GRAND JURY, March 19.—Capt. McKenna of the Utopia has been arrested for wrongful conduct, improper conduct, negligence and mismanagement.

The accounts given by divers at work on the wrecked Utopia of the terrible sight which they have witnessed increase the appalling character of the catastrophe. The scenes say they found the bodies and the wreckage of the Utopia closely packed with the bodies of the unfortunate passengers, who had become wedged into an almost solid mass in their frantic rush to reach the decks after the steamer crashed into the ram of the ironclad. The portions of the bodies show there was a terrible struggle for life.

Onions to lack of accommodation in the naval hospital here many of the rescued have been compelled to encamp on the Glaisher. The military are patrolling the spot for the purpose of securing any bodies that may be washed in by the waves.

The inhabitants of this place who witnessed the disaster are unspurred in their praise of the great gallantry displayed by the men of the British squadron, who hurried to the rescue of the endangered passengers in small boats on an angry sea, in the teeth of a heavy gale. Much praise is also bestowed on the crew of the yacht Resolute, who manned a boat and saved 16 persons.

The two blue jackets of the British ironclad immortalized by the heroism of the crew were buried today with full honors.

TWAS THE DEED OF A MADMAN.

OTAWA, March 19.—William Courts of Mount Forest, charged with the murder of his child, was found not guilty on the ground of insanity at the assize today. On the 20th October, 1890, the body of a child was discovered in a cistern at Mount Forest, which proved to be the youngest child of the prisoner. It appears that he is a married man and had two children. He and his wife separated, the youngest child being left in his charge. Prior to the separation and afterwards Courts wanted to give the child away. On or about the 1st of November he told his neighbors that he had given it to a farmer in the township of Normandy, and he shortly afterwards left the village, going to live with his mother. The child was found in the cistern some three weeks later and was recognized.

ENGLISHMEN IN CANADA.
A Humorous and Eloquent Address by Mr. Cockin Last Night.

A most interesting lecture was given in St. Stephen's school-room last night by H. K. Cockin on "Englishmen in Canada." It was under the auspices of the Young People's Association, and the attendance was very good. As a lecturer Mr. Cockin is a verified success. He is a pleasing and fluent speaker. The lecturer's description of the childish ignorance of the educated Englishman as revealed in his remarks on Canada was truly laughable indeed. The characteristics of the Englishman in Canada were pointed out in a very pleasing manner. Probably the most clever and masterly in Canada was the Englishman in Canada.
