PROVINCIAL EXHIBITION AT SUSSEX.

Communicated to The Journal.
GETTING THERE.

Early on Tuesday morning, Oct. 2nd, the roots of St. John presented an appearance more lively than usual, from the number of citizens and strangers wending their way to the Depot, en route for Sussex Vale. The 8 A. M. train was more than well filled, and we, along with many others had to take our seats in a second class car. The road passed through a fine country, picturesque, diversified by vale, hill and gently flowing river, and for the most part capable of a high state of cultivation. The opinion was expressed by many that few if any railways on this continent, traverse a finer tract of country, one more pleasing to the eye, or more desirable for settlement. Rothsay, Hampton and other points on the line might be specified as delightful localities. The road is well built and the cars fitted up in a tasteful manner. It has not been our fortune to travel on any road in the States that is so even and smooth; there is less jolting than usual, less, several persons informed me, than on the Grand Trunk line. Some half-hour behind time we entered Sussex Valley, and drew up at the Station, a neat and commodious building.

THE BUILDING.

The Exhibition building we found to be an easy ten minutes walk from the station, situated very prettily in a meadow in which the taste of the owner had either left or planted a goodly number of our beautiful New Brunswick trees, whose shade was grateful to those who strolled through the grounds, and whose presence added much to the beauty of the scene. A temporary bridge over a very pretty stream led to the Exhibition grounds. We afterwards climbed one of the hills which bound this valley on almost every side, and found the labour well repaid by the beauty of the view. And yet we felt satisfied to return to Carleton County, assured that though we had seen much that was interesting and worthy a visit, we had seen nothing that equalled it either in the beauty of its natural scenery, or in agricultural capabilities. After witnessing the taste displayed in the selection of the site, we were not a little disappointed at the unsightliness of the building itself. We were prepared for something rough and hastily put together; but not for anything like this. Strangers will surely bear away with them no very exalted opinion of provincial taste and provincial liberality. Could not the probable receipts warrant a proper structure? A few hundreds of dollars more would have provided a building worthy of the occasion, and not discredit to the Province. The next time, it might not be unadvisable to employ a proper builder. We had plenty of time to view the Exhibition on every side, the enclosure for cattle, the ground selected for rifle shooting, &c., before the doors were thrown open preparatory to the arrival of His Excellency; and even to hear the calls of a friend within, whose request for nourishment we endeavoured to satisfy. This however was much easier thought of than accomplished; of this more anon.

THE OPENING.

Shortly before one o'clock the doors were thrown open after no little clatter by the President of the Provincial Agricultural Society; and a steady tide of gowns and coats flowed into the Exhibition, meandering through the main avenues, and gradually overflowing the galleries. It was past one when the Lieutenant Governor made his appearance with his suite, and took his stand on a dais at the upper end of the Hall. Two or three rather plain chairs silently uttered a most feeble invitation to him to rest himself after his walk, which he did not seem inclined to do. Mr. Botsford, the President of the Provincial Board of Agriculture then read an address to His Excellency the Hon. J. H. T. Manners, Sutton, Lieut. Governor, &c.—
May it please your Excellency—
The Provincial Board of Agriculture having decided that an Exhibition should be held this year at Sussex Vale, and having delegated to us, as its Executive Committee, the authority to superintend and manage it, we beg to announce that it is now ready for the inspection of the public; and we respectfully request that Your Excellency will be pleased to open the same.
The Act creating the Provincial Board of Agriculture having been passed with your Excellency's sanction, we hope that its proceedings thus far, have met with your Excellency's approval; and that this Exhibition will be attended by such results as will justify the encouragement given by the Legislature, and satisfy the expectations of the country.
As the Act admits the holding of Exhibitions once in every three years, we have made arrangements for a large attendance of Exhibitors and spectators and have felt ourselves justified in incurring considerable expense in endeavoring to make the Building and grounds as commodious and attractive as time would permit.

As your Excellency has always taken a deep interest in the operations of the Board it affords us, as its representatives, great satisfaction to have the advantage of your presence at the inauguration of the first Provincial Exhibition held under its auspices; and it is a subject for congratulation that you should have had so favorable an opportunity before leaving the Province, of examining its various resources and productions, and we trust the evidences of the progress made by the Colony under your Excellency's administration may not be the least pleasing feature of your sojourn amongst a loyal and industrious people.

On behalf of the Board of Agriculture, we take advantage of this, in all probability the last, occasion that may offer to thank your Excellency for the valuable advice and assistance, which individually and as a Board we have invariably received from you in the performance of our duties.

(Signed) A. E. BOTSFORD,
Chairman, &c.

To which His Excellency replied thus:—
Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen, Members of the Executive Committee of the Provincial Agricultural Board,—

You have been called upon by the Legislature and the Provincial Board of Agriculture, of which you are, on this occasion, the representatives, to collect and prepare, for the purpose of exhibiting to the people of New Brunswick, and to all who may come hither to examine them, samples and specimens of articles, the growth, produce, or manufacture of the Province. These are one of our most important duties, and I can assure you that I have had the greatest satisfaction in giving to you every assistance in my power.

It is my firm belief that it is of the greatest importance to New Brunswick that she be in a position next year to assume and maintain at the General Exhibition in London, the position to which her industrial progress and natural resources entitle her. And if this Provincial Exhibition be regarded as the preparatory step to entering into competition with the world next year, not only the competitors, but every inhabitant of New Brunswick, whether he be rich or poor, and in whatever part of the Province he may reside, will, I think, recognize the fact that he has a personal interest in its success.

I hope that this exhibition may be the successful predecessor of other exhibitions increasingly successful; and I can assure you with heartfelt sincerity, that although absent I shall always continue to feel the deepest and warmest interest in the prosperity and progress of the Agriculture, Commerce, and Manufactures of New Brunswick.

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen—In accordance with your invitation I declare the Exhibition to be now open.

The proper rites having thus been observed we proceeded to view

THE EXHIBITION.

The first feeling of the visitor to the Sussex Exhibition is one of disappointment; for is the feeling lessened as the day passes on. It is not that the articles exhibited are paltry, for there were many of them deserving high praise, many exhibiting a degree of skill and taste that certainly would shake old-country and yankee ideas of the Provincials; but the arrangements were defective and the number and variety of articles exhibited were by no means as large as one might reasonably have expected.

Frequently did we ask ourselves:—Why does New Brunswick make no better turnout than this? But echo only answered why? The Department of agricultural and farming implements was most meagerly represented. There were one or two N. W. Brunswick-made fanning machines, and one or two American mowers. And those were about all. Is this a "wooden" country? And if it is why need we go across the borders for our farming implements. Besides wood, we have iron, and hands and brains; and why these should not be worked up into rakes, pitch-forks, and mowing machines, as well as into axes and railways, it is difficult to see. Stores also, notwithstanding the number of foundries in the Province, made but a poor show. Small was their number, and small their variety. To be sure there was a monster stove with a six attachment, and a miniature one fastened to the pipe; but we looked in vain for any variety of hall stove, cooking office, or chamber stove. There were two or three most commendable specimens of parlour or drawing room register grates, showing that our foundrymen have both the taste to design and the skill to execute handsome castings.

The carriages and sleighs were most creditable, both from their design and finish. One covered buggy in particular and an open single wagon of the kind called, we think, a know-nothing were especially good.

The Show of iron manufactures, axes, saws, chisels, locks, &c., should satisfy anyone that we need not be much inconvenienced even should the Sheffield work-shops be closed by Louis Napoleon. Leather also made a good appearance. The different hides; the variety of style and make of boots and shoes spoke well for the resources and handy craft of the Province in this respect. There might surely have been more done for the credit of harness-making, in variety we mean. The pianos, the Cabinet-makers, and Plumbers work were good, but we have not time at present to specify them. We could not complain of any scantiness of samples of homespun, and such like manufactures. Some of the hearth-rugs exhibited would not disgrace the parlour of any gentleman in the land; and we for one would not object to a suit of homespun from off the pieces displayed on the right hand gallery. It was cheering to notice that the good wives and daughters of New Brunswick in their home-manufactures aimed not only at durability but at neatness of pattern. Let them go on and prosper.

There was a very good display of grain and grass seed. Judging from the samples there displayed one would conclude that the New Brunswick soil and climate is admirably adapted to the growth of common cereals. The oats, rye, barley and wheat were very full and large. Surely New Brunswick ought not to pay so much as she does every year for bread stuffs. What are our farmers about? Half a crop of such wheat as we saw at the Exhibition would not be unprofitable, and we ought surely to export rather than import ours. It would take big adjectives to characterize the bigness of the potatoes, of which there were many fine samples. We were especially taken with the appearance of the black kidneys; and we thought that when they had their jackets off they would not make a bad accompaniment to a dinner of roast beef or boiled mutton. It is not needless to give the dimensions of the monster pumpkins, squashes, beets, turnips, &c., sufficient is it, to say that they were monsters.

We were pleased to observe so many specimens of the building stones, ores, and minerals of the Province, and we trust that the finer specimens will be selected to send to the World's Exhibition at London. It is very evident that the Province is rich in building stones, in iron, in gypsum, in coal and asphaltum, and in many other useful products. A country possessing these things ought to be a thriving seat of population and industry. And were the richness of our resources in these respects known abroad we might reasonably anticipate a large influx of capital and population; especially were these products placed side by side with the fruits of the soil at the London Exhibition, thereby affording a tangible evidence as to the climate of the country.

New Brunswick has long been known as a well wooded land; and certainly the prepared specimens of wood on exhibition did no shame to her resources. There were several lots of assorted wood, well worked that gave one a higher estimate of our forest capability to supply materials not only for carpentering and ship-building purposes, but also for the finer work of the cabinet-maker. One house door of curled maple, and a piano of bird-eye maple might be particularly noticed as being very elegant and beautiful.

Time and space do not permit us to notice several other things worthy of mention. As the various articles were arranged not according to geographical distribution, but according to natural affinity, it was difficult for the casual visitors to tell what the several Counties contributed to the general result. We will not therefore venture to speak of other Counties; but of our own we can say that it made a creditable appearance. Such of her people as were there must have been pleased. In home manufacture, produce &c., she maintained her position as a good farming County. Mr. Sharp's apples and plums delighted the eye. They were certainly the finest there.

Upon the whole this exhibition cannot be called a decided success, notwithstanding the great crowds who whistled along the railway to see it; it is more a promise or an indication of what might be done. There can be little doubt that had it been held in a more suitable locality it would have been much more successful both in the extent and variety of articles exhibited.

Why was it held at Sussex? So asked many a hungry stomach, so asked many a weary visitor as he watched the overcrowded train departing in which he had vainly sought for standing or sitting room. The place is one affording the most slender accommodations for visitors. It was most difficult to procure a comfortable meal; and as to accommodation for the night that was a thing not to be thought of. The Hotel keeper and station house people did their best, but what were they in such an overflowing crowd. The great mass of visitors, all except those who choose with the Volunteers to camp out, had to return to St. John at night. This arrangement doubtless benefited the railway-purse, but certainly not the purses of the lieges; and it will give an excellent opportunity to the Morning News to bring out a brilliant article showing how well the Railway pays. Speaking of the railway, we could not help thinking that trains should have been run more frequently or else that truck cars should have been fitted up with seats—if there were not enough of passenger cars—to prevent overcrowding. The straining and pushing were not at all conducive to comfort and must have been very damaging to the attire of the fair sex, not to speak of the great danger attending such mob-like crowding.

There was a want of foresight in not providing more ticket-offices; much time and breath and patience were needlessly wasted in securing the "open-sesame" for the building and grounds. Why not have had half a dozen or more such offices. And we could not but admire the wisdom displayed in the matter of refreshment. There was but one refreshment place in the building. It was ridiculous to suppose that it could cater to the wants of the many; and if any poor visitor was driven by famine from the building to get some modicum of meat or drink at either the hotel or the outside shanties, he found on his return that he had to go through the formality of paying 25 cents for a new ticket of admission. Now we hold that either passes should have been provided for those who desired to procure refreshment or else that more extensive arrangements for refreshments should have been made within the building. Shows are all very well, but men and women cannot feed upon them, and still less can children.

We cannot offer any remarks upon the cattle show, and it is yet premature to speak of the rifle practice; but we believe that Carleton County has reason to be satisfied with her representatives at the target.

THE SUSSEX EXHIBITION.

From our Special Correspondent.

ST. JOHN, Oct. 1.

On Friday last was initiated a new era in travelling from Woodstock to Saint John. Our party, numbering only three, left Woodstock at 3.30 A. M., and arrived in this city at 4.30 P. M., having been just twelve hours on the road. The journey from Woodstock to St. John was certainly never before accomplished in the same time. An excursion train left Rankin's Mills, Eel River, at 7 A. M. We were agreeably surprised to find the track laid not only to the mills, but a mile or so past. Owing to the rise in the River, and the running of the boats, only three persons in Woodstock took this route to Sussex. We were informed that the work on the line from Eel River upwards to Hillman Valley was fast advancing, and that there is a fair prospect of the track being laid throughout, this season, or before the winter is far advanced. The ballast on the Road is advancing. We found it in fair condition, and made the seventy-four miles to St. Andrews in about two hours and three quarters of running time. The Queen was waiting for us at the wharf; and we had no time to cast even a look at the familiar streets of St. Andrews. Out at Eastport we found the New Brunswick, from Boston, also waiting. Nothing worth mention occurred on the trip; and we landed at St. John, as already mentioned in twelve hours after having left Woodstock, or in nine hours and a half after leaving Rankin's Mills.

This morning I took the eight o'clock train for Sussex, and made my first trip on the St. John and Shediac Railway, called in magilliquent official language the European and North American. A large train was crammed to overflowing with passengers. They filled the seats as they had never been filled before, crammed the central aisles of the carriages, and overflowed to the carriage platforms. It was with great difficulty that even standing room could be found. I literally made my first visit to Sussex on my feet. After a tedious run we arrived at the Exhibition grounds, and made our way towards the building. Of it, and the appearance, which it presents I will speak in a future letter. At twelve the building was thrown open to the public; and at one His Excellency the Lieutenant Governor, accompanied by Mrs. Manners-Sutton, Mr. Graham Manners-Sutton, and Miss Mabel Manners-Sutton, and suite, entered the building and took their place on a raised platform at the upper end. The St. John City Brass Band, in the end gallery, directly over their heads, thundered out the National Anthem; the people thronging the aisles turned their attention towards the Governor and his party, and stretched their necks to see what was going on; the music ceased; and the members of the Provincial Board of Agriculture, with their chairman, Hon. A. E. Botsford, at their head advanced, and presented His Excellency with an address. The Reply was read with emphasis, but from the continual motion of the people, and the consequent noise, neither address nor reply could be heard where I stood, some thirty or forty feet distant; I could only hear His Excellency pronounce the Exhibition open; after which there was another crash from the band; three cheers for the Queen, three for the Governor, and three for Mrs. Manners Sutton—all of which seemed very faint indeed, as if people were afraid of hearing their own voices. His Excellency and his family then moved away and joined with the others present in an examination of the exhibition; and the formality of the opening was over.

About the Exhibition I have space in this letter for no more than a remark or two. The display is in quality very creditable, but seems deficient in quantity. A large portion of the Province is not at all, or very slightly, represented; distance, and the difficulty, expense, and inconvenience of transit having interfered prevent them taking the place which their natural resources and industrial advancement would under more favourable circumstances enable them to occupy. In the department of agricultural products as well as in that of manufactures this deficiency of quantity is observable.

St. JOHN, October 2nd.
To-day was a city holiday in St. John. To enable all to have an opportunity to visit the Exhibition at Sussex, an opportunity which has been taken advantage of to the full. Such a crush and crowd as the eight o'clock train presented this morning I hope never again to see. In order to secure decent accommodation for the night, I have resolved to stay in St. John at night, going out in the morning train and returning in one of the evening trains. I managed, having some strength and assurance, to squeeze myself into the aisle of a railway carriage, and stood watching the movements of others. All the seats had been long ago occupied; every foot of standing room inside or outside was taken up, but still the ticket office was deluged and still the clerk went on dealing the tickets out by the peck. When the time for starting came the officials set about endeavoring to clear the carriage platforms, but in vain. They explained how improper and dangerous it was for passengers to stand thereon; they argued and coaxed and entreated and scolded and threatened; Mr. Jardine himself came along side and added his voice to the explanations and expostulations. All was of no use. They had paid for their tickets; they could not get inside the carriages, for they were packed full to the doors; they were not willing to wait for the 11 o'clock train, and if they could not get inside they were determined to go outside. Threats, arguments, and expostulations were alike disregarded; and the Railway officials had to give it up. I was much pleased with the conduct of one youthful son of Africa who stood near me. An official, evidently not considering it necessary to use as much politeness to him as though his skin had been a sooty white, caught him by the arm, and endeavored to drag him off. But the fellow clung to the iron railing, showing his ticket, and declaring with portentous shakes of the head, that he knew his rights and would hold on as long as two bits of the carriage stuck together. The brave son of Africa conquered and rode out to Sussex, seated on the step of the platform. Whether it was that he saw sympathy in my eyes, or that some expression of satisfaction at his victory, in which I indulged, met his ears, I don't know; but he very kindly voluntarily loaned me a morning paper to read. To give some notion of the crowd, I may state that on this platform between two carriages, I counted twenty-one persons standing during the trip out. We crept along at a snail's pace, and arrived at Sussex an hour behind time.

To-day there have been probably ten thousand people present at Sussex. The crowd inside the building was fearful. Nobody could see anything because there were so many persons in, getting in, or getting out of, the way. The race course was thrown open, and the field swarmed with the populace. There were some races, and various other kinds of amusements. This day's experience has settled beyond doubt the conviction which commenced its incipency yesterday,—that it was a stupid blunder to have the Exhibition at Sussex and not near St. John, and the accompanying conviction that it was an enormous loaf out of the pockets of the people, and that the principal reason for carrying it to Sussex was to swell the receipts of the Shediac Railroad. Such are the opinions expressed by almost every person I meet.

St. JOHN, October 3.
The Railway runs up through Sussex Vale, following for a considerable distance the course of the Kennebecasis, a very pretty little stream which runs into the extremity of the reach of the St. John River of the same name. Thus a capital opportunity is afforded of seeing this much boasted country, and of comparing its appearance with that of the Counties of Carleton and Victoria. After three days inspection I can confidently say that well as the Vale looks, and prepossessing as it is, agriculturally, our own Counties suffer nothing by the comparison. In respect to evidences of cultivation and progress we are far ahead. The Sussex farm buildings are old, dingy, small and mean looking, to an extent which shows deplorable want of enterprise and taste. The people have a fair soil, and many advantages; but they seem to lack life and spirit. Their lines have been cast in pleasant places; but their advantages seem to have had a soporific instead of a vivifying effect.

The Exhibition building is situated in the centre of a plain of considerable extent, within a quarter of a mile of the village and Railway Station of Sussex. It is said to be about 170 feet in length and 75 feet in width, and is a simple structure of upright posts, beams, and boards. Along its length run two rows of columns, which support the side galleries, and divide it longitudinally into three departments. Outside and in there are various attempts at decoration. Perched on the apex of the roof, just above the main entrance, is a figure of a female, intended to represent somebody or something. She grins pleasantly down on all who enter. On each side, with his nose toward her, is a colossal figure of a moose. The exterior of the building, although certainly not very impressive is, I think, not unpleasing. The decorations inside are simple, and although certainly not very striking, are as effective as could be expected, considering the temporary nature of the whole structure, and the means at the disposal of its builders. Probably the building would have been superior in many respects had it not been that the contractor took it so low that he had to relinquish his contract, and the Board had to hurry on its completion as well as they could. It certainly is much too small to give a fair opportunity for the display of the numerous articles within and without its walls. But when it is considered how difficult it must have been for the Managers to form any just notion of the space which would be required I do not think that complaints of the size can be justly be made.

But the arrangement of the articles is certainly bad; or rather there is little or no attempt at arrangement. The most prominent spot in the body of the place is occupied by a large "tree" on which are suspended various articles of manufacture from the Provincial Penitentiary. Certainly a more modest position might have been assigned these. In one of the galleries cloths and specimens of domestic manufacture in woolen and cotton are huddled together in frightful confusion. You have to dig down through several strata of counterpanes and coverlets before you arrive at "flannels; and you have to search through a great variety of other products before you can get collected side by side the specimens of homespun. No doubt most of the articles came in at so late a date that arrangement was a matter of difficulty; but certainly it could not have taken much trouble or ingenuity to place in conformity all the specimens of each description of article.

Near the building is a large enclosure for a half mile race course, and for cattle sheds. The course is decidedly a bad one. Its shape is too much of the oblong, making four corners to turn, instead of two, and giving the inside horse a decided advantage; and at these turns the track has not the elevation gradually towards the outer side which it should have to give a horse a fair opportunity to keep up his speed. The boxes for horses and sheds for cattle are ranged along a portion of two sides of the enclosure. The latter are entirely insufficient in extent, and many of the cattle have to stand unsheltered.

The village of Sussex is but a small place, and the accommodation ridiculously inadequate to the requirements of the thousands of visitors to the Exhibition. A large number of slanting have been erected, and temporary hotels, eating houses, and drinking booths have been erected.

Abundance can be had to eat, and with a little care in looking round you can obtain it of a good quality and neatly enough served up. But for any other sort of accommodation you look in vain. To obtain even half a dozen square feet of floor for a resting place at night is an impossibility for all but a fortunate few. Consequently the Railway carries home the great majority of the crowd at night, and brings them, or such of them as wish to return, back in the morning. The carriage accommodation of the Road is utterly inadequate to do such an amount of work; hence the cramming and crowding and hurrying and confusion to which I have already alluded. As I return to St. John every night, and go out to Sussex every morning I have a capital opportunity of observing the discomfort and expense which is thus caused. The Railway gains, and everything else, and everybody loses. Only the most frightful stupidity could have carried such an Exhibition to such a place as Sussex. Common sense points out that it should have been in the vicinity of one of our largest towns, where something like adequate accommodation could have been given to visitors. Everyone that I have heard express an opinion declares that it was brought to Sussex in order to swell the receipts of the Railway. So that everybody suffers in person, in mind, and in purse that the Government may have an opportunity of hoodwinking the public about the receipts of the Government railroad. This may be policy, but it is a policy that is mean and despicable beyond conception. If we had a New Brunswick Punch could not a capital picture for it be made of Ticket-Clerk Tilley taking in money and showering out tickets at one end of the St. John station, and Conductor or Brakeman Jardine at the other ordering and pulling off the unfortunate buyers who were trying to find a nook or coign of vantage about a Railway carriage. However, it is all of a piece with the rest; for what honest man is there who expects to get his money's worth out of the Smasher Government?

To-day there were trotting matches; but so occupied have I been with other work, and so much time have I been obliged to waste on the daily trip from and to St. John, that I have neither time nor patience to dilate upon the matter. The trotting match for stallions was won with the greatest ease by Jehu, formerly owned by the late Dr. Brown of Woodstock, and at present, I believe, by Mr. Saucton of Saint John. The first heat he performed in one minute twenty-nine and a half seconds; and the third in 1:24.

The Cattle show, commenced, yesterday was continued to-day. Few cattle were brought from distant parts of the Province. There was not, I believe, a single animal from Carleton or Victoria. From York there were some twenty head. Although there were a number of fine animals neither in quantity or the quality of the whole was the display what I expected. The Sheep, with meritorious exceptions, were decidedly poor. I venture to say that York and Carleton alone could beat it to sticks.

There were some fine swine, but here again the number fell short of my expectations. The horses could not compare with those of our own County. They fell far short of being a fair representation of the stock of the Province.

THE WEEK.

Owing to the amount of matter respecting the Sussex Exhibition from our special reporter and another correspondent which we give, editorial must be confined to unusually small limits. We have not been able to get in all the letters of our special reporter, but shall present the remainder, including some describing a trip which he made up the North Shore to Clatham, next week. Mr. Hovey's letter on "Hygio-Therapeutics versus Drugs" we have also been obliged to postpone.

The River has risen sufficiently to allow steamboating, and the Tobique, Gazelle and Bonnie Doon are plying between Fredericton and this place.

Mr. Osburn, Manager of the N. B. & Canada Railway, with Mr. Buck and a considerable staff, passed through Woodstock the past week with the object, it is said, of making some railroad surveys on the upper St. John.

Elsewhere we give the list of prizes awarded at the Sussex Exhibition. Considering the small number of articles sent from this County it has got its full share of prizes.

It will be seen by the telegraph despatch that our new Governor, Hon. Arthur Gordon, has arrived at Halifax.

INTERNATIONAL RAILWAY.—We learn by a telegram received yesterday by Robert Jardine Esq., that the great International Railway is now a fixed fact. The Imperial Government is perfectly willing to construct the road provided that Canada, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia will adhere to their previous offer of £20,000 per annum, and ten miles on either side of the road be granted. If the Colonies will guarantee this amount, there is no doubt that the road will be constructed.—New-Brunswick.

Miscellaneous.

Instead of saying "it is false," the phrase is now changed to "it is a telegram," and the charge remains quite as strong.

An Editor acknowledges the receipt of a bottle of brandy, forty-eight years old; and says: "This brandy is so old that we very much fear it cannot live much longer."

The Levant Herald states that the new Sultan of Turkey is a rigid teetotaler, and does not even smoke, and that he is a good farmer, shot, angler and pianist.

ROTTEN RAILROAD BRIDGES.—The late terrible tragedy upon the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad was not occasioned by the malignity of secessionists, as was at first supposed, but by a rotten bridge.

Mr. Thomas Spencer of Cincinnati has invented a fearful death-dealing bomb. It consists of one large shell, including any number of smaller shells, these latter again containing explosive bullets, &c. The shells are separate, not concentric. The fuse will burst under water.

A Dr. Patterson is soon to be hanged in Massachusetts for the murder of a young girl whom he had ruined. All appeals to the Government for his pardon have failed. We suppose this man first destroyed the virtue and then the life of his victim to hide his first crime.

At the battle of Waterloo, a Frenchman who spoke a little English, cried out "Quarter, quarter!" to one of the 42nd Highlanders. "The De'il may quarter ye for me," was the reply. "I ha' me time to quarter ye; ye maun e'en be content to be cut in twa," and he suited the action to the word.

COPPER MINING IN CANADA.—Within a few years frequent indications of rich mineral deposits have been discovered in Canada, and where mining has been commenced, with the most satisfactory results. The most successful of these mines has been that at Acton, Canada East, which is directly on the line of the Grand Trunk Railroad, and about 50 miles east of Montreal. A large quarry has been opened here, from which five hundred tons are now taken out per month, and without that expensive machinery which makes so large a part of the expense in operating copper mines. In the last three months the amount of ore produced was 1537 tons, worth $76,850, while the expense of working was but $21,000. The value of the ore mined the past year was $300,000.—Boston Journal.

THE AGE OF THE WORLD.—An English engineer, named Leonard Horner, has sunk ninety five shafts in the valley of the Nile, with the view of ascertaining the age of Egypt by counting the layers deposited annually.

The layers were everywhere found regular, and the sediment seems to have been deposited at the rate of three and a half inches in a century. According to this, 13,700 years ago, man was far enough advanced in Egypt to manufacture pottery, as thirty feet four inches below the surface, fragments of pottery, which exhibited considerable skill, were found in a good state of preservation. This tallies very well with the estimates of Lepsius and other Egyptian scholars, and shows the earth is much older than is popularly supposed. At the depth above mentioned, gravel was found; and how long it was before the land and water were separated—how long this gravel was forming before the Nile overflowed, or before the waters were impregnated with vegetable matter—God only knows, or ever can know.

DEPARTURE OF THE GOVERNOR.—At seven o'clock on Monday morning last, the Lieut. Governor and the Hon. Mrs. Manners-Sutton and family, took their departure from Fredericton for St. John in the steamer Anna Augusta. A Guard of Honor, consisting of the detachment of the 62nd now in garrison, under command of Major Rynd, was drawn up on the wharf, where a numerous assemblage had gathered together to bid farewell to His Excellency and family. As the steamer rounded the wharf a salute of cannon was fired from the bank, and at the call of the Mayor three times three hearty cheers, twice repeated, were given as token of honor and good will.

About five years ago a certain party in this Province, who up to that time had extolled the Hon. Mr. Manners Sutton as the most constitutional Governor that had ever presided over us, suddenly turned around upon the other extreme and prophesied that his term of office in the Province would be very short—that his days were numbered. We do not intend to retrace the political events of that period. It is enough to say that His Excellency has not only continued to administer the government of the Province for a longer period than is usually allotted to our Governors, but he has during the latter part of his administration, seen the champion of that party which predicts his speedy removal from the Province, degraded from the position he so unworthily filled and placed in the most humiliating position that a legislator can occupy. We believe we express the feeling of a large majority of the people of the Province when we say, that a renewal of his Excellency's term of office would have been most acceptable to the people and advantageous to the interests of the Province; and that His Excellency carries with him our best wishes for his future prosperity, in whatever portion of the Empire his Sovereign may require his services.—Head Quarters.

St. John N. B. Oct. 10.

Steamship Arabia arrived at Halifax 4.30 this morning.

Among passengers for Halifax are Major Gen. Doyle, newly appointed Commander at Halifax, and Hon. Arthur Gordon, Governor of New Brunswick.

Earl Eglington died on the 4th, from an attack of apoplexy. Mr. Lindsay member of Parliament for Sunderland, in addressing his constituents, touched upon American question; he said it would be some time before cotton could be got elsewhere: he considered it the duty of Government to endeavor to induce Federal Government in cause of humanity, to remove the blockade; considering the bold stand made by Confederates and the strength of the South, he thought it almost time that the Government of England and France thought of recognizing the independence of so numerous a body of people (cheers and some hisses); it was evident that North was not sincerely anxious to abolish slavery, which would never be removed by servile war. The separation of North and South would be much more likely to effect this object.

It is asserted that relations of Italian and French Government were as satisfactory as possible.

France has not asked for any cessation of territory. Delay on settlement of Roman question is caused by considerations of quite a different character.

TURKEY.—Porte consented to raise the blockade of Montenegro provided Prince Nicholas and his Senators sign engagement, henceforth to respect Turkish territory.

Arrival of DR. LA'MERT, in St. John, N. B.

DR. LA'MERT, of Bedford Square, London, Member of the Royal College of Surgeons of England; Licentiate of the Royal College of Physicians of Edinburgh, &c.; Author of "SELF-PRESERVATION," and "SCIENCE OF LIFE," and "SECOND LIFE," begs to intimate to his Patients and the Public that he has arrived in St. John, N. B. on a Professional Visit; and that he may be personally consulted daily from 9 till 1, and from 5 till 8 o'clock, at Mrs. Stevens's, 79 Princess Street, until the 18th of October.

After this date Dr. La'Mert will proceed to QUEBEC, his addresses and period of stay in which city will be duly announced in the Lower Canadian Journals. Dr. La'Mert's studies have been almost exclusively devoted to the cure of the various diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Urinary and Generative system; embracing the whole category of disorders incidental to these organs—and more particularly those cases of Nervous and Physical Debility the result of pernicious Habits, which usually terminate in Impotence and Sterility, and prematurely induce all the concomitants of Old Age.

In making this intimation, Dr. La'Mert wishes to point out the advantages that invariably result from a personal interview, and the unusual facilities that will be afforded to those who are desirous of bringing their cases under his immediate supervision. Dr. La'Mert, moreover, cannot too strongly urge on those who have already been under his care, or who may be in present itself of clearing up any doubts that may have existed in regard to their cases, and would particularly impress upon them the importance of their putting themselves as quickly as possible into personal communication with him during his necessarily limited stay, which under no circumstances can be prolonged beyond the date hereafter to be announced.

In order that no obstacle may be presented to the completion of the treatment in such cases, Dr. La'Mert will be provided with the correspondence, notes, &c. connected with each individual case in the Colonies that has come under his care during the past three years. The Consultation fee is £1. Those who contemplate availing themselves of Dr. La'Mert's services are recommended, in the interim, to procure from one of the undersigned Local Agents his work on SELF-PRESERVATION; A Medical Treatise on Nervous Debility and Functional Weakness, more particularly in reference to the Infirmities and Disorders of the Generative System, with numerous Engravings and Descriptive Cases. The object of the work is not to maintain any particular hypothesis, but to enable every one to understand for himself the structure and functions of the organs concerned in the fulfillment of the Physical Obligations of the Married State; to acquaint him with the consequences arising from excess; to prevent unnecessary misapprehension from unfounded fears, and to indicate, when those fears are well founded, the means of speedy relief. "SELF-PRESERVATION" may be had in a sea ed envelope, price thirty cents, of Messrs. Chubb and Co., St. John, N. B.; E. G. Fuller, Express Agent, Halifax, N.S. and Mr. James T. INDIAN SUMMER.

Light as love's smiles, the silvery mist at morn, Flows in loom-fakes along the limpid river;

I love thee, Autumn, for thy scenery ere The Maids of winter chase the varied dyes

HOW I MADE A FORTUNE.

I am not quite as badly off as the needy knife-grinder who had no story to tell; but my story is not very extraordinary.

My name is Pepperidge Lovatt. I was called Pepperidge after my mother's father, a wealthy pork-packer, from whom the family had great expectations.

After I graduated I had no difficulty about choosing a profession. My friends, taking the beautiful language of my valedictory into consideration, suggested the law as the sphere in which my talents would have the best chance of development.

I had practiced law vigorously, after the fashion I have described, for about two years and a half, when three very important things occurred.

by their home look. They seem to tell of domestic enjoyment; they suggest a quiet cup of tea, hot toast, and your slippers tucked under the hearti-rug.

The other incidents were serious. One was the death of my father, who had been a widower for twelve years; the other was a failure of Bullwinkle, Badger, and Bullwinkle.

Thus I was left, without a father to support me, no rich uncle to apply to, altogether a penniless fellow, knowing little of my profession, and no chance for clients, had I even been a profound lawyer.

"What can we do for you?" he asked. "I don't know," said I. "That is precisely what I want to find out."

"I'll take that," I said, "if you'll take me without any recommendation but my muscle." He laughed. "You are about the oddest customer," said he.

"Very good," said I, taking the money; "I'll be back in a half an hour. Your new porter's name is Lovatt."

My employer paid no further attention to me after the first day. No day, however, about three months after I first took the place, the chief clerk called to me.

after the first day. No day, however, about three months after I first took the place, the chief clerk called to me.

"Lovatt," said he, "come here. I notice that you calculate very well, and wrote a good hand. Mr. Greene [that was the name of our new second clerk] is sick abed to-day.

"Thank you," I answered. "Van Golt! oh yes; I remember a John Van Golt, to whom, in my better days, I loaned five hundred dollars.

I bowed—I could not speak—and backed myself out of the door, running against a hat-stand in the hall, and growing redder at the awkward blunder.

"Rep, my boy!" I said to myself "you are getting to be a fool again. You are a clerk with a salary of twelve dollars a week, and you're falling in love with the sweetest little—pshaw!

Two days after Mr. Banks handed me a check for five hundred and eighty-five dollars and three cents—the amount of Van Golt's note, with interest.

Then I builded bigger air-castles than ever, with Dora for mistress of each. And yet I rarely saw her—occasionally at the house, once in the street, and once, for a whole afternoon, on her father's birthday, when Mr. Lipscombe and myself were invited to dine with our principal. On that occasion I had dined with Dora, and talked with her, though the conversation must have been very silly on my part.

"Nothing. It is in the savings-fund, drawing five per cent. I thought it the safest, on the whole."

How a MAN FEELS WHEN HE IS SHOT.—We take the following from a letter written by one of the gallant Iowa volunteers, who fought in the battle near Springfield, Missouri: "I was standing, or rather kneeling, behind a little bush, reloading my musket, just before the rebels engaged in this close work, retreated. Suddenly I felt a sharp pain in the shoulder and fell to the ground. Jumping up, one of our boys asked me if I was hurt. I replied I tho't not, drew up my musket to fire, when he said: 'Yes, you are shot right through the shoulder.' I think it was this remark, more than the wound, which caused the field, all at once, to commence whirling around me in a very strange manner. I started to leave it, with a half ounce musket ball in my shoulder, and once or twice fell down with dizziness; but in a short time recovered sufficiently to be able to walk back to Springfield, nine miles, where the ball was afterwards extracted."
