WANT LESS SEVERE SPELLING EXAMS.

London School Principals Say Entrance Tests Are Too Stiff for Pupils.

WOULD ABOLISH ENTRANCE

Principals Favor Promotion by Year's Record Rather Than Nerve-Trying Exams.

The Ontario Teachers' Association will memorialize the department of education to make the high school entrance spelling examinations less severe. At a meeting of the principals of London schools this morning, the entrance examination question was fully discussed, and the opinion was freely expressed that the spelling requirements demanded of entrance pupils in recent years were so high as to be almost absurd. Words from a translation of Julius Caesar, for instance, were taken from this year's register: given to the entrance pupils recently, and quite naturally, many of the scholars did not rise to the test. The entrance regulations place much stress on spelling, and two marks are deducted in every subject on each mis-spelled word. This condition, the London principals opined, was altogether too stringent. Would Abolish Entrance. The principals reiterated their belief that the entrance promotions should be made on the work of the pupils during the year instead of crowding them into a strange high school with a strange teachfor a week, and then expecting them to turn out their best efforts. But the department has given its decision that the examinations are to be conducted in the same old way; that the self-possessed pu pils may get by and the nervous, though cleverer children, plucked.

Health placards, issued by Dr. H. W. Hill, director of the Institute of Public contagious diseases may be prevented. ENTED MANY CACEC dered put up in the various schools.

The principals favored a suggestion to co-operate with the Teachers' Association, Women's Guild and Froebel Society in bringing to the city next year a wellknown lecturer to give a series of 50 addresses, on subjects of general education and public interest.

Exam. Subjects Assigned. after the papers are complete, they will be revised by the inspector and printed. The conference of principals was called by Inspector C. B. Edwards and was of the get-together variety. A great number of ideas were exchanged, and the re-

Governor-General Not Expected to Visit Forest City on Way.

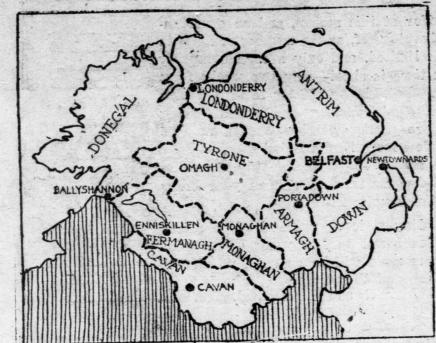

There is little likelihood of the Duke of Connaught coming to London this summer. The Governor-General has notified Mayor M. B. Johnson, of St. Thomas, that he will visit the Railway City on May 13, and it is planned to have him lay the corner-stone of the new Y. M.

London's southerly suburb. The new city hall project in London will not be far enough advanced by that time to warrant the duke being brought to London, but it is hoped to secure his highness' presence later. St. Thomas tried to induce the duke to visit that city a couple of years ago on the occasion of his continental tour, but London was given the preference in the arrangement of his excellency's itinerary.

About March 27 or 28 is the usual date at which the high-water mark of the year is ob served at the Forks, but just now the water is ten feet lower than its average height at this time of the year. Little or no ice has been observed floating down the north branch. The river is only a that the drivers should have chauffeurs' trifie higher than its usual early summer

TIME FOR REFORM IN GREAT BRITAIN.

ALSWORTHY, the eminent novel-Jist and playwright, wrote a letter to the Times recently which has elicited much comment. He protested against the waste of time in the British Parliament over useless or hackneved things. Why the eternal talk, he asks, and repetitions and infinitum on home rule, ariff reform, church or electoral reform etc., while things the people really care about are ignored, the sweated labor, child labor, housing reform, wages, public safety, cruelty to animals slaughter of birds for fashion, caging of wild song birds, exportation of worn-out horses to continental butchers, and so

LOST HUSBANDS.

URING the past two weeks the Tor-Donto mortality department has received 150 applications from women in England whose husbands have deserted any moist dirt or filth, unclean refuse them and have fled to a city of refuge in Canda. If that number of deserted wives lowed to remain upon public places or have written to Toronto, it would seem that the total of wife desertion in Britain must be something enormous. It is a serious reflection, either on the wives to have conscious scruples about putting or the husbands-we cannot say which. But whoever is to blame, we hope the errant husbands will be located. We do not suppose the anxious inquiries made paign. land would they have any scruples about about them are instigated by an overwhelming love for the departed head of the house rather by a desire for money to support the deserted family. And this should be provided. In some cases, doubtless, a man's home is made so uncomfortable for him, that it is not unnatural for him to try and escape. But in most cases wife desertion is an act of meanness on the part of a man who wants to get rid of his burdens which, According to Representative Campbell, whether heavy or light, it is bis bounden of Kentucky, "The American Eagle duty to carry. ORANGE VERSUS FRENCH. NQUIRY has been made in Parliament as to the reported protests from cer tain Orange lodges in Ontario against the A suit is pending in Ohio to oust the action of the Government in having postcards printed in French and English, and also against the Speaker reading the act. Among the subsidiaries named is prayers in French on alternate days. The questions were ruled out of order, but Hon. W. J. Nothing was said about the bi-lingual prayers of the Speaker. Protests like those mentioned will not have much weight with the Government because it is understood that they are only a sop thrown by Orange leaders to Orange prejudice, but they do not mean anything serious. The Orange vote will go to the Government no matter what it

As to the Government favoring the French element, there is nothing surprising about it. Mr. Borden is premier very largely by the support of the Quebec Nationalists, and it is perfectly natural that they should demand their pay. And they are getting it. The condition is explained by the French-Canadian Conservative paper, L'Evenement, which said in a recent issue: "Coming on the feet of the nomination of Mr. J. U. Vincent as deputy minister of inland revenues, the appointment of Mr. Tache as king's printer, demonstrates that the influence of the Province of Quebec, thanks to the One forbids the giving of any political French-Canadián representation in the cabinet and in the House, is on the ascendancy. And this ascendancy comes under the government of Rt. Hon, R. L. Borden, just as the decadence came under the regime of Rt. Hon. Sir Wilfrid > French domination because we had a French-Canadian premier. But it seems quite evident that there is more French domination with Mr. Borden as premier than there was under the Liberal leader. But the faithful Protestant Conservative can swallow it all without a murmur And if the more violent Orange element murmurs, it will not go any further than murmuring; it will vote straight. Of course, if a French-Canadian had succeeded an English-speaking Protestant as deputy' minister of inland revenue under Laurier there have been great indignation voiced. And the people who are growling on account of a line of French or a nostcard would not have been able to contain themselves had Sir Wilfrid apnointed a French-Canadian to succeed an English Protestant as king's printer. But it is all right under a Conservative Government.

The out strong for the doctrine that it is much better to wipe out the spot where he breeds than to swat him after he has been bred by countless millions. Clean up the place where the eggs are laid and destroy untold quantities of the pests before birth. Garbage cans especially require attention and it should be the rule that the covers fit exactly and are always kept on. Stables should ness, and as flies will breed in almost of any sort should not be placed or alopen spots. Needless to say all places carefully and kept scrupulously clean. If these directions are followed out generally, there will be greater relief from the annual fly pest than could be secured by years of the swatting cam-

Ease and rest, Today are best.

This is a day in which it is well to be quiet, avoiding initiative and change. Astrologers find the planets contradictory in their influences, good and bad leadings mingling from early in the morning until late at night.

Mars is in a place strongly benefic, while Neptune also is friendly, Saturn is decidedly adverse, and Venus faintly favorable. The sign is good for surgeons, vivisectionists, chemists, and dentists. Railroading is subject to influences making for prosperity. Legislation which wil aid them is foreshadowed. Changes in management and sweeping mprovements are predicted.

Those who rove in strange in search of adventure" are said to be favored by the stars this month. News of discoveries of unknown land will be received, the seers believe.

Again, there is a happy omen for army officers and soldiers of every Honors and promotions are prophesied, but scandals and severe criticism likewise are foretold.

Women should be fairly lucky today, but they should not risk any great venture in love or business, as they may be disappointed. Shopping is subject to a lucky omen, which promises success in obtaining what is not only useful, but becoming. Saturn's sway today should be regarded as threatening. It is extremely unfortunate for journeys and re-Danger lurks in gloomy places.

While this configuration continues old buildings and deserted streets should be avoided. The aspect is conducive to colds and to other disorders. Old persons And the burden laid upon me are especially sensitive to the conditions which produce disease. The death of a noted statesman who has passed the three score and ten mark is prognosticated. Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of great anxiety. They may suffer business losses and they are warned against speculation. Children born on this day will be generous, to excess and inclined to spend money recklessly. They should quick-witted and active. Many scientists are born under this sign of

For Smooth Hands. The condition of the hands are not only an indicator of one's age, but they form a distinguishing mark of a woman's station in life. Rough and coarse hands are no disgrace when resulting from honest labor. Working people, however, might often possess smoother hands if they paid more attention to their care. The hands often lose their beauty and youthful appearance through improper care. All sorts of soap-many of them containing an improper proportion of soda-are often the cause of roughened, dry and shriveled skin. A mild soap, containing vegetable ingredients, should be used, the hands washed in warm water and rinsed with cold water. A good preparation to use occasionally for the hands is one part lemon juice to two parts glycerine and a small quantity of borax. This serves as a bleach and makes the skin smooth.

As the clock was strinking the hour, And the moon rose over the city Behind the dark church tower: And like the water rushing Among the wooden piers,

A flood of thoughts came o'er me That filled my eyes with tears.

How often, oh! how often, In the days that have gone by, I have stood on that bridge at mid-And gazed on the wave and sky

How often, oh! how often,
I have wished that the ebbling tide Would bear me away on its bosom O'er the ocean wild and wide. For my heart was hot and restless, And my life was full of care, Seemed greater than I could bear.

But now it has fallen from me, It is buried in the sea, And only the sorrow of others Throws its shadows over me.

Yet whenever I cross the river On the bridge with wooden piers, Like the odor of brine from the ocean Comes the thoughts of other years.

Yet forever and forever,
As long as the river flows, As long as the heart has passions, As long as life has woes, The moon and its broken reflection, And its shadows shall appear As the symbol of love in heaven, And its wavering image here.

MOVEMENT FOR HELPING SERVANT GIRLS' CAUSE

New York Women Champion Side of Domestics in New Movement.

A movement has been started in New ried. York to consider the servant girl question as it affects the girl. A prominent woman who is championing the cause of the girl says:

"People are all the time wailing about the servant problem, but they never try to solve the question. Nothing has ever been done for the domestic servant. Workers in all other lines have been nelped in various ways; the shop girls, the factory workers have amusements provided for them, different kinds of welfare work have been organized for them, but there is never anything for the domestic servant. Should Help, Instead of Degrade. "Instead of helping the servants we degrade them. We think we would like better class servants, but as a matter of fact we wouldn't have intelligent servants if we could. There is no other class of worker whose general condition has such an important bearing upon family life and there are no other workers so little known. We never think of doing anything for their amusement or seeing that they have any diversion. The organization of employers will give more of doing anything for their amusement or thought to the relationship of servant and employer, see that their employes have a proper form of diversion and time. have a proper form of diversion and time taste, dash of pepper and 1 teaspoon for it, and give them more personal of minced parsley. high collars. But there have not been and set aside for 3 or 4 hours. Dip in many high collars. Occasionally one is egg. Roll in fine crumbs and fry in seen-like the high stock of the Directory, the Incroyable collar. But most of them are low. The Japanese collar is a favorite with many of the designers. It is modified in many ways, of course, but it is the collar which preserves the V-shaped line in front and which is high at the backthe collar that most women prefer to one tablespoonful of butter till light. Add wear. Paquin's latest idea is the neck line which shows a deep decolletage in the back and which is moderately high in front, says a Paris letter in the New York Times. This neck outline, on a frock that is longer in front than in the back, and one with a tunic that is straight in the back and full in front, as some of the new ones are, makes one quite sure that the wearer is walking backward.

Besides the Japanese collar and the Incroyable there is the Marie Stuart-the wired, flaring lace collar-the Normandy easant collar, and the Gladstone, tha widens out in stiff points on each side of the chin. The new organdie collar is ineresting. Its sheerness and daintiness make it attractive. But one is sometime surprised to see really substantial collars of organdie on chiffon or net blouses of sheerest sort. Not quite a collar is the Capucine hood, which is shown on some of the new suits. It is made of lace on some of the new blouses, too, and on an evening gown of silver brocade there was a long hood of real lace.

A Glimpse Into a Girl's Heart; Does It Mean Modern Feminism?

Never before in the history of woman's emotions would it have been possible or a girl to make the frank confession contained in the letter which follows: Dear Miss Lee: I am 18, and I never had a boy friend in my life.

Often when I see other girls younger than I am going to high school dances, my eyes fill with tears. I am a good girl, and I have many girl friends, but I do not think that any boy ever took the trouble to think whether he liked me or not. This is very hard to write, but it is true. I am poor. I cannot dress as the other girls do. But I am as pretty as some of them, and I get my lessons better than most of them. I could never have fine clothes to go to dances. Maybe that is why I am never asked. And now I am going to tell you the truth. I know of other girls who feel

I want to be cared for by someone who will think more of me than of anyody else in the world.

I want to be an inspiration to someone.

I want to give an unselfish love for an unselfish love. But all I can ever hope for is the knowledge that I am doing what is right, I do not think that any man will ever bestow his love upon me. There are lots of girls who feel this way. We are called "slow." I could meet many boys and have what is called a good time by flirting and speaking first. Then I wouldn't be "slow." And you don't know how hard it is to keep close to the margin of goodness, when it would be so easy to step over, as some girls do, and have all kinds of popularity.

Can't you give a word of comfort to us girls who are called "slow?"-X. X. X. Such a frank confession of an emotion which is natural to every normal girl, an emotion which she has been taught to conceal and fib about for centuries, is among the first products of modern feminism. It is highly probable that as woman analyzes this need she will cease to over-estimate it as the only way to happiness. What X. X. needs just now is a world with a wider horizon, and this she can discover for herself. With her ability to see the truth, as well as her courage to speak it, she will

The Question of Stair Carpets. Dear Miss Grey: Are stair carpets still used, and is it permissible to run the same carpet down the hall to the better? The stairs are not hard wood and do not look very well bare.

A READER. A .- It is customary to use carpeting on stairs, even when the wood is new and well finished, for many persons prefer the quiet that this affords; some housekeepers like the stairs uncovered, as they think it is easier to keep them clean, but it is all a question of personal preference. CAMBRIDGE WINS ANNUAL BOAT RACE

Leads Oxford University Crew All the Way, and Ends Up Four and a-Half Lengths in the Lead.

[Canadian Press.]

London, March 28.—The Cambridge University crew today won from Oxford with great ease the annual eight-oared boat race from Putney to Mortlake on the Thames. The distance of 4¼ miles was rowed in the quick time of 20 minutes 23 seconds, and Cambridge crossed the winning line 4½ lengths in the lead.

The Cambridge crew had been the favorite during the training, and justified the predictions that it would win by making the race a procession from the firing of the starting pistol till the end of the race. The crews were:

Oxford—R. W. Fletcher, Balliol, bow; 2, B. Burdekin, New College; 3. H. K. Wardek, New College; 4, E. D. Horsfall, Magdallen; 5, J. B. Cinderslee, Exeter; 6, A. F. R. Wiggins, New College; 7. C. W. Titherington, Queen's; F. A. H. Pitman, New College, stroke; H. B. Wells, Magdallen, cox.

Cambridge—D. I. Day, Lady Margaret, bow; 2, S. E. Swann, Trinity Hall; 3, P. C. Livingstone, Jesus; 4, J. A. Ritzon, First Trinity; 6, C. S. Clark, Pembroke; 7, C. E. V. Buxton, Third Trinity; G. E. Ridley, Jesus, cox.

Ridley, Jesus, cox.

The course was crowded from Putney to Mortlake with throngs of spectators, and all the bridges were occupied early in the day by sight-seers.

Cambridge Sheltered. Cambridge Sheltered.
Cambridge won the toss for position and chose the Surrey side of the river, thus obtaining the slight advantage of being sheltered from the light wind that was blowing. The oars of the Oxford crew were the first to grip the water, but the nose of the Dark Blue shell had scarcely appeared in front of its rival when the longer stroke of the Light Blues gave them the lead, and after this there was no doubt as to the result of the race unless an accident occurred.

Lead at Half-Way.

When the crews shot through Hammersmith bridge, about the half distance, Cambridge had a clear lead of two lengths, and this was maintained until the boats approached Barnes bridge, where the leaders spurted and went through the bridge three lengths in advance of Oxford.

A gallant effort was then made by the Dark Blues, and the gap between the boats was momentarily lessened. G. E. Tower, the stroke for Cambridge, however, made the final call on his men, and passed the winning line easy victors by

An outstanding feature of the RUSSELL-KNIGHT Test was the tremendous reserve power displayed.

Though rated at but 28-horsepower, the RUSSELL-KNIGHT motor developed over 63-horsepower-233 per cent of its normal rating.

And even then, the maximum had not been reached.

At 2,000 revolutions per minute the motor proved itself easily capable of 500 revolutions per minute greater speedwith a corresponding increase in the output of power.

You never can tell when you may need the last ounce of power in your car. And in such emergencies, it's good to KNOW that the RUSSELL-KNIGHT will answer your utmost demand.

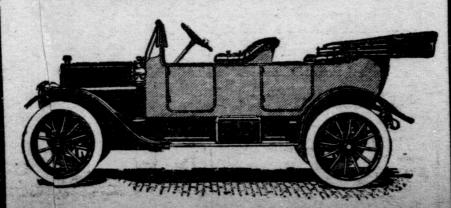

It will conquer any road on which the wheels can gain traction—because it has the POWER to meet CANADIAN conditions.

STRATHROY MAN'S DEATH WAS PURELY ACCIDENTAL

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Sarnia, March 27.-The jury which under Coroner Dr. A. N. Hayes tonight investigated the death of Richard Sherman, of Strathroy, brought in a verdict that he died as the result of an accidental fall which caused a fracture of the skull and concussion of the brain. No blame was attached to anyone. The principal witness was Mr. H. Merle. It was upon his veranda that

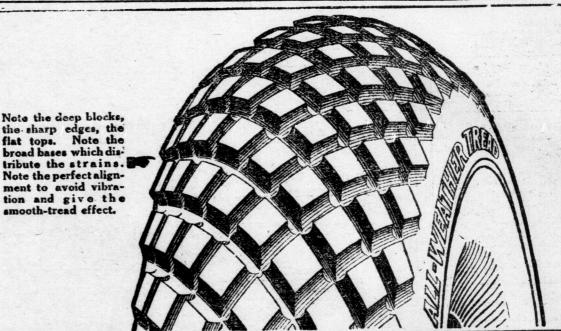

Sherman wandered while in an intoxicated condition and stepped off onto the frozen ground and sustained the injuries which resulted in his death. Mr. Merle did not see Sherman go onto the veranda but saw him later on the lawn and called the police. Other witnesses were Inspector Crosbie, Chief Forbes, Drs. Bell and Logie, who conducted the post mortem, and P. C. Jones, who arrested Sherman. The jury was composed of J. Knowles, foreman, C. L. Yates, J. Moore, Wm. Lumby, W. J. Scott, Chas. Cook, L. V. Peters, John Brunet and James Lucas,

NEEDS A GREAT DEAL OF "MENTAL REPOSE"

Mme. Caillaux Tells Nun in Attendance-Stormy Session of Investigators.

[Canadian Press.]

Paris, March 28 .- A storm; session of the committee of the Chamber of investigating the alleged ministerial connection with the post-ponement of the trial of Henri Rochette, the Frenchman charged with defrauding the public of millions of dollars, ended today in Deputy Jule Delahaye, a member, leaving the room and slamming the door indignantly. The committeemen were sharply divided their views as to whether Ernest Monis, former premier, and Joseph Caillaux, former minister of finance, should be censured.

It is believed that Delahaye will resign from the committee. A cabinet council was held today

Londoners in Accord With Posties' Plea For Half-day Off.

Londoners are heartily in accord with the petition now being presented to the Postmaster-General by the letter-carriers, asking for a half-day off each week during June, July and August. For some the local postment have been circulating petitions among the business houses and residences that they serve, to ascertain the views of the citizens generally on the half-day holiday. The petition has been readily signed, and it is declared that not a single kick has been registered against the proposal to have only one mail distribution on Wednesdays during the summer months.

Gum Patent Case

A case which attracted much interest 'ocally last fall is that in which the William Wrigley Company, Limited, chewing gum manufacturers, seek damages and a permanent injunction against Percy H. Short, Henry E. Short and Mrs. Hueghan of this city, claiming that they are manufacturing gum, and offering it for sale in boxes and wrappers so similar to those employed by the plaintiff as to constitute an infringement of patent. The defendants enter separate defences in the action, Henry E. Short and Mrs. Hueghan claiming that they know nothing of the allegations in the plaintiff's statement of claim and are in no way connected with the manufacture or sale of the complained of. # BAD ROADS AFFECT OFFERINGS ON MARKET

Oats Bring High Price-Hogs Slightly Dearer-Other Prices Steady.

The market on Saturday was rather inictive and small. Bad roads kept hay and straw and other heavy produce away. Only two loads of oats were weighed, and they sold for $1 24 and $1 25 per cwt. No wheat was offered.

Dressed hogs were slightly higher, at $12 50 and $13. Other meats femain unchanged in price.

per dozen retail. Wholesalers did very little buying.

Butter sells at quoted prices.

Apples were plentiful, but sold at high prices. Good quality fruit brought $3 25 per barrel and $1 per bushel.

A small supply of maple syrup was in great demand and sold for $1 50 per gallon. Only a few gallons were offered for sale, and were all sold in the early morning.

Live chickens were in good demand for quoted prices. Very few dressed fowl Potatoes and small vegetables are un-changed in price. Large quantities of lettuce were sold at 40c per dozen.

His Twin Brother Told Him The Cure

Why J. C. Mapp Praises Dodd's Kidney Pills.

He Suffered from Kidney Disease, Lumbago and Rheumatism for Five Years-Now He is a Well Man Again.

Boileau P.O., Ponsonby, Que., March 27 (Special).-J. C. Mapp. a well-known farmer living near here, who suffered from Kidney Disease for five years, is once more a well man, and in a statement given to the press he gives all the credit for his cure to Dodd's Kidney Pills. "My trouble started with a cold about five years ago," Mr. Mapp states, "and was depressed and low spirited and developed into lumb go and rheumatism. I had a bitter taste in my mouth in the mornings and I was terribly nervous. found it difficult to collect my thoughts, while at times I was troubled with stiffness in the joints. My appetite was fitful, and I had heart flutterings that added to my fears. My twin brother, who had used Dodd's Kidney Pills and got great benefit from them, advised me to use them. The first two boxes did me so much good that I got two more, and they completed my cure. Dodd's Kidney Pills are the right remedy for trouble.'

Every person who has two or more of Mr. Mapp's symptoms has sick Kldneys. The right remedy for sick Kidneys is Dodd's Kidney Pills. If you don't know it out of your own experience, ask your

AN EARLY FLECTION

Part of Hanna's Plan to Keep Beck From Premiership.

TO USE WHITNEY'S NAME

Fight for Sir James' Mantle Is Then to Follow.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, March 27 .- It is stated here that the hydro-electric deputation which invaded Ottawa Thursday made a Provincial election in Ontario in June a certainty. There has been a strong inclination on the part of some members of the Ontario Government to appeal to the people this spring. Still there has been considerable uncertainty and wavering. The deputation is said to have changed an inclination into a de-Personal Ambition Involved.

Subtle policies and personal ambition are involved. That Sir James Whitney will retire from the premiership in the near future is conceded. It is also conceded that many people believe Hon. Adam Beck should succeed and it is admitted that Hon. W. J. Hanna is fighting for the succession. The deputation, which came to Ottawa in support of Hon Mr Beck's project, revealed the strength of the hydro-electric minister to a degree which astonished the Federal authorities and some of Mr. Beck's Provincial associates.

MR. AND MRS. D. GRAHAM

Glencoe, March 27 .- Less than six days after the death of his wife, Donld Graham, one of the last of the early pioneers of the district, died at his residence, "Argyle Cottage," Glencoe, on Thursday. He was born in Argyleshire, Scotland, in September, 1826, and came to Canada with his parents in 1831, landing at Tryconnell. Three years later the family moved to lot 23, in the 3rd concession of Ekfrid. Mrs. Graham, formerly Miss Elizabeth Dobie, was born at Fredericton New Brunswick, on Christmas Day, 1830, and came with her parents and ten brothers and sisters to Ekfrid Township in 1833, the family settling on what is now the George Allan farm on the River Thames.

Mr. and Mrs. Graham were united in marriage on March 9th, 1852, and took up their residence on the Christopher Dobie farm on the River Thames in Ekfrid, where they continued to live until about 34 years ago, when they moved and resided for four years on the old farm north of Glencoe. Mr. and Mrs. Graham and family next Wednesday at noon to talk over then moved to Iowa, where they spent some twelve years. Twenty-two years ago they returned to Glencoe and built

"Tell me what to do," she cried, sitting down again, her eyes suddenly filling with tears.

"I don't know, ma'am. You see, if we had a grain of proof to work on, we might be able to turn 'em back, but there's the rub. We can't say they're wrong without having something up our sleeves to show that we are right. See what I mean?"

She started. "A God's blessing," she imused dully over the telephone.

While waiting for him to appear, Sara Wrandall deliberately set herself to the task of concocting a likely and plausible excuse for intervention in behalf of the wretched show-girl. She prepared herself for his argument that the police might be right after all, and that it would be the better part of wisdom to shift might be right after all, and that it would be the better part of wisdom to shift the burden to their shoulders. She knew she would be called upon to discount some very sensible advice from the falthful old lawyer. Her reasons would have to be good ones, not mere whims. He was not likely to be moved by sentimentality. Moreover, he had once expressed foubt as to the girl's innocence.

she repeated her convictions that the girl was innocent and should be protected against herself as well as against the police. There was something very disquieting in the way he acquiesced. She began to experience a vague, uneasy sense of wonder and apprehension.

"I am beginning to agree with that amiable scoundrel Smith," he said, fixing his inscrutable gaze on the snapping coals in the fireplace. "A cleverer woman than this Miss—er—What's-Her-Name managed that affair at Burton's Inn."

She watched his face closely. Somehow she felt that he was about to mention the yame of the woman he suspected, and it seemed to her that her heart stood still during the moment of suspense.

"Why not be fair with me, Sara?" he asked calmly. She stared at him, transfixed. "Who killed Challis Wrandall?" She opened her lips to protest against this startling question, but something rushed up from within to completely change the whole course of her conduct; something she could not explain but which support ways very very starting of strength and swept away every vestige of strength and left her weak and trembling, open-mouthed and pallid, with the liberated truth surging up from its prison to give itself into the keeping of this staunch, loyal and friend and grant and staunch, loyal old friend and counsellor.

"I guess your husband made her what she was," sald Smith deliberately. "I don't suppose you ever dreamed what was going on."

She regarded him with a fixed stare. "She regarded him with a fixed stare. "You are mistaken, Mr. Smith," she said, and it was his turn to stare. "Come back this evening at six. I must consult Mr. Carroll. We will decide what action to take."

"I'd advise you to be quick about it, Mrs. Wrandall. Something is bound to happen soon. The time is ripe. I know for a positive fact that they're expecting news from out there every day. It'd be a thing now is to protect that unhappy girl out west against the inquisition."

She started. "A God's blessing," she mused dully.

"Presty hard lines, though," he mused, fumbling with his hat near the door.

"Even death wouldn't clear her of the suspicion. Pretty tough to be branded a murderess, no matter whether you're in the grave or out of it. I'll be back at six."

She stood perfectly still, and although her lips were parted, she allowed him to go without a word in response to his sombre declaration.

Half an hour later Mr. Carroll was on his way to her apartment, vastly perturbed by the call that had come to him over the telephone.

It was all very cleverly thought out, and Smith went away without being much wiser than when he came. Before de-parting he offered this rather sinister conclusion for Sara's benefit:
"Of course, Mrs. Wrandall, you under-stand that the police will wonder why you take such an interest in this girl.

They're bound to think, and so will every-one else, that you know a good deal more about the case than you've given out. See what I mean?

"They are at liberty to think what they like, Mr. Smith," said she.
After Smith had gone, the three discussed 'the advisability of acquainting Hetty with the deplorable conditions that had arisen.

"I don't believe it would be wise to tell her," said Booth reflectively. "She'd be sure to sacrifice herself rather than let harm come to this girl. We couldn't stop her. "No, she must not be told," said Sara

INVESTIGATION UNDER WAY

Confessions of Hamilton Chinamen Starts Search for the Vendors.

Is London being made the nucleus or an underground opium "railway? For some time past police magis-trates in nearby cities have been called apon to pass judgment on Chinamen for having a quantity of the dream weed in their possession. In many instances, when closely interrogated, the Celestials have admitted that the "hop" had been obtained in London.

The most substantial case and the most recent one to bear out the theory was that in which two Hamilton Chinks were connected and hauled into court there on Thursday. The culprits were Jim Kim and George Chan, residing at 82 York street, that city. Sergeant Cruickshanks, who made the arrest, testified that the "dope" was found on their premises. A sharp, cross-fire of questions by Magistrate Jelfs led to the admission that it was parcel which a Lee Sing, of London, had left with them. Their statements were substantiated by a number of letters found in the parcel addressed to the man here. The case was adjourned, and it is undertood that a rigid investigation into the truth of the allegations will be conducted both in the Ambitious City and in London.

Several months ago there was a rumor afloat that local Chinamen were engaged in the smuggling of opium from city to city, using London as a distributing center, and a searching investigation was conducted at the time. Several arrests were made, but no definite proof could be secured against the supposed offenders that could be used to make convictions on the charge.

is understood that the local authorities will sift out the matter immediately.

Last Year's Result Likely To Be Repeated-Protest by Mr. Rowell.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, March 27.—After a strenuous week the Legislature spent Friday afternoon looking after private members' legislation and clearing the order paper of an accumulation of questions and motions. Mr. Rowell raised the subject of the reduction in grants to rural schools, which had been challenged by the Provincial Treasurer during the budget debate. The Opposition leader showed by departmental circulars and notices that the grants last year had been cut down 28 per cent. and the same thing would apply this year if the schools earned that much in excess of the legislative vote. He emphasized the point that while the Government was spending large sums of money in other ways it was cutting down the grants for educational purposes, which was bound to have a deleterious effect on the efficiency of the schools.

Who Violated the Law? An interesting passage occurred between Mr. Hanna, Mr. Fowell and Mr. Ferguson (Kent) when a question was reached asking for the names of the members of the Legislative Assembly other than G. Howard Ferguson who had violated the law by accepting employment from the Dominon Government. The Provincial Secretary took exception to the form of the question. The question as it read contained an unnecessary allegation. The question could be answered without the introduction of the name of the honorable member for Grenville. He quoted the practice of the British House of Commons, the House of Commons at Ottawa and the rules of the Legislature to show that no question presupposing the standing of an honorable member should be asked. As a matter of fact, the opinion of one of the leading lawyers of Coronto, who had been consulted on the natter, was that in Mr. Ferguson's case he had not violated the provisions of the Legislative Assembly act. He declared that the question had been carefully prepared, but if the questioner would eliminate the name of Mr. Ferguson the Government was quite ready to bring down the answers.

Objected to the Question. Because it involved a matter of policy the Provincial Secretary objected to a question by Mr. Bowman-"Does the Government intend to introduce any antitreating legislation this session? The Speaker explained that this objection had come late, and in default of net he had allowed it to go on the order Mr. Hanna admitted this omission, but contended that failure on the part of the cabinet to take objection before the question went on the order paper did not

A Warning from Mr. Redmond.

Though not entitled, as he said, to not say, although we have since explored speak for Ulster, the leader of the Opposition nevertheless lost no time in indicating that if the Government adhered to their plan of limiting the period of exclusion, Ulster would be unable to accept it. What ministers were proposing was that Ulster should destroy her organization, abandon her fortress, and come out into the open, and that advantage should then be taken of her weakness to compel her to a course which she was at present strong enough to resist. Moreover, the offer, such as it was, struck Mr. Law as unwilling, grudging, and too late. "You have made an offer," he further informed Mr. Asquith, "which you know cannot be accepted, and which can only have the object of improving your tactical position"-a reproach, by the way, not quite consistent with an earlier tribute from the same critic to the Prime Minister's good faith in the matter. Finally came the familiar demand for an immediate election or home rule referendum, not ir Ireland or Ulster alone, but in the United Kingdom. One should note that while Asquith, with a half-interrogative glance Mr. Law was developing this unpromisat the Opposition, "that the term should ing line of argument many of his supbe six years from the first meeting of the porters, almost with ostentation, refrained Irish Legislature." The naturalist has had a personal acquaintance with a good many grizzlies, and has followed others in attempts to snapshot them, so his qualifications as an authority in this instance are of a high order. Here are

A Cautious Grizzly. One day in North Park, Colorado, I came on the carcass of a cow that woives had recently killed. Knowing that bears were about, I climbed into the substantial top of a stocky pine near by, hoping that a bear would come to feast. A grizzly came at sundown.

The carcass lay in a grassy opening surrounded by willow clumps, grassy spaces, and a sprinkling of low-growing, hundred feet from the carcass the bear stopped. Standing erect, with his forepaws hanging loosely, he looked, listened, and carefully examined the air with his that he had not and probably would not scent me in the tree-top perch.

Standing fully erect, tense at every point, he waited a moment in ferocious attitude, ready to charge anything that might start from the willows; but nothing started. After a brief pause he charged, roaring, through another willow It was a satisfaction to know that the tree-limb on which I sat was substantial. That a grizzly bear cannot climb a tree is a fact in natural which gave me immense satisfaction. Every willow clump near the carcass was charged, with a roar.

Not finding an enemy, he at last went to the carcass. After feasting for a few

After eating contentedly for half an hour he moved round the carcass, raking and scraping grass and trash on it. Then, pausing for a minute or two in apparently peaceful contemplation, he doubled back America, who writes about grizzlies in on the trail over which he had come and Bruin la Alert.

Alertness-brain power-is a characteristic of the grizzly bear. He is eternally vigilant. He has the genius for taking pains. He is watchful even in seclusion; and when travelling his amazingly develoned senses appear never to rest, but are constantly on scout and sentinel dutyexcept on rare occasions when he is tem porarily hypnotized by curiosity. I believe his intelligence to be greater than that of the dog, the horse, or the elephant. Apparently he assumes that some one is ever stealthily in pursuit.

In repeatedly following the grizzly with photographic intentions I was almost invariably outwitted. On one occasion I followed one almost constantly for eight days and nights; and, though many times I almost had him, yet I never succeeded. Now and then he climbed a rocky crag to look around; or he doubled back a short round-topped pines. When about one distance on his tail to some point of vantage. Here he rose on his hind legs, sniffed the air, looked, and fistened. At other times he turned at right angles to his general course, went a short distance nose. As the air was not stirring I felt to a point favorable for seeing, hearing. or smelling his possible pursuer, and there remained for a few minutes. If all was well he commonly returned to his fire-killed timbed. In the midst of this Usually he travelled in the face of the wind; commonly he promptly changed his course if the wind changed. In crossing a grassy opening in the woods he sometimes went boldly across; but on the My scent by the carcass probably had farther side, concealed by the trees, he waited to see whether a pursuer appeared grizzly is ever on guard and in places of across the opening. Instead of doing this, he stopped at a point about midway down for a long stay. Then from this the opposite wall.

On the Watch. The last three days of this pursuit he knew that I was following him. Apparently there was no change in his tactics He simply moved a little more rapidly. Though well acquainted with grizzly habits, I was unable to anticipate his next important move, while he defeated every plan I put into operation. For several years an outlaw or cattle-

For some in the Southern Selkirks of Canada lives minutes he concentrated all his faculties almost exclusively on plants and planton the fisherman; but suddenly, with no apparent reason that I could discern, the bear came to his senses and broke away in a most frightened manner-apparently condemning himself for briefly relapsing into dullness.

Two pet grizzlies that I raised always lowed marked curiosity. An unusual nearby sound or a glimpse of some distant object brought them to tiptoe height, oused their complete attention and held until the mystery was solved.

The grizzly is not ferocious. On the contrary, he uses his wits to keep far away from man. He will not make a wanton attack. He will fight in self-defence; or if surprised, and he thinks himself cornered, he at once becomes the aggressor. If a mother grizzly feels that her cubs are in danger she will face any danger for their defence, but the grizzly loes not fight unless he thinks a fight cannot be avoided.

A Great Fighter.

He is a masterful fighter. He has strength, endurance, powerful jaws, dead- each. y claws, courage and brains. Before the white man and the repeating rifle came he boldly wandered over his domain as absolute master; there was nothing to fearnot an aggressive foe existed. I doubt whether toward man the grizzly was ever erociously aggressive.

That he has changed on account of contact with the white man and the repeating rifle there can be no doubt. Formerly he rightful monarch of the wilds through anability, he roamed freely about, indiferent as to where he went or whether he was seen. He feared no foe and knew no master. The bow and arrow, or the spear, he held in contempt; for the powerful repeating rifle he has a profound realmself to this influential factor of enthus become less inquisitive and aggressive, and more retiring and wary. He has learned to keep out of sight and out of man's way. A grizzly acts so promptly in emergeneies that he has often been misundertood. He fights because he thinks he has to do so, not because of desire.

On one occasion in Wyoming I was run ning down a mountainside, leaping fallen surprised a grizzly by landing within a few feet of him. He leapt to his feet and struck at me with sufficient force to have almost cut me in two had the blow landed. Then he instantly fled. On other occasions I have seen grizzlies surprised; and, though not cornered, they thought they were, and instantly comnenced a fierce and effective fight. Dogs. horses and men were charged in rapid succession and either knocked down or put to flight; yet in these fights he was the criminal class.

A Huge Feeder. Mr. Mills says there used to be some buffalo-killing grizzlies, and there are a few left that kill cattle, but as a rule they do not slay cattle or big game. The natplace he pointed his nose up stream and uralist has seen elk, deer and mountain descended diagonally to the bottom of the sheep feeding near grizzlies without showcanon. roots, together with berries and bark. All grizzlies are fond of fish and in some sections they become successful fishermen. Sometimes they capture fish by wading along a brook and catching with claws or teeth, the fish that concea themselves beneath banks or roots. Commonly the bear makes a stand in driftwood on a bank, or on a log that has fallen into or across a stream. From this stand he knocks fish entirely out of the water with a lightning-like stroke of his paw. The bears that range along the watersheds of the Columbia and Its tributaries feed largely on fish-mostly

I saw a grizzly make a stand in the ripples of an Idaho stream, where he was partly concealed by a willow clump. In about half an hour he knocked five large almon out of the water. With a single troke of his forepaw they were flung on the shore, fifteen or twenty feet away. He made only one miss. These salmo weighed between five and twenty pounds

One autumn, along the timber-line in the Rocky Mountains, wild folk were feeding on the last of the season's berries. Birds were present in such numbers that it appeared like a cosmopolitan bird picnic. There were flocks of grouse and robins, numerous jays and campbirds: and noisiest and liveliest of all were the Clark crows. I watched the scene from the top of a tall spruce.

This annual autumn feast is commo to both bears and birds. In this-region and in the heights above, the bears sometimes fatten themselves before retiring for their long winter's sleep.

This either violated an ancient grizzly custom or else it was something that in the face of danger was too thoughtless to be excused. Anyway the mother knocked the cub headlong with a side swing of her left forepaw. He landed heavily some yards away and tumbled heels over head. The instant he rolled on his feet he sniffed the earth eagerly, as though remarkable discovery had been made; and immediately he started to dig rapidnot the agressor. The hibernating habits of the grizzly are not completely understood. However, this habit probably originated, as did the hibernating habits of other animals, from the scarcity of food. Dear Mr. Stackhouse.

I am, as I have already told you, completely in sympathy with the scientific objects of your Antarctic expedition. The coast line of the Antarctic continent presents problems of extraordinary interest. In fact, there are few investigations which are likely to throw more light on the past history of the earth than those dealing with the faunas and floras which have successively flourished in polar regions in past geological periods.

Of the practicability of your program I am not competent to judge, but I can say with confidence that there is a great field open to you for geological research, which can and ought to be worked. Yours faithfully,

PARALYSIS AND LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA

The most dreaded results of neglected nervous diseases—Study this chart and the symptoms stated here to learn if you are in danger-DR. CHASE'S NERVE FOOD will cure you.

To understand paralysis and locomotor ataxia, which is paralysis of the limbs, and their causes, It is well to remember that every movement of the body or its members is due to the contraction of muscle, which can only take place under the influence of nerve force. As this all-important nerve force is created in the nerve centres of the brain and spinal cord, and conducted along wire-like nerve fibres to the various parts of the body, any derangement of the brain, spinal cord or nerve fibres may result in paralysis or loss of the power of > Paralysis, then, is the natural result of all neglected nervous diseases.

If you find yourself nervous and irritable, oversensitive to light, sound and motion, addicted to continual movement or tapping of the fingers, twitching of the muscles, sudden startings and jerkings of the limbs during sleep; if you have nervous headaches or dyspepsia, are unable to sleep or rest, feel downhearted and discouraged, and unfit to fight the battles of life; if your nerves are weak and exhausted, your blood thin and watery, you have every reason to fear paralysis of at least some part of the body, and consequent suffering and helplessness.

Paralysis can always be prevented, and partial paralysis actually cured, by the timely use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. The time to begin treatment is when any of the above-mentioned symptoms become apparent. These are indications of a degeneration of the nerve cells, and when nerve force becomes exhausted, paralysis is bound

When the parental party went ahead in the tonneau and left the objects of their planning to follow in the run-about, this piece of characteristic strategy had revealed prophetically a line of torments yet to come. In prospect was a three month's tour, tied to a string of European hotels, under the chaperonage of three old conspirators. She was about to make some irrelevant answer when the whir of a motor rising in cadence at double railroad speed attracted their attention. At the top of the hill which the runabout was ascending they recognized sight not unfamiliar in the year 1912. From the Bolt she looked back at Appleton, who was about to take up the conversation where he had left it. It occurred to her that he was positively inane. ### The Real Cause of Most Bad Complexions

(From Family Physician) It is a stern fact that no truly beautibottles, and the longer one uses cosmetics the worse the complexion becomes. Skin to be healthy, must breathe. It also musexpel through the pores, its share of the body's effete material. Creams and pow ders clog the pores, interfering both with elimination and breathing. If more women understood this, there would be fewer self-ruined complexions. If they would use ordinary mercolized wax instead of cosmetics, they would have natural, healthy complexions. This remarkable substance actually absorbs a bad skin, also unclogging the pores. Restit: The fresher, younger under-skin is permitted to breathe and to show itself. An exquisite new complexion gradually peers out ite new complexion gradually neens out one free from any appearance of artificiality. Get an ounce of mercolized wax a your druggist's and try it. ### How Nervous Men Get Most Out of Life.

(From "Successful Men.") Every normal minded man wishes to get all he can out of life.—but many a man knows that he is falling far short. The successful man works, eats and plays with the keenest enjoyment, because his nerves are keenly sensitive. He tastes, hears, sees and feels all with the highest emotions of vigorous" healthy nerves. As a consequence he has stamina, endurance and personal magnetism, which makes those near and gear to him, worship his manliness, chivalry and strenuousness.

Without keen, sensitive, well nourished nerves, such a man would be an object of pity, and not the brilliant success he is. All men should have well-nourished nerves, but if the blood and vital organs do not supply the chemical or substance known as nerve fluid, then the waste of the nerves is not renewed daily and hourly as it should be: nerves become exhausted, giving rise to such symptoms as trembling hands and limbs, cold feet hands, melancholia, hysteria, timidity, nervousness. ness, dizziness, heart palpitation, pains in the back, headache, lan-gour and weariness at all times. A most valuable nerve treatment, restorative in every sense, is to be found in the following prescription, emanating, it is from a brilliant and successful speon nervous ailments.

The treatment can be prepared cause no one any embarrassment. First get three ounces of syrup of sarsaparilla compound in a six ounce bottle. It is astonishing to feel the new nerve force, the steaded nerves, and the control of every muscla in the body after using this. Over-worked office men, and the many victims of society's late hours and dissipation will surely find in this the restorative, rejuvenating force they are sorely in need of. The ingredients are used in various prescriptions and any good drug-gist can supply them.—Advt.

ALARMS WASHINGTON SCREAVED WITH PAIN

Nearly Died With Kidney Trouble Until "Fruit-a-tives" Gave Welcome Relief and Completely Cured

St. Thomas, Ont., April 1st, 1913. "In 1911, I was laid up with Kidney Trouble and not able to get out of my chair. The pain was excruciating and my screams could be heard in the street. I tried many different remedies without any results and I was steadily growing weaker. One day, a friend from Ottawa came in to see me and when he found me in such poor health, said he would send me a sample of 'Fruit-a-tives,' which he did, and I commenced taking them. They did me good from the start and in a very short time I was up and around. 'Fruit-atives' completely cured me and I have enjoyed the best of health ever since. "I would not have any other remedy for Kidney Trouble and would strongly advise anyone suffering from this trouble to cure themselves with 'Fruit-a-tives.' ' CHARLES CALVEART.

It is simply wonderful, the relief that "Fruit-a-tives" gives in Kidney and Bladder Troubles. In the great majority of cases of "acid urine," pain in the back, "kidney cramps" and Rheumatism, the kidneys are not actually diseased. They are merely overworked. That is, they are doing more than their share of the work of ridding the system of waste matter. In most cases of Kidney and Bladder Trouble, there is also Constipation and faulty Skin Action. "Fruit-a-tives" relieves the Kidney Trouble by correcting the action of the Bowels and Skin. This marvellous fruit medicine acts directly on the liver, kidneys and skin, and is the only medicine in the world that does act on all three of these great eliminating organs, "Fruit-a-tives" will always cure Kidney Trouble when caused by poor skin action, constipation and acid indigestion. 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c, at all dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

It is a galling reflection for the more gloomy spirits who dedicate their Saturday afternoons to squad drill or more ambitious exercise, and it may add a touch of bitterness to know that at a time when the "two races" argument is being pressed to breaking point the sporting passion of the common people should supply a not insignificant instance of the strength of the national sentiment. Next Saturday both teams will be drawn from the whole of Ireland, and the native Ulstermen, who in all matters except political discussions will have you know that he is just as good an Irishman as they raise in Leinster or Munster or Connaught, is exulting in the hope of cheering a united Ireland to victory. It is frankly admitted, however, that the native Ulsterman, who in all matters except football matches do make a difference, and Saturday afternoon is not the best time to see the volunteers at work. was warned of this before I went out to Fort William House yesterday to see one of the battalions of the North Belfast Regiment, and the warning was essary. Belfast has four regiments, and the official strength of the North Regiment was given to me by one of the commanding officers as eight thousand. The regiment has six battalions, which gives an average strength of more than 1.300. Yesterday I counted about 150 men on parade. The weather was showery, and that may have had some effect on the attendance at an outdoor exercise. I was told that on an ordinary week night and dummy figures. "Films in which toy animals, tiny jointed dolls, or animated cartoons are shown furnish the best examples of the firstclass of trick-work mentioned, for in these views 'stop' pictures are used almost exclusively. Tools are made to perform their functions apparently without human aid, and the toy animals go through a of whatever tool or animal is used being changed a fraction of an inch while the shutter of the camera is closed, so that in the succeeding picture it is clearly observed to have moved. Combining a whole series of such views one obtains action of a most surprising sort.

"A film called 'The Magic Coffee-pot, popular some years ago, is an excellent example of the method used. Cords or strings of infinite fineness were attached to the coffee-pot, and rne man shown in the illustration with elaborate carefulness moved the pot a fraction of an inch at a time, a picture being taken between each minute movement of the strings. In the finished picture the magic coffee-pot appeared to raise itself slowly from an upright position on the table and tip itself over the coffee-cup, when a stream of coffee ran from its mouth into the cup. Once the cup was filled the pot slowly righted itself and sank back into its original position. Lumps of sugar then chased themselves across the table, climbed up the side of the coffee-cup and tumbled in. The sugar was operated in a similar manner and each minute movement was filmed, one picture at a time.

Dummies Substituted. "The method by which dummies are substituted for real players in some hairraising scenes is practically the same. The players carry out the action called for by the scenario until the climax is reached, when the director calls 'Hold it!' and all the players stand rigidly in position without moving a muscle. Then a dummy onstructed to resemble exactly some leading player, is substituted for the livng man, and when the camera is again started the audience is fooled into thinking that it is still looking at the living player. The dummy is then thrown over the cliff, drops from a lofty height, or is in over by an automobile, and the instant the apparently impossible feat is accomplished the director again calls 'Hold it!' nd the real player again takes his place in the picture, arranging his body to corespond exactly with the position of the dummy. The camera is then started again and the action proceeds as usual, though probably three out of every four persons n the audience are astonished at the death-defying deeds of the photo-player. "It must not be imagined that players never take their lives in their hands, or never perform the feats they are supposed to accomplish in the pictures, for ilmost every day one reads of some player being really hurt while attempting some unusually hazardous piece of 'business.' But as a rule, when one sees an apparently impossible action on the screen it is pretty safe to assume that you have been fooled by a dummy, for so cleverly are these dummies constructed, and so quick is the substitution, that even the man who looks at pictures several hours each day is often deceived into thinking that a real player has risked his life to make a Statistics gathered in one county of New York State showed that for the money invested poultry was more prfitable even than the dairy cow.

The farmer has a great advantage over the town poultryman in having abundant range for his stock where it should able to get plenty of green feed and insects. Many farmers do not get as much advantage as they should from their condiffions on account of a fear that the fowls will injure the growing crop.

Unless portable houses are used so that the fowls can be moved to suit the crops and conditions, it will be advisible generally to have a yard in which the flock may be confined when necessary. If portabel houses are used, yards will be necessary. Fowls ranging on grain crop just coming up will kill out a great deal of it, while if kept off for a month or two till the young plants get a good start. they will not injure the crop if precautions are taken to prevent large numbers Two hundred hens to the acre may be

FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

August 15, 1913.

Mr. Willis J. Abbet, New York: My Dear Mr. Abbot-I have just had an opportunity to examine your book, "Panama and the Canal." It is an admirable volume-the story is most interesting, the illustrations are profuse and illuminating and the workmanship is excellent. The book is worthy of your reputation and of the gigantic engineering enterprise which has put Panama on the World-Map.

Thanking you for the pleasure and instruction which the book has given me. I am, very truly yours, W. J. BRYAN.

FROM THE MAJORITY LEADER IN THE SENATE.

August 18, 1913. My Dear Mr. Abbot-Your new book, "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose," is a "thing of beauty and joy forever." The mechanical execution is unsurpassed, and you have made a great contribution to Panama literature. It should be in the hands of everybody, and especially those who are not able to visit the Isthmus in person. After reading your splendid descriptions and looking at the fine illustrations no one can fail to have a complete and accurate knowledge of every subject concerning the Isthmus and the Canal of any possible interest.

> Yours very truly. JOHN W. KERN.

THE VICE-PRESIDENT'S CHAMBER.

Washington, August 21, 1913. Willis J. Abbot: My Dear Friend Abbot-I was delightfully surprised the other evening to receive a copy of your work upon Panama. Typographically it is a thing of beauty; and as for its accuracy. I know you so well, as to believe it all. If it appeals as it should you will have scored a great success. Sincerely yours,

FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY.

Dear Mr. Abbot-From the cursory glance I have just been able to give your book on Panama I feel sure that it contains much of interest, and I shall take a great deal of pleasure in reading it more carefully.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS

FROM A LEADING PROGRESSIVE SENATOR. Dear Abbot-I am fascinated with your book, as I was with the Isthmus itself. This spot, where the nations meet, is of rapidly increasing interest. It will be a pleasure resort as well as a commercial centre. It is fortunate that one so well equipped as yourself has written just at this time the story of this interesting place. You have caught its spirit, its romance and beauty. The wealth of pictures adds greatly to the interest of your vivid descriptions. Very truly yours, August 18, 1913. Dear Mr. Abbot-I am greatly pleased with your "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose." the most interesting and attractive work on Panama I have ever seen. It contains the complete story from Columbus to the present, and I have no doubt it will be readily recognized as the most useful compilation of facts relating to our Canal interests in Panama now published. Its wealth of illustrations as well as its attractive presentation of related facts makes it a very valuable addition to my library. Sincerely yours, CHAS. E. TOWNSEND.

August 19, 1913. Mr. Abbot's work on "Panama and the Canal" is the most interesting and valuable publication relative to the Isthmian Canal that has ever come to my notice. Its careful preparation is especially evidenced by its completeness of detail, involving infinite pains in research. The story is an inspiring one, and the narrative is related in a most pleasing style. Both as a literary and historical production of great value, and as a model of typographical art, its place in any library ought to be assured. WILLIAM J. STONE.

My Dear Mr. Abbot-I am delighted with your book, "Panama and the Canal in Picture and Prose." It is the most valuable publication on Panama yet issued. You have thoroughly popularized the entire matter. I think I have read everything published on the subject of Panama and the Canal, and in my study of the subjects connected with the Canal I have spent many days on the Isthmus of Panama. Your book appears at a most opportune time. I know of no information of real value on the subject which is not contained in your book. You have rendered a great public service. The book is written in a charming manner, and you present the intensely interesting romantic history connected with that part of the world as no one else has yet been able to do. The Ulster Orangeman is defying England out of the excess of his loyality to her—is threatening her to assert his allegiance—and says he will lambaste England to prove his love for her. ULSTERMEN SIGN THIS PLEDGE TO FIGHT AGAINST HOME RULE British Cengue for the Support of Mister and the Mitton.

Yet we Ulstermen, who know the Orangeman as a neighbor and fellowman, smile at the idea of his going out with a loaded gun to maim and kill the English army.

And he smiles with us—behind his hand. —behind his hand.

Before I left my

had our daily joke,
when we met, abouthis bluff being good enough to scare the

Notwithstanding the fright into which England and the newspapers a rethrown, I can assure you with first-hand knowledge that the Ulster Orangeman, in the bulk has no more

Seumas Mac Manu the bulk, has no more that Manili idea of fighting than of fiving to the moon—or over the Atlantic for the fifty thousand dollar prize.

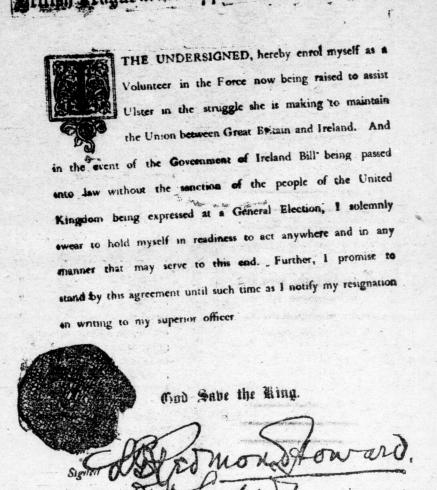

There will be rows, ructions and shindigs in plenty if the home rule bill passes—but they'll be in Belfast and a few of the other larger towns of Ulster where the side streets afford good cover for stoning the police. They'll riot if the bill passes or if it does not pass—if anything happens, or if nothing happens. It would be a bad sign if rows did not happen, betokening that there was something seriously the matter with the health of the usually exuberant Orange workingman community.

But the country Orangeman has too much respect for his Irish neighbors and for himself to treat himself to the indiscriminate hurling at all heads of "kidneys" (two-pound paving stones), iron bolts and such like confetti, which are always handy to the Belfast loyalist. The country Orangeman (and I know him well) is hard-headed, as is becomin one whose ancestors came from Land o' Cakes and Whisky.

The shortness of the English memory is a marvel. They already seem to have forgotten that the Ulster Orangemen threatened was every time that Ireland was on the brink of winning a remedial measure—land act, local government act or church disestablishment act. The Ulster Orangeman, if you would believe the demagogues, is always "getting his gun."

When we were wringing from a tear-ful England the Gladstonian land act of '81—an act that should give the Irishman the right to improve his land without having his rent raised therefor—the ven-erable and noted William Johnston, of Bally Kilby, the Orange leader, told the trembling British Parliament that if naving his rent raised therefor—the venerable and noted William Johnston, of Bally Kilby, the Orange leader, told the trembling British Parliament that if the Irish were to be pandered to in this way he would call the Orangemen to come forth and "line the ditches of Ulster, a gun in their right hand and a Bible in their left"—and, if my memory serves me right, I think their lunch in the other hand—and for "their God and their country" make the mill wheels turn with blood! And when the act was made law they rose out, as promised—with their lunches to a Twelfth of July picnic. In their excitement they forgot the guns and Bibles.

When, in '69, Gladstone was about to disestablish the Anglican Church (which, up to that time, every man of every creed in Ireland had to support regally) the Orangemen threatened that if Victoria signed the bill they would "kick her crown into the Boyne"—to prove again their devoted lovely the "kick her crown into the Boyne"—to prove again their devoted loyalty to England. But when the act became law the only thing in Ulster Orangemen kicked was their heels.

The attitude of the Ulster Orangeman before and after past crises (and what will have been his attitude before and after the present crisis) always reminds me of Jimmy Donlan at the fair of Dunloe. Jimmy had earned for himself the name of being a "mortal great fighter"—without ever going into battle.

At the fair of Dunloe he was gathering fresh glory marching coatless up and down between two lines of terrified men, demanding belligerently:

demanding belligerently:

"Who sthruck Johnny Dowd? I say, Till at length a brawny big mountaineer, who (although he probably never before had heard of Johnnie), desiring to oblige, stepped squarely in front of Jimmy, saying:

"It was me sthruck Johnnie Dowd!
What have ye got to say about it?"
For a moment the warlike Jimmy was staggered—only for a moment, though.
Then he announced:

Then he announced: "I only want to say that it was a mighty nate knock ye gave him!" te knock ye gave him!"
