Do you know that one of the worst things you can do to a boy is to buy him poorly-made, badly-fitting clothes?

You cut him off from one of the manliest virtues—personal pride.

You rob him of right training by making him careless of his clothes, because ashamed of them.

Is it not better to have a suit that looks well and makes the boy care for his appearance? Or is the other kind better—the kind that haags all askew and goes to pieces in no time and makes you spend twice the money?

Sharp Discussions Re Telephone Matter—The Wallace Contract.

A meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening, the full board in attendance with the exception of Coun. Currie, who is attending to his legislative duties at Fredericton.

Applications for positions on the police force were received from George B. Smith of this town and Henry Aylward of Newcastle. Referred to Police Com.

His Worship the Mayor, who is also Chairman of the By-Law Committee submitted another instalment of the new By-Laws, which he has in course of preparation, and a large number of which have already been submitted to the Council and read a second time, the first time of course being by title only. Those submitted and read at this meeting dealt with the remainder of the Town Officers, defining their duties, including the Building Inspector, Inspector of Plumbing, Chief of the Fire Department, Engineer of the Fire Engine, Care Taker of the Town Houses, Engineer of the Water and Sewerage department Manager of the Electric Light department, Fire men of the Electric Light Station, Town Marshal, Town Policemen, Pound Keeper and Cattle Reeves, Weighers of hay and grain, Measurers of Fuel and Surveyors of lumber, Salaries of Town Officers, Time Sheets for Pay Roll of Laborers, Town Seal, Town Licenses and Licensed occupations, contracting therein under separate chapters such occupation as trades and professions (industry stores and shops, opened by non taxpayers) Transient Traders, Peddlars, Canvassers, Auctioneers and auction sales, Livery Stables, Cab drivers, truckmen, Exhibitions, Theatrical performances, Billiard and pool tables etc.

Another instalment, including by laws, regulating the use of water, Electric light, sewers and relating to streets, protection from fires, erection of buildings, order and decorum, public safety, etc will be submitted at next meeting.

It is the intention to have a full set of by laws covering every department of the requirements of the town, fully classified, arranged for easy reference, enacted and printed ready for public distribution as early as possible.

These by laws have necessitated a great deal of thought and consideration in their preparations, but will fill a long felt want in the Town and be greatly appreciated by the citizens.

A few accounts were passed, as well as the time sheets of the street and Water and Sewerage departments for the past year.

Coun McLennan on special Committee re local option petitions reported in effect that the petitions were properly signed by the requisite number of bona fide ratepayers, and all preliminary steps required by Section 21 of the Liquor License Act have been taken to entitle the petitioners to have the vote taken as asked for.

The Town Solicitor, Mr. W. A. Trueman was heard on the matter and submitted his opinion, together with correspondence with the Attorney General. Mr. Trueman said that the only point of which he had any doubts was the fact that there was no provision made for making a list of the voters by wards and on this ground he would not take the responsibility of advising the Council to grant a vote as it might result in serious litigation and no good purpose be served. In conversation over the wire the Attorney General had said that he thought it would be all right for the Council to grant a vote. The Attorney General also stated in a letter that it was the intention of the government to introduce a measure at the present session to remedy the defect in the Act in regard to the manner of taking a vote.

The following resolution, moved by Coun Blackhall, seconded by Coun Vautour, was then adopted unanimously.

Resolved, that the payers contained in the petitions of certain ratepayers of the Town of Campbellton in Ward 2 and 3 of said town, praying that a vote may be taken of the ratepayers of said Wards 2 and 3 under the provisions of Section 21 of the Liquor License Act on the question whether or not having in view the quiet of the neighborhood and other circumstances it is expedient that licenses to sell liquors shall be granted in said wards 2 and 3, be not granted for the reason that there are many legal doubts and difficulties in the way of holding or taking such vote.

Mr. W. P. Gray was heard before the Council and entered protest against the proposed action of the Council in refusing to grant a vote. He said the petitions were quite legal and the committee had reported everything in proper shape, which report had been adopted by the Council and there was nothing to do but grant a vote.

A motion to pay Mr. W. H. Wallace the sum of $25.00 for laying sidewalk in front of his residence was lost in following division, it being considered that the sidewalk was not according to specification and the matter should stand over till spring for investigation. Yeas—Taylor and Miller, Nays—McLennan, Blackhall, Joudry, Andrew, Vautour.

After some discussion on the telephone matter and the reasons for dropping that clause from the bill at last meeting had been brought out, the Council adjourned.

Bill Introduced to Build Line from Matapedia to Riviere du Loup and to Buy Out A. & L. S. Ry

Ottawa, March 14th — At the meeting of the Railway Committee this morning the Oriental Railway Company's bill to build a railway from Riviere du Loup to Matapedia and buy out the Baie des Chaleurs and A. & L. S. Ry., was introduced. Mr. Marcell pleaded the case of the unsecured creditors among his constituents, backed up by Hon. Mr. Lemieux and Hon. Mr. Emmerson. The Committee decided that if the road is sold the Company will have to pay $50,000 for debts, for labor, board material right of way, etc. on the report of a commissioner to be appointed. Mr. Marcell also secured the insertion of a clause relieving the municipalities of New Carlisle, Bonaventure, New Richmond, Caplan, Maria, Carleton and Nouvelle of the payment of $40,000 of bonuses voted by them. The member for Bonaventure was heartily congratulated on his success.

The same clauses will be put in the new Gaspé Company Bill who are now about to buy the road. The whole day was a great one for Bonaventure and Gaspé counties, thanks to Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Marcell.

The following are the amendments inserted by the Railway committee in the bill by the Quebec Oriental Railway asking for power to build a Railway from Matapedia to Riviere du Loup and to buy out the Atlantic & Lake Superior Ry. at the instance of Messrs Marcell and Lemieux:—

6. In lieu of the line of railway described in section 7 of chapter 82 of the Statutes of 1903 of Quebec, the Company may lay out, construct and operate a railway of the gauge of four feet eight and one-half inches from a point on the Intercolonial Railway at or near Riviere du Loup in the county of Temiscouata, to a point on the Intercolonial Railway at or near Matapedia, in the county of Bonaventure, passing in a northerly direction through the counties of Temiscouata and Rimouski, and through the Northern part of New Brunswick and through the county of Bonaventure, in the parishes of St. Francois d'Assise and St. Alexis de Matapedia, in the said county of Bonaventure, reaching St. Laurent de Matapedia along the banks of the Matapedia River.

7. Should the company acquire the lines of the Atlantic and Lake Superior and the Baie des Chaleurs Railways, by purchase, lease, transfer, judicial sale or otherwise, it shall be held liable for claims on those roads for labor, board, material, right of way and damages including undercharged and prescribed claims to an amount not exceeding in the aggregate $50,000 for labor, sufficient to pay all such claims to be distributed ratably in accordance with a report of a commissioner to be appointed by the Governor in Council for the purpose of determining the validity and amount of such claims.

8. Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to require the payment to the Baie des Chaleurs Railway company or the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Company, or their or either of their successors, purchasers or assigns, of any bonus or subsidy heretofore authorized by any municipality to be paid to either of the said companies, and every such bonus and subsidy which has not heretofore lapsed shall be deemed to have lapsed upon the passing of this Act.

9. Subject to the provisions of sections 361, 272 and 363 of the Railway Act, the Company may enter into agreements with the Atlantic and Lake Superior Railway Co. for any of the purposes specified in the said section 361.

fore the Council and entered protest against the proposed action of the Council in refusing to grant a vote. He said the petitions were quite legal and the committee had reported everything in proper shape, which report had been adopted by the Council and there was nothing to do but grant a vote.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn long growths back to flesh again. That is impossible. But I can now surely kill the pains and ease of this terrible disease.

In Germany—a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made. A perfect, dependable prescription. Without this last ingredient, I have fully treated many, many cases of rheumatism; but now, at last, I can cure all cases. Cases of this terrible disease, those and the grueling pains found in Rheumatic blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual cause to suffer longer without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

PROHIBITION A SUCCESS IN P. E. ISLAND.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., March 12.—The provincial branch of the Dominion Temperance Alliance concluded its session at Charlottetown today.

Rev. Father Burke, who was re-elected president, delivered his annual address, as follows:

Gentlemen of the Prince Edward Island Temperance Alliance:

For the first time since the Provincial Prohibition Law has been extended to the limits of the province, we are assembled in annual convention; and it becomes my duty as your presiding officer to assure you and your country that by such extension, no matter what might be said to the contrary, temperance in our midst has scored its greatest victory. In spite of triumph and congratulation you may then enter upon the labor of the conference. Not that we think by any means that the legal enactment of this measure removes the urgent necessity of cultivating the virtue of temperance. Like all the other virtues which should ornament the character of the Christian, the man and the citizen; not that from the legal side we expect to remove at one stroke all the weakness that surround human administration; not that the act itself under which we labor, and which we trust is pre-emptive and will not need to have the defaults remedied; not that we think indeed that there will be no longer spurs and pit-falls for the weak and erring, but simply because the new ordinance gives to those who have to administer its clauses better control than ever before, and because penalties and restrictions on the traffic whilst not interfering with the liberty of the subject, enable

Sick all the Time with Kidney Trouble

4 BOXES CURED HIM

Mr. Whelan was a mighty ill man this spring. He had been ailing for almost a year. Sharp pains in the back and through the hips. Dull headaches and dizzy spells. Appetite poor—nothing seemed to taste right.

Finally, an old friend told him about a friend who was in just that condition and who was cured by GIN PILLS.

Mr. Whelan tried them. And you would not know him for the same man now. That worried, strained look about the face is gone. His eyes are bright—his complexion rosy. He enjoys what he eats—has gained in weight—and sleeps like a top.

He had kidney trouble. GIN PILLS practically gave new kidneys—healed and strengthened these vital organs—scotched the bladder—and freed the system of uric acid that was poisoning him.

I received a sample of your GIN PILLS last fall. They did me a great deal of good. In fact, they are the best kidney medicine I know of. A neighbor of mine has tried them and they did him more good than all the Doctor's Medicine he took in three months. I will not forget during my lifetime the benefit your GIN PILLS have been to me. JOHN WHELAN.

Are your kidneys sick? Do you feel just as Mr. Whelan did? Do you feel GIN PILLS on our positive guarantee that they will cure you. To have you give them a fair trial, we send a free sample if you mention this paper. Write to-day to Bole Drug Co., Winnipeg. 84 GIN PILLS are sold by dealers everywhere at 50c a box—or 6 boxes for $2.50.

Many Women Suffer UNTOLD AGONY FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE.

Very often they think it is from so-called "Female Disease." There is less female trouble than they think. Women suffer from backache, sleeplessness, nervousness, irritability, and a dragging-down feeling in the loins. So do men, and they do not have "female trouble." Why, then, blame all your trouble on Female Disease? With healthy kidneys, few women will ever have "female disorders." The kidneys are so closely connected with the internal organs, that when the kidneys go wrong, everything goes wrong. Much distress would be saved if women would only take them all the more effectively to stamp out the abuses which have for such a length of time stood out as a reproach to the country and encompassed in ruin so many unfortunate victims otherwise well qualified to serve with honor and advantage.

When we assumed office Charlottetown was under the law for a couple of years with wonderful result, and Prince county had just voted it in. It was desirable that all the counties should follow in the footsteps of these divisions, so that a uniform temperance sentiment morally and legally might better effect the reformation of many in our midst, and give the measure and what it represented a fair and impartial trial. Queens and Kings counties quickly brought on the light, but the lesson learned in Prince county by the traffic saved them from anything like the contest the first county had to face the act was voted in almost at a unanimity. The field was won bloodlessly.

When the privy council of Canada extended the law to the whole province by the withdrawal of the Scott Act, organization had to be effected here for the proper enforcement of the new measure. The temperance people expect to have a fairly free hand in the nomination of the new men who were to operate the new act, the inspectors and administrators on whom its success or failure so much depended. Complications arose from the political quarter as well as others which this Alliance could not at the moment satisfactorily remove. Instead of the one general inspector asked for everywhere, the old inspectors were again employed, although it proved not only useless in most cases but, an effectual millstone around the neck of efficient administration. Then if there was one thing made clearer than another in the Prince county contest, it was that there would be no vendors. Imagine the disappointment of all to have two of these officials armed with a provincial license in full blast in the little town of Summerside. It was contended that the law provided for vendors and they must be appointed. That argument has been outlawed by its authors in the failure to appoint such dispensers in Kings and Queens where people were equally adverse, and where we are glad to say their wishes were better respected than with us. We are not without hope that the element which now comprehends about everybody in the province, will shortly execute its will by the cancellation of the vendor's licenses in Summerside.

In the last moment of the last session of parliament, too, some changes were made in several clauses of the act which were fully considered and which so far tended to lessen its effectiveness. It will be the imperative duty of this conference now to consider some necessary amendment of the law, suggested by its operation and forwarded by the special alliance committee to other temperance societies of the province. It is not to be expected that every hole will be closed on the offender at once, or that one hole will be closed by means of ingenuity or the inspiration of the evil one may not open another in the law whereby to escape. Our duty is to be ever vigilant, to take notice of the breaches in our fortifications, to repair them promptly, and also to strengthen the weak places in them as best we can. We have one of the very best measures of the kind on any statute book, so long as we operate it honestly just as long will it prove the bulwark of temperance here, and be the model on which our provinces will seek relief. Already there are signs that our sister provinces are falling in the line. The leaders in the public circles of Nova Scotia have consulted with us on several occasions already to the value of our prohibition act, and we have recommended it heartily to them. So have the New Brunswickers, and the temperance people of Nova Scotia have a measure framed now based on one ready to be presented at the recent session of their legislature. We may look for enactments such as it not only here in Maritime Canada but all over the federation and beyond. The effectiveness of such a measure consists in this, that the people are able to make it vital quickly by securing at once the additions and eliminations with the changing conditions of the country and the vagaries of the country. Those changes may be agreed upon now, we hope, to the government immediately so as to be passed into law, while at the same time we want to secure consolidation of the act and its amendment in one piece.

To the question of "How does the act work?" put to us from without, we have been able to answer a confident "admirably," for surely it is admirable to be able to asseverate that drunkenness and all other evils arising from the illegal traffic in intoxicants have diminished at least 50 per cent. in our midst since the short time the law has been extended to the whole province, and this in the fact of incapable officers—in some cases at least. It has been exceedingly hard to get something worthy of active administration of the law outside of the capital so often, and the methods of the officials in dilly-dallying in temporizing with the offenders have been exasperating in the extreme. In Prince county we had no jail for a long time, and altogether too long a time, and this was taken advantage of by the lawless to a great extent. The non-payment of fines, too, has constituted something of a mystery to the uninitiated.

To our mind there is no doubt but that the word has gone forth among the violators of the law that no fines are to be paid and the expense consequent upon the operation of the law thrown altogether on the executive. "We will see," they seem to say, "How long the government will fork over dollars that they want so badly to pay inspectors, magistrates and bailiffs to enforce a non-revenue producing enactment." So they decide to go to jail. The jail is the right place for them. It is the only recourse offered by the proposed Nova Scotia law, and it is the penalty they are incurring even after the second chance is turned to naught. They will soon tire of it. Those people think that they know that the hearts of our legislators are not in the measure they have passed, and consequently that they will not long stand by it. As well charge them with want of honest purpose in any other law enacted. Honest or not they have served the public cause, and the public, if properly grateful is jealous of its rights and will safeguard them fully.

But even if it were so, even if our Legislature grew concerned when fines failed to fill the public coffers, even if secretly their sympathies were with the enemy (banish the thought,) what would be the result? The people are the supreme masters in the matter. They are bound that illicit liquor selling be banished from the land as far as can be. They will see to it that the law be fairly operated, amended if necessary and made to reduce to its lowest possible contravention consonant with the Federal regulations permitting its importation and manufacture, no matter what party is in power. I. S. JOHNSON & CO., Boston, Mass.

Government which would say "Collect fines enough or we will reverse the law," would not hold an office twenty-four hours in this province. The people who pay the expenses of operation, recognize that there is something away and beyond the mere expense of money in this matter in the value of the temperance laws. The moral advantages are so infinitely superior to mere revenue, that nobody stops to compare them; no government would dare to ensure them under the law even if never a dollar were returned in fines at all. No direct revenue is sought to recompense officials. The law is worth its greatest cost as any other good law is worth its fullest protection. We are not satisfied with abstractions, with mere ideals, we are laboring for results. Fines are imposed because so far, we have thought it best to give every malefactor of this class a chance to mend his ways. If he will not, then the day comes and comes quickly, when in prison he may meditate on his perversity, for no money tender can save him from confinement there.

The operation of the Prohibition Act has disclosed another source of danger we regret to say, equal to, if not worse than the rum shops. I allude to the drug shops, places, where under the cloak of an honorable profession, the most flagrant contraventions of the law and the greatest abuses of drink have arisen. They are assuredly traps set for the feet of the unwary. It is the duty of the respectable druggist to put himself well without the possibility of charge upon this account, as it is certainly the duty of the medical profession to remove itself from the taint of suspicion or aiding or abetting such unprincipled pharmacists, as joined in this traffic. What a blush of shame would crimson the face of a reprehensible hypocrite if he could but see the figure some of his disciples cut in the public courts, the honest pharmacist or the honest doctor, need not expect anything but advantage from the operation of this act, means be devised to more effectually punish the dishonest.

There are some features of this work that we cannot allude to here, they will receive consideration in committee I hope. I wish to commend most heartily, however, the executive who have

Does Your FOOD Digest Well?
When the food is imperfectly digested the full benefit is not derived from it by the body and the purpose of eating is defeated; no matter how good the food or how carefully adapted to the wants of the body it may be. Thus the dyspeptic often becomes thin, weak and debilitated, energy is lacking, brightness, snap and vim are lost, and in their place come dullness, lost appetite, depression and languor. It takes no great knowledge to know when one has indigestion, some of the following symptoms generally exist, viz: constipation, sour stomach, variable appetite, headache, heartburn, gas in the stomach, etc.
The great point is to cure it, to get back bounding health and vigor.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS
It is constantly effecting cures of dyspepsia because it acts in a natural yet effective way upon all the organs involved in the process of digestion, removing all clogging impurities and making easy the work of digestion and assimilation.
Mr. R. G. Harvey, Ameliasburg, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled with dyspepsia for several years and after using three bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I was completely cured. I cannot praise B.B.B. enough for what it has done for me. I have not had a sign of dyspepsia since."
Do not accept a substitute for B.B.B. There is nothing "just as good."

Stenographer Rescues Drunkard.
"This does not mean men whom I saved from going to the dogs through drink," remarked a court stenographer to a Toronto News man. "He is a stonop fellow, and has plenty of ability, but two or three years ago he began to let red liquor get the better of him."
"He had a good position at the time, and I don't think he exactly neglected his work, but it got to be a common thing to see him standing around barrooms in the evening about two-thirds full and talking foolishly. A few of his intimate friends took the liberty of giving him a quiet hint. As usual in such cases, he got highly indignant, and denied point-blank that he had ever been in the least under the influence of liquor. All the same, he kept increasing the pace until it became pretty easy to predict where he was going to land, and it was at that stage of the game that I did my great reformation act."
"I was sitting in an uptown restaurant, one evening, when he came in with some fellows and took a seat without seeing me. He was just drunk enough to be talkative about his private affairs and on the impulse of the moment I pulled out my notebook and took a full shorthand report of every word he said. It was the usual rambling talk of a boozed man, and I forgot it the next morning."
"Next morning I copied the whole thing neatly on the typewriter and sent it to his office. In less than an hour he came tearing to me with his eyes fairly hanging out of their sockets."
"Great heavens, Jack," he gasped, "it's never an easy matter. For some time I have been endeavoring to fulfill the duties of my mission in such a manner as to promote harmony and good-will with the Government and people to whom he is accredited, without, however, sacrificing any of the interests confided to his care; to execute the instructions received from his chief, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in London, and to satisfy those British colonies which by reason of their proximity to the United States are bound to become from time to time involved in controversies with the latter. This is never an easy matter. For sometimes the interests of the colonies clash with those of the Mother Country, while at other times the colonies put forward pretensions and claims upon the United States which the Imperial Government in England does not feel disposed to endorse. Indeed, the British Ambassador at Washington is always expected to the British Foreign Office in the matter of the Newfoundland modus vivendi, and that his resignation marks a disavowal of the policy of the chief. If this rumor is without foundation it might be deemed from London. If not, it is certain that the truth of the story will not be formally set forth for sixty years, that being the time that must elapse before confidential Government documents are used for purposes of publication. By this rule the British Government ensures that any wounds caused by a controversy will have healed before the matter is once more forced on the attention of those whom it concerned."
A Triumph At Cabul.
Sir Mortimer Durand has been at Washington for three years, he having succeeded Sir John Herbert, who had shortly before followed the venerable Pauncefote. Durand was a Victoria in India, had come in close contact with him, and had, indeed, publicly testified to his regard after the delicate Cabul mission had been so satisfactorily negotiated. The Victoria's tribute chiefly concerned those diplomatic qualities that the young envoy displayed, but a stronger recommendation to the general public was his courage under fire, which amounted to heroism, and earned for him the distinction of mention in despatches, an incident almost without precedent among Ambassadors.
It was in his dealings with the wily Shah and in checking the hostile influence of Russia that Sir Mortimer Durand made his real diplomatic reputation. That he was the best British diplomat who ever served in Persia is an opinion quite generally held, and to him is given credit for Britain's paramount influence in the Shah's court during his regime. Certainly, this prestige never was so high before or since the days of Durand.
Good Work At Washington.
He was, indeed, the first full-fledged Ambassador from England to be appointed to Washington, his predecessors in office having been raised to the first rank upon appointment. During his incumbency there have been no great events to threaten the good feeling between the countries, and consequently there has been no call upon those higher qualities with which Sir Mortimer Durand is endowed. When it is said that he has so discharged his duties as to strengthen the cordial relations now existing, high praise is given—perhaps the highest that he would care to receive. His fine reputation makes the choice of a successor less difficult, for a better man could hardly be chosen.

HIS BRILLIANT CAREER
SIR MORTIMER DURAND'S RETIREMENT FROM WASHINGTON.
British Ambassador On Different Footing to the Representative of Any Other Foreign Power At the American Capital—Why He Retires—A Triumph At Cabul—The Best Man In Persia.
News of Sir Mortimer Durand's approaching retirement as British Ambassador at Washington has been received with sincere expressions of regret in all parts of the United States. The genuine liking he has inspired in those whom he has met officially or socially is reinforced by the respect with which he is regarded by the public. To say that he is the most popular of the Diplomatic Corps at Washington is not an exaggeration. He is expected in a British Ambassador, who is naturally on a different footing to the representative of any other foreign power at the American capital.
A Difficult Position.
This peculiar relation is well understood by "Ex-Attache," writing in the Chicago Tribune, when he says: "Considering the peculiar relations that exist between the United States and Great Britain and the extraordinary complexity of the questions that are continually cropping up between the two nations, the post of British Ambassador at Washington may well be regarded as the most important of the diplomatic service of King Edward. It is incumbent upon him to fulfill the duties of his mission in such a manner as to promote harmony and good-will with the Government and people to whom he is accredited, without, however, sacrificing any of the interests confided to his care; to execute the instructions received from his chief, the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs in London, and to satisfy those British colonies which by reason of their proximity to the United States are bound to become from time to

THE THAW TRIAL.

(Special to Events.)

New York, March 21st.—The shadow of mad house looms large before Harry Thaw. There is little doubt that as a result of today's hearing Judge Fitzgerald will grant Jerome's application for a commission on lunacy and there is less doubt that the commission, if appointed will say that Thaw is at the present time insane. Jerome in speaking of the case this morning said that he firmly believed that Thaw was now insane and that he suffered from a form of paranoia that may be incurable. Today's session was occupied by hearing affidavits to the effect that Thaw is insane.

A Cordial Invitation to Disease.

This is an apt description of constipation. It's an unnatural condition to begin with, and it's more, because it brings about blood deterioration, interferes with digestion, renders you susceptible to infectious diseases and causes anaemia. Not so much a purgative as a natural stimulant to the bowels is what you need. You get it in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which increase liver activity, restore the bowels to perfect action and positively cure constipation and its attendant evils. Insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c per box at all dealers.

VEN. THOS. NEALES ARCHDEACON DEAD.

Woodstock, N. B., March 16.—Archdeacon Neales died this morning at 10.30 of peritonitis, after an illness of about four weeks. Besides his wife, he leaves one son, Dr. Stanley Neales, of Lawrence, Mass., and two daughters, Mrs. Baker, of Newport, I. L., and Miss Bessie, at home.

The Ven. Thomas Neales, M. A., archdeacon of Fredericton, has been for many years rector of St. Luke's church, Woodstock. He was a strong churchman and his gentle disposition endeared him to all within the wide circle, where he was known. In his own parish he was prominent in all church work and until three years ago administered in three churches without assistance.

In July of last year at the meeting of the Synod and again in October the archdeacon was the choice for the position of coadjutor bishop of many of the clergy and laity in the diocese. Eventually the selection fell upon Bishop Richardson and his speech on that occasion was one of most cordial and sincere congratulation. Rev. S. Neales, rector of Sussex, is a half brother of the deceased archdeacon.

STOLE BRASS FROM THE I. C. R.

Five men Before Magistrate at Quebec

Quebec, March 21.—Five men, namely Joseph Carrier, Louis Carrier, Edmond Marriage, Alf Dawson and Joseph Boucher, were brought before the court here yesterday on warrants sworn out by I. C. R. Police Inspector D. A. Noble of Campbellton, N. B., charging them with extensive thefts of brass from the I. C. R. during the last month. They each in turn pleaded guilty to the charge, as well as confessing to stealing a large quantity of brass from the G. T. R. and Quebec Central Railway. Their ages range from 17 to 26 years. They were remanded for sentence. They claim to have sold this plunder in Lévis, and it is likely proceedings will be taken against the parties who bought the stolen property. The brass was stolen from Lévis, Point Lévis and Hadlow. Inspector Noble considers the capture of this gang important, as there has been a gang of thieves operating at those places for some time, and he thinks this capture will break them up. Mr. Noble gives much credit to I. C. R. Officer Moore of Lévis who satisfied him in this case—Transcript.

THE TOWN OF RAYMOND.

Youngest of Its Size in the Dominion of Canada — Great Sugar Beet Raising Centre in Alberta.

Raymond, Alberta, is the youngest town of its size in Canada. In 1903 the townsite was a bare prairie. Now it contains 500 residences, stores, warehouses and public buildings, and has a population of 2,500 people.

It is the headquarters for some of the largest ranching and cattle enterprises in the Canadian West, and of the Knight Beet Sugar factory, the only one of its kind in Canada west of the Great Lakes.

The factory represents an investment of $500,000, and has been in operation for three years. In 1904 this factory sliced 11,500 tons of beets and manufactured 3,160,000 pounds of sugar. Bags on bags of sugar are kept in store.

Price of Land Increasing.

It seems odd to talk of "best lots," but the soil and climate of Southern Alberta are especially adapted to the growth of the vegetable in question, and land in the vicinity of the sugar town is rapidly increasing in price. Ranch land is worth $4 and farm land $6 per acre.

The sugar beet, while necessitating considerable labor in its cultivation gives a first-class return to the farmer, and it now seems certain that within a short time large areas in Southern Alberta will be devoted to its production, and in the near future several large factories will be in operation turning out sugar in great quantities. Sugar beet raising is past the experimental stage. Beets last year produced from $30 to $75 an acre, on well cultivated lands. Forty dollars is an average profit on beet fields. Sugar beets in Alberta contain 2 per cent. higher than in the States. Most of the growers are raising from two to five acres, some as high as twenty. The soil after the first year yields fifty to sixty tons per acre.

Sugar Factory's Capacity.

The sugar factory has a capacity requiring 400 tons of beets per day. These are contracted for at $5 per ton, though the sugar factory itself owns 200,000 acres of land. Hand labor is employed; children working in the fields thinning out the rows. The Mormon men have over the money they earn to their wives, who are the managers of the family. Raymond is the headquarters of the Taylor Stake of Zion, according to Mormon definition. This denomination has built a meeting house which will seat 1,500 people, and eventually they will erect a tabernacle and temple. Prohibition of the liquor traffic prevails in the town.

Process of Manufacture.

The beet sugar served in the hotel at Carleton Place the same as any other, though it was rather poor in quality than some. The processes of making the sugar are many and various. Dumped in the wagon the beets are carried into the flume, and thence into the washing receptacles. After a thorough cleansing they are cut up into what is called "cosette." Then they go to the "diffusion" machinery, where they are put through several processes. The juice of the beet being extracted from the water. Clarification by chemical processes then takes place, and the juice is boiled in receptacles from which the air is exhausted, the clear, white sugar being the eventual result. Molasses is a by-product, and the pulp remaining is put into a silo for cattle.

Sending Wheat to Japan.

Raymond has other claims to distinction, or will have at some future day. The Milling and Elevator Co., which has a 40,000 bushel elevator only 14 months after the first sod was turned, was grinding wheat and sending it to Japan. Now the company has trade in China, Australia and Vancouver, besides supplying the home demand. Some of the farms have yielded fifty bushels of wheat per acre. The winter wheat yield has increased from 22,000 bushels in 1903 to over a million bushels this year.

A Canadian in India.

The Kalamazoo correspondent of The Detroit Free Press is authority for the statement that one of its stepsons, so to speak, is now Mayor of Bombay, India. The man in question is Mr. Milton De Witt Girdwood, who was born in Canada, and, after attending schools in various towns of minor fame, graduated from Kalamazoo College. He became a photographer, and developed the line of photographing interesting and important events for magazines. He was sent to Europe by the firm which employed him, and was so successful in his work that he was sent to India to photograph the chief scenes at Lord Curzon's Durbar. Later he was the official photographer on the tour of the Prince of Wales in India. He was so taken with the country that he settled in Bombay as the Assistant general agent of his firm. The correspondent says he was "appointed Mayor." Just what that honorary statement means it is impossible at this distance to say, but at all events Mr. Girdwood is doing pretty well, thank you, and the people here have been taught to like him. The fact that Mr. Girdwood is a Canadian by birth and never renounced his British citizenship aided him in his rapid advance. There are times when it pays not to be a United States citizen.

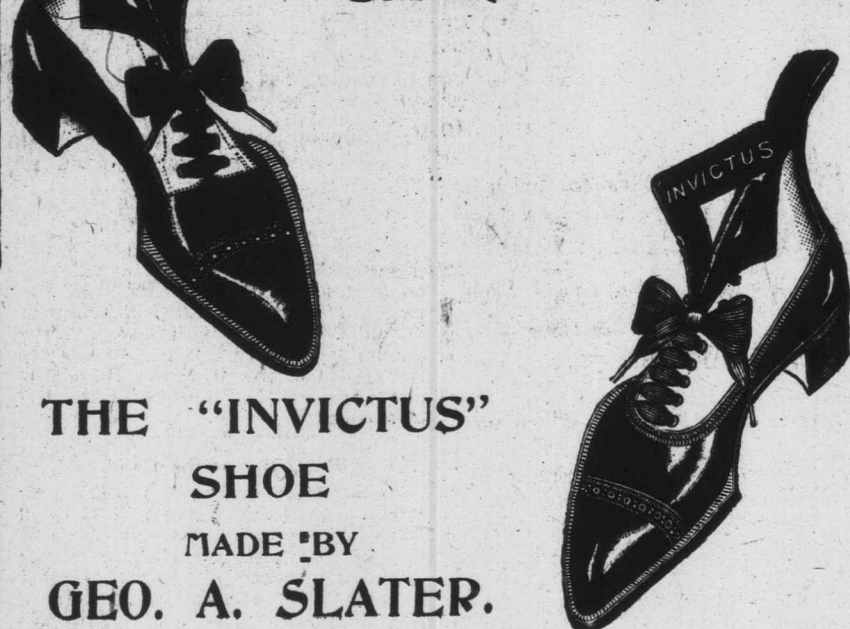

Teaching How to Eat Tomatoes.

Canada's commercial agents in England report that Canadians are not vigorous enough in teaching Britons to eat our products. The two articles which Britons are slow to take up are tomatoes and corn. In this respect United States visitors are said to be much more energetic. They ask at shop after shop for "American" peaches and corn and tomatoes and if they are not in stock explain to the storekeeper that no other kind will do, and also where they can be got by wholesale. If the articles are kept by the storekeeper, or have them prepared for them at their lodgings. In this way many English people have been taught to like United States corn and tomatoes, and Canadians traveling in Great Britain might do worse than take a leaf out of their book.

This catechism is a little bound volume of over 100 pages with many illustrations.

Dr. S. E. Dawson, King's Printer, and Compiler for Stationary for the Dominion, who has recently been honored with a O.M.G., is one of the best known and most honored of the public servants at the capital. He is a son of the late Rev. B. Dawson of the Reformed Episcopal Church. Born at Halifax on June 1, 1858, and educated at McGill's school in that city, he early entered the book-selling and stationery business in connection with his father. Afterwards the firm became Dawson Bros. In 1879 Mr. Dawson aided in the founding of the Dominion Bank Note Company, and one year later of the Montreal News Company. In 1881 he was appointed a delegate to Washington to confer on the subject of international copyright. He was long a member of the Board of Protestant school commissioners in Montreal, and for a time was President of the Board of Arts and Manufactures of the Province of Quebec. He was appointed to his present position in 1891, and has fulfilled its duties with credit and honor.

Dr. Dawson has been a frequent contributor to the Canadian periodicals, and was one of the earliest writers for the Canadian Monthly. His best-known work is an appreciative study of Tennyson's "The Princess."

No Hindu Cremation In B. C. Unable to secure permission from the Canadian officials to cremate their dead according to their religious beliefs, the Hindu residents of Western Canada are sending their dead to Seattle, Wash., for cremation. After cremating, the dust is scattered over the sea. According to the Hindu rites, the dead body must be covered with brush, and burned until not even the bones remain. The Canadian officials are having considerable trouble with these Orientals, who are now flooding British Columbia. The latter are again taking up the matter with the officials in regard to the erection of a Hindu crematory, but there is small chance of success. They say that the cremation system used in Seattle is not in accordance with their religion.

THE above picture of the man and fish is the trademark of Scott's Emulsion, and is the synonym for strength and purity. It is sold in almost all the civilized countries of the globe.

If the cod fish became extinct it would be a world-wide calamity, because the oil that comes from its liver surpasses all other fats in nourishing and life-giving properties. Thirty years ago the proprietors of Scott's Emulsion found a way of preparing cod liver oil so that everyone can take it and get the full value of the oil without the objectionable taste. Scott's Emulsion is the best thing in the world for weak, backward children, thin, delicate people, and all conditions of wasting and lost strength.

QUAINT BIT OF QUEBEC

LANCASHIRE AS SET DOWN IN OUR SISTER PROVINCE.

Valleyfield Cotton Mills Employees Form An Entity of Their Own, Outside the Town Proper—Queer Mixture of Dialects—Old Country Spinners Can Take Everything In Their Machines, So Expert Are They.

A characteristic bit of England has been set down in Valleyfield, and is worth the notice.

Especially is this the case, inasmuch as all about it are the customs, the manners, the temperance, the language, the genius, of another and preponderating race.

The Valleyfield Cotton Mills employ something like three thousand hands. They are outside the town proper, and form an entity of their own.

The town proper is disposed to take its ease a bit. The organism which has formed itself about the cotton mills is strenuous to a degree.

You will hear, in Valleyfield, the undiluted French tongue, and likewise a dialect which could scarcely be called "English, pure and undiluted," but which is exceedingly picturesque, and reminiscent of old scenes and memories precious beyond the telling to those who have wandered through the ancient lanes of Lancashire.

Manned By English Spinners.

It was the aim of the late Mr. J. F. Gault to have the mills manned by English cotton spinners. This was not because of any objection either to the French or English-speaking spinners on the spot—per se—but because the English spinners were supposed to have superior skill—hundreds of thousands of men and women in the Lancashire district having been, so to say, born in the spinning mills in the Old Country.

And so, in parties, the spinners were brought over. Sometimes the family came. Again, there would be a group of twenty or fifty.

If assistance was needed, it was supplied, through an arrangement by which the money was repaid in easy instalments.

Agents were sent over to the Old Country to make careful selections. The chief provocation was higher wages. And when the first parties wrote home favorably it was easy to induce others to come out.

Exceedingly Expert.

The Old Country cotton spinners are exceedingly expert. They can take every station of possible product out of their machines.

And in this country they make almost double the wages which it was possible for them to earn at home.

The directors of the mills determined to minimize the outward life of the Old Country as nearly as possible, so as to give the idea of home-likeness and prevent dissatisfaction within the new environment.

Model Homes For Workers.

The company had provided model homes for the spinners, with water supply, electric light, stationary wash tubs, little bits of gardens, etc., at easy rents, while they had not forgotten the social side of the life of some three thousand people.

Churches, schools, gymnasia, reading-rooms, skating rinks, debating clubs, shooting clubs, and the like were set on foot, and in brief space the environment took on a settled, home-like look, which was a great gratification to all concerned.

Living is a little higher than in England, but, on the other hand, the wages correspond and more than correspond to the need. It is the habit (though it is not so extensively practiced as in England) for both husband and wife to go to work together, leaving the children (if there be any) to the care of grandmother (if so useful an institution be handy), or to some other old woman or women, who, for a certain consideration, keep them during the day. This, of course, necessitates the waking of the children at five o'clock in the morning, winter and summer, and the carrying of them to the central point of oversight, and there is considerable hardship here.

Women Work Voluntarily.

On the other hand, many of the women go to work voluntarily, either with the distinct purpose of saving up for a piano or some new article of furniture, or of taking a trip to the Old Country, which many of them do in the summer time with the money they have earned.

The husband and wife, between them, can make $20 a week. Very often, by superior nimbleness, the wife can make more than her husband.

It is a constant experience that a young couple, almost immediately after their marriage, will start together to the mill at half-past five o'clock in the morning, working thus together, even after the children come.

There are pleasant features connected with the English life at Valleyfield which, as far as may be, mimic the experiences of the Old Country.

There are English glee clubs; and one may hear on the Sunday the English girl spinners singing in the choir of the church—modest, lady-like, intelligent. The married women, too, take an interest in the church life, and belong to the various guilds which are usually associated with church effort.

Men Have Their Clubs.

As for the men, they have their clubs, as stated, and periodically get up, in the hotels of the place, those characteristic suppers which remind them of the Old Land—suppers of which the chief features are potato pies, cheese and beer.

On Sunday it is a pleasant sight to see the workers, in families, going to their respective churches, the father and mother leading, the children following—heartily robust children, of whom there is no stint.

Perhaps the most gratifying feature is the cordial relations which exist between these English cotton spinners and the French-Canadian population. The two elements mingle upon every public occasion, while the Chief Magistrate is alternately represented by an English and French-speaking representative.

Binding Younger Element.

The public school, which was the thought and largely the gift of the late Mr. Gault, to whose inspiration this town within a town was due, has been a great success. It is doing a notable work among the young, while the Gault institute, which contains reading rooms, gymnasium, baths, games, etc., has the effect of binding the younger element to the environment.

When the idea was first mooted, it was doubted whether it could be successfully carried out.

Yet, here is this bit of Lancashire, thriving, happy, under new skies, retaining its distinctive customs, which, nevertheless, will insensibly undergo modifications, speaking somewhat as Tennyson wrote in his "Northern Farmer," yet learning on—its younger members) the French tongue—English in feeling, yet cordial in its regard of the members of another race, transplanting its folk-lore, yet learning to be wholesome Canadian citizens; still thinking tenderly of past scenes, yet proud to have a French-speaking Mayor, in his rotation, to preside over their municipality, thus proving the wisdom of Mr. Gault in unhesitatingly this new departure, which has been equally advantageous to employer and employee, and which, at the same time, added to our population a healthy and wholesome and progressive element.

A Remarkable Printing Press.

The University Press at Oxford is the most remarkable printing establishment in the world, as well as one of the oldest. It is what you might call self-contained, and if everything else pertaining to printing were blotted off the face of the earth to-morrow the University Press would go right ahead as if nothing had happened. It makes its own type and its own ink, burns its own charcoal for making the ink, makes its own paper and so on. The workmen in the Press are as interesting as the establishment itself. In many instances son has succeeded father down the centuries in its employ as naturally as if the son was his lordship and the father an earl and the position an entailed estate.

WOULD BE LADY CABMAN.

Scotland Yard Police Astonished By Woman's Application For Cabbie's License—Guarded Reply.

The suffragettes must take a back seat. They are quite outclassed. They merely make riots in the sacred Houses of Parliament, engage policemen in single combat, go cheerfully to prison, and demand votes.

But there is a lady in London—a young and a pretty lady—who wants to drive a hansom cab. She called at the Daily Mirror offices and mentioned her ambition as though it were quite an ordinary thing.

Miss Adela Maybury—that is the young lady's name, and she lives at Fetherston road, Highbury—has blue eyes and bright, fair hair. And yet "I don't see why I shouldn't be allowed to drive a hansom," she said.

A Vague Reply.

"But after an immense amount of trouble I have obtained from New Scotland Yard only this vague letter. And she produced the following illuminating missive—

With reference to your letter, I am sorry to say that the Commissioner of Police has decided to refuse your application that Hackney drivers' licenses are granted or refused in accordance with the decision arrived at after inquiry as to the applicant's fitness or unfitness, etc.

I am, madam, your obedient servant,
C. G. BATHURST,
Chief Clerk.

"It has for a long time been my ambition to drive a cab," said Miss Maybury. "When I was a little girl a woman used to drive a cab to Epworth races, until the authorities stopped her; she was not allowed a cab-driver's license, but traded on the one held by her husband, a regular cab-driver's license."

"Now it occurred to me that if a woman could procure a license to drive a hansom in London she would be trusted by lonely women. And plenty of women, like myself, can drive as well as any man, and would be most unlikely to be reckless."

"Well, I paid a visit to the office of the Chief Clerk, and in the street, to enquire how I might obtain a license. The secretary and his colleague seemed much amused at the idea."

"I don't think your proposal would be entertained for a moment," said the secretary. "No woman has ever been granted a cab license; but, of course, you can apply to Scotland Yard. The license cost 6s. and you will have to satisfy the authorities that you are a capable driver, and that you know London well."

Must Groom 'Oss.

"You will have to describe the route you would take from a given address to another given address, humming every street you would traverse. And you will have to show you understand the grooming of a horse and the manipulation of the harness. Then a form must be filled up, signed by two reliable householders, to certify that, among other qualifications, you are sober and have borne a respectable character for the last three years."

"The two last clauses amused me very much. I went to New Scotland Yard, and there I was informed by police-inspectors that I must approach the head of the department by a letter, which he would place before the Commissioner. So I wrote home, and wrote the requisite letter, and after waiting three weeks got the answer from the Chief Clerk."

"I want to know what I am to do next. Of course, I should expect a good deal of change from cabmen, but I am sure that quiet dignity and skillful driving would soon stop ridicule."

"One cabman asked me how I would get up into the 'dickey.' Well, I could wear special clothes, if necessary. I have always been fond of tree-climbing, and I just love these things."

"Meanwhile, till I get my license, I am learning London. For two hours drive in a motor car, and I must approach the head of the department by a letter, which he would place before the Commissioner. So I wrote home, and wrote the requisite letter, and after waiting three weeks got the answer from the Chief Clerk."

TO HELP YOURSELF.

Cultivate These Qualities and They Will Well Repay You.

A good memory for faces and facts connected with them, thus avoiding giving offense through not recognizing or bowing to people or saying to them what had better been left unsaid.

An unaffected, sweet, distinct and sympathetic voice. The American feminine voice is a target which has been hit hard many times and very justly. Learn to be appreciative of the natural mellow tones possible to every woman and avoid the shrill voices that remind one of a large concourse of hens.

Cultivate the charm of making little sacrifices quite naturally, as if of no account to yourself.

Cultivate the habit of making allowances for the opinions and feelings of others as well as their prejudices. We can't all see things from the same angle in this world. If we did it would be a mighty dreary, monotonous old sphere.

Cultivate the art of listening without impatience to noisy talkers and of smiling at the twice-or thrice told tale or incident. It really won't hurt you to hear it over again, and, then, remember that you are never so charming as when you are making other persons think they are interesting.

Britain's War Secretary.

The Right Hon. Richard Burton Haldane, Secretary of State for War in the British Liberal Cabinet, is not a warrior nor a military man, but a successful lawyer and a distinguished philosopher. His appointment to his present position tempted a well-known German statesman to make some caustic remarks about the peculiar doings of the English people. "You are a curious race, you English," he exclaimed, "your" great philosophical lawyer you appoint to rule your armies, and your greatest philosophical historian you set to govern India."

Mr. Haldane was born at Edinburgh in 1856 and was educated at Edinburgh University and at Göttingen. His favorite study was philosophy, and in this he so excelled at both seats of learning that in 1878 he was appointed Gray and Ferguson scholar in philosophy at the four Scottish universities.

In 1879 he was called to the Bar and was made a Q. C. in 1890. This year he was elected Lord Rector of Edinburgh University. Mr. Haldane has written a number of books and essays, chiefly on philosophical subjects. He has represented Haddingtonshire in the House of Commons since 1895.

Field Marshal Wolseley Is Hard Up.

Field Marshal Viscount Wolseley, the hero of Tel-el-Kebir and a hundred other campaigns, is a grateful country-rewarded with $275,000 and a peerage, is now in such straits for money that he is compelled to sell his magnificent collection of ancient arms and armor.

The collection, which includes some fine English armor from the times of James I. and Cromwell, besides many savage weapons which Lord Wolseley collected in the Sudan, Egypt and South Africa, will be sold at a London auction room.

Being a soldier and not a financier, Lord Wolseley has lost steadily in reckless commercial enterprises with which he has occupied himself since he vacated his position as Commander-in-Chief. Mortgages have been piled upon his country house, Glynde, in Sussex, and he has been compelled to accept the King's grant of apartments at Hampton Court Palace, which is a kind of royal almshouse.

A Thrilling Cliff Accident.

Alum Bay, in the Isle of Wight, was the scene of a perilous adventure recently. A man and his son were standing on the top of the cliffs which fall a sheer 150 feet to the bay, when they stepped on a bed of light sand, which gave way beneath them. They slid thirty feet down the face of the cliffs until their fall was arrested by a small ledge of hard sand. Bracing their backs against the cliffs, they waited in momentary fear of a further fall until they were noticed from the beach below. Three blue-jackets, who witnessed the accident, hurried to the top of the cliff with a rope which they lowered. The man fastened it round his son's waist, and he was drawn up into safety. The rope was lowered a second time and the man was rescued from his terrible position.

WARM WELCOME FOR GOV. TWEEDIE.

Chatham, N. B. March 15.—Governor and Mrs. Tweedie arrived home today and were tendered a reception by the pupils and teachers of St. Michael's Convent. The 73rd laud, a guard of honor and citizens met him at the station and a procession was formed. The address of welcome was read by little Miss Dunn. Mrs. Tweedie was presented with a bouquet of flowers. Governor Tweedie expressed his thanks for the welcome accorded him and a programme of songs and instrumental selections was carried out. The Governor in reply thanked the people for their reception in honor of Mrs. Tweedie and himself. He paid a tribute to the worth of the late Governor and regretted the necessity which had forced the honor upon him. For thirty-three years he had sat in the Legislature and was very glad to have accomplished what he had before he laid down the reins of government. During his tenure of the office of Premier of the province it had received its increased subsidy from the Federal government, and now that the Grand Trunk Pacific was assured, the people might feel easy that they will receive a return for every dollar spent on the Central Railway.

DEATH OF MR. GORDON LIVINGSTONE.

Mr. Gordon Livingston died last night in the Moncton hospital, where he had been for treatment. The deceased, who was born in Shediac, was about 62 years of age. He was formerly engaged in the newspaper business and in this way became well known all over the province. Latterly he has been employed in Moncton. Mr. Livingston is survived by a wife and four children. One of his sons, Grover, who is afflicted in his sight is studying for the ministry in Halifax. He is also survived by one sister, Mrs. W. J. Smith, of Rexton Kent county, who has been in Moncton for the past few days, having been summoned here on account of the illness of her brother. The body will be taken to Rexton for interment. The late Mr. Livingston was many years ago, employed on the Times with his brother, the late John Livingston, in his day one of the ablest newspaper men in the province.—Times, 16th

Does Your Heart Beat

Yes. 100,000 times each day. Does it send out good blood or bad blood? You know, for good blood is good health; bad blood, bad health. And you know precisely what to take for bad blood—Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Doctors have endorsed it for 60 years.

One frequent cause of bad blood is a sluggish liver. This produces constipation. Pimples, eruptions are then absorbed into the blood. Keep the bowels open with Ayer's Pills.

HE RANKED VERY HIGH.

Lord Mayor of London Was a Big Man In Bye-Gone Days.

At a grand entertainment given in the fifteenth century by the sergeant-at-law at Ely place, Holborn, the lord treasurer, Baron Ruthven, refused to recognize that as the sovereign's immediate representative the lord mayor was bound to take precedence of every other subject within the limits of the city. The bold baron sat stolidly, therefore, at table in "the most honorable place," whereupon the lord mayor instantly withdrew, followed by his faithful aldermen and sheriffs and all the other citizens.

The person of the lord mayor was once held to be sacred and inviolable, and none dare approach his presence in an impudent manner. Men have been hanged for forcible resistance to his authority, and it is on record that one Richard Bayfield, in the year 1479, was fined £50 for presuming to kneel too close to his lordship at St. Ekkewald's shrine. More awe-inspiring still, the lord mayor once commanded the services of a merry-andrew and a poet laureate, whose wit and verse, had they existed now, would have been employed in the show which a month hence is to body forth seven centuries of the city's civic life.

Ben Jonson himself was a lord mayor's laureate, and even his supreme talent was not thought equal to the high duty of singing the praises of the common council. Ben must have performed his duties not too graciously, for we know that he wrote a letter complaining of the corporation withdrawing him from their "chancery pension for services and merriment." Upon which letter a champion of the city made the comment that the pension was "not so chancery, for it amounted to £20 to £30, a sum which was at least a good comparison with what has been at any time allowed to the king's laureate in Ben Jonson's days, for, till 1630, the pension was but 100 marks—without a stipend of any kind."

Stories of Mr. Balfour. Now that the British Parliament has reassembled, a new crop of anecdotes of Mr. Balfour has been harvested by Mr. F. F. some of which are interesting. Raising his hat to a group of ladies while crying on his estate, Mr. Balfour managed to get into a showered. "You did that very gracefully," said a friend. Mr. Balfour, who was a pretty wit, replied: "I always dreamt of the presentation of ladies." Reverting to the days of his Irish Secretaryship, Mr. Balfour really hated me as much as their newspapers say. "My dear sir," replied the grin of Mr. Balfour, "if they only hated the devil half as much as they hate you my occupation would be gone." All his Irish experiences were not so bitter. On the first St. Patrick's Day of his tenure of the Irish Chief Secretaryship, a cigar-box was delivered to him at the House of Commons, containing a bunch of shamrocks. "From a sincere Irish admirer," but to the terror of his secretaries, the box was also found to contain a wicked-looking steel spring, covered with a queer white compound. A chemist expert was called for, and he examined the "infernal machine" everybody momentarily expecting an explosion. The puzzled chemist, venturing to put a particle of the compound on his tongue, found that it was simply sugar impregnated with lemon. He then turned the box upside down, and out rolled a rusty cork-screw (the spiral spring) and a scrap of paper inscribed: "Buy the whisky yourself; you can then concoct the famous lemonade of Balfour. Hooley, and drink to Ould Ireland."

Would Not Let Him Explain. A detachment of soldiers was engaged in clearing a certain district in the Orange River Colony of supplies, and during the operations Colonel Shovelong's staff officer came up to a Boer farmer sitting at the door of his cottage with a large stack of oat straw in the background. "I have orders either to buy or destroy all forage and food in this district," said the officer. "I therefore give you notice that I am about to set fire to that pile of oat straw." "Bod I tell you," began the stolid Boer, as he removed his pipe from his mouth. "Oh, you may as well know straight off," interrupted the officer, "that resistance and objection are alike futile."

"Bod would you please," once more began the farmer. "I can listen to no excuses; I have neither time nor inclination," was the impatient rejoinder of the officer as he hurried away. "Vell, my dear," said the Boer to his wife, as the stack of straw burst into flame, and the officer went on his way rejoicing, "doss Khakis are strange peoples. I wanted to tell him dat dis van de oat straw I had sold to de Colonel half an hour ago."

Thus saying, he meditatively jingled the British sovereigns in his pocket.—London Tit-Bits.

Old School Rules. There was no doubt in Queen Elizabeth's reign as to who was responsible for the proper feeding of school children. The School of St. Saviour's, Southwark, which, excepting for an entrance fee of two and sixpence and a significant payment of "twopence a quarter toward brooms and rods," was a free school for a hundred poor boys, framed a very interesting set of rules for its inmates in 1562. The boys' parents were exhorted to provide him with "wholesome and handsome clothing becoming his estate, and to take care of his body; and lest it should cause the undoing of the child, the parents are reminded that the care of him at dinner time, supper time, and severity at home, which will make him love his school," and the concluding phrases might be written up in every home of to-day: "For the master may do much, but good and discreet government at home makes all sure, and doth the greatest good."—London Chronicle.

shared with me the labors which my position imposes and which on their part, is a labor of love. They have been unwearied in the work. A word of special praise should be uttered too, I believe, to the General Inspector, Mr. Jenkins, whose conduct continues to merit our entire commendation, also to Inspector Gough, of Summerside, who has done effective and courageous work without honor. We need the best men we can get in this capacity, and they should be paid a sufficient sum to preclude pecuniary enticement. It is but just to acknowledge the good disposition of the Premier and his government, manifested at all times, towards this temperance measure passed by them into law, and administered faithfully, for the most part, the credit of which they fully share. Much permanent good has already been effected in the community by it, much more remains to be done, and it is the duty of every good citizen to lend his sympathy and support to the work so that there shall be no faltering but the firmest step shall be put forward to spread the blessing of temperance everywhere through the land.

COAL MINE HORRORS.

Fire Damp Responsible for Death of 65 Persons.

Rorbach, Germany, March 16.—An explosion of fire damp in the coal mine at Kleinrosselo, near here, last night, caused the death of 65 miners and the injury of twelve others.

The explosion occurred in a small gallery in which eighty miners were at work. Three of them are still missing. The immediate cause of the disaster has not yet been established. The mine belongs to Herr Went, a national liberal member of the Reichstag.

SAARLOUIS, Rhenish Prussia, March 15.—Twenty-two miners were killed this morning at the Gerhardt coal mine. They were descending one of the shafts in the cage when the cable broke near the top and the miners plunged down several hundred feet. They all met instant death. The mine belongs to the Prussian government, which has already begun an official inquiry into the accident.

DARING RAIDS

IN INDIA

Almost under the Nose of The Military Police

Calcutta, March 16.—Considerable unrest exists among the Zakkis Khels. They have already carried out several daring raids in the Peshawar district during the cold weather and only a few days ago a party of them believed to have numbered twenty men raised the serai at Montanni, a large village situated about fifteen miles south of Peshawar.

This Serai is on the main road connecting Kohat and Peshawar and is a regular halting place for people moving between the two towns. On the night in question it was full of travellers.

Information was received by the Border Military Police at Fort Mackinson that a raid had been planned and two sowars were dispatched at nine p.m. from there to the sub-inspector in charge of the police coast at Montanni to put him on his guard.

On their way however the sowar fell in with a gang of raiders and one of them named Akbar had his horse shot under him. When they eventually reached Montanni it was found that the serai had been successfully looted and property worth about Rs. 2,000 had been carried off by the raiders.

The impudent daring of the gang is shown by the fact that Montanni is only three miles from Fort Mackinson where a detachment of Border Military Police is stationed and that there is a police post of fifteen men close to the serai.

It is reported that the property has been removed across the border to Harznow in the Shinwar district, and there seems little chance of its being recovered.
