HIS FATE. NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—The Herald this morning says: Martin Thorn, who sat in his zell last evening sneering and defiart, talked of the time when he was to be sent away, as though his execution was merely a barber's Sunday afternoon off. 'I am glad,' he said, 'that the jury did not disagree. I would rather have them give a verdict of murder in the first degree than to have them disagree or to give a verdict in any other degree. I want either acquittal or a verdict in the 'I wish to deny,' he continued, 'that I confessed to anybody after the giving of the verdict that Mrs. Nack's version was the correct one. Everything hap pened just as I told it on the stand.' He showed a trace of feeling when Mrs Nack was referred to.

'I am not going to do anything to eave the county or the state the expense of killing me. I'll make the state pay for its trouble, that's what I mean.'

The Hon. Mr. Blair was at Chatham yesterday and was interviewed by a large number of its citizens. From what we can learn, railway freight and other matters in which the citizens of Chatham are deeply interested, were freely discussed and gone into, but we have not learned what decision was arrived at. We have also heard that a joint Address from the Town Council and Board of Trade was presented to him.

We have been compelled to lay aside a large amount of editorial and other matter this week to make room for the Christmas advertizements of our patrons. As we intend to issue a paper double the size of our present issue during Christmas week, our readers will not lose by being deprived this week of their usual amount of reading drawn and as such it is not only answerable for all the acts of the last two be bund by all their policy and proceeding administrations, but must be taken to be bound by all their policy and compelled to walk in the lines laid down how the lines laid down how the lines laid down how, from this view I dissent. AN EXPERIMENT.

John Jones was telling his wife—they had not been married very long, by the way—about a man who came home one night so drunk that he had to lie down on the floor while his wife pulled his shoes off for him. He also mentioned the fact that this man's wife did not seem to take her husband's condition to heart very badly, but made rather a joke of it and
