BRANTFORD MAN HAD TO FIGHT TO KEEP OFF PANIC STRICKEN

Phillip Lawlor Tells How Brutal Persons Tried to Take Life-Belt Away From His Son— Fought Them Off With Fists.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] QUEBEC, June 3.—One of the most thrilling of the belated tales which are coming from those saved from the Empress wreck, was given today by Phillip Lawlor, of Brantford, Ont.

In the little Jeffery Hale Hospital in this city Mr. Lawlor for the first time made public his experiences, and they are taken as descriptive of the fate which waited upon so many people from Western Ontario. He tells of the crash, his rush to the deck and return for his wife. He was too late, however, as water was surging along the corridor between his stateroom and hers. He reached, however, his 15 year old son and hurried him out.

A Story of Panic Mr. Lawlor told a story of brutality of a few panic stricken people. "I had to fight to keep the life belt on my boy," he declared, "they rushed at him and tried to tear it off. I had to fight them and I did it with my fists."

He went on to say that they were then plunged into the vortex and battered about for ten minutes before rescue came.

W. D. McDonald of the Toronto hydro electric department, with his wife, a cousin of Mrs. Mullins was present. Mrs. McDonald received a blow in the battle with the wreck.

Wm. Nuttall of Winnipeg, had a heartrending experience to-day. At two ends of the morgue he discovered his wife and four months old daughter. He passed his wife twice without recognition, but the discovery of a money order in "a secret pocket identified her."

Hard to Identify At the morgue on the docks the identification process proceeds very slowly. A little group of officials still wait all day about the blacked draped doors, but the incoming parties of sorrowing relatives dwindle with every train.

Hope of much further identification of bodies from the wreck is being abandoned. According to laws of nature three or four days are required before bodies will rise to the surface from the sunken vessel, and rarely will their identification be established from such brief features.

To-day, in several instances, men passed by more than once such near relatives as their wives without knowing them and only the discovery of small trinkets at last convinced them of the identity.

Meanwhile the area of the gulf where the disaster occurred is under continuous patrol.

A GOVERNMENT THAT DOES THINGS

NO. 2—WORKMEN'S COMPENSATION ACT. It is a common fabrication on the part of Grit papers and Grit speakers to depict the Conservative party as against industrial labor and industrial interests.

In plain language, that is an arrant untruth, not to put the matter any stronger.

Most of us in this fair Canada of ours have to work for a living, and are all the better for it, and if Conservative administrators had never done anything more than introduce the National Policy, which saved Canadian industries from threatening ruin and death, they would rightly deserve the everlasting thanks of labor; but they have accomplished very much more than that.

Take the Workmen's Compensation Act, passed at the last session of the Ontario Legislature, as an illustration.

On May 1st, 1914, this measure was placed upon the Ontario statute books. It is admitted on all hands that the Act is the most advanced piece of legislation that has yet been enacted in any province of the Dominion, or in any State of the Union, or in any of the countries of the Old World.

(1) If a workman is injured he is entitled in every case to compensation, unless the injury was caused solely by his serious and willful misconduct, and even where the injury was caused solely by his serious and willful misconduct, compensation must still be paid if the injury results in death or serious disablement.

(2) There is no waiting period during which no compensation is payable. It is true that the compensation dates back to the date of the injury. In most states and countries a definite period, generally of at least two weeks, is fixed during which no compensation is payable.

(3) All law suits are done away with. The workman simply sends his claim to the Board. The Board receives a report from its local official, and awards the compensation without ever seeing the workman or his employer. Nothing is deducted from the compensation to pay costs.

(4) The compensation cannot be garnished or attached by a creditor.

(5) The scale of compensation is generous: 1. Where the injury results in death—$75 for burial expenses. $20 monthly to widow and $5 monthly for each child under 16. $10 monthly to each child where there is no widow. If the widow marries again she gets a lump sum equal to the total of the weekly payments for two years.

(6) Payment of compensation out of the Accident Fund is practically guaranteed to the workman by the Province, provision being made for payment out of the Consolidated Revenue Fund of Ontario wherever the Accident Fund runs short, and the Board is also required to raise, by assessments on the employers, reserve funds sufficient to meet all future payments for compensation.

RADICAL DEPARTURE IS TAKEN BY STRIKERS

[By Special Wire to the Courier] LONDON, June 3.—Militant suffragettes to-day again wreaked their vengeance on Dr. Francis Edward Forward, deputy governor and medical officer of Holloway Jail. Two women armed with stout horse whips, sprang on to the doctor as he left the prison this morning and were thrashing him severely when a policeman came to his rescue and arrested his assailants.

The women declared that their action was a protest against the "forcible feeding for which this beast is responsible."

Circus Employee Shot a Negro at Napanee—The Inquest.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] NAPANEE, Ont., June 3.—Yesterday afternoon, Coroner G. H. Cowan called an inquest into the death of a negro known as "Dad" and employed with Haags circus.

Fred De Ivy, lot superintendent, travelling with the Haags' shows for fourteen years, testified that he had known 'Dad' since March last. He saw the negro several times on the day of the shooting, was right beside him when he was shot.

Dr. J. P. Vrooman, made an examination of the dead body and stated that he probed for the bullet and could not find it six inches in.

The jury returned a verdict of murder against W. L. Daniels alias 'Dutch.'

NORTH WEST WEATHER Regina, June 3.—The department of agriculture reports the weather during the past week has been dry, but crops are looking well and not suffering from lack of moisture except in the southwest current district and the territory north and south of that point.

The G. T. R. had a representative in the city yesterday conferring with City Engineer Jones, over the matter of opening up a ditch near the tracks on Rawdon street and it was finally agreed upon to open a ditch on the north side of the G. T. R. tracks between Rawdon street and Maitland streets, so as to drain the brick yard property.

MANY RESCUED IN HOSPITAL AT CITY OF QUEBEC

Aftermath of Disaster of Friday Last in Despatches Today.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] QUEBEC, June 3.—With the closing of the fifth day since the sinking of the Empress of Ireland there was no lightening of the pall of gloom which has overcome this city as the tale of dead was told and the long-drawn efforts of relatives and friends to identify victims brought on its oft-repeated scene of grief.

The death house at the Louise Basin presented a curiously quiet aspect after the fevered excitement of the past few days. Half a hundred of the bodies have been removed, and the rest lay, some in closed coffins some open while others were still in the rough wooden boxes in which they had been brought from Rimouski.

By last evening there still remained 87 unidentified bodies; 36 men, 42 women, four boys and 5 girls. There were also left in the death house the identified bodies of 30 men, 19 women and two girls.

No instructions have been given so far as to the disposal of these identified dead, and this delay is adding seriously to the worries of the staff of C. P. R. officials, who are literally working night and day to make every possible arrangement for the identification and disposal of the bodies.

JUDGE RIDDELL TO UNIVERSITY MEN AT BOSTON

[By Special Wire to the Courier] BOSTON, June 3.—The participation of college men in public service was urged by Justice William Renwick Riddell, of the Supreme Court of Ontario, in an address before the graduating class of Boston University to-day.

"He who shuns his fellows," said Justice Riddell, "may have a high mission, a lofty outlook and he may be worthy of all praise. But there must be some to mingle with the people, to know their needs at first hand, to take an immediate and not simply a mediate part in directing their thoughts and their aspirations. Is that function to be left to the ward healer, to the boss who makes his living by it, to the party hack with no thought above the immediate success of some scheme?"

"Some one must lead; who is it to be? It should be the glory of a university that from its walls go forth the leaders of the people. The neighboring college which trained a Garfield, the venerable and historic elder sister across the way which gave this land a Roosevelt and that of another state which produced a Taft or a Pilson did not crush in their minds the desire for public service."

"All the problems of government have not been solved; many remain, clearst thinking, the renunciation of prejudice, honest and sincere determination to go the thing that is right."

"How are we to settle international questions? Blood and agony and death cannot be the final argument. War is, unhappily some times not only right, but even a duty. In the general case, however, of international disputes, war can no longer be said to be necessary, than it is for two persons who have a dispute to fight it out with lance or club, as was the custom centuries ago in England."

"We have four thousand miles of international boundary without a soldier or a fortification. The example of two such nations as the United States and Canada, might well be followed by others, and in good time must and will be followed."

owing to the fact that the strike has already lasted eighteen weeks. Abolishing the contractor has long been a popular idea in British labor circles, but has been considered difficult to the verge of impossibility because all building materials are controlled by syndicates siding with the contractors.

The builders are bitter against the strikers and there is every likelihood that the conflict will spread throughout the country. The strikers number 25,000. Their families are starving and selling their furniture for food. Relief is scarce, $3 a week being the most the union can pay a striker.

The construction of the Australian and other government buildings, hotels, etc., has been indefinitely halted.

FALSE AND CRUEL STATEMENTS MADE AGAINST CAPT. KENDALL

A Teetotaler, He Refused Even a Sip of Brandy When in Dire Extremity—Only Regret is That He Has Been Saved.

[By Special Wire to the Courier] MONTREAL, June 3.—"Some of the statements made against Captain Kendall by officers or members of the crew of the Storstad are absolutely false and cruel," was the emphatic and unequivocal assertion of Mr. Perry Adie, of London, England, a survivor of the Empress disaster.

After telling of his reaching a collapsible boat after being in the water some time, Mr. Adie said: "What struck me as particularly abominable was that the Storstad was about two miles away and making no apparent effort to come nearer or to rescue the survivors."

"Our boat was over loaded and waterlogged and began to sink. We had to take to the water again, and I do not know what became of the others, or whether all were rescued. I do not remember much of what we did, except that we clung together."

meat a finer man or a better seaman. His chief regret seemed to be that he had been rescued. He, his officers and his crew, did all that was possible in the frightfully short time which elapsed between the collision and the sinking of the ship."

"The fact that, although he was badly injured and suffering both physically and mentally, he absolutely refused even then to take a little brandy or other stimulant, in spite of repeated urging. You could not hope to meet a finer man or a better seaman. His chief regret seemed to be that he had been rescued. He, his officers and his crew, did all that was possible in the frightfully short time which elapsed between the collision and the sinking of the ship."

13 YEAR OLD BOY HAS DISAPPEARED Leslie Drury, an Echo Place boy of thirteen years of age, has been missing since Monday morning. At 7 o'clock he left his home for school, and since that time all trace of him has been lost. He did not attend school and no appears to have been seen since he left home. Search has proved unavailing, and at last the despairing father called the attention of the police to his son's disappearance. He could not give any description of the boy's clothes and had no idea of what had caused the boy's disappearance from home. The boy was not of the dare-devil tribe, although boys as boys are, always full of and stockings. He is thirteen years of age, of medium build, four feet six inches tall, having dark hair and blue eyes.

His father cannot think of any friends with whom the boy might be staying, and he has already searched where there was any likelihood of the boy being.

The little fellow was found this morning sleeping in a motor car in a garage along the Brantford and Hamilton Road on the other side of Langford. He asked the man who discovered him to take him to Hamilton where he said he was going in search of work. He did not want to come back to Brantford and pleaded to be taken to Hamilton. He however, gave no reason for wanting to leave Brantford, as parents have been informed of his whereabouts and they are on their way to bring him back.

BAKER-COCKSHUTT

Charming and Fashionable Nuptial Event in Brantford This Afternoon Under Glorious Canadian Summer Sky.

A very fashionable wedding took place in Zion church this afternoon, when Miss Elsie Lillian Cockshutt, younger daughter of Mrs. James Cockshutt, became the bride of Mr. George Alfred Baker of Toronto.

The ideal weather made a splendid setting for the event, which in all its details was most prettily and artistically arranged. The decorations in the edifice were of white and green, the flowers consisting of sprays, snowballs and daisies.

Rev. G. A. Woodside officiated and the bride was given away by her brother Mr. Harvey Cockshutt. In her petite style she looked very charming in a dress of Duchess satin, having a long court train outlined with pearls, the bodice and tunic of Carrickmacross lace caught with sprays of dressing blossoms, the effect being charmingly girlish and simple.

The veil was of exquisite Carrickmacross lace gracefully arranged over a wreath of orange blossoms and draped to the point of the court train. She carried a shower bouquet of white roses and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor, Miss Greta Moffatt of Calgary, was attired in a panner gown of pale blue taffeta with soft flounces of shadow lace.

The bridesmaids were Miss Beth Fudger and Miss Willo Gage, both of Toronto. They wore panner gowns of peach taffeta, while Miss Lillian Allan, Toronto and Miss Edith Standish of Toronto wore panner gowns of green taffeta. The hats of the maid of honor and bridesmaids were wide leg horns trimmed with violet ribbon and sprays of purple and yellow pansies and long streamers of violet ribbon. All carried long white wands, the heads mounted with a tulle ruche and set with tiny pansies.

The bouquets were purple and mauve sweet peas, tied with streamers of purple tulle.

The flower girl, Kathleen Mary Gibbons, wore a dainty Paris frock of white hand embroidered net over pale blue silk, wide blue ribbon sash with silk tassel ends. The bonnet was of embroidered net Dutch cap, ribbon streamers and trimmed with tiny pansies. She carried a little white basket filled with mauve sweet peas.

The best man was Mr. Heber Phillips, Toronto, and the ushers, Mr. Jas. Miln, Toronto; Mr. Ralph Burns, Toronto; Mr. Walter Laidlaw, Toronto; and Mr. R. J. Young of Montreal.

The bride's present from the groom was a diamond pendant set in platinum. To the maid of honor, a platinum circle brooch set with pearls and diamonds. To the bridesmaids and flower girl, brooches having an oval shape with same design. To the best man he gave a sapphire and diamond pin set in platinum, and to the ushers pearl and platinum cuff links.

During the signing of the register, Mrs. Leeming sang most sweetly.

After the ceremony, a reception was held at the residence of Mrs. Cockshutt, Sangh Brae. The hostess wore a lovely gown of orchid silver with draperies of fine lace, black hat with mauve feathers. Carried orchids and lily of the valley.

The presents were numerous and exceptionally handsome. These included a piano, a chest of silver, a Minton dinner set, Crown Derby dinner set, silver and porcelain ramikins, complete crystal service, grandfather's clock, silver tea and coffee service, a collection of exquisite pictures.

A dejeuner was served in an immense marquee on the lawn and speeches were made by Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P., R. J. Young and others. The bride's going away gown was a chic white broadcloth suit with reverses and ruffs of white corded silk trimmed with silver buttons. The lace blouse had a peplum of azure ribbon, and the quaint little black hat had a wreath of forget-me-nots and two odd projecting feather ornaments.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Richard Baker, mother of the groom, in a charming gown of shaded soft silk. Mrs. John Gibbons, sister of the bride, white embroidered net over flesh colored satin, chiffon, coat of palest pink edged with silver lace, and caught with silver roses. White lace hat, pink and white parasol. Miss Elizabeth Rice, Memphis, Tenn., pink satin with tunic of shadow lace and hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Forbes, Hespeler, Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Baker, Toronto, Mrs. A. A. Allan, handsome gown of brocade velvet charmeuse; Mr. and Mrs. H. Fudger, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Gooderham, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Allan, Mr. George Warwick, Miss Evelyn Taylor, Major Hugh C. McLean, Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Mitchell, Mrs. John Hope, Miss Jessie Hope, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Loundes, all of Toronto.

Mrs. Baker has been one of the most deservedly popular of the younger social set, winning honours of friends by her bright personality and unaffected manners. She and her husband will have the very heartiest wishes for a long and happy life together.

Among those sending congratulations and best wishes, was Premier Borden.

An Extraordinary Dream

LONDON, June 3.—(Montreal Gazette cable)—Tatting, the stage manager of the Kingsway Theatre, London Theatre, London, relates an extraordinary dream he had about the time of the Empress of Ireland disaster, in which he saw the exit of Laurence Irving from life. He dreamt he was present at a gathering of a number of people in a handsomely furnished room. The people passed in a procession before him. Sir Henry Irving, who was seated and had the appearance of a dying man. Each person took the actor by the hand in a sad farewell. When all had passed Sir Henry rose and uttered the words: "I can endure it no longer." He placed his hand on his forehead and disappeared, dead having claimed him. Tatting thought for the first time noticed Laurence standing alone at the far end of the room.

"I went towards him," said Tatting, "and, stretching out my hands appealingly, exclaimed: 'Can you see what is happening to your father, he is dying. He has left us forever.' He then looked past me with amazement in his eyes. It seemed for a moment as if he would collapse, but suddenly drawing himself up with a resolute expression on his face, he followed his father with unflinching steps. "It was a most dramatic departure, and made a deep impression on me. There was no sorrow on the part of the son whose call to go seemed to come suddenly and unexpectedly."

Tatting afterwards saw a photograph of the saloon of the Empress of Ireland. He recognized it as the room of his dream. He had never seen the vessel nor was he aware that Laurence Irving was aboard the Empress of Ireland.

INCREASED RATES FOR PAY PATIENTS

Was Considered at Meeting of the Board of Hospital Governors.

The Board of Governors of the Hospital met yesterday afternoon. Present Messrs C. H. Waterons (President), Geo. Watt, Symons, Sanderson, Cook (representing the Warden), T. H. Preston, F. D. Reville.

The report of the Superintendent, Miss Carson, for the month of May, showed number of patients admitted 87, number discharged 74, deaths 5, in residence at time of report, 52, highest number in residence on one day during the month 67.

"Owing to the increased number of patients, expenses have increased accordingly, and I would suggest that the private ward rates be raised from $15 to $18 per week; semi private from $7 to $9 per week, also that all drugs shall be charged to the patient and cost $3 per day. If a patient employs a nurse at his own home, he pays the nurse $18 per week and pays for medicine as well."

Mr. Waterons thought that private rates were entirely too low—much less than average hotel rates.

The entire matter of a readjustment of private ward rates was referred to the house committee with the request that they ascertain the charge for private wards in other centres.

A letter was read from the junior hospital aid stating that they had undertaken to look after the maternity ward, and they would like a separate room for the babies bassinets and stands for the same. The board decided to meet the requests as far as possible, with the intimation that matters are in abeyance meanwhile.

A letter was received from Mr. John Hodge, expressing sincere thanks for the attention paid his wife while in the hospital.

Also from W. H. Pierce, secretary Woodstock Y. M. C. A., to the same effect.

It was announced that Dr. McBain of London medical school, would be the next house doctor.

The usual accounts were ordered to be paid.

A report was read from Mr. Taylor, associate architect, stating that Schultz Bros. had the new buildings about ready for the necessary inside instalments.

A report was read from Mr. Bunnell, showing in detail how the cost per patient has advanced.

Welland riding Liberals decided not to nominate a provincial candidate.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 3, 1914

HONEST ELECTIONS RESTORED.

As is well known, for years before the present Government came into office elections were improperly manipulated and all sorts of offences were committed to defeat the wishes of the people. Sir James Whitney immediately put a stop to such practices. The result is that not one election since he took office has been contested, and not one ballot of the hundreds of thousands that have been cast since he became Prime Minister has been disputed.

At the outset the numbered ballot was abolished, and the people were given a secret ballot, with heavy penalties for any violation of it.

The new ballot is one that cannot be manipulated, and severe penalties have been enacted, including imprisonment in some cases, to stop offences against the ballot. Corrupt practices have been rendered punishable by very heavy penalties.

In order to afford additional protection to the people, a law was passed at the last session of the Legislature prohibiting political subscriptions by corporations, by Government contractors and by the holders of liquor licenses.

Under former Governments the constituencies were so arranged that the minority of the people elected the majority of the members of the Legislature. Thus, in 1886, while the Conservatives had a popular majority of 9,869, the Liberals had thirty more seats in the Legislature. Again, in 1902, although there was a Conservative majority of 7,333 in the votes cast, the Liberals had a majority of four in the House. In order to overcome this injustice, redistributions were necessary, and have also been rendered necessary by the growth of population in New Ontario and other parts of the Province.

PROTECTING PUBLIC RIGHTS.

The Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, which was established by the Whitney Government shortly after it came into office, has been doing splendid work for the public, protecting public rights in the matter of the electric railway and telephone franchises. At the outset the Railway Board established a two-cent-per-mile passenger rate on the electric railways of the province. It has brought electric railways under control and supervises their equipment and settles disputes between railways and municipalities, bringing order out of chaos.

One feature of the Board's work is the validation of debentures issued by municipalities. Last year debentures involving about $3,000,000 came under the scrutiny of the Board, and 130 municipal by-laws were validated. In the majority of these cases special Acts of the Legislature would have been required if the Board had not been empowered to deal with the matter. Thus the Board has saved municipalities much expense and delay.

In the control of the telephone business an important work is being done by the Board, which is rapidly developing. The Board is now superintending the interchange of business between various telephone companies, and thus affording a protection to the public and at the same time preventing large and powerful companies crushing competition. The rapid growth of the telephone business throughout the province has made it very important that there should be a speedy and final method of protecting the public rights, and in this respect the Railway and Municipal Board is proving of great advantage to the public.

The Board is empowered to adjudicate upon disputes as to assessment. Last year it decided cases involving assessments aggregating five and a half millions of dollars.

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN BILL.

The Borden Government bill giving aid to the Canadian Northern Railway yesterday passed its third reading, once more by the comfortable margin of 47.

For some two weeks the members of the Opposition sought to pick flaws in the splendid bargain made under the circumstances, but without result. A feature was the readiness with which Mr. Meighen, Solicitor-General, who prepared the measure, met all quips and criticisms. From first to last he showed a marvellous mastery of much intricate detail, and gave most straightforward answers and explanations. In all the Liberals unsuccessfully moved seven amendments.

The debate served to once more demonstrate that Laurier is the king of somersault artists. First of all, he said that the line must be completed, although differing with the Government method. Next he allowed a follower to move the six months' hoist, which, if carried, would have killed the measure. That suggestion defeated, he yesterday vaulted back again to his former position that something should be done, although differently.

With loss of office the White Plumed Knight seems to have also lost his political cunning.

A CONTRAST IN BARGAINS.

A Liberal paper says: "The Tories are fated to make bad bargains for the relief of big railways; witness the disastrous one with the Canadian Pacific 30 years ago."

In what respect was that measure disastrous? The company was pushing ahead with its main line, when all at once, owing to disturbances in the money market, and to the hostility of the American Pacific lines, it found it could not raise any more money on its securities except at a ruinous shave. Accordingly, in 1883, the Administration of Sir John Macdonald passed a relief bill, which was changed in 1884 and again in 1885 and 1886. It is not worth while giving the details. But the upshot of it all was that late in 1886 all matters between the Government and the company were closed up to their mutual satisfaction, the Government taking over some 7,000,000 acres of the company's land subsidy in payment of a sum slightly exceeding $10,000,000 then owing to it after the bulk of the advances made to the road had been repaid.

The aid thus rendered to it enabled the company to complete its main lines five and a half years before the time originally stipulated. The West at once began to fill up, and the lands which the Government had received in lieu of cash rose in price considerably beyond the value that had been placed upon them. Since then, as everyone knows, the Canadian Pacific has been our sheet anchor in the London market, its success rendering it easy for Canadians to sell the securities of any worthy project.

On the other hand, the guaranteeing by the Laurier Ministry, in 1911, of over $35,000,000 for one of the subsidiaries of the Canadian Northern brought the country nothing in the way of direct compensation, while it encouraged that company to build for 1,000 miles east of Port Arthur through the howling waste above Lake Superior, which, with other things, is responsible for its present afflicted condition. A good many of Sir Wilfrid's followers were dissatisfied, but the reciprocity election was at hand, and the campaign chest had to be filled to the brim in order "to put down Tory corruption."

OUR CORNERED COTEM.

The Expositor, in answer to the expose of the Courier as to that paper having most improperly claimed credit for Rowell regarding the Workmen's Compensation Act, makes the admission: "It is true that Mr. Rowell did not take up the agitation until 1911, because he was not in public life until then, but from that time on he kept it up, and pointed the way to a solution, until, finally, in 1914, four years after the appointment of Sir William Meredith as commissioner, the Government acted upon his report and brought down a bill."

Bosh! Sir James, during the election of 1911, and before Rowell was a member, outlined his plans and announced the appointment of Chief Justice Meredith to make an exhaustive enquiry.

The Grit attitude of that time was voiced at a Rowell mass meeting in Toronto, when Mackenzie King, ex-Minister of Labor, said in Rowell's presence that Liberals did not want to see any judge on the job.

It was this sneer which led Toronto Saturday Night (a thoroughly independent paper) to say during the course of an article: "To anyone familiar with the public career of Sir William, such an insinuation is rankly unjust. Mr. King cannot be unaware that the distinguished jurist in question was long a member of the Ontario Legislature, and was leader of its Opposition for a considerable period. He seems to be unaware, however, that Sir William was the best friend that the cause of labor ever had on either side of the Ontario House, and that he forced on the old Mowat (Liberal) administration practically all the measures for the protection of labor interests that are on the statute books of Ontario. If Mr. King had taken the trouble to ask any labor leader, Grit or Tory, who was a member of the Trades and Labor Council during the early nineties, about Sir William Ralph Meredith, he could have learned that on such questions the distinguished jurist is much more radical in his views than the average public man. When in politics he initiated more measures of practical use to the workmen than ever emanated from the former Minister of Labor. Any suspicion that he will not perform

Public Library Board Meets

The Public Library board held a meeting last night when those present were E. J. Carlin, F. W. Ryerson, Rev. G. A. Woodside, T. Hendry, D. J. Waterous, Colonel Howard, Judge Hardy and Mayor Spence. A good deal of business was gone through. The principal item was the report of Judge Hardy upon the Ontario Librarians' conference in Toronto and it was considered highly satisfactory.

Janitor John Chapman tendered his resignation after 14 1/2 years service. He expressed his appreciation of the past kindness of the board and his sorrow at terminating his appointment on account of ill-health. He was made a grant of $40 as an appreciation.

Miss E. Carlin was authorized to attend a special course on reference work at the Library School held in Toronto.

The three lady assistants at the library, Miss Carlin, Miss Draper and Miss Middlemiss, were each granted an increase in salary.

An application will be made to the Carnegie Corporation of New York for $3,000 granted as the second instalment of the extension costs. Electric lights will supply illumination in the new stack-room being built and wires will also be used for the lighting of the two standards upon the back of the building will be lowered steps of the library. Asked whether the Empress moved under her own power, after the collision Mr. Adie said that he could not be sure, but he did not think she could have moved any distance. His wife and Miss Gaunt were both positive that her engines were stopped at the time of the collision.

"It makes me angry," he said, "to hear the claim made by the Starbuck that the Empress was going full speed ahead, for that is certainly not true and it is also maddening to hear the reflections made against Captain Kendall."

Mr. and Mrs. Adie and Mr. and Mrs. Gaunt will remain in Toronto until Sunday, when they leave for New York to sail for home by the Aquitania.

William R. Perrin, architect of the Toronto civic abattoir, died suddenly.

Brantford Drops Out of League

Brantford has dropped out of the Western Ontario Baseball League. This was the announcement made by President Reed of the Brantford Club this morning. The reason given by the president was the trouble the local executive had with the president of the League over Agnew, who came to the local team from Hamilton. Agnew had no sooner arrived in Brantford than the Guelph team tried to get him, and he told Mr. Reed he had accepted their offer. This, President Reed maintained, was contrary to the by-laws of the Association, which state that no team in the league can interfere with a player from any other team. The case was threshed out at the last meeting of the executive, and he was expelled from the league. In the face of this ruling the president of the league took it into his hands to allow Agnew to catch last Thursday and Saturday. The result was that the Brantford club decided to drop out entirely from the league.

Retail Merchants

 held a large and enthusiastic meeting last night in the K. of P. hall. The president, Mrs. Wm. Long, presided, and splendid speeches were made by W. B. Zimans of Preston, president of the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, also by Mr. Moyer, organizer for the association. Mr. Zimans explained how the Retail Grocers' Association had decided to amal-gamate with the Retail Merchants' Association which would increase their membership from 4000 to over 40,000. The local association has been known as the Retail Butchers and Grocers Association, and Organizer Moyer will commence an aggressive campaign for new members immediately. Another general meeting will be held in three weeks, time to select officers for the new association.

Purse Was Presented By Grace Church Parish

Ven. Archdeacon and Mrs. Mackenzie Were Hon- ored Last Night on the Occasion of Their Golden Wedding

To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, played by Dr. F. C.
 Thomas, Archdeacon and Mrs. Mackenzie entered the school room of Grace Church last night and proceeded to the platform amid the applause of a large number of parishioners, who had assembled to do honor to the golden anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie's wedding day. It had also been hinted around unknown to either Dr. or Mrs. Mackenzie, that a presentation would be made to the venerable couple, and so there was a very large representation of the parish members present.
 As soon as the Archdeacon and his wife had reached the platform, Mr.
 A. J. Wilkes, K. C., chairman, called on Mr. F. G. Bishop to read the mounted and illuminated address to Dr. Mackenzie, while a purse of $500 in gold was presented to Mrs. Mackenzie by Mrs. Cummings Nelles.
 Col. Wilkes then called on C. H.
 Waterous for a few remarks.

Mr. Waterous said he was greatly pleased to be associated with in the 55th anniversary of Dr. Mackenzie's ministry in Grace Church. His work had been a work of love unselfishly given, and the people of Grace church could not help but appreciate the work of their rector. The gift that had just been presented was but a small proportion of the love and esteem in which he was held by all.
 The influence of Dr. Mackenzie will live as long as Brantford exists.

Rev. Mr. Purton

Rev. Mr. Purton of Paris, was the next speaker, and expressed himself as glad to be present as a representative of the clergy in the diocese of Huron. It was both a unique and a memorable occasion. What had been said regarding the Archdeacon was equally true of Mrs. Mackenzie.
 Archdeacon Mackenzie had been a credit, not only to Brantford, but also to the clergy of Huron. In conclusion Rev. Mr. Purton said that this was one of the happiest experiences in his life, and he could only wish Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie every happiness.

Col. Wilkes next called on Rev.
 John Bushell of Toronto, former curate of Grace Church, for a few words. Rev. Mr. Bushell received a right royal welcome from the audience, and made a short humorous speech, in which he told some reminiscences of his life with Dr. Mackenzie. He had come to express his good wishes to his rector, and on behalf of Mrs. Bushell and himself he extended the best of regards to Dr. and Mrs. Mackenzie.

It was an outburst of tremendous applause that greeted Archdeacon Mackenzie when he arose to speak.
 He had, he said, been taken almost at a surprise, having had very little thought of anything of this kind.
 He had thought they were simply going to meet together for a little social time, and had been kept completely in the dark as to the extent of the loving kindness shown him.
 It was but another proof of the heartfelt friendship that had always been extended to Mrs. Mackenzie and himself. He was glad to have Rev.
 Mr. Purton and Rev. John Bushell present. The people of Grace church had always given him the privilege of securing the best man possible for curate, and he thought results had proved that the people were right in imposing that trust in him.
 He could look back on every curate he had had at Grace church, not only able men but men with whom he had always worked in harmony.
 Dr. Mackenzie then made a strong plea for the extension of Grace church mission work. Some Some had thought it foolish to build small churches up on the hill, down in Holmedale and other parts of the city, but results had more than justified the erection of these churches, for had they not been built, while perhaps to per cent. of their membership would have come to Grace church, the other 90 per cent. would have been lost to the church and would have drifted into other denominations close at hand. Dr. Mackenzie thanked each one from the bottom of his heart for the address. "The most helpful gift to man from God is a good helpmate," said the Archdeacon in referring to his wife. "Any success he had had he owed to the home influence of Mrs.
 Mackenzie. The greatest trust any woman could have from God is the bringing up of boys and girls into loyal and true members of God's kingdom on earth."

"I say finally," said the Archdeacon,
 "that our 35 years here has been a very happy large part of my life and to the clergy present I will say if they will do only half their work God will bless them and may God bless you and all."

A pleasant half hour's handshaking followed during which excellent vocal numbers were rendered by Miss May Robert and Mr. James T. Whittaker.

The Address Presented.
 The following is the text of the illuminated address presented to Dr.
 and Mrs. Mackenzie last night, as read
 by F. G. Bishop:
 To the Venerable Archdeacon Gaden Crawford Mackenzie, Rector of Grace Church and to Mrs. Mackenzie:
 As the congregation have learned that you are celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of your wedding day, they deem it an opportune occasion to express the deepest regard and affection in which you are held by them. We are reminded that you, the Venerable Archdeacon, were appointed Rector of the church on Whit Sunday 1879, and you have during all these years not only been a devoted minister to the spiritual needs of the congregation, but have by your many endearing qualities established yourself in the hearts of the people to an extent that can but feebly be expressed in words.
 It is not often permitted to clergy or people that any such lengthened tie should exist and the longer it exists
 the more loving it becomes.
 In addition to the duties pertaining to Grace church, the extension of the work in Brantford has not been neglected as has during your rectorate and to a large extent through your efforts and influence many mission churches were established, which have since become separate parishes, among which are St. John's, St. Paul's and St. James.
 We are pleased to know that the relations of life you both stand high in the estimation of your fellow citizens in Brantford. We wish you many happy years of health and usefulness.
 The accompanying purse we desire you to accept as a token of our sincere love and esteem.
 Signed on behalf of the congregation:
 Select Vestry: F. W. Frank and F. G. Bishop, Wardens; A. K. Ban-
 nell, W. F. Cockshutt, H. W. Pitton, C. H. Waterous, H. Cockshutt, John Hill, W. F. Myring.

COMMISSIONERS LET CONTRACT

Tender for Addition to Pumping Station Granted to Schultz Bros.

The Water Commissioners met at the city hall yesterday, with A. G. Montgomery and Mayor Spence present.

It was decided to ask City Engineer Jones to survey the street in front of Parley's premises adjoining the Water Works property.

The tender of the Schultz Bros. Co. Limited, for the erection of the addition to the pumping station as per specification was accepted, their tender being the lowest, $4,168.00, with $50.00 extra for steel sash. The contract for the unsuccessful tenderers were ordered to be returned.

Mr. Willis Chipman of Chipman and Power, consulting engineers was present at the meeting, and after going thoroughly through the tenders and comparing the figures and guaranteed efficiencies of the respective pumps and equipment, it was decided that the contract for the new pumping machinery be awarded to The Turbine that the Waterous Engine Works Co. of this city guarantee the contract and install the plant with Brantford labor.

Proper plans for the whole layout to be approved by the Engineer and this board, their tender being recommended by Willis Chipman, engineer.

The above means that the Waterous Engine Works Co., a local institution practically get the contract. The connections and installation cost more than the pumps and work will all be done by Brantford skilled mechanics and the money left in the city.

NO LABOR MAN

Will be a Candidate in the Approaching South Brant Election.

The Labor Temple was the scene of a lively meeting last evening when the Independent Labor Party met to consider whether they would nominate a candidate or not for the provincial general election to be held on June 29th. A Parmenter presided and there was a good attendance of members. Several addresses were made both for and against the placing of a candidate in the field, but the general feeling was that it would be unwise to place a candidate in the field at this time and so no action was taken, beyond passing the resolution that no candidate be nominated.

With the City Police

A game of cards paved the way to the police station last night. Three young fellows were having a game in a social club, and one of them got "broke" and obtained the loan of $5 from another, to whom he gave a cheque in exchange. This was dishonored, and the complainant laid a charge of false pretences.

He gave evidence and said he had not won any of defendant's cash, and is satisfied that owing to the fact that the cheque was for borrowed money the Gaming Act did not apply to this case. Complainant did not want to press the case, and it was dismissed upon payment of costs, which amounted to $7.85.

A big burly man answered to the name of Sam Todd when it was called, and he was given a black character by the sergeant. He had proved objectionable 16 or 17 years ago, and was one of the men who jumped a $500 bail on a charge of incendiarism beside the Grand Trunk station in the year 1897. Since then he had travelled round with no particular ambition and had landed back in Brantford in a leg, trying to raise sympathy. Sergt. Donnelly asked that he be sent back to his home in Rochester, N.Y., and the magistrate ordered him to leave the city immediately.

A charge of fraud against Ossan Maldaver was amicably settled this morning. It was said that Maldaver had taken a horse from the stable of Leone Fedor after he had been talking of it to her, but no agreement was come to whereby he could take the horse, which he afterwards did without the owner's knowledge. Maldaver said it was all a mistake and the case was dismissed upon settlement between the parties.

A real estate deal of two years ago came before the court this morning when a man was charged with false pretences. According to the charge, he, on or about May 10th, 1912, obtained $225 from a local citizen by representing that he owned a lot of land in Saskatoon, for which he had paid $250. He had told a tale of his money being tied up, and wanted the money to get married. The money was given and on investigation the land in Saskatchewan did not realise, and defendant did not come forward.

To-day at the request of both parties the case was allowed to stand open for a month.

The Conservatives of South Huron nominated H. Eilber, M.P.P., as provincial candidate.

MRS. RUTHERFORD DANGEROUSLY ILL

Husband's Fate on Empress of Ireland Proved a Terrible Shock.

HAMILTON, June 3.—According to word received from Montreal, Mrs. Rutherford is dangerously ill as a result of the tremendous shock the news was to her. She has been removed to the home of friends at 63 Stayner street, Westmount, and her condition is very serious. Mr. and Mrs. Rutherford had been living at 100 Chomey street since going to Montreal. Mr. Rutherford was a sick buyer for James J. Ogilvy and Son and before joining that firm he was connected with the Right House here for a number of years in that capacity of buyer, coming here from Toronto. He had made arrangements for a trip several weeks ago when he booked on the Baltic, but he did lay it in order to accompany Mr. Hirscheimer, of Montreal, who booked with him on the Empress. Both men occupied staterooms which were damaged and it is thought that there chances of escape were slight.

It is likely that the body of Mr. Rutherford will be buried here if it is recovered. He has a child buried here and the authorities of the Right House, where he worked for so many years, are of the opinion that the funeral will be held here. Nothing has as yet been heard of the body of either Mr. Rutherford or Mr. Cayley being recovered, but the Right House have a man, William Slack, at Quebec, and he will notify his firm the minute that any news of either the body of Mr. Cayley or Mr. Rutherford is heard of.

RED SOX NEW PITCHER SHOWS UP WELL AGAINST ST. THOMAS

Although Given Eight Bases on Balls, Saints Have Tough Time in Scoring the Two Runs Which Beat Brantford.

ST. THOMAS, June 3.—By winning their first game in the six starts, the Red Sox dropped back on the Canadian League map yesterday afternoon when Brantford failed to get a run and only three hits off Hughie in a smart pitchers' duel with Ed. Asher, another graduate of the South Michigan League, and late of South Bend, Ind. The score was a 2 to 0 whitewash and to emphasize upon the sterling hurling of Hughie it might be mentioned that only one of the Red Sox reached second base, and that was on the seventh, it being Wagner who had singled and advanced Deneau's bunt. Only one putout was made by the St. Thomas outfield shows how the Brantford went out on innominate grounders and strikeouts.

Hughey Scored Run
The Saints, on the other hand were left to four scattered hits by Asher and their first run came when Hughie drew a base on balls to start off the fifth inning. Some consistent baseball put Hughie on third base toally when Hadley drove the ball by Wagner. With one out Gadsby singled in the seventh and with the bases filled Archer allowed all hands to advance a base when he produced a line ball, scoring Gadsby with the second and last run of the game.

Asher Walked Eight Men
Asher was wild, walking no less than eight men, but his coolness was commendable, as bases were occupied by the Saints in all but two innings. With two out in the first inning Asher walked Kading, filling the bases, in order to get Forgue, and his dope worked out fine, as the local shortstop was an easy out on a grounder to Asher.

Both teams lacked ginger, and the one run gained by the Saints looked exceptionally large to overcome the masterful abill he was. The score:

JOHNNY MURPHY FRACTURED LEG

Serious Injury Sustained by Beaver Shortstop—Petes Beat Toronto.

TORONTO, June 3.—When catcher Kelly of the Peterboro' team attempted to steal second base in the fourth inning of yesterday's Canadian League fixture with the Beavers at the Island Stadium he had no idea how disastrous his effort would be. He made a beautiful slide, but little Johnny Murphy, the Beavers' shortstop, had but one idea in mind, and that was to get the throw. As a result Kelly struck Murphy's leg with full force, causing the bone to break just above the ankle. The crack could be heard quite plainly in the stand, and the moans from the little fellow showed that the injury was a very painful one. Several doctors were called to get the throw. ## What You Don't Read On The Score Boards

Yesterday was one occasion when the Red Sox didn't hit.

Rube Deneau has played a grand first base since he quit pitching.

Pitcher Hughie of St. Thomas is supposed to be the best bet of the Saints. He has beaten the Red Sox twice.

Asher in allowing St. Thomas a meagre bunch of four hits, should have won his game. It was tight baseball.

The Giant Killer moundman Asher should win a lot of games on yesterday's form.

Hamilton gave a good performance at Erie when Donahue held the Yanks to two hits and won 2 to 0.

The two teams which were chasing Brantford close, both lost, Erie and Toronto, and both were playing at home.

Heck of London and Rogers of Ottawa had a great pitching duel, both teams getting six hits. Heck won, his team getting one run in the ninth, Ottawa however, has taken two out of three, so far from the Kockneys.

Brantford fans could not expect their team to be in any better place than they are, especially when the fact is considered that the Sox lost the first four out of six.

The crowd attending Canadian League games in Toronto, is said to be disappointing. This is just like Toronto, where they think they ought to have the Philadelphia Athletics or Giants for their amusement. It's dollars to doughnuts that Toronto can't produce a team in many moons which will win the Canadian League pennant.

Deneau says he will only carry four pitchers. That is all he needs if they continue to hold the enemy to four hits.

London retains the league leadership, but maybe the Kockneys haven't thought about those three games they have to play here next week.

Soft Ball

The Dufferin Rifles, by an exhibition of infield work seldom seen at soft ball, walloped the clerks last night at Recreation park by 11-4. The game really counted two for the Duffs, as the game, which broke up in a riot some time ago was to be decided by last night's fixture. Alf Dowling played a nifty first base, while Bragg did some great fielding. The batteries were: Duffs, Allen and Stewart, Clerks, Varey, Hanley and Edwards.

HECK BEAT ROGERS IN A PITCHERS' DUEL.

OTTAWA, June 3.—After the most thrilling duel of the season Heck won from 'Lefty' Rogers yesterday afternoon and London defeated Ottawa by 1 to 0. Each man allowed six hits, but Heck was much the better in the pitches. In the third inning Heck retired the next two players at the plate by clever fielding. There was no score until the ninth when Whitcraft reached first base on Fried's error. Reidy's single advanced him to third and he scored when Mullin lifted a long sacrifice fly to Schughnessy in centre field. That was the only score in the game.

SYMPATHY IS DULY EXPRESSED

Mr. W. F. Cockshutt M.P. and A. O. F. Send Letters of Regret.

Mayor Spence yesterday afternoon received the following expression of sympathy towards the bereaved in the Empress of Ireland disaster from Mr. W. F. Cockshutt, M.P.:

House of Commons, Ottawa, June 1st, 1914.

His Worship, Mayor J. H. Spence, Brantford, Ont.:

Dear Mr. Mayor—I have read with deep regret of the terrible loss which Brantford has sustained in the disastrous wreck of "The Empress of Ireland." Press reports received here announce that 23 of Brantford's citizens have been lost in this wreck.

Under these circumstances I feel that the least that we can do is to tender any assistance possible with a view to helping in the recovery of the bodies and the transportation of them to their Brantford friends, as well as rendering any material assistance to those who have been bereaved which they may require in this hour of distress and need. You may count on me to help in this respect if any fund is being raised.

Kindly let me know at your convenience and oblige.

Yours truly, W. F. COCKSHUTT.

Ancient Foresters Sympathize.

The following letter of sympathy has been forwarded to Adjutant Hargrove of the Salvation Army by the joint A.O.F. courts of this city:

"The joint committee of the A.O.F. Courts of the City of Brantford hereby express to you and through you to your officers and members, the sincere sympathy of the membership of Ancient Forestry in this city, in connection with the appalling calamity on the St. Lawrence which transferred from this field of action so many of the officers and members of the Salvation Army.

"Both in the Old Land and in Canada a large number of the members confection with the appalling calamity their duty to associate themselves with our great organization, and the membership as a whole sincerely appreciate their affiliation. Thus the severe loss sustained by your worthy institution is the more keenly felt by us.

"Great testing times come to all great religious organizations and yours is indeed a severe one. But we know from the spirit exhibited in the past, that while the burden is a stupendous one, the army will rise from under it with renewed strength and press forward to even greater victory. Noble leaders have fallen, as well as the reliable and ever necessary rank and file, and deep is the sorrow experienced both within and without the councils of the Army, but the Great Shepherd of the Sheep will raise up helpers to fill the gap who will be encouraged by the past efforts of the noble dead to such a degree as to attain increased victory all along the line.

"Kindly convey to all the bereaved in connection with the local corps, and also your superior officers, the sincere sympathy of the membership of Ancient Forestry in this city, together with the prayer that they may receive that comfort which can be obtained only from the Great General of the Army, of which they form a part.

IRA D. SCRUTON, Secretary of Committee.

Two bigamists, John H. Knapp and Mark Peace, were each sentenced at Sarnia by Magistrate Black to three years in Kingston penitentiary.

Rich Stranger Kidnaped In Mistake For "Our Mutual Girl"

ADA TAYLOR POINTS OUT THE BLUNDER

With three different interests searching for "Our Mutual Girl" it would seem that the chances of her remaining missing were remote. But as each party of searchers spent some time and energy watching the others no one got any results.

One crooked gang, desirous of finding Margaret in hopes of using her to extort money from her wealthy aunt, Mrs. Knickerbocker, had scouts out looking for her in many places. One of these scouts found a girl he was certain was Margaret. He followed her to her home and then reported to his pals. They hastily planned to capture the girl, and she was kidnaped without having a chance to explain.

The police had been watching "Kid Joseph" and his pals, and detectives were on hand when the abduction took place. The police tried to prevent the kidnaping and when the effort failed gave chase in an auto. The kidnapers were closer and they eluded the police and took their victim to their rendezvous. They then sent for Ada Taylor, the protegee of "Our Mutual Girl." She at once declared that a blunder had been made; that the captive was not Margaret. The discomfited kidnapers lost no time in releasing their unwilling prisoner, who had had a most unusual experience.

There is plenty of action here, and it may all be seen by the public on and after June 8 in the next chapter of "Our Mutual Girl" fifty-two reel serial.

MANY RESCUED

Of the survivors 62 have sailed by the Corsican, while several sailed by the Royal George. There are still 26 remaining here, the cabin passengers being entertained at the Chateau Frontenac and the steerage and crew on board the Alsatian. Most of the remaining survivors will sail for England by the Alsatian on Thursday.

It was definitely stated that the body of Sir Henry Seton Kerr had been identified, first by Mr. A. E. Howard, who came from Detroit, and by Mr. C. M. Brown who came from Haileybury, Ont. Mr. Brown had entertained Sir Henry Seton Kerr a week ago, and was cabled by relatives in England to come to Quebec to identify the body. It is understood that the remains will be buried here.

Owing to the fact that to-day is the birthday of King George, the funeral of the nine dead members of the crew of the Empress has been postponed until Thursday. Meantime the bodies have been removed to St. Michael's church and the Anglican cathedral, where they await the final ceremonies.

Many in Hospitals. As was inevitable a number of cases of lung trouble and nervous collapse have occurred amongst the survivors. There are sixteen of them at the city hospitals, most at the Jeffrey Hale Hospital. All of these are reported as doing well with the exception of Mr. Archibald Brown, of Moose Jaw, who is seriously ill with congestion of the lungs and may die.

Extraordinary Story of Rescue.

An extraordinary story of rescue is told by Mrs. Reinald Simmonds of London, England. She and her husband were returning from a honeymoon trip through the United States and Canada. Neither could swim, and when the crash came neither had time to get lifebelts. They resolved to die together, and were thrown in each other's arms into the water as the boat sank. Both went to the bottom with the ship, but there some dying victim seized Mr. Simmonds by the feet, making him lose his hold on his wife. Both then rose to the surface and were rescued by different lifeboats. Later they were reunited on shore, but after arriving at Quebec Mr. Simmonds developed congestion of the lungs and was taken to the Jeffrey Hale Hospital, while his wife awaits his recovery at the Chateau Frontenac, little the worse for the terrible termination of the honeymoon.

Several funerals took place here yesterday preliminary to the general distribution of the bodies, most of which are expected to be removed to cemetery vaults to-day. At the Anglican Cathedral funeral services were held for Mrs. Vincent, of Weymouth, England, whose remains were then shipped to England on the Royal George, and Mrs. Pearson, a stewardess, who was buried in Mount Hermon Cemetery here. Mrs. Hood, of Quebec, and her little daughter were also buried yesterday afternoon. The streets were lined with bare-headed citizens as the hearse passed.

A strange Coincidence.

A strange example of the coincidences that illumine such catastrophes came to light at the Jeffrey Hale Hospital yesterday. When the Empress sank, an English passenger Mrs. Mullins, was knocked overboard. She had both legs broken, but on coming to the surface caught the edge of a crowded lifeboat. She stated that several people in the boat tried to push her back, but she cried "For God's sake, let me live, I must live for my baby." Then an exhausted survivor, who was lying in the bottom of the boat, reached over and pulled her in. Both became unconscious and were taken to the Jeffrey Hale Hospital on arrival here, and on coming to consciousness Mrs. Mullins found that she was occupying the next bed that of the man who had saved her life. He is very sick with congestion of the lungs but is expected to recover.

U. S. Consul Kebabard Ullrich was busy at the death house yesterday, and identified several bodies of U. S. citizens. Mr. Ullrich stated that he had been in communication with Secretary W. J. Bryan, who had instructed him to make the fullest reports possible regarding the wreck. Mr. Ullrich said he had no information as to whether his Government would take any part in the investigation in view of the fact that many American citizens perished, but said he was sure the U. S. Government would render every possible assistance.

Searching for the Dead.

Captain Walsh, marine superintendent of the C. P. R. arrived here last evening, and after looking over the situation, issued the following statement:

"Quebec, Que., June 2. The C. P. R. will not relax one iota in doing everything in its power in looking after all the bodies it may be able to get. No effort on their part will be spared in this direction. They will not hand over their personal care of any of the bodies yet to be recovered to any person or persons.

"With regard to the possibility of raising and salvaging the Empress of Ireland, the best possible expert opinion is being sought after. Until this advice is secured we are unable to give any personal opinion on the matter. I do not know as yet what can be done.

"A complete patrol of the coast from Rimonski to Matane and beyond has been established by picked men sworn in as C. P. R. special constables under the charge of a special officer appointed to control them and forward any information they are able to secure as to bodies which may be washed ashore or the recovery of personal effects.

"In addition to this the men have been selected" by the Mayors of the various municipalities chosen for their reputation for honesty while priests of the different municipalities along the river have been asked to notify their parishioners to keep special watch for any bodies that may be washed ashore and to at once hand over any bodies or valuables they may find to representatives of the C. P. R. Captain Walsh stated that the C. P. R. would make every possible move to secure the bodies of those entombed in the sunken ship. If it was humanly possible, he stated, to bring the vessel to a point where the bodies of the victims could be removed neither labor nor expense would be considered.

CONDITIONS IN THE WEST

In an interview given out at Montreal, Mr. J. S. Dennis, assistant to the president, head of the department of natural resources of the Canadian Pacific, and reputed to be one of the best authorities on western affairs, said: Because conditions on the railway as well as in the cities and towns are quiet at the present, but are beginning to show marked evidences of stimulation owing to the splendid weather and a consequent early movement of people to the western part of Canada. The abnormal growth of urban centres is credited with causing the depression of the past year. The city development is now waiting for the necessary industrial and agricultural growth to catch up. When the two are more nearly on a level will the prosperity of the past begin to be appreciable again. It is too early now to speak of crop conditions, yet the spring indications are very encouraging and promise well for excellent crop returns. The immigration to Canada has dropped off to some extent, but this is only due to the holding back on the part of artisans and laborers. The numbers who are taking up land for the purpose of "sane agricultural development, or mixed farming, as is so diligently preached by the Canadian Pacific, are becoming larger each year. The number of settlers taking up land in the west is larger this year than heretofore."

The anti-cigarette bill and the amendments to the election act will be held over until next session of Parliament.

"In addition to this the men have been selected" by the Mayors of the various municipalities chosen for their

THE RETURN OF TARZAN

By EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS

Copyright 1913 by W. G. Chapman.

Every member of the crew and guests was gloomy and depressed after these series of misfortunes. All were apprehensive of worse to come and this was especially true of the women who recalled all sorts of terrible omens and warnings that had occurred during the early part of the voyage and which they could not clearly translate into the precursors of some grim and terrible tragedy to come.
Now the croakers have long to wait. The second night after the drowning of the mate the little yacht was suddenly wrenched from stem to stern. About 1 o'clock in the morning there was a terrific impact that threw the timbers to some extent from the bunk and berth. A mighty shudder ran through the frail craft; she lay far over to starboard; the engines stopped. For a moment she hung there with her decks at an angle of forty-five degrees—then, with a sudden, rending sound, she slipped back into the sea and righted.

Instantly the men rushed upon deck, followed closely by the women. The night was densely black, though there was little or no sea. Just off the port bow a dim black mass could be discerned floating low in the water. The faintest glimmer of a light emanated from the officer of the watch. Presently the engineer hurried on deck in search of the captain.

"That patch we put on the cylinder head's blown out, sir," he reported, "and she's makin' water fast for'ard on the port bow."

An instant later a seaman rushed up from below.

"My Gawd!" he cried. "Her whole bleedin' bottom's ripped out. She can't float twenty minutes."

"Shut up!" roared Tennington. "Ladies, go below and get some of your things together. It may not be so bad as that, but you may have to take to the boats. It will be safer to be prepared. Go at once, please. And, Captain Jerrold, send some competent man below, please, to ascertain the exact extent of the damage. In the meantime I might suggest that you have the boats provisioned."

The calm low voice of the owner did much to reassure the entire party, and a moment later all were occupied with the duties he had suggested. By the time the ladies had returned to the deck the rapid provisioning of the boats had been completed, and at a moment later the officer who had gone below had returned to report. But his opinion was scarcely needed to assure the huddled group of men and women that the end of the Lady Alice was at hand.

"Well, sir?" said the captain as his official duties.

"I dislike to frighten the ladies, sir," he said, "but she can't float a dozen minutes, in my opinion. There's a hole in her you could drive a bally cow through, sir."

For five minutes the Lady Alice had been settling rapidly by the bow. Alarmed by the look and high in air and foothold on the deck was of the most precarious nature. She carried four boats, and these were all filled and lowered away in safety. As they pulled rapidly from the stricken little vessel Jane Porter turned to have one last look at her. In a moment there came a loud crash and an ominous rumbling and pounding from the heart of the ship—her machinery had broken loose and was dashing its way toward the bow, tearing out partitions and bulkheads as it went. The stern rose rapidly high above them. For a moment she seemed to pause there, a vertical shaft protruding from the bosom of the ocean, and then swiftly she dove head foremost beneath the waves.

In one of the boats the brave Lord Tennington had wiped a tear from his eye. He had not seen a fortune in money go down forever into the sea, but a dear, beautiful friend whom he had loved.

At last the long night broke and a tropical sun smote down upon the rolling water. Jane Porter had dropped into a fitful slumber—the fierce light of the sun upon her upturned face awoke her, and she looked out her. In the boat with her were three sailors, Clayton and M. Thurman. Then she looked for the other boats, but as far as the eye could reach there was nothing to break the fearful monotony of that waste of waters—they were alone in a small boat upon the broad Atlantic.

As Tarzan struck the water his first impulse was to swim clear of the ship and possible danger from her propellers. He knew whom to thank for his present predicament, and as he lay in the sea, just supporting himself by a gentle movement of his hands, his chief emotion was one of chagrin that he had been so easily bested by Rokoff. He lay thus for some time, watching the receding and rapidly diminishing lights of the steamer without it ever once occurring to him to call for help. He never had called for help in his life, and so it is not strange that he did not think of it now. Always had he depended upon his own prowess and resourcefulness, nor had there ever been since the days of Kala any to answer an appeal for succor. When it did occur to him it was too late. There was, he thought, a possible one chance in a hundred thousand that he might be picked up and an even smaller chance that he would reach land, so he determined that to combine what slight chances there were he would swim slowly in the direction of the coast—the ship might have been closer in than he had known.

His strokes were long and easy—it would be many hours before those glass muscles would commence to feel fatigued. As he swam, guided toward the east by the stars, he noticed that he felt the weight of his shoes, and so he removed them. His trousers went next, and he would have removed his coat at the same time but for the precious papers in his pocket. To reassure himself that he still had them he slipped his hand in to feel, but to his consternation they were gone.

Now he knew that something more than revenge had prompted Rokoff to pitch him overboard. The spee-man swore softly and let his coat and shirt sink into the Atlantic. Before many hours he had divested himself of his remaining garments and was swimming easily and unencumbered toward the east.

The first faint evidence of dawn was paling the stars ahead of him when the dim outlines of a low lying black mass loomed up directly in his track. A few strong strokes brought him to its side—it was the bottom of a wave washed down. Tarzan clambered upon it—he would rest there until daylight at least. He curled up upon the slimy timbers and was soon asleep.

The heat of the sun awoke him early in the forenoon. His first conscious sensation was of thirst, which grew almost to the proportions of suffering with full returning consciousness, but a moment later it was forgotten in the joy of two almost simultaneous discoveries. The first was a mass of wreckage floating beside the wreck, in the midst of which, bottom up, rose and fell an overturned lifeboat. The other was the faint, dim line of a far distant shore showing on the horizon in the east.

Tarzan dove into the water and swam around the wreck to the lifeboat. The cool ocean refreshed him almost as much as would a draft of water, so that it was with renewed vigor that he brought the smaller boat alongside the wreck and after many herculean efforts succeeded in dragging it on to the slimy ship's bottom. There he righted and examined it. The boat was quite sound and a moment later floated upright alongside the wreck. Then Tarzan selected several pieces of wreckage that might answer him as paddles and presently was making good headway toward the far off shore.

It was late in the afternoon by the time he came close enough to distinguish objects on land or to make out the contour of the shore line. Before him lay what appeared to be the entrance to a little landlocked harbor. The wooded point to the north was strangely familiar. Could it be possible that fate had thrown him up at the very threshold of his own beloved Jungle? But as the bow of his boat entered the mouth of the harbor the last shred of doubt was cleared away, for there before him upon the farther shore, under the shadows of his primeval forest, stood his own cabin—built before his birth by the hand of his long dead father, John Clayton, Lord Greystoke.

COMB SAGE TEA IN HAIR TO DARKEN IT

Grandma Kept Her Locks, Dark, Glossy Thick with a Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea streaked and faded hair is grandmothers' Sulphur for darkening gray, their treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the messy, old-fashioned, to-use product called "Weyth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Weyth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; it soothes, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. ## CHURCH UNION AT ASSEMBLY

Will be One of the Important Subjects Discussed.

WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 2.—One of the outstanding questions to be discussed at the Presbyterian general assembly which opens in Woodstock today will be the problem of church union. At last year's meeting of the assembly in Toronto it was decided on a vote of 3 to 1 to continue the union committee and instructions were issued that it should continue negotiations with the Methodist and Congregational Church representatives in the hope that union might be consummated.

Since this resolution was adopted, the joint committee has held several meetings and a sub-committee has taken a survey of the whole dominion seeking to find out where there is any overlapping and what the saving would be in men and money in the event of the union. This information will be presented to the assembly. While it is impossible to forecast with certainty what the recommendation of the union committee will be it is probable that they will recommend that the whole matter be sent back again to the Presbyterian congregations and sessions for their final judgment under the Barrier Act. It is known that the Methodist and Congregational bodies are just a little impatient at the seeming delay in the councils of the Presbyterian church, but the opposition among the Presbyterians is very active and although a large majority favor church union, there is no desire to hasten matters, as long as there is a possibility of carrying into the union any considerable section of the anti-unionists. There will be a minority report from the anti-union members of the assembly and the debate on the subject will be a notable one. The union committee is called to meet in the assembly church to-night, when it is expected that their report will be prepared for the assembly.

2-IN-1 SHOE POLISHES

Rev. W. J. Clark, D.D., of Westmount Church, Montreal, is chairman of the committee. The choosing of a moderator will also occupy considerable time at this year's assembly, it is expected. It is probable that four men will be nominated this year, the aspirants being Rev. Dr. Herridge, D.D., of Ottawa; Rev. John Neil of Westminster Church, Toronto; Rev. D. D. McLeod, D. D., of Barrie and Rev. Dr. Scrimger of Montreal College. There is a feeling in a large section of the church that Dr. Herridge will be chosen, although this feeling is by no means universal.

Woodstock has made extensive preparations to handle the assembly and local church officers were busy to-day putting on finishing touches. A program of out-of-town excursions, garden parties, etc., has been arranged for the entertainment of the delegates, while here, and a feature will be a trip to the famous Knowlton Church at Embro in the heart of the Zorras. Rev. Murdoch McKenzie, moderator of the assembly, has been here since Thursday and he will officially open the assembly to-night, when he will preach his closing sermon.

After the opening exercises reports were read by the retiring officers dealing with the work of the various departments for the season. The following officers for 1914-15 were inducted in office by Mr. Woodside: President, Mr. H. T. Watt; first vice-president, Membership, Mr. Charles Hall; second vice-president, Devotional, Mr. G. Pickles; third vice-president, Missionary, Mr. Cook; fourth vice-president, Educational, Miss Annie Pringle; fifth vice-president, Social, Miss Isabelle Thomas; secretary, Mr. Clifford Joyce; treasurer, Miss Elsie Fraser; pianist, Miss Ella Moffat; assistant, Miss Ruth Hat. After the induction of officers, Miss Jessie Mitchell gave a very enjoyable reading and Miss Aileen Hart rendered a solo very acceptably. The balance of the evening was devoted to a social time and refreshments were served by the members of the Social Committee. During the evening Mrs. Bean was presented with a bouquet of American beauty roses as a slight token of the Guild's appreciation of what Mrs. Bean has done for them.

SIX SCOUTS DROWNED.
LONDON, June 2.—The only accident of the Whitsuntide holiday was a boating disaster, which cost the lives of six boy scouts. This was singularly reminiscent of previous disasters to the Boy Scouts and raises questions regarding the necessity for stricter supervision of such parties and the requirement for greater seamanship efficiency on the part of those participating therein.

Farewell Was Said To Popular Musician

Many Friends of Mr. Henri K. Jordan Gathered Last Night To Say Good-bye—Leaving For Winnipeg.

Some seven years ago, Mr. Henri K. Jordan entered the little musical world of Brantford and now, after having entranced and enlarged in every way developed the musical circle of the city he takes his departure, a figurehead, a man as Judge Hardy said, to the great regret of his numerous friends. This regret was sincere, as the splendid gathering at the farewell banquet in his honor at the Y. M. C. A. testified. Mr. Jordan has already been the recipient of a handsome purse of $300, and last night he would have been presented with a magnificent illuminated address but for the fact that it was not quite finished at the time of the banquet.

Congregating by 8 o'clock a royal repast provided by Caterer Crumback was done justice to, and then a program after Mr. Jordan's own heart was put on. It was principally vocal with two exceptions, Miss Marjorie Jones and W. J. Feldkamp, the latter displayed skill and versatility with his novel mouth organ and guitar, while Miss Jones was called upon three times. Her exquisite touch and magnificent execution of the difficult compositions chosen enthralled all. She rendered a concert waltz, by Drigo, Bacarole from the Tales of Hoffman, an Oriental by Cui. Among the others who contributed superbly, Miss Alda Shultis, and Mr. Feldkamp and Messrs F. Horton, George Sweet and Capt. McLean.

Giving a brief history of the choir, the chairman and president, Mr. C. Varey, said it was in 1902 that the old choir was started and the first concert realized $200, and since that date a series of successful concerts had been held and many celebrated soloists and orchestras had been brought to Brantford, for which the citizens were indebted to the choir. All appreciated the degree of excellence attained under the able leadership of Mr. Henri Jordan. The speaker felt that the good work could not be abandoned, and the board would see that it was kept up.

Address Presented
Judge Hardy, a member of the old male chorus, which afterwards became the Schubert Choir, then read the address to be presented in illuminated form to Mr. Jordan. It was as follows:
To Mr. Henri K. Jordan:
Some are doomed to disappointment—only see failure or partial accomplishment of life's task; but few of us are permitted to see the fruition of our labors. You seem to belong to the last mentioned class and now as we see tangible results of your undertakings the disappointing message comes to us that you are to leave this city.

Eulogies on departing without recognitions while present are vain. Having given you the latter we cannot allow you to depart without the former so we now wish to express our appreciation of you—that you may carry away with you these words, which may remind you of happy associations here in Brantford.
For a number of years you occupied the position of organist in an important church during which time you imparted a degree of reverence and sanctity to the service bringing those under your charge to a high standard of excellence. Your abilities in execution and technique were not cramped to one side of your work. You have done much in furthering your classic art by bringing to this city men and women of continental reputation thus affording us privileges and advantages we would otherwise have been denied. You have shown a keen insight into those themes which swelled in the hearts of the great masters. Taking sometimes the crude material by careful training you have produced marvellous results. Yourself able to interpret such masters as Schubert Mendelssohn and Tchaikowsky you were able to lead us to understand them. For seven seasons you undertook with great success the training of the Schubert choir a success shown by the faithfulness of those taking part, and the keen appreciation of packed houses to greet your choirs.

Your manly bearing, your wonderful self-control in most trying circumstances, your inspiring optimism, and combined with these qualities, your musical genius, these virtues have been stamped on those who have come under your influence. Your painstaking work has not been in vain. You leave behind you in the hearts of all, a memory of you, of which any man could be justly proud. Now as you are about to leave, we assure you that you will not be forgotten. Your life will still go on in our memories and we will ever retain
A strange and beautiful music,
Tender and sweet and slow,
A song that heart hears only,
In the voice of the long ago,
Signed on behalf of Schubert choir,
President,
Secretary.

After the address, Judge Hardy said he could not set down without enthusiasm upon the merits of the recipient. He had great joy in being identified with the old organization and to-day as he looked round he saw very few of the old members. Yet the work had gone on and it was a great success and that he said was owing to the efforts of the guest of honor to-night. It was with keen regret that they celebrated his departure. His musical successes had not been superseded by his success as a man. He had sterling qualities which must ever be the pride of man, therefore the loss to Brantford was all the greater. In making a move to Winnipeg, he was happy to think Mr. Jordan would find a wider field for his abilities. He would create a circle in that city which would add glory to his name. He uttered the heartfelt sympathy of the entire community when he spoke of regret at the departure from their midst of one who had taken such a deep interest in their affairs. The work which had been done by Mr. Jordan could not be left at a standstill. It must be carried on and be a lasting emblem of the memory of the departing musical director. The eloquent testimony to the worth of Mr. Jordan was closed by another expression of regret.

Rising modestly, the guest of honor began in a manner at once characteristic: "I would indeed be ungrateful if I did not take this opportunity of thanking you for all the kindness you have shown me not only now, but for years back." His mind had been carried back to years past when the choir was in its infancy. He had the pleasure and the honor of being a member from the beginning. He remembered concerts held in the old Y. M. C. A. Since then they had gradually improved and he was glad the male quartette had formed into a society. They had reached the climax last year when a very successful concert was given in the Opera House. The success of the work was due to the loyalty of the choir. "If one had the material to work with, the rest was easy." He could not say enough of the faithfulness of the various committees. They were persistent and hopeful and had never failed to carry their plans through and to them he owed his deepest thanks. He was indeed grateful to them and to them he felt that the present choir owed almost everything. They had been the backbone of the organization.

He paid tribute to the late Mr. Robinson who had helped him very much. The speaker had ever enjoyed work with the choir, and under all conditions they had proved faithful. He greatly regretted that it was necessary for him to leave the work at its present stage and he sincerely hoped the work would continue even if they had to wait for someone to carry it on. Again expressing his most sincere and earnest thanks for past kindnesses,

Mr. Jordan resumed his seat. He was no sooner seated than a hearty round of cheering broke out and the familiar old chorus was heard "For he's jolly good fellow". This was followed by a tiger.

The Spring song was then splendidly sang by all under the direction of Mr. Jordan.

Mr. Ed. Sweet, an old member of the choir was called upon and said he had in all his career never known anyone who had taken hold of his fellow creatures as had Mr. Jordan. He assured him that he was a welcome if ever he again visited Brantford city. Mr. Sweet then grew reminiscent of days gone by, and told some interesting stories of the early days of the Schubert choir. He was pleased at the success it had obtained and one of the best things he had heard, was that the work was to be continued. He gave credit to Mr. Varey, who was a great mainstay to Mr. Jordan during many years. A man such as their departing organist did a much greater work than he imagined. Music ought to take a greater part in a everyday life, and there was little doubt that Mr. Jordan had done a great deal for the musical community of the city of Brantford. The popularity of the evening guest was manifested in the great assembly of friends and the heartiness with which they joined in the concluding Auld Lang Syne will be long remembered by him.
