THE LUNATIC ASYLUM.

The Proposal to Remove it Outside the City Limits Discussed.

At the conclusion of an interview yester day afternoon between five city aldermen and Premier Mowat anent the removal of the fence around government house, Ald. Geo. Evans called the attention of Mr. Mowat to a notice of motion that was on the city council minutes praying that the provincial lunatic asylumn be removed outside the city limits, say to Mimico. Ald. Evans said the asylum in its present location was a barrier to the progress of the west end. There were 140 acres of valuable land in the plot. He (Mr. Evans) had devoted considerable attention to the subject, and he felt satisfied that more than enough could be realized by the sale of this last to erect a handsome and commodious asylum outside the city. There were also other considerations. The late Dr. Workman and ex-Insapector Langmuir were in favor of its removal. These gentlemen held that the unfortunate inmates would thrive much better if they were removed from the noise of incessant passing trains and the hum of factories which are springing up in the west end.

Mr. Mowat said he had no doubt that the asylum would have to be removed at some time. He thought Ald. Evans had made out a fairly strong case.

A short discussion followed as to the Mowat to a notice of motion that was on some time. He thought Ald. Evans had made out a fairly strong case.

A short discussion followed as to the value of the land. There is a frontage of 2600 feet on King street and 2000 on King street, and Ald. Maughan said it was fully worth $20 per foot. This would realize $800,000. Ald. Carlyle estimated the value at $30 per foot on Queen street and $15 on King street. $15 on King street.

The premier said the subject woul receive the attention of the government.

bracing October morning. This of course announced that the lieutenant-governor was within. A couple of hours afterwards a World reporter waited upon his excellency, whom he found in the act of brushing the LAST SPECK OF REGINA MUD off his elegant frock-coat and glossy "plug" hat. The occupant of the provincial mansion looked rosy and fresh, and apparently his trip to the land of the buffalo, the mounted police, the syndicate and Sitting Bull was very beneficial to him.

The reporter announced that he called to get his excellency's opinion of the Northwest.

"Well," he replied, "I have not much to say. It is a great country and immigrants are pouring in there by the thous ands." His excellency then proceeded to give a short account of his trip. He left for fornot about three weeks ago and went direct to Winnipeg. From that city a party consisting of the lieutenant-gevernor, Capt. Rettallack of England (formerly on the staff of Lord Monck), W. B Scarth, James Scarth, Dr. Rae and Roderick Cameron, a prominent New York shipping merchant engagged in the Australian trade, left for the west over the Canada Pacific railway. Messrs Sheppard and Langdon, the contractors, were performing their work with "neatness and despatch." The mounted police is found of invaluable service to the contractors and the company, and acted in an efficient and sensible manner on all occasions on which their services were required. If another month of good weather continues the iron horse will screach within twenty miles of the Saskatchewan river; if the weather lasts six or seven days longer the banks of that great stream would be reached. The road is graded eighty miles beyond the river.

"What do you think of Regina?" asked our reporter.

I left the Canada Pacific at Troy, east of Regina, in company with Major Walsh and drove 40 miles north to Fort Qu'Appelle, which is the loveliest spot I ever beheld. The country and scenery around the fort is beautiful. Erandon is a very progressive town. It was only incorporated last April and its first mayor, Mr. Thos, Daly, son of Mr. Daly, M. He had threshed in all 18,000 bushels of grain and expected to realize $12,000 this year, which would pay for his 640 acres of land (400 of which was under tillage), for his fine residence, all his improvements and leave $2000 in pocket. Mr. Duncan Shaw, a son of Major Shaw (an old friend of mine), has a farm of 250 acres adjoining Mr. Whitehead's. Mr. Shaw, like nearly every one I spoke to, declared that his farm was one I spoke to, declared that his farm was the best in the Northwest. Everyone aims that distinction.

OUT ON THE PRAIRIE.

His excellency spoke in the same strain as many others who have come down from the Northwest lately about the prospective hardships that many immigrants will undergo this winter out on the prairies. Many of these poor people have not the slightest idea of the severity of the winter was there. They were to be met in scores up there. They were to be met in scores with tents, in which they intended to live through the winter. When the scarcity of wood and water is taken into account their first winter in Canada will not be of the most encouraging nature.

THE PRINCE ARTHUR ROUTE. THE PRINCE ARTHUR ROUTE.

His excellency and Mr. Cameron returned from Winnipeg over the new route via Rat Portage and Prince Arthur's Landing. It took them three days to make the trip from Winnipeg to the Landing, a distance of 360 miles. Some of their friends told them that they had better take the other route, but his excellency insisted that he wanted to see the country. SATURDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 21, 1882.

"CANADA AS A HOME." Mr. J. S. Bourinet has reprinted in pam phlet form his paper "Canada as a Home" published in the Westminster Review. In this paper the writer gives a good deal of attention to the question of immigration to Canada, pointing out the causes which diverted from Europe to the United States. Among these causes not the least significant, were the unwillingness of the Germans to go to a colony preferring instead the republic, nurtured though they were in the fatherland in the atmosphere of the staidest monarchism; and the unwillingness shown by the Irish as a body to settle in the colonies of England. While there may not be so much in these two contentions as Mr. Bourinot thinks, there is nevertheless a good deal in them. And pondering them over one is led to the reflection that if Canada had not been a colony no objection in this line would have existed. But if these reasons were good and regretable in the past, when during some years we had an inflow of settlers greater than we could provide for, how much greater and more regretable will they not be-are they not now-when by the construction of our railroads, half a continent is thrown open for settlement. The fact is, this very feature is one of the strong reasons that may be urged in favor of Canadian independence. Were Canada an independent nation, full of national aspirations and relieved of the colony prejudice, settlers, and settlers of the most sturdy and

And speaking of German and other immilong seemed to escape the attention of the press and the governments. The system of colonization is bad. If you put a colony of Swedes, Frenchmen, Icelanders or Germans upon a piece of territory to themselves, and go visit them twenty years afterwards you will find that they are still living in complete isolation. They will have retained their own old-fashioned ways, will till their land and manage their crops precisely as they did in the parent country. The stranger who travels through some of the colonies so planted in Manitoba will find abundant evidence of this; and the same is true of the Danish colony in New Brunswick where the colonists live apart, land and manage their crops precisely Brunswick where the colonists live apart, plod on in their past century, slow ways, wear wooden shoes, and ride oxen into market in preference to horses. The right plan is to colonize indiscriminately, sprinkling the German or the Frenchman or the Scandanavian among the thrifty Scotch or English farmers, and the Irish among the rest.

We think there was a good deal of force We think there was a good deal of force in the point made by Mr. Houston in his letter to the Moil newspaper some days ago, that we have had enough of Scott and mediævalism for the present as an English classic in our schools, and should now seek for a change in the rich field at our disposal for a change in the rich field at our disposal. for a change in the rich field at our disposal.

the less the chance for a man who "goes off" pay, or would pay. In listening to the newspaper offices, for instance, "the old guard" is being relegated to limbo and a younger band of trained and reliable men are taking their place. It is the small towns which now tolerate the drinkers, and as a result they are rather thick in some hamlets. But the drinkers must go, and therefore it is the object of the young men to take care that they do not recruit their ranks. They have a model in Edward Blake who said in a speech the other day that he had been a total abstainer for eight years back, and he had been led to become so through the conviction that it was the example of the moderate drinkers that led so through the conviction that it was the example of the moderate drinkers that led so many young men astray.

more especially the people of Brighton are no doubt asking themselves whether the firing of a pistol by an unprotected woman, in hope to scare away an intruder whose movements justified suspicion of evil intent, constitutes a crime justly punishable by six months imprisonment in the common jail. There is such a thing known to law "justifiable homicide." Even if a jury be not intelligent enough to know what constitutes justifiable homicide is it not possible for the judge to instruct them? SIR: What the people of Cobourg and more especially the people of Brighton are no doubt asking themselves whether the bid its exercise; they cannot be held by the old policy. Australia boldly adopts a protective tariff, and her parliament is only nominally controlled by the crown. Canada exacts duties on English goods, and England cannot help herself. Even with these concessions, can England keep her great colonies! They are still loyal in word. They still affect English manners and English speech, and draw their intellectual supplies from England. On the prospect of a war with Russia, they nearly all offered volunteers. But everybody knows that allegiance is on the condition of local autonomy. If united Canada asks to go, she will go. So with Australia. It may be safely predicted that England will never fight again to hold the sovereignty of her new world possessions against their present occupants. ada exacts duties on English goods, and to hold the sovereignty of her new world possessions against their present occupants. And in the judgment of many good observers, a dissolution of the empire, so far as the western colonies are concerned, is inevitable, unless Great Britain, adopting the plan urged by Franklin, becomes an imperial federation, with parliaments distinct and independent, the crown and not the English parliament, being the titular and actual sovereign. Sovereign power in the parliament over America, Franklin never would admit. His idea was that all the inhabit ants of the empire must be citizens, not Sir: Our superior court opened here on Cuesday the 17th inst., Judge Wilson pre-

[BY SPECTATOR.] AUTHA In my papers on Canadian independence a horde of newspapers supporting the Ot tawa government have found material for attack on Mr. Blake. I stated in my last paper that Mr. Blake was in favor of inlependence at heart, but that he would only support the measure within the bounds of prudence, and that he would never thwart the movement. In reference to this one paper says it always knew he was disloyal; and another says that "he is a nice person to be at the head of a great Canadian party;" while some others say "It is just SIR: That shooting, without intent, was as well the people should learn some of the verdict that should have been rendered the dark mystery brooding within the been discharged for drunkenness, and then by the jury will be the opinion I am sure man." REPUDIATING THE MAIL.

From the Northern Advance, Barrie. (Lib. Con.)

From a political point of view the course of the Mail is equally open to censure. It perhaps is none of our business what line of argument the Mail may take, but if that is the case we must protest against that paper being regarded as the official exponent of the views of the Conservatives.

THE PUNISHMENT OF CHILDEEN.

It is only a few nights ago since Oscar Wilde was in company with a number of young gentlemen in New Brunswick. The question of Canadian independence came up when he said he was unable to understand why young Canadians were satisfied with being now in the leading strings; that a movement for independence would have the sympathy at least of the English liberals and would not be seriously opposed by the tories Indeed his very words were—and though he may be extravagant upon estheticism he is one of the keenest observers of his time—that in asking for separation we "would not alone get the concurrence but the respect of the empire." separation we "would not alone get the concurrence but the respect of the empire." I shall conclude this paper—still leaving untouched a discussion of the ways and means and feasibility of the measure—by reiterating my statement that the feeling for independence in this country is not insignificant or the property only of a few. We have all the leading minds—I only mention Mr. Goldwin Smith—on our side; nine-tenths of our manly thoughtful young we have all the leading minds—I only mention Mr. Goldwin Smith—on our side; nine-tenths of our manly thoughtful young men are with us; and even much over half the number of our representatives at Ottawa believe our relations ought to be changed; but they keep their opinions to themselves for the same reason that Mr. Blake keeps his mouth shut Our govertor general did say in Winnipeg and also I believe in Loudan that there was practically no such question here; but that can hardly be called a negative to our bold statement to the contrary. The marquis is a weak little man where a point of intellect or deep-lying principle is concerned, and has made some of the very poorest verses since coming over here that ever has been produced in this country. He is one of these men whose mental stature is incapable of growth, and whose opinions are incapable of growth, and whose opinions are incapable of change. He thinks as the ages before him had thought, and bow down in his harmless way to the sovereignty of custom He does very well to say yes when he is told to do so, and to sigu them; but he ought not to obtrude himself into discussions from which he will emerge at best very had viddled.

place last evening in Dufferin hall, Queen the following: Messrs. Sancier, Jaffrey and Hogg, from the goldsmiths and jewelers; Kyan, Shea and O'Neil, from the men; and Leslie, Witton and pocket some $300 by reason of loss sustained through not getting use of dining hall on the grounds, as promised (he alleges), and asking to be recouped. Mr. Hawethorne, chairman on that occasion, deried such a promise being made and after some lengthy explanations of the whole affair the question was not entertained.

The further consideration of the labor platform was entered upon in committee of the whole, with Mr. Sheppard of the cigarmakers in the chair. [The World gave the platform in full some time ago.] In amendment to clause 5 Mr. Oakley moved that the clause read: "The abolition of all property qualification or the depositing of money on the part of candidates for parliamentary or municipal honors." He pointed out that the original was loosely worded, and spoke strongly in support of the amendment.

planks which he would be among them—an enactment to give priority to workingmen's claims against insolvent estates, similar in effect to the present Ontario lien law; condemning the "bunck" system; the establishment of bureaus of Abor, statistics, etc.

Mr. Derham wished also to embody the following: "That the public domain being the property of the whole people the passage of a law prohibiting the sale of the same en bloc by the crown or otherwise to individuals or bodies of capitalists or landwhat is impressive in the public interests." sharks, is imperative in the public interests."
On motion these suggestions were referred to the legislative committee for consideration, with instructions to report upon the same at next meeting.

It being nearly 11 o'clock and the extended time expired the council adjourned.

Removal.

Send stamp for pamphlet containing full particulars of the new treatment and wonderful instrument, the Spirometer.

Bradstrect's Weekly Reports.

New York, Oct. 20.—The telegraphic advices to bradstreet's this week reveal a continued healthful condition of general trade. Favorable weather is reported from all sections of the cotton regions, except Texas, where injurious rains have fallen, as they have also in Arkansas. Wheat has advanced and is firmer. Corn is higher owing to the depletion of the visible supply and the fact that it is cornered in New York and Chicago. Stæcks of provisions and lard are lower than for several years, and are controlled by a few speculators. Oats are higher owing to decreasing supply and increasing consumptive demand. The iron market is somewhat weaker than last week. Petroleum dull and col going off moderately; will not be up to circular ra'tes. Ocean freights firm but not much doing, except in cotton. Bradstreet's reports 141 failures this week, 16 more than last week and 32 more than in the corresponding week last year. Canada and the provinces had 27, an unusually large number, the increase being 11. Bradstreet's Weekly Reports.

Catarrh-A New Treatment.

Perbaps the most extraordinary success that been achieved in modern medicine has been attaine by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of two thousand patients treated during the past six mouths fully ninety per cent have been cured of this stubborn malady. This is none the less startling when it is remembered that not five per cent of patients presenting themselves to the regular practitioner are benefited, while the patent medicines and other advertised cures never record a cure at all. Striting with the claim now generally believed by the most scientific men that the disease is due to the presence of living parasites in the tissue, Mr. Dixon at once adapted his cure to their extermination—this accomplished, he claims the catarrh is practically cured and the permanency is unquestioned, as cures effected by him two years ago are cures still. No one else has ever attempted to cure catarrh in this manner, and no other treatment has ever cured catarrh. The application of the remedy is simple and can be done at home, and the present season of the year is the most favorable for a speedy and permanent cure, the majority of cases being cured at one treatment. Sufferers shild correspond, with Mr. A. H. Dixon 395 and 397 King street west. Toronto, Cumda, and enclose stamp for his typatics on catarrh by the Dixon treatment for catarrh. Out of tw

Visit to Mr. Pinkham's Labratory.

S. B. Brittan and Mr. Charles McArthur, of New York-we visited the residence and labratory of Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, of Lynn, and there witnessed the proofs of business now conducted by this lady. We were prepared to be favorably impressed by the woman who has achieved such unequaled distinction within the short period of five and generally known than any individual of her sex in this country. We have repeatedly heard it intimated that Mr. Pinkha

On the reading of clause 8 referring to Chinese labor restriction,
Mr. Moor moved in amendment that the section read: "The prohibition of Chinese coolie emigration."
In reply to Mr. Oakley, Mr. Heakes explained that the imperial government reserved the right to prohibit—but we have the power to limit. He was in favor of prohibition pure and simple, but it is not possible under our present system.
Mr. Moor was not opposed to Chinese as such, but he was opposed to Chinese slave labor being introduced into Canada. He favored prohibition pure and simple.
Mr. McCard said it might be treasonable, but he would say if we could not enact such a law, then the sconer we were an independent nation the better so as to enjoy that right. After discussion the sections down to 12 were concurred in without amend. ing humanity.

Mrs. Pinkham and her worthy husban to 12 were concurred in without amendment.

Time being up the committee rose, reported progress, and asked leave to sit again, which on being granted the committee resumed, and

Mr. Moor moved in amendment to clause 12 "That the contract system on public works be abolished." After some discussion this amendment was declared out of order. Mr. Oakley then moved "that the works be abolished." After some discussion this amendment was declared out of order. Mr. Oakley then moved "that the clause as read be expunged." During the discussion of this subject party politics were a strong factor in the debate.

Mr. Heakes insinuated that Mr. Moor was influenced in his actions by the fact that he was working for the government.

Mr. Moor warmly denounced such an imputation. He had asked for a job from the fereman and got it. Out of the seven employed by the Ontario government on the law of the seven employed by the Ontario government on the foreman and got it. Out of the seven employed by the Ontario government on the job four were conservatives. He was not the tool of any party.

Mr. Harris was very sorry for as well as surprised at the insinuation made by Mr. Heakes, especially as that gentleman stated when presenting the platform that the committee were unanimous, but he forgot to tell them that they (the committee) were all conservatives but one.

The amendment was lost on a vote of 14 to 10.

The remaining clauses were then read and approved. On the committee rising their report was received. Mr. Oakley said he would not be in town when the report came up for adoption and said he wished to make a make a few suggestions as to some other planks which he would like to see embodied among them—an enactment to give priority.

CONSUMPTION

liver, stomach, and blood, etc.

Nearly 40,000 cases succussfully treated during the past sixteen years for some form of head, throat or lung troubles.

There is no disease with which the human family is afflicted so deleterious in its effects, so loathsome to the sufferer, and so fatal in its consequences, and yet so neglected as catarin. The danger of visre-garding the first and cariler symptoms of the disease is realized by few, and still less are they aware of the many diseases entailed upon them, and of which catarrh and catarh alone is the exciting cause. Foremost among them stands consumption, the destroyer of millions, while prevailant to an adaming extent is bronchitis, laryngitis, aphonia, aathma, and other dangerous affections of the throat and chest. You may think that we we give u due importance to these strifies, but go to those among your friends who are now in the last stage of consumption and ask them how their disease begen. They will in almost ever, instance tell you of a slight cold, a backing cough, or a little soreness in the throat, which were treated as exacrely worthy of notice a few months ago, and will add their cough grew worse. The name of consumption would have awakened them to a consciousness of their true state. That name was withheld, and in fancied accurity they have journeyed onward to the brink of the grave, now waiting to receive them. There is one point to which we would advert—that is the unwillingness of those suffering from diseases of the head, throat and chest to acknowledge themselves in any danger until the disease has reached an advanced stage. Many lose their lives by waiting to ree what will become of their cold and catarrh. Nothing is valid by the suffering from diseases of the head, throat and chest to acknowledge themselves in any danger until the disease has reached an advanced stage. Many lose their lives by waiting to ree what will become of their cold and catarrh. Nothing is valid by the sum of the sum of the produced in the sum of the produced in the sum o
