdukes from Austria began last week. Archduke Frederick, the eldest of the Hapsburgs, with his wife, Isabella, his married daughters, Gabriele and Alicia, and his son, Albrecht, left for Lucerne, Switzerland, where apartments have been taken for them at the Hotel Suisse. The Archduke did not renounce the right to succession before his departure. The other Archdukes are expected to leave in the next few days. Fifteen Austrian military invalids have been given habitation in the former imperial castle of Schoenbrunn in the Galarie apartments, formerly inhabited by Crown Princess Stephanie.

A Victory Housecleaning.
By RUTH CAMERON.

This is a victory year. We have victory red, victory capes, victory loaves. Why not make this year's housecleaning a victory housecleaning?

I suppose there is hardly an adult in this country who hasn't heard the word salvage a great many times since the war. In its new connotation of saving articles which have formerly gone to waste, and putting them back into the market as raw materials.

There probably never was a time when the world needed raw materials in such quantities and such haste.

A Chance To Do Their Bit For Reconstruction.

Everyone who keeps any waste material from the ash heap or the bonfire and gets it where it can be used is doing his bit in the work of reconstruction.

And the time of all times to do this sort of work is in housecleaning time.

A certain very energetic woman's organization has gotten out an appeal to housewives and others on these lines. Here are some of their suggestions and reminders.

Do You Want Taxes and Prices Lowered?

"If you want to see your taxes reduced and the cost of living lowered, practise thrift and salvage."

"Go through your house, room by room, not forgetting the cellar and attic, and see if you are disposing conscientiously of all waste."

"Keep nothing in your house that isn't beautiful or useful."

"Don't burn paper. Save your paper and spare a tree."

"Every bit of waste takes force from the driving power of your country."

"Your individual salvage may be little but multiplied by the salvage of all the people it means the salvation of our national resources."

"There can be no more patriotic duty performed, individually and collectively, than to have every pound of have been impossible a dozen years ago. It is the coming of the aeroplane which has made it a practical proposition. The time will come when the wild places of the earth will be great international preserves, over which will move aeroplanes worked in regular patrols. THE TROUBLES OF THE GREAT.

Skies were often overcast
For the great men of the past.
Disappointments came their way;
They had many a rainy day;
Many a burden hard to bear,
Many a stony path to fare;
And because today you think
You are standing on the brink
Of disaster don't give in!
Keep your courage and your grin!
See your time of trial through!
Washington had troubles, too.

Lincoln had his days of doubt,
Days when he was hedged about
By a pack of dangers grim,
But they never daunted him,
These were times when hope seemed gone,
But he bravely kept right on;
Held his course how'er assailed;
Never once his courage failed,
And today we find his name
Linked to everlasting fame,
Care may make a man of you,
Lincoln had his troubles, too.

Men who never meet a foe
Never have to bear a blow,
Never rise above the throng;
With the stream they drift along.
Only those who dare to fight
For a cause they know is right
And can set their teeth and bear
All the heartache of despair
Conquer failure; they alone
Make success at last their own.
In this thought find courage new
Great men had their troubles, too.

Like many other garments, negligees are made slip-on style.
Some of the new clinging skirts have three cuffs at bottom.
Steel ball buttons march gaily up the front of many a jacket.
Five o'clock tea gowns have adopted long, graceful trains.
The bigger and more crushable a sash is, the more stylish it is.

POOR WASHINGTON.

In Washington men pay their taxes on motor cars and battle axes, on stately homes with all their splendors, on furniture and pink suspenders. The burden ever greater, waxes, there's no variety of taxes that doesn't hit the stricken city and make it look around for pity. And Washington would dig the money and wear a smile serene and sunny, and show a host of cheerful faces, if she could vote like other places. But Uncle Sam, he says, "No never! Let digging up be your endeavour, and do not knock, with busy malice, because you cannot have the ballot." You should be glad to dig the hoods, and whoop around for Yankee Doodle, sound loyalty to be me denoting, without a hughouse wish for voting." From Washington men go to battle, where mortars pop and sabres rattle; they go, from shanty and from manor, and wave aloft our spangled banner, and offer all they have for freedom, and when they go we cry, "God speed 'em!" When they come back, their laurels totting, and ask to do their share of voting, we say, "Gee whiz! Such talk is treason! Now, boys, ask anything in reason, and you will not be hindered goatless—but Washington is always voteless!"

Hunting by Aeroplane.
Farming the World's Wastes.

The Barren Lands of Canada comprise all that enormous stretch of country which lies north of civilization right up to the Arctic Ocean.

Over the whole of it graze vast herds of caribou or reindeer, which are estimated to number anything between twenty and fifty millions.

Though a rather small animal, a caribou weighs about a hundred pounds, and its flesh is very much better than best Scotch venison. A number are killed for meat by trappers and Indians, but not one is shot for a hundred pulled down by wolves or wild dogs.

Rounding Them Up.

It is the idea of Mr. J. B. Harkin, Commissioner of Dominion Parks, to relieve the present meat shortage by rounding up the caribou on the shores of Hudson Bay, slaughtering as many bucks as is thought good, and releasing the does.

The work would be done by airmen. They would round up the herds, and at the same time shoot down with their machine guns the wolves and wild dogs. The process could be repeated each year, with the result that the barrens would supply food for an immense number of people and return a large profit. If only 100,000 bucks were killed yearly, they would sell for nearly half a million.

But if the North American barrens can be utilized in this way, why not the Asiatic also? The vast areas of Siberia cover two million square miles, and would provide food for countless caribou. As for musk oxen, they will live and thrive still farther north than reindeer, and are already to be found on some of the almost unknown islands far up in the Arctic.

Shooting Lions from Aeroplanes.

There are other wild regions that could be similarly farmed. The teeming millions of game that covered the South African veldt fifty years ago are irretrievably lost, but the British authorities are protecting game in other parts of Africa.

The enormous grassy plains which lie between the towering peaks of Kenya and Kilimanjaro have double the game they had twenty years ago. But they also have three times the number of lions. Airmen, however, can, if necessary, shoot down the lions.

All this farming of the wild would

Men who never meet a foe
Never have to bear a blow,
Never rise above the throng;
With the stream they drift along.
Only those who dare to fight
For a cause they know is right
And can set their teeth and bear
All the heartache of despair
Conquer failure; they alone
Make success at last their own.
In this thought find courage new
Great men had their troubles, too.

Like many other garments, negligees are made slip-on style.
Some of the new clinging skirts have three cuffs at bottom.
Steel ball buttons march gaily up the front of many a jacket.
Five o'clock tea gowns have adopted long, graceful trains.
The bigger and more crushable a sash is, the more stylish it is.

Wise Men Say—

That if we could see ourselves as others see us, we wouldn't believe it.

That small minds look only for small opportunities.

That no wind serves him who has no destined port.

That the happiness of your life depends upon the character of your thoughts.

That all good ends can be worked out by good means. Those that cannot be had, and may be counted so at once and left alone.

That the constant struggle to measure up to a high ideal is the only force in heaven or on earth that can make a life great.

That patience may be a virtue or a fault. To plod, to drudge, to suffer, without making any effort to better your condition, is not patience; this is lack of courage and of faith.

Market for Human Hair.

It was stated recently that human hair is worth ten shillings an ounce, and some people have professed surprise at the price. As a matter of fact, the figure is far below the market. It is true that some human hair can be purchased at so low a figure as thirty shillings a pound, but this is the rarest, commonest stuff, concerning the origin of which it would not be wise to inquire too closely.

Twenty, thirty, even fifty sovereigns a pound are quite usual prices for good samples of hair of ordinary colour, while rarer hues, particularly white and auburn, are much more expensive. For pure white hair there is always a larger demand than supply, and the price paid for the best qualities vary from five to six pounds per ounce.

Are you giving Your Mind a Chance?

Many a man's mind is distracted by his health, when it ought to be centered upon his business.

Business and professional men and women usually exert their brains at the expense of their bodies. They are forced to neglect exercise. They often form bad habits in eating, sleeping, resting or playing. Hence, they easily form the worst habit of them all—constipation.

Constipation means infinitely more than mere failure of the bowels to act regularly and thoroughly. It means weakened or over-tired intestinal muscles. It means stagnation of the bowel contents, increased fermentation, putrefaction and germ action, and production of irritant and poisonous substances.

These are absorbed into the blood and carried all over the body, irritating the nerves, clouding the brain, hardening the arteries, raising the blood pressure, etc.

Not can all this be cured or prevented by taking pills, castor oil, purgative mineral waters, salts, etc. all of which make matters worse instead of better.

But the Nujol Treatment for Constipation acts differently. It is both harmless and efficient.

Nujol helps Nature to re-establish easy, thorough, daily evacuation of the bowels—as regular as clockwork.

For pure white hair there is always a larger demand than supply, and the prices paid for the best qualities vary from five to six pounds per ounce. A well-known dealer has sold white hair, even before the war, at £100 per pound.

Next to white hair in point of value comes the Tintin tint, which is particularly in demand by American dealers. A few years ago a well-known cinema actress, who was blessed with exquisite red tresses no less than five feet in length, sold three feet of them to a Paris dealer for a thousand pounds. The cutting of the locks was done with a pair of golden scissors, which were afterwards presented to the lady as a souvenir of the curious occasion.

All the fine hair is European, and in normal times about half a million pounds worth of hair is imported into England from Europe, and twice that amount from China. The latter is coarse and cheap. The best hair comes from the south of France, from Italy, and Bohemia; in fact dealers say that the French is quite the finest quality of all.

The demand is increasing constantly. This, no doubt is due to the perfection to which wigs have been brought, and also the increase of baldness among the Western peoples.

Paderewski's Patriotism

M. Paderewski, who is laying the claims of the Poles before the Peace Conference, renounced his art and impoverished himself to work for a great Poland. After the British offensive on the Somme, in 1916 M. Paderewski was living in a New York flat. One morning he simply walked to the piano and shut the lid.

It was a symbolic gesture of the closing of one side of his life and self-consecration to his dream. Since that day the great artist's amazing fingers have never touched the keyboard, and in the hotel where he lives in Warsaw the dust on the piano shows that it is mute. He lives in three modest rooms at the Hotel Bristol, Warsaw, and has worked 18 hours every day for the last three months.

Fire Damages Two Seaplanes.

But Start May be Made To-day --- Small Powers will be Permitted to See Treaty---German Hypocrisy Exposed.

U. S. SEAPLANES DAMAGED BY FIRE.

NEW YORK, May 5. Fire at Rockaway Beach today damaged seaplanes "one" and "four," which were to start to-morrow on the first leg of the transatlantic voyage. The wings of "one" was completely destroyed. Commander Towers says the fire was accidental and that the start for Newfoundland will be made to-morrow, weather permitting with "three" and very likely with "four," and possibly with "one."

READY TO START.

NEW YORK, May 5. A score of naval aviators, youths in the twenties and early thirties, yet experts in flying, navigation and mechanics, were ready to-night for a start soon after daylight to-morrow in their attempt to drive three giant hydro-airplanes of the American Navy across the Atlantic. With favorable weather officially predicted both in the vicinity of the home station at Rockaway Beach, Long Island, and along the coast to Newfoundland terminus of the journey's first "leg," the aviators expected to launch at least two and possibly all of the three "planes" scheduled to make the cruise. The N.C. 1, whose starboard wings were destroyed early to-day in a fire, which also slightly damaged the N.C. 4, was not really fit for flight again when darkness fell on a small army of mechanics who had worked on the craft for more than 18 hours. The N.C. 4 had been completely restored by mid-afternoon. There was a possibility that the N.C. 1 might be delayed in her jump of a few hours, or even a day or more, if necessity of unexpected adjustments of the new wings developed at the last moment, but the N.C. 3 and N.C. 4 were scheduled to take the air some time between dawn and seven.

GERMANS TO GET TREATY THIS WEEK.

PARIS, May 5. The time for handing over the Peace Treaty to the Germans was set to-day for 3.15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. The announcement that Premier Orlando and Foreign Minister Sonnino, the leading Italian delegates to the Peace Conference, had left Rome for Paris and the further news that the Belgian Crown Council had given its assent to the signing of the Peace Treaty by the Belgian delegates, regardless of the unsatisfactoriness to Belgium of the financial arrangements, have resulted in relieving the embarrassments of the Peace Conference. These developments had the effect of producing a call for a Plenary Session of the Conference to be held to-morrow, for the purpose of laying the Peace Treaty before all the participating nations. The Treaty may be presented to the Germans on Wednesday or Thursday of this week.

AMATEURS MAY WORK AGAIN.

OTTAWA, May 5. The war-time regulation cancelling all licenses issued for the operation of Amateur Wireless Stations throughout the Dominion, has been rescinded. The amateur wireless operator may, therefore, once more resume his experiments, subject to the pre-war regulations. A statement issued by the Naval Department to-day contains the information that there were at the outbreak of the war some hundred and ten licensed amateur stations in Canada.

BERLIN, May 5. A rebellion against the Coburg Dynasty at Sofia, is reported in a despatch received here; sanguinary fighting is reported.

SMALLER POWERS TO SEE TREATY.

PARIS, May 5. A secret plenary session of the Peace Conference is called for to-morrow afternoon for the purpose of presenting the smaller Powers with the Peace Treaty.

THE LABOR CLAUSE.

OTTAWA, Ont., May 5. Hon. N. W. Rowell gave to the House of Commons this afternoon the text of the nine Labor clauses in the Peace Treaty. "The high contracting parties," said the statement, "recognizing that the well-being, physical, moral and intellectual, of industrial wage-earners, is of supreme international importance, have framed a permanent machinery asking the League of Nations to further this great end. They recognize that differences of climate, habits and customs of economic opportunities and industrial tradition made a strict uniformity in the conditions of labor difficult of attainment. By holding, as they do, that Labor must not be regarded as an article of commerce, they think that there are methods and principles for the ratification of labor conditions which all industrial communities should endeavour to apply so far as their special circumstances will permit."

THOSE FOURTEEN POINTS AGAIN.

BASLE, May 5. The German-Austrian Cabinet at Vienna has issued a manifesto claiming that President Wilson through his approval of the Treaty of London involving annexation by Italy of the South-east Tyrol, has acquiesced in the violation of the ninth of his fourteen points.

LITHUANIAN ADVANCE.

BERNE, May 4. Lithuanian troops are advancing along a front of 260 miles from Courland to the region of Grodno and are approaching Vilna. According to a report received by the Lithuanian Press Bureau from Kovno Lithuanian advance guards have occupied Shtal and Vistula, twenty-four miles from Vilna, and the Bridgehead of Cieskis on the River Vilia.

GERMANS' EXCUSE FOR DECLARING WAR.

ZURICH, May 4. The Neus Zeitung of Stuttgart affirms that in spite of regulations issued by the German Government, a great many capitalists, in particular those who made enormous war profits, are managing to export their money. The same paper asserted that in the last two months twenty-five billion marks have been deposited in different Swiss banks.

The next draft of soldiers is expected to leave England for here on or about May 20th.

Proper and Adequate Housing

Only Obtainable by the Passing of A Full Municipal Charter for St. John's and the Removal of Duties Upon Building Materials.

At the request of various of our returned fighters and many other citizens, I shall give some opinions upon the problem of housing, which is so serious in St. John's and getting worse every day. Houses are wanted in quantity in St. John's at once, and in the interests of St. John's and Newfoundland they must be put up and quickly. This is a National question and one which appeals to our National Pride.

Newfoundland is judged by strangers by its Capital, and as Newfoundlanders we hate to hear some of their judgments, for we know that they are, alas, too true. To-day strangers or people out of town coming to St. John's are unable in many cases to get hotel or boarding house accommodation, owing to its insufficiency, as on account of a lack of houses many city people are now boarding. Many citizens are wondering if they will have to live in tents as they are getting ejected from houses which are being sold over their heads at prices only payable by a Croesus or a near relative. It is possible if some of the Sealing Steamers are going to lie up for the summer that the pressure may be eased a little by turning them into seaside hotels, as presumably all the schooners will be utilised in regular marine trade.

Other countries have also their Housing Problem to face to-day, but they are tackling it on business lines. The late Theodore Roosevelt has said that "a man who is good enough to shed his blood for his country is good enough to be given a square deal afterwards." To-day our fighters are returning with their wives and children, and they have only the choice of a very few houses, which can only perhaps be properly described as pigsties. Those who are still to return will not even have that choice, and it is considered time that something was done for them.

Some soldiers newly wedded, returning, are able to "double up" in some cases, but it is a poor way to be starting life, in many cases with your mother-in-law, your sister-in-law, etc., in the house, and most of the soldiers have seen enough fighting. There is also the Workman to be considered, who is to-day living in a house which leaks like a basket, as he can get no other.

Certainly nobody will deny the pressing need for more houses. St. John's has built very few houses the past few years owing to war conditions. To-day it is not a good business proposition to build a house to rent, as the builder is in competition with landlords who built houses when costs of building were half or less than half that of to-day, and when prices fall, he will be in competition with other builders also at lower prices than his. I understand that in Great Britain to-day, to encourage building, the state is standing about half the cost of the new houses, and in other countries they are doing something on somewhat similar lines.

Whilst our Government may consider it is not able to do the same as Britain, it would pay it to help people who have initiative enough to build today, by at least the removal of the duties on all Building Materials for the next few years, say.

As a precedent for this I would point out what was done in 1892 after the great conflagration, and to-day we face an unusual crisis, as we did then. The Government would not even in the long run lose by the removal of these duties as by a proper building scheme being introduced in St. John's (or elsewhere in Newfoundland if needed) they would keep people in the country who otherwise are to-day leaving it, as they cannot get a roof over their heads. The Government will forever lose the duties these people would have paid upon their other necessary importations, and the country will lose a potential source of wealth, the value of which is incalculable.

To most of us it is a puzzle that the Government has not to date passed the Charter giving full incorporation to St. John's. As far back as 1916, the Mayor, Mr. W. G. Gosling, pointed out the seriousness of the Housing problem in St. John's and so that it and other problems might be properly handled a full Charter was suggested and it was drawn up and submitted to the Government, and our then Premier Sir E. P. Morris. As some few points were objected to, at a Citizens' Meeting, which Sir E. P. Morris called, a large and representative Citizens' Committee was appointed to go again carefully over it and report. This was done, the Chairman being Mr. Albert Soper, the vice-chairman Mr. W. A. O'D. Kelly, and the Secretary Mr. Warwick Smith, all representative citizens and public men. It might appear as if the Government thought there was some opposition to the Charter which opposition they did not like to back, but I trust the general feeling of the citizens of St. John's to-day is that this Charter should be passed immediately. If by any chance there is anything objectionable found in the working of it, certainly it can be remedied later. Some of us would like to see Mr. Soper and the other gentlemen of this Citizens' Committee, as also the Mayor and City Councilors, hold a public meeting and report on this charter this week, and show the whole public the necessity for its being passed in order to adequately handle the Housing Problem.

We should also like to see our members the Hon. John Bennett and the Hon. William Higgins look into this matter, as also the various aspects of the Housing Scheme. We imagine that it would be to their interests to put as many houses into their districts as possible, occupied by satisfied voters, and if Mr. Higgins thought that under any Government Scheme too many were going into the West End that he may say "Off-Side" or "That's our Ball." A full Charter of incorporation would give the Mayor and City Fathers a chance to look into the future, and lay out the city ahead, as is done in all other countries. It would also enable them to take over unoccupied lands for Soldiers', Workmen's, or other houses. They would be enabled through it to raise money to erect houses for sale on easy terms, or lend cash to citizens who are building for themselves. They could take over land on the outskirts of the town to which title is lost, and which would later be a valuable asset.

The Government should give the Municipal Council, (if nobody else)

the privilege of free entry on building materials till the present crisis is over.

For quick building, readymade houses can be imported from America and put together in a very short time. The Municipal Council could import either houses or materials in large quantities at the closest prices, and get the best freight rates. On a steady centralised building scheme, keeping all the laborers engaged in constant employment, they should also be enabled to effect a great saving in costs. Outside of their own building schemes the Municipal Council could arrange to assist schemes promoted by Associations or Societies. They could also help the handy-man who can almost build a house himself, or any private citizen who will build with his own capital, as every house built now helps remedy matters.

It may be that some of these suggestions may meet with some criticism, but I trust it will be helpful criticism that will show us how to better tackle the problem. Certainly anything that is going to be done will have to be started at once and before the House of Assembly closes. I am pleased to see our friend Mr. William White, as also the Telegram and the other papers beginning to back the passing of the Charter and I believe that if our good friend and citizen Mr. Albert Soper would call up his men and summon the citizens that we will see something practical done in a very short time.

Few Cents Destroys Your Dandruff and Stops Fallig Hair.

Save your hair! Make it thick, wavy and beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp, of dandruff—that awful scrub of the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine to-night—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, curly hair—hair—growing all over the scalp.

Romance of a Store.

One of the most romantic careers in the history of industry, has closed by the death in Glen Cove, Long Island, New York, of Mr. Frank Woolworth. Deceased, who was 67, was at one time a barefooted boy on an American farm. After several rebuffs he got a job in a store, worked three months for nothing, afterwards rising to 14s. a week. Six years later, in 1878, he opened his first Five-cent Store in Utica, New York, with £60 worth of five-cent articles—and failed. Nothing daunted, he closed down there and reopened at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, got a footing at last, and in 1880 felt so rich on about £400 that he took his first holiday. The business grew by leaps and bounds. There are now about 800 "5c. and 10c." stores in the United States and Canada, and some 60 in Great Britain, all controlled by the Woolworth Corporation. The central office round which all these cheap, but not small, stores radiate was another of Mr. Woolworth's original ideas. It was his boast that the Woolworth Building in Broadway, New York, was the largest in the world. Of all the many "sky-scrapers" which first strike the traveller's eye as he approaches New York, the Woolworth Building is the highest. It stands 792ft. high, and is crowned by an observation tower from which a view of the whole of New York and of the Atlantic Ocean—25 miles distant—can be obtained. The foundations are 130ft. deep, and are set on solid rock. The building took two and a half years to erect. With the site it cost $3,000,000, of which $5,000 was spent in the gold on the tower. Sixty-three thousand tons of steel were used in the construction. The building is as luxurious as it is large. Two floors are used by the Woolworth Corporation, and the rest is occupied by banks, offices, restaurants, Turkish baths, and swimming baths. It accommodates 16,000 persons. Not a penny for this vast undertaking was raised on mortgage, and it was indeed always one of Mr. Woolworth's boasts that he had never borrowed money in the whole of his business career. The Woolworth Corporation employs a staff of over 25,000 and in the United States and Canada alone has an annual turnover of more than 13 million pounds.—News of the World.

Which House Dominates Your Block?
 SOMEWHERE in "Every community" is a house which always smiles at you. It is always a little more cheerful looking than the others, brighter, better kept, and—well painted.
 Inside that house lives a good citizen and a good neighbor. His house is so inviting that it is like a hand stretched out to you. You are bound to feel glad that its owner lives near you.
B-H PAINT
 Somewhere else in "Every community" stands another house. Its owner has become discouraged. He has quit trying. He has lost his ambition and gradually has accepted his fate as a down-and-outer.
 You know that this is so, because his house says so. It is dingy, beginning to crack and sag, and is unpainted.
 Its owner is not a good citizen. He has not done his share. His house stands out like a "sore thumb." It robs a whole neighborhood of legitimate real estate value. Buyers of new houses avoid its neighborhood.

FOR 20 YEARS DOCTORS TRIED to cure a bad leg from which I suffered," says Miss F. Daudin, of Somerset, Man., writing to the proprietors of Zam-Buk. "The numerous remedies which I used during that time also proved ineffective. Finally I was advised to try your Zam-Buk. I hadn't used it long before I could see that this remedy was quite different from anything I had before tried. It wasn't long before the inflammation began to disappear and with it the pain. The appearance of the sore changed—it became healthier looking, and when I noticed healing had commenced, I persevered with Zam-Buk and it entirely cured me. I shall never be without it again, and if everyone knew the wonderful healing power of Zam-Buk I am sure it would be in every home."
 Zam-Buk is so successful in healing chronic sores because of its great refinement and its extraordinary powers of penetration: it reaches the "root" of the disease in the underlying tissues and cleanses the flesh of all germs. Zam-Buk then grows new tissue, which, replacing the old and diseased, builds itself up to the surface skin. A complete and permanent cure results.
 Zam-Buk is best for eczema, ulcers, abscesses, rashes, boils, pimples, blood-poisoning, and piles, and is indispensable as a first-aid for cuts, burns, scalds, etc. All dealers 50c box.

A Long "Mush."
 A Royal North-West Mounted Police officer, Sergeant Thompson, arrived The Pas, Manitoba, this week, after accomplishing a feat which rivals any in the annals of that famous force. Sergeant Thompson brought an insane Indian from Trout Lake, near Hudson's Bay, and had to "mush" 1,100 miles over the snow with the Indian lashed to his dog sledge. Part of the trip was made through a blizzard. On arriving at The Pas, Thompson's dogs were so weak from lack of food that they could hardly drag their load into the town.—News of the World.

Great Rowing Feat.
 Although approaching 60 years of age, a Deal boatman, named William Foster, accomplished the remarkable performance of rowing a small open 14ft. boat from Deal to Hythe, a distance of over 20 miles, in 4 1/2 hours. For the first half of the journey he had to pull against a strong tide, should the weather be favorable this week, Foster proposes to try his skill over the same course in a small shallow skiff, and then keep himself in training for the coast regattas.—News of the World.

 Lief Ericsson was probably first to cross the Atlantic, in a galley from the Danish coast to Labrador in six months.
 Christopher Columbus made it in two months with his three little caravels in 1492, sailing from Spain.
 The first steamship to cross, the Savannah, made it in 26 days, from Savannah, Ga., to Liverpool, in 1819.
 The Deutschland made the first trans-Atlantic underwater trip in 1916 in three weeks, Bremen to New York.
 The Mauretania lowered all records from Queenstown to New York in 1910 in 4 days 10 hours.
 But records were again smashed by a British "mystery ship" in 1917 in 3 1/2 days.

The Rhodes Scholarships.

The Rhodes Trustees announce that the election of scholars will be resumed this year, when there will be an election for two candidates to fill up the scholarships for 1918 and 1919.

Next year the Trust again proposes to choose two candidates for 1920 and 1921, after which the annual elections will resume their normal course.

Candidates must be British subjects and unmarried. They must have passed their nineteenth birthday but must not have passed their 25th birthday, on the first of October of the year for which they are elected.

Candidates must have had two years of training at some degree-granting University or College, or a course of study accepted by the Trustees as an equivalent.

The Trust is very anxious, other things being equal, to give first consideration to men who have showed their patriotism by going on active service.

Amongst those applying there may be some who have not been able, on account of service, to get the two years of university life required by the regulations. Oxford has arranged to excuse such men from Responsions, and the Trust thinks that they should be allowed to compete.

On the other hand the local committee has been strongly urged not to select anyone who by the want of preparatory training is not fairly prepared to get good results from a course at Oxford.

Men who have not been on service will be expected to meet the University requirements.

The Scholar elected for 1918 will be expected to go into residence not later than January 1920. The one elected for 1919 will take up work in Oxford in October 1920.

Applications for the 1918 scholarship to be accompanied by ten copies of certificates and testimonials should be made to the undersigned not later than July 1st of this year.

The candidate for 1918 will be eligible if he were not more than 25 years of age on October 1st, 1917.

The date for receiving applications for the 1919 scholarship will be announced later.

کتاب متنوع للاسائيه New Relief For Constipation, "LES FRUITS"

Physicians agree that with the modern habits of living, constipation is likely to be always with us. They also agree that the constant use of any drug for the relief of constipation is exceedingly unwise—unwise for two reasons.

First, a drug constantly used loses its effect and requires a constantly increased dose. Second, because the constant use of any drug is bad anyway.

So the cry is constantly going up from the constipated, "What can we do?" It will be interesting to a great many to know that an answer has been found in the re-discovery of a method which was used with great success by our Forefathers, and in Arabia far back in the twelfth century. The food is called "Les Fruits" because it is composed entirely of figs, dates, prunes, raisins and the leaves of each with the substitution of the Alexandra leaf for the raisin leaf. The taste is pleasant, if not to say delicious, and the effect is exceedingly satisfactory. Try it and be convinced.
