SUFFERGETTES SURE TO WIN

Women's Suffrage Movement Booked for Visiting in England According to View of Prominent Publisher.

Boston, August 5.—To defend the Hug from the charge of being the most extravagant city in America the Boston girl would like to say that perhaps nowhere else is so much done to make people comfortable. The sight of more than one hundred thousand people on a warm Sunday enjoying the sea breezes on the recreation piers and bridges at City Point is enough to make one exclaim that if you must live in a big city Boston is the place. It costs more to run the city than some others, but perhaps—HAS rebelled, raising louder each day her protest and demand that this foolish, artificial, hair-destroying toilet aid be banished from Dame Fashion's dresser.

And woman has won. The "rat" is doomed, is already passing away from the scene, scampering away when shown up to womankind in its true light. New styles displayed by "Madam" this fall will show how the milliner recognizes an accomplished fact and is building her creations with smaller crowns, to fit the rat-less head. "Yes, it's true, the 'rat' must go," said the girl at the hairdresser's to her favorite customer. "And it's all because women have at last come to their senses."

The rebellion began with some sensible woman upon whom it suddenly dawned one day that the lifeless, jack-luster, falling condition of her hair must be blamed upon her "rat."

All Boston's way to New England's jumping of place, Provincetown. It's a quaint popular village at all times in the vacation season, but just now the new monument and President Taft are the two big attractions. The art critics don't like the Pilgrim monument. They say frankly that to stick a copy of an Italian bell tower above the sand dunes at the top of Cape Cod is to display the minimum of originality and good taste. The monument commemorates the landing of the Pilgrims, but nothing about it is appropriate to the place of the people. However, the monument is big, being the second highest shaft of solid granite in the United States, and the view from the top is rarely fine. Many of the good people who gathered about its base at the dedication on August 5th came away with no idea that it is but an imposing give-away of American taste and intelligence.

Interesting testimony concerning the apparent inevitableness of woman suffrage abroad was brought to Boston by a returning tourist on the Ivernia. "Will the suffragists win in England," was asked of Herbert Myrick, Springfield publisher, prominent in all sorts of good causes. "Nothing can stop the movement," he replied. "It is simply one phase of a really world-wide movement for woman's advance. Even the women of royalty are interested, among them being the beautiful Queen of Italy, who is noted for her housewifely accomplishments." Such chiefs from the other side add cheer to the efforts of the New England suffragists, whose activities these warm weeks are sufficiently strenuous. One of their brilliant midsummer innovations was the summer resort suffrage party of August 2, held at Nantuxet under the auspices of the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association, with such speakers as Baroness Serge Alexander Korf of Finland; Mrs. Stanley McCormick, of Boston; and Miss Alice C. Carpenter, of Fitzwilliam, N. H. The campaign in Massachusetts mill towns continues. Nor are evidences wanting that in the other New England states people are hearing about the justice and expediency of giving women the ballot. From St. Johnsbury, Vt., it is reported by the Woman's Journal that an enterprising publisher has gone out and is circulating a yellow postcard, bearing on one side a colored map of Vermont with all its counties, in large type: "Women vote for President in Wyoming, Colorado, Utah and Idaho. Why not in Vermont?"

If most white boys felt the lure of college education as strongly as did Mr. E. Smyth Jones, colored, the educational institutions of New England would have to multiply their teaching forces by ten. This Mississippi youth is a poet, some of whose verses have been commented by high authorities, beat his way from Dixie, stealing or begging rides and walking, until one midsummer evening he stood where he had imaginatively longed to be, in the Harvard yard. It was not very long before he was seeing no one of whom to ask questions. Mr. Jones inquired of a custodian in the basement of a building where he could find President Elliot. Suspicious of being an impostor being aroused, and he was arrested as a vagrant. Judge Arthur Stone, before whom he was haled, saw that he was telling a straight story, but held his case over for a few days, during which the young poet was eventually better off in jail than he might have been elsewhere, for he spent his time in composing an impassioned ode of thankfulness to the kind-hearted judge. On his final appearance he was represented by a distinguished lawyer of his own race, and as there was absolutely no case against him he was dismissed. At the same time he received an appointment as an assistant janitor at Harvard College, so that he will now get the coveted opportunity to carry on studies which he believes can be pursued in connection with his janitorial work. Men of his race have before now distinguished themselves at the oldest and richest of American universities.

Win in Rebellion Against the Rat

THE BACK OF THE HEAD, AFTER A SIMPLE, RAT-LESS COIFFURE IS ARRANGED.

By Cynthia Grey. The rebellion against the rat—yes, that's the proper word, for woman HAS rebelled, raising louder each day her protest and demand that this foolish, artificial, hair-destroying toilet aid be banished from Dame Fashion's dresser.

And woman has won. The "rat" is doomed, is already passing away from the scene, scampering away when shown up to womankind in its true light. New styles displayed by "Madam" this fall will show how the milliner recognizes an accomplished fact and is building her creations with smaller crowns, to fit the rat-less head.

Then she stopped worrying and fretting about her hair long enough to take out the "rat." "Women will readily follow a courageous leader. And of course, this woman was right. The 'rat' heats the scalp and compels an increased flow of oil. This oil gets into the 'rat' and becomes rancid. The dead oil rubs back on the hair, and a daily shampoo wouldn't undo the damage it causes. "Between you and me, she remembered just in time that her hair is her crowning glory—a thing that many women will recall too late. "Of course, we are in business to make money, and the more rats, puffs, switches and braids we sell the better we're off, so we say little about this revolution. Puffs and light switches will still be worn, and the hair will be soft and fluffy about the face. But rats—well, confidentially, we're not buying any new rats."

As a result of this timely (?) discovery of a rational woman, milliners are working overtime, making hats with smaller crown-sizes to fit these rat-less heads. This fall and winter there will be a radical change in hats on account of the change in coiffures.

THE STORMING OF THE RUDDYS How Mary Elizabeth Defied the Greeks for Two Whole Days—Story of Brooklyn's Tenement District.

New York, August 7.—Plus Aeneas of Troy, who carried Anchises, his father and all the household gods on his shoulders away from an impending real estate slump in the good old days, deserved the honor of being the hero of the day. The Greek gods, who yesterday set her apron for a sail and this made of herself a fitful galley, steering wildly along all the coasts of Myrtle avenue and Fleet street, seeking a new land, which should fulfill the prophecy of the Sibylline leaves of the house renting agency. Apollo's westing steeds kicked the dust from Hoboken heights back on the head of Pia Mary Elizabeth, stranded temporarily in the shoals of Navy street with the household gods heaped in confusion before a new and strange altar.

And Here's the Yarn. 'Twas this way, O Augustus! Mary Elizabeth, her father, John and her brothers, Phil and Frankie, all lived in happy accord on the top floor of the ancient brick house on North Elm street, knowing no enemy and loving their neighbors. Came one day an inspector of the Tenement House Department who prodded the old foundations and fingered the crumbling abutments. The house-master so, seeking a new land, with sternness, "You must go," said Agent Carlo Rokechis, addressing each of the tenants in turn. "When" then upspoke Mary Elizabeth, the daughter of the housekeeper and, jealous protector. "Immediately," Agent Rokechis then made reply. "Not," then quoth Mary Elizabeth, who is one given to little wasting of the breath.

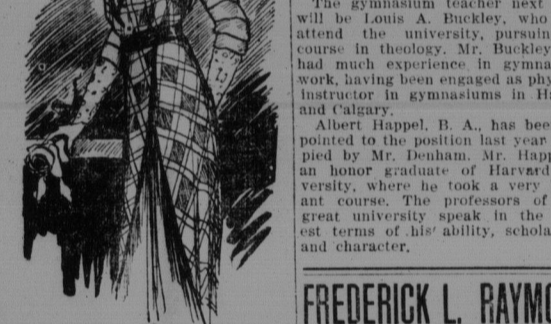

That was less than a week ago. More timorous tenants on the first floor and second floor of the condemned building moved on Tuesday. Mary Elizabeth and her brother Frankie leaped far from the entrenched battlements of the third floor and gazed down in derision upon the craven heads of those faint-hearted ones who had heeded the threat of the agent and who were decamping so precipitately. "What Ho! the Greeks." Again Agent Rokechis appeared. He stood on the sidewalk and made a funnel of his hands. The words carried up to Mary Elizabeth with a tang of anger. "Do you get out before the wreckers begin or do I get a dispossession?" "Get your wreckers. Get your dispossession," came the taunt from that square of blackness illumined by the ambrosial locks of Mary Elizabeth. "Do you think me a-going to quit work 'n' lose his job a-movin' because of youse?" Then on Wednesday came the army of the Greeks. They came not by stealth; the wooden horse except a child's toy stool could enter the portal of this defended stronghold. But boldly and with their picks and saws in their hands came the Greeks, Papa Anaxoropolis leading them. They attacked the portal; it yielded. They went on into the house and the smash of their sledges and the shrill

GINGHAM HOUSE GOWN

A good substantial little frock is this one, made of checked and plaid gingham, with heavy lace cuffs and vest. ling of their saxes ascended to the resolute ears of Mary Elizabeth. All of Wednesday the Greeks undermined the foundations of the waddy citadel. The plaster ascended to the windows of the third floor in warning clouds. The rending of beams and ripping of laths counted off the minutes that led to impending disaster. By Wednesday night the lower floor of the house was a skeleton.

Prevented Water Famine. Then again yesterday morning came on the implacable Greeks. Mary Elizabeth and Frankie still held the sanctum of the home on the third floor. Father Ruddy and Phil, the elder brother, went off to their labors. The weakened stairs leading down from their home croaked under their tread, but still they went away, knowing that where Mary Elizabeth was there also was security. One of the attackers went into the dismantled lower floor and cut the water pipes. Mary Elizabeth above was prepared for that; she had two tubs full of water and every bucket and dish in the kitchen was brimming against a famine, though? came the burning rebuke of Mary Elizabeth down the skeleton length of the staircase. With it came also a painful of water, but the water was not in the pail; it drenched the attacking Greeks. It was the most potent token of the scorn of the besieged.

After the water pipes the drains were torn down. Then the planks of the floor on the second story were ripped up. Daylight streamed through the ribs of the old house. Mary Elizabeth sat on the top step outside the door, her castle and did some crocheting, also she commented tersely from time to time upon the character of the besiegers. By noon the plumb of the house depended upon a brick's thickness. The Greeks, baffled, withdrew to sit on the curb and munch their onions, wondering upon whom would fall the pleasant task of knocking out that brick. Then came Father Ruddy. He took a look at things, saw his home perching on stilts above a ruin, decided that a gentle discretion should curtail defiance. Up he went to the top floor. "Mary, girl, you've done noble," said he, "but I guess we move this afternoon."

SAINT JOHN, MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 8, 1910

HYPNOTISM.

There are few subjects in regard to which more misapprehension prevails than hypnosis. A great deal of nonsense has been written about it until it has become to most people a mysterious something full of dread possibilities. Unquestionably hypnosis has its dangers, but its benefits from a medical standpoint so far outweigh these that it is coming to be accounted one of the most useful agents for social amelioration developed in modern times. Two recent publications bearing on the subject contain much of general interest. The first is "Hypnotism," by Mr. Edward B. Warman, contributed to a psychic science series, and the second, "Abnormal Psychology," by Dr. Isador H. Coriat, second assistant physician for diseases of the nervous system in the Boston city hospital.

Mr. Warman in his book lays down the fundamental conditions attending the use of hypnosis. He points out that—

"No one can be hypnotized against his will; the travelling stage hypnotist and the pseudo-professor to the contrary notwithstanding.

"No one, when under hypnotic influence, can be made to do that which is contrary to his settled principles.

"No one, when under hypnotic influence, can be made to reveal a secret.

"Impure or improper suggestions made to one under hypnotic influence will find no lodgment in uncongenial soil.

"Resistance to hypnotic influence is not due to one's mental strength, but to the mental attitude."

The correctness of these statements is borne out by the consensus of opinion of such men as Drs. Janet, Bramwell and Prince, who have made a lifelong study of hypnosis; and in taking the position he does, Mr. Warman is in accord with the best scientific thought. He, moreover, dispels the popular idea that a person hypnotized is as clay in the hands of a hypnotist, which has been the subject of much popular fiction in novels and on the stage. He utters a word of warning concerning the importance of restricting the employment of hypnosis to practitioners of thorough medical and psychological training because of the fact that the particular dangers associated with its use are such as arise from inadequate scientific knowledge on the part of the hypnotist.

The second work, by Dr. Coriat, is designed primarily for the instruction and guidance of physicians who have to deal with abnormal mental conditions, but it furnishes the general reader with much accurate information in reference to matters which play an important part in modern medicine, concerning which no educated person is content to be ignorant.

The principle of dissociation, or splitting of the mind, is one of the most brilliant discoveries of recent psychological research. It is commonly spoken of as the theory of the subconscious. About one-half of Dr. Coriat's book relates to the exploration of the subconscious, that is to say of that independent consciousness in human beings which is coexistent with the healthy consciousness but detached from it.

One chapter is devoted to the question, "What is Hypnosis?" Everybody knows what absent mindedness is. Hypnosis bears a very close resemblance to it. Hypnosis, according to the author, is "a special mental state, an artificial dissociation of consciousness, strongly resembling and in some cases absolutely identical with normal absent mindedness, but more intense and protracted, induced by suggestion and readily terminated by suggestion."

Many interesting cases are described to illustrate the operation of hypnotic suggestion, which is perhaps most potent in effecting cures of chronic alcoholism. Here the results are often so wonderful that it seems as though the entire personality of the patient had been reconstructed.

In discussing hypnotic phenomena the author gives considerable space to cases of multiple personality. Some of these are extraordinary. One patient developed four different personalities in hypnotic trances. It is in actual occurrences of this nature that some modern novelists have found a basis for strange incidents and startling situations.

Dr. Coriat also devotes much space to "Neurasthenia," which is the "nervous prostration" of modern society. There is nothing sensational in his book. It is an intelligible and scientific treatise in a somewhat occult department of medicine upon topics in which there is a good deal of popular interest.

AN EXPENSIVE LUXURY.

The extravagant policy of the Laurier government in refusing a contribution to the British Navy and deciding in favor of a fleet of Canadian built ships has never been successfully defended, and a statement of Mr. George B. Hunter, the shipbuilding expert of the firm of Swan and Hunter, who is now in Canada, still further serves to emphasize the folly of the government's programme. "We may tender for the Canadian navy," says Mr. Hunter, "but it will cost a great deal more to build ships in Canada than it would at home." Not only will construction cost a great deal more, but the expense of maintenance and renewal will run into millions of dollars, all of which except to provide opportunities for the grafters is uncalled for and unnecessary.

According to a report just issued from Ottawa the salaries of Canadian naval officers will be from 25 to 50 per cent. more than the British schedule. Thus a captain will get as high as $9 a day, while an engineer captain will receive $13.50 per day. The gunners will get $2.50, the able seamen 70 cents, and the ordinary seamen 50 cents. It will cost Canada $3,000,000 a year for salaries alone.

Besides working expenses there is the up-keep of the ships. This will call for the expenditure of vast sums of money. Vessels having such intricate machinery as the Britols will contain are constantly in the hands of the repairers. Ammunition will be a very considerable item. Every time a gun is fired a shell worth $100 goes into the sea. The guns must be fired frequently, otherwise the gunners will not know their business, and in case of war they will not be able to aim at the pursuing enemy.

The heaviest outlay will be that of renewing the ships. War vessels last but a few years and new vessels of an improved type must then take their place. An example of the brevity of the life of a warship is to be found in the case of the crack United States battleship Oregon. This ship was in the Pacific at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war and made the trip around Cape Horn in order to take part in the campaign. She was the finest vessel in the United States navy at the time. Today she is on her way to the scrap heap. She is obsolete and is worn out. Another example is furnished in Britain. The Admiralty has just sold by auction four warships. One of them, the Centurion, is but sixteen years old. She cost $16,000,000 to build; at auction she brought $400,000.

This order-in-council navy will be an expensive luxury and totally ineffective in time of war. A Liberal organ which was cornered recently with the question what would the Canadian ships do if attacked by a single first-class battleship found consolation in the reply that the Canadian ships would have a speed of twenty-five knots. So it comes to this, that the country is called upon to expend $60,000,000 within ten years upon a fleet that in war would be useless. Instead of playing at pretending, like little children, Canadians ought to remember that they are part and parcel of the Empire and are willing to contribute all that is asked of them for the up-keep of the greatest Navy in the world.

AUTOMOBILES AND CREDIT.

A St. Louis financial house that deals largely in commercial paper, recently sent out a circular letter to 350 bankers in Missouri, Illinois, Kansas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, Georgia and Florida. In this communication five questions were asked,—as to the demand for money, the crop outlook, speculations in land and the purchase of automobiles. The automobile question was as follows: "Has the purchase of automobiles in your section been by persons who paid cash or by persons who bought with borrowed funds or on time payments?"

Almost every banker in sections adapted to the use of automobiles answered this question to the effect that many of the persons buying automobiles in the locality were not able to afford them. Further, the replies showed that the bankers were keeping close watch on many of the automobiles and their owners.

One banker said that the automobile business is the menace of the country. Another said that the trade in automobiles shows the present tendency towards wild speculation in buying everything on credit. Another considered that the automobile craze is but a new outlet for the money that people are bound to lose, and would lose, in mining stocks or other ventures if the automobile did not take their fancy.

Several of the bankers said that loans made for the purchase of automobiles, no matter how strong the security, are frowned upon. The purchaser may be in excellent financial standing, but there is a disinclination to let the money be tied up in an altogether unproductive way. The travelers sent out by wholesalers and manufacturers are in many cases instructed to note what customers have automobiles and to regulate the orders accordingly.

The view taken is that the money used for the purchase of the automobile is withdrawn from the business, where it was probably needed. Not only is the money taken from the business, but also very commonly the automobiling proprietor's personal attention is diverted therefrom. This, of course, is not for the good of business, and dispensers of credit are not taking chances with every customer who has the craze.

With a total of seven bands as an attraction, the concert in King Square this evening in aid of the Campbellton fire sufferers should prove a big drawing card on its merits, and from the fact that it could not be given for a more worthy object, the contributions which will find their way into the fifteen collection boxes should be liberal. This is an opportunity for the citizens of St. John to give according to their means. No one is so poor but can give something. Whatever his circumstances may be he is better off than many hundreds of those whom he is given a chance to help. Campbellton is in ashes, and the people homeless, and in want. Let the response from the people of St. John be generous.

CURRENT COMMENT

(Moncton Times.)

Father O'Neill, who took his proposed walk from Memramcook to Bouchouche on Wednesday, states that the roads for about five-sixths of the entire distance, 43 miles, pedometer measurement, from St. Joseph's to Mgr. Hebert's church, are in first-rate condition for walking and driving. Wheelmen would find them a little rough for bicycling for something like half the way. On the whole, the route compares favorably with the average country road in Northern Indiana.

(Montreal Gazette.)

In reply to some impertinent inquiries as to who is paying the considerable cost of the Laurier party's special train tour in the West, it is explained that the money has been provided by private contributions of wealthy friends of the party. Probably the men who gave Sir Wilfrid Laurier that purse of $100,000 and Mr. Fielding that other purse of $120,000 are still ready to give proof of their disinterested interest in the fortunes of the leaders of Liberalism as it is in Canada today.

(Calgary Daily News.)

King Alfonso of Spain evidently prefers to be regarded as a neutral in the scrap now going on between the Roman Catholic church and the government of Spain. He has been placed in a peculiarly awkward predicament for the church blames the Queen for the antagonism of the state, as she was of the Protestant faith. His leaving Spain at this crisis was probably the wisest course he could follow.

(Hamilton Spectator.)

Gradually the truth is filtering out as to the crop situation in the West, and, as it filters, we are reminded afresh that great as the wheat crop may be, it can never hope to surpass the yearly crop of crop report Ananias.

THE PURIFICATION OF THE SOUL.

All that tends to purify and elevate the mind will assist in this attainment, and there are three different roads by which the end may be reached. The love of beauty which excites the poet that devotion to the one and that ascent of science which makes the ambition of the philosopher and that love and those prayers by which some devout and ardent soul tends in its moral purity toward perfection—these are the great highways conducting to that height above the actual and the particular, where we stand in the immediate presence of the infinite, who shines out as from the depths of the soul—Vaughan.

Then it Happened

George was a peculiar boy, naturally quiet and reserved he had been inflamed by reading the editorials in a certain paper which had undertaken to "dredge" into the Main street paving contract and had made all sorts of wild statements as to the work while laboring under delusions produced by the aforesaid newspaper he decided to investigate for himself the paper's claims that the work was faulty. Over on Main street he saw a heavy Hassam roller. "Pah! it's punk like the rest of the job. I can run in front of it when it is closest and get away before it reaches me. Anyway if it does hit, it won't hurt for the Morning Digger says the pavement is soft." True to his boast he did run in when the roller was nearest. George is now a part of the Main street roadbed.

HAY WILL TAKE ALL BARN ROOM

DeBee, August 7.—Owing to the unfavorable weather conditions during the haying season, the hay is not all gathered in in this locality, there being a bumper hay crop, some of the farmers already have their barns filled leaving no room for the grain crop. It will be necessary in these cases to have the grain threshed as soon as harvested.

the different hotels and restaurants. About three hundred delegates are expected.

Matters of deep interest will come up for consideration and as different opinions will prevail it is not unlikely that there will be some keen and spirited debating. The Ministers' Institute will occupy the first day. Papers will be read by Revs. Bishop of Fairville, Spiddell of Kentville, President Cutler of Acadia and President Horv of Newton Theological Institute, Boston, Mass.

The report of the board and governors of Acadia University will receive attention at the first session. This report will no doubt be an interesting one. The new theological department which is being opened and the undertaking already launched to raise $200,000 for the purpose of increasing the efficiency of the various institutions at Wolfville, will no doubt receive the endorsement of the convention.

The work of foreign missions will come in for a good share of attention and four new missionaries will accompany them, among whom will be Rev. M. L. Orchard, M. A., of this city. The Foreign Mission Board is in touch with a number of other men and women who are now preparing themselves for Christian work abroad.

The convention will be obliged to deal with the question of increased contributions from the churches in order that the new missionary forces may be supported. It will thus be seen that the laymen's missionary movement did not come into existence any too soon. The open door of the mission fields still challenge the laborers, and the laborers who are in various stages of preparation still challenge the laymen of the churches.

Another subject on which there is likely to be a wide difference of opinion is that of a union of the foreign mission board of the Maritime Provinces with the boards of the Ontario and western conventions.

The ministers' annuity board has this year been greatly strengthened by a union of the various annuity associations which hitherto conducted their business apart. An agent will be placed in the field at an early date who will canvass the churches for the purpose of increasing the endowment of the annuity board so that the needs of old disabled ministers and their widows may be provided for. This will in no way interfere with the work of the field agent sent by Acadia, as it is the policy of the college people in this campaign not to call upon the churches for assistance but rather the well-to-do people in various parts of the province who are known to be sympathetic with the Wolfville institutions.

Among the distinguished men who are expected to attend will be Dr. Horv, of Newton, theological seminary; Dr. J. A. Gordon, of Montreal; Rev. D. E. Holt, representing the western work; Dr. Stackhouse, of Winnipeg, and Mr. Shintone, of Toronto, representing the Laymen's Missionary Movement; Dr. Cutler, of Acadia, will attend the convention for the first time.

The Methodist General Conference

The City of Victoria, the capital of British Columbia, had, at the time of the taking of the census in 1901, a population of some 22,000 inhabitants, but in common with other western cities has largely increased in the meantime. It is pleasantly situated on the island of Vancouver, considered which a few words may not be out of place.

It was discovered in 1592 by Juan de Fuca, was visited by Captain Cook in 1778, and by Lt. Vancouver, of the British navy in 1791, was recognized as belonging to Great Britain by treaty in 1846, for some time was held by the Hudson Bay Company, was created a Crown colony in 1858, in 1866 it was politically united with British Columbia and under that name they became a province of the Dominion of Canada in 1871.

Fifty-two years ago the agents of the Methodist church entered British Columbia when the Rev. Epina Evans, well known throughout the Maritime Provinces and four others were sent there under the auspices of the British Wesleyan Missionary Society. Half a century is but a brief period of the life of a people, or of a church, but even in that brief period marvels may be wrought. Of this Canada furnishes a striking illustration. Less than 60 years ago the outside world knew little of it, but today it vies with the first place in the sixteenth of states that make up the great British Empire. And equally to the point are the results of the labors of the five missionary pioneers as seen in the churches, schools and scores of ministers and teachers who are not only laboring among the white population, but are caring for the Indian and Oriental also.

In the history of Methodism in British Columbia this will be a memorable year as the chief court of the church meets for the first time beyond the Rockies. To secure this, however, the good people of Victoria, made a vigorous fight, the question of expense to people, or of a church, more central place. But having carried their point, nothing has been left undone in order to make the occasion a great success. Not only has free accommodation been provided for the delegates, but for all others who might wish to see their beautiful city and country. Arrangements were made with hotels and boarding houses at very reasonable rates, on either the European or American plan. The rates run all the way from 75 cents to $2.50 per day. With special fares on the railways, and with such alluring inducements to "go west," it is not to be wondered at that despite the distance and the unavoidable expense so many decided to see for themselves the land of the setting sun.

While there are certain matters that must be dealt with, but of the issues of which one can only guess, there are other matters concerning which correct conclusions may already be arrived at. One of these is the report of the committee on the state of the work. This will show the present membership of the church to be 349,091, which shows a net increase of 22,374 in the quadrennium, but to these must be added 3317 members, who passed from under the care of the Canadian Methodist churches when the general Synod met in Japan were united some two years ago and which is now known as "The Methodist Church of Japan." The largest increases are in the Toronto Conference, 5,401; in the Alberta, 4,742, and in the Saskatchewan, 4,552, and the smallest in the New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island Conference 641, the Bay of Quinte 623, and the London 210. One only reports a decrease, the Nova Scotia, which reports 127 fewer members than it did four years ago. The largest increase during the last twenty years was in 1894, 27,085; the smallest in 1902, 11,358.

Lipton's Yacht Was Dismasted

Millionaire Yachtsmen Seem to Have Hard Luck in Entertaining Royalty—King Alfonso in Accident Saturday

Cowes, Isle of Wight, August 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, Shamrock, King Edward having been a guest on the island of Spain, was dismasted on Saturday. A stiff breeze was blowing and a heavy rain falling.

Ill-luck for the second time follows Sir Thomas Lipton in entertaining Royal guests upon his racing yachts. King Edward II when the challenger for the America's cup was dismasted and wrecked by a sudden squall on the Solent, May 22, 1901. King Edward had a miraculous escape from injury when the topmast and then the heavy steel mast gave way in the squall, the wreckage, steel cables, heavy blocks and sails, coming down all over the deck of the yacht.

A heavy block fell between Lady Londonderry and W. J. Jameson and a wire rope struck the owner upon the head, momentarily stunning him. King Edward, who had started to go below, was half in and half out of the companionway, and when the owner and crew of the yacht recovered from their consternation, he was seen clambering over the wreckage trying to ascertain whether anyone was injured and the extent of the damage.

AN ELOQUENT SERMON BY VISITING PASTOR

Rev. Ira B. Hardy of Milton, Mass., Preached in German Street Baptist Church Last Evening.

Taking his text from Psalms 14: "The fool hath said in his heart there is no God." Rev. I. B. Hardy of Milton, Mass., preached an eloquent sermon on Athelism in German street church last evening.

Beginning his sermon with the statement that he doubted whether there was anybody in this world who really in his heart believed that there is no God. Mr. Hardy drew the question down to his hearers themselves and always have a vital conclusion for himself "who of us will deny that God is?" But he went on to ask "Do we that He exists in us?"

"The preacher," Mr. Hardy said, "had simply to make the assertion that there was a God because the scriptures said so. Yet there was abundant evidence that there was a God—nature for instance. All true naturalists, astrologists and botanists with one another in their admiration of the Creator. The beautiful flower, the fleecy cloud, the ocean, the great sun, all had so admirable a conjunction of movement that one could not but understand that there must be a central power that controlled them all.

"History is evidence," the preacher continued, "that God was. Take history as a whole and you will see that back of all the strife and discord there is a power making for righteousness. It seems hard to understand that there should be conflict in the world against right, yet if we wait we shall see that it is all for the right.

"Human experience is an evidence that there is a God. My old professor used to say 'I know that there is a God, because I know God.'

"In the beginning of knowledge and experience, indeed in the beginning of everything, there was God and to disbelieve in Him was to disbelieve in everything in the Supreme Thing.

Mr. Hardy drew the conclusion the fool who did not in his heart believe in God was a supreme fool. The word 'fool' the preacher said "was much used in the Bible and the word in the scriptures meant more than it did to us. It indicated a vile man who had degenerated so much that he said there was no God. He said it moreover, because he wished to believe it and if we wished to believe something we got to judge it so. As we are we wish, as we wish we think, as we think we judge," said the speaker.

"Who of us, however," Mr. Hardy asked "is altogether guiltless of this unbelief by not thinking of Him always, by not rendering thanks at the table or at the end of the day to the Great Giver of all things. Our attention was too much taken up with our own accomplishment to realize that all of them come from God."

WATCHING FOR CALAIS STARS

Great interest is being manifested in the appearance of the fast Calais team here on Wednesday. It is pretty thoroughly recognized that the Maine aggregation is as fast as any in that section of the country and there is some mighty hefty heavy timber in the bordering state. On the other hand the North Enders are capable of, and do put up fast ball, and a great battle should result. The St. Peter's hope that Empire Devle of Calais, whose reputation for fair dealing and competent work is well known will be here with the team.

U. S. IMMIGRATION HEAD COMING TO ST. JOHN

Commissioner General Daniel Keefe, who is the head of the United States Immigration bureau, left Washington Saturday on a tour of inspection which will include New York, Boston, St. John, Halifax, Quebec, Montreal, Toronto, Lewiston and Niagara Falls. The local immigration officials have received no notification of Commissioner Keefe's visit, and the announcement in the morning papers came as a complete surprise to them.

Mr. P. E. Miller, the U. S. Immigration Inspector in St. John, informed The Star this morning that he thought it probable that Commissioner Keefe merely intended to call on the various offices and ascertain just how well the work was being done, and suggest any improvements that might seem necessary. Official notification of the date of his visit may be looked for any day.

NEW YORK YACHT CLUB'S FINE RUN

Wind and Sea to Spare for Saturday's Run from New London to Newport—The Results.

Newport, R. I., Aug. 6.—There was all the wind and sea for the run of the New York Yacht Club from New London to this port today that the most ardent yachtsman could wish. A stiff breeze from the south southwest that made up a heavy sea, did some damage to the top hamper of a few of the boats. The auxiliary schooner which carried away her topmast just after crossing the finish line of Brenton's reef and the auxiliary Ethelred and the yawl Polaris each carried away spinnakers.

The vice-commander's cup was won by the Victoria, owned by the victor. The first division schooner was won by the Elmira, owned by Fredk' F. Brewster of New Haven.

In the second division Harold F. Vanderbilt's Yagrant was the victor. The Shimma, owned by Morton F. Plant of New London, led the first division sloops over the line and in the second division, the Alera, owned by J. W. and E. T. Alker of New York, took the prize.

The special cup for auxiliaries offered by the regatta committee of the New York Yacht Club was won by the Intrepid owned by Lloyd Phoenix which led the Aloha and Ariadne over the line.

men believe there should be an investigation. There is a wide difference of opinion among eye witnesses as to the exact nature of Jeffries' physical condition. Some of them will always insist that he was bordering on a nervous collapse, while others will stoutly maintain that nothing ailed him except the inability to come back. Hitherto not one word has been heard regarding the examination of Jeffries by the doctors, and the true inwardness of each physician's verdict. Dr. Hood and West have made no further statements, but in view of the assertions in the letter to the New York Sun, it is believed they may be willing to throw some light on this new and unexpected phase of the controversy.

SPORTS FEATURE

Excellent Races and Athletic Events at Outing of Charlotte Street Baptist Church Held on Saturday.

The annual picnic of the Charlotte street Baptist church, West End, was held Saturday to Westfield Beach and was eminently successful from every standpoint. Besides the many happy little ones there were hundreds of grown ups as well who thoroughly enjoyed the day amidst the beauties of this most picturesque spot. All the popular amusements and games were much in evidence and well patronized and a bountiful repast served by winsome lassies was enjoyed by all.

During the day the following programs of sports were run off: 50 yard dash—Won by Harry Ellis. 100 yard dash—Won by Hedley Bissett. 220 yard dash—Won by George Paul. 440 yard dash—Won by George Paul.

The running broad jump was captured by Martin Campbell, while Hedley Bissett romped away with the standing broad jump and the hop-step-and-jump.

By virtue of having made the most points Mr. Bissett won the cup which was offered for competition while Martin Campbell was second in points won.

During the day a baseball match between the Married and Single Men was played. Although no official scorer was employed after several innings it was decided that the Benedicts had won by 9 to 2.

GRAIN AND CATTLE CHICAGO MARKET

SATURDAY WAS QUIET ON WALL ST.

New York, Aug. 6.—Nothing of importance occurred in the stock market today. Speculation halted to await events. Expectation of a strong bank return to be published after the close of the market and belief that the government report on condition of the grain crops to be published on Monday would prove favorable, strengthened the tone of the market. The demand was cautious and very meagre, but supplies of stocks for sale were lacking and prices were easily affected by very light transactions. Amalgamated copper was influenced to some extent by the cheerful views of the trade outlook expressed by the head of the company. A denial from the president of the United States Steel corporation of yesterday's report that the price of steel rails had been cut seemed to harden the price of the shares. The conservative tone of the commercial reviews and reports of further severe curtailment of cotton goods production had a restraining effect on the demand for securities. The small demand for commercial paper by the New York banks and the scanty offerings of funds for time loans, in spite of the surface redundancy of money supplies, does not escape notice and is taken to reflect the anxieties over the fall markets.

Foreign exchange rates rose again today, but the London supply of South African gold arrivals is expected to be taken by New York on Monday. A coming offer of British treasury bills is affecting the London money market although it is believed the attractive interest rates prompted the offering as much as treasury needs, the government deposits in the Bank of England still standing at a very high figure. Intimations from Washington that the $20,000,000 of government bonds for reclamation purposes might be offered in October made a new factor for consideration in the money market. The bank statement showed that the week's private settlements of distressed stock market accounts had effected loans in liquidation elsewhere than with the clearing house banks, that item in the statement of actual condition showing an expansion of $12,351,000. The influx of cash having more than paid the result there in addition to the actual surplus of $5,573,200 bringing that item up to the extraordinary figure of $52,800,000. The actual cash reserve now stands at 29.29 per cent. of the deposit liabilities. Bonds were steady. Total sales, par value, $32,000. U. S. Bonds were unchanged on call.

CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

By Direct Private Wires to J. C. Mackintosh and Co.

"S. S. May Queen"

New York, Aug. 6.—The stock market was intensely dull but maintained a firm tone throughout today's short session, thus emphasizing the belief held in many observant quarters that the general technical position of the leading stocks has become a strong one. The general tone averaged a point higher on very small transactions but certain specialties notably So common showed rather spectacular strength. There was no news to account for the rise of nearly five points in the last named stock, but it was shrewdly suspected that a short interest had been uncovered.

Canadian Pacific showed sympathetic strength.

Better weather in the corn and cotton belts and the expectation of a favorable bank statement today and a better government crop report on Monday threw the weight of probability in favor of higher prices for the immediate future.

COTTON LETTER.

By direct private wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co.

New York, Aug. 6.—Bull interests rallied to the support of prices today and succeeded in forcing a further advance in the spot option and a sympathetic improvement of five or six points in the distant positions. However reports of further showers in Texas and Oklahoma repressed outside buying over the week end.

The general opinion nevertheless is that precipitation in the Southwest has been insufficient and that it would be dangerous to go short until there has been definite breaking up of the drought.

There is a disposition to believe that the spinning demand will increase on any further evidences of crop curtailment. This is purely a weather market for the time being, with the future course of prices contingent upon crop developments. The political outlook leads to the expectation prices later on.

Clever Fighter May Meet Wolgast

Ray Bronson, the E. Barry Wall of the fighting game, has caused a lot of trouble in the lightweight division with his padded fists. Bronson is liable to be hooked up with lightweight champion Ad Wolgast in the near future, and there is trouble in store for Cherokee Tom Jones' Michigan wildcat.

Ray Bronson, Packer McFarland, Jimmy Dunn, Cyclone Thompson, Jack O'Sullivan and others of less note. He has been knocked out twice, once by Mickey Ford, in 1906, and last year by Freddie Welsh in 13 rounds.

WOODSTOCK IS BASEBALL MAD

That Woodstock Ball Team Seems to be Pretty Nearly the Whole Thing in Carleton County—Games Planned for the Week.

Woodstock, N. B., Aug. 7.—Interest in the baseball game takes on the aspect of an international event between Canada and the United States. Still, Woodstock is Houlton's neighbor, while Waterville is somewhat of a stranger, tending to divide the crowd sentimentally. Each team is fast so that it is thought that each group of diamond gladiators will be cheered for the purpose of provoking their best efforts.

It is expected that over 2000 people will be present. A prominent resident of Fredericton has written to Woodstock asking for the date of the games and stating that many people from the Celestial city will strive to be present. The game is expected to draw heavily from all along the line of the C. P. R. as well as from points in Arrostook County. The Waterville team, it is thought, is perhaps the one team in New Brunswick or Maine that has anything on the Woodstock team. Next Thursday's game will be the most important of the season, if any.

TALENT GOT A SURPRISE IN SARATOGA

Ten to One Shot Won Hurricane Stake on Saturday—Eighteen to One Shot Landed Another Big One.

VAGABOND WON THE CUP RACE ON SATURDAY

Good Weather Greeted Millidgeville Yachtsmen and Lovitt Cup Fixture Furnished Very Keen Sport.

Saratoga, August 6.—T. Monahan's Textile, neglected in the betting at ten to one, and running to his best form, won the Hurricane Stake for two year olds, worth $9,700 to the winner, here today. He was ridden by Willie Knapp, and the boy rode one of his old time finishes. Semprolus and Shackleton cut on a stiff pace to the head of the stretch. Here Shackleton began to tire and Semprolus was joined by Whist. The field swung wide on the turn which let Knapp through on the rail with Textile. At the furlong pole, Textile, Whist and Semprolus were heads apart and in the drive Textile proved the fastest and won by half a length from Whist, who in turn was a head before Semprolus with the others strung out.

With a fresh, crisp breeze and under otherwise ideal weather conditions, the class "B" event for the Lovitt Cup, was run off at Millidgeville Saturday and was captured by Vagabond after a race that was close and hard fought throughout. Although there were five entries for the event, the Fei Yuen and Winnogene did not start and the contest narrowed down to the Vagabond, Savatar and Edith.

The course was from Middleville to Nulkish and back again three times, a distance of 18 knots. Hundreds of people watched the race from different points of vantage. Neither craft showed any great advantage over the others, and not until the last couple of miles was it possible to pick a winner. Then the Vagabond showed some of the class she has displayed in more than one occasion this season and slowly but steadily opened a gap between her opponents. She crossed the line just six minutes ahead of the Savatar and ten minutes faster than the Edith. Following is the official time: Elapsed Time Finish Vagabond.....1:43.30 1:43.30 Savatar.....1:56.40 1:56.40 Edith.....2:03.02 1:58.27 The officials were:

WORCESTER IN A GREAT GAME

"Jesse" Burkett's Stalwarts Had a Fifteen-Inning Session in the New England League Race.

Worcester, Mass., Aug. 6.—"Jesse" Burkett's bunch of ball players strengthened their hold upon premier position in the New England League by defeating their nearest rivals, Fall River 4-3 in 15 innings of sensational baseball, before the largest crowd to witness a game in Worcester this year.

Although Worcester was out-hit by the visitors, they won the game, 4 to 3, by bunching their hits better and coupling them with Fall River's three errors. It was Weaver's error in the 15th which allowed the winning run to be scored. Butler, Fall River's third baseman went out of the game in the third with a badly split hand and his loss was keenly felt.

OLD BUT EFFECTIVE

When the pitcher throws the ball the runner runs for second, and the man on third, if properly caught, is under way. If the first baseman throws to second it's sure the man who has left third will score. Should the first baseman throw to plate instead of to second, the man trying to score is generally able to return to third, and the man on second is credited with a stolen base.

The delayed steal, used years ago, is successfully worked by big league clubs now, to score a runner from third. With runners on third and first the delayed steal is used as a last resort, when two are out. The runner on first gives the signal to the man on third, and then deliberately permits himself to be nipped off the bag by taking a long lead. It is the most natural thing in the world for a pitcher, even a veteran, to fall for the chance to nip a runner and this is what the runner wants.

CLIPPERS LAND ANOTHER GAME

Defeated St. Johns on Saturday by Score of 5 to 2—Friday Night's Game Called Off After Long Wrangle—Ramsey a Spectator.

Clippers, 5; St. Johns, 2. With St. Johns considerably weakened, the McBrinettes tucked away another game Saturday afternoon. Five times McBride's pathmen circumnavigated the cushions, while that performance was accomplished only on two occasions by Mr. Tilley's hirelings.

Neither team put up anything wonderful in the line of real baseball for the edification of the multitude of fans and fair fannies who remained away from the Merry Widow because they wanted to see our sterling athletes perform. Now and then there would be a ray of sunshine let in and then there were times when, some flendish misplays were made. As it was the men on McBride's payroll pretty much outbasered the enemy apparently being able to avoid aerial flights when men loitered on cushions and on two occasions when the bases were filled to overflowing and a blow meant a run, the saints were completely assassinated by snappy double plays.

Both Pitchers Effective. Gero served up the shoots for the saints and was effective throughout. He allowed but 5 saveties one of which however, was a big blow to right fielder by T. Howe for the third time. When Mr. Howe pulled out of the remarkable stunt the cushions happened to be clear.

Mr. Brogan—he of Marysville fame—made his debut before a St. John audience, and his good performance received applause of big dimensions. After the opening session which he began by issuing a pass and allowing the bases to be filled about as full as they could be, he proceeded to his task and sent his nuzzling floaters that had the saints powerless.

Up to the sixth stanza the score was 2-2. Then the saints blew up early. They threw the ball about like junior leaguers and moved about as if afraid of being hit by autos, and when the diamond dust had settled down after Finnamore fled out the McBrinettes had broken into the run column three additional times.

Long Delay in Starting. Although advertised to start sharp on time there was the usual long delay and notwithstanding managers, captains and umpires had presented a stentorian arguments and rid themselves of fiery orations, it was finally decided to play ball.

Manager McBride moved, seconded by Mr. Finnamore, that Friday evening's game be called no game. Manager Tilley moved an amendment, that the Clipper magnate was obstinate. A heated debate ensued and after much big argument, during which both magnates stamped hard on the Dominion of Canada by way of emphasizing their views, Manager McBride refused to let his athletes perform unless his motion carried. The resolution was finally passed in silence and in a voice that seemed almost sepulchral the ump. announced to the breathless and waiting populace that Friday night's event would go down in history as no game. It was 3:20 then, but this did not annoy the magnates. There was still a very weighty matter to be settled.

Eddie Ramsey a Spectator. Unless an extra guard of police were placed on duty or part of the militia called out, Manager McBride's high priced artisans could not perform. They actually were afraid of being assassinated in a wholesale manner by one Mr. Ramsey, and not until a solemn promise had been extracted that that dangerous individual be kept bound to the bench, and a closely guarded, would the high salaried men on McBride's payroll be allowed to enter the fray. This much feared gent was finally bound hand and foot and then in a stentorian voice that awakened the sleeping multitude, the ump called play ball.

How it Went. In the first session Copeland got free transportation to first and stole second. Lynch advanced him to the third station with a pretty single. Then Riley smashed out another to left field and Copeland romped home. With his cushions filled and none down it looked rocky for Mr. Brogan, but that gent settled down to a wonderful extent and the next three men were dismissed in quick succession.

In the third section of the fray the McBrinettes got even. With one down Mills walked and stole second. A Finnamore introduced a grounder to A. Ramsey at third who made a ridiculous error and Mills advanced to the third station. Donnelly sent a roller to Cregan, who threw the ball to right field fence and Mills scored. It looked prosperous for the Clippers when a double play obliterated both men from the cushions.

BORDER TEAMS AGAIN VICTORS

St. Stephen Thistles and Calais Stars Defeated Presque Isle Ball Team in Two Games on Saturday.

St. Stephen, Aug. 6.—The visit of the Presque Isle ball team to the border has been somewhat disastrous to the northern Maine players. In a double-header at Calais yesterday the scores were 6 to 1 and 3 to 1 against the visitors and in a game in St. Stephen this afternoon the score was, Thistles, 5; Presque Isle, 2.

The home team made two runs in the 3rd, four in the 4th, one in the 5th, and one in the 7th. Presque Isle made 1 in the seventh and 1 in the eighth, both on errors.

Carter and Chapleaine formed the battery for the Thistles. Upon pitched and Mitot caught for Presque Isle until the 5th inning, when they were replaced by Rogers and Higgins. Carter struck out 14 men and the two Presque Isle tossers got 9. Neptune, the Indian player borrowed from Woodstock, played the star game, in striking and base running for the visitors, and outside of Carter's strikeouts, Hurley played the star game for the Thistles.

The Presque Isle team has encountered further hard luck through their manager, who evaporated during the night having with him the cash proceeds of the Calais game. Perhaps he will appear again, but the team is wondering when.

Border interest centres now in the tour abroad of the Calais Stars, who play their first game at Woodstock Monday afternoon. They may not win that game, and then again they may, but any amount of border money would back up the assertion that Mr. Peasley will not shut them out. The Calais team is composed of natives or permanent residents of that little city and they can all play ball.

HIS MOTHER TO TAKE HIM BACK TO BOSTON

Clinton A. Dodge Taken to Police Station from Elliott Row House on Saturday—Of Unsound Mind.

Saturday afternoon Police Officer Ross was called into No. 1 Elliott Row to quiet a disturbance which was being made by Clinton A. Dodge, a native of Uncle Sam's domain. The officer found Dodge acting in such an extraordinary manner that he immediately concluded that the man must necessarily be mentally unbalanced and took him to central station. Some time later the seemingly demented man's mother called at the station. She told the officer that accompanied by her son she had arrived in the city only Thursday. They secured quarters in Elliott Row. Saturday morning the son seemed to be acting strangely and gradually grew worse. She would be glad if admittance to the provincial hospital could be secured for him.

It was decided that Dodge be held in the guardroom until he was examined by a physician. He carried with him two pigeons, and declared that he was looking for somebody who would go into partnership with him to raise pigeons. He talked very convincingly upon the financial harvest to be reaped from such an enterprise but could not arouse the ambition of any one of the bluecoats. Yesterday afternoon Dr. Berryman, the coroner, examined Dodge and declared him to be of unsound mind. He recommended that he be deported to the United States, but upon his mother promising to take him to Boston on today's boat, he was allowed to go with his mother. Dodge is 50 years old.

Grant Smith left Saturday for Charlottetown, P. E. I., on a five weeks visit to "the island" and Nova Scotia, visiting among other places Antigonish and Digby.

BIG REAL ESTATE BODM IS REPORTED AT COURTENAY BAY

Over Prospect of Dock and G.T.P. Terminals.

Dry Dock Site Announced as Near Municipal Home and Farms in That Vicinity Become Suddenly Valuable.

"The dry dock will be built on the east side of Courtenay Bay just below the Municipal Home, and there will be three thousand men at work on that shore by next summer," said St. John businessman who is supposed to know something, to The Standard yesterday. "Meantime the value of property around Courtenay Bay is going up at a rapid rate. A gentleman who bought a strip of land over there for $1,200 some years ago, recently refused an offer of $3,000 and expects to get $10,000 for it in a short time. Another man has refused $2,000 for a lot he paid $1,000 for only a year ago. "It is understood that the land required for the dry dock, wharf approaches, and railway terminals will be expropriated on the basis of the price the Grand Trunk Pacific paid for the Gilbert property—that is for $500 per acre. The sites required for these purposes will not be as valuable as the adjacent properties, which will remain in private hands, and be available for general business purposes. A good sized town is bound to grow up around the eastern shore, and land there will continue to increase in value, as buildings for commercial purposes, and for the accommodation of the workers are erected. Most of the landowners realize this, and are holding out for high prices. From what I hear of the intentions of the government and the G. T. R. the work of converting Courtenay Bay into a harbor, building the dry dock, and constructing docking and railway terminal facilities, will be proceeded with on an extensive scale before long. I expect there will be 3,000 men employed next summer."

ELI McBEATH SAVED A GIRL—AND A WINDOW

North End Man Was a Prominent Figure in a Sensational Bicycling Runaway in King Square.

A large girl of about 17 years of age, on a new bicycle, was coasting down one of the walks of King square, when she forgot how to manipulate the brake and lost her head. With accelerating velocity she swept through the park and down towards the Edward Hotel, bumped over the curb, and across the street, straight for the plate glass windows, crying, "Oh, mister, save me! Save me!"

Eli McBeath, of the North End, who was standing in front of the hotel, promptly rushed to the rescue of the fair damsel, who had apparently lost all her presence of mind and was unable to steer her flying machine. Into Mr. McBeath's arms she ran full tilt and with such force, that though he is a large and heavy man, he was flattened out on the sidewalk with the damsel sprawling all over him. Mr. McBeath sustained some severe bruises, but the fair damsel was unscathed. As she got to her feet, she cried, "Oh, is the bicycle hurt?" And then she seemed angry because the handle bars had been bent. But it was rather fortunate for the girl that she had a big man like Mr. McBeath to fall on. If he hadn't thrown himself into the way, the wild rider would have gone through the plate glass window in the Edward Hotel.

FOUND NO ROCK YET IN COURTENAY BAY

H. M. Davy Talks of Borings in Courtenay Bay and at West Side—Preparations for Van Buren Bridge.

H. M. Davy, of the department of public works, returned Saturday from Van Buren, and St. Leonards, where he has been making arrangements for holding borings with a view of finding out the nature of the foundation for the piers of the proposed international bridge. "We have only started work," he said, "and can't say yet whether it will be an easy matter or not to find a suitable foundation for the piers. The bridge will be about 1000 feet in length and will be an ordinary structure erected on stone or concrete piers. "We are still making borings on the West Side and Courtenay Bay, and so far we have found everything satisfactory. We have not found any rock in Courtenay Bay that would interfere with the work of dredging it for the accommodation of big ships."

Fairville Sewerage. The plans for the sewerage system of Fairville are about completed, and it is expected that tenders for putting in the system will be called for in about two weeks. The specifications are being prepared by Wm. Murdoch, the city engineer, and it is estimated that the installation of the system will involve an expenditure of about $34,000. It is expected that tenders to the extent of $10,000 will be offered for sale before the end of the month, and that the contractors will be able to start operations during the fall.

WESTERNER DECLARES HARVEST EXCURSIONS PRODUCE CRIMINALS

F. Hyatt of Calgary Addressed Socialist Meeting Last Night

In One Town in the West He Saw Thirteen Harvesters Jailed as Vagrants in Single Day.

At the Socialist meeting held last evening F. Hyatt of Calgary stated that the harvest excursions to the West were good things to make criminals. In Southern Alberta last year he had seen hundreds of men who had gone out West in the hope of making $3 per day, during the harvest season, walking the ties. Usually when they came to a town they were thrown into jail on a charge of vagrancy. The West clamored for help to harvest the wheat, but during the harvest season the jails were full of laborers, whose only crime was that they had gone to the wrong place to look for work. "In one town I was in, only a small town, they put 13 would-be harvesters in jail on one day. And that," said the speaker, "is an example of the waste and misdirection of labor under capitalism. We talk of the managing ability of the capitalist class, yet there never was a time when the managing class made a greater mess of things. "With all the increased productivity of labor and overproduction, there was seldom a time when the bulk of the people were much worse off than they are today. The speaker then discussed the trust problem. Karl Marx, he said, had predicted 50 years ago the rise of the trusts and the final elimination from all the large industries. All the wise-acre economists of the time laughed at his predictions, even as Adam Smith had considered it impossible for the joint stock companies to attain any importance. Competition no longer regulated prices of goods in this country, though it still regulated wages. A hat that could be bought for $1 in London, Eng., was sold in St. John for $4. The speaker did not believe in trying to throttle the trusts. That was impossible, because the trusts represented the most efficient mode of production. Then the parliamentarians were usually interested in combines of some sort and could not be expected to legislate against their own interests. There was only one remedy for the trust system and that was for the nation to assume control of the trusts and manage them for the benefit of the people. Continuing, the speaker said the wage system was only an advance on slavery. In the old days the man ran away from his master. Today the man was glad to run after his master. During the last week 30 cotton factories in the States and one in St. John had shut down—apparently because the cotton men were afraid of overproduction. It was a strange thing that more the workers crept the worse off they were. After a period of high production there was usually a period of hard times. The workers created goods worth about $8 a day, and got back $2; hence there was no market for the goods they produced. An interesting discussion followed.

LIVELY DISPUTE OVER FAIRVILLE ROAD NAME

Daniel Campbell's Plan to Name 14-Mile Road Lancaster Avenue Meets With Much Opposition.

There is a good deal of indignation in Fairville, because Daniel Campbell, engineer at the Provincial Hospital, has a petition out to name the road from the Bay Shore Roundhouse to Prince of Wales, Lancaster avenue, thus making a continuous street for 14 miles. Nobody paid much attention to the new movement until Friday evening when Mr. Campbell arrived with his petition. The business men and others then began to realize that there was some danger of their principal street losing its historic name, and an indignation was held at which it was decided to get up a counter petition. This will be signed, it is said, by practically everybody in the town, as there is a strong feeling against robbing Main street of its good name. It is claimed that the proposal of Mr. Campbell is not a good one anyway, as the streets are not really continuous.

POLICE DOUBT TRUTH OF RESTELLI REPORT

Local Sleuths Do Not Believe That Murderer Wanted in Quincy Has Come to This Province.

The local police are not inclined to put much credence in the story to the effect that Louis Restelli, the Quincy, Mass., murderer who killed Henry E. Harwick, and his own mother, and shot four others is in New Brunswick. They do not think it possible that Restelli could so easily elude the immigration officials at the border, and also think it improbable that he would attempt to make his way to a small country place like McEivney Junction. It is thought that the Italian would be more likely to remain in a large city where he would, among his own people, have a better chance to elude detection.
