DOMINION DIRECTORY OFFICE, Montreal, January, 1871.

LOVELL'S DIRECTORIES:

TO BE PUBLISHED THROUGHOUT THE

Edward Island.

THE WANT OF ACCURATE, USEFUL AND INTELLIGIBLE LOCAL DIRECTORIES has been commonly felt in Canada, and only in a less degree by the inhabitants of the neighboring Provinces. Indeed the complaint has become so common, that the publisher of the DOM/NION DIRECTORY has determined to make Devines. Indeed the complaint has become as common that the Publisher of the DOMINION DIRECTORY has determined to make the experiment, and discover for himself what encouragement may be expected for such books as the commercial public have very generally concurred in asking for. Should the experiment turn out satisfactority, it is the Publisher's intention to follow it systematically, and periodically, with new and enlarzy editions of the same works. He begs further to say that whether such Directories be General in their character, like the Dominion Directory or Local, like the Provincial Directories to Manielpal, like the County, very prepared with the greatest care, constructed on the simplest plan, printed and bound according to a uniform pattern. Moreover, they will be issued at a price that will place them within the convenient reach of every person who has occasion to avail himself of such information as a Directory is intended to supply.

As the Publisher of the DOMINION DIRECTORY is thoroughly acquainted with the modes in which information for such uses should be obtained, and as he has a canunitated an immense stock of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of the requisite materials, ane

CARRATRACA MINERAL SPRINGS. PLANTAGENET. ONT.

CARRATRACA!

HE well-known Waters from the Carratraca Springs of Plantagenet, Ontario, stand unrivalled in a sanitary point of view, producing effects which are peculiarly their own, and which are not approached by any of the various known waters, either in Canada or the United States. Being the most pleasing beverage possible to be had at all seasons; as a valuable remedial agent in cases of Rheumatism, Gout, Strumous and Glandular Complaints, Epilepsy, Leprae, and various diseases of the Skin, &c., &c., their merits are acknowledged wherever used. Being the most richly mineralized of all the Canadian or American Mineral Waters, their use is attended with certain success in every case of Acidity, Dyspepsia, Gravel, Diabetes, Diseases of the Liver, &c., and in nearly every description of Disease of the Kidneys they are invaluable. In fact, there is hardly any condition of the body that positive benefit will not result from their use; and there is nothing more certain than that, under no circumstances, can any harm result from their use even by the most delicate.

These waters have been locally known for over HALF A CENTURY, and now being on sale throughout the Dominion, and in many of the principal cities of the United States, the attention of all persons is respectfully called to them, and a trial solicited.

The Works of this Company are completely and fully equipped with Machinery and Tools, for building Railway Locomotives and Cars on the most approved principles, and with facility and despatch.

We have two designs for Broad Gauge Engars, both of which we confidently recommend to Railway Companies, as the best adapted machines for the peculiarities of road and climate of the Railways of the Dominion. They are both substantially the same Engine, but one has outside and the other inside connexions, to suit the various tastes of Mechanical Engineers on this point.

We have also lately designed and prepared Working Drawings and Specifications for a NARROW GAUGE ENGINE (3 ft. 6 in. guage), which has been prepared with a view to cheapness, without sacrificing efficiency.

We also build Locomotives and Cars to any Drawings and Specifications that may be furnished us.

We have already built Locomotives for all the principal Railways in the Dominion, as will be seen from the following list, viz.:

Grand Trunk, Great Western, Nova Scotia, Northern, St. Lawrence and Ottawa, Port Hope and Lindsay, Cobourg and Peterborough.

LOVELL'S SERIES OF DIRECTORIES.

Dominion, Provincial, County, City, and Town Directories.

THE want of accurate, reliable and intelligible Local Directories has been commonly felt and generally expressed by all classes in Canada, and only in a less degree by the inhabitants of the neighboring Provinces. Indeed the complaint has become so common, and the requests to remove it so urgent, that the Publisher of the Dominion Directory has determined to make the experiment, and discover for himself what encouragement may be expected for such books as the commercial public have very generally concurred in asking for. Should the first experiment turn out satisfactorily, it is the Publisher's intention to follow it systematically, and at stated periods, with new and enlarged editions of the same works. He begs further to say that whether such Directories be general in their character, like the Dominion Directory, or local, like the Provincial Directories, or Municipal, like the County, City or Town Directories, they will in either and all cases be prepared with the greatest care, constructed on the simplest plan, printed in a uniform manner and bound according to a uniform pattern,

As the Publisher of the DOMINION DIRECTORY is thoroughly acquainted with the modes in which information for such uses should be obtained, and as he has accumulated an immense stock of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of men, who by constant employment as agents or artizans, have made themselves practically acquainted with every branch of this department of industry, he is able to offer guarantees of his ability to satisfy the commonly expressed want by printing and publishing accurate, reliable and intelligible Directories.

The Publisher has no hesitation in guaranteeing as thorough correctness as it is possible to attain, and respectfully points to the accompanying Directory as as example of the character of the work and of the workmanship he will study to maintain in the projected series. Intimation from merchants and gentlemen in localities where the want of a Directory is recognized, would be accepted as a special favor, and acted upon wherever practicable.

HUBBUCK'S PATENT WHITE ZINC PAINT.

By a process, which is patented, the pure White Zinc Paint is cheaper than White It is the most durable and beautiful paint known, and does not stain or discolor with the London atmosphere.

Those direful maladies, Paralysis and Painters' Colic, which destroy health and entail suffering and misery on posterity, will be entirely avoided. Apartments may now be immediately occupied without danger. It is entirely free from any poisonous or perni-

ADULTERATIONS.—Several Paint Grinders have been selling Zinc Paint adulterated with Sulphate of Barytes, some even to the extent of thirty per cent. No workman can produce good work with such material. Those who have once used Hubbuck's patent Zinc Paint will never willingly use any other Paint for their best work.

To prevent the prejudice which the inferior article must produce, each cask of pure White Zinc Paint is stamped—

"HUBBUCK, LONDON, PATENT."

Inferior Zinc Paint so marked, having been sold in Foreign Markets, the Patentees offer a reward of FIFTY POUNDS for information which shall lead to the conviction in an English or Colonial Court of those who have pirated their mark. It is to be observed that both exporters and dealers are liable for its sale.

THOMAS HUBBUCK & SON,

WHITE LEAD, OIL, AND VARNISH WORK, 24 LIME STREET, LONDON, ENGLAND.

"For public schools, and all rooms occupied by children, there will now be no excuse for using poisonous paints. Parents have remarked that their children, on returning from the country to newly painted houses, have suffered in health. The reason is evident; the breath extracts the poison from White Lead even after the paint is dry, and the lungs draw in the deadly vapour.

"Among other tests to which it has been subjected, has been that of painting the hold of a sugar vessel, which, after a voyage to St. Kitt's and back, was found, after washing, to be as white as the first day the paint was applied."- John Bull, September 14, 1850.

HUBBUCK'S ANTI-CORROSIVE PAINTS,

The most valuable protection to Iron Roofs, Bridges, Piers, Ships and Buildings, exposed to stormy weather and scorching sun; they soon become extremely hard, do not blister, and are very durable. They are made of Stone, Slate, Copper, White, Blue, Green, or any other Color that is desired.

EDWARD GRAY'S

HORSE SHOES.

EDWARD GRAY, PATENTEE AND SOLE MANUFACTURER

Grooved Steel and Steel Faced Bars, To be made into Horse Shoes.

This is a most important invention, and one that has long been wanted, as it will enable Horses to obtain a firm foothold, and prevent them slipping or falling, which is of daily occurrence in London and other large cities and towns. Shoes made from this material will not require sharpening in winter, and will be found of universal advantage on the Road or in the Field: they are two-thirds lighter, will last longer, and look much better than any other shoes.

Another great advantage is, they do not shake and heat the Horses' legs and feet like other shoes, the teeth, acting as a spring, prevent concussion. Horses shod with these Shoes will last years longer than if shod with any other. They can be altered, fitted, and put on by any ordinary farrier.

The Patentee is now ready to supply the Material, or Shoes made of any size or thickness to suit all kinds of horses. All orders sent as below, shall have prompt attention.

Merchants, Ironmongers, and the trade supplied.

Extract from tast work [1869] on Horse Sboes and Horse Sboeing, by GEORGE FLEMING, F.R.G.S., F.A.S.L., Member of Council of the Royal College of Veterinary Surgeons, Veterinary Surgeon Royal Engineers, &cc.

"For very many years inventors have endeavoured to remedy the defects of calkins in various ways. In this century many plans have been adopted, the iron or steel employed being, in a number of instances, rolled by machinery, and generally channelled into grooves or concavities. The most successful of these attempts to fabricate shoes to prevent slipping appears to be that adopted by Mr. EDWARD GRAY, of Sheffield."

Levell's Series of Directories.

Dominion, Frovincial, County, City, and Town Directories.

THE want of accurate, reliable and intelligible Local Directories has been commonly felt and generally expressed by all classes in Canada, and only in a less degree by the inhabitants of the neighboring Provinces. Indeed the complaint has become so common, and the requests to remove it so urgent, that the Publisher of the Dominion Directory has determined to make the experiment, and discover for himself what encouragement may be expected for such books as the commercial public have very generally concurred in asking for. Should the first experiment turn out satisfactorily, it is the Publisher's intention to follow it systematically, and at stated periods, with new and enlarged editions of the same works. He begs further to say that whether such Directories be general in their character, like the Dominion Directory; or local, like the Provincial Directories; or Municipal, like the County, City or Town Directories, they will in either and all cases be prepared with the greatest care, constructed on the simplest plan, printed in a uniform manner and bound according to a uniform pattern.

As the Publisher of the Dominion Directory is thoroughly acquainted with the modes in which information for such uses should be obtained, and as he has accumulated an immense stock of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of men, who by constant employment as agents or artizans, have made themselves practically acquainted with every branch of this department of industry, he is able to offer guarantees of his ability to satisfy the commonly expressed want by printing and publishing accurate, reliable and intelligible Directories.

The Publisher has no hesitation in guaranteeing as thorough correctness as it is possible to attain, and respectfully points to the accompanying Directory as an example of the character of the work and of the workmanship he will study to maintain in the projected series. Intimation from merchants and gentlemen in localities where the want of a Directory is recognised, would be accepted as a special favor, and acted upon wherever practicable.

STOP CYLINDER PRINTING MACHINE FOR FINE WORK.

DESCRIPTION.

This machine is of a new pattern, and designed for the finest kinds of Book, Wood-cur and Color PRINTING. The distribution is either by an inking table or vibrating cylinder as may be desired, and the number of form rollers, from two to ten according to size. The bed is driven by a crank, without bed-springs, and without the slightest jar. The impression cylinder is stationary during the return of the bed, and the fingers close on the sheet before the register points are withdrawn; the cylinder then revolves, and, as it gears directly into the bed, perfect register is obtained. The fingers never require shifting, whatever the size of the form, and no tapes are used. When so ordered, the bed is arranged to be run either once or twice, thus passing the form under the inking rollers either two or four times to each impression as may be required.

PORTABLE SAW MILLS,

That can be taken up and loaded in eight hours, moved any distance, and put in operation again in from one to two days. Practical capacity from six to ten thousand feet per day.

The above Mill is similar to that exhibited by us at the last Provincial Exhibition, in London, Ontario, (see cut on next page,) where it was awarded first prize and diploma. We would also refer to the following parties, who are running the same kind of mill:

S. Manhard & Co., Brockville; William Way, Wilfred, Ont.; A. Foster, Jr., Smith's Falls; John Walsh, Port Daniel, Que.; Geo Nash, Farmersville, Ont.; Crase & Grigos, Suiton Flatts, Que.; Canffeld & Murray, Kingsville, Ont.; Thos. Movreav, Utterson, Muskoka, Ont.; C. E. Pettes, West Brome, P.Q.; R. & C. E. Custer, Richmond, Carleton, Co., N.B.

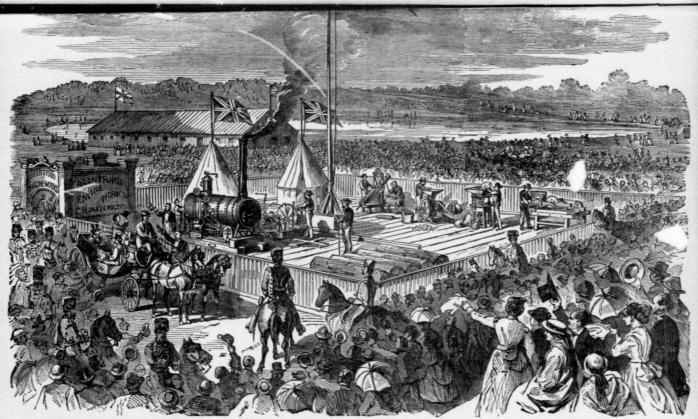

is fast superseding the old style of solid saw, and the testimony of all who use them is, that they would not return to solid saws again, even if one was presented to them. We have sold fifty to sixty of the American Saw Company's Inserted Tooth Saws! and they have in every instance given perfect satisfaction.

Special attention given to the Construction and Equipment of

SAW MILLS,

Steel Gates, Soho Friction Set Works for Circular Saw Mills, &c.,

This is an invention intended to so move the Log towards the Saw as to secure a uniform thickness of Lumber, and this it does with greater accuracy than any other known arrangement.

It is very simple, and so constructed that it cannot wear nor break, and is the the only perfect Set Motion ever invented.

Canting Machines, Double Edgers, Butting Saws, Swing Saws, Stave Cutters, Gumming Machines, and every kind of Saw Mill Supplies.

SWARTWOUT'S OSCILLATING GANG.

We would respectfully call the attention of all engaged in the manufacture of Lumber to this valuable improvement in Vertical Saw Hangings. By its peculiar construction the Saw, on its downward motion, strikes at the bottom of the log first and continues an even pressing cut until the pitman reaches the forward centre, when the lower end recedes and the top is carried forward by inclined Slides, thus producing an even Rotary Cut. This Gang will carry a heavier feed with less power than any Mill working upon straight lines, and will increase the capacity at least 25 per cent.

SOLE MANUFACTURERS OF A. D. COLE'S SAMSON TURBINE WATER WHEEL (PATENTED JULY 12, 1870.)

The Best Wheel manufactured on the Continent; will do more work, give more power and better satisfaction, with less water and expense, than any other Wheel, having beaten the Leffel Turbine 35 per cent. on the premises of Tuttle, Date & Rodden, St. Catharines, Sept. 1, 1870, in a side by side trial, using only 550 inches of water while the Leffel used 743 inches. In consequence the Leffel wheel was ordered out and one of our Samson Turbines substituted.

Our facilities for manufacturing are unsurpassed, and it is our aim to produce first-class goods.

The first time our articles were ever shewn in competition for Prizes, was at the Provincial Exhibition, in Toronto, in October, 1870, and were then awarded

SIX FIRST PRIZES,

AS FOLLOWS, VIZ:

First Prize on Hay Forks. First Prize on Hoes. First Prize on Manure Forks. First Prize on Spading Forks.

First Prize on Axes.
First Prize on Edge Tools.

The comparison on the above occasion was side by side with other and older Makers, who, for years previous, obtained First Prizes in the same Classes.

We are Sole Makers for W. H. RODDEN'S PATENT SOLID CAPPED WROUGHT FERULED FORKS. Mr. R's, various Patented Improvements on Forks enable us to offer Goods of a superior style and quality, as low as commoner articles made by other makers. Price Lists, and further particulars, sent on application. Our Travelling Agents visit all Hardware Dealers at least once a year.

In the principal lines of our manufacture, viz: in SCYTHES, FORKS, HOES, AXES, and MACHINE KNIVES, we challenge the competition of any makers in America.

Canada " Brick Machine.

Patented 1868.

Special Prize and Silver Medal at Quebec Provincial Exhibition, HELD AT MONTREAL, P. Q., SEPTEMBER, 1868.

Special Prize and HELD AT TORONTO, ONT., OCTOBER, 1870 Diploma at Ontario Provincial Exhibition.

The great practical experience of the Manufacturers of the "Canada" Brick Machine justifies them in asserting that it is the most perfect and snitable machine yet introduced into use.

This machine will mould 15,000 bricks per day, with the attendance of one man to put in the clay, one man or smart boy to attend to the moulds, three strong boys to wheel off the bricks and hack them up, and a small boy to sand the pallets.

To make SLOP BRICKS, less attendance than the above will be required.

By an alteration in the relative speed of the pinions and crown wheel, it will mould 30,000 BRICKS PER DAY.

The bricks can be moulded stiff enough to hack up four rows high the same day.

This machine is inexpensive and simple, and is adapted for either steam or horse-power.

If a stone or other obstruction prevents the moulds from moving forward, the machine will not get out of order, but regulates itself. Provision is made for giving the pressure required for soft or for stiff clay.

The corners are always well filled, and the bricks turned out will all be fit for front work.

NINE of these Machines worked by steam, and TWO by horse-power, can be seen in actual operation at the Steam Brick and Drain Tile Manufacturing Establishment of the undersigned, head of Fullum Street, Montreal.

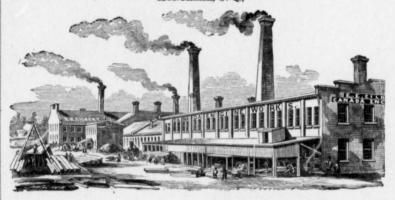

The CANADA AUTOMATIC BRICK-MAKING MACHINE is manufactured and for sale by the Patentees.

The Patent Right for Towns, Counties, or Districts, will be sold on application to

INVESTED FUNDS.

UPWARDS OF ONE MILLION TWO HUNDRED THOUSAND POUNDS, STERLING.

Assurers have the choice of two separate Classes of Assurance.

An allocation of Profit in Cash is made every year in this class to all Policies of not less than five years' standing at the preceding Annual Baiance, and each Policy-holder's share is applied in payment of his next Annual Premium. The Outlay required for the Policies has thus, for many years, been only from 62½ cts to 75 cts. per §1 of the Premiums according to standing, and commencing with those due at the end of the sixth year.

CASH PROFITS of more than £375,000 sterling have been distributed in this manner to the Policy-holders during their own lives.

IN CLASS A, THE BONUSES are paid in Money to the Policyholder himself, commencing AT AN EARLY STAGE OF THE TO THE SUM ASSURED, and may be exchanged for a MOST IMPOLICY.

TO THE SUM ASSURED, and may be exchanged for a MOST IMPOLICY.

AT THE DIVISION FOR 5th December, 1865, the LARGE BONU ADDITION of $4 per cent, on the sum Assured, was declared for every premium paid on each participating policy, and payable along with the Sum Assured, provided the Life attain the average expectation of persons at his age of entry. It is evident that at this rate of Bonus the SUM ASSURED will be more than DOUBLED in a com-or norms the stud Assured win be more than Doubles in a com-paratively short period.

But the Policy-holder has the option of exchanging these large Bonus Additions, when he reaches an average period of life, for an equivalent in a Valuable Provision for his own after life-time by a Cash Payment or Annuity.

For Example, a Policy-holder for £1000, at the age of 25, on his attaining the average period of persons of that age, will, at the rate of Bonus, have had an addition to his assurance of £1,500, making the Sum Assured £2,500 instead of £1,000.

Or he may exchange the Bonus Addition for an ANNUITY of about £102 payable during his life. Such exchange will in no respect affect the Sum assured, which, as well as the right to future Bonuses, will remain intact for the PAYMENT of about £1,000 to himself.

Under no other system can anything like the same amount of benefits be obtained, whether as regards increase of Sum Assured, or an equivalent in Cash Payment, or Life Annuity.

An ASSURER during the current year in Class B. will receive, at next division, ONE-FIFTH MORE BONUS than later Entrants—The difference being—probably so much as £40 on a £1,000 Policy.

LOVELL'S SERIES OF DIRECTORIES.

Dominion, Provincial, County, City, and Town Directories.

THE want of accurate, reliable and intelligible Local Directories has been commonly felt and generally expressed by all classes in Canada, and only in a less degree by the inhabitants of the neighboring Provinces. Indeed the complaint has become so common, and the requests to remove it so urgent, that the Publisher of the Dominion Directory has determined to make the experiment, and discover for himself what encouragement may be expected for such books as the commercial public have very generally concurred in asking for. Should the first experiment turn out satisfactorily, it is the Publisher's intention to follow it systematically, and at stated periods, with new and enlarged editions of the same works. He begs further to say that whether such Directories be general in their character, like the Dominion Directory; or local, like the Provincial Directories; or Municipal, like the County, City or Town Directories, they will in either and all cases be prepared with the greatest care, constructed on the simplest plan, printed in a uniform manner and bound according to a uniform pattern.

As the Publisher of the DOMINION DIRECTORY is thoroughly acquainted with the modes in which information for such uses should be obtained, and as he has accumulated an immense stock of the requisite materials, and gathered about him a reliable body of men, who by constant employment as agents or artizans, have made themselves practically acquainted with every branch of this department of industry, he is able to offer guarantees of his ability to satisfy the commonly expressed want by printing and publishing accurate, reliable and intelligible Directories.

The Publisher has no hesitation in guaranteeing as thorough correctness as it is possible to attain, and respectfully points to the accompanying Directory as an example of the character of the work and of the workmanship he will study to maintain in the projected series. Intimation from merchants and gentlemen in localities where the want of a Directory is recognized, would be accepted as a special favor, and acted upon wherever practicable.

PREFACE.

FREQUENT representations of the want of a reliable and correct Directory of Newfoundland, having been expressed to the Publisher, he decided, during his late canvass for the Canadian Dominion Directory, to issue one for that Province, and now takes pleasure in placing it before the public. In so doing, he would remark that, though the work did not meet with that pecuniary encouragement which he had anticipated, he received such kind and valuable assistance in the collection of information, that he is strongly impressed with the belief had a fuller knowledge of his intentions and the nature of his work been earlier made known, the support would have been as hearty and liberal as that accorded to his Provincial Directories in other portions of British America.

The reader will observe that the accompanying work is much more comprehensive than the title indicates, being not simply a Directory, where the names of almost every male inhabitant in the Province is to be found, but in some measure a Gazetteer describing the situation of every city, town, village and inhabited place having a name that could possibly be ascertained, its most remarkable feature, principal productions, manufactures, population, means of communication, &c.

The aim of the Publisher has been to give to the people of Newfoundland a DIRECTORY and GEOGRAPHICAL DICTIONARY which should be a credit to their Province, as well as to his establishment, and this he believes he has faithfully performed in the work he now has the honor of placing in their hands.

He would take this opportunity to announce that it his intention to issue, from time to time, as occasion may require, his Province of Newfoundland Directory, that it will be got up in a similar style to the one now produced, and that neither pains nor expense will be spared to render it reliable and complete.

MISCELLANEOUS INDEX

LOVELL'S GAZETTEER

British Morth America.

The Publisher of the Dominion Directory avails himself of this opportunity to announce that he has in preparation A GAZETTEER OF THE ST. LAWRENCE AND ATLANTIC PRO-VINCES OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA. This important work is intended to supply the amplest information respecting the Cities, Towns and Villages therein. It will be to the people of Canada, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, a Manual replete with accurate information touching the great country in which they live, and to the people of other lands it will expose the advantages, commercial, manufacturing and agricultural, and the undeveloped wealth of this portion of the Empire. The GAZETTEER will be carefully compiled, and the most accurate and authentic information

Special prominence will be given to the Cities, Towns and places of historical interest and commercial importance, while villages and hamlets will be briefly and lucidly described.

The Lakes, Rivers, Bays, Capes, Inlets, &c., will receive as full and accurate descriptions as can possibly be obtained.

The Provinces will be inserted as follows: Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. The Provinces of British Columbia and Manitoba will also receive due attention.

The Publisher feels confident that this GAZETTEER will be found worthy of an intelligent and liberal patronage, because it will be indispensable to Public, Professional and Business men, and instrumental in inducing a large migration to these shores.

The work will contain an Appendix giving the Immigrant useful information respecting the Country, the Districts where he may settle, &c.

The GAZETTEER will be printed on fine paper, small 8vo. size, in double columns, with fine type, and bound in cloth. It will be kept within the smallest compass consistent with its object, which is to supply all the information necessary, at a price placing it within the reach of every one.

Information suitable for the pages of the above work will be thankfully acknowledged.

JOHN LOVELL, Publisher.

ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

As the division of Canada into two provinces did not take place till 1791, and as the two sections were united again in 1840, and became separate members of the Confederation only in 1867, much unnecessary repetition will be avoided by including in one sketch the principal events in the history of the whole province as it existed previously to Confederation.

I. CANADA UNDER FRENCH RULE.

The history of Canada is naturally divided into two great epochs: the period of French rule and that of British rule. (If the former period, the most prominent events are the incessant wars of the colonists with the native inhabitants, and with the neighbouring colonies of Britain. The second period is remarkable as a century of wonderful expansion and prosperity, especially in Western Canada. The most prominent events are: the introduction of a representative system of Government, the division of the province, the war with the United States, the political struggles arising out of hostility of race, the rebellion, followed by the reunion of the provinces, the institution of "Responsible Government," and the concession to the Legislative Assembly of entire control over revenue and expenditure; and, lastly, confederation with the other provinces.

EARLY VOYAGES AND DISCOVERIES.

It was on the 3rd of August, 1402, that Columbus, with his little fleet of three vessels, sailed on his memorable voyage of discovery from Palos, a port on the coast of Spain. On the 9th of the following month he passed Ferro, the last of the Canary Isles, and launched out into unknown seas. After the lapse of more than another month, during which the spirit of the commander was sorely tried by the murmurs and menaces of his mitinous and superstitious crews, Columbus left his ship on the 11th of October, and planted the flag of Spain on an island to which he gave the name of San Salvador. Several months were spent in exploration, and then the great adventurer set sail on the 4th of January, 1403, and arrived safely at Palos.

The materials for the historical sketches of the provinces have been derived from Garneau's History of Canada (Bell's translation); Hodgins' School History of Canada and the British Provinces; Cooney's History of New Brunswick; Page's History of Newfoundland; Sutherland's History of Prince Edward Island; and other sources.

The discoveries of Columbus excited a spirit of enterprise and adventure throughout Europe, and subsequent explorers had not any longer to encounter the great difficulties that so long baffled his efforts to procure means to prosecute his voyage. Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island were discovered by the Cabots. Other discoveries followed in quick succession; but it was not till 153t that the discovery of Canada (Ontario and Quebec) was made by Jacques Cartier, a navigator in the service of Francis I, King of France. The kings of Spain and Portugal protested against the proposed expedition under Cartier as an enerocaclment on their territorial rights. "What!" Francis is reported to have exclaimed, "do they expect to share all America between them. I should like to see the clause in our father Adam's will that makes them sole heirs to so vast a heritage."

Cartier, with two small vessels, sailed from the port of St. Malo, on the coast of Brittany, on the 20th of April, 1534. Arriving off the coast of Newfoundland after a favorable voyage, he passed through the Straits of Belle Isle into the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, and sailed southward to the Baie des Chaleurs. It was early in July when he reached the Bay, and the heat of the weather caused him to give it that name. Finally, on the 24th of July, he landed on the peninsula of Gaspé, and took possession of the country in the name of the French king. A few days later he set sail for France, taking with him two of the natives. The report of his discoveries excited so much interest at home that the following year he was sent out with three vessels, well manned and equipped. This season he sailed up the gulf. Having anchored in a little bay at the mouth of the river St. John on St. Lawrence day, he named the bay after that saint, and the name was afterward extended to the gulf and river. Ascending the St. Lawrence, he arrived at the Island of Orleans, where he was received in a friendly manner by Donnacona, the Algonquin chief. He then proceeded to a native settlement, called Stadacona, near the mouth of the St. Charles. Here he moored his vessels, boldly resolving to winter in the country. Having heard accounts from the natives respecting a large settlement further up, he was induced, in the month of September, to ascend the St. Lawrence as far as Hochelaga (Montreal) where he was welcomed with the most friendly manifestations by the Huron Indians.* The beautiful mountain lying to the west was named by him Mount Royal. The winter was now

^{*} It is hardly necessary to say that the term "Indians" arose from the mistake of the first discoverers, who thought America was part of the "Indias," or Asia.

Quebec,) where he intreuched himself near his ships.

The expedition suffered greatly during the long winter one fourth part of the crews had perished by disease. In spring. Caruer made hasic to return to France. On his licutenant general, or viceroy, of New France, with very departure he was guilty of a base act of treachery to the extensive powers. De la Roche landed most of his colonists. friendly natives, in seizing their chief, Donnacona, and four | who were chiefly convicts, on Isle de Sable. The origin of the name Canada, it may be mentioned here. is somewhat obscure. Some would derive it from the Spanish or Portuguese, by putting together the words Ca, here, and nada, nothing, supposed to have been uttered by the first explorers when they found no precious metals. Others, with better reason, conjecture that Jacques Cartier, having heard the natives apply the Indian word Kannatha (or willage) to their settlements, mistook it for the name of the whole country.

Harassed by wars with Spain, and distracted by religious dissensions at home, the French were unable to give that attention to the newly discovered territories which their importance deserved. Five years elapsed after Cartier's return before another expedition was organized. This was placed under the command of a distinguished soldier, the Sieur de Roberval, who received a commission as viceroy of the colony to be founded. Cartier sailed in advance of Roberval, in command of a flotilla of five vessels. After a stormy passage he arrived in the gulf, and again ascended the St. Lawrence to Stadacona or Quebec. Here the French colonists who had been brought out, landed, and began to prepare ground for cultivation. Cartier continued his voyage to Hochelaga, and endeavoured to pass the Lachine rapids, but without success. The summer passed away without any intelligence being received respecting the movements of Roberval, who was to have followed him out: so Cartier resolved to spend the winter in the country. The Indians, mindful of his treachery to their chief, were far from friend-'y, and he deemed it prudent to erect two small forts at Cape Rouge for the protection of his winter quarters. In the spring, the natives showing signs of increasing hostility, Cartier sailed for France, where he died a few years later. He had, however, before his death, been ennobled by the king for his distinguished services, and his heirs received a license to trade in Canada. We read of his nephews being engaged subsequently in the peltry traffic.

Roberval, whose departure had been delayed for a year, met Cartier near Newfoundland (or, as some say, near Quebec), and vainly endeavoured to prevent his return. Roberval then continued his voyage to Cape Rouge, where he remained for some time. Little is known respecting his movements during the year that he in spent Canada. He is said to have explored the river Saguenay, and other parts. During the winter fifty of his colonists perished. In 1543, he returned to France at the request of the king, who required his services in the war with Spain which was about to recommence. This was the last expedition for six years.

PERMANENT SETTLEMENTS IN NEW FRANCE.

We come now to the voyages of Champlain, a distinguished naval officer, whose name is honourably connected with Canadian exploration and settlement. His first voyage was made in 1603, under the auspices of a company of French merchants trading in furs. The little fleet consisted of three small vessels of 12 to 15 tons each. Champlain ascended the St. Lawrence to Hochelaga, but was prevented by the Lachine rapids from passing upward. He, however, diligently collected all the information that he could obtain from the natives respecting the country above the rapids, and sketched a map for the king. Henry IV. was well pleased with the account of the expedition, and appointed de Monts, a Huguenot, lieutenant general of Acadie, with extensive trading privileges. In the ensuing years, settlements were formed at Port Royal (Annapolis) and other places in Acadie.

In 1608 Champlain sailed a third time from France on a voyage to the St. Lawrence. On the 3rd of July he reached the point of land, now the Lower Town of Quebec, where he erected a fort, and cabins for the accommodation of his men. Thus were laid the foundations of the famous city of Quebec. The name is Indian, Kebec, a strait. This was the first permanent settlement in Canada.

For some years Champlain continued the congenial work of exploration. His enemies, indeed, made it a matter of reproach that he was more fond of exploring the country than of improving the facilities for trade and increasing the profits of the fur company. About this time the wars between the Iroquois and other Indian tribes appear to have been waged with great ferocity. The weaker tribes, the Hurons the French, and Champlain unfortunately granted the request. Thus commenced the terrible wars with Indians which fill so dark a page in the early annals of the colony. The first blood was shed in 1609, when Champlain took part with the Hurons in an attack on some Iroquois cantons. The terror inspired by the loud report of European fire arms, and the havoc caused by each discharge, routed the Iroquois on this and other occasions. But few years clapsed before they fought on more equal terms, and manifested a courage unsurpassed by that of any other race.

In 1611, Champlain established a trading post at Montreal, and named the adjacent island Ste. Hélène, after his wife. The death of Henry IV. deprived de Monts of his influence at ther expedition, set out for Canada, but he was lost in the court, and great rivalry in the fur trade ensued. At length he reached Cahiague, (now Orillia) one of the chief lodges of the Hurons, near Lake Simcoe. Champlain's relations with this tribe were very friendly, and he was induced to join them in a great expedition against their bitter enemies, the warlike Iroquois. The assault on the enemy was made suddenly and unexpectedly, but the Iroquois speedily rallied, and repulsed their assailants with great courage and determination. Champlain himself was wounded, and with his Indian allies was forced to retreat. Thus Champlain, who was the first, or among the first, to assist Indian against Indian, already began to experience the disastrous we read of fresh hostilities. About 1620, the Prince de Condé ceded the vice-royalty of Canada to Admiral Montmorency, who confirmed the appointment and powers of Champlain as deputy head and resident governor of the colony. About this time Champlain laid the foundations of a government house, known as the ordinances for the maintenance of order in the colony. Very little was done in the way of tilling the soil, the attention of the colonists being engrossed by the more lucrative occupation of trading in furs. Disputes respecting trading privileges were-constantly occurring. The trading associations were bitter rivals. Finally, in 1627, a new company, called the Company of One Hundred Partners, or Associates, with extensive trading privileges, was organized under the patronage of Cardinal Richelieu. The powers of this new association were very extensive. The Hundred Partners were in fact the rulers of the colony, with power to make laws within their limits, with attributes of seignlory and justiceship, &c. In return for their privileges the Company undertook to send 4,000 persons to Canada during the fifteen years their charter was to be in force, and to aid these colonists in settling on lands to be appropriated

Shortly after this, war was declared between France and England. Tadousac, a trading station, was captured (1628) by Sir David Kertk, a French Huguenot refugee, who had on the above condition, the privilege of trading on their own entered the English service, and messengers were sent to account. Champlain was carried to England, where he was set at liberty and permitted to return to France

Three years afterward, (1632) Canada, together with Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, was ceded to France by the Treaty of St Germain en Laye. The following year Champlain was re-appointed governor, and carried out with him abundance of stores. He sought to strengthen and build up the shattered colony, but his labors were soon stayed by death. He expired on Christmas day, 1635, after thirty years' service in connection with Canadian exploration and settlement.

The new governor sent out from France was Montmagny, who pursued the policy adopted by Champlain. The Hurons and Iroquois were at this time again engaged in a sanguinwas engaged in exploration are marked by incessant Indian ary war. Some consternation was caused (1638) by shocks conflicts. Ville Marie was put in a condition for defence by d'Aillebout; Fort Richelieu was erected at the mouth of the Richelieu, and other measures were adopted to check the incursions of the enemy.

In 1645, a truce was entered into with some of the Iroquois bands. The Company of the Hundred Partners had suffered enormous losses during these Indian wars, and were glad to renounce their rights for an annual rent payable in beaver skins. Now the Iroquois, while harassing the French to death, had been fast friends of the Engfish, and such a stipulation would have been highly ur grateful on the part of the latter. So the negotiations were broken off. The incident only served to increase the fury of the Iroquois. For some years trade was paralyzed, and the French were in serious danger of being driven from the country. "The war with the Iroquois," says a chronicle of 1653, "has dried up all sources of prosperity. The beavers are allowed to build their dams in peace, none being able or willing to molest them." It must be borne in mind that by this time the Iroquois had obtained fire-arms, and learned to use them with fatal effect. At length, in 1653, reinforcements being received from France, the governor was enabled to act vigorously on the offensive. European discipline prevailed. The Iroquois lost heart when they saw the number of their foes suddenly doubled by arrivals from the unknown land beyond the seas. They were brought to sue for peace, and a treaty was concluded the following vear (1654)

During this time several changes had taken place in the government. It had been decided to change the governors of French dependencies every three years. Montmagny was succeeded in 1047, by d'Aillebout, and he, in turn, was superseded by de Lauzon in 1651.

In 1656, another alarm was caused by incursions of the frequeis, and war again prevailed, with brief intervals of respite, for several years. D'Argenson same out (1658) as governor in the place of de Lauzon, and in 1661, d'Avaugour, a very able governor, succeeded.

Up to this period, progress had been very slow, especially when contrasted with the rapid strides of modern times. The inhabitants of the settlement at Quebec did not number a thousand, and the whole population of Canada fell short of 2,500. The mode of colonization had been semi-religious. Jesuit and Recollet missionaries penetrated the country in all directions, and endeavoured to win the natives to the Christian faith. There was not a printing press in the colony till long afterward. A very small portion of the soil was brought under cultivation. The residents, occupied for the most part in trade, did not raise sufficient for their subsistence, and depended largely on supplies from the mother country. The principal buildings seem to have been the monastic establishments. Ecclesiastics exercised magisterial authority in the parishes. An incident related by Garneau, which led to dissension between the governor and ecclesiastical authorities, throws some light upon the state of affairs at this time. Selling liquor to Indians was prohibited under the severest penalties. The governor, d'Avaugour, had caused three men to be shot at one time for this crime. A widow being subsequently taken to prison for the same offence, one Pere Lallemant, not only interceded for her but justified her act. The governor angrily exclaimed that if the law was to be enforced in this irregular their side, the priests refused absolution to those who agriculture. SOVEREIGN AUTHORITY RESUMED.

In 1663, the Company of One Hundred Partners, which had not fulfilled the obligations imposed on it, was formally dissolved by Louis XIV., and a sovereign council, composed of the principal officers of civil government residing in the colony, M. Laval, the first bishop, who had come out in 1659, and other distinguished persons, was established at Quebec. This council acted also as a court of appeal from the district courts. In each of the three districts, Quebec, Three Rivers and Montreal, there was a judge appointed by the king, who had full power to decide all matters, both civil and criminal, that arose within the district. Besides the regular courts, judicial authority was vested in the intendant. This power was exercised generally in matters of small amount. The owners of seigniories were also authorized under certain restrictions to administer justice within their seigniories.

The new governor, appointed by the influence of Bishop Laval and the Jesuits, after d'Avaugour's recall, was de Mesy. He was the first royal governor under the new constitution. He landed at Quebec in the summer of 1663, but a year had hardly elapsed before fresh disputes arose between him and Bishop Laval, in consequence of the interference of the latter in temporal affairs. The recall of the governor was therefore at once resolved on by his adversaries, and it was not long before they brought it about. The governor died before the command to return reached him, but be declared with his latest breath that in all he did he had ever in view the prosperity of the colony. Whilst these events were taking place in the colony, the trading interests of Canada were conceded to the West India Company by a royal edict in May, 1664. In legal matters, the "Custom of Paris" was at this time introduced to the exclusion of all other French coutumes. The Marquis de Tracy was chosen to fill the office of lieutenant-general. Talon, another man of ability, was sent out as intendant, and de Courcelles, an administrator of great tact and prudence, was appointed to succeed de Mésy as governor. The new rulers were cautioned by Colbert, the French minister, to avoid disputes with the Jesuits, and advised to seek to build up the colony.

These were days of sunshine to the struggling inhabitants. For a space only too brief, things were an air of prosperity. The men in authority displayed great zeal and energy in advancing the interests of the colonists. Settlers were brought out from France; cattle and agricultural implements were imported. The audacity of the Indians was checked by a decisive expedition commanded by de Tracy. The Iroquois sued for peace, and in 1667 a treaty was concluded with them which lasted eighteen years.

The reports sent home by Talon advised that the colony should be taken out of the hands of the West India Company. This recommendation was acted upon, and freedom of trade with the natives and the mother country was conand partial manner, he would cease to enforce it at all. On ceded to the inhabitants. encouraged to settle in the country. Talon, being in ill lapse of years, and was embittered by a long course of health, was forced to solicit his recall in 1668, but the following year he was persuaded to resume office, and sailed from France with 700 emigrants.

In 1672, Count de Frontenac, who was destined to occupy a distinguished place in the history of Canada, came out as governor in the place of de Courcelles. Talon now retired from his office of intendant. At this date the population had increased to nearly six thousand souls.

Frontenac was a high spirited soldier of very fair abilities. Shrewd and discerning in his views, he was also quick and impetuous in action. The position of Quebec excited his admiration on landing. "It could not have been better placed," he said "if it had been expressly selected as the capital of a great empire." The new governor was also favorably impressed by the dignity and eloquence of the Indian chiefs. In 1673, having been present at a conference with Iroquois chiefs at Cataraqui, he remarked, in a letter to the Minister of State: "You would assuredly have been surprised. my lord, had you listened to the eloquent oratory, and remarked the subtle spirit with which all the deputies harangued and reasoned. Did I not fear to incur your ridicule, I would venture to intimate that the moble presence of these deputies, in conference with me, recalled to my mind some-* hat, a meeting of the senate of Venice."

In his efforts to improve the condition of the colony, Frontenac was unfortunate enough to encounter the opposition and enmity of the Jesuits. Grave dissensions soon commenced between the governor and other dignitaries. Frontenac having imprisoned Perrot, the governor of Montreal, for treasonable conduct, the side of the accused was openly espoused by Fénélon, the parish priest of Montreal. The ecclesiastics denied that any jurisdiction could be exercised over them by the sovereign council, and contended that they could be summoned to appear only before their bishop. The intendant, Duchesneau, sided with the ecclesiastics. Fresh trouble was also created by the liquor traffic. We cannot follow here the course of these unfortunate disputes. The king severely censured his servants, and attempted in vain to check their quarrels; but they proeceded to such a height that both Frontenac and Duchesneau were recalled in 1682.

INDIAN WARS BENEWED.

The new governor, de la Barre, came out at a critical time. Another Indian war was imminent. The New England colonists offered the Indians better prices for their skins, and exchanged goods on far easier terms than the French traders, fettered by trade restrictions, could afford. Much ill feeling prevailed on this account among the natives. The conjuncture required a prudent and conciliatory course. De la Barre lacked ability and experience, and proved unequal to the occasion. After some months of indecision, an expedition set out and advanced as far as Lake Ontario. Here envoys from the Iroquois met the governor, and de la Barre concluded a disgraceful treaty, by which he abandoned some of his Indian allies to the mercy of the Iroquois. The treaty was disallowed by the king, who immediately recalled the governor, and sent out the Marquis de Denonville to replace him. The new governor was brave and determined, but entered with slight experience on duties of great difficulty. His instructions were to repel the encroachments of the Iroquois and compel them to keep the peace with their neighbours. The hatred of with some success. Unhappily these successes were sullied shese powerful tribes to the French had grown with the by terrible atrocities. Helpless inhabitants of the places hostility. At this time, moreover, the Iroquois were incensed by a discreditable act of treachery on the part of the governor. Having decoyed some Indian braves to Catara qui, under pretence of a conference, he caused them to be seized, and sent home to work in the galleys.

Having obtained reinforcements from France, the governor led an expedition against the Iroquois, which was successful in the field; but as soon as the steps of the marquis were turned homeward, the foe re-appeared with unabated spirit. The fort at Niagara was suddenly attacked by them and completely destroyed. An ineffectual attempt was made to negotiate a treaty through the intervention of Col. Dongan, the governor of New York. The critical state of affairs was vividly depicted as follows by the governor in a despatch to Paris, Aug. 10th, 1683: "The savages are just so many animals of prev, scattered through a vast forest, whence they are ever ready to issue, to plunder and kill in the adjoining country. To go in pursuit of them after their ravages is a constant but almost bootless task. They have no settled habitation to which they can be traced with any certainty. They must be watched for everywhere and long waited for, with fire-arms ready primed; many of their lurking places could be reached only by blood-hounds, or by other savages as trackers. But those in our service are few, and the native allies we have are seldom trustworthy. They fear the enemy more than they fove us; and they dread, on their own account, to drive the Iroqueis to extremity. It has been resolved, in the present strait, to erect a fortress in every seigniory, as a place of shelter for helpless people and live stock, at times when the open country is overrun with savages. As matters now stand. the arable grounds lie far apart, and are so surrounded by bush, that every thicket serves as a covert for the foe; so that an army would be needed to protect the tillers of our

The following year (1689) war was declared by France against England for the purpose of aiding James II. A bold project, suggested by Chevalier de Callières, of attack ing the English posts at New York and Albany, was und to consideration by the French authorities, when a terrible disaster fell upon the colony. The Iroquois, who for some months had been unusually tranquil, without the slightest warning, in the month of August, appeared in force near Montreal, and in one night massacred the entire population of Lachine. Two hundred persons were slaughtered or burned alive on the spot, and others, more unfortunate, were carried off to be tortured to death. The invaders also assailed and captured the fort at Montreal, and kept possession of the island till the month of October. The French, stupefied with terror, made no effort to drive off their enemics, and everywhere throughout the land the Indians held the upper hand till the approach of winter, when they retired suddenly to their settlements.

In the meantime, Frontenae, who had been re-appointed. governor, was on his way out to assume the direction of affairs. His coming was hailed with joy by the terrified inhabitants, who had endured so much misery through the incapacity of the last two governors. Fresh spirit was infused into the colonists. The incursions of the Iroquois were everywhere repelled with energy. The Canadian villages were enclosed by palisades, and protected by cannon. The project of attacking the New England settlements, which had received the sanction of Louis, was now prosecuted that fell into the hands of the invaders were butchered to 620 colonial troops. The British colonies were represented without mercy.

The New Englanders, who seem to have been taken by surprise by the sudden attack of Frontenac, speedily concerted measures of defence and reprisal. In 1690, a squadron of 35 sail, with 2,000 militia men on board, left Boston under command of Sir William Phipps, afterward governor of Massachusetts. The fleet captured Port Royal, (Annapolis) and other places in Nova Scotia, and on the exceeded £100,000 stg. There were some petty conflicts with morning of the 16th October, Quebec was summoned to Indians, and there were some disputes between the governor surrender at discretion. Frontenac returned a haughty and the intendant, Dupuis; but up to 1745 the colony refusal, and the batteries opened fire upon the English enjoyed security from external assaults. In 1745 peace was ships. The strength of the defences baffled all the efforts of the besieging force, and the fleet was compelled to retire. A land expedition under Winthrop, which was to have co-operated with Phipps in the attack on Canada, returned without accomplishing anything.

During the succeeding years hostilities were continued Detween the French and English colonists. Each side wought to enlist as many of the savage tribes as it could, and to render the aid of these allies effective, the Indians were instructed in the use of fire-arms. The Iroquois that fell into the hands of their enemies were often cruelly burned or tortured to death, in revenge for similar atrocities practised by their own tribes. Under Frontenac's energetic direction, the Canadians were enabled to get possession of the English posts in the Hudson Bay territory.

At length, in 1697, the treaty of Ryswick put an end, for this treaty France agreed to restore all places in America that had been taken during the war. The restoration of peace was welcome intelligence at Quebec. The colonists, who had ceased to till their lands and had taken refuge the savages, now ventured back to their farms.

The following year, (1698) Count de Frontenac died, at the age of 77, deeply regretted by his countrymen in New France, whom he had rescued from almost total extermination. De Callières, who had long been governor of Montreal, succeeded him.

Thirteen hundred natives, the representatives of many tribes, took part in the ceremonies.

In 1703, France and England being again at war, there was as usual a renewal of hostilities between their colonies. On this occasion the French were fortunate in having the formidable Iroquois neutral by virtue of the solemn treaty of 1701. In the spring of 1711, another expedition against Canada was organized by the New England colonies, aided by British troops. The object was to capture Quebec. But the fleet was dispersed in the gulf by a storm, and many of the vessels were lost. Peace was restored by the treaty of Utrecht in 1713.

FROM THE TREATY OF UTRECHT TO THE CONQUEST-1713-1760.

Vaudreuil, who had succeeded de Callières as governor in 1703, introduced some improvements in the municipal system, and caused a census to be taken. Montreal was walled in, and the fortifications of Quebec were enlarged and strengthened. The governor earnestly called the attention of the home in the year 1756, with a considerable force, together with authorities to the weak state of the colony as contrasted with supplies of provisions and munitions of war. Sixteen hunthe flourishing condition of the New England provinces. In | dred men had been sent out the previous year, and the colony bitants capable of bearing arms for its defence, in addition lacking in energy. Money was freely voted to arm and equip as having 60,000 males fit for war; and it was not doubted that as soon as war commenced an attempt would be made by them to achieve the conquest of Canada. Vaudreuil was succeeded in 1726 by the Marquis de Beauharnois, whose long administration of twenty-one years was for the most part peaceful. The population increased from 22,000 in 1719 to nearly 50,000 in 1744. The value of the exports in 1749 again disturbed. The contest, bowever, was not so much on Canadian soil as in the maritime colonies. The strong fortress of Louisbourg was taken by the New Englanders, and an expedition projected against Canada. A French fleet, under the Duke d'Anville, sent to retake Louisbourg, was dispersed by terrible storms. The peace of Aix-la-Chapelle, in 1748, put an end to the conflict, and France and England mutually restored the territory acquired by either during the war.

But a warm dispute immediately commenced as to the boundaries of their respective possessions in the New World. The territory in dispute was very extensive, comprising the whole of the scaboard on the north side of the Bay of Fundy, and also the Valley of the Ohio, connecting the French possessions in Louisiana with Canada. A joint commission, French and British, was appointed to settle the dispute. A conference took place at Paris, but the commission lasted a time, to the exhausting conflict between the colonies. By over five years without any definite result. Meanwhile the dispute in America was daily growing in violence. Each party sought to make good its pretensions by encroachments on the territory in dispute. In 1750, three English traders were arrested under the authority of the French governor in the disputed territory of the Ohio valley. Redress being withheld, reprisals were made. After some years consumed in futile negotiation, the war, generally known as the Seven Years' War, commenced. The colonial forces on both sides were reinforced from Europe. Gen. Braddock came out from England to command the militia and regulars. A strong British force, under his command, marched against In 1700, the French concluded a long hoped for treaty of Fort Duquesne, at the junction of the Ohio and Monongahela peace with the Iroquois confederation. The treaty was rivers; but, pressing on too eagerly, in July, 1755, the men fell solemnly confirmed at Montreal on the 4th of August, 1701. into an ambuscade near the fort, and were cut to pieces. Gen. Braddock and most of the mounted officers were killed, The celebrated Gen. Washington, who was serving under Braddock at this time, wrote as follows of the disaster: "We have been beaten, shamefully beaten, by a handful of French, who only expected to obstruct our advance. Shortly before the action we thought our forces were equal to all the enemy in Canada; we have been most unexpectedly defeated, and now all is lost." On the other hand, it was not long before the French met with reverses. Baron Dieskau brought from France a large force in 1755. After some slight successes his army was defeated, and he himself wounded and taken prisoner in an attack on Col. Johnson's camp near Fort William, at the head of Lake George.

The struggle for supremacy in the New World now assumed serious proportions. War was formally declared by England and France (1756). At the urgent representation of the Canadian authorities large reinforcements were sent out. Gen. Montcalm and Gen. de Lévis came out to Canada early 1714, he wrote home that Canada contained but 4,484 inha- | furnished a thousand more. Nor was the British Government ND the provincial militia. Gen. Abererombie came out from England with large reinforcements; and Lord Loudon was appointed commander-in-chief. After some minor incidents the campaign terminated unfavourably for the English. The important place called Fort Oswego, erected by the English on the south-eastern shore of Lake Ontario, surrendered to Montcalm, and fourteen hundred prisoners and a large quantity of stores fell into the hands of the French. This expedition had been planned by the Governor, Vaudreuil Cavagnal, Gen. Montcalm undertaking it apparently against his own judgment in obedience to the governor's orders.

The following summer passed without any important engagement. The inhabitants of Canada suffered during this period great privation from the scarcity of food. In France dissatisfaction began to be expressed at the great cost of maintaining and defending the colony. In 1758 Lord Loudon, the English commander-in-chief, who had failed to evince any military capacity, was superseded by General Abercrombie. Great efforts were made, and with complete success, to enable the English colonies to send into the field a large force of militia. The strong post of Louisbourg, in Cape Breton, fell into the hands of the British forces. In other quarters the campaign was a failure. Gen. Abercrombie led an expedition against Fort Ticonderoga (Carillon) where Montcalm was strongly intrenched. The attack on the fort, persevered in during several hours with great gallantry, was repulsed with heavy loss to the English. This misfortune was In some measure retrieved by a successful expedition against Fort Frontenac under Colonel Bradstreet. The fort was taken, together with a great quantity of stores, shipping, and several pieces of cannon. This achievement destroyed the power of the French on the great lakes.

The English were also successful in their operations in the Ohio valley. A force of regulars and militia marched against Fort Duquesne, and the commandant, despairing of being able to make a successful defence, destroyed the fort and retreated.

The following summer (1759) decided the contest. Gen Amherst came out to replace Gen. Abercrombie. The French being now compelled to act on the defensive, endeayoured to strengthen their fortified posts. The number of males able to bear arms was estimated at 15,200, and of regular soldiers there were 5,300. Provisions were at famine prices. The farmers, having for the most part been engaged in campaigning, had been unable to cultivate their fields, whilst the scarcity of food was increased by the fraud and cupidity of certain officials intrusted with the purchase of stores, who enriched themselves at the public expense. Montcalm, who was at variance with the governor, earnestly solicited his own recall as the only reward he desired for his services. The king, reluctant to comply with this request in the critical position of Canadian affairs, recommended the general and governor to reconcile their differences, and accorded them promotion and honors.

The campaign of 1759 did not open till June, when the British forces took the field in three divisions. One under Gen. Prideaux was to attack Fort Niagara; the second, under Gen. Amberst, was to make another attempt to take Fort Ticonderoga at the outlet of Lake George; the third, under the celebrated General Wolfe, was to assail Quebec, where the other divisions of the army were to assemble after carrying out their parts of the general plan. The expedition against Fort Niagara was successful, but General Prideaux fell during the siege. The French retreated from Fort Ticonderoga and enterpeded themselves at 1812 aux Noiv.

the provincial militia. Gen. Abercrombic came out from England with large reinforcements; and Lord Loudon was appointthe winter.

> The expedition against Quebec is that which is most memorable in the annals of Canada. The French had made every preparation in their power for the defence of the city. The buoys had been removed from the channel of the river. Fire ships were in readiness to be launched into the midst of the enemy's fleet, and booms were constructed across the river St. Charles. All the difficulties of the navigation having been overcome, the English fleet, carrying generals Wolfe, Monckton, Townshend and Murray, and a considerable army, arrived at the Island of Orleans on the 25th of June. The fireships sent against the fleet proved ineffectual. Gen. Monckton took up his position at Point Lévis, and commenced to bombard the city. Wolfe's encampment was on the left bank of the Montmorenci river. The French were intrenched in rear of Beauport. The month of July was spent by the besiegers in preparation. They carefully examined the defences, and endeavoured to find some vulnerable point. On the last day of the month Wolfe attacked Montcalm's camp, but was repulsed. It was now resolved to make the assault from above the city. Mont calm seems to have looked upon his position or this side as perfectly secure. "We need not suppose," he wrote to the governor, "that our enemies have wings to enable them in one night to cross the river, disembark, and ascend steep and rugged paths." Wolfe, however, quietly prepared for the desperate undertaking, disguising his intention from the enemy as far as possible. The landing was successfully effected during the night of the 12th of September, at the point now called Wolfe's cove. The sentinels were overpowered, and before daybreak six thousand men had silently scaled the steep bank, and were drawn up on the Plains of Abraham. Montcalm hastily gathered his forces and advanced to give battle. The English awaited the onset, and when the advancing line was close at hand, fired a deadly volley which threw the French ranks into confusion. Wolfe followed up the temporary suc cess by a charge, himself leading on the grenadiers. Soon, however, he received a mortal wound, and was carried to the rear. The French were giving way in confusion. Montcalia. while endeavouring to rally his flying troops, also fell mortally wounded. As Wolfe's last moment was fast approaching, the cry "They run! they run!" fell upon his car. "Who run?" eagerly inquired the dying hero. "The French," was the reply. "Then I die in peace," he murmured, and immediately expired. The gallant Montcalm also died the following day.

> The Citadel held out a few days, but on the 18th of September, the garrison surrendered to Gen. Townshend. The loss of the English is stated at 700, and of the French at 1500.

The announ@ment that Quebec had fallen was received with great joy in England and in her American colonies. Both sides prepared earnestly for the coming campaign, the result of which was hardly doubtful. The French concentrated their diminished forces with the design of retaking Quebec, which had been garrisoned for the winter with an army of seven or eight thousand men. Gen. de Lévis, who had taken command on the death of Montcalm, pitched his camp, in April, 1760, in the rear of the city, with an army of eight or nine thousand men. Gen. Murray marched out to meet him, but after a sharp encounter was forced to retire within the fortifications. A few days later, having received the reinforcements which he had been anxiously expecting from England, he forthwith compelled de Lévis to raise the siege and retreat.

mesistance. The Canadian militia commenced to give in their submission to General Murray, and the regulars deserted in great numbers. Isle aux Noix, where the French had entrenched themselves the previous summer, and Forts Oswegatchie and Lévis, were the next points of attack. These forts successively passed into the hands of the English, and then the victorious armies, from Quebec, Lake Champlain and Oswego, converged on Montreal. The united strength of the beleaguering army under Gen. Amherst was 17,000 men. Resistance was hopeless, and Vaudreuil proposed a capitulation, which was agreed to and signed on the 8th of September, 1700. Thus was brought to a close the era of the civil law was defective. The barristers and judges not understanding French, the people were under the necessity of carrying on their lawsuits in the English language. Memorials were addressed to the Crown by the discontented majority. In 1770, the Governor went to England to give testimony respecting the affairs of the province. This measure provided for the French canadians, subject to the king's supremacy, and that fere exercise of the Roman Catholic religion by the clergy of the church of Rome might "hold, revealve and enjoy their accustomed dues and rights, with respect to such

II. CANADA UNDER ENGLISH RULE,

FROM THE CONQUEST TO THE QUEBEC ACT, 1769-1774.

The Canadian people were secured by the terms of the capitulation in the free exercise of their religion. Vaudrouli and De Levis, with the troops and the principal civil and military officers, and many of the colonists, embarked for France, where some of the officials who had been guilty of peculation and abuse of trust, were brought to trial, condemned and punished.

Peace was concluded by the Treaty of Paris signed 10th February, 1703. By this Treaty, France ceded to England the whole of her possessions in North America with some insignificant exceptions.

The Indian allies of the French did not acquiesce without a struggle in the new order of things. A vast conspiracy was hatched in 1763 by Pontiac, a noted chief of the Ottawa tribe, who was not friendly to British power. The object of the plot was nothing less than the simultaneous capture of the chain of forts extending from Lake Michigan to the Niagara. The conspiracy failed of entire success, but nine British posts were assailed, and the garrisons massacred. The Indians sustained a defeat at Busby Run near Fort Pitt, and the garrison was relieved. Pontiac was soon forced to abandon the siege of Detroit; the Indian forces began to melt away, and the hostile tribes were glad to obtain terms, and accept the proferred friendship and protection of the new lords of the soil.

At the time of the Conquest the population numbered only 75,000 souls, including 8,000 Indians. The pages of this Directory disclose how great has been the advance during the century. It is worthy of note that now, for the first time, was a printing press used in Canada. The first number of the first newspaper—the Quebec Gazette—appeared June 21st, 1764.

The country, which now received the name of the Province of Quebec, remained for some years under military rule. Gen. Murray, after the peace, was appointed the first Governor General; Gen. Gage was in command of the Montreal District, and Col. Burton of the Three Rivers District. The Executive Council was composed of the lieutenant governors of Montreal and Three Rivers, the chief justice, the inspector general of customs, and eight of the leading inhabitants of the colony.

In 1766, Gen. Carleton, afterwards Lord Dorchester, was appointed Governor General. Gen. Carleton, who had taken a prominent part in the capture of Quebec, continued to be connected with Canada for six and thirty years.

The French Canadians, who constituted the immense with the revolutionary cause were, in truth, not few, and the majority of the inhabitants, soon began to express dissatisfaction at the continuance of military rule. The administration The French Canadians refused to take up arms with the revo of carrying on their lawsuits in the English language, testimony respecting the affairs of the province. The result of the inquiry was the passing of the "Quebec Act" by the English Parliament in 1774, for reconstructing the government of the Province of Quebec. This measure provided for the free exercise of the Roman Catholic religion by the French Canadians, subject to the king's supremacy, and that the clergy of the church of Rome might "hold, requive and enjoy their accustomed dues and rights, with respect to such persons only as shall profess the said religion." It further provided that "in all matters of controversy relative to property and civil rights, resort shall be had to the laws of Canada, as the rule for the decision of the same." The Act confirmed the criminal law of England as the law to be administered in the province. It further provided for the establishment of a Legislative Council, to consist of residents appointed by the king, not exceeding 23, nor less than 17, in number. Thus, by express provisions of the Legislature of the mother country, the inhabitants of the conquered territory were secured in the enjoyment of their civil rights the free exercise of their religion, and the protection of their own civil laws and customs. This liberality to the French Canadians was displeasing to the British residents, and was denounced by the Congress of the other American colonies which met in Philadelphia in September; but it was highly acceptable to the Canadian clergy, as well as to the principal inhabitants of the colony.

FROM THE QUEBEC ACT TO THE DIVISION OF THE PROVINCE. 1774-1791.

The colonies which had so recently exerted themselves for the extension of British rule in North America were now on the point of offering armed resistance to the mother country. The same year in which the Quebec Act became law, Canada received an invitation to send representatives to Philadelphia to concert measures of union and defence. But if the French Canadians disliked the British, who had recently come amongst them, they hated and distrusted their fellow colonists in New England much more; and the Congress had indiscreetly increased this distrust by its denunciation of the Quebec Act. "Nor can we suppress our astonishment," it had been declared in a document addressed to the people of Great Britain, "that a British Parliament should ever consent to establish in that colony (Canada) a religion that often drenched your island in blood, and has disseminated impiety, bigotry, persecution, murder and rebellion, through every part of the world," Canada, therefore, with this document before it, shewed no disposition to take part in the Congress. The following year coercive measures were resorted to by the latter. Gen. Arnold led an army against Quebec, and Generals Montgomery and Schuyler against Montreal. There were few British troops in the province, and the invaders advanced without much difficulty over large tracts of the country. The forts of Ticonderoga and Crown Point, on Lake Champlain; and Isle aux Noix, St. Johns, Chambly and Sorel, fell into the hands of Montgomery. The Americans still hoped that the Canadians would make common cause with them. A conciliatory address to the people was issued and widely circulated. The sympathizers with the revolutionary cause were, in truth, not few, and the ranks of the invading army were daily swelled by deserters.

lutionists, but they likewise refused, for the most part, to bear arms against them. The British population was very small. Montreal could make no effectual resistance, and presently Quebec was the only place that held the encmy in check. The strength of its defences saved the city, and probably the colony. Carleton, with only sixteen hundred men, of whom six hundred were militia, was able to repel all attacks. General Montgomery fell in an unsuccessful assault upon Onebec made on the 31st of December.

In the spring of 1776, the English received reinforcements. The American army, weakened by disease, fell back to Three Rivers. Governor Carleton pursued and captured the enemy's stores and artillery. The retreat was continued to Sorel, which was also retaken by the English troops; and the expulsion of the invading forces was speedily completed. The colonies in revolt now made fresh efforts to detach the Canadians from their allegiance. Franklin and others were sent as special commissioners. The offers were now more liberal: the Roman Catholic religion was to be respected, and the people allowed to govern themselves. But, on the other hand, the French Canadians had already got entire freedom of worship, and the protection of their ancient laws. They had almost all they desired, and refused to put in jeopardy the privileges aiready secured to them. The American colonies, though successful in shaking off their connection with the mother country, were unable to bring Canada into the Union, and on the recognition of American Independence on the 3rd of September, 1783, Canada remained a colony of Great Britain.

A large number of persons throughout the new confederation, who had remained faithful to the royal cause, being now treated with great severity by the American government, emigrated, and settled in Canada and the other British colonies, but chiefly in the western parts of Canada, now the Province of Ontario. The number of the United Empire Loyalists, as they were termed, that settled in Canada, is estimated at ten thousand. Their property had been confiscated, but by the liberality of the British government large sums were applied to their relief, and each of them received as a free gift from 200 to 5,500 acres of land in Canada or some other colony. Many of them endured great hardships in thus leaving their homes to begin life anew, but by their energy and enterprise they gave much valuable aid in developing the resources of the country.

There was now a growing agitation in the Province of Quebec for a representative system of government. The French Canadians, it is true, had been admitted from the first into the Legislative Conneil, but they were not in a majority there, whereas in an elective chamber they must almost necessarily have a very large majority. One of the most prominent agitators for a representative form of government was Du Calvet, a French Protestant, who was accused of aiding the insurgents during the revolutionary war. Ho strenuously advocated an elective assembly, and also the representation of Canada by six members in the British Parliament.

In 1785, Lord Dorchestor returned to Canada as Governor General, Sir Frederick Haldimand who had held the office since 1778, having solicited his own recall. Notwithstanding the popularity of Lord Dorchester, discontent generally prevailed. At length, after petitions and counter-petitions had been canvassed for years, and transmitted to Britain, in 1789, the draft of a new constitution was sent to Lord Dorchester by Lord Granville, the colonial minister. By this it was proposed to divide the Provinces of Cuebec into two—the Province of Upper Canada and the Province of Lower Canada. Each section was to have a Legislative Council and Assembly. "This separation I hope," said Mr. Pitt, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, will put an end to the competition between the old French inhabitants and the new settlers from Britain and the British colonies." The Upper Province was to give a great majority to the one nationality, and the Lower Province to the other. All taxes were to be imposed and the money disbursed under the control of the Legislature of each section.

The division of the Province was contrary to the advice of Lord Dorchester, but the measure finally became law in 1791. The Act provided that the Legislative Council of Lower Canada should be composed of not fewer than fifteen, and that of Upper Canada of not fewer than seven persons. Members were to hold their seats for life. The number of members to be elected to the Legislative Assembly of Upper Canada was not to be loss than sixteen, and of Lower Canada not less than fifty. The Council and Assembly were to be called together at least once in every year: the Assembly to be elected for four years.

During the 30 years that the colony had been under British rule, the population had doubled in number. In 1731; it was about 70,000 souls, now it was over 125,000, of whom 120,000 were French Canadians. The inhabitants of the new Province of Upper Canada numbered only 10,000, and were nearly all of British origin. Within 80 years, however, the preponderance of population has been reversed, the inhabitants of the Upper Province now outnumbering by hundreds of thousands those of the other section.

FROM THE DIVISION OF THE PROVINCE TO THE UNION, 1791-1840.

The first elections in Lower Canada under the new form of government took place in June, 1792. Fifty members were returned. Fifteen persons had been nominated legislativs councillors. The Legislature was opened on the 17th of December by Gen. Clarke, (in the absence of Lord Dorchester) and sat till May, 1793. A contest took place at the opening of the Legislature as to the election of a speaker, and as to the language in which business should be conducted. Mr. Panet, the French candidate, was elected by 28 to 18, and it was resolved that the minutes, &c., be recorded in both languages. The revenue of the Lower Province was this year only $25,000.

The Parliament of Upper Canada met at Newark (Niagara) on the 17th of September, 1792, and was opened by Lieut. Gov. Simcoe. The Council numbered 7, and the Assembly 16. The Legislature in its first session passed an act introducing the English law " as the rule of decision in all matters of controversy relative to property and civil rights." The second act introduced trial by jury. The eighth and last act gave the names of " Eastern, Midland, Home and Western" to the four districts into which the province had been divided by Lord Dorchester in 1788. These divisions were afterward abolished in 1849. The following session (1793) the Legislature of Upper Canada abolished slavery. The owners of slaves then in the Province were to keep their rights, but the children born of female slaves were to become free at 25 years of age. In 1803, it was decided by Chief Justice Osgoode that slavery was incompatible with the laws of Lower Canada. In 1796, the seat of government of Upper Canada was removed from Niagara to York (Toronto) by Gov. Simcoe.

Dorchester by Lord Granville, the colonial minister. By Lord Dorchester, who had been a faithful friend of this it was proposed to divide the Province of Quebec into Canada for more than thirty years, was succeeded in 1796 by Gen. Prescott. The country was now enjoying repose fabricators of falschood!" he exclaimed in an adds as to the and steadily advancing in wealth and importance.

The bitterness which had previously existed between the French Canadians and British inhabitants of Lower Canada was now considerably moderated. This will be evident from the remarks of M. Plessis, parish priest of Quebec, in his funeral oration over Bishop Briand. "Our conquerors," he said, "regarded at first with a jealous eye and lowering brow, inspired in us feelings only of detestation or aversion. We could not be persuaded that a race of men strangers to our soil, to our language, and to our worship, could ever be willing to render to Canada an equivalent for what it lost by changing its masters. Generous nation, that has made us aware, by so many proofs, how ill founded were our prepossessions. Pardon us then, for that our first (and now past) distrustfulness of a foreign race, whose virtues, not being then experienced by us, we had not the happiness to know." &c.

Sir R. S. Milnes succeeded Prescott as lieut governor of Lower Canada in 1799, and remained in office till 1805. On his retirement, the Hon. Thomas Duna acted as administrator until 1807. Le Canadien newspaper, entirely in French, was first issued in November, 1806.

The relations between England and the United States at this time were beginning to cause no little disquietude and uneasiness. Mr. Dunn called out the militia of Lower Canada, and the response was prompt and satisfactory, and gave an emphatic contradiction to the reports which had been diligently spread, that the Canadians were only waiting for the approach of the invading army to flock to its standard. At this critical time Sir James Craig, a military officer, came out as Governor General, and remained till 1811. Sir James did not become popular with the French Canadians. It was a time of great irritation and disquietude. The Governor issued a general order exhorting the people to be on their guard against treasonable designs, and directing all militia men to watch attentively the actions of aliens amongst them. Col. Panet and other officers were dismissed from the militia on the charge of exciting discord and animosity between the two classes of British subjects. The Assembly, in 1808, adopted a bill by twenty-two to two excluding judges from seats in Parliament. The Legislative Council rejected the measure, and the Governor approved their course. The following session the Assembly engaged in discussions on constitutional questions, and was dissolved by the Governor after a session of five weeks, on the ground that the House was neglecting the matters submitted for its consideration, and wasting the time in fruitless debates. The new Parliament met in 1810, and forthwith proceeded to declare that it was an infringement of parliamentary privileges for the governor to censure the acts of the Assembly. The House also sought to bring the government officials under its control by offering to assume the payment of their salaries. The Assembly further demanded that a budget should be presented to it showing in detail all the estimated expenditure for the succeeding year. The Council and Assembly were at variance on the question of excluding Judge de Bonne. The Assembly passed a resolution that a judge of the Court of King's Bench could not sit or vote in the House. The Governor declared that he felt bound to oppose this assumption, and prorogued the Legislature. Proceedings were instituted against the proprietors and editors of Le Canadien for disseminating treasonable publications, and several of the opposition leaders were arrested. The Governor's health began to fail. The distrust and opposi-fabricators of falsehood!" he exclaimed in an addsess to the Canadians, March 21st, "What do you know of me or my intentions? Canadians, ask the heads of your Church, who have opportunities of knowing me. Taese are men of honor and knowledge, from whom you ought to seek information and advice. The leaders of faction, the demagogues of a party, associate not with me; they cannot know me. For what purpose should I oppress you? Is it to serve the king? Is it for myself, then, that I should oppress you? Is it for manbition? What can you give me? Is it for power? Alas! my good friends, with a life now ebbing slowly to its period under the pressure of disease contracted in the service of my country, I look only to pass what it may please God to suffer to remain cf it, in the comfort of retirement among my friends. I remain among you only in obedience to the commands of my Sovereign."

In his letters to Lord Liverpool he drew a dark picture of the discord and enmity between French and British colonists, and suggested that it would be better, rather than leave matters as they were, to unite the two Provinces. In the session of 1810-11, the bill for excluding judges of the King's Bench from seats in the Assembly was again carried, and this time it received the Royal sanction. Shortly afterward Sir James Craig returned to England in consequence of ill health, and died the same year. Mr. Dunn assumed the administration of the government for a short time. Then Sir George Prevost, who had been lieutenant governor of Nova Scotia, was transferred to Canada. Under his conciliatory policy, much of the irritation and animosity between the two nationalities was removed.

The war which had long been apprehended between Great Britain and the United States commenced the following year. M. Plessis, the Roman Catholic Bishop, profited by this occasion to claim the restoration of the rights and status of the Church as they existed in Canada before the conquest. The Legislature of Lower Canada passed an act empowering the Governor General, in case of invasion, to embody the whole militia of the country, and also voted £15,000 per annum for five years toward defraying the expenses of defending the Province. The Legislature of Upper Canada also passed measures for the defence of the Province and for raising and training the militia. The population of Upper Canada had increased at this date to 80,000, and that of the Lower Province to 200,000.

Success attended the first steps taken against the enemy by the British forces in Canada. Fort Michilimackinae, situated on the island of the same name, in the strait between Lakes Huren and Michigan, was captured, and an American force, under Gen. Hull, which had crossed over from Detroit, was forced to retire. Gen. Brock, commander of the forces in Upper Canada, on the 11th of August advanced on Detroit. Hull, the American general, capitulated, and 2,500 prisoners, and thirty-three pieces of cannon, fell into the hands of the English general.

all the estimated expenditure for the succeeding year. The Council and Assembly were at variance on the question of excluding Judge de Bonne. The Assembly passed a resolution that a judge of the Court of King's Bench could not sit on that a judge of the Court of King's Bench could not sit on the House. The Governor declared that he felt bound to oppose this assumption, and prorogued the Legislature. Proceedings were instituted against the proprietors and editors of Le Canadien for disseminating treasonable publications, and several of the opposition leaders were arrested. The Governor's health began to fail. The distrust and opposition has been countered at every step from a portion of the French Canadians awakened his indignation. Hostilities were resumed early the following year. The Indians, under the command of their gallant chief, Tecumseh, gave valuable aid to the British forces. One of the most notable events of the campaign was the battle of Chateauguay. An American army of 3500, under Gen. Hampton, was on the way from Lake Champlain to Montreal. A thousand Canadian militia under Colonel de Salaberry opposed their progress at the junction of the Outarde and Chateauguay rivers. A battle ensued in which the Americans were defeated and forced to retreat. Meanwhile the enemy, who had gained some successes in Upper Canada, was concentrating his forces to co-operate with Gen. Hampton in the attack on Montreal. While on the way down the St Lawrence, Gen. Wilkinson, the American commander, landed part of his troops under Gen. Covington to give battle to a small Canadian force under Col. Morrisson, that had been sent to intercept the invaders. A battle was fought at Chrysler's Farm, county of Dundas, where the Americans, though three times as numerous as the force opposed to them, were completely routed, and their general killed. The defeat of Hampton at Chateauguay, and of Wilkinson at Chrysler's Farm, led the Americans to abandon their design on Montreal.

In March of the following year (1814), the Americans were defeated at Lacolle, and their depot at Oswego was destroyed. The English failed in an attack on Sackett's harbour, and were forced to retreat at Chippewa. A hard fought battle took place at Lundy's Lane near Niagara Falls, after which the enemy retreated during the night to Chippewa. The war was subsequently terminated by the Treaty of Ghent, 24th December, 1814.

About the time peace was restored the Legislature of Lower Canada met at Quebec. The political discussions which had ceased during the war now commenced afresh. M. L. J. Papineau was chosen Speaker in the place of M. Panet, who was nominated a member of the Legislative Council. The elder Papineau had long been one of the most prominent champions of French Canadian nationality, and his son, the new Speaker, was destined to become the greatest agitator of his time.

Sir George Prévost, who had been regarded by the French Canadians as their firm friend, went home at the close of the war to defend himself against some charges that had been made against his conduct of military affairs during the last campaign. He died shortly after his arrival in London. Sir Gordon Drummond administered the government for a short time, when he was succeeded in 1816 by Sir John C. Sherbrooke, ex-governor of Nova Scotia, who, like Sir George Prévost, endeavoured to gain the good will, or at least remove the animosity, of the French Canadian majority. M. Plessis, the Bishop, was invited to take a seat at the Council board, with the reservation that the right should not extend to his successors. A similar honor was conferred on M. Papineau. The principal topic of discussion now was the Estimates. The Legislative Assembly claimed the right of controlling the entire expenditure. In Upper Canada a similar discussion was proceeding.

Another subject that engrossed much attention was the Clergy Reserves. A large amount of territory had been reserved by the Imperial Act of 1791 for the support of the Canada. At first, they had yielded no revenue, the rents being insufficient to cover the expenses of management. They remained in the hands of government, and the only money paid to the Church of England up to 1821 was a sum of £427 in 1816. Other bodies of Protestants began to lay claim to a share of the fund, and addresses were passed by the Houses of Assembly recommending the distribution of the money among all denominations. The subject was not finally disposed of till 1855, when, after certain provision had been made for the widows and orphans of deceased clergymen, and for securing the incomes then enjoyed, the rest of the fund was applied to municipal purposes. The colony, notwithstanding these political discussions, was in a highly prosperous condition, and the great majority of the people, busy and contented, took little interest in the debates on constitutional questions.

In 1818, Sir J. C. Sherbrooke was permitted to retire from office, and the Duke of Richmond came out as Governor. His administration was brief; being bitten by a fox, he died of hydrophobia, August, 1819. The Earl of Dalhousie succeeded him. The struggle of the Assembly on the question of voting the supplies continued. Between the Legislative Council, of which the majority of members were British, and the Legislative Assembly, composed almost exclusively of French Canadians, there was continual strife and animosity. The Assembly objected, in particular, to vote the salaries of certain obnoxious officials.

A Bill for the union of the two Provinces was introduced into the Imperial Parliam at in 1822, but thrown out on the second reading. When the French Canadians learned that this Bill had been introduced by the government, they loudly denounced the project. The people of Upper Canada were not in favour of it, and when the Lower Canadian Assembly met in January, 1823, it forthwith passed resolutions condemning the Bill, and Messrs. Papineau and Nelson were dispatched to London to protest against it. The project was therefore abandoned for a time.

Meanwhile, the dispute on the question of voting the supplies continued more fiercely than ever. In 1827 the Lower Canada Assembly again stopped the supplies, as they had done for several years previously. Lord Dalhousie prorogued the Chambers the next day. A new parliament was summoned, which elected M. Papineau to be Speaker. The Governor disapproved of the selection, and requested the House to propose some one else. The House, refusing to comply, was immediately prorogued. The House of Commons appointed a committee that reported at length on the state of Canadian affairs, but no definite action was taken. Sir James Kempt, from Nova Scotia, replaced Lord Dalhousie in Lower Canada, and Sir John Colborne came out to Upper Canada.

Matters were becoming more serious. In Upper Canada there was a strong republican element that looked with admiration at the rapid growth of the neighboring states. The fact that the leading positions in the government were held by a small number of officials and their family connections was another cause of much dissatisfaction. In Lower Canada there was the ancient hostility of race. Concessions which, if made in time, would have allayed the discontent, were withheld. In the Lower Canadian House of Assembly 92 resolutions condemning the government for their management of affairs, for the exclusion of the French Canadians from office, and setting forth other matters of complaint, were introduced and passed in the spring of 1834. inquire into the grievances complained of. The report of June, 1841. In September of that year, Lord Sydenham, who of the emands of the Lower Canadian opposition. The Imperial Act of 1791 had authorized the establishment of Church of England rectories in the parishes of Canada. Under the authority of this act, fifty-seven rectories were established in Upper Canada by Sir John Colborne in 1836. This act caused increased excitement. Steps were taken by the leaders of the malconteuts to enrol the disaffected. In this their success was not great, for few of the common made by their leaders. The clergy, and all the most prudent and moderate chiefs of the opposition, strongly opposed any resort to violence. Some of the more violent agitators, however, would not be restrained. The first outbreak occurred in Montreal on the 7th of November, 1837, when the "Sons of Liberty," an organization of young men of Montreal, assailed a body of volunteers in the street. In the course of the month, several encounters took place between the insurgents and the military at St. Denis, St. Charles, St. Eustache, and other points. At St. Denis, the British troops, being few in number, were repulsed; but at St. Charles, the rebels were routed with great slaughter by a detachment under Col. Wetherall. At St. Eustache also, the loss of the insurgents was very heavy. In Upper Canada, the insurgents, under the command of W. L. Mackenzie, were defeated near Toronto by a force of volunteers commanded by Sir F. B. Head. The Earl of Durham, the new Governor General, came out with special powers to inquire into the state of Canadian affairs. The constitution of Lower Canada had been suspended and a special council appointed. The Governor reported strongly in favour of the union of the provinees, but some acts of his administration being censured in the House of Lords, he was recalled. Before the rebellion was finally suppressed, several attempts were made to invade Canada from the American frontier by sympathizers on the other side, but these attempts were all speedily defeated. The subsequent risings were punished with greater severity than the first, a number of the leading rebels being executed under sentence of court martial, and many more transported. Some of the chief instigators of revolt, however, escaped. Mackenzie, Papineau, and others were, some years later, permitted to return to Canada, and obtained seats in the Legislative Assembly.

The insurrection being at an end, the project of uniting the two Canadas was urged on by the British ministry, The Right Hon. C. P. Thompson, an eminent merchant, (afterwards Lord Sydenham) came out as Governor General (1839). The assent of the Special Council of Lower Canada, and of the Legislature of Upper Canada, was obtained to the measure. A bill was drafted and sent to England by Lord Sydenham, and passed in 1840. The Union took effect by royal proclamation on the 10th of February, 1841.

FROM THE UNION TO CONFEDERATION-1841-1867.

Canada was now fully under "Responsible Government," the ministry having seats in the Legislature, and holding office so long only as they enjoyed the confidence of a majority of the members of the Lower House. The Local Legislatures were abolished. Upper and Lower Canada were represented by an equal number of members in the Legislative Assembly of Canada. To the House was conceded also entire control over the expenditure. The Legislative Councillors were to be appointed by the Crown for life.

The first United Parliament was opened at Kingston in the c ssion was submitted to Parliament in 1837, but had been a very able and popular Governor, died from the the v sity of the House of Commons was opposed to most effects of a fall from his horse. Sir Charles Bagot then came out as Governor General, and held office till 1843. In 1844, the seat of government was removed from Kingston to Montreal. Lord Metcalfe administered the government from 1843 to 1845. Being then obliged to retire in consequence of ill health, he was succeeded by Lord Cathcart, who held office till 1847, when the Earl of Elgin was appointed Governor. The administration of this able statesman was prosperous and satisfactory. Some agitation occurred during his term people were disposed to take up arms to enforce the demands of office respecting the "Rebellion Losses Bill," for indemnifying persons who had sustained loss during the insurrection of 1837-8. Violent opposition was made to this measure, which was considered by many to be too liberal as well as too indiscriminate. Lord Elgin, after assenting to the Bill, was hooted and pelted in the streets of Montreal, and the Parliament buildings were set on fire by the mob, and a large amount of property, including the library and valuable records, was destroyed. The seat of government was after-

> The succeeding years were years of steady progress and prosperity. A few events only will be noted here, but historical details respecting various subjects will be found under other headings. In 1850, a free banking law was passed. In 1851, five cent postage was introduced. In 1853, the Legislative Assembly was increased from eightyfour to one hundred and thirty members, sixty-five from each section of the Province. In 1858, the decimal system of currency was adopted. Sir Edmund Head succeeded Lord Elgin in 1854 and continued in office till 1860. In 1855 the Clergy Reserves question was settled by the Legislature, and Seignioral Tenure in Lower Canada was abolished. In 1856, the elective principle was applied to the Legislative Council, and it became an elective chamber. It was to be composed of the members appointed by the Crown before the 14th of July, 1856, and of forty-eight members elected for forty-eight electoral divisions, into which the Province was divided. In 1858, Ottawa was selected by the Queen as the permanent seat of government, and Parliament buildings were erected there. In 1859-60, the Statutes of the Province were consolidated into three volumes, one volume containing the Acts relating to all Canada, and the other two volumes embracing the Statutes relating to Upper and Lower Canada respectively. In 1860, the British Provinces were visited by the Prince of Wales. Whilst in Canada the Prince inaugurated the Victoria Bridge and laid the corner stone of the Parliamentary buildings at Ottawa. The seizure of Mason and Slidell on board the British steamer Trent towards the close of 1861, and the prospect of a war between England and the United States, caused intense excitement throughout Canada and prompted the organization and enrolment of numerous bodies of volunteer militia. These corns in later years have twice done good service (1866, 1870) in repelling incursions of Fenian marauders. In 1865-6, the Civil Code of Lower Canada, the compilation of which had been entrusted to three commissioners several years before was completed and promulgated. In 1864, great difficulty was experienced in carrying on the government. The majority of Lower Canadian members and the majority of Upper Canadian members were arrayed on opposite sides of the House, and the two parties were very evenly balanced. The number of members in the Legislative Assembly was the same for each section of the Province, and although the population of Upper Canada now greatly exceeded that of Lower Canada, the Lower Canadian members opposed the conces

DESCRIPTION OF ONTARIO AND QUEBEC.

The Provinces of Ontario and Quebec extend in an easterly direction from near the Red River settlement to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and from Michigan to New Brunswick. They extend northward from the Canadian lakes and the St. Lawrence to the high ridge of land which separates the rivers of Canada from those of the territory hitherto known as the Hudson Bay territory, but now forming a part of the Dominion of Canada.

The provinces are bounded north by the Hudson Bay territory; east by the Gulf of St. Lawrence; south by the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, and New York, and Lakes Erie and Ontario; and west by Lakes St. Clair, Huron and Superior, and the north west Indian territories.

The area cannot be accurately stated, as the northern and western boundaries have not yet been surveyed. The nearest approximation is 331,280 square miles, of which 121,260 are included in the Province of Ontario, and 210,020 in the Province of Quebec.

The principal rivers are the St. Lawrence, which drains an area of 565,000 square miles; the Ottawa, 450 miles long, 19 which forms a central boundary between the two sections of the province; the St. Maurice, nearly 400 miles in length; the Saguenay noted for its fine scenery; the Richelieu, the Miagara, and others. The Province of Ontario has for its southern and western boundaries five great lakes-Superior, Huron and Georgian Bay, St. Clair, Erie, and Ontario, of square miles. In some parts of the Province of Quebec, especially in the Eastern Townships, the scenery is extremely picturesque. In the Province of Ontario the surface is undulating rather than mountainous. A main water shed separates the waters of the St. Lawrence from those of the Ottawa.

The system of inland navigation is the most extensive and perfect in the world. The statistics given under separate heads will convey some idea of the extent of railway communication; of the agricultural and mineral wealth: the volume of trade, and the vast resources and general prosperity of the provinces.

SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF NOVA SCOTIA.

I. From its discovery to 1784.

Nova Scotia, up to the year 1784, included the Province now called New Brunswick, and it also formerly included part of the present state of Maine, the whole being known under the name of Acadie. This was the term used in the original commission of the king of France, and is found in public documents as far back as 1604. The country was discovered by Sebastian Cabot in 1498, but may have been noticed by John Cabot in his voyage the previous year. A few years after the discovery by Cabot, French fishermen from Basque and Bretagne arrived at a promontory of an island to the southwest, and named it Cape Breton. This name was afterward applied to the whole island, which now forms part of Nova Scotia.

In 1518, Baron de Léry, an adventurous Frenchman, anxious that France should have a share in the newly discovered territories, proposed to found a settlement in Acadie. He accordingly set sail with a company of settlers, but owing to tempestuous weather and other adverse circumstances, the enterprise miscarried, and the expedition was abandoned. In 1590 Cape Breton was resorted to by persons from England. In 1598, the Marquis de la Roche made an attempt to colonize the country by convicts. Fearing to set his settlers free on the mainland, he first landed forty of them on Sable Island, a spot ill suited to support life. But when the Marquis attempted to return to the island from the mainland, his ship was driven by a storm to France. There he was immediately taken prisoner, in a civil war then raging, and it was not till five years had elapsed that the wretched survivors, twelve in number, were rescued from their miserable position.

No further attempt was made till about 1603 when Sieur Dupont Gravé, a merchant of St. Malo, lured by the prospect of gain, sought to obtain a monopoly of the far traffic in Canada and Acadie. With the assistance of de Chaste, governor of Dieppe, a company of Rouen merchants was organized, and an expedition fitted out and placed under the command of Champlain. In 1603, Champlain sailed up the St. Lawrence as far as the Lachine rapids; and Henry IV of France was so well pleased with the result of the expedition, that he granted to M. de Monts, a Huguenot, who succeeded to de Chaste on the death of the latter, a monopoly of the fur traffic in all parts of North America lying between Cape Race, in Newfoundland, and the 50th Britain. degree of north latitude. The second expedition under de In 1624, Charles I. granted a large extent of land in Nova.

Monts sailed in March, 1604. Part of the expedition went on to Canada, but de Monts remained at Acadie. This was considered the finest country of La Nouvelle France. It possessed fine ports, a fertile soil, and a temperate and salubrious climate. The Micmac Indians, a branch of the which the total length is 1,085 miles, and area 80,000 Algonquin family, who then inhabited the country, received the French with kindness. De Monts landed first at Port Rossignol, now called Liverpool, and afterward coasted the peninsula as far as the Bay of Fundy. The expedition also stopped at Port Royal, now called Annapolis, where Baron de Poutrincourt, a companion of de Monts, formed a settlement. De Monts sailed on round the bay, and discovered the River St John. He finally wintered on a rocky islet at the mouth of the St. Croix. Thirty-six of the party died of scurvy during the winter. In spring de Monts went further south. During his absence, Dupont Gravé arrived from France with supplies and forty additional colonists, and on the return of de Monts, the entire body set out for Port Royal, where they began to establish a settlement. In this work, the celebrated Lescarbot, a friend of Poutrincourt, is said to have afforded much valuable assistance. Under his guidance the colonists constructed a variety of apparatus and machines which were very useful to them in their new settlement. But unexpected misfortunes led to the abandonment of the colony. A marauding party of Dutchmen from the New Netherlands seized a whole year's stores of peltries; and, some months later, the merchants of St. Malo, jealous of the monopoly of the fur traffic enjoyed by the Rouen company, succeeded in getting de Monts' charter revoked. In 1607, Poutrincourt, Lescarbot and the other colonists abandoned the settlement at Port Royal, and returned to

Three years later, Poutrincourt, the governor, who had obtained a grant of Port Royal from de Monts, which had been confirmed by the king, returned with a number of skilled artisans and resumed his labors. But the Jesuits, after the assassination of Henry IV., having succeeded in effecting an entrance into the country, and having founded a settlement of their own at St. Sauveur, dissensions sprang up which eventually led to the abandonment of the colony a second time; and many of the Huguenot settlers withdrew from the country in disgust. The colonists of Virginia alsointerfered, claiming Acadie for Britain by right of discovery. Captain Argall, from Virginia, following up this pretension, appeared suddenly before St. Sauveur, the Jesuit settlement, founded by La Saussage, and carried the place by storm, The government of Virginia subsequently resolved to expel the French from every point south of the 45th parallel of north latitude, including the central region of Acadie; and Sir Samuel Argall, with three armed vessels, was commissioned to carry out the resolution. Port Royal was captured and destroyed in 1613, the colonists were dispersed, and Poutrincourt returned to France. This is stated to have been the first conflict between English and French in the new world.

The Virginians, however, soon left Acadie. In 1621, Sir William Alexander obtained from James I. of England a grant of the territory lying to the east of a line drawn from the St. Croix to the St. Lawrence. The land was called Nova Scotia in the patent. In 1622, Sir William sent a body of colonists to begin a settlement. Arriving late in the season, they were obliged to winter in Newfoundland. In 1623, they reached Cape Sable, but finding the French in possession of the places they intended to occupy, they returned to scotta to a number of persons who were created "baronets to another colonial expedition under Gen. Nicholson, and of Nova Scotia." The object was to promote the colonization of the country, each baronet receiving 16,000 acres of land, and being bound to send out six settlers. In 1628, Port Royal was taken by Sir David Kertk, a Huguenot officer in the English service. The following year, Sir William Alexander coded part of his territory to Claude de la Tour, a French prisoner who had married an English lady. At this time the French still held possession of Cape Sable and other places in the south. De la Tour was sent to take possession of Acadie, but his son, who held one of the forts, refused to give it up. A few years later, by the Treaty of St. Germain en Laye, in 1632, Charles I. renounced the pretensions that had been put forward to Acadie by his subjects, and possession of the colony was confirmed to France. It was now divided into three provinces, of which the governors were de Razillai, young de la Tour, and Denys. Razillai was succeeded in 1635, by Charnizay. Disputes now commenced between de la Tour and Charnizay as to the bounds of their respective territories. Louis XIII, interfered, and in 1638, defined the boundaries anew; but de la Tour would not submit, and for several years a fierce struggle was carried on. Finally, in 1645, Charnizay, in the absence of de la Tour, assaulted the fort of his enemy. Madame de la Tour made a gallant defence, and obtained favorable terms of capitulation. But Charnizay, mortified at finding the band of defenders so small, treacherously hanged all but one. Madame de la Tour died soon afterward. Charnizay was then named chief governor of Acadie. On the death of Charnizay in 1650, de la Tour returned. In 1651, he married Charnizay's widow, and claimed Nova Scotia, as his right; but he was soon assailed by a creditor of Charnizay, named La Borgue, who destroyed the settlement of La Hève. Before the contest was decided an enemy from without interfered. Cromwell, who was now Protector of England, sent out an expedition in 1654, under Colonel Sedgwick who defeated both de la Tour and la Borgue, and made himself master of all the strong posts in the colony. De la Tour appealed to Cromwell for redress. His claim was allowed, and Cromwell granted to him and two English gentlemen the greater part of Acadie. The rights of de la Tour were afterwards purchased by the other proprietors; but in 1667, by the Treaty of Breda, Acadie was again transferred to France.

During these vicissitudes, little had been done by either English or French towards the development and improvement of the country. In 1685, the population was reported to be about nine hundred. The French establishments were so ill protected that a band of pirates, numbering only one hundred and ten, captured Pentagoet, the headquarters Gov. Chambly.

In 1690, when the Canadians and New Englanders were engaged in hostilities, Port Royal surrendered to Admiral Phipps from Massachusetts, and other Acadian posts were captured by Col. Church. The British remained masters of the greater part of Acadie till 1696, when it was once more restored to France by the Treaty of Ryswick. M. de Villebon, who was governor at this time, having died July, 1700, Brouillon succeeded.

War being declared against France at the beginning of Queen Anne's reign, the possession of Acadie was again disputed. The New Englanders organized another expedition for its conquest in 1707. On the sixth of June of that year, a squadron of two ships of war, and twenty-three transports carrying 2000 men, appeared before Port Royal. The forti-Scations being well manned and defended, the attack was the loss of Acadie was involved in the surrender The power of France being weakened by protracted war, she was compelled by the Treaty of Utrecht, in 1713, to cede to Britain not only Acadie, but also all her pretensions to Newfoundland and the Hudson Bay Territory. The Island of Cape Breton, however, was retained by the French, and after the loss of Nova Scotia they began to construct fortifications at Louisbourg, at a cost of more than one million sterling, as a protection to their Canadian possessions. The island became an important fishing station, and Louisbourg continued to be the capital for many years.

France having declared war against England in 1744, Gov. Shirley, of Massachusetts, formed the design of taking Louisbourg, though the fortress was supposed to be almost impregnable. New Hampshire, Connecticut, New York, and other colonies furnished troops, provisions and munitions of war. The expedition, which was placed under the command of General Pepperell, sailed from Boston, and arrived at Canseau on the 5th of April, 1745. Here it was joined by some English ships under Admiral Warren. A landing was effected in rear of the town early in May, and the siege commenced. Preparations had been made for an assault, when the French governor, Duchambeau, capitulated on the 16th of June. The garrison marched out with the honors of war. An immense booty, valued at a million sterling, fell into the hands of the victors. The Canadians, in great alarm at the conquest of this stronghold, sent to France for help, and a formidable expedition was rent out the following year under the command of the Duke D'Anville, to retake Louisbourg and Acadie. But the hostile fleet met with terrible disasters. The ships being dispersed and wrecked by violent storms, and the soldiers and crews thinned by disease, nothing could be accomplished. The duke died of vexation, and the viceadmiral, d'Estournelle, killed himself in despair. Only a remnant of the expedition returned to France. By the Treaty of Aix-la-Chapelle in 1748, Britain agreed to restore Cape Breton to France, but the cost of the New England expedition was refunded to the colonies by the mother coun-

After the Treaty, disputes commenced as to the boundaries of the French and British possessions in America. A joint commission was appointed in 1749, but the disputes led to hostilities from time to time between the colonists of the respective countries. To prevent encroachments on the territory in dispute, the governor of Canada induced three thousand Acadian French to settle on the north shore of the Bay of Fundy, and on Isle St. Jean (Prince Edward Island).

The harassing alternation of proprietorship had hitherto prevented any attempts to develop the resources of Nova Scotia. At this time, however, an effort was made to colonize it by emigrants sent out at the expense of the British government. Free grants of land, together with tools, arms and provisions for a year, were offered to all soldiers who were willing to settle in the colony. About four thousand disbanded soldiers and their families, attracted by these liberal offers, arrived at Chebucto Harbor on the 21st of June, 1749, and the town of Halifax was founded on its shores. Cornwallis became the first governor of the colony and appointed a council of six members. In 1753, about 1500 Germans joined the colony, and settled in the county

Meantime the boundary disputes continued. The British claimed the whole territory north to the St. Lawrence including the Peninsula of Gaspé. The Seven Years' War repulsed; but in 1710, Port Royal was forced to surrender (1756-1763) which resulted in the cession of Canada to

Britain, and thus put an end to the boundary question, soon after commenced. In 1755, the French fort Beauséjour, on the north shore of the Bay of Fundy, (part of the disputed territory,) was captured by an expedition from Boston under Col. Winslow, assisted by regular troops under Col. Monckton. An incident of much interest now occurred, for the explanation of which we must go back a few years. After the cession of Acadie to Britain by the Treaty of 1713, many of the Acadians remained in the country, but refused to take the oath of allegiance. They were allowed to follow their own mode of worship, and to have magistrates of their own selection. Being exempted from bearing arms against their countrymen, they received the name of neutral French. By intriguing with the Indians who had also resented the cession of the country to Britain and were hostile to the English settlers, these neutral French proved troublesome and dangerous neighbors. In the course of the boundary disputes they assisted and encouraged the hostile Indians, who were a source of great annoyance and uneasiness to the British. It was resolved, therefore, to remove the entire population and disperse them through the other colonies. This resolution was rigorously carried out; the greater part of the Acadians, about 7,000 in number. being hurried on board ship, their property destroyed or confiscated, and themselves scattered over the continent. Some of the exiles returned to Nova Scotia after the peace of

In 1758, a constitution was granted to Nova Scotia. From the year 1719, the administration of public affairs had been vested in a governor and connell. On the 2nd of October, 1758, the first Parliament assembled at Halifax. The House of Assembly comprised 22 members elected by the people, and the combined Executive and Legislative Council, of twelve members, appointed by the Grown.

The capture of the important post of Louisbourg was one of the objects most ardently desired at the commencement of the war. An attempt to take it was made without success in 1756. In 1758, however, the stronghold was forced to surrender to a powerful expedition under Generals Wolfe and Amherst, and Admiral Boscawen. The fortifications were destroyed, and the inhabitants sent to France. Islo St. Jean also passed from French hands, and was annexed to the government of Nova Scotia.

The Treaty of 1763 restored peace, and the colony now made rapid progress. The island of Cape Breton was at this time annexed to Nova Scotia, and in 1765, was formed into a county. In 1770, St. John's Island, (Prince Edward Island) was separated from the government of Nova Scotia, and became a separate colony.

At the close of the American Revolutionary war, the population of Nova Scotia was greatly augmented by the influx of about twenty thousand loyalists from the revolted colonies, who sattled in Nova Scotia and Cape Breton.

In 1784, all the part of Nova Scotia north of the Bay of Fundy was separated from the rest of the Province, and constituted a separate colony, called New Brunswick. The same year a separate government was given to Cape Breton, with Sydney as the chief town.

FROM THE SEPARATION FROM NEW BRUNSWICE TO CONFEDERA-

The events of this period are of a pacific character, and relate to internal development and improvement. The great Pictou road was opened in 1792; the militia organized in 1806. The next important event was the re-union of Cape Breton with Nova Scotia in 1820, when it was allowed to send two members to the Legislature. In 1823, Romas Catholics were freed from all disabilities, and placed on the same footing as members of other denominations. In 183, the combined Executive and Legislative Council was dissolved, and separate Councils substituted. In 1848, Responsible Government was fully introduced.

In 1861, the Legislature of Nova Scotia unanimously adopted a resolution favorable to Inter-colonial Union. The resolution reads as follows:

Whereas, The subject of a Union of the North American Provinces, or of the Maritime Provinces, from time to time has been mooted and discussed in all the colonies;

And Whereas, While many advantages may be secured by such an union, either of all these Provinces or a portion of them, many and serious obstacles are presented which car only be overcome by mutual consultation of the leading mer of the colonies, and by free communication with the Imperial government.

Therefore Resolved, That His Excellency the Lieutenau Governor be respectfully requested to put himself in communication with His Grace the Colonial Secretary and He Excellency the Governor General of the N. A. colonies, is order to ascertain the policy of Her Majesty's government and the opinions of the other colonies, with a view to the enlightened consideration of a question involving the highes interest, and upon which the public mind in all the Provinces ought to be set at rest.

This led to a conference at Charlottetown to consider the advantage of an union of the Maritime colonies. But Canada having proposed a more extensive scheme, the conference was adjourned to Quebec. Delegates from Nova Scotis took part. But after the Quebec conference, a strong opposition was made to the scheme proposed. In 1866, however the House of Assembly, by a vote of 31 to 19 authorized the Lieutenant Governor to appoint delegates to arrange will the Imperial Government a scheme of union. Delegates were appointed, who, together with the delegates from Canada and New Brunswick, met in London in December, 1866. The Bill for the Confederation of the Provinces was introduced into the Imperial Legislature, and received the Royal assen on the 28th of March following. The minority continued to oppose the scheme, but the anti-confederate party is dimin ishing, and it may be hoped that all discontent will have vanished in the course of a few years.

DESCRIPTION OF NOVA SCOTIA.

The Province, including Cape Breton, is about 350 miles in length, and 100 in breadth. The country is beautifully variegated by ranges of lofty hills and broad valleys, both of which run longitudinally through the Province. Its Atlantic frontier, for twenty miles inland, is composed of a poor soil, though rich in gold and other valuable minerals. The Cobequid range of mountains, as it is called, runs through the interior of the Province. The summits of a few of the conical mounts of this range ascend 1100 feet, and the land may be cultivated nearly to the top. On each side of these mountains is an extensive range of rich arable lands, where during the present century. The timber trade was greatly agricultural operations are carried on extensively, and with

The Province is 900 miles in circumference; and, with the exception of fifteen miles, where it joins New Brunswick, it faces the Atlantic, Bay of Fundy, Straits of Northumberland, and Gulf of St. Lawrence. Deep and spacious harbors indent its scaboard; and the interior is pierced in all directions by navigable rivers, the country being thus admirably adapted for commercial enterprise.

SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

The leading events in the history of New Brunswick up to the year 1784 will be found under the head of Nova Scotia, and need not be repeated here.

The first colonists were the settlers brought out by de Monts in 1604. In 1639 French settlements were made on the Bay of Chaleurs. This bay was so named by Jacques Cartier from the intense heat of the weather on the 9th July, 1534, when he entered the Bay in the course of his memorable voyage to the Gulf of St. Lawrence.

In 1672, the French established settlements on the river Miramichi, and at other places on the eastern coast. After

In 1790, Davidson, the pioneer, died. A brisk trade was carried on about this time by Fraser & Thom in the exportation of fish, furs, peltries, and sawed lumber. When the United States had gained their independence, a considerable number of the exiled loyalists, about five thousand persons, emigrated to New Brunswick, where they were supplied with land, provisions, tools and clothing, by the British government. These "United Empire" loyalists may be looked upon as the founders of New Brunswick, and their descendants now form a considerable part of the population. It was about this time (1783) that the first newspaper was published in the

The colony has steadily increased in wealth and importance stimulated by an act of the British Parliament in 1809 admitting colonial timber into England free of duty, while timber coming from the Baltic was taxed. The trade became a profitable branch of industry, and ship building was commenced. A tide of emigration flowed in, and rapidly augmented the population. St. John, St. Andrews and Miramichi were annually resorted to by a large number ##

In 1803, Gov. Carleton was removed to England, after having governed the Province for nearly twenty years, during which period it had grown from a wilderness to an

After the departure of Carleton, the government was administered up to the year 1817, by presidents. At the close of the war in 1815, a considerable number of disbanded soldiers settled in New Brunswick. In 1824, the population had increased to 74,176.

The state of the Province in 1825 is thus described by Cooney: "Our trade was looking up; and brightening were our prospects. The bosom of our river sustained a large fleet loaded with the productions of many climes ; its sloping banks enamelled with the beauties of expanding vegetation, and the edge of each flowery belt was fringed the cossion of the country to Britain in 1713, part of what is by the luxuriant foliage of the surrounding forest. commerce flourished in our towns; and plenty filled our hamlets."

But this year a remarkable conflagration occurred, which caused the loss of many lives, and the destruction of much property. The summer had been unusually warm and dry, and extensive fires had raged in different parts of the country. Throughout the northern part of New Brunswick hardly any rain had fallen, and from the 1st to the 5th October, the heat was extraordinary. The fire, which had been creeping through the forests, approached some of the settlements, and the heat became more intense. About 9 o'clock in the night of the 7th October, the fire burst through the forest in the rear of Newcastle, and that town, together with Douglastown, and the northern side of the Miramichi, for a hundred miles, were enveloped in smoke and flame. The wooden houses, the stores containing spirits, powder, and other combustible articles, the stables and barns of the towns and settlements, speedily became a prey to the devouring fire, and presented a terrible scene of confusion and devastation. Newcastle, a flourishing town of 1000 inhabitants, was left a heap of smoking ruins, and hundreds of miles of country were laid waste. The area swept by the flames was about 6,000 square miles. In this conflagration 160 persons were burned, or drowned in the river, 595 buildings and 875 head of cattle were destroyed. The loss of property was estimated at £204,323, of which only £12,050 were covered by insurance. The Legislature of Lower Canada voted £2,500 for the relief of the sufferers, and contributions to the extent of £35,383 were received from Great Britain, the United States, and the neighboring colonies. The burnt towns and villages were soon rebuilt in a style of greater solidity and beauty. In 1837, another extensive fire occurred in the city of St John. when property to the value of one million dollars, (including 115 houses) was destroyed.

The provincial revenues were this year surrendered to the tocal government on condition of paying the salaries of certain officials amounting to $58,000 per annum.

The treaty between Great Britain and the United States, negotiated by Lord Ashburton in 1842, settled the disputed boundary between Maine and New Brunswick.

In 1845 commissioners were appointed by the British Government, to explore and survey a railway route from Halifax to Quebec, across the Province of New Branswick. The commissioners in their report speak enthusiastically of the climate, soil and capabilities of the country.

In 1848 Responsible Government was introduced.

The colony has since continued to advance rapidly in wealth and importance. Trade was for a time greatly benefitted by the Reciprocity Treaty between British America and the United States.

New Brunswick joined in the conference at Quebec on the subject of Confederation, but a ministry opposed to the scheme came into power shortly afterward. In 1866, however, the ministry resigned, and a new government, favorable to Confederation, was formed. A general election followed, and the friends of union were victorious at the polls. New Brunswick consequently became a member of the Federation.

DESCRIPTION OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

This Province is situated between 45° and 48° 7' N. lat.; and between 63° 50' and 69° W. long. Its length, from Nova Scotia, on the southeast, to the Province of Quebec on the northwest, is 190 miles; breadth, from the State of Maine, on the southwest, to the Straits of Northumberland on the northeast, 140 miles. It is situated nearly in the centre of the north temperate zone. The area of the Province is 27.710 square miles or 17.600,000 acres. The surface of the country is generally flat or undulating. There are some hills skirting the Bay of Fundy and the Rivers St. John and Restigouche, but they nowhere assume mountain summits. New Brunswick has an external water-line of 410 miles, exclusive of indentations. This coast line is indented by deep and spacious bays and harbors; and the face of the Province is traversed in all directions by navigable rivers. The Bay of Fundy, with its affluents, Chignecto and Cumberland bays, is 140 miles in length, by 45, its greatest breadth; and the Bay of Chaleurs, in the northwest, is 8 miles long by 20 broad. The principal rivers are the St. Croix, 60 miles in length; St. John, 450; Petitcadiac, 100; Richibucto, 40; Miramichi, 200; Nipisignit, 90; and the Restigouche, 200 miles long. There are numerous lakes, varying in size from mere ponds to lakes containing 80 square miles. Of the area of the Province, about 14,000,000 acres are fit for profitable cultivation. These lands are accessible from all sides of the country. Of the granted lands, about 60,000 acres consist of rich alluvial lands, called marsh; some of which are said to have been producing large crops of excellent hay for upwards of one hundred years.

The tides of the Bay of Fundy rise from 20 feet at the city of St. John, to 60 feet at the head of Chignecto Bay, while the tides of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, separated but twelve miles from those of the Bay of Fundy, rise only from four to seven feet.

Roads and settlements are nearly continuous around the province, and cross it in numerous places. The River St. John in its downward course traverses the counties of Victoria, Carleton, York, Sunbury, Queen's, King's, and St. John. The counties of Westmoreland, Kent, Northumberland, Gloucester, and Restigouche, lie on the Straits of Northumberland, Gulf of St. Lawrence, and Bay of Chalcurs. Charlotte, St. John and Albert lie on the Bay of Fundy.

SKETCH OF THE HISTORY OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

The Island of Newfoundland, the oldest of the B. N. A. colonies, was discovered in 1497, by Sir John Cabot and his son 312 Sebastian, in a voyage made that year under the patronage 313 of Henry VII. of England. Sebastian Cabot also touched at Newfoundland the following year, when he explored the and other disasters obliged him to return home. With the coast from Hudson Bay to Florida.

was thereafter claimed by Britain. But it is not improbable fallen in with by voyagers animated by the love of adventure, or carried out of their usual course by stress of weather. One account has come down to us of a voyage undertaken in the tenth century by Biarne, son of Heriulf Bardson, a follower of Eric the Red. Heriulf is said to have emigrated from Iceland to Greenland, and formed a settlement there. At this time his son Biarne was absent on a voyage to Norway. On his return home, Biarne resolved to join his father in Greenland. The account of his voyage is end of his voyage, fell in with various unknown lands, Norway, mentioned the fact of his having seen these unknown lands. Curiosity was excited, and Leif, a son of Eric, having equipped a small vessel, sailed on a voyage of exploration in the year 1000. He also observed the lands described by Biarne, and pushed on southward as far, it is supposed, as the coast of Massachusetts, to which he gave the name of Vinland. In 1002 a brother of Lelf, named Thorwald, undertook a voyage to the unknown west, arrived safely at Vinland, and remained in the country two whole years. But while coasting along with the intention of returning home, Thorwald lost his life in an encounter with some Esquimaux.

These early discoveries are apparently entitled to credit, but not being followed up by the establishment of settlements were soon forgotten, and are now of little interest except to the antiquary.

When Cabot visited the island, the natives called the codásh which abounds there, bacalléos, which is also the name of the cod in the Basque or Breton idiom. Hence it has been conjectured that Breton fishermen may have resorted to the banks of Newfoundland previous to Cabot's

Three years after Cabot's voyage, the coast of Newfoundland was visited by a Portuguese explorer named Cortereal, whose report respecting the abundance of fish to be found there induced his countrymen to establish fisheries. The French, English, and Spaniards followed the example of the Portuguese, and in 1517 there were fifty vessels engaged in the fishery.

In 1524 Verazzani, a Florentine navigator in the service of the French king, touched at Newfoundland, and surveyed a large part of the coast of the United States. Verazzani and his entire expedition perished during a subsequent voyage undertaken soon afterward, and his sad fate for some years damped the ardor of the French for exploration in the new world.

In 1534 Jacques Cartier passed the coast of Newfoundland on his memorable voyage to the Gulf of the St. Lawrence. At this time the fisheries were growing in importance. In 1540, the ports of London, Barnstaple, Bideford and Bristol were prosecuting an extensive trade. In 1578 there were nearly 400 vessels engaged in the enterprise, of which 150 were French.

In the reign of Queen Elizabeth Sir Humphrey Gilbert is assistance of his step-brother, Sir Walter Raleigh, he soon Cabot's discovery is well authenticated, and the island fitted out another expedition with which he sailed for Newfoundland in 1583. On arriving at the harbour of St that long before this date, the coast of the island had been | John's in the month of August, Gilbert took formal possession of the country in the Queen's name, and issued some laws for regulating the fisheries. On the return voyage, Sir Humphrey's ship, a vessel of only ten tons, foundered in a storm near the Azores, and the gallant commander perished.

Among the subsequent attempts to colonize the island may be noticed that of a company of English gentlemen, including Lord Bacon and others, to whom James I., in 1610, by letters patent, gave all that part of the coast given in the London Geographical Journal for 1838. It between Capes Bonavista and St. Mary. This association would appear that Biarne, who was imperfectly acquainted appointed as their agent a Bristol merchant, named Gay, who with the course, while seeking for Greenland, toward the established a colony at Musquito Cove in Conception Bay.

In 1615 Captain Whitbourne was sent out by the Admisupposed to be Newfoundland, Nova Scotia, &c. Ten years raity to take steps for the removal of the great abuses afterward Biarne, while on a visit to Eric, Earl of which prevailed at the fisheries. Whitbourne introduced some of the English forms of administration of justice, and endeavoured to establish order in the settlements.

In 1622 James I., by letters patent, granted to Sir George Calvert, secretary of state, the peninsula formed by the Days of Placentia and Trinity. Sir George (afterward Lord Baltimore) called this peninsula Avalon, and sent out as governor Capt. Wynn, who erected a large dwelling house and grangry. Sir George himself subsequently visited the island, and resided there a short time.

In 1623 the fisheries had increased to such an extent that 150 vessels resorted to them from Devonshire alone. In 1633 another settlement was formed by Lord Falkland. About this time a code of regulations was promulgated by Charles I. with a view to preserve order and punish crime. The following year, the French, rather than relinquish the privilege of fishing on the coast, agreed to pay the British government a tribute of five per cent. on all fish caught by their fishermen.

Another settlement was established in 1654 by Sir David Kertk. "At this time," says Page, in his history of Newfoundland, "fifteen different settlements existed, containing about four hundred families." The jealousy of the marchants engaged in the fishery trade impeded the extension of permanent settlements. About 1670, an attempt was even made to break up the existing settlements.

In 1692 commenced a struggle between England and France for exclusive possession of the fisheries. Placentia, the principal French post on the island, was attacked and partially destroyed by a squadron of five ships under Admiral Williams. The French now resolved to become sole masters of the island. In 1696, a French fleet from Placentia, under Brouillon, aided by a military force under D'Iberville, attacked and destroyed the town of St. John's, and captured all the British settlements, with the exception of Bonavista and Carbonear, which were successfully defended. The Treaty of Ryswick in 1697, restored the rights of the respective powers as they existed at the commencement of the war.

In 1702 hostilities were again resumed. Sir John Leake, who was sent out with a squadron by Queen Anne, captured a number of French vessels; but the French obtaining reinforcements from Canada, succeeded in destroying most of the British establishments on the island. Carbonear was almost the only post that could be defended with success. said to have equipped a small squadron with which he The English retaliated by taking Port Royal, and making eailed from England in 1579, but the loss of one of his ships themselves masters of Acadie. In 1728 Newfoundland was erected into a distinct Province, and Capt. Henry Osborne appointed the first Governor. The office of Governor has since been filled almost invariably by British naval officers. The island was divided into disprovements in the administration of justice introduced. In exports. 1737, a Court of Oyer and Terminer was established, consequent upon the increase of crime, and the expense of sending offenders to England for trial. In 1741, a Vice-admiralty Court was established. In 1761, the island again suffered from the attacks of the French. The following year, St. John's was surprised and captured by a French fleet. Aid was solicited from Lord Colville, then at Halifax. Admiral Colville promptly sailed for St. John's and having effected a landing at Torbay, speedily compelled the French to surrender the town. These supplies were suddenly cut off and French and American privateers at the same time preyed on the coast and harbours. When peace was restored in 1783, the Americans retained the right of fishing, but the processes of curing and drying the fish were to be carried on in the unsettled creeks and harbors of Nova Scotia, the Magdalen Islands, and Labrador.

In the month of November, 1817, two other extensive fires occurred at St. John's, destroying two hundred houses, together with a large quantity of provisions imported for the winter supply. The destitution caused by these conflagrations was relieved by contributions from England and other quarters. One munificent donation came from the citizens of Boston, who despatched a ship laden with provisions for the relief of the sufferers.

In 1826, however, an effort to improve the condition of the Province was made by the new Governor, Sir During the American Revolutionary war, Newfoundland | Thomas Cochrane, and with very marked success. Improvements were made in the judicial system; public roads were constructed; grants of land taken up, and cultivation extended. The population increased to 98,000 before 1845.

In 1832 a representative Assembly was granted to the colony, comprising fifteen members. The Legislative Coun-

The first geological survey of the island was undertaken in 1838 under the direction of J. B. Jukes. Since then copper, lead, and other ores have been found on different parts of the coast. The restrictions on grants of land which were imposed for the prevention of encroachment on French rights in the fisheries, have recently been so relaxed as to encourage, as far as practicable, the development of the mineral and other resources of the island.

In 1843, the House of Assembly was incorporated with the Council, and called the "Amalgamated Assembly of New-

In 1852 and following years, steam and telegraphic communication between Conception Bay and St. John's was established, mechanics' institutes were founded, the town of St. John's was supplied with water, and other improvements were carried out.

In 1858 an ocean telegraph from Europe, having its terminas in Newfoundland, was laid and opened, but it ceased to operate after a few messages had been transmitted. Since that time, however, another cable has been successfully laid, and continues in operation.

When the scheme for confederating the Provinces was brought forward in 1864, Newfoundland sent two deputies, Hon. Messrs Carter and Shea, to the Conference which met at Quebec in October; but the Legislature subsequently deferred action in the matter. It is, expected, however, that the island will soon take steps to enter the Confederation.

THE INDIANS OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

The aboriginal inhabitants seem to have fared worse in Newfoundland than their countrymen elsewhere. When Europeans first visited the island, they found on the coast a considerable number of natives belonging to a tribe known as Red Indians, from the fact of their bodies being smeared with a species of red ochre. The intercourse with these Indians was friendly at first, but quarrels soon arose, and led to the almost utter extermination of the natives. "The settlers," writes Page, "generally men of fierce tempers and armed with powerful weapons, carried on the contest in a manner peculiarly ruthless, hunting and shooting the natives like deer. The latter have gradually disappeared from the island, and for many years not one has been seen." Several attempts were subsequently made to open up friendly Intercourse with the Red Indians, but without success. In 1810, one of the first acts of governor Duckworth was to issue a proclamation for the protection of the Red Indians, and to offer a reward of £100 stg. to any person who should bring about a friendly understanding with them. In 1827, a search for them was prosecuted under the auspices of the Boothic Society. Abundant traces of their settlements were found, but all the huts and wigwams were deserted. Another tribe, the Micmaes, have continued to occupy different parts of the interior, and have become partially civilized.

DESCRIPTION OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

The island of Newfoundland is situated on the north cast side of the Galf of St. Lawrence, between 469 37" and 519 40" N. latitude, and 529 41", and 599 31", W. long. It is bounded on the north by the strait of Belle Isle, which is from ten to twenty miles wide. On the cast and south it is surrounded by the Atlantic. The island is exceedingly irregular in form, being indented with deep bays, the principal of which are Trinity and White Bays on the castern, and Placentia and Fortune Bays on the southern coast. The peninsuls of Avalon, on which the greater part of the population is resident, is almost severed from the rest of the island by Trinity and Placentia Bays, there being an isthmus only some four miles in width between the heads of these bays. The greatest length of the island from north to south is 350 miles, and the average breadth about 130 miles. Estimated area about 40,200 square miles, equal to 25,728,000 acres.

The coast is for the most part steep and rugged; the seacliffs are bold and lofty, with deep water at the base. The harbors on the east coast are easy of access.

The geological survey shows the aqueous or stratified rocks to consist of the following formations, which are arranged in descending order: Upper and lower coal formation, magnesian limestone, upper and lower slate formation gneiss and mica slate. There are also chlorite, quartz rock, primary limestone, granite, syenite, porphyry, trap, basalt, serpentine, hypersthene, and greenstone. An extensive lead mine exists at La Manche, Placentia Bay, and has been worked for several years with profit; veins of copper of great value have also been discovered and are being successfully worked.

In the interior the surface of the island is uneven and hilly. Some of the peaks rise to a height of 1000 feet and upwards. The lakes are numerous. The trees consist of fir, spruce, birch, pine, juniper, wych-hazel, mountain ash, alder, and aspen.

John's Island. It was discovered by John and Sebastian veyed by Captain Holland by order of the British Governcenturies after its discovery the island was covered with dense distributed by lot amongst about one hundred army and forests to the water's edge, and remained unoccupied save by Indians, being considered of too little importance to justify the establishment of a permanent settlement. It was included with Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Cape Breton, under the general name Acadie. Fortunately it escaped many of the disasters and conflicts that harassed other parts of Acadie and Canada, and there are few stirring or momentous events in its history to chronicle.

In 1663 a French naval captain named Doublet, received from the government of Canada a grant of this island, together with the Magdalen Islands, for the purpose of establishing a fishery. At this time stages and huts were erected near the best fishing grounds, but no permanent settlement was formed. The persons employed by Doublet came in the spring and left in the fall, abandoning the island during the winter to its original inhabitants. In the beginning of the eighteenth century a few solitary families, attracted by reports of the beautiful scenery and fertile soil of the island, began to settle on some of the most accessible parts of the southern coast. After Acadie had been ceded to Britain by the Treaty of Utrecht in 1713, many of the younger Acadians left their fathers' homes in Nova Scotia, and commenced to form the first permanent settlements in Isle St. Jean, which was still retained by France. The number of settlers slowly increased from year to year as the fertility of the island became better known. In 19. Capt. Walter Patterson, (afterwards Governor) and 1728, about thirteen years after the settlements began, there were only sixty families on the island. In 1745, there were about 150 families, numbering 800 souls.

It has been supposed that Isle St. Jean fell into the hands of the New Englanders in 1754, after they had captured Louisbourg. Whether this was the case does not clearly appear; but if so, the island was restored to the French by the Treaty of Aix-La-Chapelle in 1748. "At this time," says Sutherland, (Civil History of Prince Edward Island) "the island was intrusted to the control of two leading officers, the one civil and the other military. The military officer was subordinate to the Governor of Louisbourg; his colleague was a sub-delegate of the intendant of Canada. They had a garrison of about sixty men, with some few pieces of cannon. A small battery was constructed by 33. Richard Worge. them at the mouth of the harbor of Charlottetown, on the 34. In 1752, the population was estimated by a French officer who visited the settlement that year, at 1354, but this number was doubled in the course of a few years by the influx of expatriated Acadians.

In 1758, when Louisbourg was compelled to surrender to British forces, one of the articles of capitulation provided for the surrender of Isle St. Jean. Gen. Amherst immediately despatched Lieut. Col. Rollo to take possession, and thus the island passed out of the hands of the French. By the Treaty of 1763, Isle St. Jean, together with Canada and Cape Breton, was formally ceded to Great Britain. It was then placed under the government of Nova Scotia. At this time the inhabitants numbered 4,100, but many of the French inhabitants left the island when it came under English rule.

were to be demanded for the first five years after the grant; after that, for the next five years, half the amount of the quit rents would be demanded; after ten years, the whole amount.

The grantees were to settle on each lot one person for every 200 acres, within ten years from the date of the grant. If one-third of the land, in that proportion, was not settled in four years from the date of the grant, the land was to be forfeited to the king. The settlers were to be Protestants, from the parts of Europe not belonging to Great Britain, or such persons as had resided in the American colonies at least two years before the grant was given.

It was found difficult, however, to obtain foreign Protestant settlers, and very few of the grantees attempted to

In 1768, the inhabitants of Prince Edward Island petitioned for a separate government, and offered to pay half their quit rents the next year to meet the expenses. The request was complied with, and in 1770 Walter Patterson, to whom part of lot 19 had fallen, came out as the first Governor. At this time only five proprietors, and not more than 150 families, were resident on the island. Many of the grantees, finding the quit rents too burdensome, sold their lands, and the original conditions of the grants were almost totally disregarded. Instead of having one person for every 200 acres within ten years from the date of the grant, no attempt had been made to settle 48 out of the 67 townships when the ten years had elapsed.

The first House of Assembly, consisting of eighteen members elected for seven years, met in July, 1773. The House took up the land question which has agitated the colony for nearly a century, and passed a measure for the effectual recovery of quit rents, but the act was not carried out. The next year a new Assembly was convened, which Bat till 1779.

Up to this time the progress of the colony had quit rents. Nine whole and five half townships were been very slow, and the war which a few years later broke brought to sale in 1781. The proprietors, who were all, or out between Britain and the United States again retarded for nearly all, non-residents, complained to the English Government, and a Bill was sent out, making these sales voidable. Gov. Patterson availed himself of some errors in the preamble as a pretext for not laying the Bill before the Legislature, and he exerted himself to prevent the validity of the sales from being disturbed. The House was dissolved in 1784, and the new Assembly, which met the same year, not supporting the views of the Governor, was also dissolved. Another House, called together in 1785, approved of the Governor's proceedings, and next year a bill was introduced to ratify the sales of 1781. This was disallowed by the Crown. Gov. Patterson was recalled by the Home authorities in 1787; but eventually, after a protracted contest, the sales of 1781 were allowed to stand.

In 1794, two provincial companies of militia, three comin each county. Each township was to furnish a glebe panies of horse, and one of light infantry, were raised for

An investigation made in 1797, by the House of Assembly, feet from the shore were reserved on all the townships to ascertain the proportion of settled and unsettled lands in the colony, showed that twenty-three lots, embracing There were three rates of quit rents, six, four, and two 458,580 acres, had not one settler; that twelve lots, containshillings, annually, per hundred acres. No quit rents ing 120,000 acres, had only forty-eight families; and that the whole population of the island was only 4,500. The inhabt tants represented the state of affairs to the Home Government, and prayed that those proprietors who had failed to carry out the terms of the grants should be compelled to fulfil their obligations. No action was taken on the petition to defray the expenses of the Local Government.

In the last years of the century, Prince Edward, the father of the Queen, being Commander-in-Chief of the Forces in B.N.A., caused fortifications to be erected for the protection of Charlottetown. In 1798, the House of Assembly, as a mark of respect to the Prince, gave the Province the name of Prince Edward Island, the change to take effect in 1800.

At the beginning of the 19th century, the House of Asfulfil the conditions on which the lands had been allotted to sembly again pressed upon the attention of the Home Govarrears of quit rents now amounted to the enormous sum of nearly £60,000 stg. The amount due by many of the grantees was greater than the lands would realize if brought to sale. The matter was attentively considered, and in 1802 liberal terms of settlement were offered to proprietors in arrear. The lots were divided into five classes. The first class, or those which had the full number of settlers, were to pay only four years' quit rent for all arrears to 1801. The second class, or those which had only half the stipulated number, were to pay five years' arrears. Third, those which had less than one-half and more than one-fourth, were to pay nine years' arrears. Fourth, those which had less than one-fourth were to pay twelve years' arrears; and, lastly, the proprietors of townships wholly unoccupied were required to pay fifteen years' arrears. This settlement greatly facilitated the sale of land in the colony. Many of the proprietors were now able to dispose of their property, and in the course of a few years nearly one-third of the lots changed hands. Active steps were taken by the new land owners to encourage immigration. In 1803, the Earl of Selkirk brought out nearly eight hundred persons from the Highlands of

The House of Assembly, and the inhabitants generally, petitioned the King to relinquish the arrears, and grant the accruing quit rents to be applied to internal improvements. The answer to these representations was that His Majesty would accept the annual sum of £1000 stg. in lieu of the accruing rents, and that this sum would be appropriated to meet the expenses of the civil establishment of the colony. The House did not accept this liberal proposal, and the matter rested there for the time.

The Legislature having been convened on the 25th of In 1827, a regular census was taken, and this showed that March, 1851, the governor informed the Assembly that he had been empowered to introduce Responsible Government on condition that some compensation be allowed to certain retiring officers. This condition was complied with, and the Executive resigned on the 23rd of April. On the 25th of April, the new administration, having the support and confidence of the majority of the House of Assembly, was gazetted. During this session was passed a measure establishing a uniform letter postage rate of two-pence, to any part of the island, and three-pence to any part of British North America. The following session an important act, known as the Free Education Act, became law; and next year (1853) was passed an act which conferred universal suffrage under certain restrictions.

By the census taken in 1855, the population was ascertained to be 71,496. There were 252 school-houses and 127 places of public worship.

An agitation commenced in 1857 with the object of introducing the Bible into schools as a book for daily use. The proposal met with much opposition; but finally in the year 1860, an act was passed by the Legislature declaring the introduction of the Bible into all public schools to be legally authorized. During the session of 1860, the extensive estates of the Earl of Selkirk, embracing 62,059 acres, were acquired by government for the sum of £6,586 stg. In the same year a land commission was appointed to enquire into the subjects of dispute relating to the tenure of lands, with the object of converting on equitable terms the leaseholds of the whole island into freeholds. Three commissioners were appointed, the Hon. J. H. Gray as the representative of the Crown, the Hon. Joseph Howe as the representative of the tenants, and Mr. Matthew Ritchie on behalf of the proprietors. The commission collected a great this year exceeded that of the previous year by £5,000. As to the mode of changing the leaseholds to freeholds, Montagna Wilmot the commissioners recommended a loan of £100,000 stg., for the purpose of enabling the government to purchase the estates, and then sell to the tenants. Or, if this loan could not be obtained, it was suggested that the proprietors should be compelled to sell direct to the tenants at rates either based on the rental or assessed by arbitrators.

The government are now acquiring many of the proprietary estates in the island. In 1869, a Bill was passed empowering the government to expend the further sum of £30,000 in the purchase of lands. The local Executive Council last year again suggested the introduction of a measure to compel proprietors of lands to sell to the Government; but Lord Granville deferred the consideration of the subject in view of the probability that the colony might soon unite itself to the Dominion.

In September, 1864, a conference was held at Charlottetown to consider the practicability of a legislative union of the Provinces. At first delegates were to be sent only from Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island; but the coalition government of Canada, pledged to the introduction of a federal system, having come into office, the Canadian government asked permission to send delegates, which was granted, and Canada joined in the conference. It was resolved that a further conference be held at Quebec, to consider the expediency of a federal union. Prince Edward Island sent delegates to the conference; but the Legislature subsequently repudiated the action of its delegates, and was opposed to the plan of Confederation agreed upon at the conference. The cause but it is expected that at no distant day satisfactory terms of union will be agreed upon.

being towards the gulf. Length, 130 miles, breadth about 34 miles, area 2,131 square miles, or 1,365,400 acres. The surface is slightly undulating, the chain of hills that extends across the country nowhere rising to a considerable height. Cascumpee, Malpeque, New London, and Murray harbors. There are also numerous ponds or lagoons. The climate is mild and healthful, and the soil remarkably fertile. The whole island was formerly covered with a magnificent growth of forest trees; birch, beech, maple, elm, ash, pine, spruce, hemlock, fir, juniper, cedar, willow and poplar were the chief varieties. Ship-building is still carried on to a considerable extent.

POSTAL REGULATIONS.

Mails are conveyed twice each way every day, except Sunday, over the principal lines of railway in Canada. Over the less important lines of railway they are carried only once each way every day, except Sunday.

Mails are also conveyed once each way every day, except Sunday, over the principal lines of common road; and once, twice, or three times per week over the less important lines of common road.

The postal communication between Ontario and Quebec and the Lower Provinces is six times per week each way the Lower Provinces is six times per week each way by River du Loup and Edmunston, and once per week each way by Steamers from Quebec to Pictou. Also three times per week each way in summer by steamers between Portland and St. John, N. B., and daily by way of Bangor, Maine and Calais to St. John, twice per week by Steamer between Portland and Halifax.

The most speedy and direct postal route from Canada to Almost every portion of the globe (with the exception of the Continent of North America, the Isthmus of Panama, and the West India Islands,) is by way of England, whence mails for the several British Colonies and Foreign Countries are regularly dispatched. and the Lower Provinces is six times per week each way are regularly dispatched.

The most speedy and direct postal route from Canada to all parts of the Continent of North America, the West Indies, Central and South America, is via New York.

Mails for England are despatched as follows: By Mail Steam Packets sailing from Quebec in summer and Portland in winter every Saturday; and from Halifax, Nova Seetia, every alternate Friday. By Steamer from New York every

Montreal exchanges Mails direct with the following American Offices:—Boston, Buffalo, Burlington, New York, Plattsburg, Portland, Rouse's Point, Rutland and Whitehall

Mails for Bermuda and Newfoundland are made up at Halifax, Nova Scotia, whence steamers sail once a month to Bermuda and St. Thomas, and once a fortnight to New-

Rates of Postage on Letters.—The rate of postage on pre-paid Letters between any one place in Canada and any other place in Canada, is regulated by weight, irrespective of distance, and is as follows:

On a letter not more than 1 an oz., 3 cents. " more than ½ oz. but not ex. 1 oz., 6 cts.
" 1 1 2 9 cts.
" 1 1 0z. " 2 "12 cts. " 1 oz. " 1½ oz. 4 2 OZ. 44 2½ " 15 cts.

And so on, 3 cents being charged for every additional 1 oz., or fraction of haif ounce

If the weight be exceeded to the smallest extent, even though the balance be merely turned, the letter becom s liable to an additional rate. Letters posted in and addressed to any place within the Dominion of Canada, if sent unpaid, are liable to a charge of 5 cents per 1 oz.

In applying the 5 cent unpaid rate to letters passing within the Province posted unpaid or not fully pre-paid-it should be observed that a letter passes either as pre-paid at 3 cents per ½ oz., on condition that the whole postage due be fully pre-paid—or at 5 cents per ½ oz. if posted unpaid, or only partly pre-paid—in the latter case the full rate at 5 cents per \(\frac{1}{2}\) oz. will be marked, and a deduction made therefrom of the amount which may have been paid—thus on an ounce letter pre-paid 3 cents only—the rate will be 10 cents and oracling the and crediting the 3 cents paid—7 cents will remain to be charged, and collected on delivery.

The object of the 5 cent unpaid rate is to induce prepayment, and thereby relieve the Post Office from costs and trouble of account and collection, but this object is equally defeated whether the letter be wholly unpaid, or but partially pre-paid-and therefore the 5 cent rate applies to the whole charge upon the letter in both cases.

The charge on local or drop letters, viz., letters posted at an office in Canada for delivery from that office is one cent for each letter, which must be pre-paid, or the letter will be sent to the dead letter office for return to the writer

The charge on letters delivered by letter-carriers in Canada, is two cents for each letter in addition to the ordinary post-

The rate of postage on letters to Prince Edward Island is 3 cents per 1 oz. if pre-paid, and 5 cents if not pre-paid.

The rate of postage on letters to Newfoundland is 121 cents per 1 oz., which must be pre-paid.

The rate of postage on letters to British Columbia and Vancouver Island is 10 cents per 1 oz., which must be prepaid. This rate covers the letter to San Francisco only; there will be an additional charge on delivery

The rate of postage on letters to Red River, via the United States, is 6 cents per 1 oz., which must be pre-paid by postage stamp. The rate of postage on letters between any place in Canada and any place in the United States, is 6 cents per $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. if pre-paid, and 10 cents per 1 oz. if not pre-paid. Upon a letter or packet, of any weight, addressed to the United States, the whole postage or none at all should be prepaid. If anything less than the whole is pre-paid no account is taken of it, and it is entirely lost to the sender. The scale of weight under which the above letters are charged is the same as the scale under which letters, passing between places in Canada, are rated

The single rate of postage on letters between any place in Canada and any place in the United Kingdom, is as follows:

By Canadian Steamer, sailing every Saturday from Quebec in Summer, and from Portland in Winter, and from Halifax fortnightly, 6 cents per ½ ounce.

By Steamer, sailing from New-York every Wednesday, 8

Letters addressed to the United Kingdom, and forwarded by either of the above routes, will be charged according to the following scale :

Letters not over 2 an oz., 1 rate.

Letters more than ½ oz., and not ex. 1 oz. 2 rates

" 1 oz., " 1½ oz. 3 rates.

And so on, adding one rate for every additional half ounce or fraction of a half ounce.

The postage on all letters posted in Canada for the United Kingdom, and in the United Kingdom for Canada, should be pre-paid.

If sent unpaid 3d, sterling will be charged on each letter,
on delivery, in addition to the ordinary postage rate, Letters posted in the United Kingdom, for Canada, unless specially addressed "By Canadian Steamer," or "By Cunard Steamer," are despatched in the first mail that is made up—whether for Canadian or Cunard line—after the letter is control as that latters intended for the Canadian Processes. whether for canada no or canada me—after the letter is posted, so that letters intended for the Canadian Packets must either be posted on the proper days for the Canadian Packet Mails, or bear the words "By Canadian Mail Steamer" on the address. In like manner letters posted in Canada for the United Kingdom should be addressed "By Canadian Packet" or "via New York." If for the latter route the additional postage 2 cents per half oz. should be added to the ordinary rate of 6 cents.

Three cents will be charged on the delivery of letters which have been forwarded as above by Cunard Steamer, but on which 3d, sterling or 6 cents only per 1 oz. have been

The charge on dead letters, returned to the writers, is five cents on each letter in addition to the postage.

Soldier's and Seamen's Letters-non-commissioned officers embodied pensioners, scamen and soldiers, and army school-masters of all but first class, while they are employed in Her Majesty's Service, can send and receive letters at the rate of 2 cents each, under the following regulations:

1. The two cents must be paid by postage stamp at the time the letter is posted.

2. The name of the soldier or sailor, his class or description, and the name of his ship, corps, or detachment to which he belongs, must be specified in the direction of the letter; and in the case of letters sent by soldiers or seamen, the offi command must sign his name and specify his rank, and the commands. 3. The letter must refer solely to the private affairs of the soldier or seaman.

All the foregoing descriptions must be fully written in the address in the following form, the initials of the name of any ships or regiments being insufficient:

Rates of Postage on Newspapers—The law declares that for post office purposes a newspaper shall be held to mean a periodical published not less frequently than once in each week, and containing notices of passing events, that is to say, general news.

Although provision is made for forwarding newspapers through the post, it is not compulsory on any one to employ this mode of transmission; everything except letters may be sent in any other way.

A newspaper to pass at the undermentioned rates is subject to the following restrictions: 1. It must have no cover, or a cover open at both ends.

2. It must not contain any enclosure.

3. It must have no writing or mark thereon but the name and address of the person to whom it is sent, nor anything on the cover except such name and address.

Newspapers which are not posted in accordance with these regulations are not forwarded but are sent to the Dead

Letter office and destroyed.

An extra newspaper, or a supplement to a newspaper, is deemed a distinct newspaper, and charged accordingly.

Newspapers published in the Dominion may be sent by post from the office of publication to any place in Canada at the following rates, if paid quarterly in advance, either by the publisher at the post office where the papers are posted, or by the subscriber at the post office where the papers are

When the above rates are not paid in advance by either the publisher or subscriber, the papers are charged 1 cent each on delivery.

It is not necessary that the commuted rate on newspapers It is not necessary that the commuted rate on newspapers should be paid absolutely on the first day of each quarter. The regulation is intended to be carried out with all due consideration for the convenience of the public, and it will be sufficient if the person desiring to pay the commuted rate declares his intention and offers the payment when first asling at the office within a reasonable time after the commencement of the quarter; but after having made his option to pre-pay the commuted charge, or to pay for his papers as received at 1 cent each, as the case may be, postmasters are not expected to alter their newspaper accounts to allow of a change until the commencement of the next quarter.

The commuted rate of payment cannot be accepted from

The commuted rate of payment cannot be accepted from new subscribers during a quarter for any unexpired period of the quarter.

Newspapers published in Canada, which are not posted from the office of publication, must be pre-paid 2 cents each by postage stamps, otherwise they will not be forwarded, but be sent to the Dead Letter office and destroyed. Papers of this class are termed "Transient Newspapers."

Publishers of newspapers in Canada are allowed to en-close in copies of their papers sent to subscribers, subscrip-tion accounts and receipts for the same without rendering them liable to any additional postage.

Packets of unbound newspapers published in Canada may be returned by a subscriber to the office of publication at the rate of 2 cents per 8 oz. or fraction of 8 oz., which must be pre-paid.

Transient newspapers addressed to the United States must be pre-paid 2 cents each newspaper by postage stamp, otherwise they will not be forwarded, but be sent to the Dead

Letter office and destroyed.

Transient newspapers posted in the United States and addressed to Canada, are liable to 2 cents cach on delivery. The stamp paid on these papers indicates that the United States postage only has been pre-paid, the Canadian rate of 2 cents remaining to be collected.

American newspapers posted or re-posted in Canada except by news agents to regular subscribers must be pre-paid 2 cents each, by stamp, otherwise they will not be forwarded.

The option of paying the commuted rate on newspapers does not apply to papers published in the United States; papers addressed to regular subscribers must be paid for at the full rate of 1 cent each.

Canadian news agents and booksellers may post American newpapers unpaid, when addressed to regular subscribers in the Province; but such newspapers are chargeable, on delivery, with 1 cent each.

Care should be taken to see that such newspapers are pro-perly stamped at the Post Office where posted "Prepaid by Publisher," as they are in the absence of such stamp liable to be mistaken for unpaid papers, and to be detained accord-

Exchange papers passing between publishers in Canada and between publishers in Canada and publishers in the United States, are carried free through the post.

No newspaper, properly so called (except exchanges), whether devoted to education, temperance, agriculture, or to any branch of science, is entitled to exemption from charge. Newspapers addressed to Newfoundland must be pre-paid 2 cents each, by stamp.

No United States newspapers of any kind or description (with the exception of exchange papers) are on any ground entitled to pass through the Canadian mails free of postage. In cities and towns where newspapers are published, the printers and publishers should send them to the post office put up in a manner to admit of their being readily counted, and, if necessary, withdrawn from their covers for examination. The newspapers for each office also should be made up in strong paper in a separate parcel, which should be plainly addressed be planty aggressed.

When the numbers of a newspaper published in Canada, or in any of the other British North American Provinces, or in the United States, and issued daily, shall have remained in a post office in Canada uncalled for during two weeks; of a newspaper issued semi-weekly, or tri-weekly, during three weeks; of a newspaper issued weekly, during one month; and of a monthly periodical during two months, or when such newspapers and periodicals have been refused to be taken by the party to whom addressed, the postmaster is instructed to notify the respective publishers in the proper form, which is to pass free of postage. If the newspaper or periodical continue to arrive after the notice has been sent, the postmaster is instructed to notify the publisher in the same way a second time, specially calling his attention to the first notice.

To enclose a letter, or any writing, or to make any written marks to serve the purposes of a letter, or to enclose any other thing (except publishers' accounts and receipts, as before mentioned) in a newspaper posted to pass as a newspaper, is a misdemeanor. Postmasters are requested at once | future be registered upon payment of a registration fee of 8 to transmit all newspapers containing such writing, marks and enclosures, to the Postmaster General.

Dayle Manuscript. and Printers Proofs. In Department Order 30, 30, dated 23th 2019, 2003, parints sion was given for Book-Manuscript, and Printers Proofs, whether corrected or not, to pass at the printed matter rate of one cent an ounce, and it now appears to be necessary to explain that by Book-Manuscript was meant the written sheets of any Book intended for publication, and the intention was to encourage literary productions, by affording facilities for Authors to send and receive such matter to and from their Publishers by Post. Printers' Proofs are the printed impressions taken by a printer, for correction or exnination, of any matter passing through his Press. Newspaper Manuscript is meant written articles (not including advertisements) intended for insertion in a newspaper or periodical, and addressed to the editor or publisher thereof for insertion. Under former regulations the written marks correcting such proofs rendered them liable to letter postage when sent by mail, and the intention of the Department Order referred to was to relax the rule in favor of such proofs, and allow them when corrected, to retain their character as printed matter, and pass at printed matter rates of charge.

PRINTED PAPERS, CIRCULARS, PRICES CURRENT, HAND BILLS, &c.—Printed Farses, Unicolaise, Friese Commert, Hard Billes, &c.—Printed circulars, prices current, hand bills, and other printed matter of a like character, posted in Canada, and addressed to any place in the Dominion, British North America, or the United States, are chargeable with a rate of 1 cont per oz. A. The patterns or samples must not be of any intrinsic and whatever may have a value of its own, apart from its mere use as a pattern; nor must the quantity of any material or article sent as a pattern or sample be so great that it could have on this ground an intrinsic value.

On this point an explanation in a subsequent Department

Order, appears as follows :

B. It has hitherto formed part of the Imperial post office regulations that " samples or patterns must not be of intrinsic value," but in consequence of the difficulty that has been experienced in determining what is, and what is not, a pattern or sample of merchandise of intrinsic value, this prohi-

The modification is a verbal one, and will not alter nor enlarge in any way, the character of the transmission permitted to pass by pattern post.

The special prohibition as to intrinsic value has, it is understood, been withdrawn, not because the question of value will not still influence a decision as to whether an article offered for transmission by pattern post is a genuine commercial sample (or pattern) or not, but because as a general proviso it could not well be enforced; inasmuch as general riche, whether properly a pattern or sample or not, has necessarily more or less of an intrinsic value, and might be held to be amenable to a strict construction of this pro-

Samples, however, of seeds, drugs, and such like, which cannot be sent in open covers, may be enclosed in bags of linen or other material, simply tied at the neck; or, provided that bags be transparent, they may be entirely closed, if they are for delivery within the United Kingdom. Bags, however, entirely closed, even though they be transparent, must not be used for the transmission of seeds to foreign parts.

D. The rule which prohibited the transmission through D. The rule waten promoted the transmission inrough the post, as patterns, of articles of cullery, &c., has been rescinded; and scissors, knives, razors, forks, steel pens, nails, keys, watch machinery, metal tubing, pieces of metal or ore, and such like articles, are now allowed to be for-warded by the post as samples, provided they be packed and guarded in so secure a manner as to afford complete protection to the contents of the mail bags, and to the persons of the officers of the post office. The money order offices throughout the Dominion also draw upon all the money order offices in England, Ireland and Scotland, and the Channel Islands, for any sum up to £10 sterling, and grant as many orders for £10 sterling each, as may be needed to make up the amount to be remitted. The terms are as under:

MONEY ORDERS ON THE LOWER PROVINCES.

The money order offices in Ontario, Quebec, and New The money order offices in Ontario, Quebec, and New Brunswick draw also upon all money order offices in Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland. The orders, like those of the United Kingdom, are made payable in sterling money, and for sums up to £10 sterling. The terms are:

For orders on Nova Scotia the same rates of commission as upon money orders drawn by Ontario or Quebec upon offices within those provinces.

For money orders on the other provinces the terms are:
For orders up to £5, 25 cents.

"over £5 and up to £10, 50 cents.

No half cents can be introduced into orders

No money order exceeding $100 in amount can be granted on any office in Canada; but Postmasters are at liberty to grant two or more orders for $100 or for any lesser sum.— They cannot, however, grant two or more orders for sums of or under $30 on the same day to the same applicant in favor of the same payee.

Tables showing the amount of Provincial currency required for money orders issued in Canada upon the United King-dom, in addition to the commission, and for money orders issued in the United Kingdom upon Canada will be found

Applicants for money orders should always use the printed application forms, in which they should fill up the particulars of the order required. These forms are supplied gratuitously at all money order offices.

The Christian and surnames in full, and residences, both of the remitter and payee, should be furnished to the issuing postmaster. When a married woman is either the remitter or payee, her own Christian name should be given, and not that of her husband, thus—

"Mrs. Mary Smith," not "Mrs. John Smith."
If the remitter or payee be a Peer or a Bishop, his ordinary title is sufficient. If a firm, the usual designation of such firm will suffice, such as "Raring Bros.," "Smith & Son," "Jones & Co."

Parties procuring money orders should examine them carefully to see that they are properly filled up and stamped. This caution will appear the more necessary when it is This caution will appear the more necessary when it is understood that any important defect in these respects will throw difficulties in the way of payment. Money orders, which, in consequence of misapprehension of the name of the remitter or place of payment, have been and a correct order given in exchange; a new commission, however, will be charged on the corrected order.

Parties obtaining money orders on Canadian offices, can procure re-payment thereof on presentation of the order at the office at which it was issued, signing the receipt at the foot. No order, however, can be re-paid without the authority of No order, however, can be re-paid witmout the authority of the superintendent, unless presented for re-payment on the day on which it is issued. Neither can orders on the United Kingdom be re-paid without his special authority. When a remitter desires an order on the United Kingdom when a reminer cesires an order on the United Kingdom to be paid through a bank, it is left to his option to give or withhold the name of the payee, or to substitute for the name of the payee any other designation or modification, such as "the Cashier of the bank of England," "the chief Clerk of the Foreign Office." Such orders must, however, be crossed by the issuing postmaster with the name of the bank through which the order is to be paid.

The issue of money orders on credit, or for cheques not marked "good" by the bank drawn upon, is strictly prohi-

If a payee is unable to write, he must sign the receipt at the foot of the order, in the presence of the paying postmaster, by making his mark, to be witnessed in writing; as for example

Witness-John Kenny, Joseph † Allen. Queen Street, Toronto.

In cases of money orders issued in Canada, postmasters are at liberty to accept the written order of the payee on the order itself in favor of a second person, if through illness or insuperable difficulty the payee is prevented from presenting the order in person

When a Canadian money order has been lost, either by the remitter or payee, the circumstance must be made known to the superintendent, who, under certain precautions, will issue a unpicace.

Duplicates of sterling orders can only be granted by the paying country. Thus the British post office issues duplicates of orders drawn in Canada on the United Kingdom; and the Canadian Head Money order office grants duplicates of orders drawn in the United Kingdom on Money orders which are not presented until one full year after their date are considered as lapsed orders, and cannot In all such cases satisfactory reasons should be given explanatory of the delay in the presentation of the order.

The Deputy Postmasters General of Malta and Gibraltar are authorized to issue money orders on the several money order offices in Canada. Money order offices in Canada do not, however, grant money orders on Malta and Gibraltar.

The statement appended giving a comparative view of the Dominion as represented by the value of its Imports and Exports, shows an increase in the Exports of upwards of $2 506,838, the exact figures being for:—

1868-9. $60,474,781 1867-8. $7,567,881 2.906.893 Increase in 1868-9..... This increase is found in the Export of articles under the following general heads: Produce of the wine.

the forest.

Animals and their produce.

Manufactures and ships built at Quebec.

The Exports of the produce of the isheries and of agricultural products, show a small decrease. The whole trade in Imports and Exports presents an aggregate amount of $127.876.561. In this computation taken the value of the goods entered for consumption, and not the value as shown by the column of general Imports, which there is reason to believe gives an exiggrated figure, owing to the fact that Importations remove meaning to the content of the product of the content of the conten

HUGH ALLAN, PRESIDENT; SIR W. E. LOGAN, GEORGE W. CAMPBELL, M.D., PETER REDPATH AND ANDREW ALLAN, DIRECTORS; JAMES DAKERS, Secretary.

THIS COMPANY was organized in January 1847, with a capital of $60,000. The line extended from Toronto to Accepted of $69,000. The line extended from Toronto to Quebec, a distance of 540 miles; nine offices were opened and thirty-five persons employed. The number of messages transmitted during the first year was 33,000. Since then the Company has, year by year, continued to extend its lines, not only in the Provinces of Ontario and

Quebec, where nearly every village of any importance has been afforded ample telegraphic facilities, but also through the Province of New Brunswick, and in the States of Maine, the Province of New Brunswick, and in the States of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New York and Michigan, in which 110 offices are owned by this Company.

The statistics up to 30th November, 1870, shew that the Company possesses 7,800 miles of poles, 12,147 miles of wire, 640 offices, and 996 employees. Number of commercial messages sent over the lines during the year 1870, was 1,050,000. Number of words transmitted over Atlantic cable 153,092. Number of words furnished to the press upwards of 8,000,000. To give an idea of the facilities that the Company has at its command it is only necessary to mention that during the last Parliamentary Session it was customary to transmit night after night, from its office at Ottawa 20,000 to 50,000 words to the press, and on the night of 17th February, as many as 67,251 words were transmitted.

of 17th February, as many as 67,251 words were transmitted. The lines of the Company begin at Sackville, N. B., and extend to Sarnia, at the outflow of Lake Huron.

They also run from the United States border to the Georgian Bay and the most northern towns of Canada.

The Company has wires along all the Railways in the Provinces of Ontario and Quebec, and as soon as the Intercolonial Railway is built their wires will be extended over the whole of that road.

In transmitting cable despatches they are sent direct to Sackville, N.B., the present terminus of the Company's lines, over a circuit of 750 miles.

The Company has likewise branches from Montreal working direct through its connections to the following cities in the United States:

Portland, Maine,...300 miles. | Oswego, N. Y.,....300 miles. | Buffalo, N. Y.,....350 " | Buffalo, N. Y.,....450 " | Detroit, Mich.,....550 "

During the year 1870, the Company erected 821 miles of poles, strung up 1920 miles of wire, and opened 86 new stations. In 1871 they will string an additional wire of 450 miles from Montreal to Buffalo, and have agreed to build lines through the remote districts of Bonaventure and Gaspe, which will be of great service to the fishing interest in that neighbourhood, as well as to the shipping entering the St. Lawrence.

ROUTES IN THE PROVINCE OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

There are no Railways in this Province, and no regular means of communication to the large majority of places. Two steamers make fortnightly trips—southward to Channel 300 miles, touching at Ferryland, Trepassey, Burin, Harbor Briton, Rose Blanche, Burgeo, and La Poile, and northward to Tilt Cove 230 miles, touching at Trinity, Catalina, Greens pond, Fogo, and Twillingate; and another runs tri-weekly between Portugal Cove, Brigus, Harbor Grace and Carbonear and weekly between Portugal Cove and Bay Roberts. All other places have to be reached by stage, private vehicle, or boat—chiefly the latter. There is only one daily stage route in the Province, and that between St. John's and Portugal Cove. The few others are tri-weekly, weekly, fortnightly and monthly. Regular communication is had between St. John's and Halifax once a fortnight by mail steamship, and with Montreal and Liverpool four times a year by the Allantine of steamers.

In arranging the following Table of Routes, the usual Key given to the other Provinces has had to be dispensed with instead, the traveller will find mentioned after each place, the name of the most accessible point by steamer or stage from St. John's, and the distance and mode of travel (by land or water), from thence to his destination.

There is only one city in Newfoundland, the Capital, St. John's; the next place of importance is Harbour Grace.

LOVELL'S

Province of Newfoundland Directory

For 1871.

ABBREVIATIONS USED IN THE ALPHABETICAL DIRECTORIES OF CITIES, TOWNS, &c.:—ab above; av avenue; bds boards; bet between ch church; cor corner; h house; J. P. Justice of the Peace; n near; opp opposite; r rear; R. catholic Roman catholic; sq square; wid usidos. The names in CAPITALS are those of Advertisers and Subscribers.

In Cities and Towns, where av, lane, or sq does not follow the residence, street is to be understood; for example, Lovell John, 23 St Nicholas, means 23 St Nicholas street.

As several places are known by more than one name, and as great pains have been taken to ascertain and give these, a reference to the GENERAL INDEX is specially recommended. This will prevent the least delay in finding any place in the work.

BAY DE VEIR DS.—A large fishing settlement on the north side of Conception Bay, in the district of Bay de Verds. It has nothing that might be called a larbor, but affords a shelter in bad weather. The ishing grounds of Bay de Verds are among the most valuable in the island, perhaps it would be hard to find an equal extent of cultivated land which could compare with these sunken ledges either in value or in the power of continuous production. Every year about 200 foats and more than 200 nets and seines are employed in this locality on the fishery, the produce of the voyage being worth not less than $50,000. Distant from Carbonear by road 38 miles. Mail weekly. Population 650.

lation than at present reside here. Indeed, both in the way of agriculture and the fisheries, no section of the country offers greater inducements to settlers than does this section. The herring fishery forms the staple industry of the people, and is prosecuted with great success. Herrings are taken during the months of January, February, March, May, June, October and November. In the winter months nets are used, which are let through holes and channels cut in the ice, but in summer the herrings are mostly hauled in seines. The average quantity of herring annually taken may be stated at 30,000 barrels, most of which find a market in the adjacent provinces. On the banks of the Humber river, which flows into this bay, large quantities of fine timberare produced suitable for lumbering, which is, however, as yet availed of but to a small extent, together with large beds of limestone, and marbles of beautiful varieties, and marsles of gypsum almost exhaustless in quantity. The land around is level and is capable of 'casy cultivation, but is availed of merely as an accessory to the herring and codishery. The bay is studded with islands and the secency remarkably fine. Disaut from the north head of St George's Bay 55 miles. Population 947.

BELLE ISLE AND LANCE COVE—An island on the south side of Conception Bay district of St John's east. It is about nine miles long and three broad, and is remarkable for the fertility of its soil. Geologically it is most interesting, being of the Lower Silurian age, whilst the rocks of the BONAVISTA-The chief town of the district of Bonavista. This is one of the oldest settlements in the colony and was formerly of more importance than at present, it is however a place of considerable and increasing business. It is a port of entry and the northern circuit court holds a session here every autumn. The harbor is not good, but might be made quite safe by a breakwater, for the construction of which considerable facilities are ofthe town is the English church, early English style, perhaps the finest wooden building on the island. The climate of Bonavista is more genial and less foggy than at St John's, though further north. The land is much cultivated around the town. Distant from St John's by boat 73 miles, by postal route partly over land weekly, about 100 miles, and from Catalina (port of call for steamer) 10 miles by road. Population 2600.

BONNE BAY (French shore)—
A large inlet on the French shore.
A number of United States and Nova Scotia schooners visit this bay on account of its herring fishery, which is very productive. A river runs into its bay on which fine lumber is found. The land around this bay is mountainous, and the scenery quite grand. Distant from north head of Bay of Islands 23 miles.
Population 336.

FERRYLAND—The capital of the district of Ferryland, is situated on the Strait shore south of St John's, being the eastern coast of the penin-sula of Avalon. It is one of the old-est, if not the oldest, regularly settled town in the island. It was founded by Sir George Calvert, afterwards Lord Baltimore, in 1623 under a Lord Baltimore, in 1623, under a patent which gave him the exclusive right over all of what is known as the peninsula of Avalon. Lord Baltimore himself lived for some years in his newly established colony, and left it only on account of repeated disturbances from the French. To this the United States owe the settlement of Maryland and the founding of the town of Baltimore. The land about Ferryland is rather low, though un-dulating, and a great deal has been dulating, and a great deal has been kept under cultivation. The town is very prettily situated, and bears the evidences of its past history in its ruined batteries and in its general tone of respectability. The harbor is a fine and a safe one. Ferryland is a port of entry and a post town. The Circuit court holds an annual session in the autumn and a magistrate holds court daily. The sheriff of the southern district resides here. Distant from St Johu's by road 44 miles by steamer, fortnightly, 40 miles, fare $2. Mail weekly. Population 680.

HARBOR GRACE-The second town for importance in the island and the capital of the district of Harbor Grace, is situated on the north side of Conception Bay. The harbor is very large, being about 5 miles long, but its shape being that of a wedge, with its point inland, the greater part is "open to the sea. That portion, however, on which the wharves are built, is sheltered by a spit of beach, and inside of this vessels may lie securely in all weathers. On this spit is erected the Harbor Beacon, a double light. town for importance in the island the Harbor Beacon, a double light, one being placed above the other. Harbor Grace Island light shows the entrance to the harbor; it is revolving, showing in every direction two white flashes, followed by one red flash. Harbor Grace is a town of large trade, and nearly one fourth of the total business of the country is done here. The number of ships entering in 1869 was 200. The town has a pretty appearance from the harbor, but lacks public buildings of any consequence, with the exception of the Roman Catholic cathedral, the dome of which forms a prominent object in entering the port. This building has lately been enlarged and its interior lavishly decorated, surpassing in this last respect any church in the colony. The Circuit Court holds both a spring and autumn session here, and a magistrate holds court daily. The New York, New foundland and London Telegraph Co. has an office here. Distant from Portugal Cove by steamer, tri-weekly, 20 miles, fare $1.50. Mail tri-weekly. Population 6770.

ST JOHN'S—The capital, commer-cial emporium, and seat of govern-ment of Newfoundland. Of the ment of Newfoundland. Of the origin of the town of St John's little can be said with precision. Its settlement was the natural result of its position, rather than of any direct plan of colonization. Almost immediately after its discovery by Cabot, vessels in great numbers frequented the island for the purpose of prosecuing the cod fishery, which was found to rival the mines of Mexico and Peru as a means of accumulating wealth. The greater advantages which would accrue in the prosecution of the fisheries from an actual residence upon the island, prompted the early settlement of those positions most favorable for the work, such as the headlands of the principal bays, and thus it was that Bay de Verds, Portugal Cove, Trinity, Catalina, Bonavista, Twillingate, and other places, came to be permanently inhabited.
Among them St John's would seem from the first to have occupied a foremost position. Its safety as a harbor and capability of defence made it the port of greatest resort, and it was here that Sir Humphrey Gilbert landed as early as 1583 when taking possession of the island by virtue of a patent from Queen Elizabeth. Even at that time there seems to have been no inconsiderable number of quasi-residents both British and Foreign. Sir Humphrey had brought out a large number of emigrants for the settlement of his Government, but his scheme ended most disastrously, and St John's, left to to the chances of a gradual settlement, increased but slowly. Its commanding position, however, made it a point of great interest to nations prosecuting the fisheries, and it was successively occupied by the English and French for a long series of years, and french for a long series of years, and only permanently came into Eng-lish possession in 1762; since then the English possession has been unbroken. St. John's is situated in North Latitute 47° 33' 06" and west longitude 52° 44' 07" being about three miles from Cape Spear the most the Atlantic. The harbor though rather small is thoroughly safe in all weather, vessels may ride out any gale when once inside the heads. Inside the harbor, which is triangular with its apex to the west, and its base to the east, the entrance, called the "narrows," being at the south east angle, the prospect is very grand and inposing, the hills rising abruptly on sach side to a height of about 600 feet, separated at the narrowest part by little more than 200 yards, and at the widest by not more than 350 yards. These hills are fortified to a certain extent, but still quite insufficiently for the thorough protection of the town, which with not a large outlay might be made all but impregnable. On the south point of the narrows is erected the harbor light, burning at an elevation of 114 feet. The rocks on which this beacon is erected are the termination of a high range of hills running east and west, which constitute the south side of the harbor. At the foot of these hills are situated most of the vats used in the manufacture of the seal oil, and most of the mercantile houses have wharves and premises on that side, for the transhipment of articles of export. There is also situated the dry dock, capable of raising vessels of about 600 tons burthen. way and bridge connects the south and north sides. On the north side the hills which are so abrupt at the narrows fall away in a series of gentle undulations sloping towards the harbor. On this slope the town is built : the site being everything that could be wished. The principal thoroughfare is called Water street, running nearly parrallel with the harbor, but rather irregular. This street is about 12 miles fong, well built up on both sides with stone or brick, but not showing much appreciation of street architecture. In the busy seasons it is crowded till late in the night by thousands who come from the outports to buy and sell. . The amount of business done in these short periods of business done in these short periods is almost incredible for the size of the town, amounting to perhaps four or five millions of dollars in three or four weeks. The manufactures of St John's are as yet few in number and of trifling importance as regards the industry of the country. During the past two or three years, however, a start has been made in that direc tion, and it is to be expected that in a few years they may assume proportions somewhat commensurate with the requirements of the Colony. The largest and most important are those for the manufacture of biscuit. There are three of them (one worked by a Company) and each bakes up annually about 20,000 barrels of flour; besides these St John's possesses 2 foundries, 1 brewery, 1 distillery, 2 tanneries, 1 rope manufactory, 1 boot and shoe factory, 1 block manufactory, 1 cabinet ware factory, I sawing and planing factory, and several oil re-fineries. The machinery is in some most steam is the motive power. The roads and streets are good, the material for macadamizing being the material for macadamizing being excellent. St John's boasts of several handsome public buildings. The Church of England Cathedral, (early English) by Gilbert Scott, is a very beautiful edifice, though unfinished. It cost about $120,000. The Roman Catholic cathedral and adjacent buildings form a very conspicuous and imposing group, built on high ground, erected at a cost of about $800,000. Besides these, and two other churches of England, there are the Wesleyan, Congregational, Scotch (Established and Free) churches and the Government house (costing $240,000), Colonial building, Court house, penitentiary, lunatic asylum, hospital, poor house, and banks. The lunatic asylum is beautifully situated in wooded grounds about three miles out of the town. is under the medical superintenden ce of a resident physician (Dr. H. H. Stabb) and is quite a model institution in every respect. The New York, New-foundland and London Telegraph Co. have an office here. The town is supplied with water from Windsor Lake, a very fine sheet of water, be-tween four and five miles distant, and was introduced at an expense of $360,000. The country around the town is thoroughly picturesque, gen-erally well cultivated and plentifully interspersed with lakes and brooks. The scenery from some of the many points of high land might be counted beautiful in a land more highly favored than Newfoundland. St. John's is distant from Halifax by steamer, fortnightly in summer and monthly in winter, 523 miles, fare $24; from Montreal, 1076 miles and from New York 1070 miles. The population has not increased any during the past twelve years, owing to continued un-successful fishing and consequent emigration. In 1802 the population numbered 3420, and in 1869, 22,553.

COURT OF CIVIL AND CRIMINAL JURISDICTION FOR LABRADOR.

Robert John Pinsent sen., judge; he is also ex-officie magistrate and coroner; Jonas Purchase, bailiff.

This Court is held under the provisions of an Act of the Local Legislature and is summary in its character.

The people congregating on the Labrador are generally very peaceable; but, in the excitement at the height of the herring fishery, disputes often arise consequent upon a system of fishing called barring, which are by this Court summarily settled, and which otherwise might be the cause of much useless litigation. The Court is only held during the summer season, and the judge occupies, jointly with the collector, the vessel employed as Revenue cruiser on the Labrador. The number of cases adjudicated upon rarely exceeds twenty.

DISTRICT COURT, ST. JOHN'S.

Daniel Woodley Prowse, judge; Robert R. W. Lilly,

This is a Court of summary process, having jurisdiction in civil cases to the extent of $40. The judges are police magistrates, ex-officio, with all their jurisdiction and authority. All constables and police officers are under the supervision of judges of this Court.

CHURCH HISTORY.

The Church of England in Newfoundland has a history reaching to the time of Queen Elizabeth. During her reign the Church was suffering much from dissension, and to guard as much as possible against any injury to the Church just rising in Newfoundland, the Queen, in her commission to Sir Humphrey Gilbert giving him the absolute rule over the island, made special provision that no law should be enacted to her prejudice. Early in the 18th century the Society for the Propagation of the Gospet in Foreign Parts was established, and shortly afterwards the first mis-sionary was sent to St John's and the first church built (1703). sionary was sent to St John's and the first church built (1703). In the year 1839 there were only eight missionaries, a number quite inadequate to the requirements of the people. This was in great part to be traced to the incomplete organization of the Church, which up to that time had no Bishop residing in Newfoundland. In that year, however, the Right Rev. A. G. Spencer was appointed by letters patent Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, succeeded in 1844 by the Right Rev. Edward Feilds, also appointed by royal commission. Since its erection into a sevarate see the Church has made Since its erection into a separate see the Church has made considerable progress, but not such as is altogether satisfactory. Besides the scattered nature of the population and the consequent difficulty of access to a people widely parted, and the poverty of the country, obstacles common to all denominations, there has been and is still an incompleteness of organization and action which has hindered the Church in her work. She exists solely as a voluntary organization, without any common bond of action, and without any corporal character (except in so far as the bishop is a corporation.)

A visitation of the clergy of the diocese was held during the past summer in St John's, and the necessity which exists to find some means for the election and support of a Bishop in the voidance of the see by the present incumbent, was broug t before them. The present bishop received his appointment from the Home Government, and also a certain portion of his support, but neither will this method of ap-pointment be again adopted nor the amount continued. Lay delegates from the several deaneries were invited to meet the clergy for consultation, and it was determined that a diocesan synod should be formed, to meet for the first time in the Jane of 1870. This, it is hoped, will give a completeness of organization to the Church, and result in much good.

The clergy of the diocese are, for the most part, maintained as missionaries by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, whose grant to Newfoundland amounts to £4,785 stg. Within the last three or four years the bishop has succeeded in collecting a sum of between £6000 and Within the last three or four years the bishop £7000 for the endowment of the diocesan missionary college which has been heretofore supported by the parent society, and it has now been determined to raise another fund for the endowment of the bishopric.

The history of the Roman Catholic Church in Newfoundland exhibits considerable progress in the face of great obstructions and disabilities, social and political. It established in the island in Ferryland by Sir G. Calvert in 1623, and it was not many years after that Placentia was visited by the bishop of Quebec, who left there some French riests to carry on the work of the Church. From the year 762 to 1784 the Roman Catholic Church was not tolerated n the island, and the ministrations of the Church were only obtained from priests who visited Newfoundland in disguise and at considerable risk. In 1784 Dr. O'Donnell was appointed as bishop of Newfoundland, sixty years before the first bishop of the Church of England. In 1856, at the request of Dr. Mullock, then bishop, the island was divided into two sees, Harbor Grace and St John's, and during the past year another see has been created, that of Placentia. A college is maintained at St John's for the education of missionaries, and for the use of members of the Church generally, and convents and schools are supported in all the settlements (with Roman Catholic population) through-ne colony. Their cathedral at St John's is a very out the colony. large and fine building, and with the adjacent college, convents, &c., cost nearly $500,000. The whole organization of the Church, with its bishops, clergy and convents, is supported by voluntary contributions raised in the colony.

The foundation of Methodism in Newfoundland seems to have been coincident with, rather than resulting from, the religious excitement which at the time of Wesley's preaching agitated the Church at home. About 1776 a species of revivals took place under one of the missionaries sent out by the Society for the Propagation of the Gospel in Foreign Parts, which, though originally made in the Church without any idea of establishing a new sect, through the force of circumstances came to be the nucleus of the present Wesleyan body. In 1786 the first Wesleyan ministers were sent out, and in 1796 the number of the members of the connexion was given as 200. In 1800 there were two missionaries and 500 members; since then this body has increased in a greater ratio than any other religious body, and it now has 19 missionaries and a population attached to the connexion of 28,990. Their missionaries are paid by the parent society to which is sent the contributions of the island.

CROWN LANDS.

The Island of Newfoundland never having been surveyed, it is impossible to say exactly what may be the extent of and available for settlement. As far as it is known the argest portion of the interior does not offer the same inducement to the agricultural settlers as the more accessible portions near the coast. Great marshy savannahs abound on which thousands of deer pasture, but it would appear as if these vast meadows were the result of imense accumulations of bog and peat, in some places between seventy and one hundred feet deep, and not generally of a character to induce any attempt at cultivation. It will remain, however, for the future to prove how far they may be capable of use as grazing ground for cattle and sheep. On the banks of the rivers, streams and lakes with land is found, where, with a climate far more genial enjoyed in these Eastern shores, it may be expected that thousands will find a home. To these lands, though, as yet, there are no regular means of communication; the rivers and lakes with which the country abounds, perhaps to the extent of one third of its area, of course offer great facilities for the development of a system of intercommunication, but their usefulness depends to a great extent upon the construction of roads and bridges. Those constructed heretofore keep altogether near the coast, running from settlement to settlement, made merely to satisfy the convenience of the inhabitants without any idea as to the opening up for settlement of the vast country lying inside. But besides this great unexplored territory, there are large tracks of land lying seaward, which being readily accessible offer the greatest inducements to settlers, either for agriculture or for lumbering; these are situated mostly at the bottoms of the great bays with which the coast line is broken up—Trinity, Bonavista, Green and Placentia Bays, on the banks of the Exploits River, and again on the western shores of the Island, over the carboniferous formations; these latter portions appear to be the most favorably situated in the island for the purposes of agriculture, and here the surface of the country is often flat or gently undulating over great areas:-The extent of country available here for settlement has been thus blocked off by Mr. Murray, the geological surveyor.

Codroy valley, 75 square miles 48,000 acres St George's Bay, 222 2,142,080 " Humber River, 429 256,000 " 726...... 446,080

These valleys are, for the most part, well wooded, producing large pines, juniper or tamarack, yellow birth and other valuable timber; in the valley of the Humber this is especially the case, where the timber is of large growth, only awaiting the lumberer's axe to supply a means of wealth to the colony. Lumbering has been carried on here to a small extent, and 900 logs were brought down the river in the winter of 1868, one of which was sawn into 2000 feet of board.

In Trinity Bay a large tract of very fine land lies almost unoccupied about Smiths Sound, Random Sound and Island, &c., well wooded, with capital timber quite suited to ship building.

In Clode Sound, Freshwater Bay, along the course of the Terra Nova Brook in Bonavista Bay, a great quantity of good land lies undisturbed, and even unsurveyed, awaiting the axe and plough of the settler.

In Green Bay the land about the Exploits River and Halls Bay is in every respect adapted for settlement, and is as yet all but unoccupied. The river is navigable for small steamers or vessels for twelve miles up its course, and with portages as far as the Grand Pond on the western side of the island. The country is well wooded with pine, birch, juniper,&c.,of large growth. Water power is available throughout the country in sufficient force to supply any demands that may be made upon it, and can be generally obtained in places easily accessible from the sea. The climate of these portions of the country, as well as of the interior, is far more suited to farming and other outside business than that found on the eastern and south-eastern shores; and the fogs which so often hang close to these coasts are not

The amount of land under cultivation is very small considering the period that has elapsed since the settlement of the island. Since 1830 but little over 3000 grants have been issued, containing about 40,000 acres. The fisheries offer attractions that agriculture cannot put forward; the excitement of chance, the shortness of the busy seasons, the large amounts that are often made, sometimes three or four hundred dollars in a month, are quite sufficient to deter from the more laborious if more sure way of making a livelihood by agriculture. The fisheries, however, are found to be inadequate to the growing requirements of the population, and, as a consequence, the cultivation of the soil has received a considerable impetus during the last few years. The provisions of the Land Act are of the most liberal nature, as far as settlers are concerned, and for all land may be obtained by grant at an upset price of 2s. per acre in any part of the colony, the applicant paying for its survey and 5s. for his grant. For the benefit of those desirsheep. On the banks of the rivers, streams and lakes with ing to settle permanently upon the land, ether land, which the country is in every direction intersected, capital ing or farming, an Act was passed in 1860, 23 Vict., cap 3, by which any one wishing to cultivate land may, upon application to the governor, obtain a license to occupy fifty acres, and any one wishing to erect a saw mill a license of two hundred acres with a frontage of one-third on a river, and not more than two hundred yards upon the coast; after the expiration of five years the settler, if he have cultivated two acres, or have a saw mill in operation for three years, may obtain a grant in fee for the amount of land held by him under license, paying 5s, for the grant, besides the cost of survey. For the further encouragement of agriculture an Act passed in 1866, by which under rules to be adopted by the governor in council any poor person desirous of settling upon crown lands and cultivating the soil is secured in the payment of a bounty of eight dollars for the first acre cleared, and six dollars for each succeeding acre until six acres are cleared, when a free grant is given of the amount reclaimed. "In no other colony is such a boon held out to the poor man—a free grant of land, the best that can be found, and from six to eight dollars for clearing The following are the rules and regulations adopted by the governor in council for the carrying out of the act just mentioned, 29 Vict., cap. 5, 1868.

Ist. Surveys, under the general superintendence of the Surveyor General, by such persons as the Governor in Council may approve of, and under such instructions as from time to time may be given, shall be made of ungranted and unoccupied waste lands most suitable for agriculture, in the several electoral districts.

and. For the purposes of settlement the said land shall be apportioned in lots, not exceeding fifty acres each lot, and having not more than 200 yards frontage on the coast or shore where so abutted.

3rd. Licenses by the Surveyor General shall be issued, according to priority of application, to persons qualified, by law to hold grants of land, who may desire the same for permanent settlement; which licenses shall be upon condition of the cultivation of at least two acres within five years; and on performance thereof a grant in fee may issue; and to a poor settler no charge shall be made for cost of survey, license or grant.

4th. To every poor settler who in the opinion of the Governor in Council shall come within that definition by the Act, shall be paid from the Public Treasury eight dollars for the first acre and six dollars for each of five acres thereafter of land aforesaid in any of the districts, cleared, tilled and stored to addition by such settler.

and reduced to cultivation by such settler.

5th. That every such settler who may intend to cultivate as aforesaid, and apply for the said bonus, shall give notice in writing of such intention to the Surveyor General, if resident in 8t John's, and to the nearest stipendiary magistrate, or Deputy Crown Surveyor in this district who shall respectively, as soon as practicable, satisfy themselves of the bonh fide character of the application and enter the same in a book to be kept for that purpose, and such Stipendiary Magistrate or Deputy Crown Surveyor shall forewith report particulars of such application to the Surveyor General to be filed in his office.

6th. That when the land shall be cultivated according to the meaning of the Act, the applicant for bonus shall give notice thereof to the Surveyor General or Deputy Crown Surveyor of the district who shall record and certify the same under his hand; and on the production of such certificate at the office of the Colonial Secretary the party shall, with the approbation of the Governor in Council, be entitled to receive the said bonus, as the case may be, and for every such certificate the officers granting the same, other than the Surveyor General, shall been titled to a fee of one dollar. Th. There shall in the first instance be reserved for each

7th. There shall in the first instance be reserved for each electoral district a fair proportion, according to population, of the sum granted for each year for the purposes of the Act; which if not availed of in whole or in part in any district may be applied in any other district for bona field claims within the year, as may hereafter be determined on.

Since these regulations were adopted in 1866, between four and five hundred have taken advantage of their provisions, and have cleared between six and seven hundred acres, the bonuses on which amounted to $4713.97. Heretofore this Act has not been availed of to anything like the extent anticipated, the amount allowed by the Act being $29,000 per annum, but the number of applications for the bonus this past spring has been considerably over that made any other year, and gives the hope that people are being awakened to the necessity of possessing cultivated land as an adjunct to the fisheries, if not as an exclusive means of living.

EDUCATION.

On the educational system of Newfoundland it is hard to write with commendation; the principle at its root is not such as to e sure thorough vigor, and, being so, perhaps the result is not worse, if not better, than could be expected. The whole cost of education is practically (though perhaps not intentionally) defrayed by the Government out of the general revenues of the Colony, and this without any power being vested in it to compel any return commensurate with the outlay. That which people obtain without much cost to themselves is, as a rule, but little appreciated, and one can but regret to find that, in spite of the zeal and liberality, perhaps one might say profuseness, of the Government in its promotion, education in Newfoundland has but proved the truth of the assertion. The Government having assumed the responsibility of paying and managing, a spirit of weak dependence has been fostered, creating an amount of apathy and indifference which the promoters of education have the greatest difficulty in contending with.

The honor of having been the first to make any attempt towards the Public Instruction of the Colony belongs to Governor Gambier, who arrived in the Colony in 1802. With the co-operation of the clergy he raised a fund by voluntary subscription which was appropriated for the support of two free schools in St. John's, in proportion to the relative number of Protestants and Roman Catholics. Education though, in these early days of Colonial history, seems to have made but the smallest progress, and it was not until the year 1823 that any comprehensive plan was adopted to bring the Colony under educational influences. About that year a number of English merchants in crested in the trade of the Colony formed themselves into an association for the establishment of schools in the Island of Newfoundland, and to the Newfoundland School Society are the inhabitants indebted more than to any other cause for what little advancement education has made. They established schools in all the principal settlements of the Colony numbering in 1845, between 30 and 40, and having an attendance of 3129 children, nearly half of the number of children then at ending school in the whole Island. Since that time this society has kept schools in operation in all the districts of the Island, aided by a small vote of $2,000 from the Government. Their schools number now, 1869, 18, with an attendance of 2100 scholars, generally the best schools in the Island of an Elementary character; their school in St. Johns is used in most cases as the Normal training school for teachers, selected under the provisions of the Education Act by Protestant Boards of Education.

In 1836 the first Act was passed by the Local Legislature for the encouragement of education. It appropriated £2100 for the purposes of the Act, distributed thus: Newfoundland School Society £300, Orphan Asylum school, St. John's, £100; Presentation Convent schools, St. John's, £100; St. Patricks Free school, Harbor Grace, £100; and the rest for the support of Elementary schools in the different districts of the Colony, to be expended by boards appointed by the Governor. These schools were to be unsectarian in their character, a subsequent Act providing that no Board shall, on any pretence, choose or select for tue use of such schools any book having a tendency to inculcate the doctrines or peculiar tenets of any particular church or religious society. This system, godless as it has been termed, did not give satisfaction, and in 1843 an Act was passed increasing the grant to £5100, appropriating it between Protestant and Roman Catholics, and definding the districts for which Boards were to be appointed.

In 1844, the Government, urged by the necessity which existed for a higher class of education than was obtainable in the elementary schools, passed an Act for the formation of an academy in St. John's, granting £3,000 for the erection of buildings and purchase of apparatus, and £300 per annum for salary of head master and £250 per annum, for second master. The academy buildings were not erected, and dissatisfaction existing on account of the lack

This was further amended in 1858 when a separate board was granted to the Wesleyan body, and appropriations of £200 each per annum were made to Hartoc Grace and Carbonear for the support of grammar schools. This arrangement (with the exception of Carbonear grammar school, which has been divided into three sections, church of England, Roman catholic, and Wesleyan) still remains inforce, though it can hardly be said to give satisfactory results. The following is a comparative statement of expenditure, &c., on account of academies 1849 and 1869:

	Grant.	Scholars.	Rate per head.
Church of England Church of Rome Wesleyan General Protestant	$1846 16 • 2769 26 923 08 692 30	24 62 67 35	$76 96 † 44 66 13 71 19 78

	1849.
Grant.	Scholars.	Rate per head.
* $2929 08	19	8154 26

This table exhibits a considerable increase in the value received for amounts expended for the academy, but still the average cost of each pupil to the colony is much higher than it ought to be; taking the amount which each branch of the academy draws on account of the training of masters in addition to the general grant, the rate per head would not be far short of $47—and this expended, as a rule, upon children whose parents are quite in a position to pay the whole cost of their education.

In 1851, the grant for elementary education was increased to £7,500 and still further added to in 1853, when it was fixed at £7,880. This sum, however, restricted as it was by conditions under which it was granted, did not seem sufficient for the wants of the colony in educational matters, and in 1858 it was thought advisable to re-cast the Educational Act of the colony and still further to increase the amounts thereunder voted, which were then fixed at £10,525. This is the Act now in operation, and under which the whole school system of the colony (if it may be called a system) is regulated. The following is a slight outline of its provisions. Sec. 2 provides that out of the £10,025, £9,525 shall be divided in ratio of population between Protestants and Roman catholics, £5,113 to Protestants and £4,412 to Roman catholics, to be expended £4,752 by Protestant Boards and £3,667 by Roman catholic Boards for the support of elementary schools in the different districts of the colony. Sec. 3 provides for the expenditure of £1,000 for commercial schools in the principal settlements of the Island: 26 in all, including a school for Presbyterians in St. John's. Secs. 4 and 5 provide for the appropriation of £695 out of the grant to Roman catholic schools, for the support of convent schools, to be paid to the bishops of St John's and Harbor Grace. Sec. 6 and 7 define the boundaries of the respective boards, Protestant and Roman catholic. Sec. 8 gives authority to governor to appoint Boards. Sec. 10 gives power to governor to fill up vacancies in Boards. Secs. 11 and 12 provide for the internal management of boards, giving them power to make by-laws (subject to approval of governor) and directs annual meeting and transmission of returns to governor. Sec. 13, the places at which the annual meetings are to to take place. Sec. 14 vests all school property in the Boards making them corporations to sue and be sued in the name of the chairman. Sec. 15 establishes the scale of fees to be paid. Each child learning alphabet, &c., 2s. 6d. per year, writing and cyphering 5s, other branches 7s. 6d., navigation 10s. additional, and provides a mode of recovery by warrant of distraint from justice of the peace. Sec. 16 enacts that the Protestant Boards for d stricts in which Newfoundland School Society schools are established shall pay to the society for the support of these schools certain sums amounting to £500, and Sec. 17 that schools under the Wesleyan methodist concexion should be similarly treated to the extent of £250. Sec. 18 enacts that out of moneys under the control of the Roman catholic Boards for St. John's and Harbor Grace £550 shall be given for the support of convent schools and the orphan asylum school, St. John's, and St. Patrick's free school, Harbor Grace. Sec. 19 gives power to Board in one district to assist Board in another. Sec. 20 provides that the course of instruction should be reading, writing, arithmetic, Eng'ish grammar, and, where required, geography, history and navigation, and any industrial employment directed by the Boards Sec. 21 votes £200 to be proporrected by the Boards Sec. 21 votes 2200 to be propor-tionally divided between Protestants and Roman catho-lies for repairs of schools and for providing books, maps, &c. Sec. 22 enacts that no grant be made for erection of school houses unless inhabitants contribute an equal amount. Sec. 23 provides that no religious instruction be given objected to by parents. Sec. 24 makes provision for the training of teachers, £400 to be expend. ed for Protestant and £380 for Roman catholic teachers. each scholar to receive £25 per annum, whilst training; and no more than two scholars from any one electoral district to be paid for at the same time. Sec. 25 provides that teachers shall be educated, if Protestants, at either the church of England academy, the Wesleyan academy, or the principal school of the Newfoundland School Society and if Roman catholics at the Roman catholic academy. Sec. 26 votes £400 for the inspection of schools, and 27 enacts that two inspectors be appointed one Protestant and one Roman catholic. And 28 provides that all moneys voted in the Act shall be paid quarterly.

The amounts appropriated under this act and under preceding mentioned acts for the formation of academies, out of the general revenue is larger than that enjoyed in any other country from the same source. The following table will exhibit this in a marked manner:

eminent in her encouragement of education, also places her pre-eminent for the poor results of her expenditure. And it must seem strange that with such liberal encouragement there should be so much to regret in the educational status of the colony. A solution of the difficulty is found in this, that where everything is done by the state or Government there is extravagance on one side and local apathy on the other; and this is fully borne out as far as Newfoundland is concerned, for it has been noticed that, according as successive Legislatures increased the educational grant, the voluntary contributions of the people decreased in perhaps a greater ratio. To ensure the greatest amount of benefit from the Government vote in aid of education it would seem to be a necessity that in conjunction with it some system of local rating should be adopted which, in developing the forces of local interest and influence, would tend to place education in the prominent position which it ought to occupy. But besides this "apathetic indifference exhibited by the people to every-thing connected with education" (to quote from the report of the inspector of Roman catholic schools) there are other causes at work, some of them a necessity from the peculiar employment of the people, to retard the progress of education, 1st. The difficulty of intercommunication through the lack of roads. 2nd. The scattered nature of the population which would require five schools where one would be sufficient for the number of children attending. 3rd. The nature of the employment of the people, compelling them in the fishing season to make use of all available labor, even that of children of tender years,

This return though exhibiting Newfoundland as pre- in the "making" and curing of the produce of the voyage, 4th. Their poverty, which compels them to keep their children from school, in severe weather, from the want of necessary clothing. 5th. The poor salaries which are paid to the teachers, and, as a consequence, the meagreness, as a general rule, of their attainments. These causes, and many besides, offer great opposition to all endeavors to improve the educational system of the colony; but it is to be hoped that some of them are capable of removal through judicious legislation, and that others will yield to the ameliorating influences of time, as the condition of the people improves.

Consequent upon the taking of the census in 1869 it has been found necessary on account of the greater increase of Protestants to re-distribute and to equalise, in proportion to the denominational division of the population, the grant for education, and during the past session of the Legislature a vote of $6,133 was added to it, so that the re-distribution might be made as little inconvenient as possible. This will make the education grant of the colony for 1870 about $72,000, equivalent to about $4 for each pupil educated. Urgent need exists for the thorough revision of the educational system of the colony, and it has been under contemplation to introduce at the next session of the Legislature some measures tending to this object. Whatever scheme may be adopted, it is to be hoped that some return commensurate with the very liberal expenditure will be obtained, and that education in Newfoundland may be raised to a position not inferior to that which it occupies in the sister provinces.

GEOLOGY OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

Of the Geology of Newfoundland little was known until within the past four or five years; without proof to the contrary it had generally been assumed as of the most chaotic nature, and repeated experiments in mining seemed to justify the assumption. Silver, lead, copper, iron, plumbago were found scattered about, almost in profusion, but every working made it appear as if these appearances were fragmentary and superficial.

The interior of the island being uninhabited, trackless and obscured by woods and morasses, and the coast often inaccessible by means of surf and the boldness of the cliffs, it became a difficult matter for science to disprove the chaotic character of Newfoundland. In 1865 Mr. Murray, a gentleman of well tried experience in connection with the Geological Survey of Canada, was requested to undertake a similar survey of this island, and it might almost be said that all that is known of the lithographical structure of Newfoundland, is the result of his labors, carried on in face of the greatest difficulties a surveyor could have to contend against, having first to map the topography of the country before attempting to lay down its geology.

From Mr. Murray's researches we learn that in Newfoundland the lower formations predominate, whilst the secondary are also found largely exhibited; throughout the peninsula of Avalon and for a great distance westward from it, it is supposed that there are no more rocks of a more recent date than the lower members of the Silurian system.

The following have been recognized and their distribution followed out to a certain extent. They are mentioned in

- ascending order :-1 Laurentian.
 - 2 Intermediate (Cambrian).
 - Lower Silurian to the top of the Quebec group.
 - Upper Silurian. 5 Devonian .
 - 6 Carboniferous
 - 7 Superficial Drift.

The Laurentian series forms, as it were, the substratum of the island, spreading itself abroad in great waves or undulations, in some places depressed into deep hollows and in others elevated into mountain ranges. It is exhibited most largely in what is termed the long range, running from Cape Ray to Canada Bay, and it is supposed that the principal ranges of hills and mountains from one side of the island to the other will be of this system now got up by a series of parallel anticlinals. These elevations with their corresponding depressions point about N. N. E. and S. S. W, and give to the island its peculiarity of geographical and topographical structure. On the flanks of these ranges and in the hollows are collected the other geological series of the island resting sometimes conformally and sometimes unsometimes conformally upon each other. The rocks of the Laurentian series generally consist of gueiss and mica slate, intersected by dykes of greenstone and Feldspathic veins.

The Intermediate has been found to overspread the peninsula of Avalon (Laurentian rocks intruding in several localities) and further north it is found largely exhibited in the peninsula between Trinity and Bonavista Bays, and in the islands of the latter bay. The whole formation is intersected by numerous veins of quartz, the larger of which run parallel with the stratification; these quartz yeins are often impregnated with ores of copper, frequently of the grey or variegated sulphurets, lead or iron, and sometimes all three together. This formation has been supposed by Mr. Murray to be the equivalent of the Cambrian system of England and of the Huronian of Canada.

The Lower Silurian is largely distributed in Newfoundland, but no member higher than the upper part of the Quebec group has been recognized; this, however, is dis-Quebec group has been recognized; this, nowever, is un-played in great force in many parts of the island. In his journey across the island Mr. Cormick noticed almost in its very centre the singularity of the mineralogical apparatus. "All the highest parts of the ridge were of this metallic rock and were extremely sterile." "The other rocks seen were noble serpentine, stratite or soapsione, verdantique and other magnesian rocks." In this description Mr. Murray sees all the conditions of the Lauzon Division of the Quebec group, the metalliferous belt of North America, and considers that here occurs its nearest outcrop going from east to west. On the north-east coast this division is plainly shown, and it is to that part of the island that mining efforts are at present principally directed. The calciferous portion of this system is well marked on the east side of the island, at Canada Bay and Hare Bay, and on the western side along the coast from Port au Port to Cape Norman.

The Upper Silurian has not been, as far as noticed, developed to any great extent; its presence is indicated in White Bay by the presence of Favosites gothlandica and other characteristic fossils.

The Devonian. The Carboniferous, which appears to be the highest of the old formations in Newfoundland, occupies, as far as known, an extensive area on the central and south-western parts of the island, consisting, for the most part, of the lower measures of the formation. It occupies three distinct areas, one about St George's Bay, another designated the Fort a Port Trough, and the third Inland by the Humber River and the Grand Pond; these areas are separated from each other by ridges of the older formations upon which the carboniferous series rest unconformably. In the St George's Bay section a seam of coal was noticed by Mr. Jukes (who made a preliminary survey of the island in 1839 and 40.) has been mapped by Mr. Murray exhibiting its outcrop, and subsequently its position verified by Professor Bell of Toronto. Taking the area of the plane of the seam at 38 square miles and its thickness at three feet, there would be square miles and its threatess at three feet, there would be $4,720,000 chaldrons of coal or 1,425,000 chaldrons per square mile. The rocks of this series, as in Cape Breton, consist of conglomerates at the base and in ascending order, of grey and drab micacious sandstones, and red. green and black shales with bands of limestone, and associated sometimes with protruding masses of gypsum.

Of the Superficial drift Mr. Murray remarks that the facts collected are too meagre and unsatisfactory to allow the hazarding of any suggestions relative thereto. To the north-west of Halls Bay accumulations were remarked of sixty feet in thickness, consisting of stratified clay, some-times of a reddish and sometimes of a drab or bluish color gravel and sand containing modern marine shells.

ECONOMIC MATERIALS.

Gold—said to have been found at parts of Conception Bay and at Mings Bight, northern part of the Island. Traces have been discoverd in some iron ores taken from the Island of Bonavista Bay.

Silver-Lawn. This was discoverd some years ago. The ore has been described as pure sulph-arseniuriet of silver, usually called ruby silver, yielding on analysis 65. 28 per cent, and encrusted with chloride of silver.

Copper grey ore. Rock Cove, Placentia Bay, Fortune Bay, Hollyrood, Conception Bay, Turks Gut, Conception Bay, North East Arm of Placentia Bay.

Copper Sulphuret- Tilt Cove, Bets Cove, Burton's Pond, St Julien's Island, Ming's Bight, Sandy Cove Island, Hall's Bay, Sop Island, &c.

Copper Pyrites - Hooping Harbor, Goose Cove, &c.

Lead Sulphuret—Galena, Picadilly, Port-a-Port Bay, Deer Lake, Parrody's Head, Bay Despair, La Manche, Long Is-land near Harbor Buffet, St Mary's, Town Point, Placentia.

Iron Specular-Grande Vache Bay, Sops Island, Pay Fourchette, Hooping Harbor, Lakeman's Island, &c

Iron Pyrites—How Harbor, Terra Nova Mine, Bay Despair, St Marys, Lakeman's Island, Catalina, Island of Bonavista Bay, &c.

Iron Magnetic-Cairn Mountain, Flat Bay Brook, vista Bay.

Plumbago-I slands at the head of Bay Despair, Conne River.

Graphite-Codroy River at Long Range.

Manganese-Topsail Head, between Placentia and St Mary's Bays. This metal has been noticed only as a wad or bog ore.

Nickel -Tilt Cove.

Chromium-Oxyd, Ming's Bight, Little Bay.

Barytes-Sulphate, La Manche, Topsail, Distress, &c.

Malachite-La Manche Kaolin or porcelain clay.—Bloody Bay, Bonavista Bay.

Clay Brick-Indian Brook, Entrance of Conne Piver. Red Ochre-Flat Bay Brook and adjacent country, Humber River above Beaver Pond.

Shell Mart-Romain's Brook. Soap Stone-Mings Bight.

Ornamental Stones-

Jaspers, red red and green, and brown-Humber Arm, Humber River, St George's Bay, Flat Bay Brook.

Labradorite-Cairn Mountains.

Serpentine-How Harbor, Ming's Bight, Little Bay, Terra Nova Mine, Tilt Cove, &c.

Marble-Canada Bay and Harbor, Little Cony Arm, Topsail, Cape St George, Red Island, Bay of Islands, Humber River, York Harbor, &c.

Marble, white-Bay of Islands, Codroy River, Humber River, Canada Bay.

Marble, black-Humber River, Cooks Cove, jet black on the South side of Humber Arm.

Limestone—Hare Bay, New World Island, Bay of Islands, Cape St George, Port-a-Port, Humber River, Ryan's Brook, Codroy, Ship Cove, Burin, Topsail, Harbor, Main, Cape Dog, St Mary's Bay, Despair, Come-by-Chance, North Harbor. M. Gypsum-Romain's Brook. Codroy Island and River, St.

George's Bay. This mineral occurs in vast masses on the coast between Codroy Island and River where it may be quarried to any extent. That found at Romain's Brook is of a very pure white, and probably well adapted for stucco purposes-

BUILDING STONE.

Granite-La Poile, Cat's Cove, Holyrood, Cape Reels, Rose Blanche, Black River, Placentia Bay, Salmon Cove, and numerous other localities, the granites of La Poile and Rose Blanche are of the most beautiful quality and boundless in quantity; and that found at Holyrood in Conception Bay of a pretty pink color has been used with the greatest effect in the erection of one of the convents in St John's.

Sandstones—Kelley's Island, Conception Bay, Codroy Islands, Signal Hill, St Johns.

States-St Johns, Brigus, Random, Trinity Bay. At Random slates are now largely quarried, equal in quality to the best imported.

Whetstones-Grand Pond, Great Codroy River, Cape An-

Grindingstones-The sandstones at the foot of Old Harry Mountain, Grand Pond, seem well adapted for this purpose. Petroleum-Middle Long Point Port-a-Port and at Bonne Bay.

Coal-Crabbs Brook, Grand Pond. At Crabbs brook the seam is three feet thick.

LIGHT HOUSES.

Robert Oke, general inspector of light houses.

A light house fund, the proceeds of light dues paid in the colony, is maintained separate from the general revenue, for the construction, repair and support of Colonial light houses. And light houses are built in those places most necessary, according as the state of the fund warrants the expenditure.

Two of the below mentioned light houses were built at the cost of the Imperial Government, namely, those at Cape Race and Cape Pine, and the former is maintained from sunset to sunrise. The light will be visible to se by a light due of one-sixteenth of a penny levied by Im- ward from N. E. by E. round by the S. E. and S. to W.

Iron tufacious or bog-Valley of Terra Nova River, Bona- perial statute and collected at all ports of Great Britain and Ireland on vessels arriving from ports in America, north of New York. The same rate is levied under similar restrictions on all vessels arriving in Newfoundland, but the amount here collected is very trifling. The lights of Galantry Head and South entrance to St. Peter's are supported and maintained by the French Government. light house is in process of construction at Ferryland, but it will not be exhibited before 1871.

> Fort Amberst light at the entrance of St. John's .- A light was first established at this station in 1813; in 1850 a new house, lantern and apparatus were erected. The light burns at an elevation of 114 feet, is produced by a treble argand burner placed in the focus of an annular lens of the fourth order, and in favorable weather can be seen 16 nautical miles. When Cape Spear is enveloped in fog, a heavy piece of ordnance is also discharged at this Fort every hour during daylight, to assist vessels in making the harbor. It is situated in lat. 47.33,54 N., and long. 52.40.18 W. John Sheppard, keeper ; Thomas Moore, assistant.

> Cape Spear light .- This light was first exhibited on the 1st September, 1835; it is produced by seven argand burners and silvered reflectors burning at an elevation of 264 feet-it revolves, shewing a bright light, every minute, and in favorable weather can be seen 26 nautical miles. It is situated in 47.31.11 N. lat, and 52.36.59 W. longitude. James Cantwell, keeper; Denis Cantwell, assistant.

Cape Bonavista light .- Situated in lat, 48 41.53 N. long. 53.5.20 W.; is a revolving light, showing alternately every 90 seconds a white and red light. It is produced by 16 argand burners and reflectors, burns at an elevation above the sea of 150 feet, and in favorable weather can be By keeping this light open with seen 18 nautical miles. Cape Largent, it will carry you clear of the Flower Rocks; first exhibited 11th September, 1843. Nicholas White, keeper ; Matthew White, assistant.

Cape Pine light .- This tower is of iron, built by the Imperial Government in 1849-50, and first put in requisition on the 1st January, 1851. It is a fixed white light, has 12 argand burners and reflectors-elevated above the level of the sea 314 feet-situated in lat 46.37 4 N., and in long, 53.31.45 W. In a favorable state of the atmosphere it can be seen 26 nautical m les. George Hewitt, keeper; Thomas Doran, assistant.

Harbor Grace Beach beacon and light .- First exhibited 11th September, 1850; stands on the Point of Beach at the entrance of Harbor Grace. It is a double light, as a distinction from Harbor Grace Island light, one being placed above the other, preserving that appearance for six miles, exceeding this distance up to ten miles the two lights appear blended into one. In sailing into Harbor Grace with a fair or leading wind, bring the Beach beacon to bear W. or W. by S., and by keeping the light or building a little on the starboard bow it will bring you clear of thebar, on which at low water there is not more than 8 feet of water. It is situated in lat, 47.41.28 N, and in long. 53.12.33 W elevation above the sea level 40 feet; in clear weather it may be seen at a distance of 11 nautical miles. Brown, keeper.

Green Island light at the entrance of Catalina Harbor, Trinity Bay .- Situated in lat. 48 30.16 N., long. 53.2.40 This is a fixed white light, burns at an elevation of 92 feet above high water, and in favorable weather will be seen from E. N. E., seaward, to S. W., 15 nautical miles. Vessels bound Northward by keeping this light open with the North Head of Catalina until Bonavista light opens with Cape Le Jean, will give the Flower Rocks an ample berth-or when coming from the Northward and bound for Catalina, by giving the N. Head a moderate berth, you will clear the Brandies Rocks by steering for Green Island light. It was first exhibited in 1857. Peter Woods, keeper; Henry Roper, assistant.

The light is elevated 180 feet above the mean water level of the sea, and may be seen in clear weather 19 nautical miles from a shir's deck. The tower is striped red and white vertically. It stands close to the old beacon, which has been cut down. The light house is in lat, 46.39.30 N ... loug. 53.4.33 W., and was first exhibited in 1856. Michael J. Hally, keeper; George Simms, assistant; James Simms, 2nd assistant during winter months.

Dodding Head, Great Burin Island light .- This light was put in requisition on the 3rd August, 1858, and is exhibited every night from sunset to sunrise. It is a revolving cato-dioptric of the second order, producing a brilliant white light every minute, with intermediate flashes, at intervals of twenty seconds, burning at an elevation of 430 feet above the level of the sea, and in favorable weather can be seen 29 miles -situated in 47.0.26 north latitude, 55.8.43 west longitude. Austin Sheppard, acting keeper; John Churchwell, assistant.

Offer Wadham Island light,-Was first exhibited on the 4th October, 1858, and is lighted every night from sunset to sunrise. - The light is a seady, fixed lens-light, burning on a circular Brick Tower 100 feet above the level of the sea, and can be seen in a favorable state of the atmosphere 15 nautical miles. Situated in latitude 49.36.0 north-longitude 53.45.6 west. Charles Prowse, keeper; Patrick Hollaban, assistant.

Baccalieu Island light .- This light is exhibited every night from the going away of daylight in the evening to the return of daylight in the morning. The light house is situated on the northern end of the Island. Latitude 48.8.51 north, longitude 52.47.50 west-the tower is of brick, the keeper's dwelling a square building detached from the tower, painted white with the roof red.

The light is a cato-dioptric first class Holpohotal revolving waite light, shewing a flish every twenty seconds. It is elevated 443 feet above high water, and can be seen in clear weather 30 nautical miles, and a lesser distance according to the state of the atmosphere .- When the southern end of the Island bears N. N. E., the light will not be visible when nearer the Island than 8 miles. It was first exhibited in 1858. James Ryan, keeper; John Ryan, assistant.

Cape St. Mary's light-Was put in requisition on the 20th September, 1860; it is a revolving cato-dioptric light of the first order producing alternately every minute a brilliant red and white light burning at an elevation of 300 feet above the level of the sea, and will be seen in a favorable state of the atmosphere 26 nautical miles from a vessel's deck; situated in 46.49.30 N, lat., 54.11.34 West long. The tower is of brick, and on each side of which stands the dwellings of the keeper and assistant, the sides of which are painted white, roofs red. John Rieley, keeper; William J. Collins, assis ant.

St. John's .- Two red lights are exhibited every night from sunset until sunrise, intended as leading marks for vessels entering the Narrows. The lower light on the roof of the Custom house-the other 400 yards in the rear, on a waite post, within a few yards of the N. E. angle of the Congregational church, and 180 feet above the level of the sea. These lights will be readily distinguished from any other lights in the town; and keeping them in a line bearing N. W. & W., will lead in the largest vessel clear of all danger. To serve as leading marks also during the day, the pedim nt of the Custom house has been painted white; this is to be kept in I ne with the upper lantern, also painted white. Exhibited 1st September, 1863.

Brunet Island light, Mercer's Head, Fortune Bay .- First exhibited 27th June, 1865. It is a powerful, flashing white light, and attains its greatest brilliancy every ten seconds. It burns at an elevation of 408 feet above the level of the sea, and in clear weather may be seen at a distance of 35 miles, and be visible in every direction from North round East and South, to W. N. W. M-reer's Head is a bold bendland, and situated in long, 55,59,39 W, and lat, 47,16 N. Martin Sparrow, keeper; James Gaulon, assistant.

Harbor Grace Island light .- The fixed light for many years past exhibited at Harbor Grace Island, in Conception Bay, was discontinued on the 1st December, 1869. The light at that station is now revolving, showing in every direction two white flashes, followed by one red flash. The interval between each flash in attaining its greatest brilliancy will be 30 seconds. This light, in a favorable state of the atmosphere, will be seen 25 nautical miles. It is situated in lat, 47.42.45 N., and long, 53.8.15. Austin Oke, keeper; Charles Snow, assistant.
Ferryland light recently constructed. Michael Kearney, keeper; — Costello, assistant. Galantry Head, Island of St. Peter's.—The fixed light on Galanery Head, Island of St. Peter's, since the 10th August, 1862, has been replaced by a flash light, with intervals of twenty seconds, and by one red flash after two white flashes; situated in lat. 46.45.30 N., long. 58.27.0 W.; elevation above high water 64 metres. Distance at which the light is visible 18 miles. The light is hidden at the northward by the high land of St Peter's.

Light at the South entrance St. Peter's .- Since 1st October, 1862, the entrance of the harbor of St. Peter's, called South Channel, has been marked by two small fixed lights, one of which is a white light illuminating three-fourths of the horizon, and placed on the batteryand the other a red light, on the plain at the north of the town. The white light has an elevation of 11 metres, and is visible 6 miles. The red light is elevated 19 metres, visible 3 miles distance. The line connecting these two lights indicates the Middle Channel.

The position of the red light has also been so determined that as soon as it is seen on the left of Cape Eagle, vessels coming from Columbier in beating into the N. E. entrance will have nothing to fear from the shoals of Cape Rouge.

Light Dues .- Une shilling per ton on all vessels entering any port or harbor of the Colony, except coasting, sealing, or fishing vessels; but not to be levied more than once in any one year. - Sealing and coasting vessels-Six pence per ton on registered vessels of 40 tons and upwards; fifteen shillings per annum on all vessels less than 40 tons.

The 19th Vict., cap. 5, sec. 5, enacls :- " that n greater sum than £25 sterling shall be in any year levied for light du s on any stramer or vessel entering any port of this colony; and no steamer plying between Europe and any port of North America, and entering any port of this colony as a port of call, shall be liable to pay any light dues or other port charges except pilotage.

MINES AND MINERALS.

Within the last few years mining explorations have been carried on to a considerable extent, and hopes have been raised by the marked success which has attended one of the mining enterprises that Newfoundland may yet become the Cornwall of Britain in America, as pre-emment for her mines and minerals as she has been and is for her fisheries. Under the Act 23 Vict., cap 3., to make provisions for the disposal and sale of ungranted and unoccupied Crown Lands within the Island of Newfoundland, and to make provision for granting Mining Licenses, Leases and Grants, &c. it was enacted that the "Governor may issue licenses of search for three square miles," g ving the exclusive right to the land licenses. Such a license holds good for two years, at the end of which period a grant may be issued on application, of one square mile, provided that if within two years from the issue of the grant mining operations shall not have commenced, the grant shall revert to the Crown. Under this Act the following regulations have been adopted by the Governer in Council :-

1. An application for a License of search (which can continue in force for two years only, and can cover only three square miles) shall be made in the form of a petition and filed and registered in the Surveyor General's office; and such petition shall describe generally, but with sufficient certainty, the situation, extent and boundaries of the land over which the search is to extend; and with such petition there shall be deposited with the Surveyor General, for the use of the colony, the sum of five pounds sterling. II. An application for a grant or lease of unineral land (which cannot exceed one square mile) shall be made in the like form and be filed in the same office, and shall contain an accurate survey,made by a Government surveyor at the expense of the petitioner, of the land required, with a description of its position and boundaries; and shall disclose the names of any present occupants, if any; whether any part of the land has been, or at such time be, under cultivation or improvement of any kind, and if so by whom made and to what extent, and whether any other person has any right, interest, or claim in and over the said land, or is possessed of any part thereof. With such petition a sum of ten pounds sterling shall be deposited with the Surveyor General for the use of the colony, and the same shall be accompanied by a certificate from the Surveyor, verifying such particulars as relate to the occupation, possession and state of said land, and the absence of claims upon it by other parties.

III. Every petition shall be deemed to be filed, so as to give the applicant a prior claim to what he seeks only from the time of the payment of the deposit money.

IV. Every application for a grant or lease of mineral land shall be advertised by the applicant in the Royal Gazette for one month previously to such grant or lease being issued.

V. Every grant or lease shall contain a reservation of a royalty of tive per cent upon all gold and silver, and (after five years) of two and one half per cent, on the gross produce of all other mines or mineral worked on the land, or obtained therefrom, and a reservation to the public, if considered advisable by the Governor and Council of the beach or sea shore, to the extent of 100 feet from high water mark, for the purposes of the fishery, and it shall be subject to a condition that the lease or grant shall be forelied if the mines and minerals therein mentioned be not actually and effectually worked within two years from the date of the grant, or if the working thereof be intermitted for the period of two years at any time, or if the royalty be not paid; and shall contain provisions for affording free access at all seasonable times to the Surveyor General and his agents, to inspect and see the state of the works, and the quantity of minerals ruised or worked; for the keeping of true books of account by the grantee or lessee of all such minerals, which books shall always be open to the inspection of the Surveyor General or his agents; and for the determination of the moment of the royalty from time to time payable in manner hereafter mentioned.

VI. The royalty reserved by any grant or lease shall be delivered to the Surveyor General or his agent upon the land quarterly, or may be compounded for at such rate as may from time to time be agreed upon between that office and the grantee or lessee.

VII. A map of Newfoundland, showing all mineral grants, leases and licenses of search, with the dates thereof, shall be kept in the Surveyor General's office, open to inspection on payment of one shilling.

Under these regulations, licenses have been issued and grants taken up; all of these are upon the coastline and for the greater part on the shore and islands lying between Cape John and Cape Freels. It is in this portion of the island that the Lauzon division of the Quebec group of rocks (which has been termed the Metalliferous Belt of America) has been most fully traced out by the Government geological surveyor; and it is here that the principal mining operations have been carried on, viz., at Tilts Cove and Burton's Pond. The ore worked is, in both instances, copper, found in conjunction with fine serpentines, though at Tilt Cove, nickel has also been worked with great profit, from a lode or vein, and sold for £80 per ton. Applications on the south coast, and more especially in Placentia Bay, have been principally for lead, and it is in this section that the La Manche lead mine is being now worked. Free grants or licenses have been issued for the western shore of the island, owing to the treaty rights which the French possess on that portion of the coun-The limits of these rights have been repeatedly debated and discussed, but without much conclusion being upon the question; for while it is evident that the French cannot possibly possess any territorial jurisdiction in Newfoundland, it is equally plain that by treaty they need suffer no interference or interruption with their rights of codfishing, which of course involves the use of the shore. difficulty unsolved, the Home Government, until lately, positively forbade any licenses being issued for that portion of the island (termed the French shore) but a sort of compromise has been affected whereby at present-both licenses and grants may be obtained for land lying one mile from high water mark. This is hardly satisfactory, but until the meaning of the treaties has been mutually agreed upon, anything more can hardly be expected. This shore seems rich in many articles of great economic importance, and gyrsum, marble, limestone, coal, iron and petroleum await the enterprise of the capitalist.

In Trinity Bay one grant of land has been made for the purposes of a slate quarry, and very considerable progress has been made in opening it up: the slate is of excellent quality, obtainable in the largest sizes, and is described by the Welsh quarrymen who are engaged in its working as equal to any obtained from the celebrated quarries in Wales

NATURALIZATION OF ALIENS.

On the application of any Alien resident in Newfoundland the governor may issue letters patent under the great seal of the island, naturalising such aliens, who thereupon or as soon after as he shall have taken the oath of allegiance before a judge of the Supreme Court, (which must be done within ten days from the issuing of letters patent) shall become entitled to all the rights, privileges, and, immunities, and subject to all the liabilities of a natural born subject of Her Majesty (under Act 19 Victoria, cap 20).

CURRENCY.

The Act 26 Victoria, cap. 18, entitled "An Act for the Regulation of the Currency," provides that the denomination of money in the currency of the colony shall be dollars and cents, and that all public accounts shall be paid, and monies received, in such currency.

The system has been based upon the value of the sovereign, which is fixed at $4.89; all parts of the sovereign being a legal tender after the like rate, and according to the proportion they respectively bear to the sovereign; thus the shilling English passes for 24 cents, the florin for 48 cents, the half-crown for 60 cents, while the English half-penny is equivalent to one cent. A colonial coinage has been united under the Act, consisting of cents in bronze, 5 cent, 10 cent, 20 cent pleces in silver, and 2 dollar pieces in gold. The standard of fineness is the same as that used for British coins, and their intrinsic value bears the same proportion to the current value as British coins respectively bear to their current value. On this Act the Master of the Mint has remarked, that "the creation of a new distinction between the currency of two neighboring British colonies may be regretted, but Newfoundland cannot well be objected to for adopting a decimal system of the dollar so much in harmony with the Imperial coinage as to admit of being worked by British coins, and which of all the decimal systems of coinage appears to be that which would be introduced with least difficulty into the Motter country itself."

PATENTS OF INVENTION.

All applications to be addressed to the office of the Colonial Secretary, St John's, where all documents are fyled and models deposited.

The Act of the Colonial Legislature, 19 Vic., cap. 19, provides that Patents of Invention may be granted for the Island of Newfoundland and its dependencies for a term of fourteen years, and of seven additional, at the option of the Governor, to any one who shall apply for the same, alleging that he has discovered some new and useful art, machine, manufacture or composition of matter not heretofore known or used.

Every application for a patent must be accompanied by a declaration made before one of the judges of the Supreme Court, that the applicant believes himself to be the true inventor of the discovery for which he solicits a patent, and that it has not been heretofore used in Newfoundland or

In the granting of Patents no distinction is made as regards the nationality of the inventor, but in the case of foreigners, the necessary declaration must be made before a British Consul or Vice-Consul, and certified by his seal

Together with petition for Patent, every applicant shall deliver an exact and precise description of his invention or improvement, specifying the method of using, a process of compounding in such manner as to distinguish the same from all other things before known, and to enable any person skilled in the art or science of which it is a branch, or with which it is most nearly connected, to compound the same, and in case of any machine shall deliver his model thereof into the office of the Colonial Secretary, and shall explain the principle and several modes in which he has contemplated the application of the principle or character which distinguishes it from other inventions; the whole to be accompanied by drawings, or with specimens of the ingredients, and of the composition of matter, sufficient for the purposes of experiment.

Any Patent granted for an invention previously patented outside the colony ceases on the expiry of the original

Any assignee of a party or parties obtaining a Patent in other countries may obtain Letters Patent in Newfoundland provided the discovery shall not have come into common use prior to the application for Patent,

The cost of obtaining a Patent in Newfoundland including the necessary advertising of intention to ask for Patent in the Royal Gazette and one other paper would be $45. The following form answers to the requirements of the Statute:

WRECKS.

For the protection of property wrecked on the coast of fewfoundland an act was passed 23 Vict, Cap. 5. By this ct the Governor is authorized to appoint in every district of the Island one or more commissioners of wrecked propery, whose duty shall be to take charge of any wrecked perty above the value of twenty-five pounds, which may within the limits of his district, if the same should not e in the custody of the owner or agent or being in such stody, if requested to take charge thereof

The commissioner has power to compel the discovery of my wrecked goods in the possession of parties other than be owner thereof or his agent, and should there be disagreeent relative to the amount of salvage the claims shall be abmitted to the decision of two arbitrators, in addition to the commissioner, who shall be appointed one by the owner as his agent and the other by the claimant, all property to remain in the hands of the commissionr until all claims for salvage are disposed of. Provided at in case the property saved shall amount to $4000 in ralue an appeal may be made within one month from the ecision of the arbitrators to any Superior Court of Record or judge of such court; which appeal shall be heard and determined in a summary way by such court or judge either upon evidence as taken before the arbitrators and commissioner, or otherwise as the court or judge may direct, and the commissioner is authorised to pay all awards ther by money or the property saved.

commissioner, shall upon discovery forfeit double the value thereof, and pay for each offence a penalty of one hundred pounds to Her Majesty and shall forfeit all claims for salvage

The commissioner may employ parties to secure and preserve property, and any person disobeying the lawful orders of the commissioner in relation thereto shall for every such offence forfeit and pay the sam of ten pounds.

The commissioner shall make an inventory of all proper-The commissioner shall make an inventory of all proper-ty which shall come into his possession, and shall verify that same by affidavit, and deliver a copy thereof, together with the said property, to the person entitled thereto after having satisfied salvage or other services, on being first paid his commission and all reasonable and necessary charges that he may have been put to for the care and custody of such property

Any person intermeddling with property after arrival of commissioner other than the owner or his agent shall forfeit a sum of fifty pounds.

If no owner or persons interested in such property be present where the same may be, the commissioner, as soon as practical, shall publish in a newspaper of the colony the particulars of the shipwreck and other information relating to the property, on neglect of which he shall forfeit one hundred pounds. Within thirty days after salvage claims have dred pounds. Within thirty days after salvage claims have been satisfied commissioner may sell property to pay duties, and charges thereon, first giving fourteen days notice of such sale in one of the newspapers of the colony and by hand-bills posted up in three of the principal settlements of the district in the vicinity of the place appointed for such sale.

If property be under the value of twenty-five pounds, or of such a nature that it cannot advantageously be kept, the commissioner may sell the same before the expiration of thirty days, and the money so raised shall be held for the same purpose and subject to the same claims as if it had remained unsold.

Should no person interested in such property establish his claims thereto within three months after the publication of particulars relating thereto, the commissioner shall at the expiration of such time (or as soon thereafter as all salvage and other claims have been liquidated) deposit with receiver general of the colony a sworn copy of the inventory of such property, or if the same be sold, an account of the sales, and monies paid for charges, duties, expenses and shall thereon pay over the balance of the pounds, or the property remaining on hand to the receiver general deducting therefrom a sum not exceeding five per cent., exclusive of disbursements and reasonable charges, to satisfy the said commissioner for all claims he may have for his services or otherwise. Any disagreement between the commissioner and the receiver general to be decided by arbitration. Should the commissioner refuse to make return to the receiver general within thirty days after the expiration of three months (all claims to salvage being liquidated) Her Majesty's attorney general shall, at the instance of the receiver general, prosecute such commissioner, and recover from him the balance of such pounds, or the value thereof.

If the property deposited with the receiver general be not.

claimed within twelve months, it shall be paid over to the treasury, therein to remain until the same shall be claimed by the owner, who, on proof before a judge of the Supreme Court, shall upon order of such judge receive the same.

Should any one refuse, on demand, to deliver to the com-missioner property liable to his charge, it shall be lawful for a justice of peace, upon affidavit made before him, to command a constable of the district to seize and safely keep the same until such time as the justice shall decide upon the merits of the case, and this decision may be appealed against to any Superior Court of Record in the colony or to a judge thereof.

Any proceedings that may be appealed against to any Superior Court of Record or a judge of such court, if in accordance with justice, shall be confirmed notwithstanding any want of legal form therein, or may be corrected, or amended, and wholly revised only for wilful error, excessive or insufficient award.

Any person being a defaulter in the payment of any fine, &c., imposed on him, with no property on which the same may be levied, shall be committed to gaol for a period not exceeding six months, with or without hard labor.

TILT COVE—A picturesque mining village in White Bay, in the district of Twillingate and Fogo. Its settlement was owing to the discovery in that locality of a copper mine, by Smith McKay, Esq., in 1857, who subsequently, in conjunction with C. F. Bennett, Esq., commenced mining operations. The works have been earried on in active operation since 1865, and during this time three sindfis have been sunk, 8 feet by 5 feet, to the total depth of 216 feet, and levels 7 x 5 driven through the hills (at the base of which, on the border of a picturesque lake, the village is built) for a distance of 4728 feet. The ore has been found in beds or bunches of from three to forty feet thick, not in a regular lode. The quantity extracted has been 20,000 tons, shipped or crushed and ready for shipment, worth $555,810; and 25,000 tons were by for crushing, worth $625,000; total, 45,000 tons, worth $1,180,810. A vein of nickel is also being worked in the same locality. Martin, John, mining Martin, John averaging 10 inches in thickness (perhaps the only instance of that metal occurring in a regular lode), and 37 1-10 tons extracted, worth $322.50 per ton, or a total of $11,964. The machinery and plant used in the works is valued at $80,000. Number employed, 227 men, averaging $25 per month, and 71 boys, $9 per month. The harbor is not very good, but heavy moorings have been laid down, at which vessels may lie in safety. It is a port of entry, and the terminal of the Northern Steam Postal route. Distance from $5$ John's by steamer, fortnightly, 230 miles. Population 770.

LOVELL'S GAZETTEER

British Morth America.

The Publisher of the Dominion Directory avails himself of this opportunity to announce that he has in preparation A GAZETTEER OF THE ST. LAWRENCE AND ATLANTIC PRO-VINCES OF BRITISH NORTH AMERICA. This important work is intended to supply the amplest information respecting the Cities, Towns and Villages therein. It will be to the people of Canada, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island, a Manual replete with accurate information touching the great country in which they live, and to the people of other lands it will expose the advantages, commercial, manufacturing and agricultural, and the undeveloped wealth of this portion of the Empire. The GAZETTEER will be carefully compiled, and the most accurate and authentic information inserted.

Special prominence will be given to the Cities, Towns and places of historical interest and commercial importance, while villages and hamlets will be briefly and lucidly described.

The Lakes, Rivers, Bays, Capes, Inlets, &c., will receive as full and accurate descriptions as can possibly be obtained.

The Provinces will be inserted as follows: Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Newfoundland and Prince Edward Island. The Provinces of British Columbia and Manitoba will also receive due attention.

The Publisher feels confident that this GAZETTEER will be found worthy of an intelligent and liberal patronage, because it will be indispensable to Public, Professional and Business men, and instrumental in inducing a large migration to these shores.

The work will contain an Appendix giving the Immigrant useful information respecting the Country, the Districts where he may settle, &c.

The GAZETTEER will be printed on fine paper, small 8vo. size, in double columns, with fine type, and bound in cloth. It will be kept within the smallest compass consistent with its object, which is to supply all the information necessary, at a price placing it within the reach of every one.

Information suitable for the pages of the above work will be thankfully acknowledged.

JOHN LOVELL, Publisher.

ENLARGEMENT OF PREMISES.

HE undersigned has greatly enlarged and otherwise improved his premises, which he has adapted, in every respect, for carrying on an extensive Book and Job Printing and Blank Book Manufacturing business. The Compositors' Rooms are well stocked with a large variety of Plain and Fancy Types, embracing the newest designs. The Establishment is furnished with twelve Steam Printing Presses, nine Steam Smashing, Sawing, Cutting, Stamping and Hoisting Machines, six Hydraulic and Hand Presses, together with Ruling, Backing and Paging Machines, all in thorough working order, which enables him to turn out large quantities of work at very short notice. 200 Persons are employed in this Establishment.

Country Orders for Printing and Blank Books corefully attended to, and work despatched by the safest and cheapest modes of conveyance.

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT-FORT GARRY.

Lieutenant Governor-His honor hon. Adams G. Archibald.

Private Secretary-George P. Hill.

Executive Council-Hon. Alfred Boyd, provincial secretary; hou. Marc Amable Girard, treasurer; hon, captain Howard, commissioner of public works and agriculture; hon. James McKay, commissioner of Indian affairs; hon. Henry J. O'C. Clarke, Q.C., attorney general; D. Bouthillier, clerk.

Recorder-Hon, F. G. Johnson.

Commissioners to administer oaths-Hon, Adams G. Archibald, hon. F. G. Johnson, hon. Alexander Boyd, and hon. Marc Amable Girard.

Commanding Militia-Lieut. colonel Samuel P. Jarvis, C.M.G., D.A.G.; lieut. colonel Louis Adolphe Casault, Collector of Customs-George B. Spencer.

The whole of the vast territory hitherto held by the Hudson Bay Company, under Royal Charter issued in the 22nd year of the reign of Charles II, and transferred to the Imperial Government on the 1st day of December, 1889 (the Company receiving an indemnity from the Canadian Government of £300,000 sterling), was by order of H. M. the Queen in Council, dated 23rd day of June, 1870, admitted into the Union or Dominion of Canada.

The portion of the Union or Dominion of Canada.

The portion of the Territory hitherto known as the Selkirk or Red River Settlement has been creeted into a Province, to be called the Province of Manitoba. It contains an area of 14,340 square miles—9,177,600 acres, and is bounded as follows—"commencing at the point where the meridian of ninety-six degrees west longitude from Greenwich intersects the parrellel of forty-nine degrees north latitude—thence due west along the said parallel of forty-nine degrees north latitude (which forms a portion of the boundary line between the United States of America and the said North Western Territory) to the meridian of ninety-nine degrees of west longitude—thence due north along the said meridian of ninety-nine degrees west longitude, to the intersection of the same with the parallel of fifty degrees and thirty minutes north latitude-thence due east along the said parallel of fifty degrees and thirty minutes north latitude to its intersection with the before mentioned meridian of ninety-six degrees west longitude-thence due south along the said meridian of ninety-six degrees west south along the said interest in the said and the longitude and 1½ latitude. The Province will be represented at present in the Senate of the Dominion, by two members, and in the House of Commons, by four elective members. The electoral districts were declared by proclamation of the Governor General of the 5th January, 1871, to be as follows:

Electoral District number One to comprise, of the Electoral Divisions recently established by the Proclamation of the Lieutenant Governor of Manitoba, for the Legislative Assembly of Manitoba, those known as

Headingly, or No. 8

Saint Charles, or No. 9. Saint James, or No. 10.

Saint Boniface, West and East, or Nos 11 and 12. Winnipeg and St John, or No. 18.

Kildonan, or No. 19.

Such Electoral District number One, to be called and knewn as the Electoral District of Selkirk.

Electoral District number Two to comprise all the settle-Electoral District number I wo to comprise all the settle-ments on the Red River, and in the neighborhood, lying between the south line of Electoral District number One, and the frontier of the United States, including the settle-ments on the Seine, at Oak Point or St Anne, such Electoral District number Two, to be called and known as the Electoral District of Provencher.

Electoral District number Three, to comprise all the settlements on the Red River, and in the neighborhood between the north line of Electoral District number One, and the northern frontier of the Province, including those at Broken Head River, such Electoral District number Three to be called and known as the Electoral District of Lisgar.

Electoral District number four, to comprise all the settle- business on Thursday, the 2nd February, 1871.

ments on the Assiniboine and Lake Manitoba, and all other settlements to the westward of the western line of the Electoral District number One, such Electoral District number Four to be called and known as the Electoral District of Marquette.

The Government will consist of a Lieutenant Governor and an Executive Council of five members; the Legislature, of a Legislative Council of seven members, appointed for life, and a Legislative Assembly of twenty-four elective members, the Province to be divided into twenty-four electoral divisions for that purpose

It is provided that either the English or French language may be used in the Legislature, and the public records and documents are to be printed in both languages.

The Province not being in debt, will receive from the Dominion Government interest at the rate of 5 per cent. le: annum, on the sum of $472,000; a yearly subsidy of $30,000 for the support of its government and Legislature, and an annual grant, in aid of the Province, of 80 cents per head of the population, estimated at 17,000 souls, such grant to be augmented in proportion to the increase of population until it amounts to 400,000 souls, at which amount the grant will remain thereafter

To extinguish the Indian title to the lands in the Province 1,400,000 acres of ungranted lands are to appropriated for the benefit of the half-breed residents.

The following are the present routes to the new Province: 1st Via Detroit, Chicago, St. Paul and St Cloud—fare from Toronto to the latter place $28.50, $5 gold, remainder in American currency

2nd Via Grand Haven and Mi'wankee to St Paul and St Cloud, same fare as the first route.

3rd Via Collingwood, Sault Ste Marie and Duluth. thence by rail to St Paul and St Cloud, fare about $5 less than the before-mentioned routes.

The route followed by the troops of the Red River expedition is not one which could, in its present state, be used by emigrants going to the new province.

The cost of the trip from St. Cloud to Fort Garry depends on circumstances—the number of people travelling together and the manner in which they live and travel. The average cost of the trip from Toronto to the settlement is about $60 to $70 for each adult in a party.

Population of Province-From the census return of this Province, just completed, the total population is ascertained to be as follows:

5,75	French half-breeds
	English "
1,56!	Whites
558	Indians
1,56	hites

One of the most beautiful illustrated papers on this Continent .- Halifax Citizen.

Compares favourably both in literary and artistic excellence with any of the leading illustrated periodicals of the day.—Globe, St. John, N. B.

The merits of this admirable publication ought to, and doubtless will, ere long, secure for it a place in every family of intelligence throughout the Dominion,— Yarmouth Tribune. Considerable ability is displayed both in the literary and artistic portions of the paper. The Court Journal, London, Eng.

The Canadian Illustrated News is undoubtedly one of the best artistical papers published in the Colonies which we have received up to this date, and the tout ensemble does great credit both to editor and artist, on whom the task of success of so attractive a weekly depends.—European Mari, London, Eng.

This excellent weekly periodical now comes to us greatly improved in its style of illustrations. The credit of establishing a weekly newspaper, profusely and regularly illustrated by photographic plates, belongs to Canada. There is no other paper like it in the world that we know of.—Scientific American, New York.
