

DYKEMAN'S GREAT SALVAGE SALE

A short time ago there occurred a big fire in the building adjoining the Warehouse of W. R. Brock & Co. Limited, Montreal, a large manufacturing and jobbing house. This firm had stocked in its warehouse over one million dollars worth of stock, about three hundred thousand dollars worth of which was more or less damaged by the sprinkler system, with which their warehouse is equipped, being turned on. This three hundred thousand dollars worth of Dry Goods was not damaged in any way but by water and it being clean water direct from the sprinklers has left but little trace on any of the goods.

We have secured a large portion of this $300,000 of their stock and it will be placed on sale Wednesday Morning.

The largest quantity of goods which we secured was from the DRESS GOODS DEPARTMENT. These consist of 1911 Spring Styles and were stored ready to be shipped to their customers, so in buying from this lot you do not get any old style materials, but the very newest that is shown, and they consist mostly of staple colors such as Blacks, Navy Blues, Browns, Greens and all the leading shades that are now in vogue.

There are also a lot of Cream Serges which we found when the papers were removed to be in perfect condition and not soiled in any way, so these with all the Staple Colors may be classed as perfect goods, but yet we secured them at about one-half their usual price.

Nine-tenths of the entire lot of Dress Goods are all wool materials, consequently any water that did get on the edges of the goods has not affected their appearance one particle. Any of the few pieces that are showing any dampness at the present time can be sponged by us at a cost of 5 cents a yard for a width, during this Sale. The sponging would eliminate any difference there might be in the wet part and the portion that did not get wet.

Goods to Be Found in This Sale Are: Many hundreds of yards of Dress Goods, White Cottons, Pillow Cottons, Pillow Slips, Towellings, Men's Shirts and Drawers both Winter and Summer Weight, Men's Braces, In the Ladies' Ready-to-Wear Department, Whitewear, Ladies' Sweaters, Ladies' Waists, Children's Dresses, Ladies' Summer and Winter Underwear, Shaker and Wool Blankets, Comfortables, a Large Assortment of Small Wares, and many other goods which will be on sale throughout the store.

Nearly all these goods are On Sale at One-Half and Less Than Half Their Regular Price.

F.A. DYKEMAN & CO., 59 Charlotte Street.

FAMOUS GEMS OF PROSE INORDINATE AMBITION

I HAVE been accused of ambition in presenting this measure. Ambition inordinate ambition! If I had thought of myself only I should have never brought it forward. I know well the perils to which I expose myself, the risk of alienating faithful and valued friends with but little prospect of making new ones, if any new ones could compensate for the loss of those whom we have long tried and loved; and the honest misconceptions both of friends and foes. Ambition! If I had listened to its soft and seducing whispers; if I had yielded myself to the dictates of a cold, calculating and prudential policy, I would have stood still and unmoved. I might even have allowed myself to be carried away by the state to conduct it as they could. I have been heretofore often unjustly accused of ambition. Low, grovelling souls, who are utterly incapable of elevating themselves to the higher and nobler duties of pure patriotism—being who, forever keeping their own selfish aims in view, desire all public measures by their prescriptive for themselves. I have given to the winds those false accusations as I consign that which now impels my motives. I have no desire for office, not even the highest. The most exalted is but a prison, in which the incarcerated incumbent daily receives his cold, heartless visitants, marks his weary hours, and is cut off from the practical enjoyment of all the blessings of genuine freedom. I am no candidate for any office in the gift of the people of these states, united or separated; I never wish, never expect to be. Pass the bill, tranquillize the country, restore confidence and affection in the union, and I am willing to go home to Ashland and renounce public service forever. I should there find, in its groves, under its shades, on its lawns, amidst my flowers and herbs, in the bosom of my family, sincerity and truth, attachment and fidelity and gratitude, which I have never always found in the walks of public life. Yes, I have ambition; but it is the ambition of being the humble instrument in the hands of Providence, to reconcile a divided people; once more to restore concord and harmony in a distracted land—the pleasing ambition of contemplating the glorious spectacle of a free, united, prosperous and fraternal people.

VISIT TO ST. PETER'S ENJOYED

Large Gathering of Members of Catholic Societies in Fraternal Visit to North End Boys

A jolly crowd of young men in all walks of life, and from all sections of the city gathered last evening in the rooms of St. Peter's, Y. M. C. A. Douglas avenue, and were entertained royally by the North End boys as their guests at the annual fraternal visit. It was one of the happiest evenings ever passed in the commodious building, and the affair was generally voted as being one of the most successful of its kind yet conducted. Much credit is due to the efforts of the literary committee, whose chairman is James Burke. The members of the Y. M. C. A. of St. Joseph and of the Father Mathew Association were present in large numbers, and contributed several musical and literary numbers to the programme. A. H. Delaney, president of the North End "Y" occupied the chair and the following programme was successfully carried out: Solo by C. A. Conlon, D. Higgins, G. Doherty, Hugh Campbell and Frank McGarrigle, who was assisted in his several choruses by a sextette from St. Michael's Working Boys; harmonica solo, R. Garrett; reading, Stephen Hurley and step dance, W. McMann, and musical selections by St. Peter's orchestra. A distinct feature of the evening was the reception accorded the veteran songster, Hugh Campbell, when he entered the hall, and especially when he gave some of his old time hits such as "The Friends of My Youth," "Tommy Todd," and "Jenny Johnson." His younger admirers cheered repeatedly, and the welcome given Mr. Campbell was very hearty. Interesting speeches were made by the representatives of the societies as follows: F. L. Barrett, A. O. B.; M. A. Barry, I. L. & B.; C. P. O'Neill, C. M. B. A.; W. J. Macneil, St. Joseph's; J. B. Dever, F. M. A.; and Thos. Kishan of the A. O. H. Mr. Delaney gave a hearty welcome to all present. All the speakers lauded the efforts of the worthy spiritual director, Rev. J. H. Bourzmann, C. S. S. R. in the interests of St. Peter's and attributed almost entirely to him what success had been attained by the association. Clam chowders and cigars served to make the evening a decided success, and when the gathering dispersed all voted that they had enjoyed themselves immensely.

A new signal apparatus intended to warn railroad trackmen of the approach of trains and thus lessen the number of accidents to this class of railroad employees has been introduced on the North British railway. A box mounted in a conspicuous place has indicators which show whether there is a train on the section and from which direction it is approaching. A similar device is being set up at stations all over the line, and it is expected that it will be in use by the end of the year.

THE DE BERCEY AFFAIR

BY GORDON HOLMES

CHAPTER X. THE DIARY AND ROSALIND.

Strange as a process of nature is the way in which events, themselves unimportant, work into one another to produce some foreordained result that shall astonish the world.

The sudden appearance of Inspector Clarke before Pauline Desauks at the front door of Mrs. Marsh's lodgings produced, in the girl's moral and physical being, and in Clarke himself that diary of Rose Debercy which Pauline handed him produced a hilarity, an almost drunken display of mind, the results of which led to the events which followed.

To Clarke the diary was a revelation. Moreover, it was one of those sweet revelations which placed the fact of his own wit and wisdom in a clearer light than he had seen those admitted qualities before. It showed that, though working in the dark, he had been guided aright by a special care of understanding that must have been lit within him before his birth.

He set late at night, restless and restless, at a table over the diary. Mrs. Clarke in the next room long since asleep, London was now perched on the table, her pen the sole sound in the quietude, and Clarke who would have scoffed at a hint of superstition, was stroking her, as he had brought him the lock to get hold of the diary—so easily, so unexpectedly. Pauline was now perched on the table, her pen the sole sound in the quietude, and Clarke who would have scoffed at a hint of superstition, was stroking her, as he had brought him the lock to get hold of the diary—so easily, so unexpectedly.

I seldom dream, that it has become the subject of remark, and De Nauroski of the institute said once that it is because I am such a "perfect animal." It is well to be a perfect something; but that much I owe only to my father and mother. I am afraid I am not a perfect anything else. A perfect hair, perhaps; perfect adventures; using as stepping-stones those whose fond hearts love me; shallow, thin wits; made of hollowing tin from my skin to the tissue of my liver. Oh, perhaps I might have done better for myself! Suppose I had stayed with Marguerite and her pere Arnaud on the farm, and helped to milk the two cows, and met some rustic lover at the stile at dusk, and married him in mullin? It might have been as well. There is something in me that is famished and starved, and decayed, something that pines and sighs because of its utter aloneness—I suppose it is what they call "the soul." I have lied until I am become a lie, an unreality, Nothing, I seem to see myself clearly today, and if I could repeat now, I'd say "I will arise and go to my father, and say to him, 'Father'."

Too late now, I suppose. Marguerite would draw her skirts away from touching me, though the cut of the skirt would set me smiling; and, if the fatted calf was set before me on a soiled table-cloth, I should be ill.

Too late! You can't turn back the clock's hands; the clock stops. God help me, I feel horribly remorseful. What should I have dreamt it? I seldom dream!

dream! and I have never, I think dreamt with such living vividness. I thought I saw my father and Marguerite standing over my dead body, starting at me. I was then, and save myself, and my face was all bruised and wounded; and Marguerite said: "Well, she sought for it," and my father's face twitched, and suddenly he sobbed out: "I wish to Heaven I had died for her!" and my dead eyes on the bed, and my dead head thrust through just once again at him, and then was dead forever.

Clarke did not know that he was reading literature, but he did know that this was more exciting than any story he had ever set eyes on. He stopped, lit a pipe, and resumed.

I saw it, I heard it, though it was in black world that it happened, a world all draped in crape; black, black. But what is the matter with me today? Is there any other woman so good in this great city, I wonder? I have opened one of the boxes of Old Verve, so there are only seven left now; and I have drunk two full glasses of it. Big it has made no difference to me, and so with her to the opera; and Osborne may be coming; and I catch melancholy from me like a fever; I do not know why I dream it, and why I cannot forget it.

Try This Home-Made Cough Remedy Costs Little, But Does the Work Quickly, or Money Refunded.

Mix two cups of granulated sugar with one cup of warm water, and stir for minutes. Put 2 1/2 ounces of Elixer (50 cents) worth in a 10-cent bottle. Then add the Sugar Syrup, and as a spoonful every one, two or three hours. You will find that this remedy takes hold of a cough more quickly than anything else you ever tried. It is a deep-seated cough in a few hours, and it stimulates the appetite and is slightly laxative, which helps and cough. This recipe makes more and better cough syrup than you could buy for $2.00. It keeps perfectly and tastes pleasant.

Pine is the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, and is rich in natural and all the natural pine elements which are so healing to the membranes; our preparations will not work in this regard.

This plan of making cough syrup with Pinex and Sugar (or strained honey) has proven so regular throughout the United States and Canada, that it is often imitated. But the old, successful formula has never been equalled.

A guarantee of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this recipe. Your druggist has Pinex or will get it for you. I get it for you, Wm. Co., Toronto Ont.

gums, but give me life! Let me say I am still alive!

"By Jove!" growled Clarke, chewing his pipe, "that rings in my ears!"

Yet I have curious tokens, hints, fancies, of late. Four nights ago, as I was driving down Hall Mall from Leah's dinner-dance—it was about eleven-thirty—I saw a man in the shadow at a corner who I could have sworn for a moment, was I didn't see his face, for as the carriage approached him, he turned his back, and it was that turning of the back, I think that made me observe him. Suppose all the time F. knows me—knows who that Academy portrait painted, and I must have been mad to consent in the end. If F. saw it? If he knows? What would he do? His nature is capable of ravaging flames of passion. Suppose he killed me? No, he doesn't know, he can't, fate is not so hard. Then there is that wretched Pauline—she shouldn't be this house another week. My quarrel with her this morning was the third, and the most bitter of all. Really that girl knows too much of me to permit of our living any longer under one roof; and, what is more, she has twice dropped hints lately which certainly seem to bear the interpretation that she knows of my work in Berlin for the Russian government. I don't know, but that must only be the madness of my fancy! Two persons, and two only, in the whole world know of my work, possibly. Yet she said in her Friday passion: "You will not be a long liver, I think. You have been too untruthful to your dupes." Untruth to my dupes! Which dupes? My God, if she meant the Anarchists!

Clarke's face was a study when he came to that word. It wore the beatific expression of the man who is justified in his own judgment.

Just suppose that she knows! For that I hear March's government agent, they would do for me, oh, they would, I know, it would be all up with me. Three months ago Sarrae Pauline in the promenoire at Covent Garden, said to me: "By the way, do you know that you have been condemned to death? I forgot to tell you that I thought from that day. He was laughing in his lightest vein, but—God! he never struck me like this before!—Suppose there was earnest under the deep, deep, evil heart, that man. Those were his words—remembered distinctly. "By the way, do you know that you have been condemned to death?"

At the spot of the first dash lay thick ink-marks—really made by Pauline Desauks—and Clarke's eye enough to see this now commenced to scratch out the ink blot with a penknife, and after that he was laughing in his lightest vein, but—God! he never struck me like this before!—Suppose there was earnest under the deep, deep, evil heart, that man. Those were his words—remembered distinctly. "By the way, do you know that you have been condemned to death?"

Aids Nature The great success of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in curing weak stomachs, weak bodies, weak lungs, and obstinate lingering coughs, is based on the recognition of the fundamental truth that "Golden Medical Discovery" supplies Nature with body-building, tissue-repairing, muscle-making materials, in condensed and concentrated form, and helps Nature supply the necessary strength to get on with the food, build up the body, and then to throw off lingering chestnut coughs. It establishes the digestive and nutritive organs in sound health, purifies and enriches the blood, and invigorates the nerves—in short establishes soundness of the entire system.

THE WORK OF AN ENEMY

The Standard is deliberately trying to prejudice St. John people against the commission plan by quoting from its enemies. It is useless for the Standard to attempt to discredit the Des Moines plan.

THE DES MOINES PLAN

The Standard this morning quotes more hostile critics of the commission plan, this time from Des Moines. There have been persons and papers which hated the commission plan because it dethroned the party and the boss.

MAIL ORDER COMPETITION

The Maritime Merchant has a very interesting article of the mail order business in Chicago. It notes the fact that one house in Chicago does a mail order business of over sixty millions of dollars per year.

To Clean Furs Furs are in most cases sent to a professional cleaner when this work is necessary, but they can be cleaned at home very easily.

Then the furs should be shaken well in the open air. If necessary, use a vacuum cleaner for dark furs to get rid of the dirt. Brush thoroughly with a duster brush. The hangings, as well as the fur, should be cleaned with gasoline.

WHITNEY GOVERNMENT IS GIVEN A RAP BY CONSERVATIVE PAPER

Twenty-Four Days Wasted Between Arrest of Travers and Issuing of Warrant for Dr.
Beattie Nesbitt

(Toronto Telegram, Conservative.)
The attorney-generalship of the Whitney government was lamentably apathetic in the presence of the crime suggested by the collapse of the Farmers' Bank.
The Whitney government would have lived up to the operations of its administration, if its attorney-general had responded to the collapse of the Farmers' Bank
as a case for special enquiry and special legal service.

W. R. Travers was arrested on Dec. 21.
A warrant for the arrest of Dr. Beattie Nesbitt was issued on Jan. 14.
A great portion of Ontario's respect for the administration of law, under the assurance of the Whitney government, tumbled into the gap between these widely separated dates.

Twenty-four days were wasted between

SAV THE HAIR
Newbro's Herpicide Will Do It

No woman should have poor, thin, ragged hair and no man need become bald. Foul hair and final baldness are due to the dandruff germ.
Newbro's Herpicide will destroy this little germ and stop the hair from falling.
Further evidence of this is found in a letter from Mrs. F. Nelson, of Toronto, Wm. Kingway: "I fought the worst kind of dandruff for nine years. I have been using Herpicide now one year, and my scalp is healthy, the dandruff has disappeared and my hair is growing again and so itching has stopped. I can now wash my hair with soap and water and it has never been so healthy."
Don't subject yourself to the same trouble. Express by accepting some of our Herpicide. These off brands may be good, but why take chances? The guarantee and original dandruff germ destroyer can always be obtained. If you wish dandruff has nothing but "just as good" articles, go to E. Clinton Brown, who will furnish you with Newbro's Her-picide and guarantee one dollar bottles
"stop itching of the scalp almost instantly."
Send 1c. in postage or silver for sample
and booklet to The Herpicide Co., Dept.
B, Detroit, Mich.

AN EXTRA WARM MOTOR COAT

No coat can really be too warm for winter motor wear. The black winds have a way of piercing through the stoutest fabric and reaching to the marrow of one's bones. A fur coat lined with leather is really the best protection from Jack Frost.
Next to that one of the English worsteds,
interlined with flannel, is the best choice.
This warm tweed coat is on new lines and has a jaunty and youthful smartness and narrow, in accordance with this year's mode, and the trimming of attached straps is fastened down with metal buttons, is effective. The irregularly shaped cape is also new and interesting.

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

WONDER if there is anything more characteristic of the haste of the age than the average handwriting.
Have you ever noticed how few people nowadays ALWAYS form ALL of their letters? How rare is the person who doesn't OCCASIONALLY omit a loop of the "m" or chop of the last letter in a word?
To say nothing of the folk who are guilty of these and similar carelessnesses continually.

Of course there are some people who habitually write clear business-like hands, but a sort of suggestive impressionism, a sort of sketchy leave-you-guess-the-rest seems to me to be the prevalent note of the present day chirography.

Just as with an impatient talker one must help out the carter a good deal with the eyes, so with these indistinct writers one must assist the eye with the brain.
That is, one cannot read wholly by the characters, but must be helped out by what one expects to find.
I am especially impressed with this because of the many letters I get through this column from unknown friends.
I can almost always get the content of these letters by using a little common sense when the writing is uncertain, but when it comes to the signature, I am very frequently at sea, for there I must depend wholly upon the characters.
And whether "m" or "n" or "r" is meant by this loop, or whether that is an "e" at the end of the name or merely a quirk or perhaps an "y," I find myself often unable to decide.

In which connection I want to ask the pardon of any people to whom I have sent letters spelling their names or addresses wrongly. Truly, it wasn't careles-ness. It was just that my one best guess was wrong.

Now I know many people who are so sure of the illegibility of their penmanship that they consider it a good joke or even something to be proud of as a sign of genius.

I think that's decidedly a mistaken attitude. Imperfect penmanship is one of my tendencies and I'm very much ashamed of it.

I think the habit of talking so quickly as to speak indistinctly and of writing so rapidly as to write illegibly are a part of the bad tendencies of the time to ward undue haste in thinking and living.

We can't all write prettily.
But we can all form every one of our letters—dot our "i's," cross our "t's" on the "u" itself and not all over the neighboring "s" and "p's," etc.—and in general recommend ourselves by being accurate and not slipshod in our penmanship, can't we?

Daily Hints for the Cook

STEAMED PRUNE PUDDING.
Here is a nice pudding for two, called steamed prune pudding. Mix together 2 1/2 cup each stale bread crumbs flour sifted with a level teaspoon baking powder, fine chopped nut and sugar. Beat one egg very light; add 1 1/2 cup prune juice (about four cooked prunes, stoned, chopped and mixed with prune liquid) 1 1/2 teaspoon salt and 1 1/2 cup milk. Stir the liquid into the dry ingredients; steam two hours in a clove-covered, well buttered mold. An empty baking powder can makes a good can. Leave plenty room for the pudding to swell, as it becomes very light. Serve with hard or liquid sauce.

LADY FINGERS.
Beat the yolks of four eggs until lemon colored and thick. Add one half cupful of granulated sugar, a pinch of salt and a light. Whip the whites of the egg until stiff and dry and mix with the yolks. Stir in three quarters of a cupful of pastry flour, already sifted before measuring, and fold lightly. Put the mixture into a pastry bag and press the batter through into strips about an inch wide and three inches long, on a tin sheet or an inverted driping pan, covered with white paper.
Sprinkle with powdered sugar and bake in a moderate oven from ten to fifteen minutes. Keep in tin boxes to prevent their drying. If you are not going to use them right away.

RAISED DOUGHNUTS.
Dissolve a yeast cake in a cupful of warm milk, then mix this with a cupful of granulated sugar, half a cupful of bottom, two eggs well beaten and another cupful of warm milk, in which half a teaspoonful of soda has been dissolved. Add half a teaspoonful of salt and a pinch of granulated nutmeg. Mix in enough sifted flour to make a soft dough. Flour the bread board, turn the dough on it, then roll out to one inch thickness without kneading.
Cut with a ring cutter and let stand until light and puffy. Fry in deep hot fat, turning with a wooden fork until all are a nice brown on both sides. Put on a sieve to drain and when cold roll in powdered sugar.

THE REASON WHY

You don't take sauce? Perhaps not, but if you look for the reason why, you will find it in the fact that the word "sauce"
suggests to your mind a thin, dark, hesitating fluid, which, if taken at dinner,
runs all over the plate, saturates the vegetables, and eventually leaves a disagreeable burning sensation in the mouth. No wonder that under these circumstances you do not take sauce—but, change the circumstances, and the taste will probably change
with it.

A new sauce has been introduced by the Midland Vinegar Company of England, which is known as H. P. Sauce, and is quite different to the old-fashioned sauces referred to.

H. P. Sauce has proved to be a success, and more and more people are turning to those who previously never took sauce, it is prepared by blending together the best est Oriental and European vinegars with pure malt vinegar, the manufacture of a secret
process produces a thick, rich sauce,
which, if poured on the top of the plate,
can be eaten with the best like mustard.

H. P. Sauce is used very extensively in the kitchen of householders, who have discovered that old and familiar dishes
of which everyone has grown tired, becoming tempting and delicious when enriched and enlivened with H. P.

All family grocers are selling H. P. Sauce.
Of course its success has brought many imitations, but if you ask for H. P. and see that these letters appear on each label, you will preclude the possibility of disappointment.

TORONTO HOUSE WHERE FIVE WERE BURNED TO DEATH

Scene of the fire on Indian Road in the wealthy York Loan district, in which five lives were lost. Mr. Brooks the owner of the house was in Chicago at the time, his wife, three children and a maid servant were the ones who perished. To the right of the picture near the top of the house is a window of the room in which they were huddled unable to escape. The architecture of the house was beautiful, it having been built by an artist, but it was a fearful death trap.

MORNING LOCALS

The monthly meeting of the St. Andrew's Guild took place in the lecture room of the church last evening. The meeting, which was purely of a social nature, was marked by a most entertain-

The women should not follow the dictates of fashion was the decision last evening when the question was debated in the school room of St. David's church. Rev.
A. A. Graham was judge, and the debaters were Miss Shaw and Jack and Mrs. Mc-Culland for the negative, and Messrs. N.
Cook, R. Gilson and J. Leddingham for the affirmative. About 300 were present, and the discussion proved very interesting. Solos were sung by I. F. Archibald and

How to Tell if Your Hair is Dis-

Even if you have a luxuriant head of hair, you may want to know whether it is in a healthy condition. 98 per cent of the people are ignorant of the bulb at the end of each hair is white and shrunk, it passes that treatment if it is lost would be lost. If the bulb is pink and the hair is healthy.

I want everyone whose hair requires

I promise that it shall not cost anything
if it does not give satisfactory results. It is designed to overcome dandruff, relieve

It is because of what Rexall "93" Hair

SCHOOL TRUSTEES TO MAKE OFFER FOR BELL PROPERTY

At a special meeting of the board of school trustees last night, it was decided to make the owners of the Adam Bell property adjoining the High school, an offer for a clear title to the place, providing the common council will authorize the necessary issue of bonds. The trustees have an option on the house which expires today, but the chairman and secretary of the board will endeavor to have it renewed under these conditions.

Those present at the meeting were Messrs. Russell, Agar, Smith, Bullock, Nase, Day, Mrs. Dever, Dr. Bridges, and
H. B. Emerson, who presided.

Plans were presented showing that it would require about $6,000 to make the Bell Building available for school purposes. Mr. Day said that he had changed his mind on the matter, and opposed the idea of buying the building.

Mr. Agar advocated the purchase, thinking that in time increased accommodation would be greatly necessary. Mr. Russell

THE CHEERFUL OPTIMISTS. (Detroit Free Press.) Mayor William S. Jordan, at a Democratic banquet in Jacksonville, said of optimism: "Let us cultivate optimism and hopefulness. There is nothing like it. The optimistic man can see a bright side to everything—everything. 'A missionary in a slum once laid his hand on a man's shoulder and said: 'Friend, do you bear the solemn tiding of this clock?' 'Tick-tick, tick-tick. And, oh, friend, do you know what day it inexorably and relentlessly brings near?' 'Yes—pay day,' the other, an honest, optimistic workman, replied."

The Ferry—Past and Present

The minute hand in yonder lofty tower. Had slightly passed the silent midnight hour; The restless muse drew near the writer's bed.

In murmur soft and sweet each verse he said.

He spoke of vanished childhood's happy days

When thoughts and cares were all absorbed in play;

He spoke of changes that took place in time,

When age has led us on to manhood's prime.

He spoke of knowledge certain men collected,

When they as aldermen have been elected,

About the workings of a ferry-boat,

Its boiler, stayings and the length of stroke.

They know how many pounds of steam is lost

At each pulsation of the deep chug-out;

They note the valve-stems stroke so quick and short,

To close and open the fore and after port.

They know the engine must be set in motion

To make a steamer cross the briny ocean;

And ease her down when coming to a stop,

Or she may lose her rail against the dock.

We wonder now, like Goldsmith long ago,

How one small head can carry all they know;

But judge not rash, for here below's a note

An editor some forty years ago had wrote.

To show the ferry service people got

(When you and I and aldermen were toted,

St. John March 19, 1877,

Carleton Ferry.

The ferry remains just where it always was.

Mr. John Grady has got from the Sheriff a conveyance of the lease. Mr. Collins Lloyd still runs the ferry-boats when and as it suits him; the mayor of the city, like any ambitious young man, as he is, has "gone west." The Recorder has gone to Kings County to attend a criminal trial at the circuit court; the members of the common council, or some of them, have gone to Fredericton to look after and lobby through the House of Assembly their Bill for the appropriation to themselves of the Dog Fund, and things generally about and concerning the Ferry are most actively and carefully left to the care of themselves. Verily we are a great people.

McFARLAND STOCK FAST GONG UP

(New York Sun.) Just after Patsy McFarland knocked out Jack Goodman at the Fairmont A. C. Tuesday night, Abe Attell, the feather-weight champion, arose from a ringside chair and displayed a broad grin.

McFarland has Wolgast's word that the latter will meet him in a ten round bout in Milwaukee on February 22, the weight limit being 135 pounds.

Wolgast, although he has refused to box Owen Moran until some time after the expiration of sixty days, has recovered from his injury and is going to re-enter the ring next month.

Wolgast will receive $5,000 for his appearance with Brown and will be paid for several months and was delighted yesterday when he heard the news.

CHRONIC ULCERS

Mrs. J. McEwen, 902 Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg, says: 'Four years ago ulcers broke out on my left ankle and spread until from the top of my foot to my knee was one extended sore. One ulcer would be almost healed when a second would appear in a new place and in a remarkably short time a deep hole would be eaten into the flesh.'

I consulted five different doctors. Some advised me to go into hospital, others said there was no cure for me. After using their ointments and preparations until it was positive they were no cure, I almost gave up in despair.

Zam-Buk is just good for eczema, ringworm, cuts, burns, and all skin injuries and diseases. Druggists and chemists sell it. Price, 25c.

What Sertog Finley Found in a Carriage Place—A $50 Fine in Liquor Case

A fine of $50 or one month in jail was imposed this morning on Herbert Reid in the police court by Judge Ritchie on a charge of having liquor illegally on his premises in St. John street, west side. Sertog Finley told of finding bottles empty in several rooms, and Reid would be also finding a sliding panel in one room, behind which were found two "longnecks."

Reid had said he had had no liquor on the premises, but there was found another longneck in his hip pocket, while under the counter were found goblets.

Reid was formerly clerk for Robert Campbell, who kept the store, but who is now in jail on a similar charge for that against Reid.

WINTER AUTO TRIP TO FREDERICTON IS BEING TALKED OF

The winter season so far has been one of the most favorable for motoring in recent years, as there has hardly been a day on which a car could not be taken out. Trips to Hamilton, Westfield and other points have been taken. The going, all things considered, has been fairly good, and with wind shields and buffalo robes a spin has been anything but uncomfortable. It is now planned to have a run to Fredericton by some of the more ardent, and much interest is being taken by owners of cars in the scheme, as much would be a record for this time of year.

J. R. STONE CURATOR

The arguments of the counsel became quite heated in favor of Mr. Somerville and the shareholders and the name of Mr. Cocksburn, Robert S. Orchard and F. J. G. Knowlton were also put forward. J. R. COTTON AFIRE IN STEAMER AT THE POINT

Two Hundred Bales in Manchester Spinner Damaged or Destroyed

LOSS IS COVERED

They Were Valued at $12,000—Smoke from Hold While Discharging Cargo First Sign of Trouble—A Two Hours Battle

With 200 bales of cotton blazing below decks, firemen, longshoremen and seamen battled for more than two hours this morning aboard the Manchester liner Manchester, lying at No. 5 berth, Sand Point.

The steamer arrived yesterday from Philadelphia with 600 bales of cotton for the Cornwall & York Cotton Mills Company. Fortunately 400 bales had been discharged otherwise the loss would have been more serious and the fire might have assumed greater proportions. The cargo valuation would be about $50,000, and as it was about $12,000 worth of cotton is damaged if not destroyed, the hull, however, is fully covered by insurance.

The fire was discovered about 4 o'clock this morning, while the steamer was being discharged. Smoke issuing from No. 3 hold attracted the attention of those on shipboard and an investigation showed that fire was raging in some 200 bales of cotton. Soon thick columns of smoke poured from the hatch and a serious aspect was lent matters. The longshoremen knocked off the work of discharging and turned their attention to helping the crew of the steamer cope with the situation. It was not long before the west side firemen were on the scene and, a large force were engaged in a fight with the flames.

A stream from the wharf and one of the steamer's own streams were turned into the hold to remove some of the burning cotton. Attempts to get into the hold to remove some of the burning cotton, which had become a serious matter by the fire, was removed and a better opportunity was had to fight the fire.

A crack more than half the length of the hold and the fire, which was largely on the top, was beaten off. It was not, however, till about 6:30 that it was completely under control, though the cotton is still smoldering in places.

The exact amount of the loss cannot be ascertained till the cotton is sorted out, but a considerable portion of the 200 bales will be damaged or destroyed.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but there were some suspicions as to careless smoking. The damaged cotton will have to be lightened on shore.

PLAN PARADE AGAIN ON ST. PATRICK'S DAY

A. O. H. Asking Catholic Societies to Join Them in March to Cathedral—Meeting on February 3

Communications are being sent out this week by Division No. 1, A. O. H., to the other Catholic societies in the city, asking those bodies to join with them in the annual St. Patrick's Day parade on March 17. At a recent meeting of the division a committee composed of E. L. Barrett, J. G. McDermod, W. H. Coates, J. F. McAndrew and Thomas Hope were appointed to arrange matters on behalf of that branch of the order.

Last year was the first on which the feast of Ireland's patron saint was celebrated in the city in this manner by more than one of the Catholic societies, and a large number of men representing the various organizations were seen in line, and attended high mass in the cathedral. It is hoped that the number will be even larger this year.

The communications referred to call for a meeting of the delegates from each society on February 3, at 8 p. m., in the A. O. H. rooms, Union street.

Now Is The Time To Consider The Stove Question

There is no time like the present to consider the stove question. While you are sitting around the stove this weather trying to keep warm, you want to note how many coal hods of coal you have to burn in order to get the heat out of your stove, and if your stove will throw the heat it should. This is a very important question, for some stoves take a lot of coal and then you don't have the proper heat. The Glenwood Ranges are noted for saving fuel and for making cooking easy. We can supply Glenwood ranges for wood or coal, with the Shift Mantles on or off, Hot Closet Reservoir and Gas attachments.

All made in St. John.
