ACTED STRANGELY AND DREW A JACK-KNIFE

Joseph Cameron of High Street
Arrested in the I. C. R. Yard.

A young man named Joseph Cameron of High St., who has been ill for some time past, entered a Pullman car before noon outside the I. C. R. temporary paint shop. Several men were working there and Cameron acted in such a way as to make it desirable that he should leave. They ordered him out, but he would not go. Cameron then drew a jack-knife and threatened to use it if they insisted upon putting him out. Mr. David White telephoned for I. C. R. Policeman Perry, who went over.

There was considerable trouble in getting the handcuffs on Cameron, but finally Perry succeeded. There was a story circulated that Cameron had struck at Perry with the knife and wounded him, but that is not true.

Cameron was taken by Perry down to the police station and locked up. On being searched there was found in Cameron's pocket two articles of woman's attire, as if from a clothes line. Mr. Perry suggested to the police authorities that a medical man be sent for and Cameron examined as to his mental condition.

Enquires make known the fact that he has acted somewhat strangely for several weeks past since his illness, but this is the first time anything serious has developed.

LIQUOR DEALER NOW AFTER KAY.

Charges Moncton Magistrate With Not Making Returns On Parties Fined.

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 13.—Police Magistrate Kay was this morning served by Sheriff McQueen with a writ issued at instance of P. Gallagher, proprietor of the Minto Hotel, charged Mr. Kay with not making returns in certain cases of parties convicted and fined. Magistrate Kay has retained D. I. Welch and the matter is expected to come up on the county court next month.

The minister of railways has issued a circular to I. C. R. employees on the pass question. The minister's reply to the delegation, which recently waited on him, is to the following effect:

"Passes may be issued to employees when sent out by superiors on railway business; when given leave of absence to consult with officers of the road; to attend meetings of employees; each employee, who has completed one full year's service, may be given one pass per year. A limited number of additional passes may be given to each employee in case of serious illness or death in the family or of other unusual circumstances. Each of these cases must be submitted to the general manager with a statement of facts. In case of an employee in the train service the district superintendent may issue a pass to return home. Each employee who has completed one year's full service may be given a pass a year for his wife and family residing with and depending upon him for support."

The circular, in effect, makes a slight concession from the order recently issued by the minister.

DISTRICT DIVISION.

Quarterly Meeting Held Here
Last Week.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Next Meeting to be Held at Harcourt.

The fifth quarterly meeting of Kent-Northumberland District Division took place at Newcastle, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. District Worthy Patriarch Thomas A. Clarke in the chair. Representatives present were:

From Newcastle Division, No. 45.—T. A. Clarke, D. W. P. Jas. Falconer, D. Chap. Edward McGruar, Mrs. Ingram, Miss Addie M. Bockler, and Miss Olive R. Williamson.

Harcourt, No. 48.—H. H. Stuart, D. S. Ernest E. Buckerfield, Rev. R. H. Stavert, and Misses Lela E. Ingram and Helen Buckerfield.

Grangeville, No. 49.—Geo. N. Jonah.

Miramichi, No. 428. Burnt Church.—Mrs. Wm. Anderson. Besides there were visitors from Newcastle Division.

The vacant offices were filled pro tem, as follows: D. W. A. Miss Ingram; D. Sintinel, E. E. Buckerfield; D. Treas., Mrs. Anderson; D. Cond., Edward McGruar. The District Scribe reported that the following Divisions had reported for quarter ending June 30th: Harcourt, No. 48, had then 76 members; Grangeville, No. 49, 60; Bass River, No. 441, 102; Newcastle, No. 45, 55; Richibucto, No. 42, 47; Miramichi, No. 428, 34; and Caledonia No. 126, of Douglstown 50—total for the seven divisions 374, an increase of 60 members in 3 months, of which 49 came from Bass River Division. None of the Divisions had increased during the quarter.

Rosefield Division, No. 280, McLaughlin Road; Silver Stream, No. 330, Black Brook; Nelson, No. 99, Derby; Maple Leaf, No. 434, Tabusintac, failed to report; Whitneyville, No. 359, and Good Hope, No. 433, of New Jersey, are dormant.

During the quarter the number of licensed places in Western Kent Co. had been reduced to one.

During July and August sufficient names had been secured to soon organize divisions in Clairville and Ford's Mills and reorganize in Chatham.

The Scribe's report was handed over to the committee on state of the order, who reported as follows: "We are pleased with the increase in the interest and membership during the last quarter, but regret that the membership is not larger for when we take away the increase of 49 in Bass River Division we find that the other divisions have added only 11 to their membership. We also heartily appreciate the efforts of Rev. R. H. Stavert of Harcourt, in helping to decrease the number of licenses in Kent Co."

(Signed) G. A. JONAH,
JAMES FALCONER,
ANNIE F. INGRAM.

The report was adopted. The accounts of D. Scribe for postage, and for organization work in Kent Co. and Chatham, were passed by the Division.

The good of the Order was discussed by T. A. Clarke, Mrs. Anderson, H. H. Stuart, Jas. Falconer, and others. Mr. Clarke spoke hopefully of the prospects of finally suppressing illegal liquor selling in Newcastle.

At intermission refreshment were served by the Newcastle members.

It was decided that it was in the best interests of both counties that Kent and Northumberland remain united in one district division.

Next meeting was decided for Harcourt in January next.

On motion of E. E. Buckerfield, and G. A. Jonah, Resolved, That this District Division tender to Stipendiary Magistrate Kay of Moncton, their appreciation of the stand he has taken and the grand work he has done in the matter of Scott Act cases in that city, and that a copy of this resolution be sent him.

On motion of H. H. Stuart, and James Falconer, Resolved, That

TRIED TO FLEECE SKATER REYNOLDS.

Alleged Hartford, Conn., Man
Tried to Get Line on Gate Receipt.

Mr. Knodell, manager of the roller rinks for Mr. Campbell, of St. John, and Earle Reynolds, fancy and trick roller skater, who has been giving exhibitions here say, they had quite an interesting experience with a man who arrived here last Tuesday in company with a pretty young woman, and registered at the American Hotel as Mr. St. Scott and wife, New York. Scott, they say, picked an acquaintance with Reynolds, introduced his wife, and told him he had seen him perform in New York and would have the pleasure of seeing him here.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott were at the rink and Scott made himself agreeable to the champion skater. He volunteered to introduce Reynolds, to the spectators and was given the job. H.

Wednesday morning Knodell and Reynolds went to Newcastle, where the latter gave an exhibition on that evening. In the course of the evening, they say, Scott turned up at Newcastle and offered his services to Knodell who gave him the job of selling tickets and handling the receipts from the refreshment booth. At the close of the entertainment, they say, Scott was a few dollars short in his accounts, but nothing serious appears to have been thought of it.

That night Scott was in the same room with Knodell. Knodell took the precaution to give his money to Reynolds for safe keeping over night. He retained two $10 marked bills. In the morning one was missing, and later in the day Reynolds, having been acquainted with the facts, charged Scott with theft. The latter was advised to skip before proceedings were taken, but the young man, who had previously claimed to be a Pinkerton detective in search of a woman in Canada, stayed in Newcastle.

Knodell and Reynolds came to Moncton Thursday afternoon, and soon after their arrival Chief Tingler received a telegram from Newcastle signed John J. Gallah, instructing him to arrest Reynolds, and Knodell. On instructions so indefinite the chief declined to act without further information. He wired Newcastle and later received a reply not to act on the first telegram.

Thursday evening Scott arrived here, and when cornered is said to have admitted he sent the telegram. When the young woman trading with him as his wife learned the story she appeared much affected and told a story to the effect that she had worked in a mail bag factory in Hartford, when she was wooed and won by James Bridley, to whom she was married recently, and came east on their honeymoon.

Bradley, she said, represented himself as being wealthy, but she said she had been deceived and expressed a wish she could untie the nuptial knot.

The young Scott is believed to be Bradley, of Hartford, Conn., The pair left on the C. P. R. for the west yesterday afternoon.

Hear about MacRae's shoe sale? Oh yes prices are cut all to pieces much deeper than ever before.

This District Division hereby expresses its confidence in, and hearty appreciation of, the conscientious and capable manner in which the two Justices of Peace in Newcastle are conducting the Scott Act cases now being brought before them, and hopes for a successful issue to their labors.

A vote of thanks was tendered Newcastle Division by the visiting members.

Adjourned. A public meeting was held in the evening. Music was supplied by Miss Olive R. Williamson, Miss Gertrude Clarke and others, and addresses were given by Mr. T. A. Clarke, Rev. Messrs. Stavert, Rice and Snell, and H. H. Stuart. A very fine recitation was given by Edward McGruar.

The Newcastle and Derby Baptist Sunday Schools held their annual picnic in Wilson's Grove Wednesday afternoon. There were races by the young folks and the picnickers returned to their homes about 8 o'clock.

Mr. G. H. Lamont, of Douglas-town, milkman, appeared on the street last week with a nobby delivery wagon, which is a credit to J. M. Falconer & Son, the firm who turned out the work. Mr. Falconer has also just completed a wagon for Theo. Jardine, which will appear on our streets in a few days.

A Fredericton despatch says:—A complaint from the Imperial Coal Company were not providing sufficient accommodation for the output of coal was considered by the government in session. It was decided to notify the railway that unless satisfactory steps were taken to meet the complaint the government would appoint some one to operate the road.

I. C. R. locomotive No. 113 met with an accident Wednesday at Copthwaite's tank, near Cross Creek, while en route to Loggieville with the regular way freight train. A cylinder blew out and the engine had to be taken back to Gibson by Engineer Belyea. Luckily the ballast train was near at hand at the time and the locomotive attached to that train was sent along with the regular train.

Messrs. Landry & O'Brien have recently secured, through Marion & Marion, patent attorneys, of Moncton a patent for a nut-lock. This has been patented in Canada, United States, and Great Britain. Mr. Landry, who is one of Newcastle's thrifty blacksmiths, has been working on this nut-lock for upwards of twelve months, while Mr. O'Brien has been testing them and assisting Mr. Landry. These gentlemen have received good offers to sell this patent, but have decided not to dispose of it for the present.

The marriage of Miss Grace Cadney and John Clancey took place at the pro-cathedral Chatham, last Tuesday evening. The bride was attended by Miss Emma Harding, while the groom was supported by his brother. The bride wore a handsome costume of grey voile with silk and chiffon trimmings. The bridesmaid was attired in white voile. After the ceremony the happy couple repaired to the home of the bride's parents, where supper was served to the immediate relatives and friends. The presents were numerous and costly.

The lumber trade on the North Shore is expected to be a large one this year. At the present time the shipments from this port are a little below the average, but a large quantity is now going forward, and last year's mark will soon be surpassed. At Campbellton a new mark has been set up, and while the previous record has been 40 million feet, it is confidently expected that the total for this year will be up to 80 million. This lumber has chiefly been shipped to old country ports, and up date twelve sailing vessels and five steamers have cleared from the port and the amount is above ten million feet of long lumber, besides shingles and laths for Nova Scotian points.—Commercial

A very pleasant time was enjoyed Tuesday evening of last week at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Morris, Pleasant St., when a few friends gathered at their home to say adieu to Mrs. Fred Godey, on the eve of her departure for home in Somerville, Mass., after an enjoyable visit with her sister Mrs. Morris, and her brother Mr. Andrew McCabe. The evening was filled away in a social chat, vocal and instrumental music. Light refreshments were served, and later on the party dispersed with the wish that Mrs. Godey would return to her native town soon again.

The seven-year-old son of Wm. Mullin, of Lytleton, was drowned on Monday morning of last week, while out in a row boat. The little fellow was playing with two playmates when he told them to get out that he was going to Red-bank. He did not go very far before the boat upset in rough water and he was drowned. The body was recovered an hour after the accident occurred. Mr. and Mrs. Mullin have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad bereavement.

The funeral was held Wednesday morning at ten o'clock and was very largely attended.

Beautiful and Brilliant Colors Guaranteed When Ladies Use—Diamond Dyes

Each year thousands of letters come from all parts of the vast Dominion telling of victories and successes with Diamond Dyes in the home.

The marvellous and immense sales of Diamond Dyes in Canada have induced adventurers and speculators (who know nothing about the chemistry of colors) to go in to the putting up of package dyes. Such dyes are adulterated and crude; the colors are muddy and blotchy, bringing ruin to the materials you try to dye.

DIAMOND DYES, the choice of wise women, are the kind used when bright, full, fast and brilliant colors are wanted. No disappointments possible when you use Diamond Dyes.

DIAMOND DYES are sold by all leading druggists and dealers. Refuse to accept substitutes when you ask for Diamond Dyes. Send to Wells & Richardson Co., Limited, Montreal, P. Q., for New Direction Book and Diamond Dye Cook Book. Sent free to any address.

RADIANT WOMANHOOD.

The glory and satisfaction of beautiful womanhood can be known only to those possessing the unlimited advantages of health. No weak woman can be happy or enjoy half the pleasures of life. Pallid cheeks, sunken eyes, exhausted nerves, all tell of a terrible struggle to keep up. What the weak woman needs is Ferrozene; it restores and vitalizes instantly—it's a "woman's remedy"—that's why. Ferrozene makes women strong, plump and beautiful because it contains lots of nutrient, the kind that forms muscle, sinew, bone and nerve. Vitalizing blood courses through the body, making delightful color, happy hair, true womanly strength. Fifty cents buys a box of Ferrozene in any drug store.

HARCOURT.

On the 4th inst., at Beersville, C. W. Dean, Supt. Imperial Coal Co., and T. J. Clarke, Supt. Beersville Coal and Railway Co., entertained 75 of their employees and friends at an ice cream party at the residence of John Dunn, jr.

On the 6th at the residence of bride's parents, Miss Isabel, young daughter of Wm. Agnew, of Main River, was married to Geo. Call of Pine Ridge. A reception in their honor was held in the evening.

On the 8th in Presbyterian church here, Wm. J. Glencross, and Miss Annabel Dunn both of Beersville, were married by Rev. R. H. Stavert. The couple were attended by George Dunn and Miss Bella Glencross.

Mrs. Rev. J. B. Champion returned on the 6th from a five weeks trip to Westernmorland Co.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Powell of Eveleth, Minn., are visiting former's sisters, Miss Flora Powell, and Mrs. E. Keswick, here.

D. A. Saulnier left for Saulnierville, N. S., on the 8th. He will probably settle there to engage in business.

Ernest Hetherington is home from Lynnfield, Mass.

Everard Thompson of Bass River, editor of "Yale Record," is home from New Haven, Conn.

Miss Minnie A. Buckley spent last week in Amherst, N. S.

Misses Tena and Margaret Fraser, successful Kent Co. teachers, have gone to Manitoba to teach, at much higher salaries than can be obtained here.

A. E. Pearson of Bass River, was last week offered the school at Nepawa, Man., 20 miles south of Winnipeg on a main line of railway, at a salary more than double his present stipend; but as male teachers are so scarce the Bass River trustees will not release him. Now is the time for the few teachers remaining in New Brunswick to join the Teacher's Union en masse.

On the 9th Bass River, Richibucto and Harcourt Divisions held a union picnic at Bass River. There was a great turnout of the temperance legions, over 100 members of the order being present.

Miss Jean Thurber has returned from Waterford, Kings, Co.

Rev. Mr. Champion closed last week a very successful series of special meetings at Ford's Mills.

Edward Allan, Hector and Angus Campbell, the latter accompanied by his wife, returned from Bangor, Me., on the 9th to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Campbell, Bass River.

Jas. J. Campbell, lately returned from Alberta, went west again, on the 7th. With him went Jonathan and Charles Graham of Moulins River.

The picnic of the Rev. Father J. J. MacLaughlin's charge at Richibucto, on the 8th, was very successful. Net proceeds were over $700.

Alex. and Willard Barnett, of Bucto, left on the 7th for Salme, B. C.

On the 13th, Miss Margaret I. Fearon reopened Emerson school; Miss Elizabeth M. McDermott, took charge of one of the schools in Pine Ridge; and Miss Nellie Rogers, of Clairville.

From Harcourt two dept. Superior school in July, 1904, one pupil passed third class entrance and three failed entirely; in 1905, two passed for second, and four for third; this year, four for second and four or five for third.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation

No one can reasonably hope for good digestion when the bowels are constipated. Mr. Chas. Baldwin, of Edwardsville, Ill., says, "I suffered from chronic constipation and stomach troubles for several years, but thanks to Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets am also cured." Why not get a package of these tablets and get well in a day? Price 25 cents. For sale by R. C. Vye.

"In order to become a successful traveling salesman," wrote the manager of a correspondence school for drummers to a long-distance pupil, "you must be plausible and persuasive—especially when it comes to explaining to the firm why you haven't landed any orders."

DEAD SICK OF ASTHMA?

You couldn't be otherwise with such a distressing malady. Well, for one dollar spent on "Catarrhones" you can be thoroughly cured. Foolish to delay, because asthma steadily grows worse. Get Catarrhones today and cure yourself; it's a pleasant to use, very simple, and guaranteed. Prescribed by thousands of doctors and used by the people of nine nations—Certainly Catarrhones must be good; it hasn't failed yet, no matter how chronic the case.

WHAT Fruit-a-tives ARE

Fruit-a-tives are the marvels of modern medicine. They have accomplished more actual cures—done more good to more people—than any other medicine ever introduced in Canada for the time they have been on sale.

Fruit-a-tives are fruit juices. They are nature's cure for

- CONSTIPATION
- BILIOUSNESS
- BAD STOMACH
- DYSPEPSIA
- HEADACHES
- IMPURE BLOOD
- SKIN DISEASES
- KIDNEY TROUBLE
- RHEUMATISM
- IRRITATED HEART

Fruit-a-tives are the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes. These juices are concentrated—and by a secret process, the juices are combined in a peculiar manner. This new combination is much more active medicinally than fresh juices—yet so perfect is the union that Fruit-a-tives act on the system as if they were in truth a natural fruit, medicinally stronger than any other known fruit.

To this combination of fruit juices, tonics and internal antiseptics are added, and the whole made into tablets.

These are Fruit-a-tives—sold everywhere for 50c a box or 6 boxes for $2.50.

FIVE JAPANESE WERE SHOT.

Were Caught Raiding the Seal Rookeries.

TWELVE PRISONERS TAKEN

More Than Two Hundred Seals Had Been Killed by the Raiders.

New York, Aug. 8.—A special despatch to the Herald from Dutch Harbor, Alaska, says:

Five Japanese were shot and killed on the island of St. Paul, of the Pribyloff group, by order of the agent of the Department of Commerce and Labor on July 17, as the result of a raid by four Japanese schooners on the seal rookeries.

The revenue cutter McCullough, reached here to-day from St. Paul, with twelve prisoners, two seriously wounded, who were turned over to Deputy Marshal Harmon.

The raiders were discovered lying near Northeast Point, St. Paul, by native lookouts of the North American Commercial Company, which leases the seal privilege from the government. Word was telephoned from the patrol station near the rookery for which the raiders were aiming, and the Department of Commerce, and on duty in the Pribyloff Islands, arrived on the spot as the Japanese reached shore. He ordered the boat crew to surrender, which they did. On climbing the promontory at the end of the cape, overlooking one of the larger rookeries, a schooner was seen close in shore. Looking straight down over the cliff, the patrol saw a dozen or more Japanese skinning a great number of seal, which had been slaughtered indiscriminately. The raiders refused to surrender when Lempe reached the scene, and tried to make off with their booty in small boats, several of which were drawn up on shore. The agent then ordered his guard of natives to open fire. The Japanese offered no resistance, being without firearms. Three of the raiders fell dead on the beach, a fourth was seen to be thrown overboard from one of the boats that escaped, and a fifth body drifted ashore later in another boat.

Sydney, C. B., August 9.—The Grand Lodge 1. O. O. F. elected the following officers at its session this morning:

G. M., S. S. Walker, Truro; D. G. M., W. R. Rogers, Halifax; G. W., John Johnston, Sydney Mines; G. S., D. G. Whidden, Antigonish; re-elected; G. R., Jas. A. Bayne, Moncton.

There was a sharp contest for the office of Grand Representative.

Bayne winning out by a close majority. St. Stephen was decided upon as next place of meeting.

VALUABLE ADVICE TO MOTHERS

If your child comes in from play coughing or showing evidences of Grippe, Sore Throat, or sickness of any kind, get out your bottle of Nerville. Rub the chest and neck with Nerville, and give internal doses of ten drops of Nerville in sweetened water every two hours. This will prevent serious trouble. No liniment or ointment equals Polona's Nerville, which has been the great family remedy in Canada for the past fifty years. Try a 25c. bottle of Nerville.

& Why is it, queried the youth, that a man seldom marries his first love?

"Because," replied the home-grown philosopher, a woman of 30 usually has too much sense to marry a kid of 18. That's the answer.

Stub—"So the rival fire companies held a contest. I suppose there were a great many wonderful displays with water among them?"

Cyrus Hardapple—"Yes, especially fire-water."

A PERSISTENT BACKACHE.

Can have but one cause—diseased kidneys which must be strengthened before backache can be cured. Why not use Dr. Hamilton's Pills? They cure the kidneys quickly, make them strong and able to filter disease—breeding poisons from the blood. At once you feel better, stronger, brighter. Kidney health is guaranteed to every user of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Get a 25c. box from your druggist, and refuse substitutes.

Ah, darling, said Younghub, as he finished his breakfast, "you are the light of my existence."

"Really?" queried Mrs. Younghub.

"Sure thing," answered Younghub, "Your biscuits aren't half as heavy as those mother used to make."

To Cure a Cold in One Day

Take LAXATIVE BROMO Quinine Tablets. Druggists refund money if it fails to cure. E. W. GROVE'S signature on each box, 25c.

It's certainly a great pity," said the man who occasionally lets out an audible thought.

What's a great pity? Queried the party with the rubber habit.

"That amateur actors can't see themselves as others see them."

A GUARANTEED CURE FOR PILES

Itching, Blind, Bleeding or Protruding Piles. Druggists are authorized to refund money if PAZO OINTMENT fails to cure in 6 to 14 days.—50c.

Cautious Lady—"If I give you this dime, my poor man you won't drink it up, will you?"

Sandy Pikes—"No, mum; I couldn't drink a dime unless it was melted down, mum."

A GUARANTEED CURE

For All Forms of Kidney Disease.

We the undersigned Druggists, are fully prepared to give the following guarantee with every 50 cent bottle of Dr. Pettin-gill's Kidney-Wart Tablets, the only effect establishing and permanent cure. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money.—P. R. Dalton, Newcastle, N. B.

"Money cheerfully returned if the sufferer is not relieved and improved after use of one bottle. Three to six bottles effect astonishing and permanent cure. If not relieved and cured, you waste no money.—P. R. Dalton, Newcastle, N. B.

Servant—Signors, you must call the doctor, as Master Frederico feels ill.

Mother—If he has no other symptoms the doctor can wait. He has said so many times that he was not well and it has passed at once.

Servant—Yes, signora, that is true, but he has never said so before on a holiday.

PARLIAMENT TO MEET NOV. 22

Ottawa Report Indicates Tariff Changes Will be Unimportant.

Ottawa, Aug. 9.—It is understood at Ottawa that Parliament will be called to meet on Nov. 22. It is anticipated the tariff changes will not be serious, so the government will not require a great deal of time forming new schedules.

The intense itching characteristic of salt rheum and eczema is instantly allayed by applying Chamberlain's Salve. As a cure for skin diseases this salve is unequalled. For sale by K. C. Vye.

WHENCE NAMES COME

THE SURPRISING CHANGES THAT TIME HAS WROUGHT.

Who Would Think, For Instance, That the Name Thomas Whitehorse Originally Indicated "Thomas at the Sign of the White Horse?"

Considering the surprising changes that many names have undergone, says Miss Laura Alton Payne in the Independent, the almost universal lack of knowledge concerning their origin is not to be wondered at. What is there in "Peter Snooks" to suggest to the uninitiated that originally it was "Peter at the Seven Oaks?" Though "Thomas Whitehorse" suggests the American Indian custom in names, originally it was "Thomas at the White Horse," or "Thomas at the Sign of the White Horse" (a tavern). Sidney is a corruption of St. Denis, Sinclair of St. Clair, Seymour of St. Maur, Janeway of Genoa, Curtis of "courteous," Armistage of "hermitage," Spark of Sparrowhawk. Emerson and America had the same origin—Almeric, an old Norman name, Amerigo being the Italianized form.

Names, like things, are not always what they seem. Beers and Berry are not "beers" and "berry," but a corruption of "borough," often written "bury" and "bery."

In the beginning a single personal name sufficed. For awhile no two persons bore the same name, but as a stock of names accumulated repetitions became common, and as the population of the world increased distinctive names became necessary; hence we read of John the Baptist and John the Disciple, Darius Hystaspis and Alexander the Great, Joshua, son of Nun, and Simon Barjona—"Simon, son of Jonas."

Surnames were first used in France, becoming general there during the latter part of the tenth or the fore part of the eleventh century. They were used hereditarily to some extent, however, prior to that time. They were introduced into England at the Norman conquest in the year 1066, but it required two or three centuries to establish the body of our nomenclature on a fixed basis. During that time surnames became general throughout the British Isles except in Wales, in some parts of which they are unknown to this day.

Surnames are now general in all civilized countries, I believe, except Turkey. In England alone there are from 40,000 to 50,000 existing surnames.

Surnames have been drawn from every available source—personal names, location, occupation, deeds of prowess, mental, moral and physical attributes, terms of relationship, the human body, farm and household articles, buildings, foods and drinks, modes of travel, nations and laws, customs and religions, geographical terms, weather and seasons, months and days, measures and values, the joys and ills of life, the animal, mineral and vegetable kingdom and even from the kingdom of heaven. The use of nicknames and compound terms gave an almost inexhaustible source. Even oaths became embodied, as in Pardoe, from per Dico.

In most countries it is customary for the wife to take her husband's name, but in some European countries it is not unusual for the husband to append the wife's name, particularly when it is more honorable than his own. Hypphenated names and the wife's retention of her maiden name for a middle name are customs growing in favor in the United States and Great Britain.

Among the earliest names introduced by the conquest were found Serf, Drew, Bryce, Harvey, Arnold ("ern"—eagle), Alured (now known as Albert and Allbright), Almeric, Ingelram, Eborardus (Everard), Wary (Guerin, now Warren), Ivo, Hamon (Hammond), and Paya (originally Pagan). After their adoption as surnames the most of these became obsolete as personal names.

The most popular personal names since the Domesday Book recorded them have been John and William, but their derivatives are too numerous to mention. Roger, Robert and Richard took a double nickname in H and D; hence Hodge and Dodge, Hobbs and Dobbs, Hicks and Dicks, with the rougher forms of the last—Higgs and Diggs, and even Hiltch, giving rise to Dickens, Hiltcheek and Higginson.

Diminutive and other affixes served an important part in the origin of surnames from personal names. The Anglo-Saxon "kin" and "cock" and "ing" are represented in Jenkins, "little John"; Hiltcheek, "little Richard," and Browning, "little Brown"; the Norman "ot" and "et" in Elliot, "little Elias," and Emmet, "little Emma" (sometimes "hot" and "let"); Hamlet, "little Hamon"; the French "son" and "son" in Marson and Dickens.

Many prefixes were used. The Celtic "Mac" or "M" of the Scotch; "Mc" of the Irish; "Map," "Ap," or "P" of the Welsh; and the Norman "Fitz" (Latin filius), signify "son" or "son of," and the Irish "O," "grandson of."

This Life.

Says Charles Baudelaire: "This life is a hospital where every patient is possessed with a desire to change his bed. This one would prefer to suffer by the stove, and the other thinks he would recover by the window."

The Lecture in Mathematics.

Professor—Yes, sir, if you were thrown like a stone you would describe a parabola in returning to earth.

Student (wearily)—I think I'll go out and get thrown at once then, professor.

That's about the only way I'll ever learn to describe one of 'em.

Pandora Range

SAVES FUEL AND HELPS TO PAY FOR ITSELF

It is not the price you pay for a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the fuel it consumes after you get it.

If you buy a range which costs $5 to $7 less than a "Pandora" and it burns a ton, or only half a ton of coal more in a year, what do you gain? Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences, troubles and extra work which are a certainty with a poor range.

The "Pandora" is equipped with many fuel-saving features which are not found on any other range. Hot-air flues are constructed so that all the heat from the fire-box travels directly under every pot-hole and around the oven twice—every atom of heat is used, and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

A GREAT TREAT

The ADVOCATE has succeeded in completing an arrangement by which every person taking advantage of our offer will secure the greatest treat in reading matter ever offered the Canadian public. The Family Herald and Weekly Star of Montreal has lately entered into a syndicate with a few others of the leading papers of England and America by which they have secured, at a cost of $150,000 twelve new stories by twelve of the world's best authors, and they are to appear in the Family Herald before they are issued in book form. Each story is completed in a month, making twelve complete stories, that would cost eighteen dollars in book form, inside the year. It is certainly one of the greatest feats in modern journalism, and only the strongest newspapers could take the risk of the immense expenditure.

We have made arrangements to offer the ADVOCATE and the Family Herald and Weekly Star until January 1st, 1907, for the small sum of Fifty cents, and in that time those taking advantage of the offer will secure at least six of the complete stories not counting the many other interesting features of the Family Herald and their own local paper. To present readers of the ADVOCATE we offer the Family Herald for the balance of the year for only Forty cents.

Subscriptions should be sent the ADVOCATE office at once.

The Union Advocate

NEWCASTLE, AUGUST 15, 1906

The Leader of Friday, Aug. 4, published an article which does not do much credit to itself. It was rather a hard one on Policeman Hill and was a very one-sided story. The writer would have the public believe that Policeman Hill arrested a sailor for whistling and even dubbed him.

In conversation with Mr. Hill, we learned that the sailor was arrested for creating disturbance and using profane language, and on such charge he was convicted.

Mr. Hill informed us that when he had warned the sailors the second time about creating a disturbance one of them said "That's Britain, her" and used language which was the cause of his arrest. The sailor resisted and Policeman Hill was forced to use his club, and a slight wound was inflicted but so trifling that it is not worth mentioning.

There are always two sides to any story and the Leader should obtain facts before publishing an article of this kind.

The public generally is satisfied with Policeman Hill and know that he does his duty. Mr. Hill has had several rather thrilling experiences with sailors and on this occasion where the odds were against him he was perfectly justified in using his club.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE GRAND DUKE NICHOLAS

By the Imperial Guards While Engaged in Volley Firing The Usual Harvest of Assassinations in Warsaw.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 12.—The day was quiet in the capital. The activity of the terrorists in the provinces included besides the usual harvest of assassinations in Warsaw, an attempt on the life of General Katatoff, chief of the General gendarmes of Soma Province and the wounding of Captain of the police Ivanoff of Libra, by a youth who fired three shots in the street.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 11.—Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholavitch, President of the Council of National Defence, narrowly escaped assassination yesterday afternoon at the hands of the Imperial Guards in the Guards camp at Kronsnoy, Telo. It was learned that the troops were in extended order and engaged in volley firing when the accident occurred, rendering it difficult to determine the regiments from which the bullets came. The Grand Duke, surrounded by his officers and aides de camp, was off on one side, out of the line of fire. The affair has created a deep impression in military circles, but the news is not generally known here.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

Sydney, N. S., Aug. 12.—This city was thrown into a state of excitement this morning by the terrible news from Mira that Horace Dickson Mayhew, son of Horace Mayhew, President of the Cape Breton Coal Iron and Railway Company, had committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor at the house of Timothy Spencer, near the iron railway bridge at Mira.

With James Hampson, manager of the Broughton Mines. Young Mayhew had been staying at Mr. Spencer's house, and retired last evening in his usual good health and spirits. Early this morning, however, Mr. Spencer was awakened by unusual noise and proved to come from Mr. Mayhew's room, and upon investigation the latter was found dead in his bed, with his throat cut almost from ear to ear.

As far as can be learned the suicide was committed just before Mr. Spencer arrived, for it is stated that one of the inmates of the house observed Mr. Mayhew looking into a looking glass at the gash in his throat at the time he opened the door. Mr. Mayhew staggered to his bed falling dead almost instantly. As quickly as possible Coroner McLean was summoned from the city, and on an inquest being held this afternoon a verdict of death by suicide while temporarily insane was returned.

MAN WITH REVOLVER CREATED PANIC AT CONEY ISLAND.

New York, Aug. 11.—While Oceanic Walk in the Bowery at Coney Island, was still crowded early today, an undisciplined man pulled a revolver and fired two shots into the back of the waiter at Stanch's restaurant and then turned the weapon into the crowd and fired four times as quickly as he could pull the trigger. Four persons were writing in agony on the board walk when the man fled toward the ocean, threatening any person who would pursue him. The injured, three of whom may die, are:

Thomas Fitzpatrick, aged 25 years, of Brooklyn, shot in breast and side, may die.

Thomas McDonald, 19 years, Newark, N. J., shot in back, may die.

Annie Smith, 20 years, Williamsburg, shot in thigh and leg, various wounds.

George White, a waiter, 26 years, of Coney Island, shot in back, may die.

At the time of the shooting a crowd was pouring from the restaurant. In the throng were women. At the sound of the shots and the screams of a woman who witnessed the shooting the crowd broke in all directions. As they fled the man deliberately turned the weapon towards them and fired several more shots. A panic ensued, and women were thrown to the walk as the men ran over them in an effort to reach a place of safety. The stranger defied anyone to follow him. He had a revolver in his right hand and shouted: "The man who follows me I will kill."

No one ventured to approach him then. He jumped over a railing and vanished in the direction of the ocean.

Fully ten thousand persons stood at the entrance to the bowery and from them a cry swelled that the murderer must be lynched. They broke down all the police barriers and forced their way to the Bowery over-running the physicians whom the police had summoned.

Then down on the sand in the direction which the assassin took the crowd poured. Captain Harkins, in charge of the Coney Island police station, quickly strung out a long line of men along the ocean front. He had the exits guarded as far as Brighton Beach and every terminal of the island men searched for a man dressed in a dark suit of clothes and wearing a fedora shaped straw hat. He was described as being short and smooth faced.

Two big searchlights were playing on the beach early today to assist the police and thousands were aiding the authorities in a search for the assassin.

ACADIAN PRIESTS AT NEW BEDFORD SERVICES.

New Bedford, Mass., Aug. 12.—Descendants of the Acadians, the people who were exiled from Louisiana, in 1755, as told in Longfellow's poem "Evangeline," gathered in New Bedford today for a three-days' meeting of the Society of the Assumption.

This morning in St. Anthony's church, a solemn high mass was celebrated by Monsignor M. F. Richard, of Rogersville, (N. B.), and a sermon was preached by Rev. P. L. Bellevue, of New Brunswick. Tonight a public meeting was held in Federation Hall.

MAD MULLAH REPORTED AT WORK AGAIN.

London, Aug. 13.—The correspondent at Aden of the Daily Mail reports that the Mad Mullah has raided the Somaliland border and killed over one thousand of the Rarharon tribe dwelling in the Ogaden region and captured ten thousand camels.

OFFICE ABOLISHED.

A circular was issued yesterday by the Dominion Coal Company but it was not as extensive as some persons expected. The office of traffic manager, held by J. R. McLean, is abolished. Mr. McLean is appointed assistant sales agent and will have quarters in Mr. Dick's office, still retaining the direction of steamers' movements.

Wedding Bells.

A very pretty wedding was celebrated at St. Raphael's church, Blackville at 8 o'clock. When Miss Marguerite C. Moran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Moran was led to the altar by Mr. John Bowes, of Blissfield. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Crumley, in the presence of a large congregation. The bride was accompanied by Miss Margarette Bowes, sister of the groom who acted as bridesmaid, Mr. Thomas H. Moran brother of the bride was best man. The bride was beautifully attired in a suit of blue with silk trimmings and wore a white silk hat with silk trimmings and tips and carried a bouquet of brides roses. The bridesmaid wore a suit of blue with white hat and carried a bouquet of brides roses. As the bridal party was leaving the church the strains of the wedding march was heard from the organ. At the conclusion of the ceremony the wedding party was driven to the home of the bride, where a beautifully dinner was served to about fifty guests, who awaited their home coming, the home of the bride was tastefully decorated for the occasion. Later on the happy couple drove to the home of the groom, where about seventy invited guests sat down to a sumptuous repast. Dancing was indulged in for a few hours. The bride received many useful presents all to show the high esteem in which the young couple was held. Mr. and Mrs. Bowes many friends join in wishing them every happiness.

The Gloves.
A woman who is careful of her hands must be careful of her gloves, for this is most important. If they are tight, they ruin the shape of the hand; if they are badly cut, they give a common aspect to the whole appearance, and such gloves are the dearest in the end.

Bonneted Face Tonic.
A benedict face tonic is a delightful addition to the bathroom. It is quite easy to make. Take a big bowl of warm water and put twelve drops of benzoin in it. If your face is rough, add a pinch of borax and bathe the face daily in it.

The tops of wardrobes and cupboards that do not reach to the ceiling should have papers laid over them, not only to keep dust from settling down, but to lighten the monthly house cleaning.

Nail biting can be cured by will power alone in older people, as it comes from nervousness. With children dip the ends of the fingers in quinine or a little extract of quassia.

It takes only five minutes to change wet boots and stockings, but it may take ten months to get over a cold caught by not changing them.

Don't wash your hair on a damp day or you cannot dry it at all, and damp hair is always dull hair.

Called the Blame.
Mrs. X.—Yes, I tried to make my husband economize in smoking, so I told him if he ever smoked I would never speak to him again. Mrs. Y.—What was the result? Mrs. X.—His cigar bill was doubled the next month.

There can be no friendship without virtue, for that intimacy which among good men is called friendship becomes faction when it subsists among the unprincipled.—Sallust.

CREAMER TOTS

LOST IN BOG.

That is the View of Constable Thomas.

Moncton, Aug. 13.—That the two long missing Creamer children lost their lives in one of the bogs known locally as "quick-sands" and one of which is located only a few yards from the spot where the children were last seen, is the theory of Constable C. H. Thomas, who returned on Saturday from another three weeks' search. During his three weeks at Bayfield, which was the second Mr. Thomas has given to the search for the children, he stayed at the Creamer home where his board was paid by F. W. Sumner, of this city, whose offer of $500 reward for finding the children still stands. Mr. Sumner also paid the father of the missing children to assist in the search. The bogs of which Mr. Thomas speaks are composed of black mud of about the same properties as quicksands and by which term they are locally known. Any article of weight is engulfed readily by these sands and no trace left, the mud rolling up and covering any object which has gone into its depths. In his three weeks stay at Port Elgin, Mr. Thomas has disproved many of the current rumors in regard to the disappearance of the children. He traced up the story that a wagon containing two children was seen to drive through Rockville just after the disappearance of the tots and found the story to be altogether groundless. The parties who were said to have driven the wagon, said they knew nothing what ever about any such occurrence. The kidnapping theory, Mr. Thomas believes to be groundless. From numerous conversations with Russell Tremblay, Mr. Thomas is satisfied that the lad is perfectly innocent of any connection with the children's disappearance. The boy is anxious to search for them and answer all questions readily. Mrs. Creamer is deeply worried and distressed at the long drawn out suspense, though she does not show her feelings as much as would other women of a different temperament. Mr. Thomas has no doubt and says the woman has failed a great deal physically since his last visit to the home. She knows of the stories in circulation, which say that she has knowledge of the whereabouts of the children and that she is unconcerned about them, only saying that the authors and believers of these stories will some day be sorry. At present since Mr. Thomas left Bayfield there is no search except such as may be carried on by the parents and neighbors.—Globe.

WILD STORM

AT TRACADIE.

The Church and Several Buildings Struck. W. Sonier Was Killed.

A letter to the St. John Globe from Tracadie, dated Aug. 9, states that great damage was done and loss of life occasioned by the terrific storm that passed over that place on Monday last. The storm was the wildest and most severe ever known in the locality. At the height of the storm a bolt of lightning struck the church and house adjoining, causing very considerable damage. In the church a section of the hardwood flooring was torn up, the walls were damaged in more than a dozen places and the chimney was broken. It also set fire to the vestry, but this was extinguished before any great damage resulted, although many of the vestments, flowers, etc. were burned. In the residence of Rev. Father Ryan the lightning tore off a great quantity of plaster.

Even more serious was the damage done at W. Sonier's. His house was burned to the ground, and Mr. Sonier himself died from the shock and subsequent excitement. A large barn belonging to C. Comeau was burned, and he lost all his hay, sleigh, robes, etc., but saved the horse.

Many telephone poles, between Tracadie and Chatham were destroyed. The Tracadie church is insured in the Queen. It is a great wonder it and the dwellings were not completely destroyed.

THE STRIKE IS ABOUT SETTLED.

Express Companies Have Offered Concessions.

A committee composed of P. W. D. Campbell of this city, J. A. Thelsga, Roseville, N. B.; E. A. Luce, St. John, Que., and A. Fraser, Ferris Junction, representing the station masters of government railroads, who also act as express agents, and who are out on strike, met at the Victoria Hotel yesterday morning.

Two concessions offered by the express companies were discussed and accepted. The concessions were:

- (1) An increase of 5 per cent. on all goods.
- (2) A minimum salary of $2 a month to be specified by officers whose income by the percentage system would be less than $2 a month.
- (3) A minimum salary of $2 a month under the same conditions as section 2, but transfer agents at transfer points.

HARCOURT.

Harcourt, Aug. 14.—Miss Katie Stephenson of Moncton River, spent Sunday with Miss Mollie Spencer. Mrs. Margaret Robinson of Bertriville is visiting her mother, Mrs. Joseph Reed, here.

Rev. John B. Champion Baptist pastor at Brantford, Ont., who had spent the last six weeks in N. B., and P. E. I., visited his brother, Rev. Josiah B. Champion here, this week, and left for home on the 13th.

Charles Fleiger who visited his uncle Wm. Cameron a week, returned to Chatham on the 14th. Master Jack Sweetnam of Moncton is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Beattie.

On the 6th Mr. Freeman of Richibucto, and another gentleman and boy in a carriage behind him, had a thrilling experience in the thunder storm, while within a mile of Buctouche. The lightning struck the carriage behind, and knocking the boy out of the carriage unconscious. He still bears a black mark on each side, but has otherwise recovered. The axles on one side of the carriage in front were burned by the flash, and the horses became unmanageable. Mr. Freeman was still and numb for a day or two but is now as well as ever.

Harcourt, Aug. 14.—On the 10th the local Canadian Bible Society meeting was addressed by the Maritime Secretary, Rev. S. M. Campbell, of St. John. Officers were elected for ensuing year, as follows:—Pres., Andrew Dunn, (re-elected); Sec'y-treas., Miss Stella G. Wilson, additional members of executive, H. H. Stuart and H. W. B. Smith; collectors, Mrs. J. P. Dunn, and E. T. Wathen.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas LeBlanc, and daughter of Boston came on the 9 to visit Mrs. LeBlanc's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Norman, Bass River.

Malcolm Stevenson of Moncton River left last week for Manitoba.

Mr. and Mrs. Obby Bailey of Moncton came last week for a several weeks visit to relatives here.

Miss M. J. McEachern formerly of Moncton River, is home from Boston.

Geo. A. Wathen of Doaktown visited Richibucto Harcourt, and other places last week.

Last week a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood of Coal Branch.

Mrs. H. H. Stuart returned on the 11th from Fredericton Junction.

H. H. Stuart and Miss Alethea Wathen reopen their departments here this week. Miss M. A. Buckley, later, Miss Murphy, of Bass River goes to Upper Rexton, Miss Sophie Ferguson of Main River, to Brown's Yards; Kirby B. Wathen to Newcastle Bridge, Queens County; and H. B. McPhail of Buctouche to Lake Stearn, Kent Co.

J. Larkin Morton of Kent Jct., night agent at Canadian station, has been transferred to Gibson, where Mrs. Morton will join him after her return from Campbellton.

Kent Co. Sunday School Convention will meet here on the 29th and 30th inst. Delegates should send their names to Miss Marion Wathen, Harcourt.

The dam of the new lumber mill at Kent Jct., was started this week.

MARRIED AT ST. JOHN.

Miss Laura Bohan formerly of Nelson, N. B., was united in marriage on Tuesday of last week to Mr. Chas. Desorbeau, of Belmont, Mass. The Ceremony was performed by the Rev. Fr. Gagnon, formerly of Chatham. The bride carried a large bouquet of carnations, was attended by Miss Rose Carrigan of Nelson, and was attended in cream nun's veiling with hat to match.

The bridesmaid wore pink organdie and black picture hat.

James Burns of St. John supported the groom.

(4) The salaries of those agents who previous to the time of the strike were getting more than the minimum shall not be reduced.

The men also want one more concession, that is, that "all agents that went out on strike be taken back."

The express companies are agreeable to this, except in the case of Wm. Simpson, a former agent at Pictouville, whom they refuse to re-engage. Mr. Simpson and the members of the union are willing that he should be dismissed.

BORN.

On Aug. 5th to Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Stothart, a daughter.

On Aug. 14th to Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Guerin, a daughter.

Some London Clubs.

London has many curious clubs, such as the Utopians, whose motto is "Serve God and be merry," and the Froth Blowers, whose members are said to be bound to curse and swear every time they enter the club. There are also many unregistered clubs which have no headquarters and take out no licenses, and there are also many clubs whose members are manifestly drawn together by some common bond of sympathy. Among these the London Lady Express enumerates the following:

The Box club (admirers of Charles Dickens).

The YG club (amateurs of the art).

The Royalists (quillmen and diamonders).

The Castaways club (designated naval officers).

The Lost Legion (for empire pioneers).

The Adventurers

By H. B. MARRIOTT WATSON

COPYRIGHT, 1899, BY HARPER & BROTHERS

Sheppard rose and when the man returned ushered him with some ceremony to the table. "A chair for Mr. Hood," he said. "Where will you sit, Mr. Hood—by the captain? That's right. Please make yourself comfortable. We have just enjoyed an excellent dinner very well served, Mr. Hood, but I fear you are too late. Montgomery, a glass of wine for Mr. Hood. Business is business, and I never conduct a piece without the usual sherry." If this elaborate irony disturbed Sercombe, as it seemed to do, it had no effect upon Hood.

"Thank you, sir. I will stand, sir. No wine, thank you, sir." Such was his brief reception of the courtesies.

He assumed a place at the back of the captain, commanding a view of the table. Sercombe spread his hands upon the table.

"Gentlemen, let us show our cards," he said.

There was a momentary silence, and then I was conscious of a slight bustle of excitement that stirred the room into sound. Sheppard looked at me, and Montgomery's gaze was riveted upon the captain. Sheppard coughed gently and sipped his wine.

"That is a very proper demand, Captain Sercombe," I said, "seeing that it is what we are here for, but I hardly yet see my way clear to table all my tricks. Let us understand one another better."

The captain did not color, as he might well have colored under this implicit distrust. As I have said, he was singular in the partial hold he kept upon his gentility. Instead he laughed, but somewhat awkwardly.

"I see," he answered, and looked down at his hands, appearing to consider. He lifted a big and somewhat clumsy hand and scratched his swollen cheek, smoothing a long wisp of red hair across his naked crown. "I cannot pretend to misunderstand you," he declared at last and shot a glance aside at Hood, who had fallen slightly away from the table and stood intently watching the scene. "But I think it is somewhat unnecessary, Mr. Greator, he said, again very awkwardly, and he laughed shortly, and again his eyes flew to Hood, directing at him, as it seemed to me in that light, a glance of warning, of appeal, even of fear.

"No doubt," said I in return, "but you must remember that I have already had experience of your possibilities. But come; we shall get no further unless we can strike a compromise. If you will produce your fragment of the document—"

"You assume that I have it," he broke in, with his discordant laugh. "You are taking a good deal for granted."

"I assume nothing," said I. "Do not let us bandy words."

Sercombe lifted the decanter which stood at his elbow and filled his glass with a hand that shook. He drained it at a draft and turned to Hood. The innkeeper glided to his chair, and something passed from hand to hand. Sercombe put the torn fragment upon the table before him. He looked at me, as if inviting me to a similar demonstration. We were to proceed by moves, then.

"I have no evidence that this is the document," I objected.

"Nor I, in your case," he retorted.

"Very well," I assented. "We will take it point by point, but I fear we shall find it a tedious job."

I drew the paper from my pocket and laid it before me. At the other end of the table I could see Sercombe's green eyes bulging in his head as they fastened upon the white thing under my hand. His mouth dropped, and a portion of the glow receded from his face. Montgomery stared. A tense feeling stiffened the attention of all. I felt my heart throb in the silence, and then suddenly there was a sharp exclamation from Sheppard, and the next moment I was conscious of a clatter and two figures struggling beside me. The affair lasted but a few seconds, and then Hood was hurried deftly back against the window, and Sheppard flung upon the floor with a crash a long Spanish dagger.

A hush fell on the room. Sercombe turned pale, and his eyes shifted uneasily. Had it been murder that was intended? If so, I could have sworn that Sercombe was no party to it.

"It appears that we can't do quite without the law," said Sheppard, placing his heel upon the weapon. Hood, breathing deeply, remained in the shadows of the window.

"What does this mean?" I asked.

Hood, black and lean, but immovable as to feature, stepped from his corner. "I beg your pardon, sir," he explained, "but I suppose the gentleman objects to my wearing it. It isn't a pretty weapon, sir, exactly, but I have found it useful, sir. I thought there would be no objection. Mr. Greator, sir, more especially as the gentleman here carries a revolver." He indicated Montgomery, who grew red and stammered.

"I beg your pardon. Awfully sorry. I—I—here it is," and extracting a Colt from under his waistcoat he threw it on the table in front of me.

Sheppard and I exchanged glances.

"Come, sir," said Sercombe's voice, rising in an imperative key, "but this remarkable scene requires an explanation.

tion. Why may not Mr. Hood wear what weapon he likes?"

"Was there anything?" I asked of Sheppard in a whisper.

He frowned in embarrassment. "To have waited for anything would have been too late," he answered in the same tone. "I had to forestall. I guessed, but I'll swear I guessed right. I can't prove it. I caught the gleam." Then he turned quickly from me and picking up the dagger offered it to Hood. "I am sorry for this misunderstanding," Mr. Hood, he said sweetly. "If I had stopped to think I should have known that a man like yourself would only carry a weapon for some good purpose. But it is a creature of impulse, full of mistakes, but of a warm heart below all, and I offer you the dagger back in token of my trust in you," with which he sat himself down in his seat and ostentatiously played with Montgomery's revolver for the rest of the interview.

"Come, come. That is well said and well ended," said the captain genially, and he was evidently very much relieved at the conclusion of this scene.

"And now, Mr. Greator, and to show that it is not both sides that are so unnecessarily suspicious, if you will be so good as to take this paper from me I will trust you to read out the whole document."

This proposal, coming on the top of what had happened between us, astounded us all, as you may suppose. But Sercombe was rarely at a loss for some amazing movement, and he knew well enough that he was perfectly safe with me, whereas he was also aware that I knew I was absolutely unsafe with him. Therefore he assumed a golden air of courtesy and lofty faith, as between gentlemen. But these reflections are not to the point, for there was I, with the two parts of the precious document in my hands and four pairs of bright eyes burning upon my face with their eager interrogation. You may conjecture my emotions and the way my pulse ran. I spread the paper I had received from Sercombe upon the other, smoothed it with the back of a knife and, forthwith, deciphering the following composition, read it slowly aloud to the company:

"I, Sir Ralph Vylian, being now in my thirtieth year and upon the eve of exile through the malicious treachery of friends, this 15th day of April, in the year of our Lord 1646, do hereby, as follows hereunder, give and proclaim to all or any of my descendants, lawfully begotten, or their heirs, the ensuing information. It being in the twentieth year of the reign of our beloved sovereign his gracious majesty and in the fifth of the lamentable and abominable strife with the disloyal houses, I was besieged in Ivor castle by one Colonel Morgan, attached to the army of the houses and more particularly to the notorious traitor Sir Thomas Fairfax. I held this castle for the king for three days and three nights, but upon the fourth day, this said 15th day of April, through the treacherous act of traitors, the enemy hath gained entrance by the towers and even now is pressing upon the garrison. And thus I set down these several facts here upon the instant of the final essay—to wit, that I, being the custodian of divers cases of treasure, gold pieces, jewels and the like, destined for his majesty's uses, having taken counsel with my steward and my friend Sir John Chumley, have concealed this great treasure in a privy place within the castle precincts and do hereby deposit this said writing also in a secret hiding place. And to whomsoever of my descendants or their lawful heirs this shall fall, in the event of my death or exile, I charge them to deliver the same unto his gracious majesty King Charles or unto his heirs, the sovereign kings of this realm, as a dutiful subject, being held in trust for that purpose.

"And here is how ye shall find the treasure: If ye will descend by the stairway in the guard room within the northern tower ye will find a gallery among the donjons of the basement. Keep upon this, feeling upon the walls, until ye shall touch the corner where the castle turns to the south."

Now I paused for a moment, for here the document which Sercombe had given me was ended. I cast a glance at the others as I laid it aside and took up the other portion. Sercombe's face was appalling in its marks of greed. The vulture shone from Hood's eyes. I resumed:

"Turning this corner, it is necessary to proceed upon the western side of the castle for the space of thirty footsteps, and at the close thereof to pause and survey the walls. If ye will then determine a height of five feet from the footway, there will be hewn upon a disclosed a small knob, the which revolving will give access to a large cupboard within the wall. Observe diligently upon the back of the cupboard and where the oaken lining adjoins the stone. Here will be a spring, the which pushing, a doorway shall open behind the cupboard, and ye shall find entrance to an interior vault. A flight of stairway leadeth—"

"At this point, as you will remember, the document grew illegible and nothing but the blur of faint characters was discernible. But we had all that was necessary in that explicit narra-live of the dead Cavalier, and in proof of this up jumped the captain, his green eyes shining with emotion, and—"You will give me a copy of that, sir?" he asked sharply.

I nodded.

"You are welcome," I said. "If you will write I will dictate." And forthwith, pen and paper being fetched, we proceeded upon the odd task. When we had finished he gave a look at Hood, who joined him, and the two passed under the sheet together.

Then Sercombe rose and, putting the paper in his pocket, remarked: "You see I have trusted you, Mr. Greator. I take your word. And as you have

As I rose a man grappled with me.

now the whole document of the late Mr. Kesteven in your possession I wish you joy of it."

"There is one word more," said I sternly. "The man who stole this piece of paper from its owner is morally guilty of his death."

"Fish!" he exclaimed lightly. "We can't make an anecdote without breaking eggs, Mr. Greator. And now I must reluctantly wish you goodbye. I owe you an excellent dinner, and if fortune favors me I shall look forward to returning it. There is no need to part on bad terms."

He held out his hand, but ere I could accept or refuse it Sheppard sprang forward. "Allow me, captain," he said.

"Ah," smiled Sercombe, in no way abashed by my hesitation, "it is a pity you and I are not cast for companions, Mr. Sheppard."

"At least," said Sheppard, "as accomplices we can respect each other."

Sercombe broke out laughing, and with one glance at Hood, in which, as I thought, he appeared to offer a question, he marched out of the room. The innkeeper followed, and Sheppard went after them, full of geniality to the last and calling for Captain Sercombe's cloak. Out of the window I saw them pass under the dim light of the oil lamp before the doorway, and Sheppard was still ushering them across the courtyard to the gateway of the castle.

Suddenly I heard my name called in a loud voice, and Montgomery started to his feet and threw open the window. This gave upon the courtyard from the northern side of the castle. In an instant I recognized the cry of Sheppard, piercing shrilly through the noise and clatter of a struggle. Shouting to Montgomery to follow me, I dashed out of the room and down the staircase, almost falling upon the slippery cobble of the courtyard in my haste. As I rose a man grappled with me; but, being now strung to fighting pitch by my excited anticipations, I flung him heavily to the stones, where he lay inert, one I leaped over his body to the assistance of Sheppard.

CHAPTER IX.

YOU will remember, if I have been explicit enough, that the entrance to the castle lay across the drawbridge and by way of a great stone archway running through the width of the easterly wing. This passage, which was not more than ten feet across, was in effect a vault over the feet high and thirty feet long. It was here that the noise attracted me, and into this narrow channel I ran, breaking tumultuously upon the aggregated knot of men that seemed to struggle in the uncertain light. Stars illumined the sky very faintly, but in that passage the gloom was heavy, and I could perceive very little. As I was casting about, toosing among the swaying bodies, I saw immediately to my right the fair head of Sheppard rise, struck with the evening glow from without. Forthwith I dashed the body nearest me to the ground and with my fist dislodged another man in front of me. Then I heard Sercombe's voice raised in angry remonstrance. "I gathered nothing, neither words nor sense, from it, but, occupied merely with the physical lust of battle, drove right through the press of the melee to Sheppard. It seemed to me then that there were dozens of people crowded within those narrow walls, but I believe, as a matter of fact, that there were only some eight of us. Sheppard rose and fell and rose again.

"Ned! Ned!" he called, and at the sound, plunging upon human bodies, I lurched and went under. A stampede of feet seemed to rush over me. I felt battered and bruised; the wind was all out of my lungs; but, slowly edging on my stomach toward the wall, I drew out of the press. As I did so I heard a great dull noise, thud, thud, intervening upon the sounds of the struggle, and presently, my eyes being new accustomed to the darkness, I caught sight of Montgomery's tall form, his arms uplifted and wielding a heavy bar of iron.

"Bravo!" I cried and, struggling to my feet, pushed toward him.

"Turn, you fools! Curse you, turn!" said Sercombe's voice.

I was conscious then of white teeth and a grotesque screw neck that rose up before me, and even while I put up my hands to choke it I felt the warm sting of a knife in my shoulder blade. By some magical thought, dawning at the moment, I recalled Montgomery's revolver, which I carried in my breast pocket, and, producing it, fired at the lethal form before me. There was a sharp cry, the man appeared to re-

KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS

YOUR HOUSEHOLD WORK

HOUSEHOLD work and Kumfort Headache Powders go naturally together. Your work seems like a mountain of heavy trials and hardships when you are suffering from an aggravating, sickening, dispiriting headache. Kumfort Headache Powders are a positive cure. They offer you quick and sure relief. They are guaranteed to be better than anything else on the market and to be more effective. If they prove otherwise, your money will be refunded.

Please bear in mind that these are not ordinary headache powders composed of drugs which soothe you and dull the nerves. They do not jeopardize your health.

They are formed of natural vegetable remedies which seek the root of the trouble and, by removing the cause, effect a cure.

Anybody can take them without fear of ill after-effects.

10 cents for a package of four powders; twelve for 25 cents.

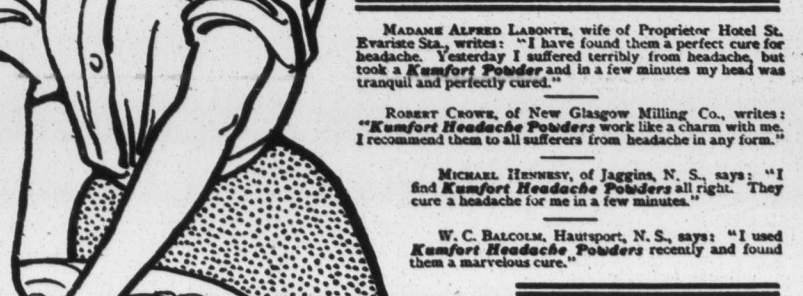

At your druggist's, or mailed postpaid on receipt of price.

MADAME ALFRED LABONTE, wife of Proprietor Hotel St. Evariste St., writes: "I have found the perfect cure for headache. Yesterday I suffered terribly from headache, but took a Kumfort Powder and in a few minutes my head was tranquil and perfectly cured."

ROBERT CROW, of New Glasgow Milling Co., writes: "Kumfort Headache Powders work like a charm with me. I recommend them to all sufferers from headache in any form."

MICHAEL HEWNEY, of Jaggins, N. S., says: "I find Kumfort Headache Powders all right. They cure a headache for me in a few minutes."

W. C. BALCOM, Hantsport, N. S., says: "I used Kumfort Headache Powders recently and found them a marvelous cure."

coil, and then Montgomery's fall descended in a pitiless shower of blows. Of Sheppard there was no sign.

Seeing that the affray was turning in our favor, I sprang to the side, and, opening a small doorway in the southerly drum tower, rushed up the stairs. It was fortunate that I had made so complete a study of the castle. I found the crank I wanted and turned the wheel, putting forward all the strength I had in my muscles. Slowly the mighty portcullis descended, shrieking as it fell, but this, as I had hoped, following upon the report of my revolver, and accompanied as it was with Montgomery's continuous and powerful blows, proved the turning point for our enemies. As the groaning gate descended there were cries uttered in a foreign tongue, and a rush ensued for the gateway. Leaving the machine to revolve by its own impetus, I flew down into the archway. Sercombe stood in the light expostulating. Montgomery's weapon stretched some one flat upon the stones as I entered, and the man crawled off. I fired another chamber of the revolver aimlessly, and the flash lit up the passage while the sound reverberated dully from the groined vault. The portcullis fell lower and Sercombe was driven across the drawbridge by his retreating allies.

"Dead or living, they shall have him," said some one in my ear, and I beheld Sheppard, his face smeared with blood, dragging a body in his arms. Together we thrust it forth, and it lay half-way across the threshold. The portcullis dropped inexorably and was now within a foot of the ground. The man lay under the range of its iron spikes. The wheels creaked above, and the distance shortened. Montgomery ran forward and shoved the body outward. But it still hung halfway. And then Sercombe came rapidly back and, stooping, by a swift movement drew the inanimate form from beneath the iron spikes of the drawbridge. He said no word, but merely glanced at us as we stood behind the grille.

As Sercombe's figure faded blackly into the night I turned and peered into the gloom of the archway where my companion stood.

Sheppard struck a match, and the tiny flame cast a precarious light upon the three of us. Two streaks of blood crossed Sheppard's forehead.

"First blood and first honors," he said.

Montgomery breathed like a blacksmith.

"It was a mean trick," he observed. An acute pain struck suddenly through my shoulder. "The foreigners use their knives aptly," I remarked.

"They do that," said Montgomery fiercely. "One devil has pierced my stomach through."

"Let us go back to the house," I said and, setting the example, turned. Sheppard's light went out, and as the flame vanished the blue-black darkness fell like a pall again. We walked back into the castle.

"What about this wound, Montgomery?" I asked anxiously.

The boy stood up straight, his well cut face severe and immobile.

"It's no wound," he rejoined. "A pin prick."

"Oh, well, let us see," I said carelessly.

He stripped off his shirt and coat, and a great red bulging spot met my eye below the breast. Sheppard put his fingers on it.

"That wants a bandage," he said, and, meeting my eye—"no, there's nothing much in it. A nasty place, but merely superficial."

"We'll have old Toms over tomorrow," I said.

"The doctor?" queried Sheppard.

"But what about?"

"Oh, I dare say we can compose some sort of lie. Besides, as a medical man, our confidences are sacred."

"That's true," said Sheppard, and a little silence fell between us. "Well, be resumed presently, 'can we sleep, do you think?'"

"I think we are likely to have a lively night," I answered. "And for me, I am in no mood for bed."

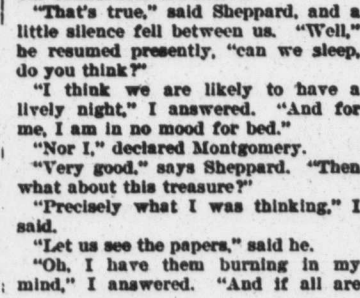

"Nor I," declared Montgomery.

"Very good," says Sheppard. "Then what about this treasure?"

"Precisely what I was thinking," I said.

"Let us see the papers," said he.

"Oh, I have them burning in my mind," I answered. "And if all are agreeable, we may take a lantern. They won't trouble us just yet."

But just at that moment came a knock at the door, and Mrs. Main showed in the open doorway, wearing a face of alarm.

"Mr. Montgomery's pistol went off by accident," said Sheppard promptly. Mrs. Main apologized and retired.

"I think we shall have to square the old lady or get rid of her," I observed.

"Leave that to me," says Sheppard cheerfully.

"Well, come along," said I, and, seizing the lantern, I stepped out into the courtyard and made for the entrance to the northern drum tower.

Sheppard broke a jest or two at the entrance as we stumbled up the stairs, but once we were in the passage and had descended into the basement a deep silence enveloped us. The corridor rang with our feet, and the great slabs of stones were damp, to be felt even through our boots. As we proceeded on the way I noticed that now and then a narrow passage branched off to the right, and on each occasion, at the farther end, I caught the soft glow of the external lights of the night. From this I gathered that the chambers were passing (whatever was the use to which they had been put) were cut off by exiguous channels to the outer wall of the castle and breathed by gratings upon the moat. One of these passages we explored, and by peering through the grating, set with heavy iron bars, we were able to perceive that the floor of the sepulchral corridor was buried some feet below the level of the moat itself, for the gratings stood high above our heads and were only reached by climbing. I assumed that they stood just above the proper level of the water.

We were now, we judged, upon the western face of the castle—that is to say, upon the back parts which looked upon the park of trees and the brook behind, where the hill (or pitch, as it was called) rose in a thick to its utmost summit. We had twice turned at right angles and, pausing, consulted the document once again for the sake of certainty. We had now to proceed some thirty paces. Suddenly I stopped.

"The wall," said Sheppard, who had the paper by heart as well as myself, and forthwith set to fumbling upon the right hand.

"There is no doorway here," he observed in a low voice, "and yet this should be a chamber such as we have passed already."

"Five feet from the ground," I said in equally low tones; "that's what it says."

"Is it here?" he whispered.

Sheppard gave vent to an exclamation.

"Got it," he said sharply.

"Throw the light this way."

I moved the lantern forward, and sure enough there under Sheppard's hand stood out a round iron knob or handle in the huge masonry.

"Press," said I.

"No, turn," said he.

Nothing ensued upon his action. "Let Montgomery try," I suggested.

The boy stepped forward and wrenched at the knob.

"It's stiff with rust of centuries, but it's set in iron," said Sheppard. "We shall want oil."

"Oil be hanged!" said Montgomery. "I'll do this or die."

He swung, doubling on himself, and the veins jumped in his forehead.

"You will move your wound," I protested. Montgomery said nothing, but renewed his exertions, and with a creak the knob turned and a gap grew in the wall.

"Hurrah!" said Sheppard, his voice ricocheting down the musty corridors.

"Hush!" I enjoined. "Pull it open."

The two tore back the cupboard door, and my lantern flashed on an appalling space of blackness.

"There is nothing here," said Montgomery.

"We're not finished, you duffer," said Sheppard eagerly. "Feel along the back wall. Here, let me. Oh, the devil! I'm too short!"

The lazy boy sulked. Presently he reached back in great glee.
On, mamma! he exclaimed, excitedly. Can I labor like the ant right now?

You certainly can, my son, replied the delighted mother, but what prompted you so suddenly?
Why, I just found an army of ants laboring around your jam

Yes, indeed, replied Naggsby.
And that reminds me that I ac-

Do you believe in hypnotism?
asked the fluffy-haired boarder

"Sure I do," answered the old

"I wonder why the editor prints

the typewriter boarder, as she glanced over the local paper.
"I don't know," rejoined the fussy bachelor, "unless it is to re-

PAPER TREES.

Work For Little Girls Who Make Doll
Houses Out of Boxes.

Many girls enjoy making paper doll houses out of boxes, and so we will tell you how to make cunning trees, to have your house in a nice shady grove.
Fold in two, lengthwise, a piece of green paper about four inches wide and fourteen inches long. Cut this paper very regularly through the fold as shown in Fig. 1, making a sort of paper comb.

Then roll the band between the thumb and finger, as in Fig. 2, until

THE PAPER TREE.

the cut paper forms a large mass.
When it is as tight as a large mass.
Cut it as tight as a large mass. Then together the tube part with a little paste and make the paper puff out by running the stick between each strip of paper ring. Stick the tube in the end of a flat mustard cork in which a hole has been cut, or you can use a large spool.

Paint the tube brown for the trunk of the tree, and, if you like, you can color the cork to make it look like one of the great standards in which evergreen trees are now often set.
By making the paper larger or smaller you can have big trees or tiny saplings.—Exchange.

Our Fanny First Engines.

If our modern railway engines had the same power to laugh that they have to scream they might, as you children say, "nearly die" laughing over the way our first railway engines looked.
Little, queerly shaped, puny things they were. The "Stourbridge Lion" didn't weigh one twenty-fifth part of the weight of an engine of today, and it looked as if people might well hesitate about risking their lives behind it. It was first used at Honesdale, in Pennsylvania, and it ran on wooden rails with a thin layer of iron on them.
People gathered from near and from far that 8th of August, in the year 1825, when the little British Lion of iron and steel was to make its first run. The wisecracks shook their heads and prophesied all sorts of probable disasters, and people said that "nothing on earth" could tempt them to disagree across the bridge spanning the Lackawanna river on "that thing." But the little Lion went safely over the bridge and over the eight or nine miles of track, which was the entire length of this line of railroad.—St. Nicholas.

How to Catch a Rabbit.

A Lewiston man relates: "When I was a small boy somebody told me that if I saw a rabbit and shouted loud, running straight at him meanwhile, he would stand still and let me catch him. Not long afterward, while driving with my father one day, I spied a rabbit in the road ahead. Like a flash I was out of the wagon and, yelling at the top of my lungs, made for him. The creature actually stood stock still. I picked him up, took him home, built a hutch for him and had him for a playmate for a year or more."—Lewiston Journal.

Conundrums.

Why does an aching tooth impose silence on the sufferer? Because it makes him hold his jaw.
Which letter in the alphabet is most useful to a deaf woman? The letter A, because it makes "her" "hear."
Why is a lady in full dress like a locomotive? Because she carries a train behind her.
When are thieves like leopards?
When spotted.

Buried by Torchlight.

Allerton Hall was upward of four centuries the property and residence of the Kitchingman family. It was the largest and most ancient mansion in Chapelton, consisting of about sixty rooms, with gardens and pleasure grounds. The Kitchingman family for upward of 400 years were buried from this hall by torchlight to be interred in the choir of St. Peter's church in Leeds.
At the interment of any of the family the great chandelier, consisting of thirty-six branches, was always lighted.
In the year 1776 Robert Kitchingman died May 7, aged 100 years. He ordered his body to be buried with torch-lights at Chapel Allerton. He was interred on May 19, when 100 torches were carried. The room where the body was laid was hung with black,
and a velvet pall, with escutcheons, was born by the chief gentry. The palbearers had all scarfs, biscuits and sack; the whole company had gloves.
Fifty pounds were given among the poor in the chapel yard on the day of his interment. Mary, his wife, died July 28, 1776, aged ninety-seven years.
She was interred precisely in the same way.—Annals of Yorkshire.

For Black Eyes.

It is often the case that people meet with accidents and bruises that cause disfiguring discolorations, from which they suffer not a little embarrassment and annoyance. It is worth while to know that there is a simple remedy and one quite within the reach of every one. Immediately after the accident mix an equal quantity of capsicum annuum with mucilage made of gum arabic. To this add a few drops of glycerin. The bruised surface should be carefully cleansed and dried, then painted all over with the capsicum preparation. Use a camel's hair brush and allow it to dry, then put on the second or third coat as soon as the first is entirely absorbed. A medical journal is authority for the statement that if this course is pursued immediately after the injury discoloration of the bruised tissue will be wholly prevented. It is also said that this remedy is unequalled as a cure for rheumatism or stiffness of the neck.

The President For a Day Story.

The story that David H. Atchison of Missouri was president for a day started as a joke. Atchison was president of the senate at the expiration of President Polk's term, and the law at that time provided that that official should succeed to the presidency in default of both president and vice president.
March 4, 1849, was Sunday, and President Zachary Taylor did not take the oath of office until Monday, March 5.
Somebody thereupon started the joke that neither Polk nor Taylor was president during the odd day, and that Atchison must have been. But if Taylor could not under the constitution be president until he had taken the oath of office how could Atchison? He did not take the oath either.

The Word "Tariff."

The word tariff has an interesting origin. It is derived from the Arabic
"tarifa," meaning an inventory of fees payable on demand, and became current in the following way: A certain Moorish general, by name Tarifa, seized in the year 710 upon a small seaport some twenty miles from what is now Gibraltar and the southernmost town in Europe. Here he founded a station for levying toll on all craft trading in the neighborhood and bestowed his name upon the place, after the manner of Constantine, Alexander and others. The word came eventually to signify a schedule of charges and passed into the French, Italian and English.

Weird Story of a Chair.

In the museum at Cape Town is shown an old fashioned, high backed wooden chair, to which attaches a weird story. It is related that the chair is the one in which the Dutch governor was found sitting dead a few moments after the execution of a soldier whom he had sentenced to be hanged, and who on his doom being pronounced solemnly called upon his condemnor to accompany him to the throne of the Supreme Judge.

"On Satan's Knees."

A little girl of five or so was much puzzled on hearing the lines of the old hymn:
And Satan trembles when he sees
The weakest saint upon his knees.
"Whatever," she asked, "did they want to sit on Satan's knees for? I'm sure I should not like to sit on Satan's knees at all, and why should he tremble if they were so little?"

Your P's and Q's.

All little girls and little boys
Should mind their P's and Q's.
Or else so many, many things
Of value they will lose.
For, while P stands for prompt and precise
And prettiness and plays
And patience and politeness and Propriety and praise,
It also stands for pinch and pry
And plague and pester; you
Will see it heads perversity
And pert and painful too.
Then, as for Q, it stands for quick
And quietness and queen,
Delicious quince and quarts and quill
And Quaker so serene.
Yet still it's at the head of quail
And quarrel, quip and quack
And quicksand, quincy, quis and quake
And querulous, alak!

CENTRAL TELEPHONE

CO. BUSY.

Branch Lines will be Built to Several Outlying Districts.

The Central Telephone Co., is pushing business. We learned yesterday that a line will be constructed up the south side of the North West Miramichi to Redbank thence to Wm. Johnston's on the south side of the Little South West and in all probability the line will be extended to Dennis'. If this line is to be constructed (and it is now for the lumbermen doing business in that section of the country to say yes or no) it will mean the saving of hundreds of dollars to our lumber merchants. We understand that contracts have been signed by twenty residents of the district traversed by this line who will have communication with the outside world in the near future. Douglastown, Millerton, Indiantown and Blackville are to be connected with Newcastle this season.

DEAR LESSON TO NORTH SHORE MAN.

John D. Coughlan Fined $200 and Costs for Setting Forest Fire.

Chatham, N. B., Aug. 11—John D. Coughlan, of Coughlan's Siding, who was brought before Police Magistrate Connors today on a charge of setting fire to forest land, pleaded guilty and was fined $200 and costs or a term in jail. He paid, but claimed ignorance of the law. The law says no one shall start forest fires between the 1st of May and 1st of December without giving notice of from seven to thirty days. The magistrate in passing sentence, said he would make an example by imposing the maximum penalty.

Chief Forest Ranger John Robinson, who made the arrest, was fifteen days fighting the fire, and for the first seven days had 100 men employed. Rain assisted materially in quenching it, but Mr. Robinson says the fire would not have gone out this summer if men were not employed.

The area burned covers several miles, but the exact extent will not be known until surveys go over the ground. R. A. Lawlor, for the prosecution and W. C. Winslow for the defence.

MONCTON INDUSTRY
RECEIVING GOOD
ORDERS FROM WEST

The Stratton Babbitt & Car Bearing Co. is introducing the Stratton metal extensively in Ontario. Last week they received two good orders from Algoma Iron works and Street Railway at Sault Ste. Marie, and also four large orders from Port Arthur Street Railways and elevators and Flour mills there. There is a very large quantity of anti-friction metal used at these points, one concern using a ton a day and the Moncton company has the prospect of doing a large business there, one concern promising a ton order next time. The company has just had car bearings and has also an order for 500 more for trail.

The Stratton Babbitt & Car Bearing Co. now has its metal in use by over 160 concerns in Canada from Sydney, C. B., to Port Arthur. At the present rate the business is developing the company will soon have to consider the question of enlarging and manufacturing on a larger scale.

INCENDIARISM AT JACQUET RIVER.

Two Large Barns Belonging to Doyle's Hotel Destroyed; Loss
$2,000. No Insurance.

Campbellton, Aug. 12.—Two large barns of P. Doyle, Jacquet River were burned to the ground on Friday night with all their contents, consisting of the season's hay and all the farming implements. The loss is about $2,000 and there was no insurance. There are strong suspicions of incendiarism. On Thursday morning about 2 o'clock Mr. Doyle was aroused by a cry of fire, and investigation showed the door of the storehouse in connection with his hotel in flames. The inmates were aroused and the flames extinguished with not much damage. It was found that the door and doorsills had been freely covered with kerosene. The footprints of two persons, apparently a man and a woman, were found in the dust of the road and followed to a certain house of the neighborhood. Mr. Doyle was advised to watch but he did not think there was much danger. On Friday night, as stated, the two large barns were burned and only great efforts on the part of neighbors saved the hotel.
